What On Earth Is Happening Show #001

Topics: Truth, Deception, Solipsism (The Biggest Lie), Consciousness, the Human Brain

Let me tell you a little bit about what I do and what we're going to be talking about here tonight. I give a presentation, it's a slideshow presentation and lecture and it's called What On Earth Is Happening, and in it I basically try to get to the root causal factors of the problems that humanity is experiencing as a species, to strike at the very root of these problems and understand enough about the nature of these problems so that we can basically go to work on solving them, because ultimately that's what this is really all about.

WHAT ON EARTH IS HAPPENING

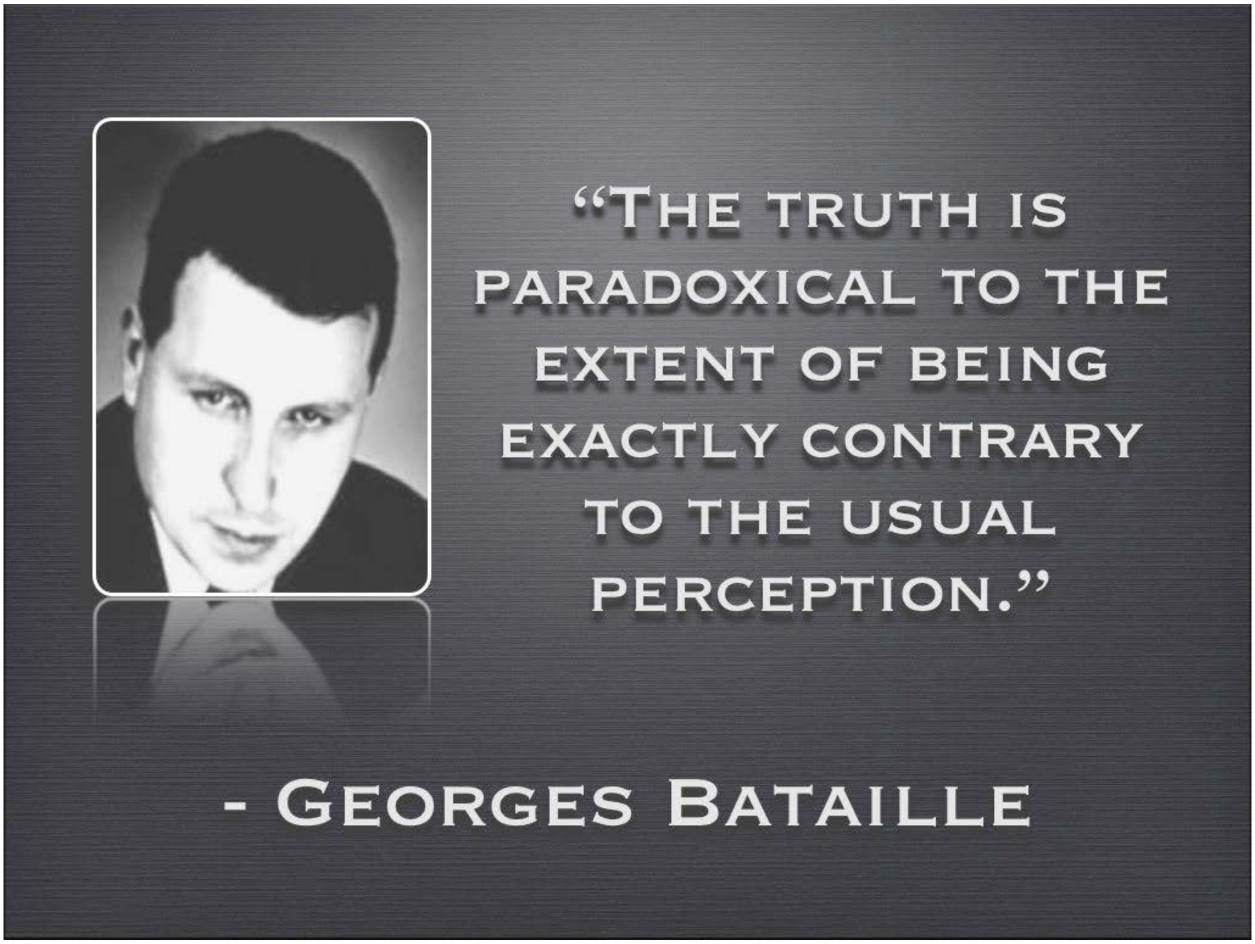
Many of us have recognized a lot of the problems that humanity faces, but not many of us really understand the causal nature of those problems, the absolute root core factors that are really contributing to those problems and why we see them manifesting in our shared reality.

So in order to get down to how these problems work you need enough basic information about the nature of the problem, and once you have that then you can move on to actually implementing solutions. So that's basically what we're going to talk about here tonight. We're going to basically get to the heart, the very heart of the nature of the problems that we encounter as a species and what's really taking place around us in the world.

So the first thing I want to talk about, what this entire radio show is ultimately going to be about is, what is truth. We have to get down to the fundamental core of what truth actually is and understand it enough, because truth is intricately related to the problem of why we experience suffering in our world. It's completely intermeshed with that idea.

Truth in the way that I look at it throughout my presentation and the way that it's going to be dealt with on this radio program, is essentially nothing more than that which is. That which has actually undergone the process of actually occurring in our reality. Nothing more than that. Events actually take place. They play out in our three-dimensional space-time reality, and that's what I'm calling truth.



"THE TRUTH IS PARADOXICAL TO THE EXTENT OF BEING EXACTLY CONTRARY TO THE USUAL PERCEPTION."

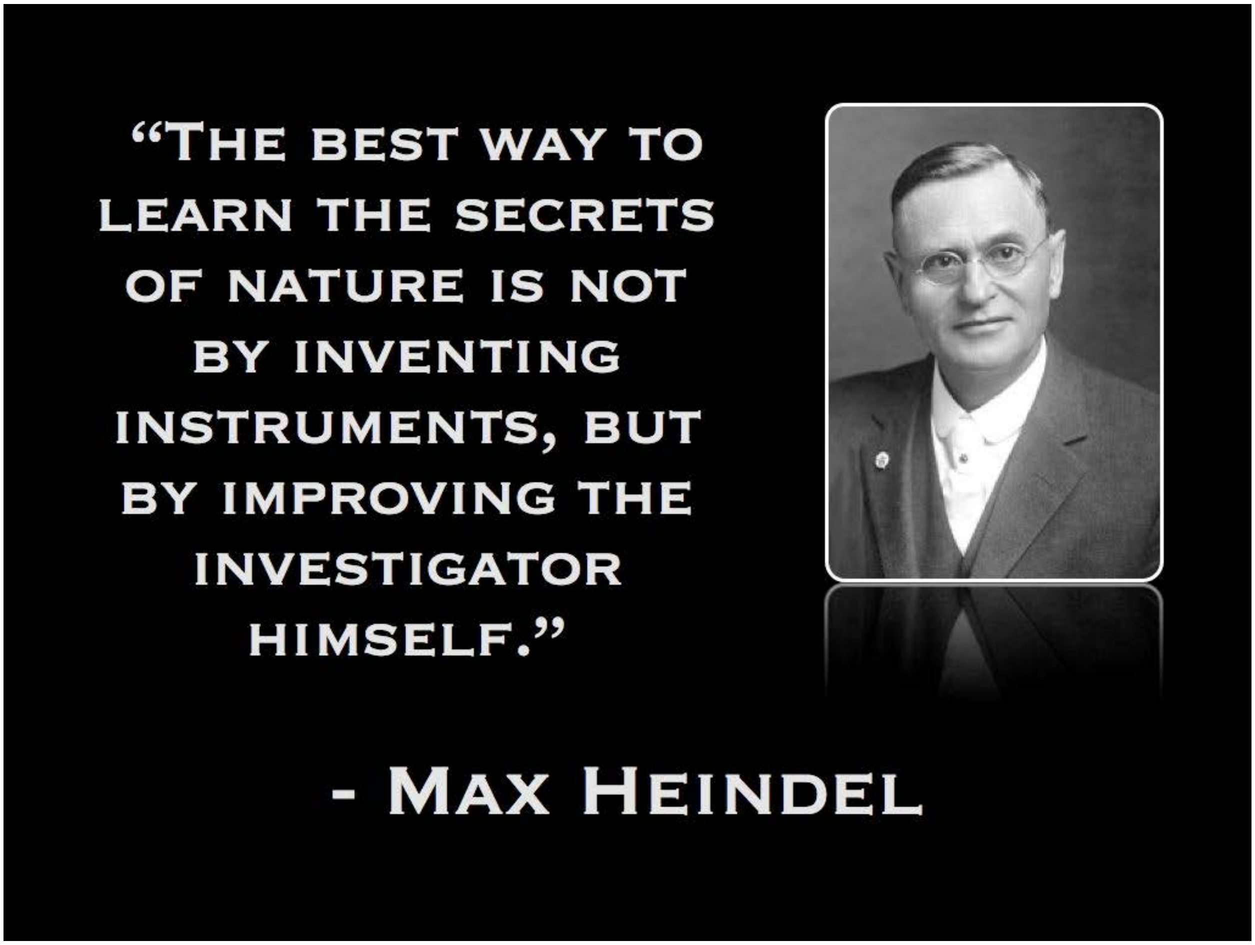
- GEORGES BATAILLE

It isn't the understanding of the mind of God, so to say, or anything extremely esoteric. It's simply, events occur. We can understand those events. We can come to an understanding of what is actually taking place both within us and around us, and really that is the core reason of why we experience suffering in the world because we as a whole, as a collective consciousness, have really gone off the path of truth.

We are engaged in illusion. We are engaged in fantasy. We are engaged in fundamental axioms, belief systems, that we take as true, but which fundamentally are not true, and when we basically stay attached to these ideas and core axioms, we suffer as a result if they're not in alignment with what actually is.

So let me define what an axiom is, because this is going to be critical as we go forward and talk about concepts like this to understanding what is really taking place. An axiom is a statement or a proposition that is regarded as already having been established. It's taken as true. It is something that is accepted. It is something that is considered self-evident to most people. Okay?

Now that could be a real problem if what that person takes as self-evident isn't actually what is, and trying to explain to a lot of people, as I'm sure most people who listen to this network understand, is, once you start to take ideas to people that aren't in keeping what they already consider to be true, it's a very difficult barrier to break down between you and the other person that you're trying to explain information to. So we're going to address that.

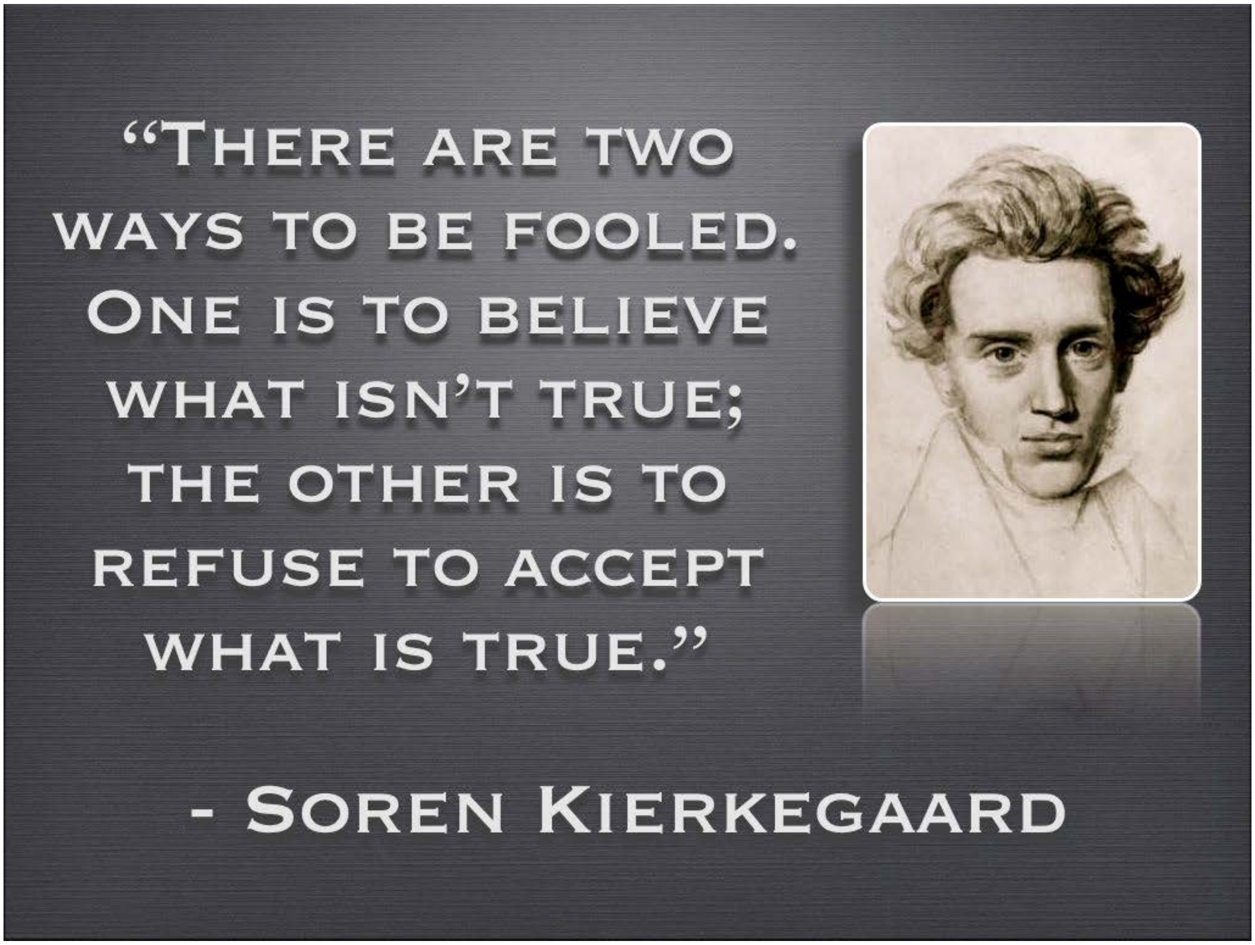


"THE BEST WAY TO LEARN THE SECRETS OF NATURE IS NOT BY INVENTING INSTRUMENTS, BUT BY IMPROVING THE INVESTIGATOR HIMSELF."

- MAX HEINDEL

We're going to basically talk about self-knowledge in this program because that is what we really need to get down to if we are not to be fooled. If we are not to take deception and falsehood as truth in the world, we have to understand the self and what's going on in human consciousness.

So as the introduction said a big part of what we're going to talk about on this radio program is human consciousness, how it works, what the qualities of consciousness are. We're going to talk about how consciousness manifests. We're going to talk about how it has an expression through the physiology and we'll get into the brain in this program, we'll get into some neuroscience in this program to understand how the human brain works, and that's fundamentally important to understanding what's taking place in the world.



"THERE ARE TWO WAYS TO BE FOOLED. ONE IS TO BELIEVE WHAT ISN'T TRUE; THE OTHER IS TO REFUSE TO ACCEPT WHAT IS TRUE."

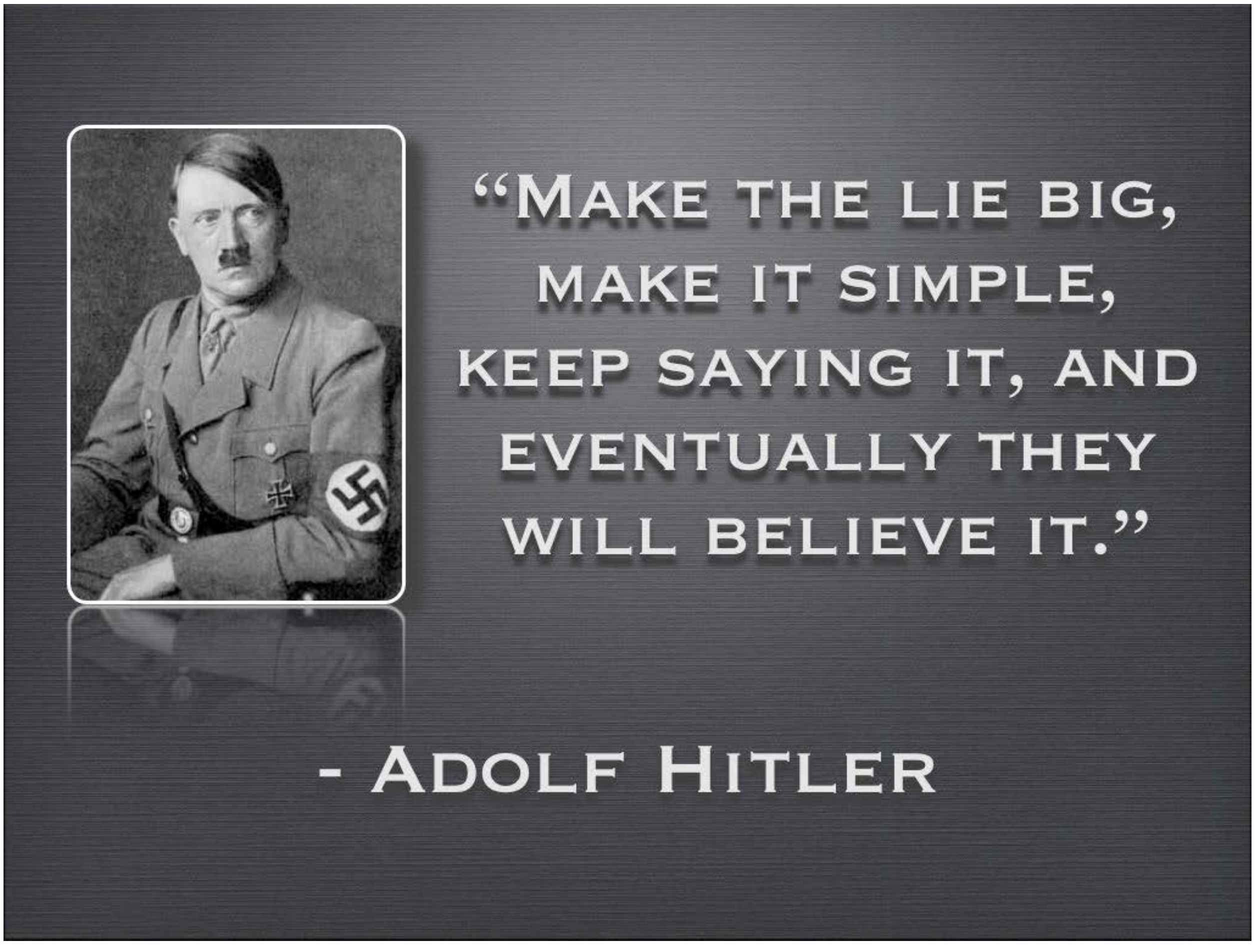
- SOREN KIERKEGAARD

So to get back to the idea of truth. I want to read a quote by the philosopher Soren Kierkegaard. He said that really there are only two ways that people are ever fooled in the world. One is that they believe that which is not true. They accept something that has no basis in actual reality, so they accept ideas or propositions that are not true.

The second way that people are fooled, is that they refuse to accept that which is true, and is actually taking place around them, and Kierkegaard basically said these are the only ways that people are really ever fooled in the world, that they experience manipulation.

I would take this statement even a step further and I would say that there these are really the only two reasons that humanity ever really experiences suffering. Those are the two reasons that humanity experiences suffering. They believe that which is not true, and they refuse to accept that which is true. So that can be another topic of discussion and we could get a dialogue going about this a little bit later.

Now the next thing I want to talk about is manipulation and deception. These go to work on us on a daily basis, as many of us know, to basically pull us away from the truth, and to get us to not see the truth. To get us to not see what is right there in front of our eyes in plain sight so to speak.



"MAKE THE LIE BIG,
MAKE IT SIMPLE,
KEEP SAYING IT, AND EVENTUALLY THEY WILL BELIEVE IT."

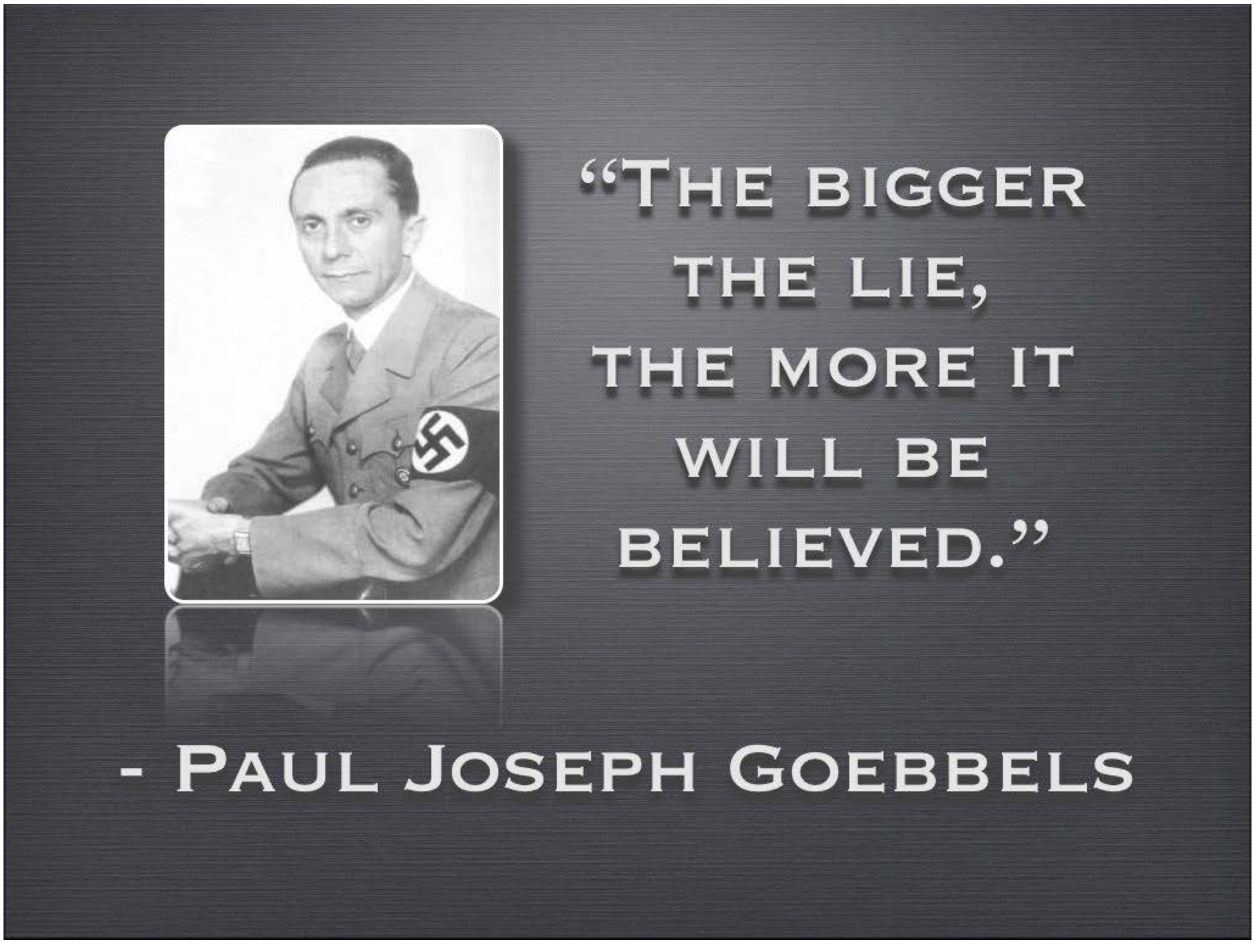
- ADOLF HITLER

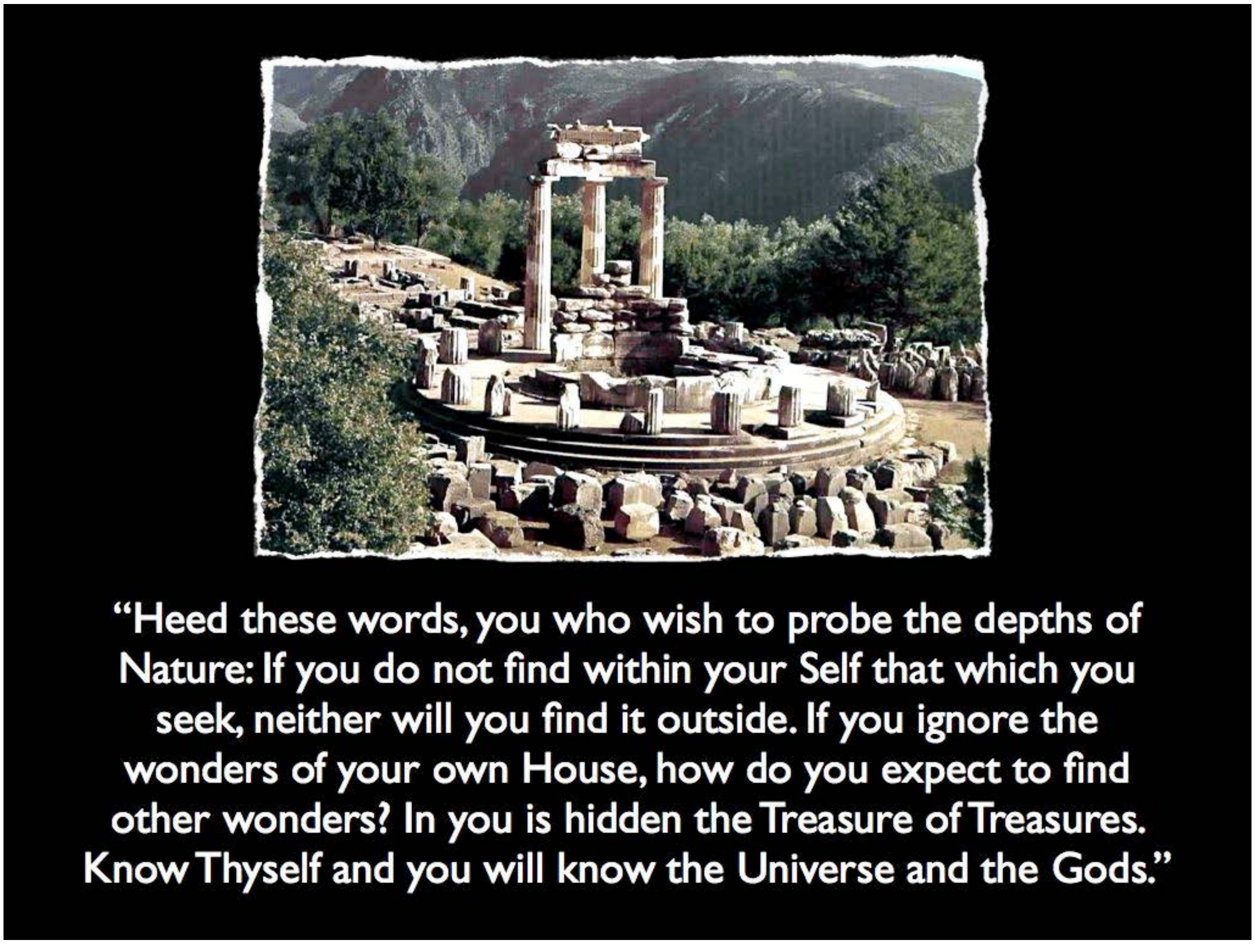
Adolf Hitler, the Supreme Chancellor during the Third Reich in Nazi Germany, he made a statement and he said "make the lie big, make it simple, keep saying it, and eventually the people will believe it." Make the lie big, make it simple, keep saying it and eventually you'll get people to accept it.

Now think about that. You have to make the lie big. It has to be about something that everyone thinks about, that everyone values in life. It has to be about general concepts that people accept, that people take into themselves and then base their life upon.



Hitler's minister of propaganda during the Third Reich was Paul Joseph Goebbels, and he made a statement that is actually even more sinister than Hitler's. He said, the bigger the lie, the more it will be believed. The bigger deceivers make the lie; the more people are likely to accept it into their fundamental makeup. Imagine that, and this is true. And we're going to talk about some of these big lies as we move forward on this radio program.

Another thing that we're basically going to do is, we really want to understand again self-knowledge. That's going to be the way out of the mess that we're in. Once we recognize the problems, the solution really lies in understanding who we really are. Who we really are, and the only way you can do that is if you have enough knowledge of yourself, how your own consciousness works and how to bring that consciousness to a place of balance.



"Heed these words, you who wish to probe the depths of Nature: If you do not find within your Self that which you seek, neither will you find it outside. If you ignore the wonders of your own House, how do you expect to find other wonders? In you is hidden the Treasure of Treasures. Know Thyself and you will know the Universe and the Gods."

So I want to read another quote. This is an inscription. It is written on the Oracle of Delphi in Greece from the Greek mystery traditions, schools of consciousness and people who deeply studied and reflected upon the nature of consciousness and self. Here's the quote: "Heed these words, you who wish to probe the depths of nature; If you do not find within yourself that which you seek, neither will you find it outside of yourself. If you ignore the wonders of your own house, how do you expect to find other wonders? In you is hidden the Treasure of Treasures. Know thyself and you will know the Universe and the Gods."

Know thyself and you will know the universe and the gods. Now this statement reflects a fundamental core truth about the nature of reality that we are embedded in. It says if you know the self, you will know the universe. So moving from the very small to the very large, and knowledge about one reflects knowledge about the other.

This says something about the nature of our reality. It says that our reality is self-similar across scales. It is fractal in nature. It is holographic in nature. A hologram is an image that you can keep breaking apart down into smaller and smaller elements, yet within each element, if you cut a hologram in half you don't get half an image, you get a whole image at a slightly lower level of resolution, but nonetheless the entire image is present.

The universe works the same way. If you understand enough about the constituent elements of the universe, meaning the individual consciousness that comprise it, you understand about the whole of nature.

So why do people not understand this principle? Why do they not know the self? Why are we experiencing all the types of problems that we are experiencing, based on the fact that people do not understand themselves, that they do not understand the nature of their own consciousness.

But moreover, to go back to the fundamental things that people value or accept and how that dictates the quality of their life, if you did this as a social experiment, let's say you went to about 20 or 30 individuals, and you ask them "tell me, list the three things that you value above everything else in life, just list the three things that you think are the most critical to your life and the quality of your life."

Now, I guarantee you would get an extremely diverse amount of answers. They would be all across the board. They would range from family, to health, to money, to possessions, to religion, just general concepts in life. I would almost guarantee you, I would almost be willing to bet anything on the fact that if you did this social experiment even with many people around you, you would not get back the answer "truth" from many people. And this is why we're in the mess that we're in as a whole, as a people

People have lost the idea that truth is valuable, that it means something in relationship to the experience of their lives. That it dictates the quality of that which they experience in their lives, and again these two things are fundamentally interwoven and cannot be separated from each other.

When we are in alignment with what is, and what is true, and we speak the truth, and we live according to truth - and by that I mean natural law and moral law - then the quality of our experience improves and we don't suffer.

If however the nature of our lives varies in accordance with what is, truth, then we experience suffering in proportion to the amount that we go off the path of truth. And that is how it works. It really does work like that. That is a fundamental law of nature and many people refuse to accept that as a fundamental law of nature.

Just like gravity is a law of nature. It doesn't matter whether you believe in it, if you step off a cliff then you're going to experience the result of what the law of gravity will do to the body, whether you believe in it or not. It's really kind of irrelevant whether you believe in a natural law, because it's in place and you're bound by it. Now that could mean you can choose to ignore it, but you're going to suffer proportionally to the amount that you ignore that law.

And this is going to lead me into another concept, and I want to bring out the difference between two forms of not knowing, because I'm going to talk a lot about natural law and how natural law works throughout this program and programs that we do into the future.

TRANCE FORMATION
of AMERICA
The True Life Story of a CIA Mind Control Slave by Cathy O'Brien with Mark Phillips

"FOR EVERY PROBLEM, THERE EXISTS A SOLUTION. THE FORMULA FOR PROBLEM SOLVING RESTS FIRMLY ON THE QUALITY OF THE SUPPORTING RESEARCH INFORMATION CONCERNING THE NATURE OF THE PROBLEM."

-MARK PHILLIPS,
TRANCE FORMATION OF AMERICA

We're going to delve into the nature of the problems deeply and we're going to look into the darkness, certainly. We're not going to ignore anything that other people consider negative. We will be talking about the core nature of the problem, but I want to address why people largely don't understand this, primarily.

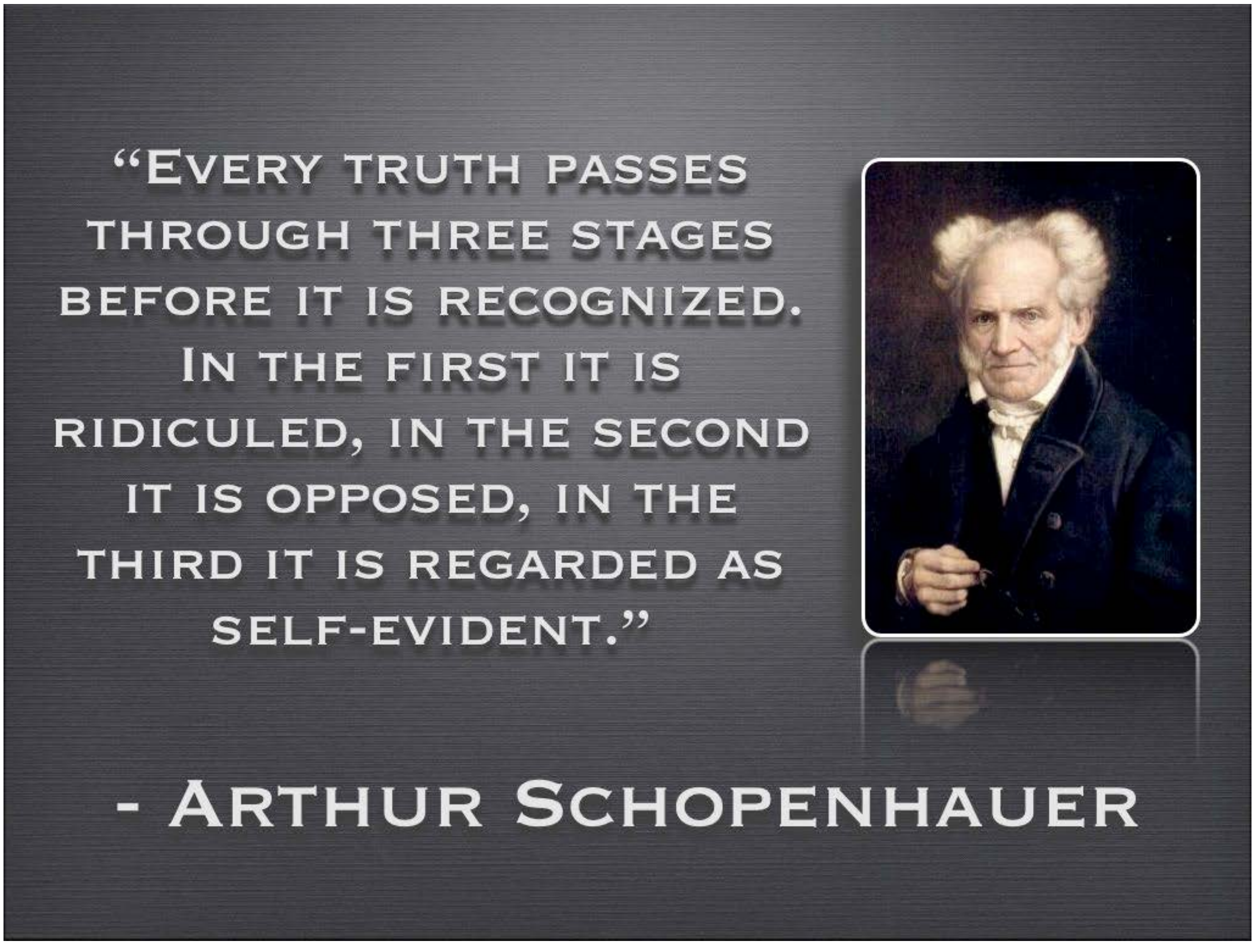
What is the difference between nescience and ignorance? Is there a difference between nescience and ignorance? Nescience is kind of like a formal term for ignorant or general not knowing. It means "not knowing." Now there is a difference between nescience and ignorance.

Nescience is not knowing or not understanding something that you wouldn't really be reasonably expected to know or understand. Ignorance is deliberately turning aside from something that you can be reasonably expected to know or understand, hence the word ignorance. Ignore. You are deliberately choosing not to look at that which is, which is right in front of you, or which is easily able to be understood and taken in by you with a minimal amount of effort.

And I would argue that Humanity in today's world does not exist in a state of nescience, because there is a profound amount of knowledge in the world. There is an unbelievable amount of information out there on every topic imaginable. Bookstores are full, there are thousands if not hundreds of thousands of documentaries available out there, people are lecturing constantly in all cities at all times and places.

There is just so much it's almost overkill, the amount of information that is out there and yet you still have people that just don't want to know. They don't want to look at the truth because of how ugly it has become, because of how much we have descended in consciousness and become something that really humanity probably should never have become and does not need to stay in this state for really a moment longer. The knowledge is all around us, it's all there. It's a matter of whether we will reach out and take it.

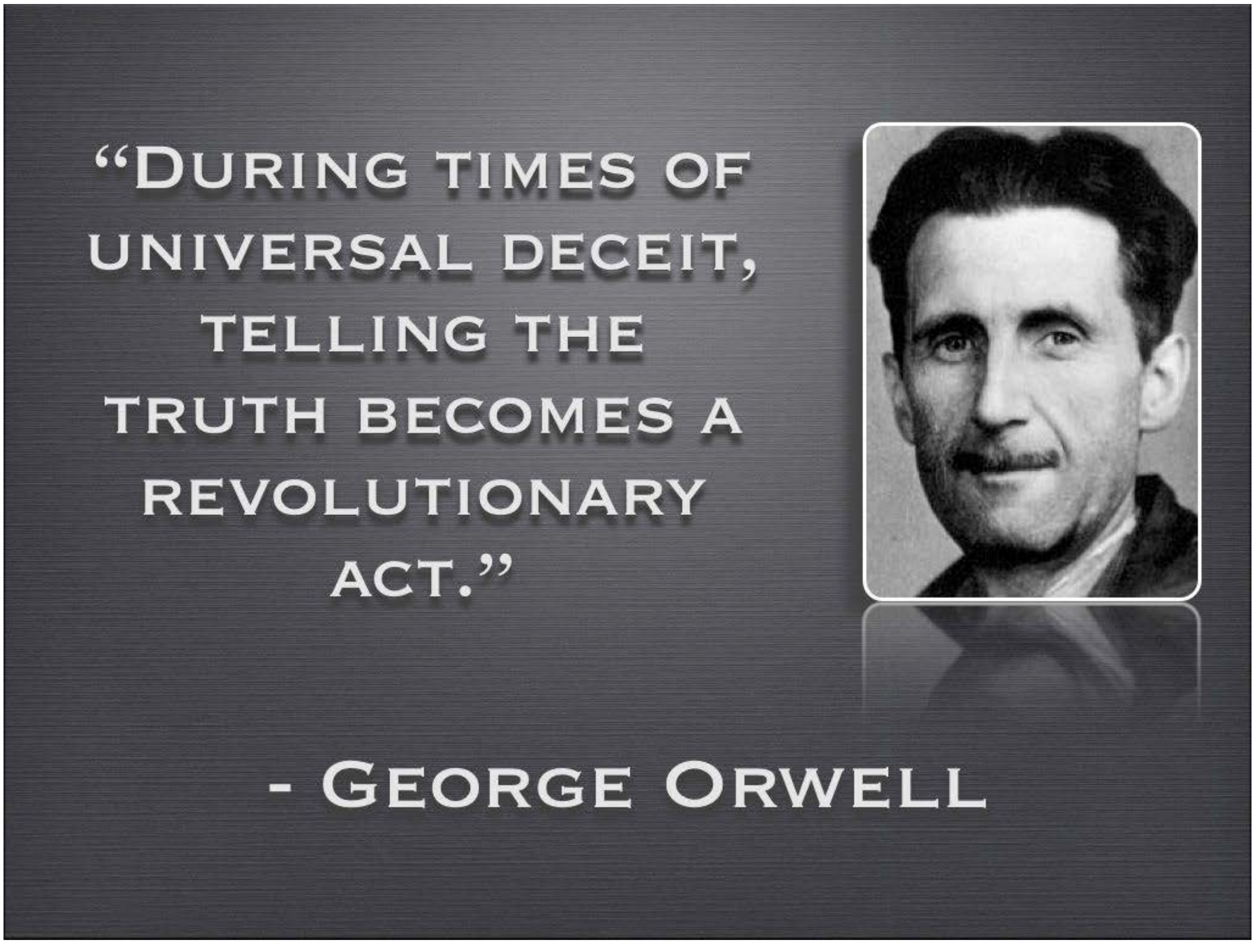
And it's also a matter of once some of us understand the information that is out there, once some of us understand the truth, how much will we be willing to fearlessly take it to others around us? How many of us would be really willing to speak the truth into existence and really bring it to other people who need to understand it, whether that may be uncomfortable for us or not.



"EVERY TRUTH PASSES THROUGH THREE STAGES BEFORE IT IS RECOGNIZED. IN THE FIRST IT IS RIDICULED, IN THE SECOND IT IS OPPOSED, IN THE THIRD IT IS REGARDED AS SELF-EVIDENT."

- ARTHUR SCHOPENHAUER

Because it kind of creates sometimes oppositional circumstances between people, and you know family members can come to an oppositional relationship when it comes to one person trying to bring information that another person may not necessarily be willing to look at, and that's another dynamic that I want to address as we go forward on this radio show.



"DURING TIMES OF UNIVERSAL DECEIT, TELLING THE TRUTH BECOMES A REVOLUTIONARY ACT."

- GEORGE ORWELL

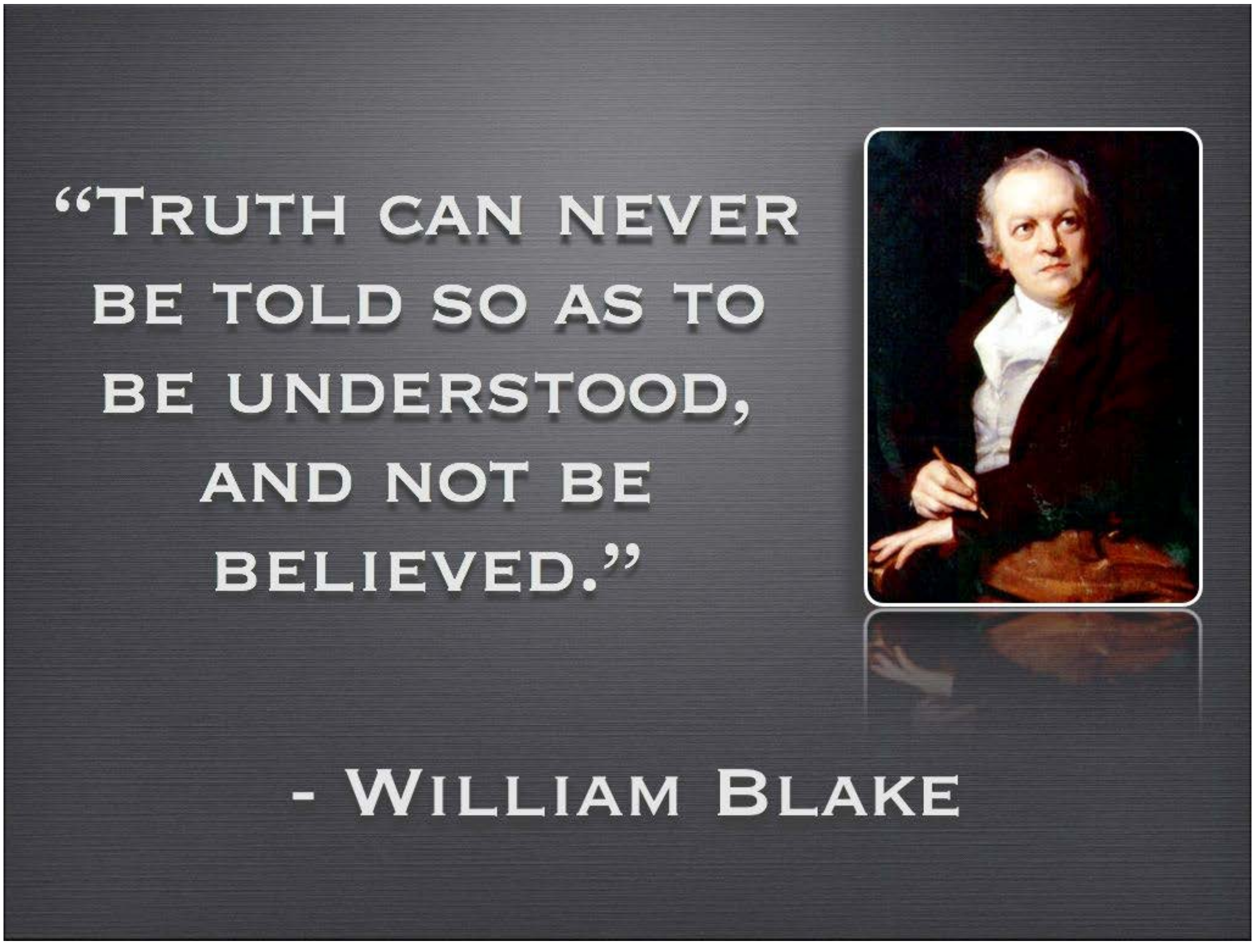
So the next thing I really want to do is and probably through a good amount of the remainder of this first hour of the show, I want to bring up the concept that in my presentation and on this show I'm going to be referring to as the biggest lie. The biggest lie, okay? There's one lie that is really bigger than any other that is ever told, and it is the most dangerous ideology that basically exists.

I'm going to tell you what the name of it. There actually is a name for it. I don't give it that name in my presentation but on the show I want to actually tell you what the name of this ideology is called, and we're going to get into it in depth, because this is one of the most fundamental ideologies, believe it or not, in the Western world.

As difficult as that may be for some people to believe, this ideology is so prevalent and it's so insidious, that you will find it out there, you have discussions with people, people who you at least expect not to hold this general ideology, you'll find that they believe this and they're unwilling to accept anything else no matter how much contradictory evidence is brought to their attention. And this ideology is called solipsism.

Now many will be hearing this word for the first time because it's not generally talked about as a philosophy or an ideology, so a lot of people don't know what it is. So I'm going to read a basic definition of what solipsism is and then get into this, because this is the biggest lie and this is the main deception that manipulators really use, and they want people to unknowingly and unwittingly accept the philosophy of solipsism even if it's in the back of their minds, and many people are solipsists and don't even really know it.

They don't even really understand that that's the ideology that they subscribe to, and I'll give an anecdote after I get into it a little bit about some solipsists that I have met in my travels and in dealing with some people even in the truth and freedom movements.



"TRUTH CAN NEVER BE TOLD SO AS TO BE UNDERSTOOD, AND NOT BE BELIEVED."
- WILLIAM BLAKE

So what solipsism is, it's the philosophical notion that one's own mind is really all that exists, and that one's perceptions are equated to reality and truth. Okay? So your perceptions are all there is. The contents of your mind, your perceptions, that's all that exists, and if you believe that then you might as well turn this show off right now because there's nothing that I or anyone else can really say that could dissuade you from your course.

However, this is the biggest lie. There is no more dangerous ideology than the notion that there is no such thing as truth. This is the ideology that is placed out there to dissuade people from ever really going on the journey, from ever really stepping onto the spiritual path in life and the path toward truth.

Because if you can convince someone that there really is no truth, that it's all relative that it's all based on people's perceptions, no matter how erroneous or no matter how in totally straying from natural law principles their perceptions may be, then you really have them where you want them to begin to manipulate their sense of reality. That's the biggest lie.

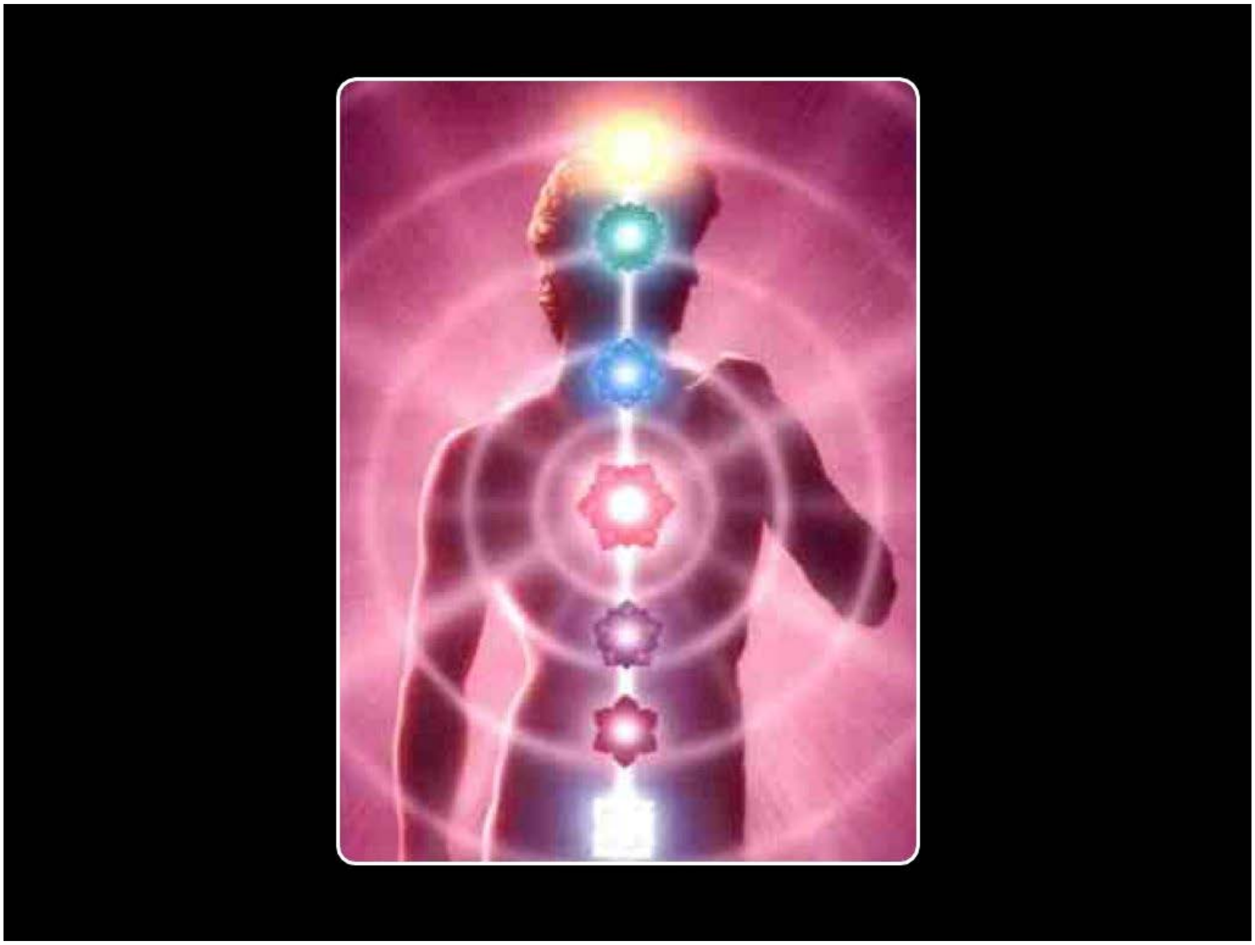
Before we even get into where this ideology leads, let's look at some of the basic tenets of solipsism. Solipsism basically states that there essentially is no reality. There is no actual experiences, it's all just one person's perception. In other words, if my mind ceases to exist, the universe ceases to exist. So nothing really exists to a solipsist. It's all just a fleeting thing in between the time when someone is born and the time that they die, and nothing really matters.

And the second tenet is, even if something exists, you know it's basically saying, okay if tenant number one is somehow miraculously disproven and we can prove that something actually exists, nothing can actually be known about it so there's no such thing as knowledge. Knowledge doesn't exist to a solipsist. There is no such thing as knowledge.

So there's no truth, that's the first tenant. There's no such thing as the way things are, no truth, and there's no such thing as knowledge. In other words, even if you could come to an understanding in your own mind of the way natural law works, even if you could understand that something exists, you could not really understand anything about it in fullness.

And then the third tenet of solipsism is, even if something could be known about anything, okay, you take some kind of natural law, you take some kind of basic principle, you take a thing or an object or a fundamental quality of consciousness, and even if you could get to the truth about any of those things you could understand something and actually know any information fully about it, you could never actually really communicate that to any other living being. That knowledge about anything cannot really be communicated to other beings.

Now this ideology in my understanding is about as close to the conception of Hell as it gets. Nothing exists. Even if something were to exist you can never really know anything about it, and even if you were somehow to come into knowledge about it, it is impossible to take that knowledge and communicate it to anyone else. And what I would say is, this is the biggest lie. This is the lie that manipulators really want propagated to other people, because that means they'll never begin the awakening process.



The awakening process takes one initial leap of faith. One and only one, and that leap of faith is that you must initially believe that there is truth to be found on the journey, otherwise you will never set foot on that path. If you believe there is no such thing as the truth, it doesn't matter about anything else that takes place around you because you will never actually, for yourself, look into anything. If you believe you're not capable of understanding truth, you'll never start looking into it for yourself.

And if you buy the third tenet, that even if you were to understand that you can never really truly communicate it to anyone else, you'll never really begin speaking the truth to anyone else, and that's why this is the most dangerous and insidious ideology on the face of the earth, and it's called solipsism.

Remember that word and look into it. And there are more solipsists out there then you would even believe. I know that may be difficult for some people in the type of listening audience that listens here on Revolution Broadcasting and to people that come to my site whatonearthishappening.com, however that is the case there are a lot of solipsists out there.

I work with a group in the Philadelphia area called Truth Freedom Prosperity. I attend a lot of their meetings there. They're activists, and they're people who actively are truth seekers and people who are really trying to turn the tide and the dynamic that we're experiencing right now. I go out to some of their meetings and even some people that come out to hear ideas that are expressed in a group like this, and I've heard the notion that there is really no such thing as truth even in groups like that, which is a disheartening thing to hear in the truth and freedom movements. You would think why would anybody be out at a group called Truth Freedom Prosperity if they believed there was no such thing as truth and it was all about individual perceptions?

The idea that perception is reality it's something that many people really want to propagate and embed in the consciousness of people, but perception is not reality. The quality of our experience is dictated by how closely aligned our perceptions come with truth, and our goal in life needs to be to bring our perceptions into harmony with truth, with that which is, so we're not constantly engaged in fantasy, so that we're not constantly ignoring that which is going on around us.

And more importantly we're not ignoring that which is going on within us, because that's really where this is all being driven from. And you're not going to hear me too much talk about the highest level of the control element that's going on. You're not going to hear me get into hatred toward those people who are really up at the highest level of the conspiratorial pyramid because I don't hold a lot of bitterness or anger toward those people.

In a lot of ways, they are united with themselves at least. In a very sick, twisted and dark way they're united with themselves. They're beings that as they think, so they feel, and so they act. As twisted as their actions may be they're still in unity, at least with themselves. And that's why they're successful at what they do. That's why they have had up to this point a largely easy time at manipulating the rest of us. Because most of us cannot make that same claim.

We can't make that same claim, sadly, that as we think, so we feel and so we act, in unison, and there is no contradiction between those three modalities of our consciousness in our lives. Many of us cannot really make that statement. We take actions that we know in the knowledge that we carry and in our emotions, how we feel about it, we know and understand that essentially those actions are not what we should be doing yet for whatever reasons or justifications, we take those actions anyway and that's how we get off the path of truth, and that again is why we suffer.

We really can't bring those three aspects of ourselves, our thoughts, our emotions and our actions into alignment, unless we understand enough about ourselves and how we work. And that's why the manipulators of this world are really so successful. They understand how consciousness works. They understand how natural law works. They understand how the principles of truth work.

They've decided to take that knowledge and use it as a weapon against other people that they wish to control and put under their thumb, because if you can take so much knowledge out of general circulation, and you can hide it, you can occult that knowledge. And that's all the word occult means.

We'll be talking a lot about the occult. We'll be talking about different occult systems, different occult ideologies and beliefs, different occult groups as the show progresses over the weeks. All the word occult means is hidden. It comes from the Latin - again another thing I'm going to be doing a lot on this show is, we'll be free forming ideas, we'll be throwing different concepts out there - but one thing I really am going to be doing a lot is getting into the meaning of words, and getting into how words control people.

We are controlled through words more than any other methodology. Believe it or not that's true. The word occult is derived from Latin. Do this as an experiment - just play a general word association game with people say occult and then tell the person "tell me the first word that comes to your mind when I say that word" and I guarantee, you can do this a hundred times, I guarantee you at least 90% of the time, the first word that is going to come back in a word association game with other people if you say the word occult, you will get back the word “evil,” almost guaranteed. Try it.

This is what manipulators want you to think of as the occult. All it is, is knowledge that has been hidden. It comes from the Latin verb occulture. Occulture means to hide or to conceal. That's it. So the word occult is derived from Latin and all it means is "that which is hidden from sight." Nothing more, nothing less. There is no connotation on whether it is for good purposes or for evil purposes, and that's another distinction that we're going to make in this radio program.

What is the difference between understanding and wisdom? What is the difference between knowledge and properly applied knowledge? To know something - and many people that are listening to this show and many people throughout the world have a lot of knowledge. They know a lot about what is going on, however that's only the first step. Having knowledge can be helpful and having knowledge can be useless.

Knowledge is simply information. And what matters isn't necessarily having the knowledge, accurate information about what is, that's knowledge. However, what really makes knowledge important - knowledge in itself isn't power. What you do with what you know really imbues knowledge with power. That's when it becomes actively applied knowledge and that is done through our actions. Once you know, what are you going to do with what you know?

And hopefully this program will be an inspiration for some people to really begin using the most powerful device, the most powerful agency, the most powerful force in the known universe, and that is the power of the human voice. That is the most powerful force in the universe.

The voice is the greatest gift that we have ever been given and it can serve a dual purpose, because the manipulators of this world are using their voice 24/7 and they're using it for deception and manipulation and the propagation of lies and in particular the biggest lie, that there's no truth. Don't even bother going after it, after all you can't know it you don't have the ability to really know and understand what is going on and what is taking place around you. And more importantly they want you to identify with the fact that you can't really know what's going on inside of yourself in your own consciousness.

So knowledge properly applied in the world, that is what wisdom is, and that's what makes knowledge good or bad. Used for good to elevate human consciousness, or used for evil purposes to spread deception and to keep people ignorant and to keep people under control. So no topics are going to be considered taboo on the show. There is no such thing as negative information. This is where I come to a great divergence with some new-age schools of thought. I'm not a new-age subscriber in this regard.

There is no such thing as negative information. As a matter of fact, one of the worst things that I think that we can do is refuse to engage the truth no matter how ugly it is. If we refuse to look at our own shadow, at the darkness that dwells in our own individual consciousness's and in our own hearts, then we're really not going to get very far on the journey that we're on and we're not really going to get to the heart of the matter. We have to be willing to look into that heart of darkness and confront it. Because there's really no escape from the situation.

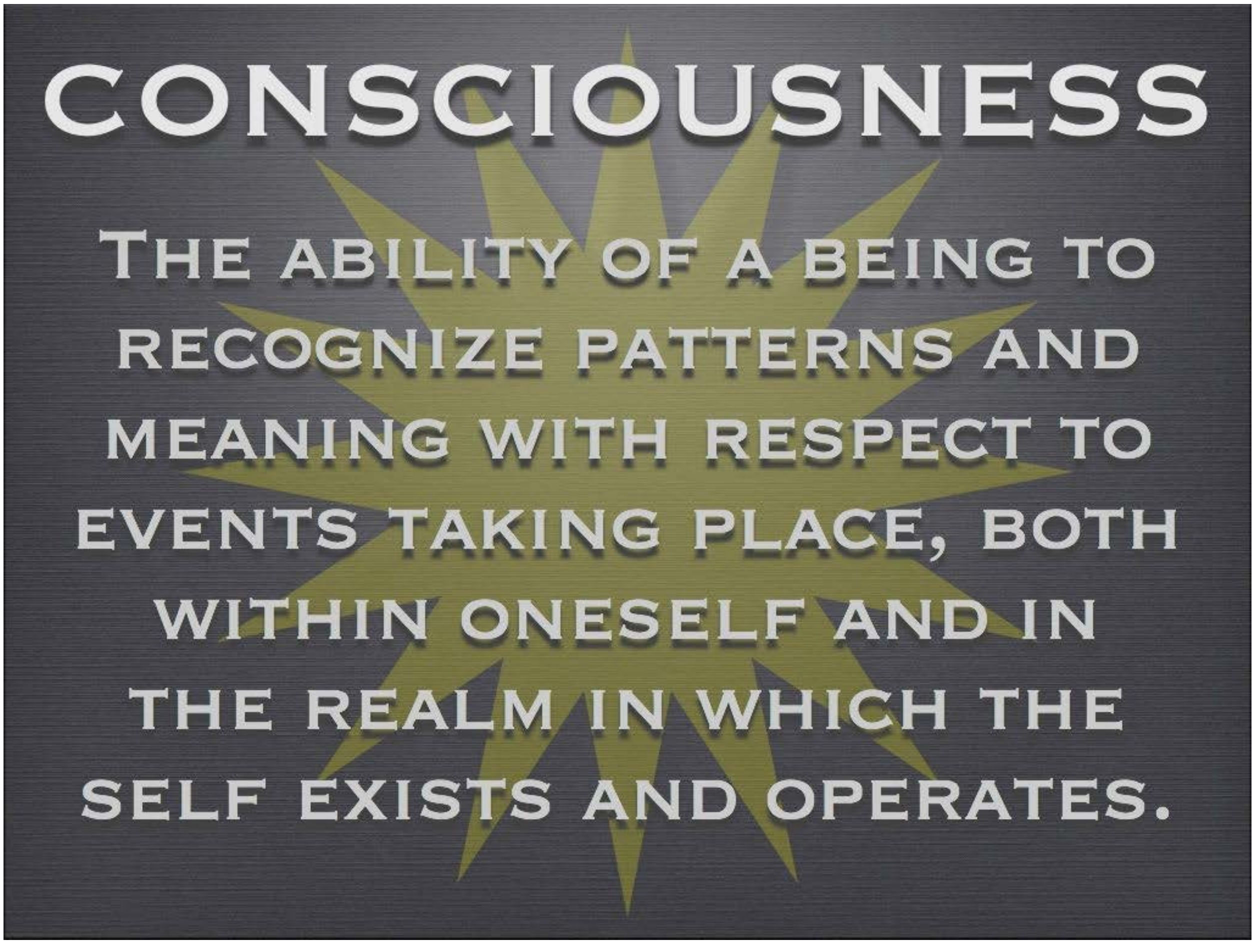
Hate to break the news to most people but there's no escape from the situation that we've worked ourselves into as a species. There really is no escaping it. The way out of this uncomfortable situation is to go through it. Not around it, not under it, not over it, not turning your back and walking in the other direction. It doesn't work like that. The way out is to go through the problems that we've created by confronting them, and the only way to do that is to look at oneself. The answer lies in the mirror, and that's going to be the focus of what this show is really ultimately all about.

This show is going to be a process of self-examination above all else. Self-examination. The more self-knowledge we have about how we work and why we fundamentally believe the things that we do, and why we fundamentally behave in the ways that we did. Until we have enough information about that, you really aren't in a position to start affecting things for the better and moving it toward the solution. There does have to come knowledge first, otherwise we'd be running around like chickens with our heads cut off not really knowing what's going on, not really knowing what's going on within us most importantly.

So let's further break some of these ideas down and get into what human consciousness really is ultimately about. We have a threefold nature to our consciousness. Maybe it would help first to talk about what consciousness is. Consciousness is really the solution to the problems that we face. It's the solution for not being deceived anymore. It's the solution for not being able to be externally controlled by other people anymore. Consciousness is the solution to ultimately all the problems that we face as a species, because if we don't have consciousness then we're wandering in the dark. We are wandering in base levels of awareness.

You never really know the difference between truth and falsehood if you're at a low vibrational consciousness. Somebody can come along with any lie or any made-up notion and they can hold it out there as bait and you'd be willing to bite it, and buy it. Again it has been said, are we really being sold the lies that we're living according to? Were we really sold them, or did we buy them willingly. That's a question we all really need to ask ourselves. We’re so hungry for someone to take responsibility for us? For someone to think for us? For someone to solve problems for us, that we were willing to lay aside our personal responsibility, and most of all our responsibility to understanding the truth. Were we willing to lay that aside and just say "okay I'll take your solution. All you all you have to do is put it out there and I accept. I'll buy it."

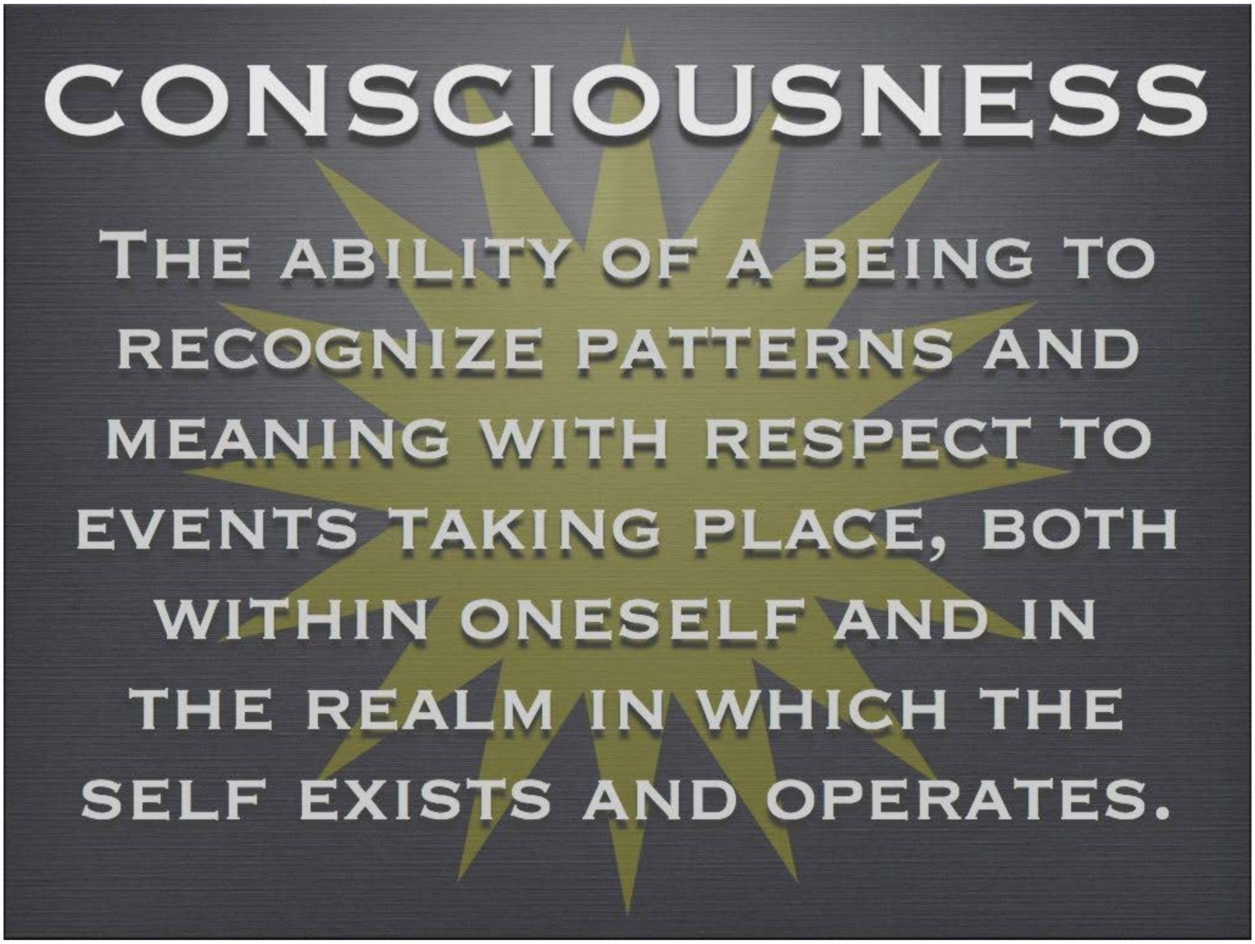
I think the latter is certainly the case, that we really weren't sold the mess that we're in. We bought it, hook line and sinker, and the only way to really get out of that that modality of being in the world is to raise consciousness. That's what the solution ultimately is. Every problem contains in itself the seed of its own solution, and that seed is human consciousness.



CONSCIOUSNESS

THE ABILITY OF A BEING TO RECOGNIZE PATTERNS AND MEANING WITH RESPECT TO EVENTS TAKING PLACE, BOTH WITHIN ONESELF AND IN THE REALM IN WHICH THE SELF EXISTS AND OPERATES.

Now consciousness, how I'm going to use it, and again not just tonight but throughout the entire show, the definition that I'm going to use for consciousness, when I say consciousness, what I'm talking about is, it's our ability to recognize patterns that are going on with respect to the events that are taking place around us.



CONSCIOUSNESS

THE ABILITY OF A BEING TO RECOGNIZE PATTERNS AND MEANING WITH RESPECT TO EVENTS TAKING PLACE, BOTH WITHIN ONESELF AND IN THE REALM IN WHICH THE SELF EXISTS AND OPERATES.

And not just to around us but also inside of us. The internal patterns that take place within the body, within the mind, within our feelings. That's what consciousness is about. Being able to recognize patterns and meaning. What do those patterns mean? Not just that they are there, but then why are they there? The question "why" has to be addressed all the time. That's what consciousness really is. It's looking at something and it's asking the question "why." Why is it like this? Why is this a fundamental nature of this thing, or this problem, or this event?

So consciousness is our ability to recognize patterns and meaning with respect to the events that are taking place both within us and around us. That's all I'm really referring to when I refer to human consciousness. And consciousness can either be raised through knowledge, or it can be manipulated through knowledge, and that is what we're going to really get into when we start getting into occult methodologies for controlling consciousness. And that's by any name that you give it, that is mind control and that's going to be one of the central focuses of this show as we move forward.

I'm going to talk about mind control and its methodologies, because if someone doesn't understand the methodologies of mind control they don't really have the tools to understand the ways that they may be actively being manipulated by other people who do not have their best intentions at heart. So we have to know the methodologies of mind control, and mind control works on multiple fronts. There's so many different methodologies of it, and I'm largely talking about mass mind control. There's something called trauma-based mind control which we're probably going to do a full show on, however what I'm largely talking about is mass mind control. Mind control that goes to work on large populations of people based on programming into them the fundamental axioms, or core belief systems that people fundamentally take as true and then act upon as if they are true.

That's what mind control is, and we have to be aware of how it works. Again it's a multi-faceted set of techniques. That's what mind control is. It works very powerfully through words, so understanding the words that we speak, understanding language, is a huge part of mind control. I don't know whether anyone is familiar with something called neuro linguistic programming, which is about word choice and speech patterns related to embedding ideas in people's consciousness so that they act in certain ways. We'll talk about that.

We'll talk about the use of symbolism for mind control. Symbolism is an archetypal language. It is in language that if we don't understand the building blocks of, and the syntax of, then we are completely vulnerable to its manipulation at a subconscious level. So we'll be getting into symbolism a lot on this program.

We'll be talking about frequency, the use of colors and we'll be getting into the use of shapes and forms, and how all of these come together in a cohesive way and are used to influence the thoughts and ultimately be used as a mechanism to subvert consciousness, and control it. It really is more than mind control. It's consciousness control that's what the human species is basically under. It is the manipulation and control of the three experiential forms of human consciousness which we're going to get into in a few moments.

So let's wrap up the first hour of the show with an explanation of the two basic ways that consciousness breaks down and manifests, and essentially these are in an internal feminine manifestation and in an external masculine manifestation. So I'll say that one more time. Consciousness has essentially two seemingly opposite qualities however they are really not opposites. They are really unified and they dance with each other is a good way to look at it. They're actually embraced and they form the quality of the whole of consciousness. There is an internal and indwelling feminine manifestation and then there is an external masculine manifestation of consciousness.

Now different spiritual systems have given these different names. For example, you can look in Taoism, and in Taoism they're called Yin and Yang. Yin is the internal feminine. It's a passive quality, it's an intuitive quality, it is it is a more compassionate or submissive and it is associated with the right brain. The right brain hemisphere largely carries this energy, the yin quality. In different occult traditions, let's say in Kabbalah you have the paths of severity and mercy. So this would be like the mercy quality in Kabbalah. It is the feminine aspect.

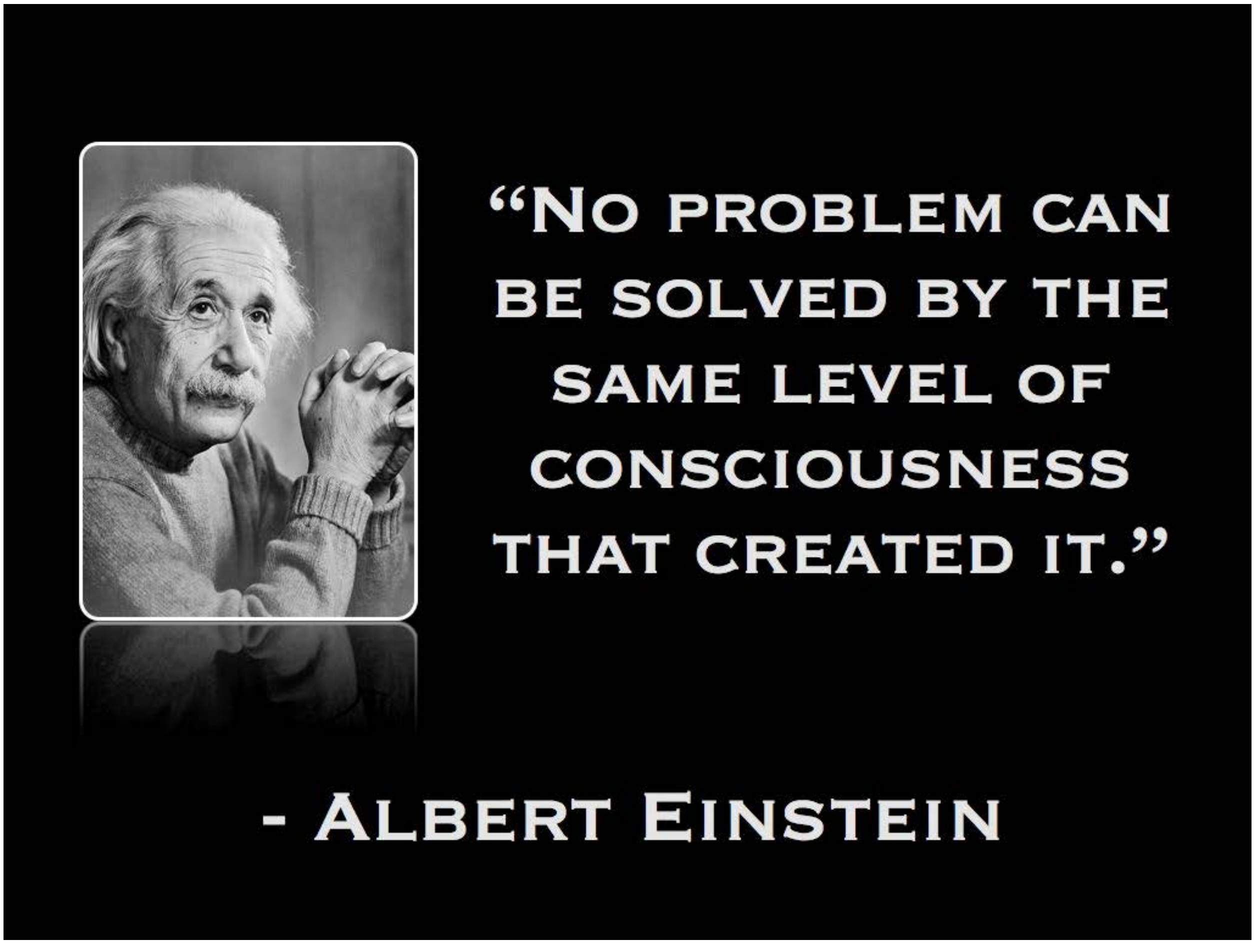
Now you have the external male quality of consciousness and in Taoism that would be called the Yang quality in consciousness. This would be the more dominant or analytical, the logical side. This would be a male element and it would be more associated with the left brain hemisphere. So we can look at this in relationship to Freemasonry for example. You have the two pillars in Freemasonry. You have The Pillar of Jachin leading to the Sun, which could be considered the yang energy or the masculine quality of consciousness.

The Pillar of Boaz leads to the moon, and that would be the feminine quality of consciousness because it is indwelling. This is an internal aspect of our consciousness or of our makeup. It's intuitive. It's a passive element. It isn't very active. It's associated with the night, and basically this quality of consciousness is directly related to our emotions. Our emotions are the internal quality of consciousness within us.

The Yang consciousness is the male energy, the masculine form of consciousness. It's solar - that's the symbolic way that it is depicted, as the Sun. It is an active quality. It's logical and analytical, and it is dominant. It is not passive or submissive. It is a more aggressive or dominant energy, and this energy is all about our actions in the world. This is all about how we make our consciousness manifest to others through our actions. You've heard the saying "you will know them by their actions," and that is certainly true. We have to strive, if we want to become more conscious, to bring these two qualities into unison and balance with each other within ourselves.

So we have to strive to become beings that as we feel, so we take action. And that our actions aren't in contradiction or opposition with how we really feel inside. So if I feel something is wrong, is not morally correct or is not morally justifiable, and I do it anyway for whatever reason, the reason does not matter, then I'm in opposition with myself. It doesn't make a difference what the reason is. Justifications or excuses really at the end of the day do not hold any water. That's all they are, is justifications and excuses.

If we continue to take actions that we actually believe aren't morally justified, that we really should not be doing, and we know that deep down inside, then we are in a state of internal opposition with ourselves, with our own consciousness, and for that very reason that is why we're largely experiencing the negative and uncomfortable and often painful situations that we're experiencing in the world today, because we are in a state of internal opposition with ourselves.



"No problem can be solved by the same level of consciousness that created it."
- Albert Einstein

We have to strive to make these two qualities into one within us and there's many different methodologies for doing that. I'm going to get into eventually on this show practical grassroots solutions for affecting real change in in our lives. But I want to talk about again briefly the idea that there is a solution for every problem that is out there. There really is a solution, and there's a formula for problem solving. That's what we're ultimately really looking for. We're really striving to find the solution to this problem.

You can know all you want about the problem. You can learn more, and more, and more, and more about the chains that you're held in, but ultimately if you're not looking for the way out of those chains then what is the difference how much you know about the chains? It is a first step that you do have to understand how the problems manifest. We ultimately have to strive for solutions, and the way we get down to that problem solving is by finding enough information about the ultimate nature, the core nature of the problem, and the core nature of the problem that we face is we do not ultimately know ourselves.

We do not ultimately know enough about human consciousness and the way it works, and that is a manipulators dream scenario. If you have a person or a group of people who do not really understand how they work, they don't understand how their mind works, they don't under really understand how their emotional makeup works, maybe they're not a very emotionally developed person, then you're in a position to completely manipulate and control their behavior because you know more about their makeup and how they work than they do.

Think of it like this - here's a great metaphor for this. Imagine a psychologist who has studied the human mind and the psyche more than anyone. Let's say this is one of the most advanced psychologists that has ever lived. He has done more work and delving into the human psyche than anyone else before him. Let's say he had a friend that for whatever reason - you can make up whatever reason you want - he started really despising. He had some kind of a problem with him. Maybe he became aware that the friend did something to him behind his back and he really wanted to get back at that person. How much of a number do you think a psychologist like that would be able to do with a person that he became very close to, and became close within life? How much of a number, knowing what he knows about the mind and the psyche, do you think he would be able to do on that other individual? I guarantee he could practically make life a living hell for him.

And that's ultimately what the nature of the problem that we're faced with in the world today is really all about. You can look at the manipulators on this world, you can look at the dark occultists of this world, who use their knowledge of how the natural law systems of consciousness work in this world. They use them as weapons against people who do not possess that knowledge, and that places them in a position of higher ground in warfare, and you know what happens when someone gets the higher ground.

You can look at it like a chess game. Chess requires a lot of different elements coming together for someone to really be an excellent chess player. You have to really know the game. You have to know how the laws of the game work, right? You can't just make moves wherever you want, you have to know what you know how the pieces move on the chess board. This could be called natural law.

Natural law is simply how the system that we're in does work. Whether we believe it, accept it, or not, there are laws that bind this place that we are inextricably bound to and buy. And if we break them we suffer and if we harmonize with them then we don't suffer. That will be a hard bitter pill to swallow for many people but nonetheless, it is the case.

Now good chess player understands that. He understands how the pieces move and the moves that they're capable of making, but he has other qualities in his arsenal. He has a knowledge of the opponent. A good chess player has to know who he's sitting down and playing against. He has to know whether they know as much about the game as he does. He has to know what their strategy is and more importantly he has to know what their motivations are. He has to know what really drives them. "What are they thinking? Do I understand what they're really wanting to do? Because if I do then I could stay several steps ahead of them."

He has to have a sense of timing to know when to make certain moves, and he definitely has to be able to put out whatever is necessary to get the job done. So he has to have a sense of duty if you like, or a call to sacrifice. You might need to sacrifice certain pieces to put yourself in a position where you want to be. And we'll talk about different events throughout history as human sacrifice. We'll get into 9/11 as a human sacrifice event to advance an agenda forward in this game that's being played, and we'll get into that in weeks ahead.

So these are the qualities that go into playing a good game of chess. That's the necessary formula. And I would suggest that the manipulators of the world have all these qualities and to a very great extent, most of the people that they are working against, that they are attempting to control, do not have many of these qualities in place. As a matter of fact, most people don't even know there's a game being played and haven't even shown up, so what this show is going to be a call to is trying to get more of those people to show up at the game board and hopefully work our way up to a higher position so we are not pawns in the game being played.

We can't let ourselves be played in this game like pawns. We have to become the Masters of this game. The chess master isn't on the board. The chess master isn't on the game board floor, right? When you sit down if you're a chess master you're not actually walking onto the board. You're sitting down in a chair and your perspective is higher than the board. You can look down onto the board because you're at a higher level. That's what we need to become.

Sadly, most people are those pieces, and most people are the pawns in the game and don't even know it. They don't even know that they have strings tied to them, and that where they're being told to move is a completely controlled function, and the chess master is moving them at his discretion and at his own personal will, and most people never ever see the strings that have been tied down, and they never see that they're a pawn in that game, or that they're wanderers on that checkered board.

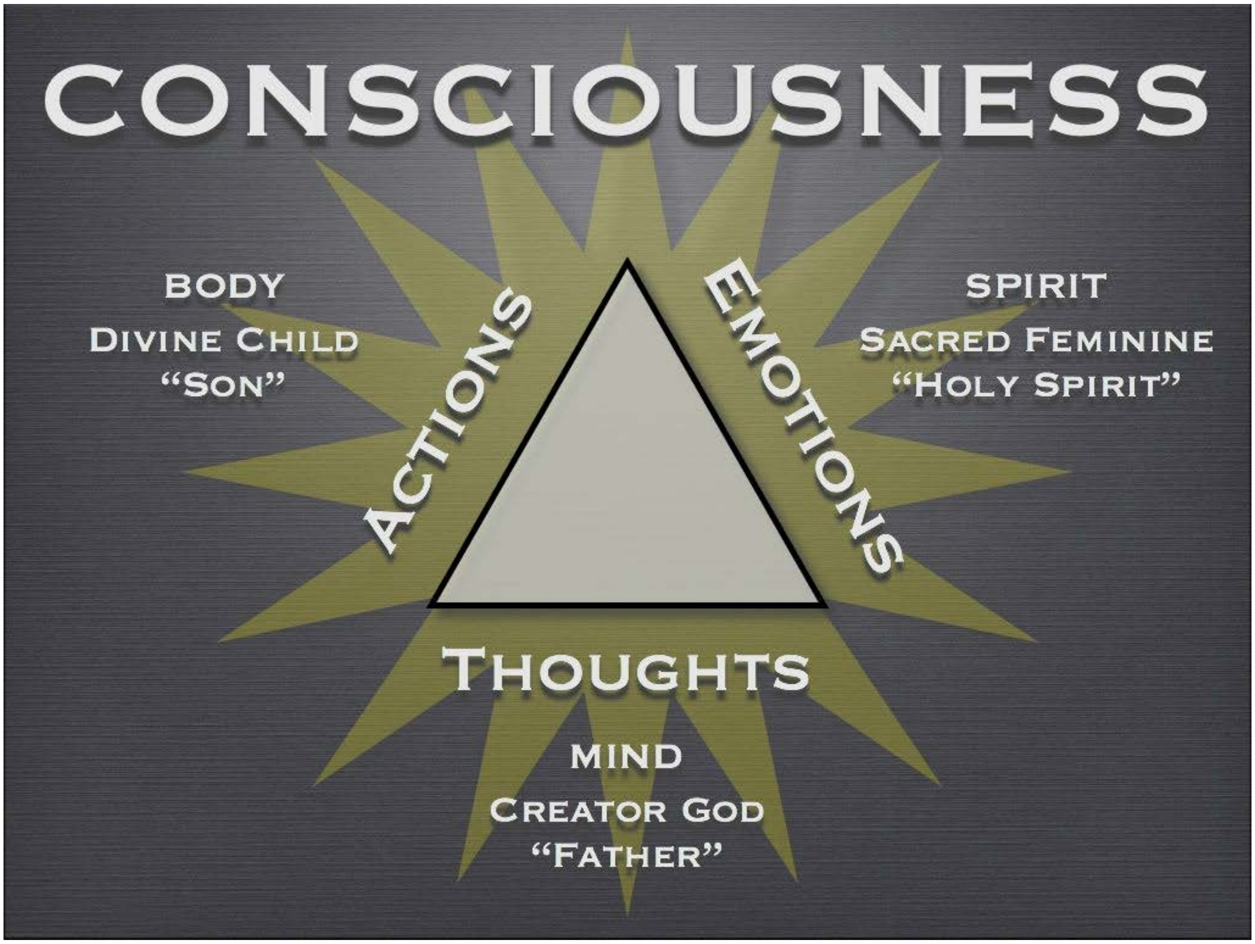
We will talk about the symbolism of the checkered floor, okay? The black and white squares. That's the game board floor where if you're on it and that's your level of consciousness then you don't know that you're being played and you're basically a piece that is being positioned by a master who exists at a level much higher than you. You’re a wanderer. Those black and white squares representing light and dark, you really don't know which is which. From your perspective you can only see one or maybe two squares ahead of you, but you can't see the whole game. You can't pull back and see the whole picture.

That's ultimately what I'm trying to get people to do, is to pull back and really see the bigger picture. Not even from the box that most of us bring to the table, because many of us bring boxes to the table when it comes to looking at what really is and looking at the truth. Some of us may even want to look at what the truth is, but we strive to fit it into the pre-existing ways that we had of looking at reality. We try to say "well, I previously thought this and I've now taken in this new information. How can I get it to jive with the belief system that I previously held?"

And a big, big part of this will be religion. This is something that there is so much evidence that this is a manipulation and form of mind control, and yet you hear many people that never want to admit to that and who don't look into the basis and the formulation of their religions and how that is also a form of mind control. So people bring different boxes to the table. The boxes are of all shapes and sizes and colors and materials, but newsflash, the truth does not fit in a box. So if you're bringing a box to the table then eventually at some point this show is going to make you feel uncomfortable, and I want it to do that because the truth again does not fit in a box and anybody trying to stuff it into a box is going to be sorely disappointed.

So let's get back into our discussion about self-knowledge. Self-knowledge is what we need. We need consciousness. The ability to recognize patterns of information. The ability to recognize what is taking place both within us, and around us in the external reality that we experience and share with others. So consciousness at its core has a dual nature of internal feminine qualities, and external masculine qualities. How this manifests in each individual, in each individual unit of consciousness let's call it - in different mystical traditions that the word monad is often used - the one that is the expression of the all.

And there are many monads. Each individual has their own unique expressed consciousness, even though we're all part of the one unified ocean of consciousness that exists in the universe. But getting down to the breakdown of the monad, the individual unit of consciousness, or an individual being, there are basically three expressions. And if you sit and really think about this, you really give it some deep thought, there really are only three ways that your consciousness can express itself in the reality that we live in. Think about it.



You really can only experience three different manifested forms of consciousness, the ways that you make yourself known to other people, and these are through your thoughts, your emotions, and your actions. Your thoughts, your emotions, and your actions. The thoughts can be looked at as the primary expression of consciousness. They are an emanation. They're not really male or female. They just are. They're not an internal, nor an external manifestation. They are an essence. So that's a fundamental basis of consciousness. Thought activity. Look at that as our creator aspect. We have a creator aspect within us, and that is our thoughts.

It has been said that the universe itself is mental. It is comprised of thought energy. Everything that we experience ultimately had to derive, at some place in the past, as a thought. A fork, an eating implement, someone had to think "I want to make something to use as an eating implement and devise something that we now know as a fork," but the thought had to arise first, and this is with anything. Any action we take had to ultimately arise as a thought, any piece of technology that we make had to arise as a thought, any series of events that we experience had to exist first in the thoughts of the people that made that event occur.

The second aspect of consciousness as it manifests in our reality, is our emotions. Our emotions are the internal aspect of our consciousness. These are the ways that we basically express ourselves within the body. Within our own bodies, within our own physical makeup, we express ourselves inside of us through how we feel. This is basically the thoughts coming into the body and then carrying an energy that is then expressed through the physiology and we feel it in the physiology, and that's called our emotions.

So that's the Sacred Feminine quality of our consciousness. You could look at it as the Divine Mother in this consciousness Trinity. You have the creator aspect and then you have the internal feminine motherly aspect. Our emotions are the spirit in which we do things. Just like in the Trinity we call this aspect the holy spirit. So the thoughts, that's the root, the primary essence of consciousness and that is the creator aspect. The emotions, the internal feminine aspect of consciousness that's the spirit aspect.

So we have the mind and now we have the spirit. And then the third aspect is our actions. What we actually do with what we know in our mind, the thought aspect, and what we carry within us in our emotional makeup, our spirit. Both of these two things then create a synthesis called our behavior. The actions that we take in the world in relation to others, and this is the child of our thoughts and our emotions.

So if we look at the thoughts as a creator aspect of our consciousness that basically expresses the mind, and we look at the emotions as the sacred feminine quality of our consciousness that expresses the spirit, then we can look at our actions as the divine child, or the byproduct of these two other qualities of consciousness that basically determines what we do and how we interact with others in the world. This is the divine child, and the actions are again - it's the yang quality of consciousness which is a masculine energy. So we can look at this as a divine male child. Hopefully some people will see where I'm going with this analogy and breakdown. This is the Trinity. This is the Creator. This is the divine mother and the divine child. The divine mother could also be considered the Holy Spirit.

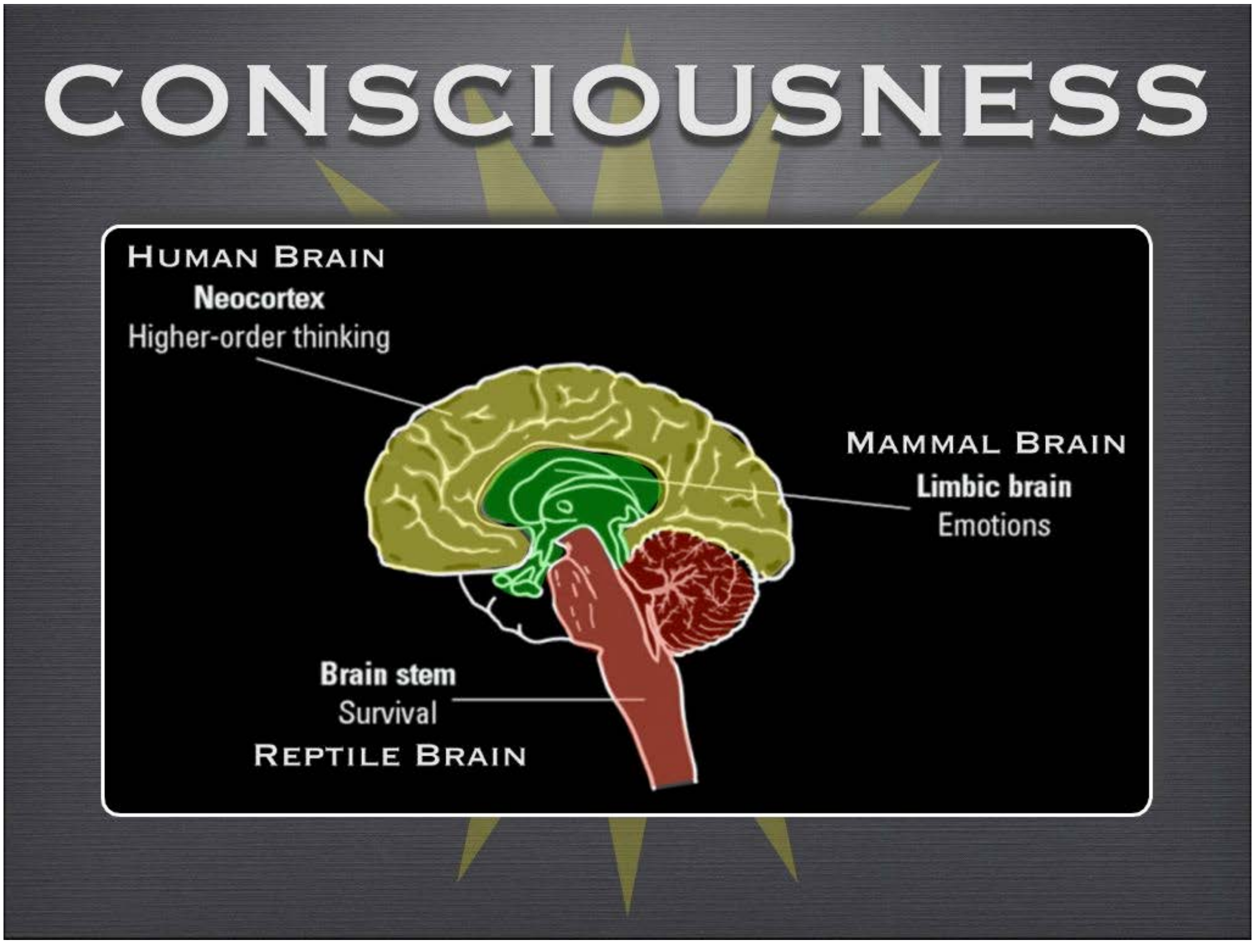
This also gives us the mind, body and spirit connection, because again our thoughts are how our mind manifests, the actions are what we do with our body, and the emotions are our internal quality and our internal makeup, the Sacred Feminine quality, which is the spirit in which we do things. This concept that I have just described in different mystical traditions has been called the law of three, or the triune aspect of human consciousness. Triune means three-in-one, and of course you see the analogy to different mystical traditions and different religious notions of a Trinity in many different cultures.

So the next thing that I want to talk about here tonight is how these three qualities express inside the human physiology, and this is critical toward understanding how people are manipulated.

The human brain is part of the discovery of self. Yet if you go to an average person on the street, or even in your family or your other friends, many people do not really understand what they carry in between their own ears. They don't understand any of the components, they don't understand the makeup of the brain, they don't understand how the brain works, they don't understand what qualities of their personalities the different components of the brain drives, or gives rise to.

And this is extremely and exceedingly sad, because if somebody doesn't understand how the most sacred gift that they have ever really been given I would say - aside from freewill but let's put it this way. This is how your freewill manifests itself. If you don't have a brain you're really not going to be able to manifest much free will. So I think the greatest gift that we're ever really given in the universe is our freewill and I think to understand the human brain is to really understand ourselves and how we are a gifted species by even possessing a brain of the order and magnitude that we do have.

So that's why I think it's critical for our understanding of what's going on in the world. To understand what is going on in our own brain, and the first way we need to do that is by basically understanding basic structures within the brain. I'm not going to get super technical and I'm not going to go into any kind of high-level neuroscience. All I want to do is basically break down some of the structures in the brain, and get people to understand how these structures are directly connected and tied with fundamental human motivations.



So the oldest part of the human brain and the simplest structures of the human brain are in the lowest parts of the brain. The actual height wise, the lowest part. Now think about how interesting that is. It's like saying a foundation of a house, which is the part that is laid down first, is at the lowest level of the house. Of course that's true because you can't build something on top of it if you don't have a foundation there to begin with. So this base part of the brain is called the r-complex. The letter R and the word complex. And the letter R stands for reptilian.

The reptilian complex, otherwise more simply called the reptile brain. So right there I'll bet most people were unaware that inside of you, you have a reptile brain. You do. This part of the brain is the controller of physical activity. Motor skills are controlled by the r-complex on the brain. The r-complex is basically two components. It's the brain stem which connects to the spinal column, and behind that near the back of the head there is a region called the cerebellum.

These two components of the brain govern motor skills. Without this part of the brain you would not be able to move your arms and legs. You would not be able to walk, you would not be able to talk, and you would not be able to basically do anything that involves moving any of the muscles of your body. So it's a critically important part of the brain. You need this part of the brain do anything in the world basically. However, it governs some basic primitive behaviors that we all experience and display at one point or another in our lives.

This part of the brain governs the fight-or-flight mechanisms of the consciousness. When we were a less evolved being, we engaged predators that we had to make a decision about. Did we have enough ability to stand and fight them given the situation or the tools or weapons that we had, or would we have to flee from them in order to survive? Because this part of the brain, the r-complex, is all about survival. It's all about what we need do to survive. It governs eating, sleeping, anything that we need to do to survive in the physical world that we live in.

And the fight-or-flight response is about what we do when our survival is threatened. What happens during this state of mind, this fight-or-flight response is, the heart begins to pump blood very quickly, and it's pumping it away from two areas of the body and toward two other areas of the body. So when we go into fight or flight response, which is otherwise commonly referred to in the modern world as stress, when we go into this modality of consciousness, the r-complex of the brain sends instructions to the human heart and it says "pump blood faster. Pump it away from the torso and the head."

Now think about that. Blood begins to pump vigorously away from the torso and the head. So in the torso is all of our vital organs. In the head is the brain. So richly oxygenated blood is not being sent during times of stress, otherwise called fight-or-flight response. It is not being sent actively to the torso or to the head - to the brain. Why? Well during times of making a decision about whether you're going to fight or run away, once that decision is made you're choosing either to stand and fight or to run because you're in a situation where you're being preyed upon.

You don't need blood in those areas of the body. That's not the top priority in that given situation. Blood needs to go to the extremities. You're not going to sit and do any conceptual thinking if you're under attack by let's say a mountain lion. You're not going to think about deep conceptual ideas or philosophical ideas. You're also not going to do much digestion in that state or any other functions that the internal organs go to work on to process food and other nutrients in the body. That's not a priority either at that time.

What is a priority? What is a priority in a state of consciousness like that, is you need to have a lot of energy in your arms because you're going to need to be using them to fight off your attacker. So your arms muscles have to get all of that richly oxygenated blood so that they can become hard and that they can have energy to be wielded as weapons in the battle that you're about to be in. Conversely if you made the decision to run away, lots of rich richly oxygenated blood needs to drive the muscles of your legs so that you can flee the situation as fast as possible in order to survive.

Think about that in in strategic survival terms. It makes so much sense once we understand it. That's the mechanism that is really going on in our bodies and that the brain is driving that. You don't need the blood in the head or torso during a moment of attack. You need it in the extremities so you can either fight or run away. Now that makes sense in a situation where you're fighting an attacker or a mountain lion, however in the modern world, where do we see this happening most frequently?

We're not really in many situations where we actually physically need to make a decision to fight somebody or to flee. In certain instances, yes that is the case but in general, where this mechanism of the brain is activating and going to work most frequently is when we are engaged in stressful activities, and we're almost always engaged in stressful activities particularly in Western cultural life. So unfortunately this places us at an even greater disadvantage.

This is actually an advantageous survival adaption technique in the brain which has become a detriment in modern society, because what we're doing with this function is we're essentially - through most of the hours of the days that we live - we are staying in this construct of consciousness. We're living in the reptile brain most of the time.

Most people are living in the reptile brain most of the time because, where it's one thing to the next. A hectic busy lifestyle, a job, dealing with children, dealing with physical tasks and activities, traffic, other people during the day who we don't want to deal with and interact with.

It's a constant struggle and a constant engaging in the reptile brain, and this is what we call stress. Now in a context where there is no ability to either fight or run away and therefore use it and then go back to normal brain function, we're essentially being trapped in that reptile brain throughout most of our lives as a culture, and this does very harmful things to the other structures of the brain.

The mammal brain is the next part of the brain I'm going to talk about. So we have a reptile brain and it's the base brain and it governs survival and fight-or-flight response. The mammal brain, also called the limbic system, governs our emotional makeup. It governs the chemical interactions through which we experience our emotions. The limbic brain governs the chemical interactions through which we experience what we call our emotions.

Again the Sacred Feminine internally felt quality of consciousness. So our emotional makeup is largely directed through - it's not derived by or it doesn't come into being because of the limbic brain, or the mammal brain, but that's how the emotions basically get to a place where they can affect the physiology. They act through the mammal brain or the limbic brain, and this is the Sacred Feminine part of the brain. This is called the midbrain in some occult traditions. They call it the middle chamber. Some people will recognize that concept.

Without this part of the brain we could feel no emotions. Think of it in relation to a reptile who doesn't have a mammalian brain. They only have a reptilian brain. They are a creature of instinct, again survival. Cold-bloodedness is a feature of a reptile. They don't really experience emotions the way mammals experience emotions. Just consider a crocodile in relationship to a dog or a chimpanzee. A dog and a chimpanzee really experience emotional states that are quite different than a crocodile. A crocodile is largely a creature of instinct. Where you can see a chimpanzee becomes sad or a dog becomes sad and many other emotional states.

We share these two brains in common with different species in the animal kingdom. With reptiles and with mammals. There's a part of the brain that really makes us unique, and actually in a higher level of organization and consciousness, and that is the human brain. And this is what most people think of when they think of the brain. They think of the grey matter part of the brain, and this is this is basically called the telencephalon. The gray matter section of the brain is called the telencephalon, the part of the brain where most of the neural activity takes place for human thought, is in the outer portion or the outer layer of the telencephalon and this is called the human neocortex.

The neocortex. This part of the brain governs all higher-order thinking of an individual. Every quality that really makes us human we have as a result of having a highly developed neocortex. The neocortex is bilaterally symmetrical and I've already talked a bit about this and brought up a little bit about the left and right brain. We have a left brain and a right brain.

The left brain is the male aspect of the brain. It governs analytical thought, logic, scientific thought, mathematical thought, our use of words and language. So the left brain hemisphere, these are all the functions that it deals with and that it makes possible, and this is the neocortex we're talking about. The higher order thought center of the brain. All the functions that really make us human and separate us from the other animals, this is the part of the brain that governs those functions.

The other side of the human neocortex is called the right brain. This is the Yin energy. The feminine qualities of the human makeup can be found by looking into the functions of the right brain. The right brain governs intuition, simple knowing without really understanding how one knows, that gut feeling, that intuitive quality. It governs creativity, so the way we express our thoughts and emotions through art, through music, through all other forms of creative expression, creative writing and dance and things like that. We're really engaging the right brain when we engage in creative ideas and creative activities.

And then a holistic thought. The idea that we are essentially one. That there is relationship between us and others and that we're not separate. This idea largely derives out of the right brain functions, and this is why we say when we talk about the right brain "we're in our right mind" or "we're not in our right mind." When we don't have a connection to this part of the brain we're not really in our right mind, so to speak. It's not just a play on words. It actually has a basis in the fundamental physiology of the human brain.

So if we go back to the metaphor that I started talking about earlier in this show, we talked about consciousness and how it has a three-fold aspect. Well just as consciousness has a threefold aspect, our thoughts, our emotions and our actions, our brain also has a triune nature. Scientists and neuroscientists call this the triune brain. It's the three-in-one, again triune.

You have the reptile brain, the mammal brain and the human brain. We are basically three beings in one and there is a hierarchy to this. There is a way that information should be processed according to this threefold or triune system if it is functioning properly. And by functioning properly, what I mean by that is a balance between the left and right brain hemispheres. This is called global EEG coherence in scientific terms. In neuroscience that's what they call it. It means that your left brain and right brain hemispheres are both firing in unison and in harmony and the neural activity and the electrochemical synaptic activity is fully working and is fully alive and lit up in both hemispheres of the brain, all across the hemispheres.

In other words, this is a brain that is firing on all cylinders, so to speak. It is a lit up mind. It is a person who lives in balance within themselves, and as such they are capable of really living in balance with others and with their environment. The human brain is designed to be the executive command center of the whole brain complex. It is the part of the brain again that deals with higher order thought.

You can look at it as if you have a company you have a CEO of the company. You have a person that really makes the critical executive decisions. Well this part of the brain governs reason, and it governs the way we use our actions in balance with our emotions. So if we have a balanced neocortex and not one side dominates the other, we don't have an imbalance to the left brain hemisphere and we don't have an imbalance to the right brain hemisphere, we become a person that is capable of higher order thought, conceptual thinking and reasonable behavior, meaning behavior that is governed through the ability to reason and recognize patterns, and recognize meaning with respect to patterns.

This is the greatest gift that our species possesses. There is no more complex object in the known universe than the frontal portions of the human neocortex. None. It is the most advanced supercomputer that we will probably ever know of or discover. This is the most advanced computer that exists and it is the most complex substance that we know of, and it's sitting right behind your eyes. Think about that.

Now if that part of the brain is working properly, we are in touch with the Sacred Feminine component of the brain structures which is the limbic brain, or the mammal brain, otherwise called the midbrain. This is always sending data upward toward the neocortex. Think about it, the spiritual part of the brain, the Sacred Feminine part of the brain that governs our emotions, is always trying to send data upward to the reasoning functions of the brain. The new logical and analytical left brain and the creative nurturing and intuitive right brain, always receiving instructions from the midbrain.

So if the brain is functioning properly then that's how it works. And then through the neocortex it will send instructions back down to the motor centers of the brain, the reptile brain, so that we use our actions governed by reason. Think about how this works. Really let it absorb. This is critical information to understand if we are going to understand how we work.

If we don't understand how we work then we're completely subject to manipulation and mind control, and this is ultimately about becoming the being that governs oneself and is not subjected to the control of the mind through other people attempting to usurp and control one's mind and behavior.

That's what this is ultimately about and if we're going to do that, we have to understand how we work, and one of the best ways to do this is to understand the basics of neuroscience function and the basic structures of the human brain.

So what happens when we're constantly in the reptile brain? What happens when we're either imbalanced toward one brain hemisphere or the other brain hemisphere? Well it's interesting because different things happen depending on the nature of the imbalance.

And what I'll start to get into a little bit next week is I will talk about the different methodologies the different methods of mind control that go and work on the differ sides of the brain. Because these are targeted functions, these are targeted methodologies, the mind control that is used against us, and there's two big ones in particular which I'll get into and I will explain how one of them goes to work on the left brain, and one of them goes to work on the right brain.

One of them holds back the left brain, one of them holds back the right brain. So these methodologies of mind control are geared and devised to throw people into one state of imbalance or the other, either in completely left brain functions, or completely dwelling in right brain functions.

This is a dangerous trap to fall into, and I would say 95 percent or better of people really are in one of these states of imbalance or another, either imbalanced toward the left brain hemisphere, or the right brain hemisphere.

What On Earth Is Happening Show #002

Topics: The Human Brain, Brain Imbalance, Manufactured Lack, Solipsism and the ideologies it leads to

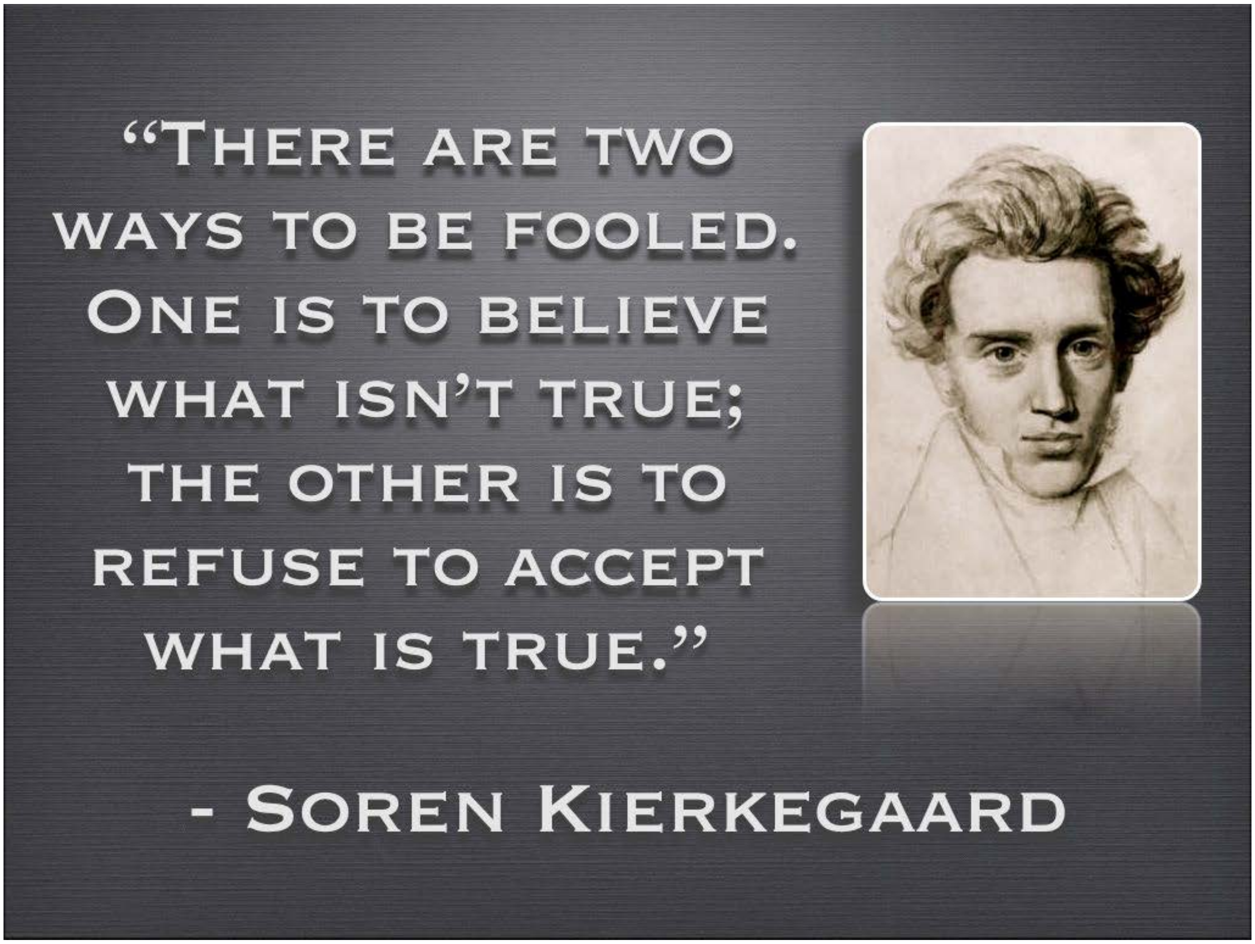
Last week we really began by getting into what is truth. We got into talking about how that the quality of our lives is basically dictated by how much we harmonize with what actually is. With looking at what actually is and dealing with it effectively. Coming into harmony with truth. The quality of our life will improve if we do that. If we do not do that and we sway away off the path of truth the quality of our life decreases, and we experience more and more suffering. This is simply how natural law works.

We talked about problem solving, how if we're really to solve any given problem we have to have enough information about the nature of the problem, about what the causal factors are of the problem that we're experiencing. If we don't have accurate and enough information about what caused the problems, we're going to be essentially powerless to solve those problems. So we have to look at the darkness so to speak. We have to look at the so-called negative information of what is actually causing and creating the problems that we experience around us. We have to turn and confront those things, and get down to the nature of the causal factors of the problems that we're experiencing if we ever hope to solve them.



"There are two ways to be fooled. One is to believe what isn't true; the other is to refuse to accept what is true."
- Soren Kierkegaard

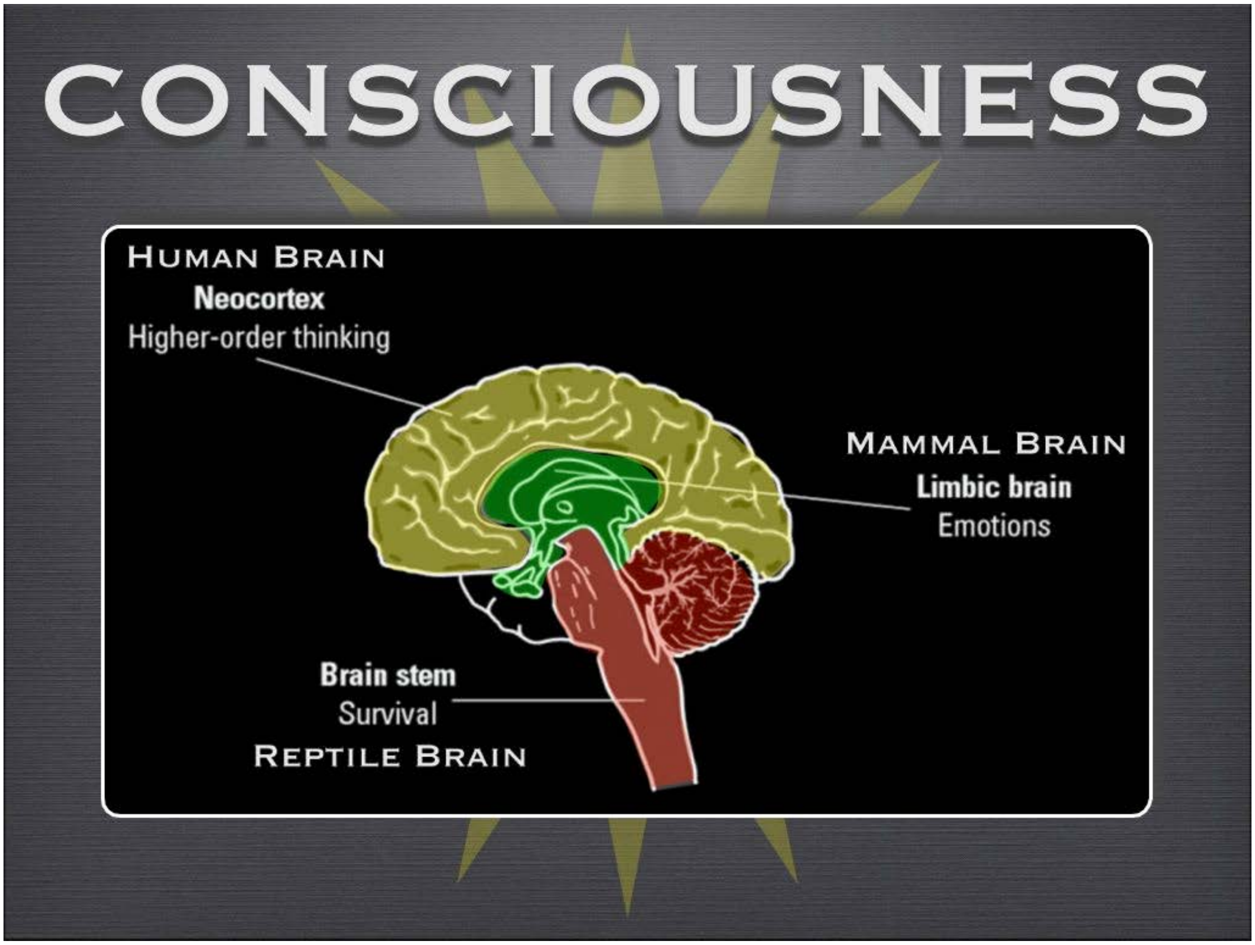
We also talked about if there's really only two reasons that people suffer. They suffer because they accept information which simply is not true, and they refuse to accept information which is true. So our ability to tell truth from falsehood is the most critical capability that the human race possesses in regards to what we experience, and the quality of our existence.

We also talked a little bit about the fundamental axioms that people hold in their lives that they refuse to let go of. They cling to them. An axiom is a proposition or a belief that is regarded generally as already being established, accepted and self-evidently true. It's just people just take it as, "it's just is this way." And unfortunately most people's fundamental axioms simply are way off basis from the true nature of reality and the true experience as it is actually taking place on this planet.

We also got into how important knowledge of self is. We need to understand that we are a reflection of the all. We are a reflection of the whole, of the universe itself. Accurate knowledge of self is accurate knowledge of the universe. We are a holographic, integral part of creation and getting out of the mess that we're in as a species involves knowing oneself. Understanding human consciousness. Understanding how consciousness manifests itself. Understanding how consciousness can come into balance and harmony and, also understanding how consciousness can become imbalanced and manipulated.

So as a large and initial part of doing that, what I began to get into last week was the breakdown of the human brain. Understanding the human brain is a big part of understanding human consciousness, so what we will finish up with that this week. I'll be going more into the components of the brain and specifically I will be talking about what happens when the brain becomes imbalanced.

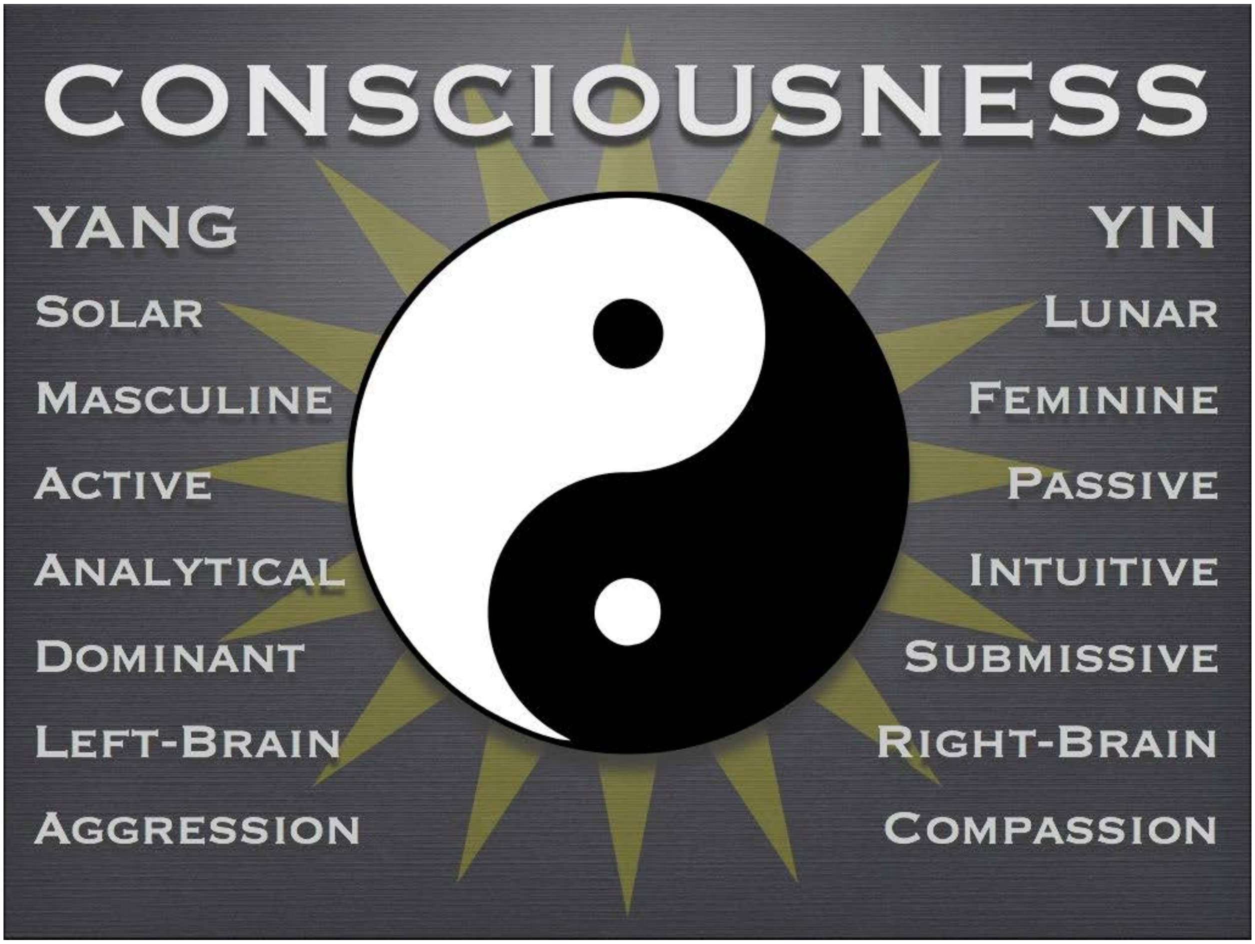
So another concept we touched on and really spent some time on last week was a concept that I call the biggest lie, and that is the ideology known as solipsism. This is the ideology that there is no such thing as truth. That truth cannot be known and it cannot be communicated to others, and this is the biggest lie. And after I go into some of the aspects of the brain and how the brain works and how it becomes imbalanced, I'm going to revisit the topic of solipsism and then maybe open up some discussion on this. Because I want people to understand the ideology that is the most dangerous philosophy on earth, what I call the biggest lie. What solipsism leads to, if you buy into this big lie the other ideologies that it invariably leads to. So we'll get into that tonight.



I'm going to go back into the human brain and talk about the structures within the brain, and how the brain becomes imbalanced if we engage in certain modalities of consciousness. As we brought up last week, the human brain essentially has three components. These are the reptile brain, the mammal brain, and the human brain. The reptile brain is otherwise known as the r-complex. This is the brain stem. It's responsible for motor skills, it's responsible for our instinct for survival and it's responsible for what's called the fight-or-flight response. Making a decision when confronted with a survival situation whether you want to fight or run away. This is the stress complex of the brain.

Above that we had the mammal brain, which is responsible for us being able to experience emotions in the body. This is also called the limbic brain. So without the limbic system the human being would not be able to experience emotion. And then there's the part of the brain that truly makes us human, and that's the human brain or the neocortex. It's responsible for higher order thought functions and higher order thinking. Conceptual thinking and being able to conceptualize ideas, think at a higher level and basically experience reason, compassion, logic, creativity, language, science art, music. All the things that essentially separate us from the animal kingdom and make us truly human. That's the human brain.

So we study the neocortex further and we discover that it basically has two halves. Two hemispheres. It has a left hemisphere and it has a right hemisphere. It's bilaterally symmetrical, meaning if you break it right down the middle in half it looks the same on both sides. There's a left side and a right side, and the left side has certain functions and qualities that it makes possible in human thought and behavior.



CONSCIOUSNESS
YANG
AGGRESSION
YIN
LUNAR
PASSIVE INTUITIVE
COMPASSION

So the left brain functions like the male component of the brain. This is the male side of consciousness. The left brain is logic, science, language, analytical thought. That's essentially with the left brain governance. So it deals with everything that is rooted in the physical world. Look at it like that. This is this is the world of matter. This is the world of words. This is language. This is dealing with everyday physical situations, tasks, movement, things in your visual field and in your sensory field. The left brain basically handles all of those functions and deals with all of those things. So this is the male side of the brain, as it's the side of the brain that deals largely with the physical world and physical stuff.

The other hemisphere of the brain is the right brain, and this part of the brain governs holistic thought functions. It's the feminine side of the human brain. It governs the feminine, holistic, intuitive, nurturing qualities of the individual. It also governs our ability to be creative beings, to engage in art, and music, and dance and things like that. Anything that is creative and expressive. This is the right side of the brain, so it's the Sacred Feminine part of the brain and it's the counterpart to the masculine left brain.

Neither one of these hemispheres should dominate the other given a perfect situation, given a brain that's working as it should, given a brain that's balanced. It's important that we work with and develop all of those brain functions. It isn't that one side is good and one side is bad, or that we should be all one way or all the other way. All left brain or all right brain. The idea is to have all of those functions in our repertoire of thinking, so to speak. We need to engage in all of them in balance. That's the key to a properly functioning brain and to really bringing consciousness online.

Now what I want to talk about here before we get into some other topics and hopefully take some more calls is, I want I want the listenership to understand what happens if we engage in only left brain functions or only right brain functions. And what I mean by that - it's not necessarily only but let's use the term, in complete imbalance. That a person is largely engaged or “living in” quote-unquote, the left brain functions. They don't really engage in the right brain functions. Let's take that as the first example.

So we talked about that there are three complexes of the brain, and what they do and what they make possible. If a person through their interactions with other people, through the media that they take in, through the kind of material that they look at, through their general behavior with other people around them, their general experience in the world - if they become a person that largely engages only the physical world and never the creative, the intuitive and the spiritual side of things, then the left brain completely dominates the neocortical functions of the brain, and the right brain suffers as a result of this.

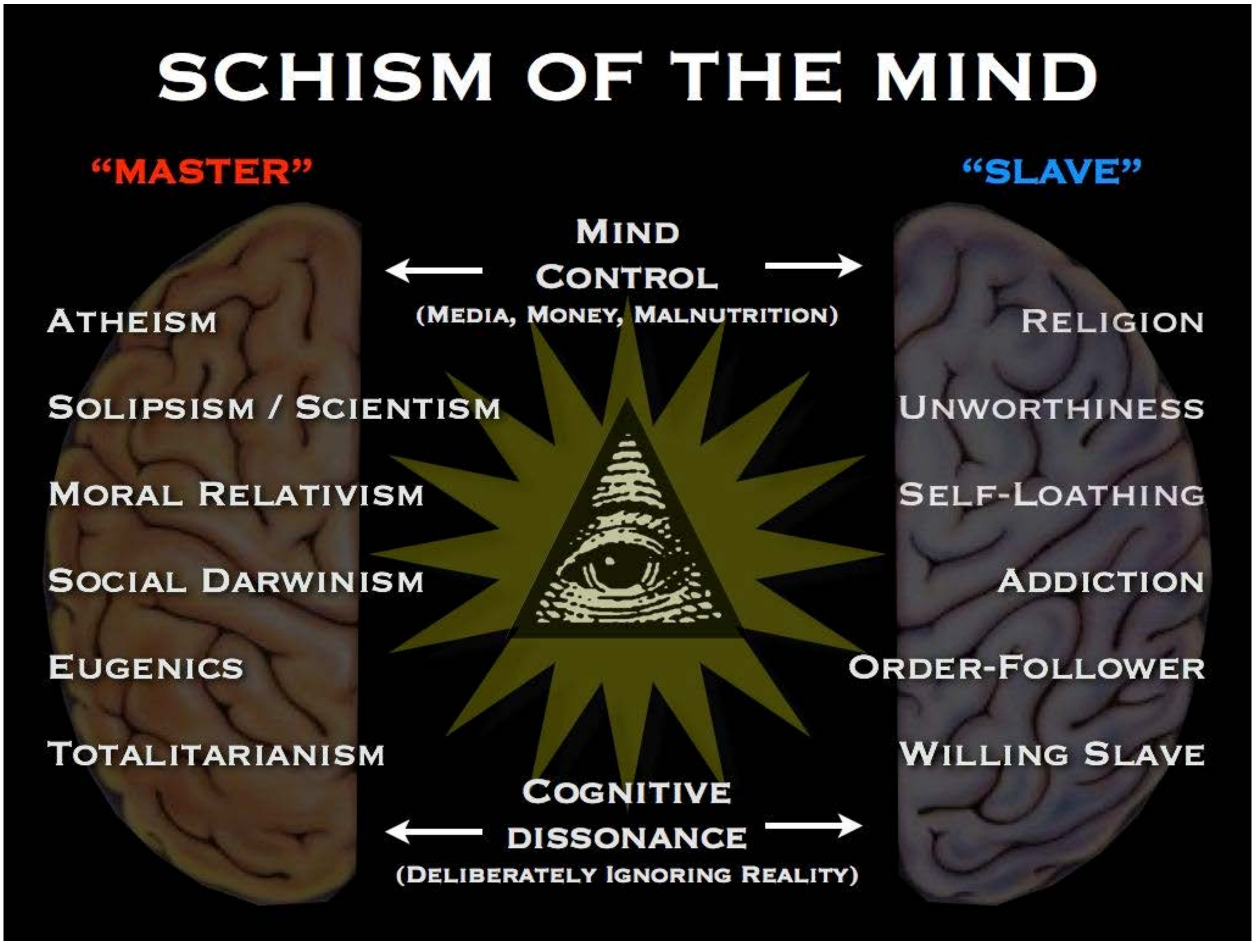
Now these two parts of the brain are connected. They're not really separate. They're connected through kind of a bridge in the middle of the of the brain in the middle of the head, that goes in between the two hemispheres. This is called the corpus callosum. It sends information back and forth between the two hemispheres of the brain if the brain is working properly. If the left brain is chronically engaged in with little-to-no right brain activity - so again, the physical, worldly aspect - the part of the brain that deals with all the physical worldly stuff going on around us. Things, events, matter and just pure everyday occurrences, and there is no deeper thought to anything that is holistic or creative or spiritual, something happens to the entire neocortex.

The whole neocortex starts to basically malfunction and it starts to not act any longer in its intended role. So what I mean by that is the intended role of the neocortex, of the higher order thought center of the brain, the human brain - as it is known, will become destabilized to a point where it will not act as the executive command center of the whole brain complex. The three complexes of the brain.

An easy way to understand this is to just envision any company. A company has an executive officer that makes the executive command decisions about the direction that that company or business or organization is going to be going in. They are the CEO, the chief executive officer. They make the basic decisions that execute the direction that the company is going to go in. If that CEO were suddenly to become so ill that he could not fulfill his obligations or responsibilities to the company, then middle management would have to step in and take over those responsibilities.

So let's look at the neocortex as this CEO of this company and let's look at the other two brain complexes that are not as advanced, that are not as complex, that do not have the same capabilities as the neocortex, as junior management. Let's look at it like that. Now, if the CEO, or the neocortex has become destabilized because it has gone into a state of left brain hemispherical imbalance - meaning the left brain hemisphere becomes completely dominant over the right brain hemisphere - what happens is, one of the other two complexes will start to assume executive control over the whole brain, and therefore essentially over the behavior of the individual.

I'll say that again. If the left brain hemisphere becomes completely dominant, then one of the other two complexes in the brain, since the neocortex actually has now become physically damaged - neurons don't fire in the in the proper way - neural connections aren't made in the proper way, and the areas of the brain actually become darkened. There is no electrochemical and neural activity in certain areas of the brain that there should be chemical and electrical activity if the neocortex is functioning properly, and making good reasonable executive decisions.



SCHISM OF THE MIND
"MASTER"
"SLAVE"
MIND CONTROL
(MEDIA, MONEY, MALNUTRITION)
ATHEISM
SOLIPSISM / SCIENTISM
MORAL RELATIVISM
SOCIAL DARWINISM
EUGENICS
TOTALITARIANISM
ADDICTION
ORDER-FOLLOWER
WILLING SLAVE
COGNITIVE DISSONANCE
(DELIBERATELY IGNORING REALITY)

So what happens when the left brain becomes dominant is, the limbic brain, or the emotional brain suffers the most and it starts to shut down and not function as it should, by sending the chemicals that help us to experience our emotions into the body. Therefore, the person becomes largely emotionless, and not truly capable of experiencing emotion in the same way that a healthy, holistically functioning brained person would experience and feel emotions in the body. This person then becomes governed, and becomes owned by the r-complex, or the reptilian brain.

Think about this now. Follow this through. The left brain, the part that deals with only the physical world, no consideration to the spiritual, no consideration to the intuitive, no consideration to the creative. If that dominates the person's thoughts, the emotional center of the brain the limbic brain suffers the most and the reptilian lower brain, the brainstem, the r-complex, the survival, stress, and fight-or-flight part of the brain, takes over the entire consciousness of the individual’s brain.

It becomes the governing or executive controller of the brain, and the person is essentially living in the reptile part of the mind. That should explain a lot to a lot of people, if they're paying attention about what is actually happening in our world. If you're paying attention at all. Now, a lot of people are unbalanced to the left side of the brain. I would say more people then are not. Most people probably have this form of brain imbalance in one form or another, to one degree or another.

I want to talk about now what happens when the right side of the brain dominates. Now this is the spiritual, or nurturing, or feminine, or intuitive side of the brain. The right brain hemisphere. If a person lives chronically in these types of thought functions and never really engages the physical reality - you know they're constantly in a high state of mind, constantly in the spiritual, they're never rooted, they're never grounded. They don't really consider what's happening in the physical domain very important. They're always thinking of the other world. They're always thinking of the world to come. Or they're just always wanting to live for basic pleasure, or to not ever look at anything that is so cold dark or negative. They don't really want to engage problems. They want to engage in escapism. Something also happens in the whole brain complex. In all three of the complexes.

When the right side of the brain becomes chronically dominant, what we see happen is it is basically the exact reverse of the situation that I've described earlier when the left brain becomes dominant. When the right brain becomes dominant, the limbic brain, or the emotional part of the brain, basically runs haywire. The exact reverse of when the left brain becomes dominant. The emotional brain shuts down in that instance. But when the right brain is dominant, a person is essentially a slave to their feelings and emotions. They can't really control that which is going on within them. They either live in fear, or they become somebody who really can't discern truth because they'll believe whatever they're told. They become far too passive.

The left brain imbalance makes someone become far too aggressive, but right brain imbalance make someone become far too passive, essentially allowing themselves to be walked on. This is because when the brain becomes imbalanced in this way, the reptile brain, the r-complex of the brain essentially is shut down. It's the exact reverse of the other kind of brain imbalance. So when the left brain is dominant, the limbic brain, the emotional brain shuts down and the person becomes governed by the reptile brain, the r-complex. When the right brain hemisphere becomes dominant chronically, the exact reverse takes place. The reptile brain that governs instinct and survival, that part shuts down and the person lives in the part of the brain that takes over the consciousness, which is the limbic system. This person basically has runaway emotional states.

So let's look at some of the qualities and worldviews that come into being when one of these states of consciousness takes over. When one of one of these forms of brain imbalance or another occurs. When a person becomes completely imbalanced chronically to the left brain hemisphere, the male part of the brain, they become a Dominator. They want to control other people. They want to control other people's actions, and the decisions that they make over their lives. They'll often become physically aggressive toward other people if they don't get their way.

So this is the master form of brain imbalance. I call this the schism of the mind. It happens right behind people's forehead. Right behind your eyes is where this takes place. And just about everybody out there has one form of brain imbalance or the other, toward the left or to the right and in some cases both. The right side of the brain, when that becomes chronically imbalanced, you get all of the slave tendencies of the brain. So a person becomes engaged in feelings of unworthiness when the right brain is chronically dominant and the limbic brain has taken over the consciousness.

A person will become self-loathing, never thinking that they're good enough, or worthy. Unworthiness. Self-loathing. A lot of times addictive tendencies will creep in. The person will become an addict of one form or another if their right brain is completely dominant, and they'll become basically people who are willing to follow whatever orders that they're given and become a willing slave. That's essentially the consciousness mode that people in right brain modality will eventually go into.

So one form of brain imbalance, the left brain hemispherical imbalance creates a master type, or a slave driver type. A Dominator. And the other form of brain imbalance essentially creates somebody who is willing to be dominated. A slave. This explains just about everything that we are experiencing in this time in human history. Just about. And there are those out there who will say this is reductionism, this is too simple and that it's more complex than that. Well not really.

The way the brain functions essentially determines how we behave and what we experience in the world. If we don't take care of the temple in man, the temple in you, we're going to experience negative consequences, because, we're not taking care of the greatest gift that has ever been gifted to our species. We're letting it fall into states of dysfunction and disarray, and when we do that we're going to get unpleasant, uncomfortable results. You really have to understand how we work, because there are a lot of other people that sure do how understand how we work and they're using it as a weapon against us, and most of us are completely uneducated as to how those methodologies of mind control really work.

Caller #1: On my show Friday we're having a guy by the name of Rama. He's a YouTube celebrity and he’s a guy who talks about the pineal gland, and he has something that he calls pineal gland activation. It's basically a form of meditation if you will, in which he believes that you can become more in touch with your pineal gland. And as a part of this imbalance that you are talking about, this schism, the pineal gland is a major central focus to this schism I believe.

Absolutely. The pineal gland is what essentially becomes awakened and active when the two hemispheres of the neocortex act in unison and balance. So that gland actually activates higher levels of awareness but it only really comes online when we bring the male side of the brain, and the female side of the brain, together in balance and harmony. In unison, where neither one is dominant over the and other they work in balance, so we have firing on all cylinders so to speak.

Caller #1: I think that elite are aware of this and that's why perhaps there's so much symbolism involved with the hermaphrodite maybe.

Absolutely. And if you put together the basic archetypal symbolism for male and female, Yin and Yang, Yang is male and Yin is female. Yang is represented by an upward pointing equilateral triangle. It’s an archetypal symbol that in ancient human history has generally been referred to as the blade, and the inverted equilateral triangle is an archetypal symbol that represents the sacred feminine, or the womb so to speak, and that's called the chalice. So if you put these two together you get the Seal of Solomon, which represents the left brain hemisphere in unison with the right brain hemisphere. This is also known as the Star of David in Judaism but an older name for is the Seal of Solomon, and then write in the word Solomon you have the Sun and the moon. Sol and Mon.

Caller #1: Well it's very interesting how the Rastafarians often quote King Solomon as being one of the wisest men and they often claim that they found some cannabis in his grave.

Sure. It's what one of the shamanic and entheogenic substances that if used in a context of awakening higher levels of consciousness can produce that effect. It can actually help to balance the brain hemispheres. Not being used as just frivolous entertainment or enjoyment or escapism, but really being used to work on oneself. Cannabis can be an ally in that respect.

Caller #1: That's other Rastafarians use it. They use it in a ritualistic way. A lot of people don't understand just how the real Rastafarian religious teachings incorporates the use of cannabis and now it's a more sort of prevalent thing because of probably the social conditions. You know when you're tired of dealing with "the man," and when you get this sort of attitude of rebellion, you're going to want to kick back and escape a little bit and that's almost a natural reaction that the powers that be are accounting for, and they are anticipating, and they want you to feed into that because they want you to be slaves. And if they can keep you docile then they will keep you slaves.

They want you to get into a habit of abuse with a compound like that. It can be used properly to balance the brain, but at some point if someone uses it so chronically that they fall into a pattern of ab-use, this will imbalance the neocortex through right brain hemisphere imbalance, which as you just said is basically of the modality of a slave. It's a balance that has to be walked if someone is going to start using entheogenic compounds and I will talk about that on this show as we go forward.

Again when I was on your show on a revolution broadcast a couple of weeks ago we did get into entheogens in a conscious context as one of the solutions that I propose for basically elevating consciousness and getting out of the situation that we're in collectively.

Caller #1: Very interesting stuff and another thing came to mind when were just talking about this and that is the effect of fluoride in dumbing people down and getting them docile, also interfering with the unification of the left and right brain.

That's absolutely correct. It will create a calcium layer on the pineal gland this is a known effect of fluoride in all of its derivative forms that is added to over 68 percent of the drinking water reservoirs in the United States, and this is just totally unacceptable. This substance is a poison in any quantity and should not be being added to our drinking water in any way. It's just crazy.

Caller #1: We can comment on all these things all day but I had a side question that I wanted to bring to you and it's about Tesla. I hear a lot of debate going on in the world today about Tesla and the idea of free energy. And when you say free energy a lot of people can't really wrap their heads around that and I believe personally that there's going to have to be a paradigm shift, where we move from a scarcity based system of control, to an abundance based system. And the best example I can give of this is a test that Pavlov did with chickens in which he provided his chickens with an abundance of food and water so that whenever they were hungry or thirsty they would just go to the dispenser and there would be food and water always there.

Well he observed their behaviors and they acted normal. They would go when they were hungry and they would get some food or water whenever they need it and they always knew it was going to be there. When he introduced the concept of scarcity to their food and water system there, their behaviors changed. He could get them to hoard, which became a new concept and was something they weren't doing before. He could get them to the steal, and there were times he could get them to fight one another or even kill one another for the food. So all these aberrant behaviors occurred as a result of controlled scarcity.

Yes, we have manufactured scarcity, I absolutely agree. I've said this a million times and I'll say it a million more. The control of energy, and resources, is the control of people. Energy is one of the biggest ways that we are controlled, and oil is essentially the currency that is running the world. It's what's making everything that we base our civilization upon go. What Tesla discovered is that we don't have to have this scarcity and lack based energy system that people always war over. Because once they're put into a scarcity based mindset they go right into the reptile consciousness, right into the reptile mode of the brain.

Caller #1: You know the ultimate manipulation of scarcity based mind control? The scarcity of safety or of our lives. That's part of the fear mechanism with false flag terrorism and all these other things. If they can get you to fear for your life because you have a lack of security, scarcity of security, it's another way to look at this.

When people fall for that they will always be living in the r-complex of the brain. They will always be in that fight-or-flight mode, the stress mode, the fear mode. To go back to Tesla and what he had proven was possible is that we could hook energy systems right into what he called the wheelwork of nature. When I talk about free energy in relation to Tesla's technology, I'm not talking about some of the more advanced energy extraction from the quantum vacuum or what's called zero-point energy. Tesla may have experimented a bit with that but essentially the Tesla technology “free energy” quote unquote is what I call shared free energy.

This is basically taking energy reserves from places that nature naturally stores it, and then bringing it to the places where we need to use it. How Tesla envisioned doing this was by taking the energy that the Sun naturally bombards the earth with through the solar wind. The ions that basically bombard the Earth's magnetosphere, this electrical energy is stored in the Earth's ionosphere, and Tesla had a methodology to be able to bring this energy down to the earth. He would tap this what this voltage potential and actually bring it down through a transceiver and then it would be able to then direct off that energy to whole regions of the earth, and I’m not talking about through wires. This was all wireless. You would have been able to actually plug whatever devices you needed or even plug your home into the ground because the earth would be acting as the store. The earth would be acting as that store of energy like a giant capacitor.

He had a method to actually make the earth into one huge capacitor by using the electrical energy stored in the ionosphere and he knew how to do this over a hundred years ago, and it was squashed by the financial interest of his time and it was squashed by the people who began the Federal Reserve System.

Caller #1: And JP Morgan of course and Rothschild, they come to mind. Now the question I get though from people that can't wrap their heads around a post-scarcity way of thinking is, how come they wouldn't want to use this technology because if it's such a great idea and if it really worked of course they would want to do it because it would be a great business venture right?

I would imagine so. But they don't want to level the playing board. They don't want third world countries to be able to come up to our level of technology and the understanding that goes along with that technology because, an even faster awakening would be on their hands, and that's largely why they don't want it. Also I could relate a little anecdote I've mentioned in some lectures I've done on Tesla in the area. I think Tesla understood that we weren't really going to acquire this capability until we came up to a higher level of consciousness, and he may have backed off himself in a lot of ways. That's talked about in the Tesla community.

I went into an event one day and my girlfriend and I were a little early for it so we went into a bar, and we sat and we were just sitting around, I had a drink and we were getting ready to go to this concert. and I sat there and I was starting to talk to a gentleman at the bar. And he seemed like he was somewhat kind of aware of some things, and for some reason we got onto energy. I don't know how it got brought up, maybe gas prices or something like that. So we started talking about that and he was also aware of some free energy technologies that have been brought up and discussed and he had heard about Tesla. I told him about how I'm involved the group that works with Tesla technology and I asked him.

I just said “hey think about this scenario for a minute. What if we did implement free energy technology the way Tesla envisioned it, we can bring energy down from the ionosphere, send it all around the world and everybody would have essentially free electric electrical energy that they could tap at anytime, anyplace?” I said “think about the economic models that the Middle Eastern countries are based upon. Their whole economy largely is based upon their oil exports, so what do you think would happen to those nations and all the people in them if suddenly oil became largely worthless?”

And can you guess what his answer might have been? He said “who cares? Let whatever happens to them at that point happened to them.” That was his response, and you know what I said back to him? I said “that's why we can't have this, yet. That's why.” And he had no real answer to that, because we want to think that we can essentially do things that we want and whatever consequence happen that create suffering for other people, that's okay. But it's not okay. Until we get to the level of consciousness that we understand if other people are suffering, we are suffering ourselves, we're not going to have something like that.

As aware as he was of the so called energy crisis and how we should be moving toward alternative energy distribution and production methods, he had bought into the whole false terrorism paradigm and just doesn't care what happens to quote-unquote "those people." Let whatever happens to them happen to them was his answer. And my response was "until we get out of that level of consciousness, we won't develop free energy technology, and be able to use it to benefit humanity, as we should have probably been able to do over a hundred years ago.

Caller: I mean think about what would have happened if we emplaced it a hundred years ago. How many things would have been circumvented that took place in the last 100 years?

How many wars would have been averted? How many lives would not have been snuffed out prematurely? Over 40% of people on this planet still do not have basic electricity run into their homes. Think about that 40%. We think the whole world is lit up with electrical energy but it is not. 40% of people living on this planet don't have electricity in their homes and most people don't even know that.

The playing field would level very quickly with third world nations had a technology like this been implemented, and that's why the occultic masters behind the banking system don't really want that. And they get people to suppress this, because people are willing to do just about anything they're asked for a paycheck or enough money in hand, because they're at that reptile, lack of consciousness.

Caller #1: What about the police? Oftentimes I've spoken to them in long dialogues about them upholding their constitutional oath and they'll say "well if we get an order, we're not going to risk losing our job and not take that order." Well if it goes against your oath to the Constitution then you better not take that order because you should have protections. And they say "well we're not going to want to lose our job." So they even got the people that are supposed to be fair, public servants brainwashed to not want to lose their jobs so they follow orders.

Because truth and morality isn't as important to them as money, and that's a sad, sad state of consciousness to be in. And I'll be talking a lot about that as we go forward on the show. So what we've been doing in the first hour is kind of reviewing some topics and we talked about the human brain a lot in this segment, and how the brain becomes imbalanced toward one brain hemisphere or another, and what that basically creates in our experience.

We also discussed what happens when we diverge from an understanding of what actually is taking place in the world. While we refuse to acknowledge and admit truth into our lives, how the human experience becomes degraded when that happens. And when we come into harmony with truth, and when we accept it and basically live according to the principles of natural law the human experience essentially flowers, opens up, and really becomes something that is really worth participating in and of a much higher quality than if we exist at lower levels of consciousness.

So I started taking some calls in the first hour largely related to the human brain, we were talking about the pineal gland a little bit and we got into a scarcity and how that affects the consciousness. Artificially induced scarcity, particularly when it comes to energy. We talked a little bit about Tesla and free energy technologies that have been suppressed.

So essentially we were talking about scarcity and how that affects the consciousness of people that are subjected to it. The types of behaviors that they become engaged in. How they become fearful of not having, of lack, and how that roots them into the lower base brain consciousness, the r-complex of the human brain. And we left off the previous hour talking about in particular, the police and the mentality that many of them had that as long as their paycheck is present and as long as that's not threatened, they will follow whatever orders they're given and continue to do things that they really they don't have the right to do, like usurp other people's constitutionally protected, and I might add God-given, rights and freedoms, and as long as a paycheck is flowing into them that the morality of those issues simply do not matter to many of them. The old idea “I was just following orders.”

Caller #1: Well you know that that just doesn't cut it, and we’ve seen that after the Nuremberg trials, but the Nuremberg trials did not represent what was going on with Operation Paperclip*. You see while we were publicly making an example - it's the old sleight-of-hand trick. It's you know “look here” while really we're just underground promoting the same sinister sort of things. And I really strongly believe that to take orders, or to justify something because of taking orders, is probably one of the scariest things that we can ever deal with. And what comes to mind is the* Milgram experiment*.*

They took two people and they told these people that they were going to be involved in a scientific experiment, and one of the people was to be the question asker and the other person was to be the person receiving the questions. They randomly choose whoever's the asker and whoever’s the answerer, and once they do that they put whoever's answering the questions in one room and whoever's asking the questions in another. Now they tell the person who's giving the test that the other person is hooked up to an electric shock, so whenever they're answering a question incorrect they are to shock that other person, and increase the voltage of the shock as that person got more and more incorrect answers.

Basically what happens is, every time the person raises the voltage they hear the other person in the other room - connected obviously because it's connected to an intercom - either make them scream or increasingly be more and more in pain. And even though they're about to according to what what's in front of them shock these people to unbelievably toxic levels of electricity, they continue to administer the experiment simply because they're told by the person in the lab coat that if they stop it will compromise the experiment, to keep going, etc. But even though they hear the person screaming and in pain and eventually even stop screaming, they keep going.

And do you know how many people went all the way until the end? Almost all of them. And they did this experiment originally 20-30 years ago and it was it was only like 85% and they did it again more recently, and folks were no better off than we were then, we're worse off.

More people nowadays were more likely to take the orders even though they thought - and you should see the videos on YouTube. Just look up "the Milgram experiment." They have videos of people where some people are freaking out. This is one of the most moving things that I've seen in a long time and it just goes to show you how much people are victims to this authority based mind control.

What this really gets down to is personal responsibility. People want to claim that someone else is ultimately responsible for their own behaviors, and this just isn't true. You are responsible for what you do. No one else. So in these experiments that you're describing, all of these people abdicated their personal responsibility to another authority figure. And since he's claiming "oh I'm responsible for this experiment and I'll tell you what you can and can't do," they just kept going along with it, even though they heard and knew that they're causing suffering for other people. It's the epitome of irresponsibility and it illustrates perfectly why we're in the mess that we're in, perfectly.

It's a great example, and that's really one thing that we're going to trust over, and over, and over, again on this show is, total freedom means nothing else then total responsibility. If we're not willing to take total responsibility for the actions that we take in this world in our own lives, we're never going to have freedom.

Caller #1: I just want to say in addition to the conversation you gentlemen were just speaking of when it came to specifically abundance and scarcity, I just kind of wanted to interject an Aristotle quote that I've come across recently and that is, "poverty is the parent of revolution and crime." So it seems like it's everything's been happening before and it's all happening again.

Very Profound. People take desperate actions when faced with desperate measures and scarcity, because again their consciousness goes right downward into the r-complex of the brain, and you can't really make good executive decisions, you can't make good reasonable decisions based on reason when the reptile brain governs the actions of the individual. And there's a physiological basis to that. It's very interesting when you get into how the brain body complex works together.

When you drop into the r-complex of the brain, or the fight or flight response, all the blood flow generally leaves the torso and the head, and it goes to the extremities, because you need to make a decision about whether you want to stand and fight, or flee. So all the hardness and all the energy is needed in the muscles in the arms and in the legs of the extremities, so you don't have richly oxygenated blood flowing in the torso, so you're more prone to physical diseases in the internal organs, and you don't have blood flowing in the head to the degree that you normally do so you really aren't using the brain in the capacity that it's intended for, and you can't really think. You're in total fear mode, and that is what artificially manufactured scarcity does to the human consciousness. And make no mistake that's one of the biggest methodologies that they're using to control people.

Caller #1: It sure seems so. Money almost seems to be like a scourge and "They Live" seems to be like the perfect analogy to exactly what's going on. It's just that the true horror of that film is when you like leave the theater and you look around at the world around you, and you see that like we're all kind of doing it to ourselves. It's also reminisce to the video "Idiocracy."

Sure. Two great films in particular "They Live." That is probably my favorite science fiction film that has ever been released, but it's not really science fiction it is allegorical fiction. It is fiction that really tells a tale about what's taking place around us in the real world.

Caller #1: My wife always had a quote about how films are a reflection of the fears of the society at large, particularly horror films.

Yeah I agree. You know art often imitates life, not the other way around. So you know, it's been brought to my attention that sometimes I'll use a word and some people may not be clear on the word. So I want to try to watch that and check myself on that just so I'm not using terms that people may not understand and then I just go over it or bring it up again and I'm still saying something that they don't really get so I want to just go back to the word I've just used, "allegory."

A lot of people may not know what an allegory is maybe many will but, what an allegory is, is a story that can be interpreted to reveal some type of hidden meaning that typically contains a moral lesson. Or it could be a political lesson. So this is this is something that is similar to like a parable. It's a fictional tale, but it's really telling us something about events that are really playing out in the real world around us and it contains moral information in the tale. So it's structured to teach a lesson. That's what an allegory is.

I'll be using that word lot and I'll recommend some allegorical films and movies to people too that touch on the concepts that I talked about through a tremendous creative expression of these ideas. And it's a great way I feel to get these ideas across to people because, when it's done in a creative way, people go into the receptive mode of thinking, the right side of the brain, the intuitive brain, and art and creativity is a big part of that. So allegories are powerful ways to get messages into people's consciousness, and “They Live” is certainly one of them, and I think one of the best modern allegories that I've seen in recent times was Avatar.

Avatar was certainly a spiritual allegory and it was about the horror of warfare, and how it's often completely immoral and done for reasons that can't really be justified.

Caller #1: The destruction of indigenous lands and the indigenous peoples as well, and the basic plight of indigenous peoples everywhere against companies that are constantly out to gain more land and resources.

And it's very telling that most US military bases didn't want that film shown anywhere on their grounds, because they understand the power of allegory for reaching the human mind and specifically for reaching the human conscience, and they don’t want soldiers understanding that message and they don't want it seeping into their consciousness because, they want to keep them right where they have them. In total state of mind control.

Caller #1: Just because your paranoid doesn't mean the matrix doesn't already have you.

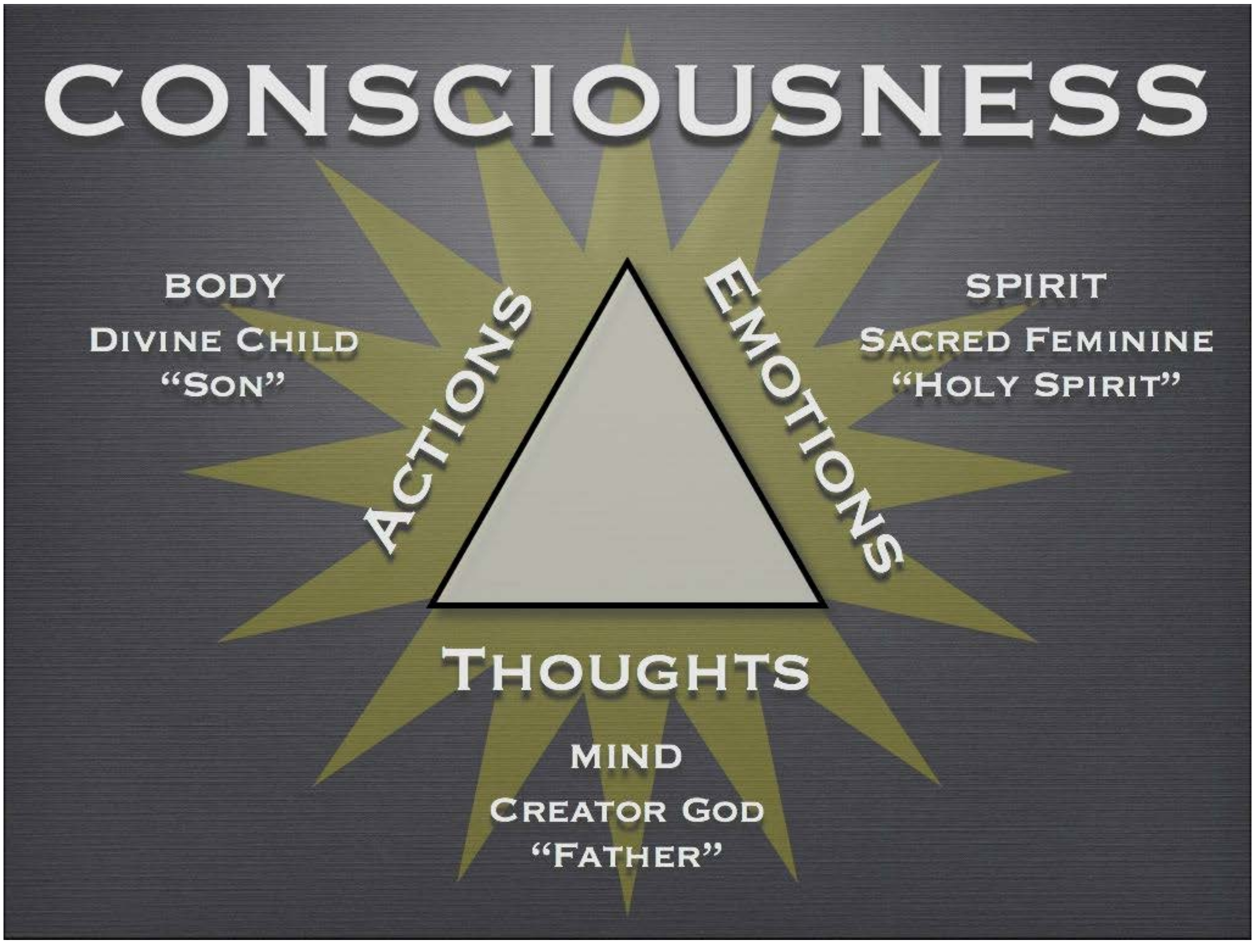
In the last hour we talked about brain imbalance. Let's talk about what happens when the brain hemispheres are balanced. So when you bring the left and right brain hemispheres into conjunction, into unison, into harmony, one brain hemisphere is not dominant over the other, you have a balanced brain. The human neocortex, the higher order thought center of the human brain, acts in its proper role as the executive command center. The executive functions of the whole brain complex. That is as it is intended to be. That is a healthy, fully functional human brain. The person isn't governed by an out-of-control emotional state nor are they governed by total fight/flight response and stress mode, and the desire to control other people.



So when the brain is balanced, a person is neither a master of others, nor a slave of others. They are a master of themselves. They have achieved a state that I call "dominion." This is self-ownership, self-governance, self-ruler ship. In other words, that being isn't divided anymore amongst themselves. As they think, so they feel and so they act in unison. The three modalities of consciousness, thought, emotion and action come into harmony with each other.

And the third eye, or what has been called the one eye, the all-seeing eye, the human pineal gland, which is exactly in the center of the head, it's inside what's called the middle chamber, which is the limbic brain - the limbic brain has a lot of different components in it. It's the emotional part of the brain that generates the chemicals that help us to feel the emotions that we experience in the body.

You have the hypothalamus in the limbic brain. You have the hippocampus. You have the amygdala. You have the pituitary gland, and you have the pineal gland. So this is like a cone shaped gland, directly in the center of the head. If you look at a person straight on right at their face, it would be a little bit above the eyes and right in the middle of the head. So right in-between the forehead in-between the eyes on the forehead, and then go backwards and locate the approximate center of the skull and right there you would find the human pineal gland, named because they're shaped like a pine cone. Pine-e-all gland.

This gland becomes active and essentially awakens a human being's higher states of awareness about what is actually taking place within and around them, so they become able to have true discernment when this state of consciousness opens up, and this is done by balancing the brain hemispheres. So we will get into the different techniques to make this state of consciousness occur, and I have a whole series of solutions that helps balance the human brain and the human consciousness and bring them into unison.

So I want to talk about some symbology associated with this state. There's a couple of symbols that have been associated with different modes of consciousness for thousands of years. One of them is the male aspect of being. The male side of the consciousness. What's called the Yang energy, and that the general symbol that was used to describe this modality of consciousness was called the blade. This is an upward pointing triangle. It's a rudimentary phallic symbol representing the male phallic organ. This is associated with action, with anything that goes outside of oneself and interacts with the world around oneself.

It is the active male component, and the reason that it's associated with a phallic symbol is because that is the thrust force. That is the force through which we project outward to others around us our actions in the world. This symbol is associated with the left brain hemisphere. An upward pointing triangle the reversal of that symbol, of this archetypal. Just a general form, is what archetypal means. It's rooted deep in the subconscious. It is just something that we intuitively recognize and are aware of at very deep subconscious levels. So it's an archetypal symbol.

The inverted triangle, where the point is pointing downward, this is a rudimentary womb symbol. It is shaped like the feminine womb. This inverted triangle is known as the chalice in different ancient symbolic systems. This is the sacred feminine energy. This deals with emotional states. It deals with the right brain hemisphere. This is the part of the consciousness that looks at looks inward. This is the internal aspect of consciousness, so it is largely dealing with our emotional states. And when we bring these two together, we have a very recognized symbol in different cultures, and it's been used throughout the world to describe the state of consciousness when one has a balanced brain.

Now that's not always the way it's used, but in general that is the archetype of symbol known as the Seal of Solomon, and it is the interlocked. Not one on top of the other. Not both of them completely intersecting. It’s the interlocked blade and chalice. This state of consciousness is often called the chemical wedding, because the chemical and electrical activity of the human brain is functioning in wholeness, in oneness, in harmony, and it's called the Seal of Solomon because the male side of the brain is representative of the active solar yang energies. The action is associated with the Sun and daytime. So the word for the Sun is sol. Solar energy.

And then we have the lunar form of consciousness, the feminine. The Sacred Feminine consciousness. This is the moon energy the right brain. So when they come together it's the chemical wedding. It's the state of a balanced brain and the beginning of the awakening of the pineal gland or the all-seeing eye. We'll talk a lot more about that symbolism as we go forward, and that's the Seal of Solomon representing the six pointed blazing star, as it is known, and that is the symbol to represent that state of consciousness that I think we need to ascribe to.

We need to make that our goal if we're really going to come out of, again the problems that we're facing as a species. We really need to work on ourselves. Work on again what different mystic traditions have called the temple inside mankind, and that's the human brain. I can't stress it enough. It is really the underlying focus. The underlying causal factor of what generates our experience in the world. And this is not reductionist thinking or reductionist philosophy. It can't be over stated.

It can't be over calculated how important the brain is to what we experience, yet you see people doing all kinds of crazy destructive behaviors to the brain, through substance abuse, through engaging in activities that will damage the brain irreparably like riding a motorcycle without a helmet. How about cage fighting, or even boxing? Not not much respect for the temple in man individuals like that don't have. To desecrate a gift like that, for whatever justification, or money, or paycheck you might be getting, I just can't personally see it. The brain is too precious, to me. I understand what it makes capable. I understand the experience that it generates in the so-called external world that we experience. It's all a reflection of what's going on inside us. It really is.

So we're talking about the human brain, how the brain becomes imbalanced, or balanced, but largely we talked about how it becomes imbalanced and the kind of consciousness that that leads. We can get into the symbolism that I talked about a little bit if you want, and what I'm also going to start breaking down and really getting into now is what I call the big lie. And I talked about this last week and I'm going to break down this concept even further this week, and that's the ideology known as solipsism.

And again I can't overestimate how dangerous this ideology is. This is the ideology that leads to all the other dangerous and destructive worldviews that people hold in the world that lead to more and more human suffering. Solipsism. That’s something that maybe perhaps not many people have heard of, but if you listen to this show you are going to hear about solipsism, because this is what I call, the biggest lie.

This is the lie that if you buy into, essentially the spiritual journey comes to a halt. It really does, because the spiritual journey is about seeking truth. That's what it really is ultimately about. And if you buy into the notion that there is no such thing as objective truth, which is what solipsism claims, this is the notion that perception is reality. That’s solipsism. Perception dictates reality, so however I perceive it, that's what the truth is. The truth isn't something that I discover, it's something I basically make up based on my personal preferences, what I'm comfortable with, and the information I have at any given moment.

And this is the ideology called solipsism, that nothing really exists independently of the individual who is observing anything. There's no external reality, there's no external truth. Whatever I decide is the truth, essentially that's how I'm going to live my life, and what I'm going to live my life according to. What I describe this as is, someone attempting to become their own personal arbiter of truth. The arbiter of truth, that's what the solipsist is. A person who subscribes to the notion that there is no such thing as objective truth, that nothing can be known in and of itself, that only perception governs reality. This is the most dangerous ideology that exists on earth.

And talk to people. More people believe in and subscribe to this ideology than you would ever believe or imagine. This ideology is out there, this ideology is totally lived by with so many people that you would be shocked and appalled if you understood how many people really subscribe to this. And if you're a subscriber to that ideology, I've said this before and I'll say it again, there's no point in you even bothering listening to this show. You might as well turn it off now. I could teach you nothing, until you come out of that state of mind.

If you don't believe that there are actual events that take place - and they can be known, and that's called the truth - of what happens on this planet, on the earth, then there's really no helping you. You need to use your will to come out of that state of mind because there is nothing else that can really be said about it except that it's complete nonsense. It needs to be thoroughly renounced and rejected. There is, such a thing, as truth. It is that which is.

You want to get real scientific and technical about it? How I refer to the truth, is it is the wave functions that are spoken of in quantum mechanics, the waves of possibility, all the possibilities that existed in what we know of as the past, that have coalesced, that have condensed, that have collapsed, and become actual events in the now, in the present moment. That's what the truth is. It is that which has actually already occurred. That which has undergone the formality of actually taking place and occurring in the world. I believe that's how Alfred North Whitehead described what he termed the truth.

It is that which has undergone the formality of actually taking place. It's not up for debate. It's that which is. It already occurred. It happened. Now whether we discover truth is a whole different story, but it exists and that's the first and only prerequisite leap of faith that must be taken on the entire spiritual journey. And there is no other belief or faith that is required after that initial leap of faith. To believe, that there is such a thing as truth, because at first you don't know that there is such a thing as truth. You do have to have some form of belief that truth exists to go seeking it. You don't have it, at first. A truth seeker doesn't actually already have the truth otherwise you wouldn't be seeking it.

So that's what solipsism is. Somebody who believes there's no such thing as truth, and doesn't really ever begin the spiritual journey. In darker occultic orders and movements, this state of consciousness - and I know this from first-hand experience - is referred to in different ways, by dark occultists who are actively using techniques of mind control upon the general population of this planet - they have a name for people who have bought the biggest lie. They have several names for them actually, but there is one overarching name that they give to people who subscribe to this ideology. They call them the dead.

Imagine this. There are people out there who refer to living people, because of how completely off the mark they are about the nature of the reality in which they live, they call them the dead. And they have another name for the solipsist. A person who thinks they're the arbiter of truth in the world. That the truth doesn't really exist, we get to make it up, our perception is what the truth is all about. It's nothing that exists independently of us that we need to discover, but we get to make it up. We’re the personal arbiters of our own truth. It's not something that is objective. It is something that is subjective.

I get to decide what's truth based upon whether I like it or not, or how I feel about it. That’s what solipsism generally is. And the other name that dark occultists, people who have developed technologies and methodologies to mind-control whole populations - the other name that they have for people that subscribe to the philosophy of solipsism is, the unbegun, or the uninitiated. Or in other words, those who have not begun. Because subscribing to solipsism means you have not begun the spiritual journey toward truth, and dark occultists want people in that state of consciousness. They want them there, and they have a lot of them there.

I want to talk about now the ideologies that solipsism leads to. The ideologies that accepting the biggest lie leads to in life, and in the world. Well, if there is no such thing as truth, most solipsists believe that there is no such thing as God. So atheism goes hand-in-hand with the ideology of solipsism. Some would say atheism is the root of solipsism and solipsistic beliefs, and some would say atheism flows out of solipsism, the idea that there is no truth, therefore there is no God. Or vice-versa, there is no God therefore there is no truth.

Solipsism is the idea that I get to determine based on my personal preferences, what truth is. Therefore, it inextricably, leads invariably leads, unwaveringly leads to an ideology known as moral relativism. Solipsism leads to more relativism. This is the notion that there is no such thing as objective right and wrong. Since there is no objective truth, a solipsist claims, there is no such thing as objective morality, because after all if I get to determine what truth is, I also get to determine what morals are. What is moral? What is not a moral? It's based on my personal preferences. What's good for me is good. What's bad for me is bad. It doesn't matter how it affects anybody else. I get to make it up. After all there's no truth. After all there's no God so there's no such thing as natural law consequences for our actions and behaviors, right?

So that's moral relativism. There's no such thing as objective morality. Morality is completely subjective, and based once again in the perceptions of the beholder. This is complete and utter nonsense. Of course there is such a thing is moral right and moral wrong. This is why we have so many people taking all the immoral actions that they're taking in the world, stomping completely crazed on other people's natural human rights, as if it doesn't matter what they do to them as long as a paycheck is flowing in. As long as they can transfer the responsibility to someone else, like a commanding officer, or a politician, or a banker, or anyone who signs their paycheck.

This this ideology of solipsism invariably when one subscribes to it, leads to moral relativism. And when you get moral relativism other interesting things start to crop up. Once you have that that's the beginning of the slide down into one hundred percent total tyranny, because if there's no such thing as right or wrong, then nothing anybody really does to anybody else matters. So you get ideologies like Social Darwinism, the idea that the evolution of the species is determined by the best socially prepared to deal with anything that may be occurring in the culture. So a higher strata or class of society has the right to rule over, conquer, and even kill and destroy lower classes below it. Social Darwinism.

You get things like eugenics, killing people based on your assessment of their breeding worth and their gene pool work, like we saw during the Third Reich in Nazi Germany and other oppressive police state regimes throughout the world. And invariably it leads to totalitarianism, and total tyranny.

What On Earth Is Happening Show #003

Topics: Polarity, Love vs. Fear, Worldview

In previous weeks on this show, what we've been doing basically is largely philosophical. It's largely conceptual. We've been talking about the aspects of human consciousness and how there are three basic aspects to our consciousness, thought emotion, and action. We started looking at the human brain and its basic structures. Also a three-fold or a three-tiered system, the triune brain, comprised of the r-complex, the limbic system and the human neocortex.

We looked at what brain imbalances cause and what they do to the brain, when either the left brain is completely dominant or the right brain is completely dominant in an individual. So what we're trying to really get down to on this show, and this will continue as the week's go on, are causal factors. That's what this show is really all about and that's what's going to really set it apart from a lot of other programs that really do a lot to discuss and to reveal the symptoms of what's taking place in our reality, but don't very much really look at the underlying causal factors. The deep relationships and the things that really go into creating the external reality that we see and that we experience.

That's what the show really is all about. Getting down to causal factors. Causality. And basically we looked at the two basic ways that human beings are fooled. The reasons for human suffering. It's incredibly simple. People accept that which isn't true, and they refuse to accept that which is true. That's it. It really is that simple folks. People accept lies and refuse to accept truth. And there is such a thing as truth, and the causal factors that are really creating the human condition can really be boiled down to one phrase. The ability to tell truth from falsehood. That's what is creating our experience in the world. That's it. That simple.

But we'll expand on that, we'll unpack it further and we'll look at different aspects of it. We've been also discussing a philosophy over the last couple of weeks called solipsism. The idea that there is no such thing as truth. That perception is reality. That really the only thing that is real is the contents of one's own mind, and I call this the biggest lie. This is the underlying fundamental lie upon which all other lies are built, because it is making the claim that an individual is the personal arbiter of truth in one's own life. That truth is not something to be discovered and accepted, that you can make it up as you go along. And more people are a victim of this ideology than anyone would even care to imagine. It's a rampant ideology.

If you really start to talk to people and try to get down to their basic underlying worldview, which is another thing we're going to talk about today on the show, you understand that many people's worldview is based in solipsism. So for today's show we'll be discussing that a little bit more when we come to the topic of worldview. What

I'm going to do on the show today, and hopefully I'll break this between the two hours somewhat evenly, is we're going I'm going to discuss the concept of polarity.

Before I even get into this I want to address one other thing about how I'm going to do things on the show. For the next several weeks we'll probably continue to break down conceptual ideas and philosophies, and really underlying things that people have to have a background in understanding if we're going to understand the bigger picture. So probably for at least the next month, I'll continue to break down and expand upon topics and concepts, and these are largely related with causal factors of what's going on and they're largely contained in my presentation. But some things I'll expand even further on since we have more time to do that.

For some people that are familiar with this material already, bear with me because there's a lot of people who don't have a background in this material and may be coming to it for the first time. So you know when they come to the site, when they turn the show on, when they download a podcast this may be new for a lot of people. And I hope it will be new for a lot of people otherwise we're not reaching anyone new. So there's a delicate balance to walk here with moving too fast and losing people who may be completely new to this information, versus moving too slowly and perhaps boring people that want to get into further details and topics.

So again I'm going to try to strike that balance so bear with me, and you're welcome to comment on how well I'm doing at that and give some suggestions. But after we go through a few more weeks of basic conceptual material, then I think I'll start having some guests on the show and interviewing people and getting their take on things.

So that's how it's going to work, and for today the two basic topics that I'd like to cover, the first one is polarity. And we're going to look at the two basic emotional polarities. There are really only two basic forces at work within us and they take different forms, and they have different manifestations. So we'll look at these two seemingly opposite polarized forces. So that's what's called polarity. Opposites, or as we'll see as we go further into the topic, seeming opposites.

The next topic and the next part of tonight's breakdown of concepts is going to be worldview. We got a little bit into this during the last program, but basically worldview is exactly what it sounds like. It's how do we view the world that we live in? How do we view our relationship to the world? Our relationship in the wider picture of things? And our relationship to other people? So worldview is really the driving factor behind what we are creating in our lives. Essentially what we think about most of the time is what we're becoming. What we think about most of the time is what we're becoming.

The worldview that we hold shapes the events that manifest. I'll say that again. The worldview that we hold shapes the events that manifest in our lives. So the way we think is critically important to what is actually taking place on the screen in front of us, so to speak. What we see out there in the world. So these are the two concepts that I'll be working with and breaking down in detail tonight. Polarity and worldview.

So let's start with polarity. There are two basic underlying emotional forces that are in dwelling within us. You can look at them look at them as emanations, or you could look at them as essences. These are things that really can't be boiled down much further. They're primary things, or primary causes. These are prime movers you can look at them as. So there are two essential emotions and they're polar opposites of each other, at least seemingly. So let me explain what I mean by seeming polar opposites.

In any quality that you can really think of, there are scales or there are degrees within. So look at the dynamics of hot and cold. Are these really opposites? Really? Most people would say “sure they're completely opposite. If something's hot it's not cold, and if something's cold it's not.” But if you look a little bit deeper than the seeming opposite nature of these two qualities of hot and cold, you'll see that really all you're talking about when you talk about hot and cold is energy. That's all. You're talking about how much energy is in dwelling within the thing that you're measuring.

So temperature is a measuring scale for energy. If there's a lot of heat energy, we call it hot. And if there isn't a lot of heat energy, where there's a largely an absence of heat energy, then we call it cold. So when you look at it from that perspective, are they really polar opposites? No. They're really measures of the same dynamic. Heat energy. And that's all there really is. Heat energy. There isn't hot and cold. Those are two polar perceptions. It's a way of looking at heat energy. You're comparing it to something else, to another extreme of the scale. Because if there was only one temperature then there would be no such thing as the concept of temperature.

I'll say that again. If there were only one temperature, then there would be no such thing as the concept of temperature. You would have nothing to compare it against, at all. Everything is one temperature. It always was, it is now and it always will, then the concept of temperature would never even occur to any being. You couldn't even think of what temperature is. There's no scale of comparison.

So you could do this with another dynamic like light and dark. Well it seems like two polar opposites again, but if you really look at that, those are just measures of the same dynamic. Once again light, or its absence, because dark isn't actually a thing. It's simply the absence of light. Light energy. Go into a dark room with a candle and you're bearing light energy into the room, and you could say “okay, that candle lit up the room and there's light here now.” You can't do the same thing with darkness. You can't shine darkness into a room. The concept doesn't make any sense because there's really no such thing as darkness. There's only light energy or its absence.

So we will see that this concept applies in the emotional polarities that I'm going to discuss on this show. That there really is only one thing contained within these seeming polar opposites. The other thing is the illusory component. It's something that really isn't there, but we see it as being there so we have a scale of comparison to compare the real thing against, to come to know the real essence. So look at it in the context of light and darkness. There really is only light energy, or light energy not manifesting itself and we call that darkness.

So the two basic emotional polarities, the first one is the essence of everything that we perceive as good or feeling good. Anything that we perceive in that context. What creates anything that we perceive as feeling good within us, or what we perceive as good for us in the external reality that we exist in. And it's very simple. Most people immediately understand what this is. Most people get this on the first shot if you ask them “what is the underlying essence of everything that we perceive of as good, as uplifting, as beneficial, as truly powerful, and of course the word that I'm talking about is love.

Love is the first basic emotional seeming polarity, as I will further explain. What I'm talking about here when I talk about love is not a romance novel, or a Hollywood movie definition of love. So this isn't possessing someone, this isn't being jealous about somebody, this isn't trying to keep someone, it isn't attachment to someone else. These are dramatized and romanticized notions of love that we see in popular fiction and on mainstream media and in Hollywood. That's not the concept that I'm talking about here. Love is the force which expands consciousness. I'll say that again because of how important that statement is.

Love is the force that expands human consciousness. That expands consciousness period. It is the force which opens up and flowers consciousness. So anything that is moving us toward a greater understanding of ourselves, and the world in which we live, and that is expanding consciousness outward to ever greater, and greater awareness, that is love. That's what love is. Now some people will say “well you can't really define love or put the definition on it because it limits it,” but if you really think about the words that I'm saying here in a wider context, this explains what this powerful force really is. It is that which opens up and expands human consciousness.

Now of course there is this seeming opposite for this polarity that goes against the force of love, and seeks to do the exact opposite. So love expands consciousness and moves it to ever greater states of awareness. The opposite emotional polarity from love that closes awareness down, it shuts down, it is the compressive force, closes consciousness down, makes you not want to look, makes you not want to seek, makes someone not want to understand, or care, or act.

And most people usually will get this if given the opportunity to take a guess at what it is. Some people will guess “hate” because in word association, people generally think of that as the first thing that is the opposite of love, but hate is a manifestation of this force. And of course the force that I'm referring to is fear.

Fear is the opposite emotional polarity from love. It's the force with which closes down human consciousness. It strangles the flowering of consciousness. It makes people cut off from their higher nature, and these two basic emotional polarities. Love, which is the expansive force and fear, which is the contractive force.

Each of them have internal qualities which express within us, within our consciousness. They also have qualities which create something in the external reality that we live in.

So they have what I call an internal and external manifestation. So love has an internal manifestation, and love has an external manifestation. Fear has an internal manifestation and an external manifestation. So let's get into these four other qualities. The internal and external qualities of love and fear.

If we look at the internal expression of love, how does the love force manifest internally within our consciousness? What we're basically saying is, if the expansive force of consciousness, which we call love, manifests in an individual, what could we describe that state or that manifestation as? Well you could give it a few names. You could call it self-love, and that's one way of looking at it. Some people would describe this state as enlightenment, and that's another way of looking at it. Some people would describe this state as balance, or harmony within. So internal peace is another way you could look at it. That's a very good way of looking at this quality. This internal manifestation the force of love within an individual.

Now I have a specific name for it that I talked about in my presentation, and the name may be misleading to some people when they first hear it spoken, but let me explain what I view this internal quality as. We talked about in earlier shows, the three aspects of human consciousness. Thought, emotion and action. When we bring these three aspects into harmony within us, such that there is no internal contradiction within our consciousness – so what that means is, we are a person that behaves in a way such that as we think, so we feel and so we act in the world. So the way that we think, what's going on inside our mind, reflects in perfect balance and unison what's going on inside our heart center, our care, our emotions. And these two qualities, what we think and what we feel within, are not in internal opposition with how we act or behave in the world, or things that we do.

Our thoughts, our emotions, and our actions are unified as one and there is no internal contradiction, or opposition between those three things. Now let's think about this in a symbolic context for a minute before I go further. The thoughts are the creator aspect. What we create has to exist as a thought. The emanation. This is the essence quality. Then, we have an internal manifestation called our emotions. This is the spirit side.

So we have the mind aspect, the thought. That's the essence. Then we have the internal quality, which is the emotions, and that's the spiritual aspect. The spirit in which we do things is called our emotions. And then there is a male by-product, because actions are a male essence. We do them outwardly. Actions are thrust outward into the world, so the male child of our thoughts and our emotions is our actions.

So we have a Trinity here. We have a creator aspect, we have a spirit aspect, and we have a male child aspect. A son. So there's the essence, thoughts. That goes on in the mind. That's the creator. The internal quality, the emotions. That’s the Holy Spirit or the Sacred Feminine, the goddess. And then there's the divine male child, the son so to speak, symbolically. That's our actions in the world. The byproduct of the marriage of our thoughts and our emotions.

Now if all three of these things are one, we don't have any internal opposition. Now the word opposition is critical to understand. If you go back and look at the ancient Hebrew language, there's a word that means oppose, opposition, adversary, and that word is shatan, where we get the word Satan from. It means that which divides, that which opposes, that which creates opposition. Because this force, the adversary, the opposer, the one who divides us, gets into us the minute that we are internally divided because our thoughts, our emotions and our actions are not operating in unison as one.

We're not a being that as we think, so we feel, and so we act. We’ll often do something in opposition to how we say we feel. This is the betrayal of the Spirit because you're going against what you know to be right and what you feel to be right. Sin against the Spirit. Taking an action for a justification. I know that I should be doing this, but, I'm going to do this, which is not in the spirit of what I know and feel, and that is the force called shatan, or Satan. The opposer. The adversary.

It's not an actual being that people imagine in different religious connotations. It's a way of being in the world. That's the kind of being that it is, and mostly just about everyone exists in this state of opposition at some point or another in their lives, and continues to exist in that state of opposition. There's very few people who are a completely united being and do, and take the actions that they say and they think and feel, because it's hard. It requires an immense amount of courage, and there's so many things that are built up in this world to make us go against our better judgment, and we keep justifying those things.

“If I didn't do that then there would be these repercussions. If I did that then there will be these repercussions.” There's an endless supply of justification that we provide for not doing the correct moral thing in life. And to take this back to the concept of the emotional polarities, specifically the internal, in-dwelling aspect of the dynamic of the force of love, the state that I refer to as the expression of love when it comes to fruition, when it comes to flowering inside an individual, I call it Dominion.

DOMINION
DOMINION

Dominion. This is a word that means rulership. It means that someone is the king or queen. They have dominion. This is self-dominion. It doesn't imply any external ownership or rulership. This is dominion of the kingdom of self. You could call it mastery, as many people have. That's why we refer to great masters and wisdom teachers and avatars. They had Dominion. As they thought, so they felt and so they acted, and those three existed in harmony. They weren't divided within. They didn't have the indwelling force of the adversary, the opposer, or opposition that divides us from inside of ourselves.

That's what I mean by Dominion. You could call it self-control. You could call it self-ownership, and a great word that really does represent this concept. I've actually thought of even changing the word that I use in the presentation to this word because it really does sum up this concept perfectly, and I would say you could use it interchangeably with Dominion, or self-love, or harmony within, or internal peace, or internal balance, and that's sovereignty.

Sovereignty. Because what sovereignty really means is the same thing as Dominion. If you break the word down. So reign. Self-reign. Self-ownership, self-governance, no external governance, no external control, internal governance, internal control over one's thoughts, emotions and actions, and knowing how to use all of those things in harmony such that we're not divided within ourselves. That is the state that I call Dominion, and that you could call many things. Probably a very good synonym with Dominion would be sovereignty.

That's what this show is ultimately all about. It is about sovereignty. Self-rulership. No masters. Self-ownership. The only way we can really come to that state, or to that condition within ourselves, is if we become beings that as we think, so we feel and so we act. So we act. I'm stressing that for an extremely important reason because that's what this is all about. The courage to act.

Now when this condition is not present, there is a state of mind that takes over an individual. If dominion or sovereignty is self-love, its self-ownership, its self rulership - being the king or queen of one's own personal kingdom of self, what is the polar opposite of that state? So this would mean that the being is essentially ruled by the force of fear. The opposite of love. Well, this would mean that the person is always in internal opposition with himself. They're always in contradiction between what they think, what they feel, and how they act. These three things are never in harmony in a being internally ruled by fear.

If their consciousness is governed by the force of fear, the state of consciousness within results in a condition that's very simple, and it's called confusion. Confusion. What confusion is, is the state of internal disharmony, and the state of the consciousness being closed down and cut off from higher self, and cut off from higher levels of awareness. Someone in this condition is not capable of knowing truth from falsehood. They don't even know what's going on inside them, how would anybody expect them to understand what's going on in the external reality that they live in, and to be able to tell what's real from what's fantasy and what's illusion?

They don't understand what's taking place in their own thoughts or in their own emotions, because they're in such a state of confusion that they're not in touch with their emotional compass, their guidance system for direction in life. They don't value truth and understand how natural law works. How getting in touch with truth improves the quality of our life and not caring about it makes our life turn to complete disarray, and breakdown. Someone in confusion does not really love themselves. They don't have internal love. The true expression of love.

They may think they understand what love is in a limited definition, in a limited scope, but they do not really have internally dwelling self-love. They couldn't possibly understand freedom. They couldn't possibly understand sovereignty. Those words are meaningless to a person in a state of internal opposition. A person in this state of consciousness can pretty much be made or led to do anything. They don't really have a strong internal makeup. Their psychological condition is frail and weak. They are the lead, and sooner or later the lead will become the dead. Harsh yes but true, definitely.

These are really critical concepts to understand and keep in mind. A person in this state governed by fear will always be in a state of confusion which is internal opposition. This is the internally manifesting quality of fear. So we have love and fear. We have dominion, or sovereignty, and confusion, or indwelling opposition within the being. What do these things create externally, in the outside world, that we see on the screen of reality so to speak? Well when love is present and has grown to a great extent in many individuals in the wider reality, in the shared reality that we all live in, there's a state that comes online.

FREEDOM
FREEDOM

There's a condition that bursts onto the world, because if the true essence of love, the expansion of human consciousness is carried within many individuals in any society and those many individuals truly understand what's taking place inside themselves, and they live in a way that is reflected by the notion that they think, so they feel, and so they act, the condition that will eventually erupt onto the world is called freedom. Freedom is the external manifestation of the force of love, and that can only occur when enough of the individual consciousness’s, human beings on this planet, come within themselves to a state of dominion, of sovereignty, of self rulership.

Because they've made the active freewill decision to take actions that are in keeping with their thoughts and their emotions, and they cannot be driven apart from that. They cannot be made to go against what they know to be right, and what they feel in their heart to be right. Their actions will be one with those qualities. And freedom won't occur in this world one second before that state occurs within many, many, many, many, more individuals walking on this world. Don't expect it, until people change their mind, their hearts and their actions in drastic ways compared to what they're thinking, feeling and doing now.

Now the opposite of freedom, is the external manifestation of the force of fear. Fear is the force which shuts down consciousness. It's the force which divides us. It's the force which puts us into a state of internal opposition or confusion, and when that goes into the external reality widely so such that many, many, many people are not self-governing, don't understand sovereignty, aren't concerned with the truth, aren't concerned with freedom, and are totally in a state of opposition within, you get a condition that manifests in the shared reality that we live in. And that condition is control.

CONTROL
POLICE
CONTROL

Control. And this time I do mean external control. People trying to control the actions of other people even if they're not doing anything to harm anyone. You get people wanting to control more, and more, and more, and more and it's never enough. Ultimately this condition leads to slavery, and largely that's where we're at folks, for those who don't know that yet. Many people listening to the show who just happen to be coming through my website for the first time, understand that's where we're at. And if we're going to get out of that we have to become united. Not divided anymore within. Becoming beings that as we think, so we feel, and so we act, and that's a tall task that requires a lot of courage.

I was talking about polarity, and the seemingly opposite polarities of love and fear. The basic emotional polarities. I say seemingly opposite because ultimately, one of these is an illusion, and I don't think it's difficult for anybody with any understanding to figure out which one is the true illusion even though we seem so trapped in it. Fear is an illusion folks. It doesn't exist. Only love exists and fear is simply the absence of the expression of love. It really doesn't exist on its own. It is an illusory force, an illusory quality, when we begin to forget who we really are. So for now that's all say about that I'm going to go into a little more on this and then I'll be getting into the topic of worldview if time permits.

Caller #1: This is the first time I've heard your radio show and I'm kind of confused. You're under the topic of spirituality but it sounds like you've got political agendas kind of worked into it too. The reason I'm mentioning it is because I have not ever come across a radio show or anyone so far that kind of intertwined the two within philosophy of our own existence, and what love and fear is, and then kind of integrating that within ourselves, and then having that kind of emerge into the real, the wider scope of our world, you know such as government, and politics and right and wrong. I just want to know did I just assess what it is that you more or less have been speaking about?

You absolutely have assessed it correctly, and the reason that our world is in the state that it is in, is because many, many more people have not made this association. That's why the world is in the condition that it's in. That's why people are in the condition that they are in. If you don't understand that these two things are intricately interrelated, what is going on in the world of what you termed "politics," which I would say is simply the world of control. The world of attempting to put out the light of spirit.

It is the world of control of beings that actually believe that they are authority over other sovereign beings. The spiritual movement is largely - and I want to be very clear about what I'm going to say here - a lot of the spiritual movements, or the so-called New Age movements that are out there in the world today are largely, not all, but largely traps. They are largely places that are used for controlled opposition, for taking someone to a certain level of understanding and then having them pitch their tent there, and not go higher up the mountain to understand the wider aspect of what is taking place on this planet.

Now you can choose to believe that or not. I'm not even putting that out there as something that I think or believe. I know this is the case. I know how they're operating and how they work, but your assessment about that I am integrating these two seemingly opposite spectrums, spirituality and what you call politics is absolutely correct. And the reason that we're not collectively, as a race of beings' making more progress towards solving the planet's problems in consciousness, is because this completely interwoven and causal relationship between these two what many people would be seemingly opposite dynamics have not been brought together and understood in their connected context.

Caller #1: Can I ask you another question? It has to do with psychology and chemistry. I've noticed that women have a better ability to integrate their feelings and their rational thinking kind of together using both sides of their brain, and then taking that and kind of learning how to integrate where they are, and then after that then maybe just become the action of who they are, by taking both into account, versus men have a tendency in general to be more left brained, more logical and more kind of cut off from their core emotions, because they're brought up that way and also chemistry kind of reigns in that direction too with them.

I guess I'm trying to say is that, women have kind of been looked down upon or considered weak or incapable because sometimes they have a tendency to go more over on their emotional side than they do their reasonable logical side, and men seem to go overboard more on the logical side and totally disconnect themselves from their emotional side, and render that obsolete or stupid.

I agree and it's important to say that yes these are generalities, you're making generalities and that's fine I have no problem with that, because what you're saying is largely accurate. In general, there is a dichotomy or a schism between the sexes. Now they want us - and when I say they I mean people who are trying to manipulate us based on the awareness of this general dynamic that you're referring – they want to use this as a divide and conquer technique, so that the differences between the sexes is played up and played up until we look at it as something that we identify with and cling to. And there is physiological chemical basis for these dynamics that you're referring to and you are largely corrected that this is largely how they play out.

No doubt about it, that meant more women have more right-brain tendencies and more right brain functionality taking place in the brain, and that puts them better in touch with their emotional sensibilities. Some of them do come into better union with their logical side, and some don't, but men definitely tend to be much more imbalanced to the left brain hemisphere.

I would recommend that you go to my website and check out the videos that I have up there. There's around sixteen or seventeen hours of videos up there, two different lecture series, a four-part series where I discuss these dynamics, and if you got the podcast page the first two shows that are up there - this is technically the third show - the first two shows and particularly in the second show, I get into the brain chemistry and the structures in the brain, and I break that down.

And I'm actually going to talk about this dynamic more tonight when I get into worldview, and what I call the worldview schism. And there's two essential worldviews that let's say the force of fear wants to push the people of this world into. One of them is a very left brain imbalanced worldview, and people who are left brained fall for this worldview, this general way of looking at the world and themselves in it. And then I'm going to break down an extremely right brained imbalance worldview, and those who are very right brained and have many right brain tendencies and faculties often fall for this worldview.

And I'm going to propose a third, overarching unifying worldview that takes concepts from both of these general worldview and unites them, so that we can understand what really is going on, and how if we fall for one side or another, a false choice - often a choice that is presented to us to make us imagine that we have a choice between two things - largely just like politics, just like the political spectrum of conservative versus liberal, Democrat versus Republican, conservative versus Labor Party. All an illusion. all two sides of the same coin, two wings on the same bird. It's dialectical mechanics.

When you give people a choice between two things, nine out of ten times they will pick one. This is the child being seated at the table that doesn't want to eat his vegetables so you say “hey Jimmy you have a choice tonight do you want corn or peas?” You don't say “you're going to end up eating one of these vegetables, like it or not.” You make the child think that he has a choice, so you say “do you want corn or peas tonight Jimmy?” and he'll say “um, peas.” And he thinks he's made that decision, when in fact the decision was already made that he was going to end up with one or the other.

It’s just like training horses, and rats and other animals because largely mammalian animals generally have this type of thought pattern, and the structure to their thoughts works in this dialectical methodology. If you understand how that works in the human psyche, and many, many other people do not, it puts you in a unique place of advantage over them to be able to control their actions and their decision-making processes. It absolutely is manipulation. It is mind control, and we're going to talk so much about mind control on this show.

I don't want to use the word expert, but as far as experts on mind control goes I'm about as close to one of them as you're going to find. I've been in, let's just say for now unique situations, where these techniques were unveiled, used, honed, refined etc. So I will be exposing methodologies of mind control. That's all I'll say about that for now, but future shows will focus specifically on mind control methodologies, and then that's in my lectures and presentations on my website.

If you go up there and check them out you should really keep an open mind, because it's heavy, weighty material for those who are coming to it for the first time. Take them in order. Don't go out of order. It really does require establishing a tapestry of information, and if the tapestry is unwound, the picture falls apart.

What’s happening on this planet is like a jigsaw puzzle that's thrown at someone in a dark room. The object is to gather up as many pieces as you possibly can, and bring them to a place of light where you could assemble them. And you don't need to gather every piece, but you do need to gather most of the pieces if you're to see the larger picture emerge, and we need to do that together collectively if we're going to see the bigger picture.

So if you do decide to go up to my site and check out the material that is on there, please keep an open mind and understand that this information is not mine. I want to stress that over, and over again on this show. This information does not belong to me. There's no copyright on this information. I don't sell anything on my website. This is information that belongs to everyone in the world, and it is simply information that I have discovered on my journey of seeking. That's it.

But you know it doesn't require our belief. I'm putting it on the table for observation and investigation and that's really what it is all about. This can be corroborated if research is done, and many people have done that work and research, and if someone finds something that they don't agree with and don't like, leave it, take what you want and leave the rest. That's it. No one needs to believe anything that is said here, but again I would also like to stress that I don't present this information as my belief system either. I present this information as information that I have learned and understood about what is occurring on the planet that we live on.

Caller #1: Basically we have a breakdown of spirituality, morals and ethics and it's devastating. I see it in in our children, and sometimes I wonder if the majority of students that are suffering from lead poisoning. Because they don't seem to have any real grounded sense of right and wrong. They're not being taught that because a majority of their parents are either dysfunctional, divorced or didn't grow up in a well-grounded family that had values. And I just see that more and more, and I don't know if it's my imagination.

It is certainly not your imagination. If you have any hesitancy or fear about that, don't. It's not your imagination. There are many people who really see this and there are many people who understand how this really works.

Caller #1: Sometimes it's like they're not there. They're disconnected and they don't know what it is to be connected to themselves in a sense, in a grounded sense. Or even the beginnings of that should be appearing by a certain age, and it's not. I'm just realizing again but it's like a little bit over generalizing to, from what I see.

That's okay. Another thing I won't discourage when people call in is some generalizing. I mean if we start to use the word “all” then we're getting into, you know hairy vicinity there, but generalizing and saying “yes most people, this is what's happening largely with the young,” you're correct largely. We can't be afraid to say what certain numbers are as we see them because. Somebody with some discernment and with a view that really is looking at what's truly going on and not being a wide-eyed optimist or a naive person can say “yes this is happening with most people or most of the young.” It's not your imagination.

I mean look at what we're putting into our children's bodies. The types of food with the types of chemicals, preservatives, pesticides and additives. Look at what is in vaccines. We'll talk about food and vaccines on the show. It's a chemical cocktail. A chemical sludge cocktail, that does horrors to the human immune system and nervous system, particularly the brain. When soft metals get into the brain through the blood-brain barrier, what would you expect to happen?

Would you expect morality centers lighting up and bursting forth, and you know the human neocortex really coming into coherence? No. You're going to expect somebody that is becoming dumbed down, not just intellectually but emotionally and spiritually as well. And we'll talk about all of this on the show because again there's no taboo topics here and we will look at the dark. The object isn't focusing and dwelling on that, but to not look at what actually is, is ignoring information. It's ignoring the truth. It isn't that this is negative. This is taking place. No information is negative. What's negative is if we ignore it and do nothing when we had a chance to act, that's what's negative.

We need to look at the shadow side with an open mind and open eyes, and confront it, and work with it, and through it. I've said this before on the show and I'll probably say it a million more times as the week's progress. There is no escape. We're not going to escape this condition or this lesson. The way out is through. We need to go through the darkness to get to the light. Make no mistake about it.

Caller #2: We're talking about basically examining human consciousness? That's the core point. I think that's a mystery and everybody debates about it from Harvard lecturers to the other side of Deepak Chopra to a lot of mystics. In my opinion it’s a matter of both examination and faith. We’re always going to be oscillating or going back and forth. If life has to be beautiful then consciousness will never have to be explained. If we explain consciousness clearly as water is in the face, or as the law of physics then were in big trouble. There's a book that I'm working on to do with some kind of take why the mysteries are there, and the reason that the mysteries are there are for a reason and that is to help us, not to hurt us.

So people are looking for answers but the answers are the truth, and this will be there for positive reasons that we can never imagine. I mean we have questions and the questions have to be there for a good reason because if we have answers then we in trouble. My book talks about that and it gives you a way to kind of think about it, but when it comes to consciousness, even with me being full of myself and doing some kind of research and thinking about it and all that stuff, it’s all just an opinion of mine.

I see a lot of gentlemen out there touting and beating the on drums that no one knows of all truth and wisdom whenever it comes to science, or to God, or to consciousness and everybody likes the take sides because taking sides and sounding righteous motivates people. So a talk of wisdom and a talk of a kind of muddy understanding of the universe doesn't really sell. So if you want to sell books and create seminars to make money, or get more listeners talking, you have to be the more polemic. The truth of the universe and the answers of the universe a little bit fuzzier in their lives, in mystical spaces or both and in the heart and a mind.

I totally agree and my intention is not to sell books or you know make money doing this. My intention is to help unequivocally set the minds, the hearts and the spirits of human beings free. To help to do that. I could never do that on my own. That is a freewill decision of the people of this planet. That's what I want to see occur, because I want to see what the true potential of the species is. Because the potential is not being lived, and to a large extent it's being squandered and we're capable of so much more.

Even that some of the great things that we have done, so much is being held back because many people are living in fear consciousness and many people think that the answer to everything lies in control, and we have a totally controlled society that the people at the higher echelons of it are working harder and harder to dumb people down more and more, and to cut them off from the examination of that eternal mystery. And yes it is a mystery, that's why different traditions have referred to it as the mystery traditions. And look at the word mystery.

Another thing we'll be doing is we'll be playing with something called green language. Green language is looking at a word and what it says phonetically. The mystery is my story. My story. Not history, which is his story. Whose story? A male entity, right? The dominators consciousness. The opposers consciousness. The oppositional consciousness and a dominator. So history they say it's written by the winner, right? The winner writes the history. Well I would say it's written by the dominator, and the model that we call history that is proposed as truth in our culture's is only a skewed interpretation of events and factual evidence of what actually occurred.

And what I'm trying to help people to get to the understanding of, is that the answer is within. It does lie by examining the mystery of consciousness. And part of this does involve the notion of truth. I'm not of the opinion that there is no such thing as truth. Now maybe one could never know the totality of truth, or the what I would refer to as the mind of God. That is not what I'm arguing.

What I am arguing is that we can come to enough of an accurate understanding of what is taking place both within us, and around us, to firmly and positively change the dynamic that we see playing out in our experience. That is what this show is about. We're trying to move people toward higher levels of awareness and consciousness to help them to understand the underlying causal factors that have brought us to this point in the game, if we want to go to a better shared reality. If we want to co-create a better shared reality.

Caller #2: I agree and again the wonderful thing about humans is that we all believe our stories, and a great philosopher named Socrates used to say the one thing that I know is that I know nothing. We get a lot of hints that God gives us, or the universe gives us, or the mystery gives us in order to motivate us to go forth to go forward. But I say we all get caught in our own story. "Mystery" is a Greek word. That comes from the word mysterio, just like history comes from the word historia. You're right that the winner usually writes the history, but also so does the loser. If you look at the wars, or the realities between Greece and Turkey, or the Americans against the communists, everybody has their own story or what happened after each battle of ideas or each battle on the battlefields.

So we all tend to look at the history in our own ways. Wherever you think you are a victor, sometimes the victim turns it against you and so on and so forth. I do believe that we've gone forward to a new dimension right now, but we're always going to be fighting about some things like the Yankees and Red Sox, like the Democrats and Republicans etc. There's not going to be a United Church of people meditating, loving, kissing and working next to each other. That's not what God wanted.

I don't want to get up in a neighborhood or call up to a radio show when everybody tells me "I love your brother and peace in you" all the time I don't like people pretending that we've got no brains. You know we're here to through conversation, through argument, through agreement and through back-and-forth push of species forward evolution is moving on. And I agree that we're going to a place or better understanding about the mysteries of life, but also you know there's going to be a diversity in the world, and once you have a diversity in the world you're going to have conflict.

That's why a lot of wars are made and that's why one house attacks the other house across the street, because they don't like their lifestyle, or the way they live. That's why Dawkins attacked Deepak Chopra, and that's why Deepak Chopra attacks the church. And Deepak Chopra who was supposed to be holier than God for a lot of people, attacks the Western medicine calling them words like idiotic. In the same time he says not to be judgmental, which makes him in a way idiotic.

I won't make the statement on this show that we shouldn't be judgmental. I think that discernment is what we need, and again the thing that I'm modeling is that we can come into harmony, we can come into understanding of what is taking place, and whether it serves our evolution in consciousness, and moving it forward, and expanding consciousness which is the force that I am referring to as love. That's what love is according to the model that I'm working with here, and attempting to explain that as we come more into harmony with this unified way of seeing reality, the unified way of seeing ourselves together, that really there is only one consciousness here.

It doesn't mean there needs to be a world government or a world religion. I would oppose those things completely because I think that's a manifestation of people's desire to control other people and force them to do what they want them to do and be how they want them to be in the world. But what I'm talking about is getting out of dualistic consciousness. Of looking at it as us versus them, as for me to win someone else has to lose. That doesn't have to happen. We can all manifest our desires here and we can all come into a more unified way of seeing reality and ourselves in it. Human beings place in reality, and we don't have to suffer according to the ways that we have been doing things, which is creating enormous self-inflicted levels of suffering, the likes of which we've never seen before. It doesn't need to be like this is what I'm saying, and all our worldview has a big determining component.

Caller #2: Well a lot of people are talking about that, and you're right, and it is a part of us that is talking to us about that, and that part of us is the unity part of ourselves. Because we all are brothers and sisters who all came from the same point and we are all going to go back to the same point. So we all in a commonality, we all know. And the other side is our fear and agreed an illusion of the ego. To a healthy degree the ego is good. I mean I like the differences between cultures, and between foods, and between traditions. I don't mind if your mother feels proud about your accomplishments. That is a functionality of the ego. Pride.

I'm not going to suggest in during the show that the ego needs to completely go away, as a lot of New Age teachers do.

Caller #2: Sure, and we have to meditate in loving consciousness without becoming fanatics, because I know a lot of people that preach one way but they do another, including the church, including people from India who they meditate on one hand, and the other hand there are people that die in the slums, in poverty, they're abused, they're the poorest people in the world. So on one hand they talk about love and harmony, and then there is no more unjust nation than India.

There they have a cast system, which means that if you make so much money or are of such a social class then you're good, and then they call the poor people the undesirables. I never heard of a nation calling people the undesirables, and then claiming to be spiritual and to be holistic. Because all this mumbo jumbo about unity comes from there, a lot of it.

The caste system is definitely dualistic consciousness. There is no question about it. You see, what we have to get to is the understanding that the ego is a tool. It doesn't need to go away. It's a tool for us. It's how we express ourselves individually. Now the tool like a hammer needs to be picked up and used in the service of the individual and then laid down when it is no longer required to be used. However what the ego has done is set itself up in the house of the being and says “I'm the ruler of this house now, and I'm not leaving here, and I'm going to run things the way I want to run things.” That's the kind of ego that we need to get out of, and understand the ego is simply a tool for the individual expression of our unique consciousness’s that we need to express uniquely, but not getting to the trap where the tool becomes the ruler of the house.

Caller #3: I'm going to take you out to dinner when I fly into Philadelphia Mark.

You know I am I'm a strict vegetarian I don't eat meat or fish. I'm not militant about it like other people. What I just basically talk about when I do talk about vegetarianism is that, if we really want to see suffering ended for human beings then I think that needs to include all forms of life. That's why I made the decision to become a vegetarian in my own personal life. So I think in general what we do to others is going to return to us and come back to us. I do believe in the law of balance, or karma, or however you want to word it, and I think that if humanity really wants to see human suffering ended, then we need to strive that all suffering for all beings be ended, and that's why I don't eat meat.

Caller #3: Yeah I'm not militant about it either, and I'm a vegetarian because it's so gosh darn easy to be. There's so many delicious things that you can eat without having to, as you say it put other beings through suffering. And it’s a fact that animals are sentient beings, so even the largest skeptics of vegetarianism are privy to the fact that animals are sentient being.

I think I will just give a brief intro to what I'm going to talk about next show. The last show we really got into polarity and the differences between the forces of the basic polarities of love and fear. We broke them down and we talked about the internal manifestation of love, which we call dominion or sovereignty. We talked about the internal manifestation of fear, which we called confusion or opposition. And then we talked about the external expressions of both of those forces.

When love comes to a fruition and an expansion in the external reality that we share, we have freedom. And when love is absent and the force of fear rules the consciousness of people, we get a condition called control. People wanting to externally control our lives and the lives of others, and that if left unchecked leads to something called slavery.

And I'd suggest that we're very deeply into that polarity of fear, which is an illusion which does not really exist in true reality. It is a forgetting of who we are. It is clinging to things that do not really serve us and who we are. And the more we engage in illusion, the farther we're going from the truth. The more we engage in truth, the more we dispel illusion and fear.

So as a very brief introduction to what I'm going to be talking about next show and really delving into. I'm going to be talking about the schism in the worldviews that we hold. The dichotomy between two basic worldviews, one which is a very left brained imbalanced worldview, and one which is a very right brained imbalanced worldview.

So this schism in our psyches and in our worldviews is what ultimately needs to be healed by coming to a third and integral way of viewing the world and ourselves in it. This third worldview, which I'll be explaining next time, is actually a combination of these other two polar worldviews. It's bringing them together. One is the thesis, one is the antithesis. So they're seeming polar opposites even though they both represent big levels of imbalance in the psyche and in the human brain.

But when we transcend that duality of these two worldviews there is a third middle way that emerges, that shows us the way out of the suffering that we are seemingly trapped in. So I think I'll leave it there for now.

What On Earth Is Happening Show #004

Topics: Worldview Schism, Natural Law & Free Will

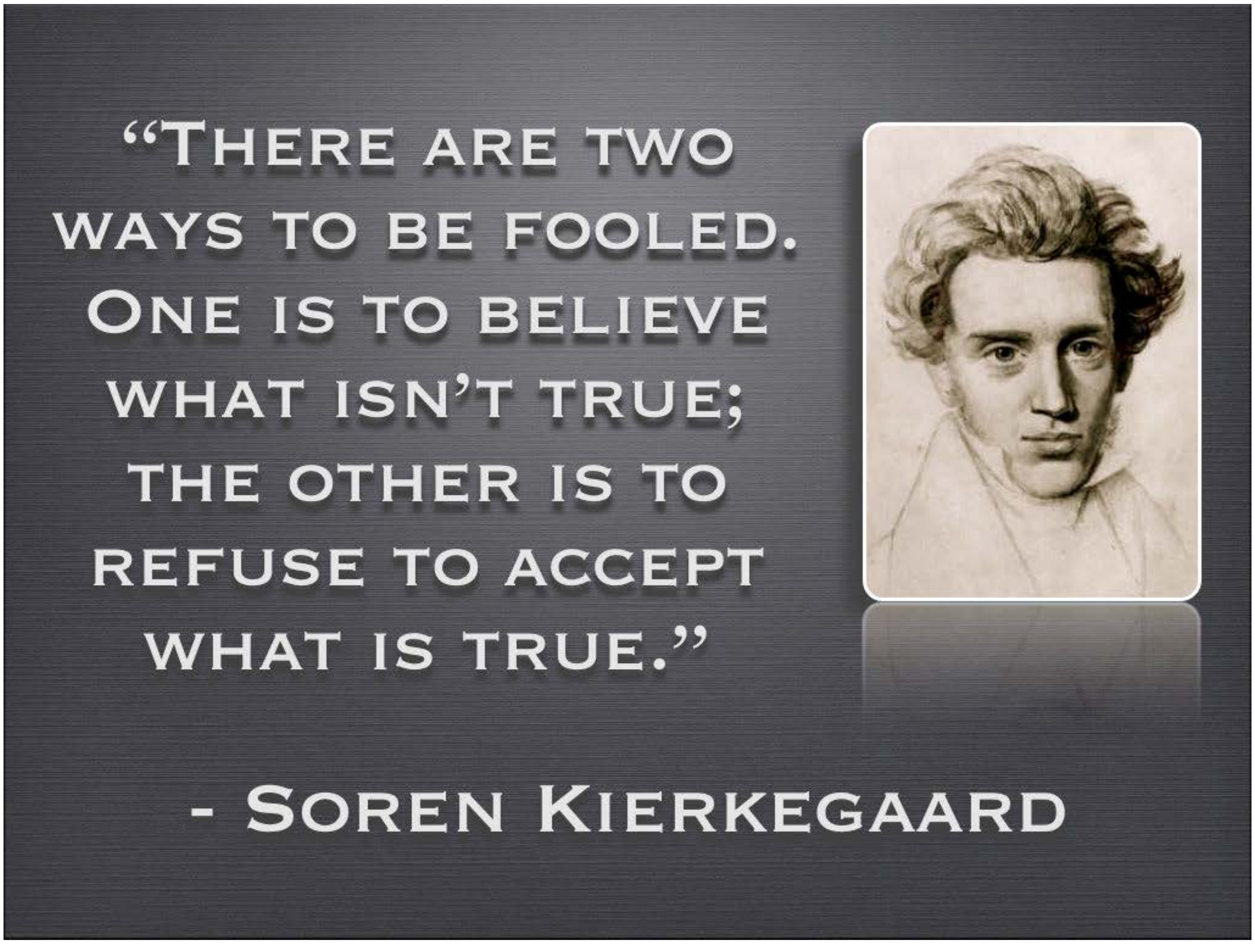
I want to do a quick recap of some ideas and concepts that I've covered in previous shows and just give a general overview of what we do here. As you heard in the intro this show discusses human consciousness, mind control, the occult, and any issues that affect the freedom of the people that live on this planet. So we'll be getting into heavy topics as the week's progress, but to get to that you have to build a foundation and that's what I've been laying out. I've been laying that groundwork of conceptual ideas over the past few weeks.

So essentially what we've covered thus far is, we talked about truth. We talked about what truth is and we talked about why it's so important. Because alignment with it, coming into harmony with what actually is, what actually is taking place around us and within us, is what consciousness is all about. When we do that we're building a world of order and freedom.

When we get out of alignment with what is actually true and we get off onto poisoned worldviews, we get off onto poisonous ideologies, that are completely not in keeping with what actually is, with what actually is taking place within us and around us, then we really don't know who we are and we start to forget who we are. And this leads to disorder. It leads to chaos. It leads to further and further states of fear and control, which is a big part of what we were talking about on the last show.

In general, we've discussed the aspects of human consciousness. How we manifest our consciousness in the world through our thoughts, our emotions and our actions. We discussed and got into the physiology of the three components of the human brain, and how they're so critical to understand. Because understanding how the brain works helps us to understand why behaviors that we witness are being manifest in the world.

We talked about how the brain becomes imbalanced toward one brain hemisphere or another leading to certain states of consciousness, and I'm going to really get into that a lot tonight when we start to talk about worldview, which is the topic for this evening. What we basically discussed on previous shows, and I'll continue to emphasize this, is that the ability to tell truth from falsehood is the underlying causal factor to everything we see play out around us.



"THERE ARE TWO WAYS TO BE FOOLED. ONE IS TO BELIEVE WHAT ISN'T TRUE; THE OTHER IS TO REFUSE TO ACCEPT WHAT IS TRUE."

- SOREN KIERKEGAARD

The philosopher Søren Kierkegaard said that humanity is only fooled in two ways. That's it. Only two ways. We believe that which is not true, and we refuse to accept that which is true. That's it. That's the only two ways people are fooled. I would extend this to say that the only two reasons that humanity experiences suffering are just that. We accept that which is not true, and we refuse to accept that which is.

So in keeping with that we started looking into an ideology that I referred to as the biggest lie, because when you start to discuss truth, inevitably the notion comes up, "can truth be known? Is it possible to know what the truth actually is?" And there's a philosophy out there - I refer to it as the biggest lie - and this is the underlying philosophy of every totalitarian regime and every tyrannical regime that has ever existed on this world, and this philosophy, this underlying ideology is known as solipsism.

Solipsism is the belief, that is the ideology that there is no such thing as truth. That only our perceptions exist. That there is no such thing as objective truth or objective reality. Only our perceptions exist, and that's what we base all of our experience upon because that's all that's real. Perception is reality. That's the simple sentence that the whole ideology of what we call solipsism can be boiled down to.

Perception is reality, and what this show is basically gearing to do, and what is the underlying focus of this show, is to just completely put as many bullet holes in that ideology as possible because it's utter nonsense. And there's not really anything that I can do except talk about the world the events that are playing out in the world and discuss the underlying causal factors for those events playing out, but I cannot get anybody to accept that.

It's impossible to make anyone accept the notion that there is such a thing as truth. That's the first and only belief required. You need to believe that there is such a thing as truth to aspire to. To move your spirit towards. That's what the spiritual journey is, folks. That's what it's about. It's about the belief that there is such a thing as truth, it can be discovered and you can discover it. Solipsism tells people that there is no truth, so don't bother trying to find it. Don't become a seeker. Stay complacent. Accept. Just trust whatever perceptions you happen to have at the moment. Don't try to go any further than that. Just accept.

That's what solipsism is. And every dictator, every tyrant, every king, every bully, every totalitarian regime that has ever existed, that has been the underlying philosophy that they have tried to get their subjects, their slaves, to accept. If you don't believe me just look throughout history. Study history, and you will see this underlying ideological thread throughout everywhere where misery has developed and followed it. So that’s all I’ll say on solipsism but we'll get into it as we discuss worldview.

Now last show we talked about the emotional polarities, and they were love and fear. These are the two essential emotional qualities that we can ever really experience. Everything else that we experience within us is an outgrowth of one of these two seemingly polar dynamics. Love and fear.

Love is the basis for everything that we refer to as good, everything we refer to as uplifting, everything that we say moves us forward in our journey of evolution, everything that creates order in our lives, is based in the underlying emotional polarity that we call love. The good feeling. And what this really is when you get down deep into it and examine it further, you understand that what love really is, is the force that expands consciousness. The force that helps consciousness to move to ever greater vistas. To make it flower, to make it take in a wider view.

The opposite polarity which we identified as fear, is the force which tries to shut down human consciousness. It is the force which is the compression force. It isn't the expansionary force. It's the force which basically contracts consciousness inward and tries to stifle it, and strangle it, and keep people's eyes, and minds, and hearts closed to opening up and looking at what really is. What is really there. Discovering the truth. That's what fear is. Fear can only ever lead to chaos. It can only ever lead to everything we experience as bad, as stifling our evolutionary growth, as evil. What we call evil is rooted in this basic emotional dynamic.

When we come into harmony with the emotional polarity called love within ourselves, an internal state develops and we call that sovereignty or dominion. This is when a person becomes unified with themselves. The three aspects of their consciousness become one. They become as one, so as they think, so they feel and so they act, and they cannot be pulled apart from that. Their actions are in keeping with how they feel and how they think about anything.

This is a person in internal harmony, and self-love, in balance with themselves. And this is a balanced brain as well. A person with a balanced neocortex, the higher thought center of the human brain. The left hemisphere and the right hemisphere operate in cohesiveness. In coherence. That is what we referred to as sovereignty, or dominion within. The rulership of the kingdom of self.

When fear strikes the heart of mankind, the exact opposite happens. There is no internal sovereignty. There is no internal dominion. The person experiences states of internal confusion, disruption, and disharmony. Disunity. They don't understand what's taking place within them, and therefore they really can't understand what's taking place around them, because one is a reflection of the other. So we called this state confusion. It could also be referred to as imbalance. Some would refer to it as self-loathing. You're not in self-harmony or self-love. You're in a state of internal confusion and internal chaos, because what's really taking place inside of you is fear.

Once you're in fear you're in confusion, and you could easily be led and controlled. When the dynamic energy of love is expressed outwardly into the world, a state results in the external world. The screen so to speak, on which the movie of our lives plays out. The external world, and this state, when the internal dynamic energy of love is expressed outwardly, and it flowers in the world, this state is called freedom. Freedom. That's what freedom is. And that's why we're so far away from that state in the modern world. That's why it seems to be slipping away from us. Because most of us are making the freewill decision to choose fear over that vibrant dynamic energy called love which is the expansion of consciousness.

More people than not are choosing to look the other way, ignore what's going on, or even partake in it for their own comfort. They're choosing fear, they're choosing confusion, they're choosing the dynamic of chaos. Essentially what the explanation of these forces is, is the understanding of natural law principles. This is how the external reality that we experience is created, through choosing one of these forces or the other. In every decision that we make, when we act our behaviors are governed by the choice that we make regarding one of these two dynamics. Love or fear. The end. That's it.

If you want to say that's preachy, or you're trying to tell me how it really works, then say whatever you like, because that's all that's really happening here. That's what we're doing. That's how we create our reality, by choosing one of these two forces. And it's critical to understand this. This is why the events that are playing out in the world seem so chaotic, because we don't understand this as a people. We've been led astray. We've never been taught the dynamics of natural law principles. We don't know how they work, and so people make decisions based in confusion internally, and when that happens they're governed by the force of fear.

And what that leads to in its external expression is a state known as control. Because a confused person is making their decisions based in fear, and they're choosing control. They're actually leading themselves into control, and they're leading other people into control. And they actually believe in their misguided notions, in their confused state of consciousness that they can ever, ever, ever create order by choosing the polarity of fear. This is like saying I'm taking a load of laundry out of out of my washer, and the clothes are completely wet and I want them dried. That's my intention. That's my wish. I want these clothes dry because I want to wear them and I don't want to wear sopping wet clothes. It's a very simple analogy to comprehend.

What do you need to do to dry the clothes? Well there's two dynamics, wetness and dryness, and the only thing that really separates them is the amount of moisture. See it's a seeming polarity. It isn't really a polarity, because there's only moisture, or its lack which is called dryness. Now either you remove the moisture through some method and you allow the clothes to dry, or you keep adding moisture to the clothes. That's it. That there are the only two ways it can go. It can't go any other way. You're either going to add moisture, or are you going to add the polarity of dryness which is the absence of moisture. Very simple.

Now saying that I'm going to create order by wanting more control in the world, which many people think is the way to create more order - cops think this, police think this, military people think this, politicians think this, judges think this, even people who write tickets and put them on people's cars and cities throughout the country think this. They think if there's no externally imposed control, chaos will emerge. Well newsflash folks, you don't understand natural law principles. You just don't, because that's like saying “I'm going to take those clothes that I want dry, I'm put them on the ground, I'm gonna go get my garden hose and I'm gonna keep spraying them with the garden hose and I'll dry them. You just wait and see. I’ll dry those clothes by continuing to hit them with the water from this hose. Guaranteed I'm going to do it. Don't you know? You just watch.”

Well anybody it has two brain cells to rub together will understand very quickly, that you can stay there till the death of the universe, and you will never dry those close that way. It ain't gonna happen. The end. Good luck. You're beating your head against the wall to try to prove something to your own ego that is against natural law principles. It doesn't work that way, and there's not really any other easier, more gentle way to say it. You're wrong. People need to admit that think this way that they're wrong. They need to make an apology to themselves. They bought a lie because they don't understand how natural law works.

And I'm not claiming that this is how natural law works. I'm not saying that I believe this is how natural law works. Again some people will see this as arrogance and some people will say that I am egotistical for saying that I understand this. I'm not claiming this is how natural law works, I'm not telling you this is my belief. I'm telling people out there that I, do, understand, that this is how natural law works. I'm okay with stating that I know that because if you know that two plus two equals four, you should not be uncomfortable in saying and stating that you do know that that is how those numbers add together. If you do know that gravity is an effect on a planet, and it operates with a certain amount of force, and if you drop a ball from a specific height, it will act upon that that piece of mass. That's called the law of gravity. It exists. It operates.

It doesn't require your belief. It doesn't care whether you believe in it or not. Your belief is irrelevant. Your willingness to accept what the truth is in that instance is irrelevant. If you step off a cliff you are bound by that law. That's natural law principles, and to understand what we're going to talk about tonight, which is worldview, you need to have a firm grasp in those polarities, love and fear, how they work, and what they create. That's the basis, the fundamentals of natural law principles. We're going to talk about how these are related to worldview, and we're going to talk about how they're related to the human brain. So let's get into tonight's topic which we'll unpack over the next almost hour and a half.

Another thing I would mention before I even start to get into the topic tonight which is worldview and the worldview schism. The schism of worldview. That's the topic for this evening. Now, there are basically two extremely imbalanced competing worldviews in the world. It's like love and fear, except both of these are based in fear. Both of these are worldviews that lead to disorder, disharmony, control, chaos and everything we view and think of as evil. Everything that brings anything bad to our lives, that makes us uncomfortable, that makes us suffer.

These are the two fundamental underlying worldviews. Neither one of them are based in reality. They're both based in the illusion of the emotional polarity that we call fear. This is an illusionary state. It really doesn't exist. It's the absence of that which is real. It's the absence of that which is true, which is the love dynamic. That's what the universe is. That's all there really is. This fear dynamic exists only because we choose illusion and we choose to ignore that which is. That's it. It's the only reason fear has come to the expression that it has come to on our world.

Now these worldviews, one of them is based in an extreme left-brained schism. A person who holds an extremity of left brain attitudes, beliefs, and lives their life in this left brain prison modality, they have hardly any connection to the right side of the brain - so we talked about the physiology of the brain. The left side is the so-called male side of the brain. Its functions govern logic, scientific thought, mathematical thought, language, analytical thought, the ability to break down concepts. That's what the left brain is.

The right brain hemisphere, its functions govern intuition, holistic thought, seeing things in states of unity consciousness, a feminine nurturing instinct, connection with higher levels of spiritual awareness and the love principle. These are right brain modalities. It also governs creativity, creative expression, music, art, dance etc. These are right brain modalities.

A person in left brain consciousness only can become very brilliant. Many scientists are extreme left brain thinkers, and many of them – doctors, lawyers, mathematicians, etc - they're very left brain. And many of them, not all, but in general, do not have a very developed right brain modality. Some do but the majority by far are very developed in the left brain and the right brain suffers as a result of not really having a lot of usage. And these functions become dampened in the right brain when somebody lives in this five sensory world view.

Now I'm going to discuss this worldview, and there's a name for it. The name for this extremely left brain imbalanced worldview is known as the worldview of randomness. Randomness. Like the state of being random. These are the characteristics of this imbalanced, left brained worldview. Now when you hear these, you're going to think “well these are really seemingly right brained concepts or notions,” but they're not. They’re a result of holding a very left brain worldview for most of one's life.

See what the brain is doing is it's reaching out and trying to bring balance to an extreme state of imbalance, and by holding and living in a left brain modality of consciousness through most of one's life, what somebody internally, spiritually, subconsciously is seeking and is desiring, is the absence of control. The absence of trying desperately to order something and make sense of something, because that's all they do with the left brain over, and over, and over, and over repetitively throughout the tests of their daily life and existence.

So this schism of the worldviews that we're talking about, there's a left brain one and there's a right brain one. The left brained imbalance worldview is called the theory or the worldview of randomness, and here are the characteristics of this worldview. Somebody who accepts the worldview of total randomness thinks in general that the universe is a cosmic accident. There is no underlying purpose for the existence of anything. There is no underlying intelligence that governs the workings of nature. It's all accidental random principles. That's it.

A person who subscribes to the worldview of randomness believes that there is no such thing as natural law principles. Everything that I talked about in previous weeks leading up to the discussion of worldview, about how the polarities of love and fear work to create what we experience, they believe that does not exist, to them. Everything is purely random chance happenings. We're not really directing what we create through what we choose. Because there is no such thing as natural law to a person subscribing to the underlying philosophy of randomness, essentially existence is purposeless. There is no purpose for existence, at all. There's no reason for you to be here. You came from nothing and you returned to nothing. It is an existentialist worldview and it is also a solipsistic worldview.

This worldview is based in solipsism, and it is also based in atheism. And every one of these dynamics that I explained that this world worldview is about, are the hallmarks of atheism, solipsism and scientism. Those who worship at the altar of science and think science is the be-all and end-all of the explanation of all things that are manifest essentially hold this worldview, as do most left brain scientists. Think about it. They believe in the notion of a totally random worldview, that the universe is a cosmic accident, it sprang forth from an infinitesimally small singularity, for no reason, in a single moment, and has no purpose.

Now if you believe that, I have some land out in the swamps of West Virginia and in New Orleans, and I have a bridge over Brooklyn that I'd like to sell you for a really great price, because you would believe anything if you believed that notion. If somebody can say “just give me this one, and then I'll explain everything after that,” what wouldn't you believe? And this is the underlying ideology in cosmology. The so-called Big Bang Theory. The universe springs from an infinitesimal singularity for no reason, and just accept that and then I'll explain everything that happened after that. That's what the dominant form of modern cosmology would sell us.

Well this is an extremely left brained imbalanced worldview, and again it's based in, and its hallmarks are the idea that there is no underlying intelligence in nature. Nature has no plan, it is not governed by any natural law, there is no intelligence that orders it, and this leads to and is an outgrowth of the ideology of atheism. They feed back on themselves. This worldview and atheism are intricately interwoven.

99.9% of the time they lead to one form of this dual left brain imbalance called solipsism. Nothing can be known. The other form of this left-brain imbalance is scientism. We can explain it all. There is nothing outside of five sensory reality that we cannot explain, because that's all that exists. We'll study what we can perceive with the five senses and what that which we can extend with our instruments that we call technology, that are extensions of those five senses and we could explain it all. And it's all random, it's all accidental, the universe is a huge dead machine. A huge dead machine. That's what the ideology of randomness would have people believe.

And I'll tell you something. There are many people in the freedom movement that ascribe to this worldview. I've been at meetings, and this is what people even in the freedom movement - they say “yeah I understand encroachments on my freedom, I understand that we're under attack with our personal and civil liberties, I get all of that. And I still think there's no such thing as any underlying intelligence in nature, the universe is a dead machine and we are nothing but dead biological computers essentially at an atomic molecular level, and that's it.

Now again this is extreme left brain imbalance, and people buy this notion because of the bold form of science, this Newtonian science - and it's a twisted form of Newtonian science because not even Isaac Newton thought like that - but it's a twisted form of this Newtonian scientific worldview that is so out of date, that it is not even really at the cutting edge of modern science anymore. But this is what people have bought because that's what's been in their textbooks, in the Soviet educational system that we're all indoctrinated into, essentially. That's where they bought this left-brain notion.

It's reinforced through the media. It's reinforced in what I call old science. It isn't cutting-edge science. This is an old and henceforth in the modern age a disproven form of science. Scientists at the cutting edge of scientific thought today have actually disproven this notion with repeated scientific observation and testing under controlled conditions. You don't even need to believe that it isn't that way. It can be proven scientifically in today's age that it isn't that way, and scientists at the cutting edge of cosmology, who are worth their salt I should say, they have a new way of looking at the workings of natural law and the workings of cosmology that incorporates consciousness, and incorporates underlying intelligent ordering principles.

Not many people hear about these because they're very suppressed by the mainstream media and they're very suppressed even by the scientific community that wants to hold on to the old paradigm. The old way of looking at nature. What has been called old science, and it's a good name for it because it's an aging dinosaur, and it needs to be done away with because it doesn't really serve who we are.

Now let's look at what this left-brain worldview really leads to. So it's rooted in atheism, solipsism and scientism is what grows out of it. Either the notion that perception is reality, or the notion that everything can be explained through the five senses or the extensions of them. So those are the outgrowths of it. What you get from either one of those ideologies since there is essentially no truth, where man gets to determine that what is true based on what he can perceive, you get an ideology that inevitably grows out of this way of seeing the world. This poisonous left-brain imbalance worldview called randomness, and this underlying ideology that grows out of this state of mind, this left brain way of thinking is called moral relativism.

Now you'll notice all of these things are essentially based in randomness, or that there is no such thing as this, there is no such thing as that, there is no objective or concrete this or that. So moral relativism is there's no concrete morals. There is no such thing as right or wrong. This is this extreme left-brain notion right, wanting justification for this extremely controlled way of thinking and an outlet for it, and it wants to say “I want to be able to have total freedom to do what I want, based on my perceptions, my comfort levels, my way of seeing the world,” and that's called moral relativism. That there is no such thing - essentially in people's mind who think like this - as right or wrong.

Those who are really imbalanced toward this worldview believe there's no such thing as morals, objectively. There's no such thing as objective moral principles to someone that holds this worldview. What does that mean? Well since there's no such thing as God, there's no such thing as truth and it's only my perceptions that govern what's really taking place around me, and there's really no such thing as right or wrong, I can basically do whatever I want at the expense of anybody else. And that ideology is called Social Darwinism.

Social Darwinism. Look it up and read about it if you don't already understand it. And that's the ideology that's basically running this world. The ideology of who people refer to as the so-called elites on this world, those who are really running the show in the hidden corridors of power, this is their ideology. Social Darwinism. The survival of the socially fittest, and they believe that the socially fittest is governed by genetics. When you talk it with them and read their papers, or perhaps belong to some of the organizations that they control, or deal with, or work through. Social Darwinism. It's one of their underlying ideologies, and from there since you know your genes basically government your status in society - that's what a Social Darwinist believe - then you can start playing the game of playing God, and that's called Eugenics.

And if you don't understand what eugenics, is you should really look it up, and study it, and understand it. Because this is also the ideology of the so-called elite that they have the right to decide who will live, and who will die. Eugenics is many things. It's tampering, its genetic manipulation, it’s selective breeding, it's controlling who is allowed to breed, but at its core all you really need to understand about it is it's one thing. It's playing God. It's deciding who is allowed to live and who will die. That's it. That's what eugenics is, and this is the outgrowth of this extremely poisonous left-brained worldview that is based in identification with matter, identification with the five senses, and basically taking the ideology that there is no purpose for existence, and natural law does not exist. This is the overarching worldview is known as the randomness worldview.

The right brained partner of the extreme left brain imbalance worldview known as randomness, the name for this right-brain worldview schism is called determinism. Determinism. Now think about it. Just from the words alone you would think that total determinism would be considered left brained, but it is not. This is the right brain version. You would think that randomness is looseness and no cohesiveness, so that's a right brain modality, right? Not structuring something. But it is not. That is the left brained worldview.

This is because these worldviews are derived and held because the person is in such a state of imbalance toward one brain hemisphere or another, that this is what their underlying ideologies, their underlying philosophical makeup, they want to make up for this deep imbalance in the brain by holding the exact other principles. So the left brain imbalance worldviews seemingly all ascribe to ideologies that are right brain, like existence is purposeless, or there's no such thing as underlying natural law that governs the workings of our reality. You would think that those are right brain. Essentially they are, but they are resultant of the left brain being dominant most of one's life.

What I think I'm going to do over the next week is post some slides from lectures that I have given in the past with some layouts of these worldviews, and of the concepts that I've been discussing on the show. Maybe I'll even go back to former podcasts and just post some individual slides that you can refer to that deal with the topics that I talked about on that podcast. I think a visual aid and showing you kind of what I'm going by as a general outline of what I talk about on this program, will help you to really grasp more deeply some of these concepts. I know just hearing it in words sometimes can be difficult. You really have to sit down, pay attention and visualize what I’m really talking about, but if you have a visual image it can help a lot to really solidify in somebody's mind how this really works out and what it really is all about. So I think I'll start doing that this week.

But this right brained imbalanced worldview principle, this schism of worldview is known as determinism, and here are the underlying core philosophical beliefs that go along with determinism. A determinist thinks that God - whatever they may view that as - controls every event in creation. There is nothing that happens that is not preordained. All occurrences are preordained by the Creator. The creation is essentially a clockwork machine that does the bidding of this all-powerful creator. As such, there is no such thing as free will to a determinist, imbalanced worldview believer. There is no such thing as free will. Free will does not essentially exist. People are making all the decisions that they're making because God has ordained it. God controls every event in creation.

See this is the exact opposite of the randomness theory. People who ascribe to randomness think natural law doesn't exist. There's nothing that governs the workings of the principles of creation, the principles of the universe. There’s no such thing as natural law to a person who believes in randomness. To a person who is a determinist it's the exact opposite. There's no such thing as freewill. Natural law governs everything in creation. God's law governs it all. There is no choice. There is no free will. Humans don't have a will of their own. God's making it all happen, like a big huge clock that he controls. Total control.

A modicum of control is what somebody in the right brain worldview doesn't have. They're governed by their emotions. They're ruled by their emotions. this is a total emotional brain thinker. All right brain. No left brain. It's all about supplication. It's all about bowing down to higher authority. See the randomness worldview creates people who think they’re God. They're masters. They subscribe to Social Darwinism, moral relativism, eugenics, totalitarianism when this worldview reaches its apex of imbalance. A determinist doesn't believe free will exists, so there is no such thing as changing anything. You can never take the reins of reality and change them in any direction.

God's doing it all. Don't bother trying to change a damn thing because change is impossible. All of your actions are essentially meaningless because you can't change a thing. Why do anything? Why wake up and eat in the morning? Why speak a word to any other living being? A deterministic mindset that says all events are preordained, things are coming whether we want them to or not, don't bother trying to change a thing because nobody really has free will. God's making it all happen and you're just a puppet going along with his will. Change is impossible. Action is meaningless. That's what a determinist thinks and I'll tell you there's a lot of people to think like that.

You go down to your local church, or you go down to whatever religious organization it may be and you'll find a lot of deterministic worldview people. Guaranteed. This is the hallmarks that this ideology, this worldview - a schism toward the right brain - the hallmark of this is religious fundamentalism and religious extremism. So you'll notice I'm talking about one worldview that's totally left brain and totally atheistic. No such thing as morals, no such thing as natural law, and the other worldview that is totally deterministic is all about religious extremism. And you know what I'll say about both of these worldviews?

Both of them are complete bunk. Total bunk. Not one of them holds one shred of information that is worthwhile, that leads to our personal evolution, that leads to a higher level in the journey toward higher consciousness. Not none of it is based in unity consciousness. None of it is based in the dynamic of love, of expansion of consciousness. Every one of these ideologies, and every one of the core beliefs that go along with them, are all based in fear. And as such they can never lead to anything good. They can never lead to anything uplifting, they can never lead to anything unifying, they can never lead to order, they can never lead to harmony, they can never lead to peace, and most of all they can never lead to freedom. Ever.

It can't happen. You're trying to build something that you say you want. Somebody who believes both of these principles will say they want peace; they'll pay lip service to “I want freedom in the real world.” They’ll tell you that, but then, they'll tell you “this is my underlying ideology.” And I'll try to say to them “you can never create that or have that condition that you say you want. You say that's your desire to have this or that, and when you say this is the mindset that I'm going to use to try to build that state of experience, it can't happen, ever. Ever.” It never will happen as long as you're thinking like that in one of those belief systems.

These are belief systems. None of them are based in the fundamental principles of truth, and natural law. Did you ever hear the adage “there's my side of the story, there's your side of the story, and then there's the truth?” Well the truth is never in one of these two extreme ideologies that are based in fear. Randomness or Determinism. The truth never lies in a left-wing schism or a right brain schism. The truth isn't schism. It's unity. It's in the middle. The truth is the middle pillar. It doesn't lean all the way to the left or all the way to the right. It's balanced, it's harmony, it is peace, it is that which is. And that which is, is actually a combination of two of the underlying principles within these worldviews schisms that each one rejects wholeheartedly.

The people who subscribe to the notion of randomness think that natural law does not exist. There is actually no underlying intelligence that governs the way what the emotional polarities that we choose and how we base our behaviors creates reality. They don't believe those principles exist. There is no such thing as natural law. They don't believe in the law of karma, the law of attraction, the law of cause and effect, the golden rule. They don't believe in that. The golden rule, that the universe behaves like a mirror and reflects back to you that which you bring to the table, through your consciousness, through your thoughts, through your emotions, through your actions.

That doesn't exist to a person that subscribes to randomness. But a person who subscribes to determinism doesn't think the opposite dynamic exists. Freewill doesn't exist. Everything is controlled. You're to lay down. Almost every religion teaches this. It's the ideology of unworthiness, of self-loathing, of an order follower. You have to supplant yourself, make yourself supplicant to a higher authority. Well I would suggest in human form, there is no such thing. But a deterministic believer thinks God controls every single event of our lives and we don't have free will to change anything and make a decision, that then creates what we will experience.

And I'm here to tell you that the truth is, that what really is occurring in the world is a combination of these two rejected principles, of both of these totally imbalanced ideologies, and what the universe essentially is, is a mirror, that works on two basic principles, coming together to form a synthesis. They're seeming opposites, and when they come together they form a synthesis in which we, operating within natural law boundaries, get to determine what our experience will be, based on our choice between the dynamics of love and fear. That's it.

So there is a natural law principle, which is the deterministic component of our reality, and then, there is a free will principle, which is the random component of our reality. Think about it. Digest it. Take it in. Spin it around in there a few times, and really, really go deeply into what I just said. There is a natural law or a deterministic component to the principles that underlie creation. This means, there are laws in operation that are put there by an underlying intelligence. There is all so a free will principle, and this principle is random, because no one can actually at the deepest level coerce anybody into doing anything that they don't really want to do.

To believe in anything, to know anything, to do anything, you have free will. You're using it, or you're letting someone else use it, but it's there. It's either under your control or it's usurped by someone else, in which case you've given up your power, but in all those cases, this place is still governed by natural law principles. If we use our freewill to come into harmony with those principles, we will have peace and order, and freedom. If we choose the fear dynamic, and we choose not to align ourselves with the natural law principles that are actually put there for our edification and our betterment, if we do not use our freewill toward those aims, then we will experience this order disorder, chaos suffering, and slavery. The end. That is how it actually works.

Again I’m not claiming that this is how it works. I'm claiming to understand through my own process of discovery, to have discovered that this is how this law works. It's no different than Newton claiming to have discovered how gravity functions, and be able to write down the equations, except there's there aren't equations that govern this. This is discovered through an elevation in consciousness. That's it. That's how it works. So I'm not claiming that I believe this. That's not why I'm saying. I'm not telling you that you have to believe it either. You don't have to believe anything. You're not required to believe a thing.

Natural law exists and is in operation, and you are bound by it. Free will exists and is in operation, and you are bound by the freewill decisions of others. The point is to bring our freewill, which is a gift, into harmony with natural law, which is put there for our betterment, in this construct that we call the universe. When we do that, there will be order, peace, harmony, enlightenment and human freedom. When we refuse to do that, you're going around on the wheel of suffering for all eternity until you decide to do it. That's all I'm going to say about that for tonight.

Caller #1: When 9/11 happened I immediately had a feeling that I was being lied to. I didn't what, but something just smelled false about the whole thing and I knew I wasn't getting the whole story, the whole picture. So I started digging. I started doing research on the internet, and I stopped merely absorbing what was being reported on the news and I started analyzing, and I found that even the so-called left websites weren't being completely honest. I knew there was no political answer to any of this with the crooks controlling both major parties and I found that the left-right paradigm was completely false through and through. I began to understand that there's no left, no right, no such thing is liberal or conservative and no difference between Democrats and Republicans. It's was all being run by the same money powers is what I began to realize.

This is something that you still see a lot of in a lot of the political quarters. Even people who come out to certain events and are concerned with the erosion of different civil liberties, however they're still of the opinion that voting is the answer, that petitioning is the answer or that getting involved with a big political party is going to change things. And again this is that left versus right paradigm. The conservative versus liberal, and a lot of people in these movements don't really grasp that this is just a version of what is called the Hegelian Dialectic. This is dialectical mechanics.

It's been described in different ways by many people. Some people have described it as chaos magic. Chaos magic is giving somebody an illusory choice. It is no choice; they just think it's a real choice. I kind of described this a couple of weeks ago. Your child doesn't want to eat his vegetables, so you make him think he has a choice. You say “hey John, you want peas or corn tonight? You want carrots or mashed potatoes?” and the kid thinks “wow, I get to decide what I'm going to eat huh?” when in fact you have these things already prepared and laid out, and you just want him to pick one so you could throw one in you know in the oven and make it, and that's it. And he eats it because he thinks he picked it himself, when in fact he didn't really have a choice. He was going to pick one or the other, he was going to eat his vegetables. The outcome was already predetermined.

The outcome was predetermined because there was an event already planned beforehand. There was a goal planned beforehand. John eating his vegetables. A certain politician from one party or the other getting into office, an invasion of a sovereign country, then an event takes place that brings up confusion within, and somebody is basically pressured into making a false choice that can't really be what they had in mind originally, but it's what you had in mind originally.

This is called dialectical mechanics. The presentation of a false choice. You extend both hands to somebody that you want to hit and you say “pick a hand.” If they pick the left one, they get slapped. If they pick the right one, they were going to get slapped just the same. So 9/11 was actually example of a dialectical mechanics event.

Caller #1: Absolutely. You have a problem, terrorism, so that people cry out for help and react to it, and so then the new world order proposes a solution which was pre-planned all along, and so now we've lost our liberties. I began to find that some of the more interesting stories that had damning information contradicting the government's official story of 9/11 was disappearing off the net, so I began to print everything that looked interesting on a daily basis. You should see the stacks of paper at my house I've been collecting since 2002 on 9/11 and other false flags like Oklahoma, City and 77 even the recent underwear bomber. I mean how in the world are you going to go along with body scanners because a guy a firecracker, a dud in his pants? This is the this is the sort of impetus for this sort of control. And meanwhile we find that we got big corporations behind the big push for body scanning. They want to take you, and strip you down, and treat you like a slave.

Let's look at how to treat this as an example. You want to get to a point where you have total compliance with people, based on their fear. If they're not in fear and they don't view it as something that they need to be afraid of, as something that's capable of harming them, then they're not going to give you more control over their daily lives and daily existence. They would say “hey, what do you need to do this for? What do you need to scan me for? What do you need to print me for? What do you need to search me for?” They're not going to go along with that, unless you can make them think that they need to go along with it for their own safety. So that's how dialectical mechanics works. And you're a big fan of print information. I'd like to say I think that that's a good thing to do because if anything should happen to, for example the internet, it's a good idea to have hard backups of information and not trust that they will just always be out there on “the cloud.” I tell people that all the time. Back up your data, back up your information, have good backups, even print backups for text articles is a great idea.

Caller #1: Remember folks, a sheet of 8 x11 paper is not going to suddenly change to "404 not found." It's going to preserve whatever you printed there. So how I started waking up was I started collecting information. I started sorting all these papers into categories like police state, more knowledge of 9/11, Israeli spies, Pentagon anomalies, World Trade Center implosion evidence, big brother control grid, Zionism, Oklahoma City to compare it to, CIA drug-running, Illuminati bloodlines. You know you find out really that these people are in charge of all the mainstream media you watch. The heads of all these companies are all working together.

You just brought up a plethora of topics there and eventually we'll be going into just about every one of those. Again folks, what we're doing here on the earlier podcast is, we're building a tapestry. We are laying foundational groundwork, for topics that we're going to build upon later that require this prerequisite knowledge. Because if we don't have prerequisite knowledge about how the human mind works, how the human psyche works, how our physiology works, then were not going to be in a place of intellectual and emotional maturity to understand the events that are actually playing out in the world.

It's critical to understand who we are and how we work because, I'll tell you something; the people who are really controlling the dynamics of the world right now, they know how these things work. They know how the human mind works. They know how the human psyche works. They know how our behaviors are motivated.

Caller #1: But the difference between them and us is that, they think that people that haven't used their minds to think independently are just willing slaves and they feel that they should take advantage of us, if we do not think for ourselves. Instead of helping us to achieve consciousness, they want to further drive us away and use as a slave.

Right. And this goes down to the dynamic of, when you learn or acquire something that you recognize is somewhat unique and that not a lot of other people have access to, when that happens in your life, most people will make one of two decisions. They will they will realize that they have an incredible find on their hands, they will realize they have something unique, they will realize they have something that is capable of being turned into something of great value or power, and they'll do one of two things.

The first one is, they will say "wow, look at what I know. Look at what I've discovered. Look at what I have. I can hold this over other people's heads as a great advantage over them, and I can use this to control them, I can use this to manipulate them - just Google Albert Pike. He did all this - I can use this to build myself up and to tear them down simultaneously so that they'll always want what I can bring to the table, and they always put me in a position of power over them, and as such I can make them do whatever I want for me, so that my life is easier at their expense.

And this is the underlying ideology of what in later weeks I will be getting into and talking about as, a sorcerer. What that basic worldview is, is what I term and many other researchers term sorcery. Sorcery, yes, like a sorcerer in a movie in a Hollywood movie but it's not quite the same thing as that. So that is one choice that a person who comes into higher level knowledge chooses. The other that somebody who comes into this same higher level knowledge says, “wow look at what I know. Look at what I understand. Look at what I can do.”

And they say to themselves, “not everybody understands this. There's so few people that have access to this, and benefit from what I've learned and what I'm benefiting from.” And this this other different choice is a, person with that kind of knowledge will say to themselves, “look at what I have that can help others. I can show this information and this knowledge to other people, and I can help bring them up in consciousness so that they're at my level, or even beyond.”

See it's about a unified way of seeing someone in relation to other people in the world. That you're seeing yourself in a unified way with others. It isn't that you want to have an advantage over other people and use information to manipulate and control others. Your desire upon realizing that there's an imbalance between your level of awareness and others level of awareness, is to bring balance to that dynamic, and say “I want to get other people up to the level where I'm at. I want to give them the same knowledge so we're on equal footing, so that there isn't an imbalance in the game board, so that there's a leveling of the game board.”

And that's the difference between a sorcerer who does the former, of manipulating people with that information that they understand, and a true alchemist, or a true wizard, that really understands this information and wants to bring it to the attention of others because they know that knowledge does not belong to them. Knowledge belongs to the of the world.

Caller #1: I wrote this article back in 2007 because I was expressing my frustration, because I'm out there trying to show people what I've learned and I ask people questions that would make them think. “Hey have you ever heard of Monsanto? Hey have you ever heard of diet soda? You know the containing aspartame and neurotoxin. You know vaccines have mercury and the rise in autism, there's a link there.” And I tell them about it and people would say “no, no, no, we really don't care. We don't want to know. How does it affect me?” And I would argue with these people because I was so frustrated that they didn't want to get it. And I've discerned the actual crux of their argument. This is their argument. You know talking about the schism of the worldview, this is their worldview.

Okay let me say something before you start getting into the article. The reason that they're stuck in this state of dissonance. The reason that they're stuck in this refusal - it's dissociation, that's exactly what it is.

Caller #1: The state of a huge mental decompensation in which certain thoughts, emotions, sensations and/or memories, are compartmentalized because they're too overwhelming for the conscious mind to integrate.

I totally agree with that. That is what mental dissociation is, and it's a serious psychological condition of imbalance. And I'd just like to say, to keep this in alignment with the topic tonight, worldview, is that this state of mental dissociation that you're about to read an article on, has to do with the attachment to a fundamentally imbalanced worldview. That's what we need to keep in mind about what states of mental dissociation, and states of cognitive dissonance - look up that term, cognitive dissonance - that's what we're talking about here.

These people who are in this psychological condition, are rooted in a worldview, in a way of seeing themselves in relationship to the wider world, the wider universe and other people, and it's not just that they see the world like that, it's that they are attached to seeing the world like that. They don't want anyone else coming in and breaking down that worldview because they associate that worldview with their own personal identity. That's the key to keep in mind. I just wanted to say that to help the listeners understand how this is going to relate to what I talked about in the last show about worldview. So go ahead. This is an article that you wrote on the state of mental dissociation.

Caller #1: Yeah I've experienced this phenomenon of dissociation happening right in front of my eyes. At the time three years ago I used to hang out with some people that would play some video games and play online LAN gaming and stuff, you know, and then all of a sudden there was this huge and heated argument with the six or seven people in the room. I'll skip the personal and go right to the crux of their argument. This is their actual argument, in their own words as they were spoken to me, whenever I would try to talk them.

They would say, number one this is the first thing, "the world has always been at war and that's the way it will always have to be" in their view. They always think that and they would never question any of that. Number two, they think humanity destroying itself is common knowledge. They think that shouldn't be a concern in your life. They think that there's far too many stupid people on this planet anyway and they think that you should just worry about bettering yourself and not others. They think that concern for world events and arrogance are one of the same, unless of course you hold public office or are employed in an occupation of political name.

Okay I want to stop you there. Say that one again slowly.

Caller #1: They actually think you're arrogant for having concern about world events that are beyond your daily routine. They actually think you're being arrogant by actually thinking about things beyond yourself.

Okay so that is an arrogant way of seeing yourself in relation to the world. That if you see a world problem that you want to take concern and issue with to try to bring balance to, you're telling me that the people you spoke to, they don't think you have the credentials to speak out against those things, and that only an expert on the matter can talk about that. You can't do it through your desire to seek knowledge and truth in the world, and then actually come to a higher level of consciousness on your own, and then get involved with your wider community, your wider social network of people, to be able to bring any kind of balance or right those wrongs or in justices. And they think that's an arrogant viewpoint to even take, that you could make a difference.

Caller #1: Then they will immediately challenge you to come up with a complete solution and they tell you that if you can't lay out exactly what we should all do about it then you should shut the hell up and don't bother talking anybody else about it. Keep that liberal bullshit to yourself" they'll tell me.

So they're saying if you can't lay out a total solution, you can't bring every single thing that we should do - so what does this imply? This implies that someone needs to tell them what to do. To be an expert in their life. It says a lot about their underlying worldview, and it seems like this is actually a deterministic principle as well, because they think that all the answers have to be laid out, that nothing can organically flow and take its own course, that you have to have everything laid out predetermined, and that they need to be led.

Someone actually brought this up in a meeting that Truth Freedom Prosperity held, and said "well what we need to do is become like the elites that are guiding the sheeple. We need to guide them in our ways, because all they are, are followers." And how I answered that, and I want the listening audience to really hear what I'm about to say.

I said in response to that comment, that we need to just lead other people, "I don't want to be a leader. I don't want, followers. I don't want, to be a puppet master and have other people on my strings. That's not how I want to live my life. I want, to live my life, in harmony with natural law principles, go higher up in consciousness and understanding, and essentially be left alone so long as I don't harm anybody else." That's what I want.

And I want other people to live in those basic ways, that they're not harming anybody else and that they're basically operating in ways that they are in the right to operate without stepping on other people's natural God-given freedoms, in boundaries with natural law principles and understanding. That's it. That has absolutely nothing to do with wanting to control anybody else, and it certainly has nothing to do with wanting to lead people.

I don't want to have to lead anybody. I'm not your leader. I'm not your guru. I don't want to be a guru and I'm not. Do not, look, outside, of, yourself, for the leader. You got to think for yourself, you have to take in information from as many sources as possible, make up your own mind about it, with an open mind, and lead yourself. Your life is your own. What you do with it is up to you.

Caller #1: But what really irked me about their worldview, is it's not just that they have a worldview that really is anti-thinking for yourself, but also there they're really aggressive against anyone who does and they want to put anybody who does down.

Well that's their conditioning, and their attachment to their current way of seeing the world, which if you follow this through to its conclusion, can't really benefit them or anyone else around them, because it's based in wanting to be led.

Caller #1: And they kept going. They kept saying to me the "oh you're analyzing specific news stories, that's a waste of time and that's needlessly complicating your life. If you analyze news and you're angry about what's happening to the country lately, then you're depressed and maybe you should seek medication." Something like that. They would actually think that.

Okay so you run into people that say if you're concerned about the happenings of the world around you, then you need to basically be put on medication. If you look at news and you look at what's taking place on earth, and you try to take an active role in it, that means by definition to these people, that you're a depressed person and you should be on something like psychotropic drugs.

Caller #1: Basically. Oh they think that those who discuss the current political situation are the ones to blame for the disunity in America. Not the actual people telling the lies, committing the torture and ushering in a police station. No. They think that actually people that talk about it are causing the disunity in America.

This is a powerful dynamic to really understand, and as we're going forward in what's taking place in the world, people really need to be on the watch for this. Because the media is going to get behind that dynamic that you just brought up there, and they're going to play up on that to try to take the focus away from the people who are really creating these negative crises in the world, such as the financial crisis, 9/11 and other acts that have been committed, and they're going to try to shift the blame off of the people who really carried out those acts of terrorism, the real terrorists that are behind false flag events such as that, and they're going to try to shift it on to the people that are actually talking about them being false flag acts of terrorism.

That's what they're going to try to do. They're going to try to demonize people who are trying to bring the truth to the light of day, so it's something that the alternative media community really needs to watch and get the truth out about once things like that start to happen through the mainstream media which, according to what I see happening invariably will start to occur.

Caller #1: And the one thing about 9/11 I just wanted to touch on is, I would ask these people "do you know it's physically impossible for a steel frame skyscraper to fall at freefall speed straight down, into the path of most resistance, without the use of high-powered explosives to destroy all the load-bearing both supports simultaneously. Do you know the government's official story of 9/11 violates Newton's conservation of momentum law?" Right? And these people would say "oh that's just too Pinky and the Brain for me." They don't think that anybody is organized enough to pull that off.

Well my major when I was in college was mechanical engineering. I studied mechanical engineering at the University of Pennsylvania, and I proved that basic physics principle to myself with an Engineering Physics 101 textbook, with three simple laws of Newtonian motion and one formula to solve a quadratic equation. That's all that's needed to solve for that, to show that the events that we saw play out and the explanations that were given are against the laws of physics.

Caller #1: I read about it early on in my research. When I first began my research, there was a website that did a freefall calculator for people who are jumping out of planes and they would calculate freefall speed, but you can actually use those calculations to time the World Trade Center collapses and actually see that it is in freefall. It's coming down straight down at the speed of gravity, as if you just dropped the ball from the top of the building to the ground.

Well the media and the cognitive dissonance that is brought about by connection with media, and attachment to mainstream media, is extremely strong, because people who will refuse to see basic fundamental laws in nature, seemingly violated, right? They won't understand that these laws can't be violated according to the laws of nature, but the official explanations that are given by the media, do seemingly violate the laws of nature. So they're holding two things in their minds that are in total contradiction simultaneously. Which is Orwell's definition of doublethink, and it's the psychological condition known as cognitive dissonance.

Cognitive dissonance. And we'll be talking a lot about that on upcoming shows and we'll be getting into the events about 9/11 on future shows as well. And you know my specialty in what I discuss regarding the events of 9/11 due to my background in the occult, is occult symbolism in relation to the 9/11 event, and that is really what we'll start to get into on future shows. That won't be for a while. I'll probably hopefully be having some people on who are members of different 9/11 truth organizations, like people from AE 9/11 truth and others, but I will be doing that in future weeks.

Caller #1: Yeah. They also believe that all human beings worldwide have lost all credibility and integrity, so it is therefore pointless to strive for either one. Sarcasm, cynicism and closed mindedness are perfectly acceptable substitutes in their opinion.

Okay so integrity is meaningless to someone in this state of dissociation, and why are you bothering to try to create wholeness or integrity, or any kind of proper moral behavior. So that they would say that sarcasm is far better, and a cynical worldview is far better, because this again goes toward a deterministic way of seeing the world. That “oh events already set in motion, we don't really have any impact, we can't really change anything freewill does not exist.

It is the mentality of a slave. This is an extreme right brained worldview that they're holding. And I'll tell you what really leads people into this worldview that puts them in a right brain state and keeps them there. It's that hypnotist in your living room called the television folks. That's what it is.

Caller #1: Okay and then the other thing they told me was, that people that go into the milling military do so willingly and so they shouldn't worry about being lied to. They think “it's not their job to know the truth” is what they told me. “Their job is to love their country and follow orders.”

I'll tell you what that reminds me of. We watched the documentary Why We Fight a couple months back at the ethical Society as part of Truth Freedom Prosperities free documentary screenings that they had there every third Monday of the month, and there was a soldier in there that basically said “why do my commanders order me to war? I don't worry about that. I follow orders. That's my job.” And I would say, that's what created Nazi Germany in the Third Reich with all the soldiers out there. If you think that that's a moral position to hold, you have a lot to learn.

Caller #1: Yeah I would close by saying that, these guys are people I knew for a lot of years but, it's getting harder and harder to maintain any sort of friendship with people like this because people that watch a lot of TV, and they're not reading the internet news, and they're not concerned about what's going on - to the level of apathy these people reach to justify their way of thinking is just surreal, and it's really frightening. The you know nine years of war propaganda really did a number on them, and its attitudes like there's that have been a major factor that made our country to where it is today.

What On Earth Is Happening Show #005

Topics: End The Fed Recap, Magic, Sorcery, Will, Natural Law

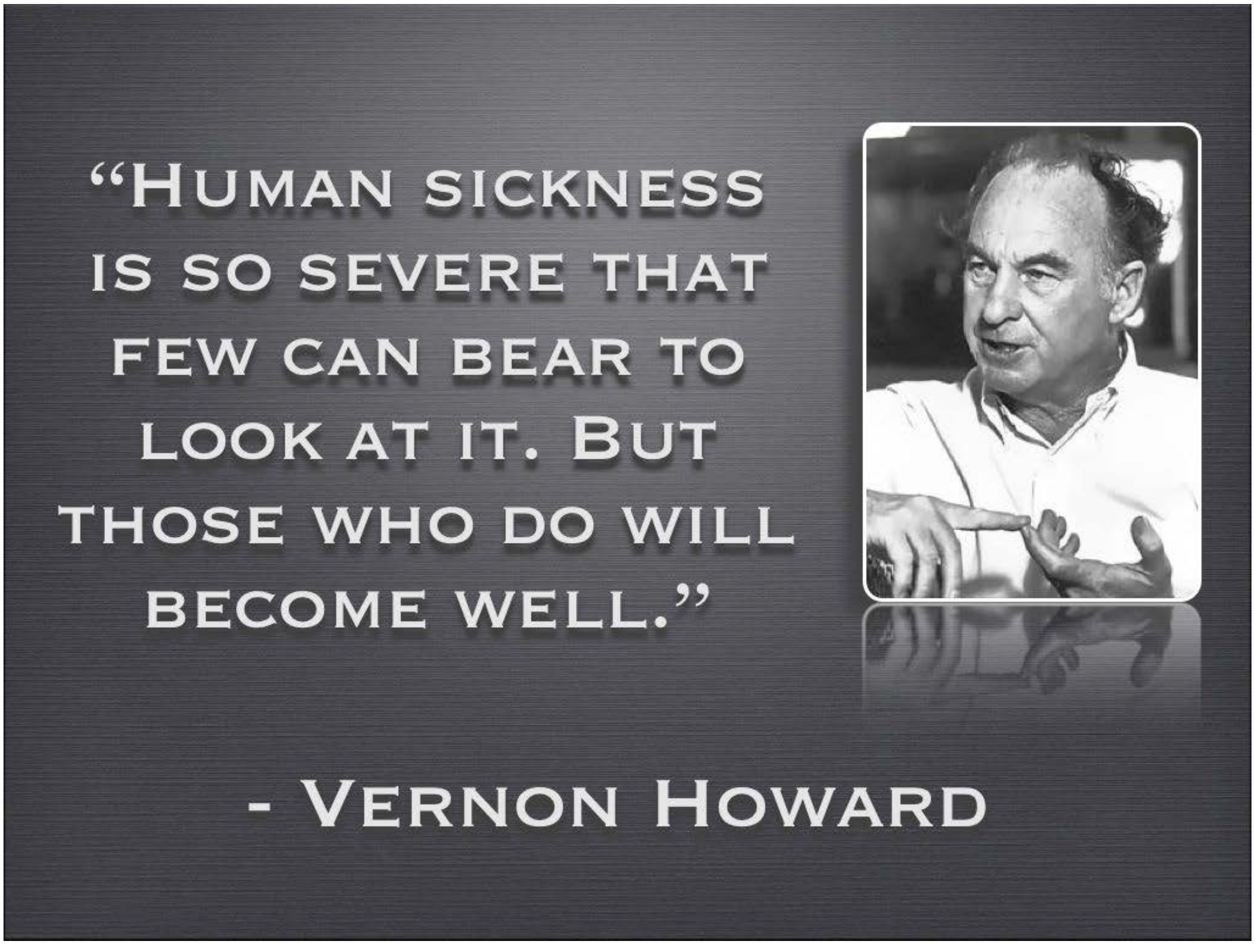
I want to do a recap of the end the Fed march and rally that took place this Saturday in Philadelphia. I was contacted and asked to speak at the event. I accepted and prepared a speech on Friday and read that outside of the Fed building on Saturday.

This was kind of my part in trying to alert people not only about what kind of consciousness really drives an institution like the Federal Reserve, but how people in general through their failings and through their weaknesses feed institutions like this, through giving it their support through not speaking up about why it's wrong, and for not learning enough about why an institution like that doesn't serve the betterment of humanity.



"HUMAN SICKNESS IS SO SEVERE THAT FEW CAN BEAR TO LOOK AT IT. BUT THOSE WHO DO WILL BECOME WELL."
- VERNON HOWARD

So here is the speech I read outside of the Federal Reserve Building:

I'd like to thank all of you for being here today, and I'd also like to thank each of you, for taking the time to stand together, united in the spirit of courage, to defend Liberty, by shining light upon the corrupt and immoral activities, of an institution that lies at the very core, of the destruction, of our natural rights and freedoms. I commend and respect each of you, for your courage and commitment to such a noble cause. The great teacher and philosopher, Vernon Howard, once said, "human sickness, is so severe, that few can bear to look at it, but those who do look at it, will become well." With this in mind, let us now bravely take a look at the sickness. They are aggressive, and callous, and show an abnormal lack of conscience and empathy. They are cunning, and extremely adept at manipulating others. They engage in strongly immoral, often criminal conduct. They take what they want, and do as they please. They possess a deceptive ability, to appear outwardly benevolent, and can behave in superficially charming ways, to hide their purely selfish motives. They use intimidation, and if necessary, violence, to control others, and to satisfy their own needs. They are willing to intentionally violate the basic inherent human rights of others. They do not experience or express, any sense of guilt or remorse, for the harm their actions have caused to others, but instead, they rationalize their behavior, blame someone else, or deny it outright. They view the feelings and desires, of their fellow beings, with utter contemptuousness. They lie pathologically, and are willing to say anything, without any concern for accuracy, or truth, in order to advance their own hidden agendas. They have a severely distorted sense of the consequences of their own actions. They display a total failure to accept any responsibility for their own parasitic, socially irresponsible ways. Because of their utter contempt for their fellow human beings, they believe that they will never be brought to justice, for their criminal behavior. They have been described by many, as predators, of their own species, for they lack the very qualities, that allow human beings, to live in social harmony. What I just read does indeed perfectly describe the characteristics, attitudes, and behaviors, of the owners, and directors, of this privately-owned central banking cartel, that we call, the Federal Reserve System. However, what I just read to you was not originally written to describe the Federal Reserve, specifically. It was a list comprised, by modern clinical psychologists, to describe the pathological mental condition, known, as psychopathy. In other words, it was a list, of the personality traits, of psychopaths. The condition of psychopathy, is at the very root, of the crisis, in which the human species finds itself, in our current times, and it is more prevalent, than most of us, would prefer to admit. The reason for this, is not, human nature, as some would mislead you to believe. The reason for this, is that psychopathy, is not, just, a psychological disorder. It is also, a learned behavior, and, a communicable disease. It is a virus, that has infected, the collective body of humanity. My own spiritual journey, and my personal quest, to understand, as much as possible about the workings of the human psyche, have led me to study this phenomenon in great detail, over the course of many years. And today, I would like to share with you a few basic insights I've discovered, with respect to how psychopaths, in general, and specifically, psychopathic institutions, such as the Fed, are able to hoodwink, the general public, and get away with their abusive, and immoral behavior, almost entirely unchecked. One of the greatest skills, of psychopaths, is their ability to feign, normal human emotions and empathy. This enables them, to remain well hidden, or occulted, in the communities in which they operate. We all know, that good works are done in the light of day, for all to see. In contrast, the work of psychopaths is always done, and indeed it must be done, under the cover of darkness. For once enough light is cast in their direction, enabling people to become wise to their ways, psychopaths, always, scatter. Psychopaths are extremely adept, at manipulating others, into thinking, that the communities in which they exist, could never survive without them. That they somehow perform a vital, and necessary service, and that if they were ever to exposed and routed out, that total chaos would result. To reinforce this untrue notion, that is based upon fear, and dependency, psychopaths will create crises, in their own communities. And once a chaotic reaction has been invoked, they then step in, to pose as the savior, by offering self-serving solutions, for the very problems, which they initiated. Psychopaths have one overall objective, and that is ultimately to make others feel as fearful, as miserable and as empty as they do. To that aim, their greatest weapon, is the propagation, of their own, twisted, worldview. One that is wholly based in fear, lack, greed, separation and control. In other words, they fool others into thinking, that the only way to get by in life, is to be like them. To become, like, the psychopath. They get us to buy into their mindset, and their way of seeing the world, and each other. And by any other name that you may wish to call that, I call it what it really is. Mind control. And most of us fall for it. We become like them, when we try to control the actions of others, for our own gain. When we worship money, greed, and selfishness. When we remain unread, and uneducated, in a world of unimaginable wealth of information, and information flow. When we refuse to educate ourselves, or our young, with respect to higher moral paths in life, yet continue to teach our young that monetary wealth is the main indicator of self-worth. When, through our fear and ignorance, some of us, are willing, to step on, the natural inherent rights, of other people, just because we've been given orders to follow, and a paycheck to do it. Or, when we are willing to go off to fight in wars, that are based in the policies of imperialism, pre-emptive aggression and the theft of natural resources from sovereign nation-states. It may not be popular, and some of us may not like to hear it, but the truth is, that as a whole, we the people, of this once free nation, are the enablers, of the very Psychopaths, that dominate, and control us. Many of us have, become totally callous, to the usurpation, of the natural rights of other human beings, and that is why, this silent war, of control, and aggression against human freedom, has been marching forward, largely unopposed. Make no mistake, and do not be deceived about it. The psychopathic institutions at the highest, or should I say, the lowest levels of our society, have done a very good job, at all of the things they do best, but it doesn't have to be this way. You see, I disagree, with most psychologists conclusions, that there is no treatment for the condition of psychopathy. There is a solution, and the solution is each and every one of us who is standing here today. For you see, we are the immune system response, for this virus, that has infected the minds, and hearts of human beings, and we are here, to bring healing, to the diseased condition of our nation, and our world. The prescriptions for healing this sickness are, recognition, respect, responsibility, and reconciliation. Recognition means, to become aware, by searching. Many, many more people, need to start learning, as much as possible, about what the Federal Reserve is, and how its activities are currently holding direct influence over their lives. If we remain so ignorant and naive as a people, that we cannot even conceive of this institutions psychopathic mentality, we shall collectively remain powerless, to defend ourselves, and our freedom against it. If, we can develop the will, to look at the sickness, and once it has been recognized, all those who are supporting, this monstrous financial and moral deception, by agreeing to work for it, or with it, in any way, need to develop true respect. The word respect, simply means, to look at again. And what these individuals must take a second look at, is themselves, and what they have willingly, allowed themselves, to be used for. They must specifically ask themselves, and answer honestly, the question, "am I really, doing, the right thing?" Only self-respect, can help us to develop true responsibility, which is our ability to respond in the correct moral ways, to any problem, that may be facing us. Finally, the word reconciliation simply means, to move toward each other again. We must reverse our movement towards separation, and come back together, right now, to create the collective courage, to withdraw from the poisonous influence that such psychopathic institutions currently hold, over our own minds, and our own hearts, and it is, that simple. That is how Psychopaths, and their behaviors, are contained. By refusing, to be like them, in any way. By refusing, to help them, in their callous, selfish aims, no matter what self-serving rewards may be offered. By recognizing, that there is a better way to treat each other, and to live among each other in truth, in love and in true freedom. To do this, we must let go of our fear of lack, our fear of losing control, our fear of the unknown, and our fear of the uncharted territory we call the human future. In the final equation, there is no one stopping us, but ourselves. In closing, I know that I don't just speak for myself when I say, let's recognize what we must do. Let's respect ourselves and each other. Let's develop true responsibility. Let's reconcile our differences, and together, let us heal the diseased condition of the human spirit, of which the Federal Reserve is merely a symptom. Let's come together once and for all, and let's go for it. Thank you.

That was my speech this past Saturday. I gave that for a crowd of about I would estimate maybe 250 to 300 people outside of the Federal Reserve Building. Overall it was a good time and I think for me the best part of it was the amount of information that was printed and handed to people on the street. I would certainly say that it could definitely use room for a lot of growth, considering how long these events have been going on, the numbers seem to stay right around the same number considering what we can actually get to turnout on any given Saturday or Sunday, but for a major city like Philadelphia we could still do better getting more people out onto the street. But I did see a lot of new faces so that was pretty encouraging.

What we do here on this show is, we try to get down to the very root causes of human suffering really. We try to get down to the very root causes and not just talk about the symptoms. We could talk about the symptoms all day, and we can bring up specific symptoms like the federal reserve, but until we get down to the root causes that lay in the minds and in the hearts of people, that's where the real problem is at.

The real problem isn't out there. The real problem is within people. The question needs to be asked, “why, are we experiencing what we are experiencing?” So until we make an honest assessment of the causal factors about how we are fooled, about why we suffer, about why, many of us lack the ability to tell truth from falsehood, and right from wrong in many cases, we're not really going to make a lot of headway or a lot of dent into the problem and work toward a solution.

This program is about solutions ultimately. We can't get to solutions until we understand what's creating the problem to begin with, and to just point fingers at other people and say “that person's doing it, that’s doing it,” well why is the mindset of that group of individual of individuals the way that it is? What were the causal factors that led them to thinking about the world, and other people in it, and their relationship to others, that led them to act that motivated their behaviors in those ways? So that's what we do on this show.

And I think a lot more people in this movement have to understand these causal factors. They have to turn their attention toward the roots and stop looking at the leaves, because again you can describe a prison cell all day long. You could describe every detail of the prison cell, but until you're actually putting your mind to the job of actually working on how to get out of that prison cell, you're not going to make any headway or any progress. So we need to understand why we've arrived in the so-called cell that we have arrived in if we're ever going to get out of it. If we're ever going to move in the opposite direction toward true freedom, we need to know why the human mind and heart have fallen into the diseased condition that they have throughout society and throughout the world.

So to that effect, what we've been talking about here on past shows is, human consciousness. What are the ways that consciousness manifests itself? We talked about the power of our thoughts, our emotions, and our actions. And how we need to bring them into alignment with each other, such that we become a being that is not an internal contradiction. That as we think, so we feel and so we act, and nobody can divide us, and pull us off course from that.

Those three things they take thoughts. We need to get our thoughts to a state of intelligence. We need to take our emotions to a state of care, and we need to increase our will to act in the proper moral ways in the world. This is how we're going to get out of the mess that we're in. Increasing our awareness just from an intellectual perspective of course, but widening our worldview, or our scope, to encompass all people that are suffering no matter where they are, no matter what race they are, no matter what age they are, no matter what sex they are, no matter what nationality, no matter what country they live in.

To say that we just want this solved because we don't want to experience personally the negative consequences of something, it isn't a good enough reason. We need to widen our perspective and understand that as long as anybody else in the world is suffering, we are suffering. So if we're going to see any real change, and any real solution brought to bear, we need to change our perspective about suffering in general, and understand again as I said, if anybody is suffering, that's us. It isn't we're not separate.

And this calls to mind the question - the people who are creating a lot of these crises, the psychopaths, we need to understand they’re suffering to a great degree, maybe more than a lot of other people are in the world. As difficult as that may be to wrap your head around, psychopaths can't feel normal human emotion. Not don't want to. They cannot. Most people can't even imagine that state, how fearful it would turn your inner being into. You could not actually feel anything. You do not have the raw capability to feel any emotion. Imagine what maybe your mind would be start to become like.

You realize very quickly you're not like other people, the risk of being ostracized as being some kind of a freak or a monster, and then people like that descend really, really deeply into the fear state, and that starts to basically imbalance the brain. One of the things we talked about on this show in past weeks was the human brain and human brain imbalance, and the attitudes and behaviors that result when the brain hemispheres aren't properly balanced.

So we have to understand that even the people who seem like the enemy are suffering in many ways more than many people in the world. I'm not going to say they're suffering the most. They cause a lot of havoc that makes people suffer pretty badly in the world, but we have to ask the alchemical questions so to speak, and we'll get into the science of alchemy a little bit later in the program.

But the alchemical question is, “what ails thee brother?” or “what ails thee sister?” and we have to try and make a genuine effort to get down to other people's causes of self-inflicted suffering. Why they hurt so much that they then want to go out and take out their aggressions on other people and make them suffer. And again as I said in my speech for the Fed, make other people feel as empty as they do.

There is an ability to bring healing to this state if enough people work at it. If enough people actually learn these causal factors, understand what is going on within themselves and in the world around them, and care enough to do that work. That's the main thing. To care enough to get involved, and to get over one's fears. A lot of fear when it comes to this type of material, particularly with the Federal Reserve, so many people say “oh I'm willing to do this, this, this and this, but when it comes to standing up to an organization like the Fed, I'm backing off. I'm not I'm not going to make I'm not going to be present there because I'm too afraid of what they're capable of.”

Well that attitude is not going to really change much, because if we're taking actions or even in actions out of fear, good luck. You're not going to see any real positive changes take place around you. Again I thank the people who came out to that event before I really got into the topic of the speech, for their courage. That is above all what I have utmost respect for the people to come out to an event like End The Fed for.

They’re displaying true courage, because they care enough to be that courageous to stand up to something that seems impossible to stand up to, but it is not. It is not impossible. The effort needs to be made and those three centers need to be developed. Understanding the problem, caring enough to do something about the problem and then actually doing it. Actually doing it is the most important step. To take action. And that requires courage.

So we talked about in the past few weeks the dynamics of love versus fear. The consciousness of love, how this is the force that expands consciousness, and fear, the force that destroys consciousness. A force that limits consciousness. And I'll tell you a lot of people out there on Independence Mall, I would try to hand people a flier and say “hey check it out, look at what's causing a lot of crises and resulting in all kinds of suffering in our communities financially.” Some people would say “oh I'm so fearful and afraid of what they could do, that I might be on camera or I might be being filmed” that they don’t even want to take a flyer from your hand. You can't live your life in fear like that folks. Again it's not going to be conducive to solving any problems that we may have. Again I thank everyone for their courage because that really is the bottom line when it comes to reversing some of the damage that has been done to the human heart and to our world in general.

So coming out of that fear state is what consciousness is all about. Love is the force that expands consciousness. Fear puts consciousness in its grave. That's all we really have to remember. So we looked at the internal and external expressions of those forces, those basic polarities. We looked at the internal force of love being sovereignty, or dominion over oneself. In other words, self-control. Having control of one's thoughts, one's emotions and one's actions and bringing them into alignment. Bringing them into harmony, so that we're not in internal opposition.

We looked at the internal force of fear as being a confusion. Not understanding what's going on within oneself. Not being in control of one's own thoughts, emotions and actions. Being able to be manipulated and lead, and then the external states that result from those conditions. If love and dominion, or sovereignty are present then you have freedom in the external world. But again they always follow the internal qualities. That state is a resultant condition of the qualities that are actively being represented within the individual. Actively taking place and are present within the individual, then you see the external state result in the outside world.

So when love is present, internal control of one's self results. You have what's called sovereignty. A person understands they are the owner and ruler of their own kingdom, the self. Nothing outside of that. Doesn't mean controlling anybody else. It means you own yourself, truly. You’ve mastered yourself, and when that's present, that's when freedom will result in the external reality.

When fear runs rampant, within the self, there's confusion, someone doesn't really know themselves, they don't really have control over their own thoughts, emotions and actions, they can be torn apart within, and they can be led externally. When that happens in the outside world you have control. And ultimately when that runs rampant, you get slavery. So understanding the dynamics of those two basic polarities, love and fear, helps you to understand why we're experiencing what we are experiencing.

Last week we talked a lot about worldviews and what they create. We talked a lot about the deferring worldviews of different forms of brain imbalance. A left brain imbalanced worldview is a worldview that is stuck on the concept of randomness, that the universe is a cosmic accident, that there's no underlying intelligence in nature and there's no such thing as natural law when it comes to behaviors. When it comes to what we do to others. In other words, there's no such thing as karma. There's no such thing as a law of attraction, that what we do to others we must experience. It's the idea that existence really has no higher purpose. These are the hallmarks of atheistic mentality and of left-brain, old scientism.

So I called the dichotomy between the two worldviews the worldview schism, with the left brain imbalance representing the worldview of randomness, and the right brain imbalance representing the world view called determinism. Determinism is the exact opposite. It's a very right brain imbalanced way of seeing the world. That God controls everything and every event in creation. All occurrences are preordained, we don't really have free will, there's no point in taking any action because since everything is written by God nothing can ultimately be changed, and these are the hallmarks of religious extremism.

Both of these worldviews are extremely imbalanced and I would suggest neither of them are true. The truth lies in between in a combination, or a synthesis of these two extremities or these two extreme states of imbalance. And I describe the condition that we really need to understand, is a combination of natural law and freewill. Natural law being the deterministic component of creation, and freewill being the random component because that that's what governs our choices. We have choices, we are allowed to make them freely even if we make them in ways that lead to more suffering, that are against our stated goals of where we want to go. We're still allowed to do that.

I don't think it's a wise choice to do that, I think we should try to understand that the deterministic reality of the universe, the components of the universe that are deterministic - I call that natural law as many other scholars and philosophers have in the past - we need to understand what natural law is, and what we create through our freewill decisions when we either come into alignment with natural law, or when we choose to ignore it. And we're in the condition that we're in collectively as a species because most of us choose to ignore natural law principles. We don't really understand how it works, and we're not really motivated much to learning how they work.

Again I've said in the past if people were to be asked to write down what they really value most in life, how many of them at the top of the list would place the word “truth?” How many do you know, they would place the word truth at the top of a list of things they actually value in life? I'll bet you can count the number on one hand, and again that's why we're in the situation that we're in.

MAGIC
SORCERY

Now we're going to get into the difference between two concepts that a lot of people think are fictional, however they're very real. This is the concept of magic, and the concept of sorcery. Now as soon as that those words are said, immediately I know what's going off on in most people's minds is, science fiction movies or fantasy movies, and that's by design. That is how many people want people to understand those concepts, or to solely think of them in light of. Hollywood, fantasy, fiction. I assure you that these forces, these concepts if you will, are very real, they are very much at work in our lives, and we're going to flesh them out in the next hour.

If we have time after going through the concepts of magic and sorcery, I'll talk a little bit about what many people have called Self Realization, and why there are so few people that are self-realized. That really do understand themselves that, do understand how their own psyche works, and will look at the barriers to that condition. We'll look at the barriers to self-realization. What are the mental states and the attachments in people's minds, that hold them back from their higher potential? The barriers to self-realization.

MAGIC

THE SCIENCE AND ART OF INFLUENCING CHANGE TO OCCUR IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE WILL.

So let's saw let's start with the concept of magic. This is going to be the basic topic for the next hour. The definition for magic is, the science and art of influencing change to occur in accordance with the Will. The science and art of influencing change, to occur in accordance with the Will. Now a lot was said there. Magic is a science.

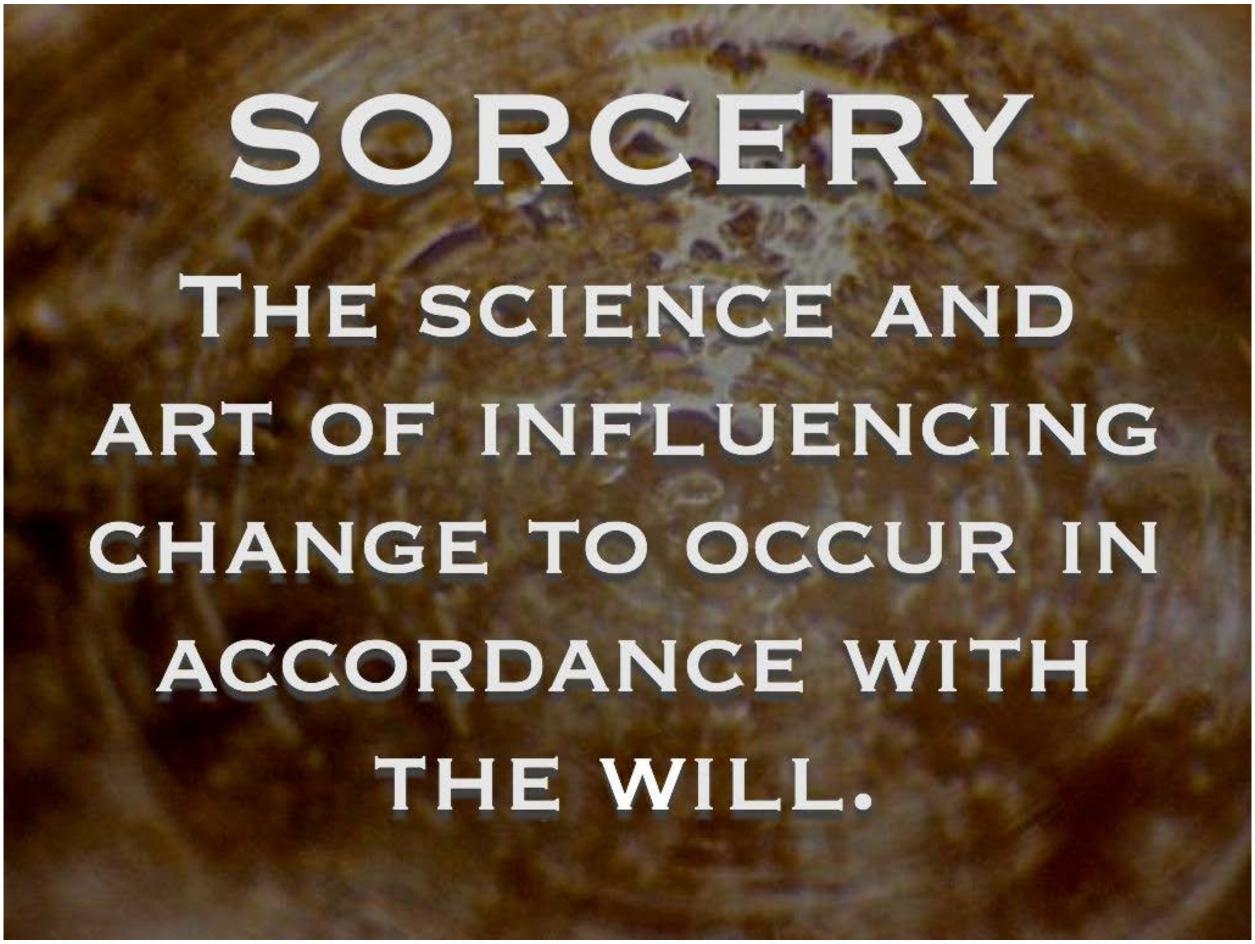
Now most people would think the exact opposite, that it's fantasy, that it's not rooted in anything in the natural world. Most people when they think of magic they think of the supernatural. Magical powers, a magician who can do illusions, who can do things that the ordinary person cannot do and because they're connected in with some supernatural capability. Well magic is a lot more than that, and it's a lot simpler than that. It's the influence to create change. And it is a science, and it is an art form.

The concepts of magic and sorcery are critical to understand the types of influences that are really taking place around us in the world, and we have to get our minds out of the notion that these are fictional concepts. They are not fictional concepts. I assure you they are not fictional concepts. See people who are very trapped in left-brain ways of thinking, when you bring up a word that they've already assigned and attach the meaning to, and that's just what it is, “I understand what that is already and I'm not changing that. I'm not looking any further into that, I'm not going to accept an alternative explanation that differs from my concept of what I think those things are.”

People have heard these words before of course and they have a formulated idea of what they mean in the world to them. I really suggest if you find yourself in that position, attempting to lay aside the pre-formulated definition that you have and simply listen to the definition that I'm suggesting, and the way I'm using these words to describe the concepts that I'm talking about. So when I say magic here's the definition that I use for it. It is the science and art of influencing change to occur in accordance with the Will.

The science and art of influencing change to occur in accordance with the Will. So it's a science. There are established methodologies that are repeatable, and therefore this is actually considered a science. It is an art form, because not everyone is as adept at it as others. There are subtleties to it. If you are practiced in it, you will become better at it. So that's what an art is. You practice an art. Not everyone has the same raw capability when it comes to it, however capability can be honed and developed if you put enough work in or practice.

So magic is both a science and an art, and what it is attempting is to influence change to occur. So notice it's not saying that it's actually making the change occur. It's only influencing the change. It isn't actually doing it itself, only influencing it. That's critical. It’s influencing change to occur in accordance with the Will. Now that's the biggest part of the definition of magic actually, because I'm going to give the definition of sorcery next, and you'll understand how similar they are, but what I'll say about the definition of sorcery is it is in fact the exact opposite of the definition of magic.



SORCERY

THE SCIENCE AND
ART OF INFLUENCING
ACCORDANCE WITH THE WILL.

So the definition I'm going to give for sorcery is this; sorcery is the science and art of influencing change to occur in accordance with the will. Now anybody listening will say “well that's the exact definition that you gave for magic, and how could you say it's the exact opposite definition?” Well the subtlety comes in when you look at the word will, and what is meant by the word will. I distinguish this when I write this definition out, or when I show it in a presentation or a slideshow, by placing a capital W at the beginning of the word Will when it is used in reference to the science and art of magic.

However, with sorcery the will is a lowercase W, and this is just a nuance to help highlight the differences in the term, which really completely changes the meaning that is given for the concept. So when I'm talking about magic and I'm talking about influencing a change to occur in accordance with the Will, I don't mean the self-centered will of the practitioner of this science and art.

That is not what is being talked about there. It's a higher will. It is a will that whole volumes have been written on, whole philosophies in occultism have basically surrounded. So the concept of will in general is a very deep topic. I'm not simply referring to a person's will to do something, is what you have to keep in mind here with the definition of magic. The science and art of influencing change to occur in accordance with the Will.

The word Will here could be used interchangeably with natural law principles. With the understanding of how creation actually works, and the understanding that the natural law component of creation is essentially there for our own benefit. It is not there to put us in any kind of a prison, or control us. It is there because the creations Will, capital W will, does not interfere with free will. With our lowercase will. What we choose to do. It is there as a way, that if we align ourselves with truth, with what is, with what natural law actually is, that we will not experience self-inflicted suffering.

So I can't really give you a full nonphysical example. It isn't so simple that if I punch somebody in the face for no reason then I will immediately experience that pain. See if that were the case, if somebody did something that they had no right to do to someone else - like let's say attempt to assert their natural right to free speech and then immediately they walk outside of their house and a tree falls on them, and they keep kept doing that action over and over again and kept getting the same result, maybe they would understand very quickly that those actions are related, and that the effect is following the cause

However it doesn't really work out that way in the three dimensional space-time continuum that we live in. There's often a time lag from the time that we take an action, and the time when we experience the result of the action. This is because in quantum theory, the smaller something is or the less complex it is, the quicker you see the effect. Like electrons being shot through a double slit in the infamous double slit experiment. If there's a meter on the slit then you immediately see the result change to the electron behaves as a particle. If there is no meter on this double slit it behaves as a wave, for people who may be familiar with an example like this.

Look up the double slit experiment. Electrons at the quantum level are a wave function. They're not really a particle that exists yet. It's a potential. When a choice is made about how one wants to observe that potentiality, it immediately, immediately becomes a point particle in an actual piece of matter that can be measured. It’s an abstract example but it kind of illustrates that at a quantum level, at a very small level, the effect follows cause very, very quickly. Almost immediately.

At a macro level, there is a lag. The universe needs time to orchestrate, in a certain level of complexity, the event that would be needed to actually make the balance that is needed occur, when we choose certain actions. So let me give you a physical example of this, and keep in mind to the word will and to the way will is being used in this example. Gravity is always in effect in the on the surface of the Earth. And we're not talking about out in space someplace. In this realm, on the surface of the Earth, gravity is in effect. If I went up to let’s say a roof of a three-story building, and I dropped something off of it, you're going to see the effect of gravity.

My belief is not required about the operational field of gravity in this instance. I can believe all I want that, that object will fall upward, or sideways, at this level - were not at a quantum level where things behave very strangely, we're at a macro level - this means that there is a much greater tendency for the law to actually have an effect in the expected way, and for the ball not to fall up.

Quantum mechanics scientists will tell you “oh there still is a very, very, very, very, very, very infinitesimally small probability that the ball could fall off upon its release,” but in the real world it doesn't happen. You would probably have to wait for an event that would not come for several lifetimes of the observable universe, so it would be one in such an amount of times that you can repeat it so many times that you will never see that happen. You would have to wait to see that event that a total anomaly will occur one time in a number of years that without outstrip the life of the universe. So there's no point in even discussing it, it is essentially a zero chance.

So when I talk about natural law principles, this is what I'm talking about. Tendencies for an event to occur based on the freewill decisions that we are making. So in this sense, nobody can really be a total predictor of the future, because freewill can always intervene and we can make different choices that change the expected outcome, or the probable outcome. That's what some of us are really trying to make come about. That we can affect people's free will, such that we change the trend and we come into accordance with this higher Will. With natural law, which is what I'm talking about in this definition of magic.

An abstract idea to be sure, but if we really try to wrap our minds around this, what we're really talking about is, to influence people's minds, hearts and behaviors to come into greater accordance or harmony with natural law. Or in other words higher moral law, higher perspectives on how to live and treat each other in the world. If we continue to not do this work, to not attempt to bring more people into this way of being, if we continue to ignore capital W will, again which is natural law and which is there for our betterment - because if we align ourselves with it, we won't ignore something like gravity and step off of a building and plummet to our death because we don't believe gravity exists.

We're so ignorant of the natural law principles that are leading to negative events that we are experiencing. When we are completely ignorant of these principles, we're always going to get a negative result. Always. So if somebody doesn't understand how gravity works and they're over near the edge of a cliff getting ready to go over, or they’re on the top of a roof and they're getting ready to walk right over the edge because they don't understand it, they don't know it exists, they don't believe that it exists, any of these reasons, then they're not in harmony with natural law principle that's in effect whether they believe in it, whether they know it or not. All irrelevant.

Someone else might want to influence their actions or behavior by letting them know “hey there's this law in effect called gravity. If you step off of there, you're going to experience a very negative consequence.” I brought this conundrum up to some people and people have answered it differently. How would you handle that? If there were there was a being who in this hypothetical situation they didn't understand that gravity existed, are you under any responsibility as someone who does understand how it exists to explain it to them?

Are you under any responsibility perhaps to even physically stop them from going over the edge in ignorance, by whatever means you might have to do it? I have my take on that. I think from my general perspective as I've been giving it over the last few weeks, and anyone who has watched my presentations can kind of extrapolate what my view on that is.

But to go back to the concept of the will. The will that we're talking about in these two definitions are completely different. Two to four will. Will in the definition I gave for magic, the science and art of influencing change to a car in accordance with the Will, is the higher will. It is natural law. It is essentially the laws of how creation works, and not just physical. It is the laws that govern what happens to us based on how we think, feel and act. And there are such laws. They do exist. People understand how that works in the world. There are people who understand those laws.

Those who will reject that out of hand are locked into that left brain world view, that worldview of randomness that we talked about. Scientism, extreme atheism, extreme solipsism. The idea that there is no such thing as truth, there is no such thing as natural law. It’s all my perceptions. An extreme left brained way of seeing the world, and you have a whole lot of people in the world who are like that. There are so many people that will just reject this out of hand, that it does not fit into their current imbalanced worldview.

The idea of magic is to try to influence people, such that they learn from mistakes, they learn from perhaps doing some things the wrong way. Maybe they will learn by others who have done things the wrong way that they can observe, and they don't necessarily have to go through a painful experience by falling off the edge of the cliff, or the building. This type of influence is possible, if we are willing to do it. What do we need to be to become a so-called magician, or as I'm going to talk about in a moment, an alchemist. Well we have to understand natural law.

We have to know what kind of energies we're putting out into the world through our consciousness, and what that's going to create. So it's an understanding of the laws of cause and effect, or what some people have termed the law of attraction. The understanding that the universe essentially behaves as a mirror, as a reflector, for that which is inside of us. That's what this is. A large learning experience so that we can learn and grow, and then we can change.

The main universe comes from the Latin uni, one, and versere, which means to change, or to turn. As in the leaves turned from green to brown. They made a change. The seasons turned. They changed from one season, to another, to another. That's what universe means. One change. This is the change that I'm talking about when I'm referring to capital W will. We're talking about the higher Will of creation. In other words, the concept of “let not my will be done, let thy Will be done,” meaning the higher Will.

And again you can call this the will of God, I prefer use the term, it's simply the will of creation, but these two things are essentially identical and if you really want to get down to it, since this will does not directly intervene - it has only set up first principles, which are called natural law principles - this higher will’s desire for us, if you will, the balance that it seeks to achieve is not anything other than our comfort or betterment. In other words, it's the idea of the Garden of Eden.

It's the idea of a place that as long as we are acting within the boundaries of these first principles, these natural law principles that were put in place by the intelligent, underlying force of creation, the experience that we will have will be one of abundance, harmony, peace, happiness, all the things that people really “say” they want in life. And I emphasize say, because they say they want those things, but then - see it's a conditional statement. There are requirements attached if you want something. It's an if-then statement. If, you want abundance, harmony, peace, healing, happiness, etc, then, you must be prepared to think, feel and act, according to the Will.

Higher will natural law principles that are always in effect, that you're always bound by as long as you're in a three dimensional space-time continuum - which if anybody knows how to get out of please let me know - but as long as your existing and operating in that domain of reality, these principles and laws are in effect, that govern what happens as a result of certain behaviors. People have called this the law of attraction, people have called this the law of cause and effect, people have called this the law of karma. It's been given a million different names. One of the best ways it's been summarized is “do unto others as you would have done unto you, because you're going to experience the effect of what you do eventually.”

See there is a self-motive even in that statement. If you don't want to have to experience what you do to others in a negative way, then don't do negative things to other people because it is eventually going to be reflected to you through the process of natural law. That is why we are where we are, with respect to consciousness on this planet, and with respect to the decaying state of human freedom. Because it is directly related to the decaying state of human moral alignment with natural law principles. I hope that's explained in a way that you can understand and I'm going to continue to break down what the science of magic is now, and we'll compare and contrast this with the science and art of sorcery.

Magic has a goal and it has a vehicle that it works through. So again we have to keep in mind it's a science and art. It's attempting to influence change to occur in accordance with this higher Will, that I've basically set up over this last half hour and fleshed out.

The ultimate goal of it is the state of non-dualism. And when I say that I don't mean everything existing all in one place at one time and nothing being separate from anything else. What I mean is, the understanding in consciousness that we are not separate. That the higher aspects of ourselves are aspects of this one universal creative energy. You can call it that if you want. I don't care, I'm comfortable with that term. Some people don't like that term fine. I call it the underlying ordering intelligence that's inherent to the state of creation. Of existence period. It is ordered, it is intelligent, it does direct things and processes here in this three dimensional realm.

NON-DUALISM

Non-dualism is the state that you understand, that everything is that one force, is that one thing. You're not separate from it, it's not separate from you. If you're hurting someone else, you're hurting yourself. If you're doing something that is totally selfish, self-serving and in total disregard for other people then you're not really doing anything but bringing harm upon yourself, ultimately. Now people will say “well that doesn't always play out in the world like that." No it doesn't, and there's reasons for that which we'll get into in the weeks to come.

The reason that people don't always in the short-term experience the consequence of what they're putting out into the world - and I stress in the short-term, because they will eventually experience a balance created - the reason they don't experience in the short-term is because our culture, our society has been moving so far collectively in the direction against natural law, that a small group of individuals has found a way to isolate themselves from these principles, for a time. And I call them the Sorcerer's. We'll look into that in a moment but keep that in mind.

That's why people will say "well this balance that you're talking about and this law of attraction and this having to experience what you do to others, why don't we see some people experiencing it immediately?" Again two reasons. There's a time lag sometimes associated with what we do and what we experience, and two, natural law principles are being insulated from the general population through mind control. Through a small group of people that do understand how these principles work, do not want to experience this balancing, do not want to experience having to receive back the same type of energy or experience that they are doing to others, or producing for others.

Through the art of sorcery, or through the vehicle of sorcery which I'll talk about in a moment, they have become very adept at getting others to prevent those occurrences of the universe coming back and balancing the equation so to speak, by making events occur to them that they would have to experience that karmic payback if you will. And those are all of the people who act on behalf of the sorcerers, the manipulators. These are their minions, so to speak.

They convince them to isolate themselves from, essentially, the consequences that they should have to experience, and they do this in hopes of delaying the inevitable. But indeed it is inevitable. They will experience those consequences sooner or later. The only person that the sorcerer is ultimately really fooling in regards to this is themselves, for any that may be actually listening or people who think that their worldview is a better way live or be in the world, never going to live that way and not experience the consequences. At some point it will catch up to you. Like Johnny Cash said in a song, you can run on for a long time, but sooner or later God will cut you down.

And when we talk about sorcery more in depth, we'll get into a little bit about how they create that delaying of the inevitable. But magic's goal is non-dualism. It's trying to create internal harmony. Non-dualism with oneself is the first key concept to understand about what you need to do to really truly become one who is engaging in the science and art of magic. To ever influence someone else you have to really be non-dual with yourself. You have to be willing to do the things you say you believe in, and that you feel are right, and that you know alright.

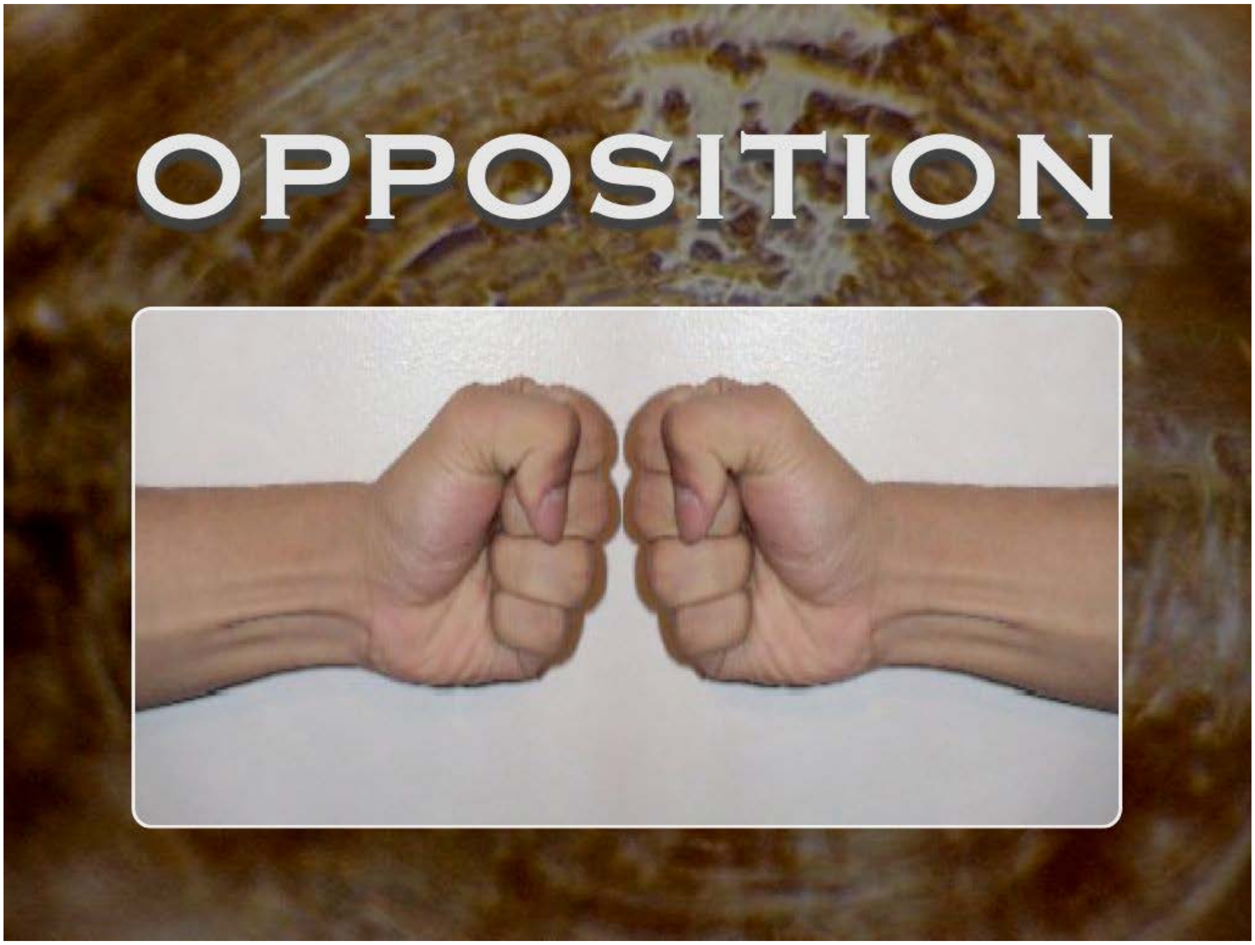
So again becoming a being that as you think, so you feel and so you act, those three are one. They're non-dual. You're not in internal contradiction. You don't say one thing and do another. You don't say you feel one way, like “oh I feel that taxation is theft, it's violence at the point of a gun, it's taking from one person to give to another, and even though I may not have the right to take something from somebody without their voluntary agreement, I know that that may be the case deep down inside, I can reason at that level and understand it, but I have financial obligations so I'll go and join the IRS because they're hiring.” Total internal contradiction. Total internal opposition. You're in opposition with the self.

As an aside me and several friends of mine often talk about parking meter attendants. Meter maids. We talk about how strange it is that we don't know any, and never have met any, in our lives. It's almost like where do these people come from? Where do they come out of? I've asked just about every person that I'm friendly with, “do you know any parking meter attendants?” Not one person I know knows one of them. How many layers of separation do you think there would have to be between finally finding someone who actually knows one of these people?

It's an interesting social experiment. Just ask people around you “who do you know who's writes parking tickets, who works for the parking authority in your in your city?” and you I guarantee you'll be hard-pressed to find anybody who even knows any of these people, because what I have kind of decided the dynamic that's really taking place with regard to this is, they just lie to people. Because they know no one really likes what they do. They know themselves, inside intuitively, and even consciously, that what they're doing isn't really right. It isn't really moral. It's a hassle for other people. It's a parasitic activity is what it is.

Now anybody can come and make the argument that “oh that's necessary, to move cars in traffic.” But people got along fine before there were parking authorities and metered parking, and life went on. We don't need people who do that job. It's a parasitic activity. That's what it is. It's not my opinion of what it is, that's what it is. And the fact that you can't find anybody who does it, the fact that they will lie about what they do when asked, and that is what the case is. It's impossible, the two layers of separation, of you not knowing anybody that does it and then any friend you have they also don't know anybody that does it. That's next to impossible. Even if you don't personally know a cop, guaranteed somebody you know knows a cop, but nobody I ever spoke to knows a person personally who admits to being a parking meter attendant.

So this goes to the concept of non-dualism. The person deep inside is so embarrassed of what they do for a living, that they won't even admit that that's what they do for a living to other people. So they try to stay shielded from what other people will think about them, and it's largely because they are in internal dualism. They're in opposition with the self. It's cognitive dissonance. They know that what they're really doing isn't right. No one likes it, no one appreciates it and no one would really want to be around them if they know they do this and continue to do it.



Like if you've suddenly found out that someone that was a friend of a friend, who you were hanging out with for a long time was a parking meter ticket writer who worked for the parking authority in your city, would you continue to go out and have drinks with that person in the same cordial way that you were doing previously? Or would there be tension there? And be honest with yourself. Don't be thinking that you're going to treat them like the Buddha would treat them or something, because seriously, most people don't appreciate people's activity like that.

They know that what they're doing is parasitic. You know, and you would to be honest, treat them at least somewhat differently, if you would want to hang out with them at all. And they know that. This example I think perfectly illustrates the notion of dualism within a person. They wouldn't be willing to lie about what they do, so that other people wouldn't find out and treat them differently if they didn't instinctively, intuitively know, that what they're doing is parasitic and wrong. So that's the concept of dualism and an illustration of it.

Now what magic is trying to create is non-dualism. Again somebody who knows what's right, feels a certain way about something, and then acts in that capacity. They don't give any justifications. They don't say “well, I had to do this” or “I had that bill to pay” or “I have to take care of this person.” There's no justifications in a non-dual understanding. If you understand something to be right, and that's how you feel about it, your action is in accordance with it and in harmony with, period, the end. There is no “but,” okay? You know “I know that, but.” There is no but. You know it, you feel it, you do it, the end. That's non-dualism.

Now to achieve that state, there is a science within magic, and this is known as alchemy. Now again people have heard of alchemy through stories or you know reading about it, and they have a vision in their mind that what an alchemist is. Maybe some mad scientist gone awry, who's trying to take metals that are essentially worthless, they’re non-precious metals and turn them into precious metals, like silver or gold. Now this is an allegory. An allegory is a tale told to really reflect a moral lesson. To teach a moral understanding or a moral principle. A very critical word to understand what it means.

An allegory a tale or story told to illustrate a moral principle, like a parable kind of. In actuality, an alchemist is actually someone who is taking base consciousness and transmuting it, or influencing it upward, to a higher moral level of consciousness. That's what the whole cover story of a mad scientist turning lead into gold is about. It's a spiritual teacher that is attempting to turn base consciousness, or lead consciousness, heavy, low, weighted consciousness, bog down with attachment, and untruths, and self-interest, and to elevate that. To precipitate that upward, until you get higher form of consciousness. Gold. Light. You're getting lighter consciousness from it.

So this is what alchemy really is. It can be used to describe this transmutation of metals, but what the allegory that it is telling is really about is the transmutation of the spirit. It's the transmutation of the mind and heart, of someone who is trapped in lower states of consciousness and illusion. That's what the alchemist helps facilitate. Now again, he only influences that process. He doesn't do that work himself. Who does that work? The person whose consciousness is being changed does that work themselves. The alchemist can only influence them.

He could never change their consciousness for them. He can be an influence through his writings, through his words, through his actions, through his courage, through his commitment, through his dedication, through his study, but he can't actually make a person change. That's not possible. The person has to have some form of internal will left within them, to want to change. The desire has to be present. That's the spark that ignites the fire that the alchemist helps tender. The alchemist helps to raise that that spark to a higher flame. Helps. Key word. He doesn't do himself. He influences it. Like in the definition of magic, “influencing change to occur,” and the alchemist influences that change to occur in accordance with higher Will.

Now the sorcerer plays the exact opposite role. Sorcery is “the science and art of influencing change to occur in accordance with the will.” Lowercase w, meaning the egoic, the ego driven will. The selfish, manipulative will of the sorcerer himself. This is not the higher Will in harmony with natural law principles. This is the lower will that says “let my will be done. I don't care about what's right, I don't care about higher morals, I don't care about natural law principles, I don't care about the law of cause and effect, and what it will bring down upon me or other people that I influence. All I care about is myself, my objectives, my aims in the current moment. That's it.”

So that's what the sorcerer is. The sorcerer’s goal, and this is also critical, is to do the exact opposite of the true magician. The Sorcerer's goal is to create internal and external opposition. It is to create disharmony within and without. It's to tear someone apart from within themselves, to get them to go against what they intuitively know is right. To ignore their conscience in other words, and to take actions that they know are morally wrong, because they're so focused on the moment, they're so focused on the benefits that only they themselves will reap, that they don't care. They've cremated their own care. They burned it away, because as long as I'm getting mine out of this, who cares what it's going to do to somebody else? I'm in it for me. That's it.

Somebody like that is ruled by the force known as chaton, and this is a hebrew word that means “the adversary,” or “the one who opposes, the one who brings opposition.” And what satan is bringing opposition to is the self. It is destroying someone from within, such that they become a person who isn't one who as they think, so they feel and so they act. They may know what's right, or they may feel that this is intuitively not the right way to be living, but they do it anyway. “I know that this is wrong, I know that I have a bad feeling about this, I intuitively instinctually understand that what I'm doing may not be the right thing but I'm going to take that action anyway, because I'm too fearful about what not doing it might mean.”

That's being ruled by that force that I refer to as Satan, which is internal opposition, the adversary, the one who rips one apart from within. That's what the sorcerer, keep that in mind, that is what the sorcerer is ever trying to create in the world. If they can get people to do that internally, then they're creating a world of opposition where whole nations are willing to rip each other apart in acts of human sacrifice called war. The way that they do this, and indeed the only way they can do this - because just like the alchemist cannot make someone change and act in accordance with the true Will natural law principles, the sorcerer cannot physically, make a person act in opposition with themselves. They have to use the vehicle of illusion and manipulation.

ILLUSION & MANIPULATION

Manipulating people through the propagation of illusion and lies, deception in other words. Manipulation, deception, the propagation of poisonous worldviews, the reinforcement of poisonous worldviews through media manipulation of the mind and body, through food, through the worldviews that are put out there for people's consideration, this is what the sorcerer ever seeks to do. And again as I said in the End The Fed speech that I gave, you can call this by any other name that you want but I call it what it really is, mind control. Mind control through manipulation and the propagation of illusion, is the main tool of sorcery.

That is the vehicle for the propagation of sorcery. I think we covered a lot of ground tonight and next week we'll go into the barriers to self-realization. I'll recap on magic and sorcery we'll discuss the barriers to true self-realization.

What On Earth Is Happening Show #006

Topics: Magic, Sorcery, Will, Natural Law, Order vs. Chaos, Barriers to Self-Realization, Five-Sense Illusion

I want to specifically address the concepts of magic and sorcery as they relate to the concepts of order and chaos, and the events that we experience in the world around us as a result of these forms of influence. So I'm going to recap there a little bit, but the bulk of what I want to get into tonight is the beginning of breaking down the idea of the barriers to consciousness.

The barriers to self-realization. What do we really have to overcome within us, in order to understand who we truly are, what our purpose here is, what's really taking place around us, and within us? So there are specific barriers that are in place that prevent that awakening, that realization from happening, and I want to begin to delve into those, list what they are and begin to break them down.

So as I've stated already, what we really do here on this show is delve into the causal factors. A lot of people in the freedom movement who are attempting to expose the political machination that are taking place in the world, who are attempting to look at events - and that's important, that should be done and that needs to be done - but you have very few people really getting down to the very root of the problem. To look at the causal factors of why what we are experiencing is happening. That’s the whole goal here, because if we're not in a position to understand, address, and then move toward correcting the things that are actually responsible for creating the problems that we experience, we’re powerless to solve them.

So ultimately everything that I talk about on this program is geared towards solutions to the problems. Not just discussing the problem, or as some people have said describing the prison. Describing the cell. You can describe the prison forever, but until you understand how to unlock the door to the cage that we're all in and walk out of it, that isn't going to happen. So that's ultimately what this show is all about, and as we've said in previous shows, what the base causal factor is, what it has to do with, is the ability to tell truth from falsehood.

And that will immediately put some people off, because there are many people in this world that do not accept or believe that there is there is such a thing as truth. They don't believe that there is any such notion, and I'm going to talk about that a little bit on the show today, because this is the ideology of how we are fooled. Why we suffer, ultimately, is because we accept the biggest lie that can ever be sold to us by anyone, and it is the biggest lie that humanity ever buys. Individually or as a species, and it is the very idea that there is no such thing as objective or moral truth. It is the ideology - I refuse to even call it a philosophy - it is the ideology known as solipsism.

And I’m going to give a concrete example of this today. I'm actually going to kind of flatter somebody by reading a post that they made to a Facebook post that I had replied to, and I'm going to display the raw ignorance of this ideology. Because until we decide to come out of this level of ego of accepting an ideology such as solipsism, humanity is going to continue to suffer, and suffer hard. And I can't really say that I have too much of a problem with that taking place. I'm kind of at peace with the fact that that's how it works, because you know in many ways I feel that's one of the only ways that people ever come out of that level of ego and self-destructive tendencies, is when they suffer enough. I don't feel that it has to be that way. I simply feel that it is that way.

That's what people choose, for some reason, because they're in such deep, deep attachment to erroneous ideas that are not based in reality whatsoever. They're not based in truth, they're not based in any kind of goodness, they're not based in any concept that is even capable of creating order in the world. And until we understand that and move to correct that by thinking differently, we're going to see the same problems recurring like an endless loop, again, and again, and again, and again, and again.

So I'll get into this a little bit as I go further into the recap of magic and sorcery. In previous weeks we also discussed the aspects, or the components if you will of human consciousness, being our thoughts, our emotions and our actions in the world. We discussed the human brain, and how critical the understanding of the human brain is to understanding why certain behaviors manifest in the world. We broke down the components of the brain and looked at their functions. You could check all of this out in previous podcasts. This is also covered in my presentation on my website.

Another topic that we explored pretty much in depth was the concept in general of polarity, and the emotional polarities that create our reality. Those two polarities are forces. The force of love, and the force of fear. Love being the force which expands consciousness period, and fear being the force which seeks to shut down consciousness. So love is the expansive force, fear is a contracted force. And we looked at what manifestations, both within us and in the external world, that is a reflection of what is within us, what these two seemingly polar forces create their manifestations.

We saw that the inward internal manifestation of love is a state that I referred to as dominion. Self-ownership, sovereignty, true self-love, true self-respect, owning and being in charge of the kingdom of self. The only thing we're really allowed to control and be in charge of. Our own thoughts, our own emotions and our own actions in the world. That's it. When we truly own them, when we truly understand how they work to create our reality, that's the idea known as dominion or sovereignty. Self-ownership. Not being controlled from without.

When fear manifests inwardly, this force creates internal confusion, and internal opposition. The self, the house, the kingdom of self, is divided in its own house. So we're torn apart from within. Fear creates internal confusion and internal opposition. We discussed this concept as the force known as sa-tan, which is a Hebrew word that means the opposer, the adversary, he who creates opposition and strife. It's a force. When love is present internally, it creates an external manifestation known as freedom. This is why freedom is under such attack, because people aren't in mass holding this consciousness of love and self-ownership, and rulership of the self.

Ownership over one's own mind, over one's own heart and over one's own actions. It's slipping away from this world slowly but surely, unless we decide to do something about it and reclaim our sovereignty. Our self-ownership. So when fear is present within our minds and hearts and it goes to work in the external reality, we experience externally imposed control, which ultimately leads to chaos, to suffering, to slavery and everything that we refer to as evil or bad.

Now there were different world views that go along with this, and we discuss them as a very left brained worldview known as randomness, and a very right brain imbalanced the worldview, known as determinism. We broke those down on a previous show and we talked about what those worldviews lead to. I referred to it as “the schism of the mind” and “the schism of the worldview,” because these ideas, these left brain imbalanced ideologies and these right brained imbalanced ideologies, they lead to worldviews that impose nothing but more suffering. It's an endless cycle of suffering and most people refuse to accept that there are alternatives to such worldviews, that there is such a thing as moral truth, that there is a path to come out of inflicted suffering.

So one of these really seriously imbalanced worldviews that we discussed was the ideology known as solipsism. The idea that there is no truth, that there is no such thing as natural law principles and that essentially perception is reality. Nothing could be further from truth or accuracy and this ideology. Sadly, it seems that there's not much that really can be done to take people out of this ideology other than them suffering, so much through their clinging to an ideology such as this, that they finally break down and say the three magical words that begin all spiritual journeys. “I was wrong.”

This was the path I had to take personally. I chose and took the left-hand path. The path of enormity of suffering, until I got out of that worldview and mindset. And it took so much suffering for me, that I was barely able to move. I was laying in a room in the dark, essentially doing nothing. That's the level of depression and suffering that I had to reach in my life in the past, to come out of that poisonous worldview. And when I did my life changed so fast it made my head spin for the better, because I started getting in touch with what really is taking place within me and around me, and accepting the realities that are taking place around me instead of pretending that they don't exist, or that it's all just perception. And that the truth can be ignored, and that morals can be ignored, and that we could just make it up as we go along, depending on our comfort levels and what we think is good for us, as opposed to what is good. There's a big difference between those things.

So I was in a conversation on Facebook, and the person was discussing government, control in the world, things like that, and I chimed in about the idea of that externally imposed control is going to be present with us here on the earth until we come out of the consciousness of separation. Until we come out of the world view that in order for anybody to essentially win or have comfort that other people have to lose and suffer. Until we come out of the idea that it's okay for us to do immoral things to other people as long as we aren't suffering and we benefit from doing them. As long as we're in that mindset, not much is going to change around here. As a matter of fact, it's going to get a whole lot worse.

And you can look at saying it outright like that is condescending to other people's way of seeing the world, you can say that it's self-righteous, you can say whatever you want. I in my life have recognized these principles as being true and as being in effect, like the law of gravity. It doesn't matter whether you believe in it or not. It’s in effect. That's what law is. That's what it means. It means it's a parameter that is in effect. It's a boundary condition. It cannot be broken or it wouldn't be a true law. I'm not talking about the law of man here, I'm talking about cosmic law, and it exists. It's real.

The reason we're in the mess that we're in as a species, is because we refuse to acknowledge and understand, and live it within the parameters of, the existence of natural law. And essentially it is so easy it can be stated in, and has been stated by teachers, in one sentence. The truth is always simple. It's never ever complex. People try to make truth complex to obscure it, and to obfuscate it, to create confusion and doubt within somebody's mind regarding natural law principles or truth. But the law that governs creation can essentially be stated in one sentence. “Do on to others as you would have done unto you.” That's the golden rule, and that's it.

It is that simple. And because we continuously break that one law, we're going to continue to suffer until we decide to come out of that level of consciousness. The end. It is that way. I'm not saying that it's my belief that it is that way. What I'm telling people out there is, if you don't want to continue to suffer, that's the path out of suffering, in a nutshell. That's it, and it is that way. That is the truth. It is not a perception of reality. That is reality. I don't know how much clearer I can say that. I'm not telling you that that is my belief because it is not my belief. That is a law, that is in effect that I happen to understand. That's it.

So here is the reply that I received on Facebook from someone that I would say is a solipsist, based upon his response, and I'll read just excerpts from this. This person said “the golden rule is just an arbitrary assertion to try to prove some sort of moral truth. There is no ultimate moral truth. There are no laws of existence.” Imagine that. Now let me tell you what this ideology, what this belief system, which is what this is, leads to. This belief system is known as solipsism and it is also known as moral relativism. This creates the notion that man is the highest power in the universe. We get to make up our own truth. Essentially we are the arbiters of truth, or God. That's what this ideology is. If there are no laws that govern creation, if there is no such thing as morality in truth, there is no such thing as morality and it is just perceptions, then we get to do essentially whatever we say is correct, or right, or moral, and we're the ones making up quote-unquote “law.”

Man's law is based on this ideology, that's why it's such a disaster. Because we're not the authorities of anyone else. We are not the arbiters of truth. We are not the ones who define what morality is based on our perceptions and comfort level. Now what he got right is, one of his next statements was “your perception of what morality is will always reflect what your culture has taught you.” Now that is a truism. That is largely true. People's perceptions of what is right, in the modern day and has been in the past, is largely determined by what those around them have taught them. That's what has largely determined what people think is right, and think, is wrong.

What I'm talking about is not thinking or believing. I'm talking about knowing because one has directly experienced this law itself. It's like a child putting its hand on a hot stove. You can tell an individual forever what the temperature is of something that they have not yet touched. They will never really know for certain until they experience the feeling of being burned or having something extremely hot or extremely cold pressed up against their skin. It will only be a belief or a perception, but it will not actually be truth to that person until they experience it firsthand. This is the idea known as gnosis. It means you know. It is knowledge that has been acquired from directly experiencing something. Not by reading about it, not by thinking about it, not by being told about it, but by experiencing it.

And I guess if you haven't been through that experience, of knowing what being burned is, what being fooled is, what understanding that natural law is by experiencing it, it is probably true that no one can really teach it to you. And if you're in the mindset that you don't want to know about it, that you don't want to learn about it, that you think it doesn't exist because you're comfortable believing that, more likely than not a whole lot of suffering is coming your way, until you do experience the result of not understanding natural law, and you suffer enough to come out of that condition.

I kind of think more so than not this is the place we've come to as a species, and I get that perception more and more in the movement of people who have studied this, who have recognized this, who have understood it, and there's a sort of desperation because they see how closed the minds of the individuals who are out there in our society, and in the world are. They see how close their minds are, how close their hearts are, and how totally resistant they are to understanding how these principles work. And make no mistake about it we're not getting out of this mess unless we understand how these principle work. That's the lesson and that's the way out. There is no escape.

I've said this many times before and I'll say it many more times. There is no escape from the condition to which we have arrived. The way out is through. It is through the problem that we must go. Through understanding of how we got to this place. That's the way out of it, and that equates to understanding natural law principles and understanding that there is such a thing as right and wrong. And one of our jobs here is to understand what right and wrong are, what their qualities are, what their manifestations are and to choose the higher moral ground over the low easy ground.

The higher moral road may be simple, but it isn't necessarily easy due to where we have come. Due to the degradation of human consciousness, due to direct mind control over people through media, through the kind of food that they're feeding into their body that can laughingly be called food, through the lies that have been propagated, through what we laughingly call education, and through the lies that are just spread by people who just don't know any better and then teach it to their young.

Finally, this individual said, “everyone living according to their own perception of what is moral without any sort of external control, is a recipe for disaster.” Well you got the first part of it right, but you totally, totally missed it on the second part of what you said there. I would never advocate everyone living to their own perceptions of what is moral. I'm an advocate of everyone living according to what is moral. Big difference between those two states. The perception of what is moral can go as haywire as a Nazi during the Third Reich believing that what he was doing in the service of the Nazi regime was morally justified and correct. That would never make it so.

See there's a big difference between what people think is the right thing and what actually is within their right to do. That's why it's called rights. That's why we have rights, because to exercise rights is standing within moral right. You're not doing anything wrong when you exercise a right. It’s right in the language folks. This isn't hard to figure out. We have a right to do that which is morally right, and nothing else. This is the notion that has been coined in occult philosophies as “do what thou wilt shall be the whole of the law.” This gets perverted. People don't understand that statement. That means you have no other right than to do what is within your moral rights to do. It does not mean do whatever you want.

Anybody that tells you that's what that statement means when they heard it, have a complete lack of the understanding of the statement. Now you can disagree with the person who said that, but if you understand the actual philosophy behind that statement, what it is saying is, harm none, do what you will, as long as you are not doing anything that is with outside of the boundaries of natural law right for you to do. That's what the Will, with a capital W, as we talked about on the previous program, really is. I don't know if the way I'm explaining it is clear to people. If anyone wants further clarification call in ask and we could talk about it, but that's what that statement means and that's what the Will is.

It is doing that which is within our natural right to do and nothing else. Nothing outside of those boundaries. Not stepping on other people's natural rights. Once you do that then you're not in the Will with a capital W. You drop in consciousness and you're doing the personal egoic will, and this was the difference that we brought up last week when we discussed the concepts of magic and sorcery. It is critical to understand the concepts of natural law when we discuss magic and sorcery. What that entails. It is critical to understand the concept of will.

The two forms of will, the higher Will, which we basically ascribed a capital W to, like some people do with the higher self, giving it a capital S as opposed to a lowercase letter, because the language that we speak limits us in many ways. To talk about higher will versus egoic will, so in the way I explain it in my presentation and on this show, I distinguish with the capital letter. The capital W will is the will of creation and accordance with natural law. Harmony with natural law principles that create order.

The lowercase will, which is the will that the sorcerer, not the alchemists or the true magician, exercises. The sorcerer exercises the lowercase will, and this goes against natural law principles. This is for the selfish gains, the selfish tendencies of the practitioner of this influence of the science and art called sorcery. This this being who practices this art is saying, “forget about the Will of creation, forget about natural law principles and other people's rights, let my will be done, because that's all I care about.”

So to go back a little bit to the statement that this gentleman made on Facebook in response to a post that I had commented on, his solution was external control. And he stated later on that he doesn't have a problem with externally imposed government. External control, that's his solution to the problem of everybody living according to their perceptions of what is moral, and therefore creating a lot of chaos in the world. That we need external control to solve a chaotic problem.

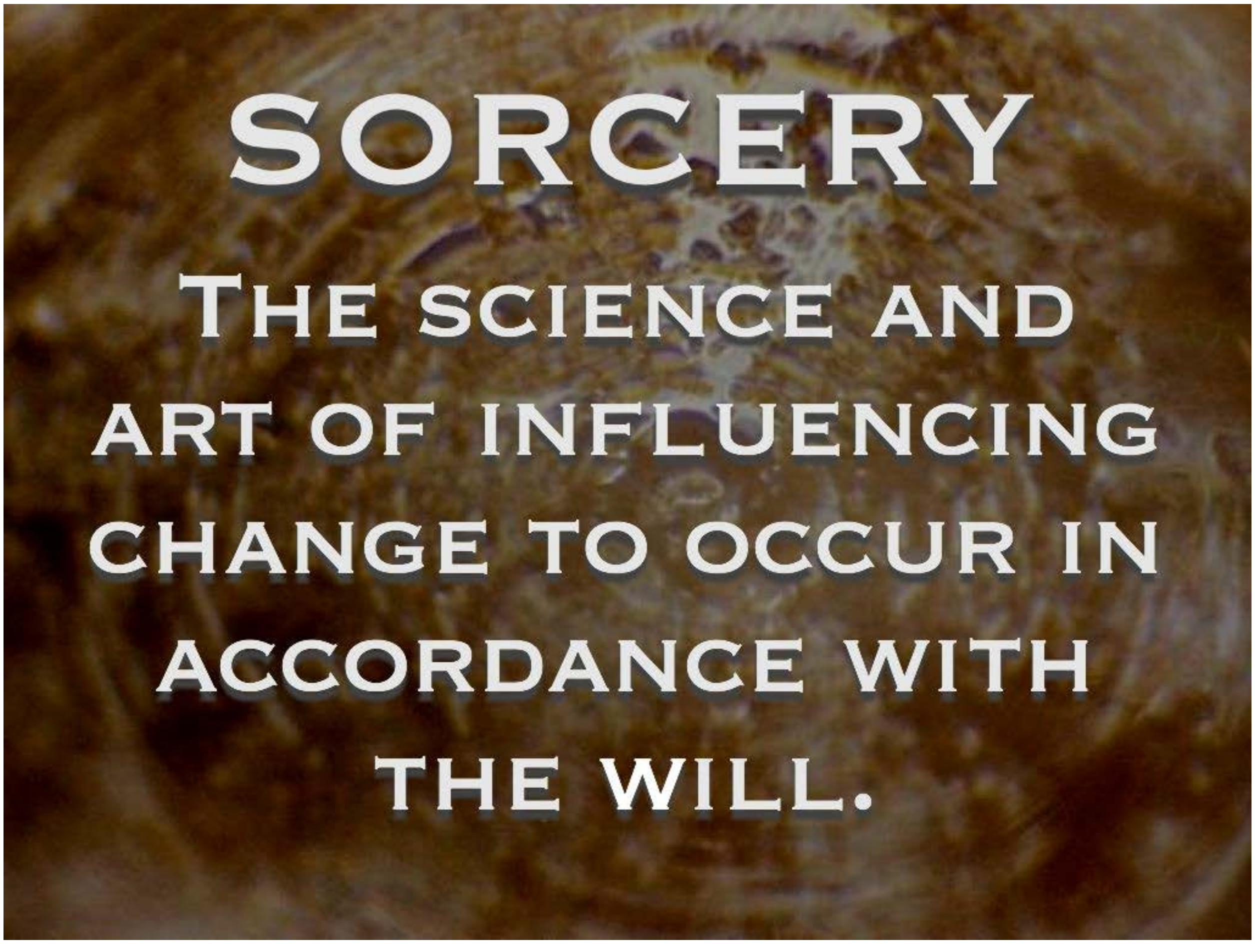
That's the very definition of sorcery, and again I've also described this with the metaphor of “I'm going to dry those wet clothes by pouring more and more water upon them. You wait and see, you wait and see. I'll get it done that way. Don't worry about it. It may take some time but I'll take these buckets of water, I'll take this garden hose, I'll continue to put water on those clothes and they'll get dry. You watch.” That's exactly what this is. This person has zero, zero understanding of how natural law works. Zero.

But in many ways that can't be blamed on the person themselves. So many ignorant people come up into this society because they're taught in ignorance by those who are already ignorant. It's a self-propagating machine. That's what our reality has become, a self-propagating virus. The blind and the uneducated, the ignorant, teach the next generation of the blind and ignorant. And it's a sad, sad, sad thing.

And once again at the risk of sounding condescending, I'm not here to make friends with people. I'm not here not to offend anybody's sensibilities. I'm here to explain why we're in the mess we're in. That's what my job is, and I do happen to understand how that works. That's not an egoic statement, that's not me bragging. There are many people throughout history who have understood how this works. Some far, far more intelligent, and far better human beings than myself. I'm not saying I know it all, I'm not saying that I'm perfect in any way, because believe me that's far from the truth.

What I am saying is I understand the general principles of how we got into the mess that we're in as a species, and I do understand what it will take to get us out of them. Whether people will follow up on that I don't really have control over that. That is up to each individual to learn about how this works and to decide whether they want to come out of that state, or not. And if they desire to do that then that will happen. They will be able to understand the same things that I have many people who have studied this have come to understand, and if they use their willpower and do so they can get themselves out of that state of consciousness and become part of the true solution to the state of consciousness of the whole.

Because that's how the whole changes. The whole changes, the totality changes, when the individual units that comprise the whole change. That's it. If we want to change the external reality, then we've got to change ourselves. We have to change the way we think, and we have to change the way we behave. That's it. It's that simple. Easy, no. Simple, yes. No one's claiming this to be easy. I had to say the words "I was wrong" so many thousands of times, and I will save them so many thousands more. But most people are trapped in the state where they refuse to say those words. They refuse to admit that to the universe, that they bought a lie and that they propagate a lie.



SORCERY

The science and art of influencing change to occur in accordance with the will.

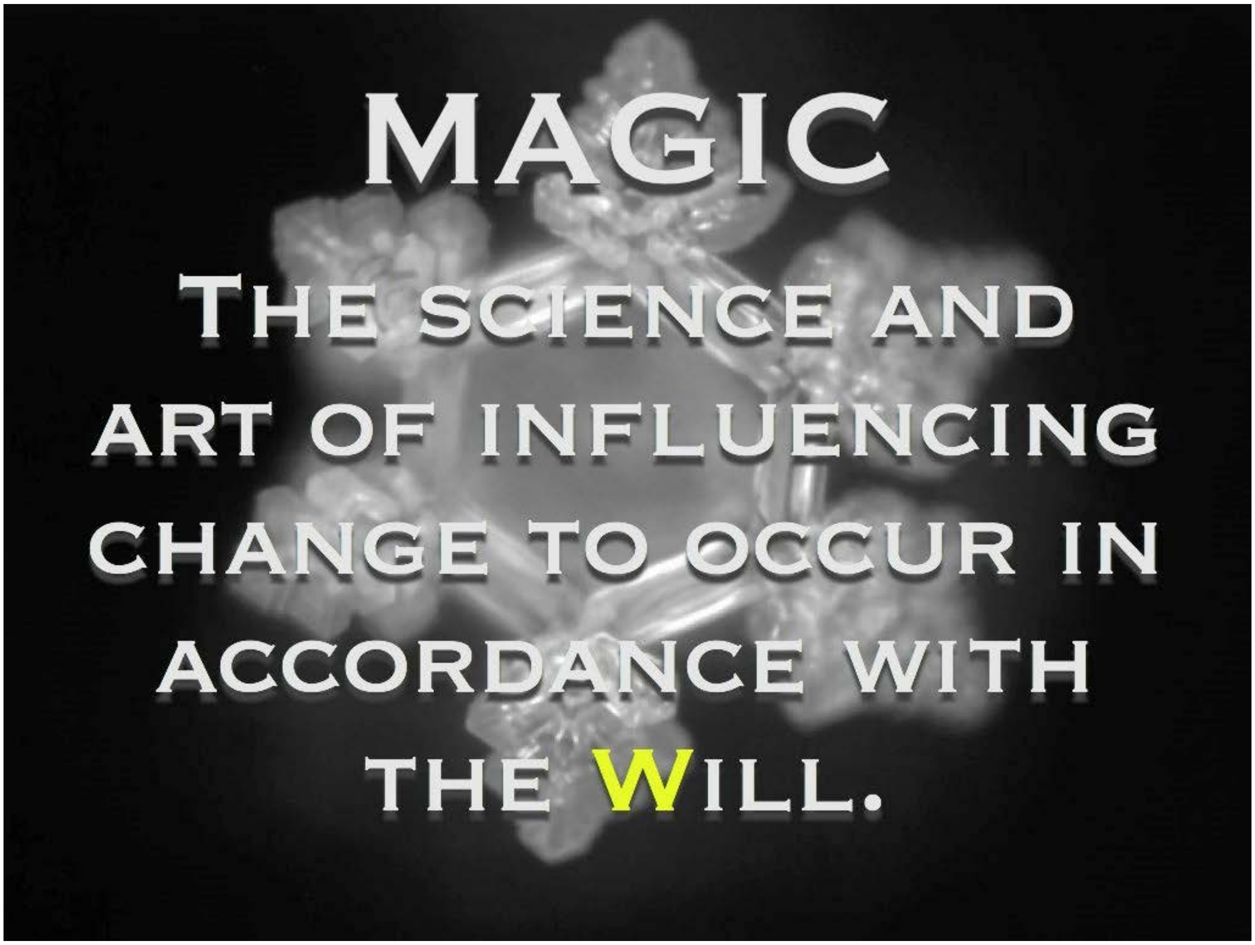
Disharmony with natural law comes through this level of ignorance, and all it creates in the world is chaos. That's critical to understand. This is what the sorcerer wants. Sorcerers, controllers who have a lot of knowledge about how things really work, and all they want to do is use that for advantage over their fellow human beings to benefit over them, to get personal gain and advantage over their fellow beings because of what they know and understand, they know that this law exists.

They're well aware of it, and they bend it. They don't break it. They bend it, because if you're in a position where you understand that, and you can control information, and you can hide how these principles work, you can get people to obey you, do your bidding and believe in whatever nonsense and illusion you peddle, and the sorcerers of this world are very, very, very adept at doing that. They understand how this works, and they're very good at obfuscating it and teaching people garbage so that they never understand how it works. And as long as people don't understand how these principles work, they will always be ruled by people who do. And who want to use that knowledge to rule other people.

See there are many people who do understand how these principles work, and all they want to do with them is to propagate them to other people so that other people stop creating their own self-inflicted suffering. And so on a mass scale they stop creating hell on Earth. Because we're well on the way to creating a total hell on this planet, and we're in a unique opportunity where these principles are being openly discussed and shared in a myriad of ways. There's such a plethora of information out there on these principles.

There is so such a wealth of information and information flow, we live in a unique time in history where natural law can really be grasped and understood by anyone. The information is out there if we choose to reach out and grab it. If we choose to pay attention to the right sources of information, meaning morally right, and meaning correct, to understand the dynamic and can explain it correctly. This exists. People may not want to hear that and that's ok, but there is no question truth exists, natural law principles exist, and morality exists. There is such a thing.

All of these things are knowable. What deep-seated ego is, is the refusal to accept any of those things that I just stated. The refusal to accept them, that is the satanic force at work in the world. You can call it whatever you want, but it is the force that divides you within, and it divides people from each other, prevents them from ever coming together and being able to live in social harmony. And this force has people. It owns people. It owns their minds, because they've been peddled sewage by the sorcerer's of this place.



MAGIC
THE SCIENCE AND ART OF INFLUENCING CHANGE TO OCCUR IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE WILL.

And here's the other concept that rolls along with this as I wrap up talking a little bit about magic and sorcery. See the magician wants to bring people together, the true alchemist, to elevate consciousness, to help people understand natural law so that they can put an end to their self-inflicted suffering through ignorance, and through ego. Attachment to wrong ideas that they just they can't admit are wrong ideas. They'd rather go to the grave, they'd rather die than admit that they were wrong. That's how deep of an ego hold this satanic illusory force has over the minds of people of this world. They would kill themselves and others around them rather than admit “I had bought a bad ideology. I bought a bad notion, a bad idea.” They can't admit that.

See belief is one of the strongest forces in the world. Not gnosis but belief. People so desperately want to cling on to their beliefs because it's all they know, and to take that away from them is to take away their self-identity. We're going to talk about in the second hour the barriers to realizing the true self-identity, not the illusory one based on ego, and based on attachment to ideas that are simply morally incorrect, and not based on any kind of truth moral or otherwise. They're just wrong ideas.

One of the biggest beliefs is that sorcery doesn't exist. This is a belief. What I say to people who refuse to accept the influence of the occult and occult principles is, “do you believe that there's such a thing as radical Christianity?” and they'll say “yeah I believe that there is such a thing. I don't believe there's such a thing as occultism and sorcery in the world.” Well if a radical Christian group suddenly went and fired in the vicinity of an abortion clinic and you got hit by the gunfire because you happen to be going to the bank or the restaurant next door of that clinic, did you need to believe in their ideology to be affected by that event?? Absolutely not.

Other people have an ideology and they're acting on it. Whether you believe that that exists or not, or whether it has effect on you or not is irrelevant. It does exist and it can affect your life, so the refusal to even believe that these forces exist is very prevalent, and that itself is ego. Many people don't even believe that this is what is really taking place, that there is occulted knowledge that is being used against the people of this world.

There are so many people out there that they'll see the problem sometimes in the external manifestation, but to address the causal factors they look the other way. They don't want to go there. They don't want to see that. They don't want to admit or face just how dark of a place humanity has come to, and to do so means that certain influences in the world must be acknowledged, and one of them is the concept of the occult. Hidden knowledge. It's all the word occult means. Hidden.

See there's a mind trick with words that has always played on people. It's obfuscation. You tell them that a word means something, but it really doesn't quite mean that. It is one possible connotation where you dissuade them from looking in to that concept further. So if you played a word association game with people, 98% or more people, if you say the word occult, the word that they're going to respond - with just try it with anyone – the word in a word association game that people will respond to when you say “tell me what the first word that pops into your mind when I say the word occult,” the word that they will come back with is “evil.” Evil.

They'll tell you occult is synonymous with evil. And it can be, but that isn't what the word means. All the word means is hidden. It comes from the Latin verb occultare, and the Latin verb occultare are a means “to hide or to conceal from sight.” That's it, and that's all the word occult means. So when you tell people that there’s hidden influences at work in the world, that many people have termed sorcery, they will immediately reject that notion out of hand. Because they feel they know it all and that they know how the world already works. There's nothing out there that could have possibly slipped by them and escaped their attention. They're so perceptive. They're so understanding of exactly what's going on in the world around that them there's no way anything like that exists.

Because they'll say “I don't believe in that crap. How could it have any influence over my life or my existence?” This is a fatal fundamental flaw in people's philosophical makeup in their psyche. They actually believe that for something to have an effect upon them, they have to understand it, know anything about it or believe it at all, and that's not true. The idea that ignorance is bliss, that what you don't know about can't hurt you is utter, nonsense. What we don't know about is killing us. Ignorance is not bliss. Ignorance is chaos, and suffering.

And the way I try to illustrate this metaphorically to people is, you don't personally ascribe to radical Christian fundamentalist ideology. And the person will say something the effective “no I don't. I don't believe in radical ideologies like that, where I'm trying to impose a belief system on somebody else and if they don't want to accept it then I'm willing to be violent toward them.” And I say “well does that mean that it isn't having some sort of an influence in your life or in the world?”

See that's the same notion. People say “I don't believe in the occult. I don't believe in sorcery. I don't believe that has any influence in my life.” It doesn't matter what you believe. Other people believe in certain ideologies and they're willing to act upon them whether you believe it or even know that it exists or not. Conceive of the situation where somebody may be sitting in a restaurant eating dinner, and they have never heard of radical Christianity. But there may be an abortion clinic next door and some stray automatic weapons fire may pick them off while they're eating dinner. They knew nothing about that ideology and it doesn't matter. You can be affected by an act of free will gone awry, gone astray. By people believing in nonsensical notions and being willing to act upon them. That exists, and it has an influence over your life.

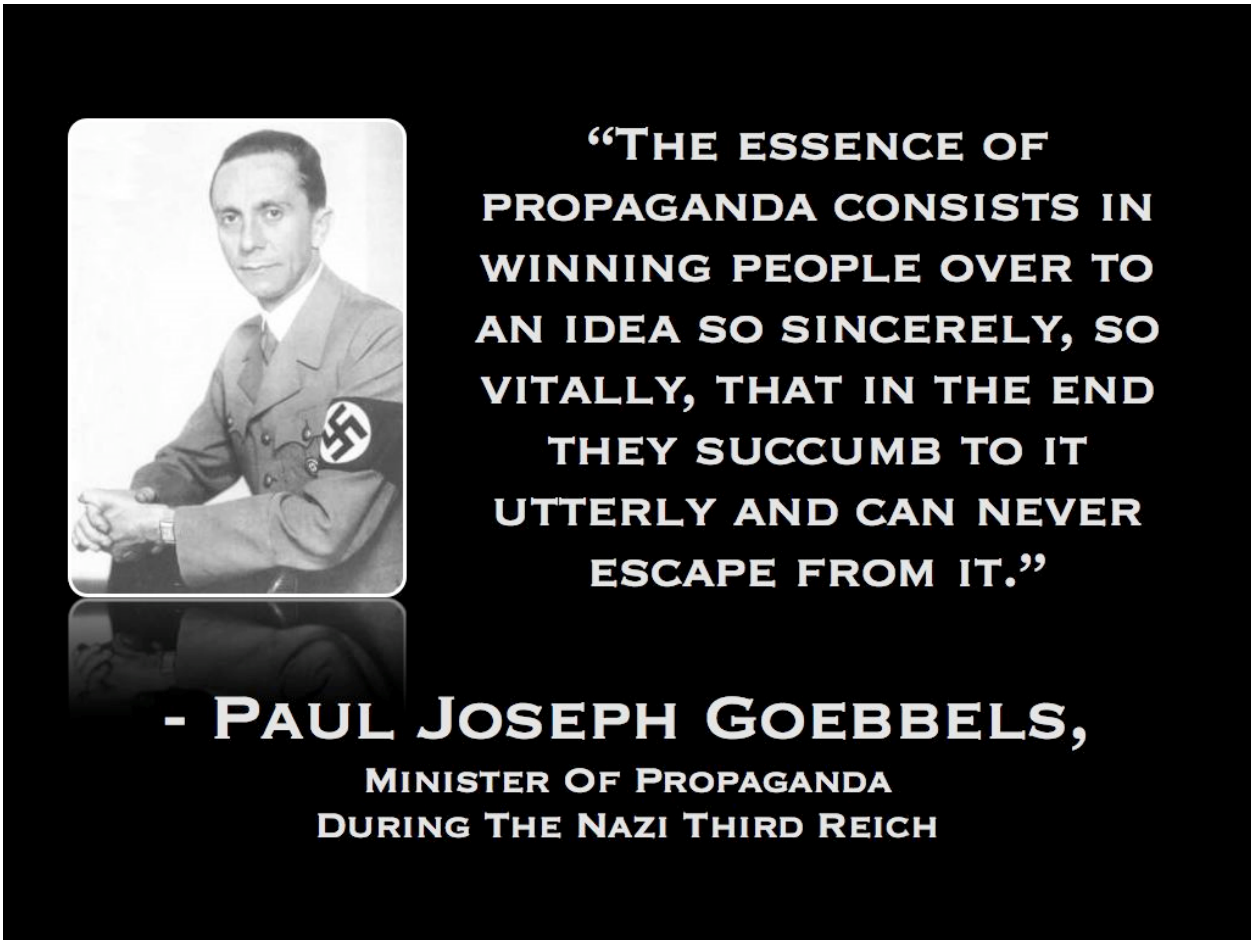
The way to better prepare against the negative or harmful influences of such dangerous ideologies, such as sorcery, is to learn as much as possible about them. That's the only way you're going to be in a position where you could defend yourself against them. And until we understand how sorcery works in the world, how its methodologies are structured, and how the people that are using these principles and these influences work in the world, we are going to as a species, as a whole, remain largely powerless to make any changes or to defend ourselves against those influences.

So the definition of both magic and sorcery was “the science and art of influencing change to occur in accordance with the will.” In the definition for magic the Will has a capital W because it means coming into greater alignment in accordance with natural law principles. With truth. In the definition of sorcery, the word will is in lowercase. It means “my selfish egoic will.” The will of the sorcerer himself. When we come into alignment with the art of magic we are attempting to create non-dualism, oneness within sovereignty, the recognition of sovereignty of all beings, the recognition that natural law exists and that it is operating in our world and we are bound by it.

Only by helping to assist other people to come up to higher levels of consciousness, the art known as alchemy, are we going to get out of the self-inflicted suffering that we are in as a species. If we continue to fall prey to sorcery, or even attempt to use it, we are going to create more, and more, and more chaos and suffering in the world. Because that's where we're at now. We're at a place where sorcery has run so rampant in the world that we live in, that we have a situation of total chaos. Almost complete chaos. People think that there is order here or that we're going to be moving toward more order if things don't change are delusional.

The new world order that we're largely moving toward is going to be one of total control and total chaos. It's not going to resemble anything like order. But there's another new world order that we can build they would be based on true order, because it could be based in love, it can be based in self-respect, it can be built with the art of true magic - alchemy - helping people to raise their consciousness to higher levels to understand how higher law works. That there is such a thing as morality, that there is such a thing as truth. And that's what I attempt to do.

The alchemist can only be in influence. He can never do the work for another person. He can only do his own work. That's it, period. Can't do it for you. It's been said one may only show someone else the door but then that person has to walk through it. That's it. You can only nurture the conditions that surround the seed. You can plant the seed and then nurture the conditions around it and then hopefully it will sprout and grow. But in many ways it looks like people are too attached to what they want to believe, what they've been fed as truth and that they are so attached to, that they just can't break out of that mindset.



"THE ESSENCE OF PROPAGANDA CONSISTS IN WINNING PEOPLE OVER TO AN IDEA SO SINCERELY, SO VITALLY, THAT IN THE END THEY SUCCUMB TO IT UTTERLY AND CAN NEVER ESCAPE FROM IT."

- PAUL JOSEPH GOEBBELS,
MINISTER OF PROPAGANDA
DURING THE NAZI THIRD REICH

I want to read a quote that describes that condition because we're going to talk about this a little bit more as we get into the barriers to self-realization. The minister of propaganda during the Nazi Third Reich in Nazi Germany in the 1930s and 40s was Paul Joseph Goebbels. Goebbels was an expert at sorcery. He was an expert in mind control. He was an expert at propagating lies, disinformation and utter nonsense that could only lead to more and more human suffering, and it did. And he did a great job of it. He was wonderful at his job. One of the best of all time.

This is a quote by Goebbels. He said “the essence of propaganda consists in winning people over to an idea so sincerely, so vitally, that in the end they succumb to it utterly and can never escape from it.” Let that really sink in. This is a statement made by the minister of propaganda during the Nazi regime. This is ego identification, which is one of the things we're going to be talking about. It's one of the greatest barriers to self-realization, the attachment to being right, and the attachment to a belief that you have put your whole heart and mind into accepting as reality.

This is the essence of mind control. This is what mind control is. It isn't what it's like, this is what it is. You could substitute the word propaganda in Goebbels definition or statement with the word “mind control” because that is the same thing. And this is the methodology that has people completely owned externally. Most people do not own themselves in the world today. They are wholly owned by minds that are outside of themselves. Other people's propagation of an ideology that is only put out into the world to control their minds, their feelings and their behaviors. That's it.

And for people that don't want to believe that mind control exists, you do not understand anything about what's taking place on this planet. The end. You do not get even an iota, even a small tiny, tiny bit of what's really going on. Mind control exists, it is real, there are methodologies for it, the methodologies are well known, the methodologies are practiced, the methodologies are sharply refined, and they're doing one hell of a job on people.

They're doing a better job on people in this country than they could have ever dreamed of doing during the Nazi regime during the Third Reich in Germany in the 30s and 40s, because they have turned it up not only psychically, they have turned up the heat chemically through food, they have turned up the heat digitally through the media and the devices that most people pay attention to now in their very homes and they have turned it up spiritually through the propagation of ridiculous notions that are propagated in the New Age movement.

It's a multi-faceted, multi-tiered attack system, and until people wise up to it, things are going to continue to get more, and more, and more uncomfortable. And people are going to suffer a whole lot more, sadly, but it's a choice. Let that be known it is a choice whether we suffer or come out of this mess. And the choice lies largely in one concept, in one notion, and that notion is understanding who we really are. It can't be stated any more simply than that.

Once we understand enough about us, about ourselves, the true nature of our being, mind control will no longer have any effect upon us and it will melt away, but as long as we stay attached to all the things that prevent that awakening and that realization of who we really are, the suffering will continue, the mind control will continue, the externally imposed control of all kinds will continue, and it will not relent. Not one second, not one instant before we wake up to the realization of who we really are.

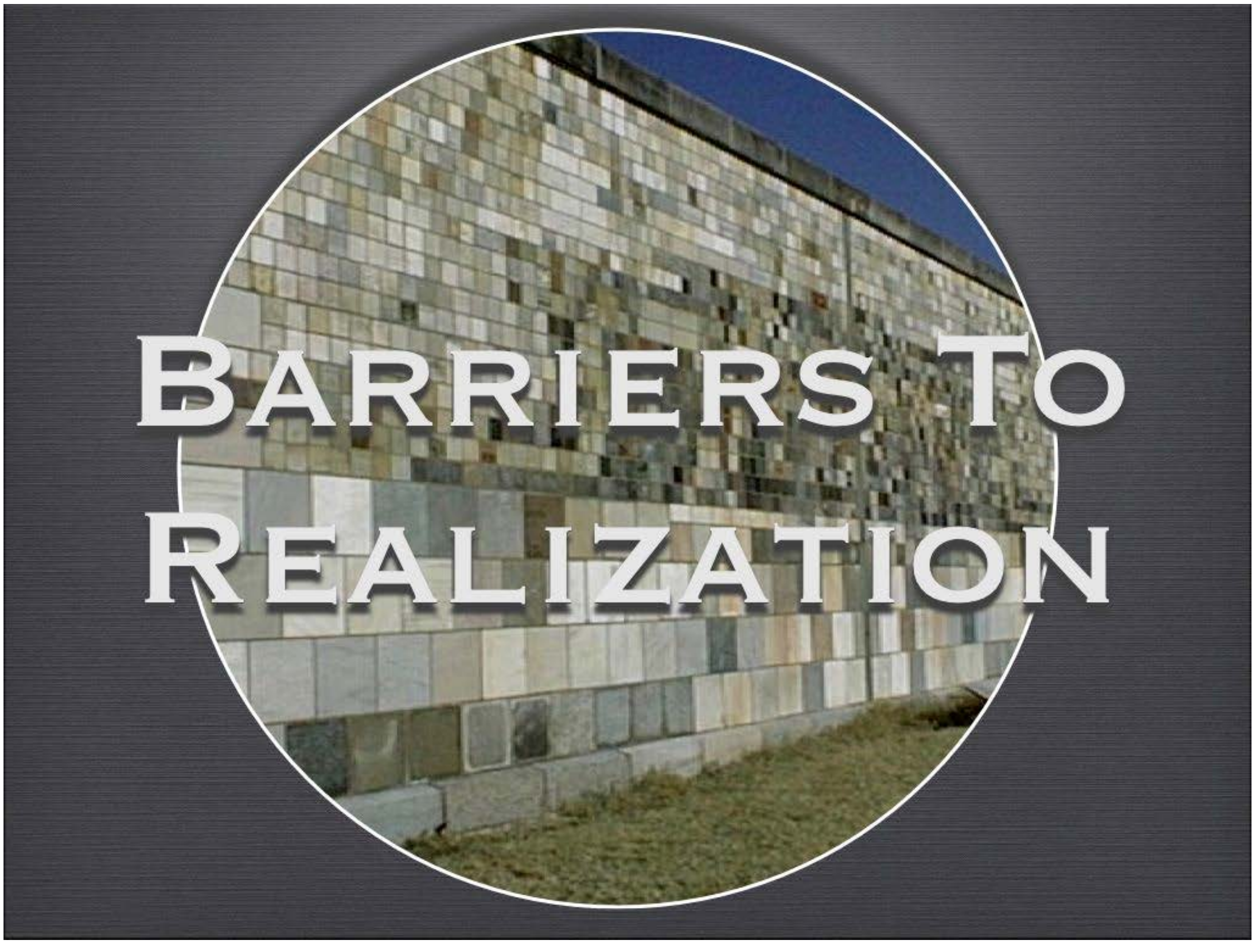
Let's just look at the word realization. Let's just break down the word. Let's think about the word realization. Real eyes. It means to see with the real eyes. Only when we are seeing with the vision that can help us to accurately perceive reality, accurately perceive that which is, accurately perceive truth, only when we acquire that vision are we going to be in a place to come out of all of the self-inflicted suffering that we have created for ourselves. And it's doable. It is possible, the potential where that exists, whether we'll will that into manifestation is another story.

I don't think anyone can say with certainty whether we will do that or not. If we do it, we have the potential to create at this time in history a way of being on the earth that has probably never before been seen and that we can scarcely imagine. This is part of the problem, is that we can scarcely imagine it. The human imagination is suppressed. Sorcerers who want to control other people always need to stifle the human imagination. They need to stifle, they need to suppress and put a lid on, what we are capable of imagining is possible.

Because if you can't even imagine the possibilities of what could be, you're always going to be trapped with what is, with the way things are now. And you see so many people say “that'll never change. I can't imagine how that could ever change.” Well that's why it's never going to change. Until you can imagine it you're not going to bring it into manifestation. The imagination creates everything. It is that the greatest power of our thoughts. So the suppression, and ultimately the desire to exterminate the human imagination is what the sorcerer wants to bring about.

The very definition of mind control is “the extermination of the imagination,” because if you can't envision how anything could be different than what it is, you're trapped exactly where you are with no possibility for any real change for the better. It has to be imagined before it can be done. The imagination is the greatest power that we possess and I would say that to attempt to destroy it is one of the greatest methodologies used against the human species by those who seek ever greater control. What I describe as the sorcerers of the world. The sorcerers of consciousness. People who just want their will to be done, don't care who they need to step on to get that done.

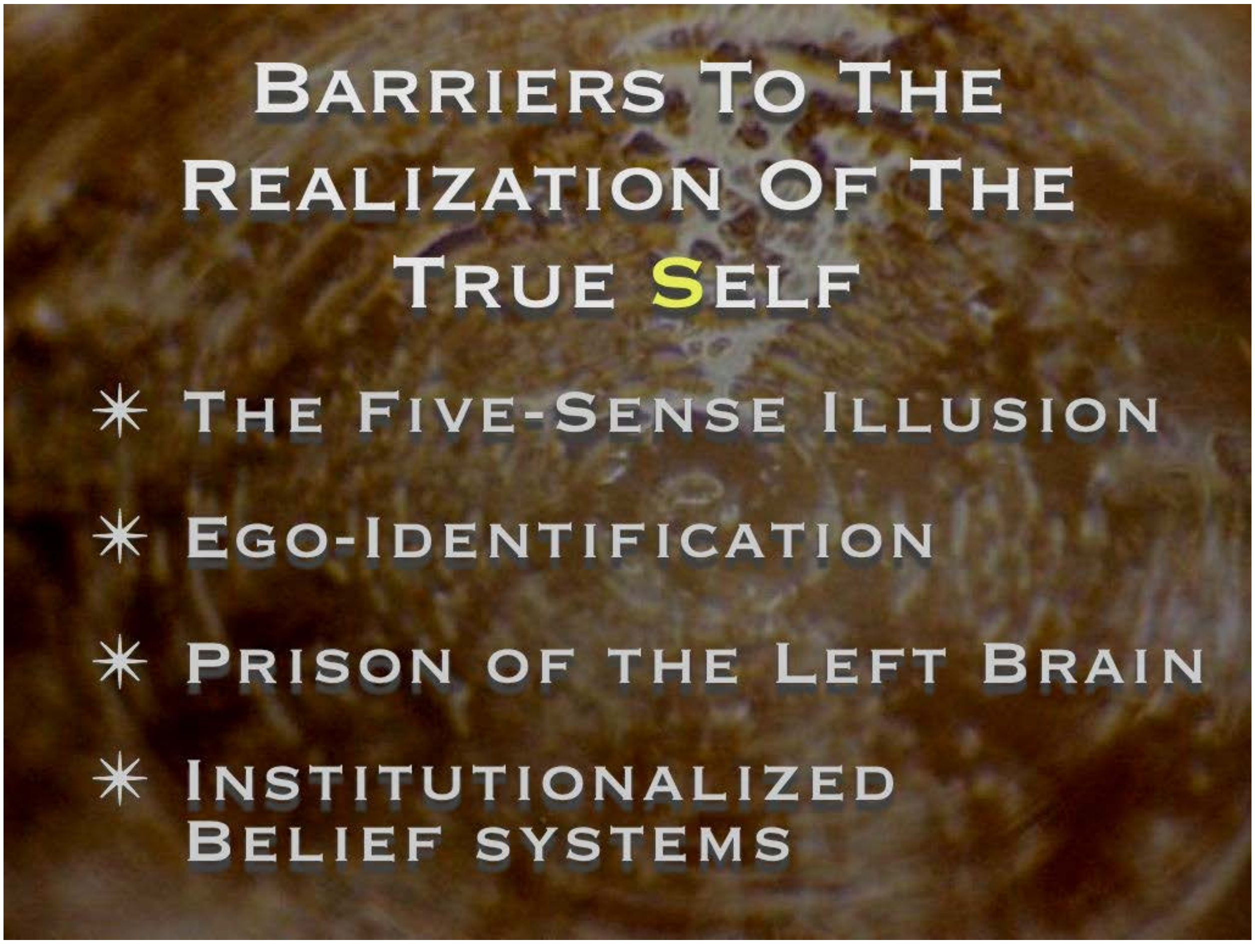
So they need to keep us in ignorance of who we really are, and before we even get into all of the qualities that explain who we really are, before we can even look at that aspect of it let's, look at how we prevented from using our real-eyes-asian. Why can't we see? Why don't most people already know who we really are? What's taking place within us? What's taking place around us? Why does ignorance abound.



Barriers To Realization

Well, I've analytically broken this down and helped explain it better through words, into four basic categories that I call the barriers to the realization of the true self. And again I'm going to bring that notion in to describe the higher self, or the idea of who we really are, with a capital S as opposed to a lowercase s self, which would be the lower self, or the ego identified self. We're going to look at the things that block this awareness, this knowing of who we are.

We're going to look at what blocks the realization of the true self and I'm going to list them, and after they're listed we'll take them one at a time. We won't get to them all this week, we'll continue with this next week. I'll list these barriers to self-realization and then I'll discuss them individually. I present four of them.



Barriers To The Realization Of The True Self

- The Five-Sense Illusion
- Ego-Identification
- Prison of the Left Brain
- Institutionalized Belief systems

The first is known as the five sense illusion, and probably that is the only one we will have time to delve into any depth this evening, then we'll continue with others. The second is ego identification which we'll probably get to next week, that's if we even wrap up the first one tonight. The third is the prison of the left brain modality of consciousness. This is something that the educational system in the West does a very good job of keeping people locked in. And the fourth and final barrier to the realization of the true self which we will discuss here over the next couple of weeks is, institutionalized belief systems and people's attachment to those systems of institutionalized belief

Caller #1: What you're saying about everything manifesting through thought and the whole concept of everything comes from that idea or decision, it's so absolutely true. I've been on I guess you would call it the shamanic path.

I like describing it like that personally. A shaman has been described as “one who can see in the dark.”

Caller #1: I agree with that thought. My husband and I had a really interesting experience today of exactly that happening to us, where we finally made a decision to make something part of our reality, and made the decision which inherently means that you take the first step, and the second step, and the third step to make that decision or that thought a reality, and I feel like all of a sudden we're on the way to a dream that we thought was a pipe dream earlier today.

Well I think that's magnificent and I think that's a great path to be on together.

Caller #1: We're looking into the Earthship Philadelphia Project which is amazing. Earth ships are basically homes that are made out of recycled materials pretty much completely, tires, bottles, cans etc and they are completely off the grid. They use water collection, they take care of their own sewage, they use natural sources for heat and electricity, they use low energy appliances, and basically these are homes that are that are using the world around them to sustain the home itself. So it is completely off the grid sustainable housing. In addition it has a place in the home for food production as well so you can sustain yourself fully off the grid.

And the unfortunate situation is that the architecture institution as we know it gets in the way of this. The Earthship Philadelphia people are ready to go, they have the money and they pretty much have worked everything out but they're experiencing a large amount of red tape coming from license and inspection, and a lot of other governmental institutions. Because the reality of the situation is if people can sustain themselves they're no longer slaves.

That sounds like a cool thing to be involved with and, I want to just comment on what you said before about how you made this decision to go off on this path together, and I just think it can be so much more powerful when more minds and more aware people come together as a group, because it makes the intention manifest so much more powerfully and again, one of the biggest parts of this is the intent and projecting that intent forward. And that is the power of our creative ability. We are co-creators of our collective experience, and I think it's just great that you guys are doing that together, and have found each other and found people that want to do that with you. It's just a great thing.

Caller #1: I wonder how Tesla coils would work in conjunction with this type of design.

Well the Tesla coil simply illustrates a principle that Tesla worked with. That device itself is not so much a practical device. What Tesla was really experimenting with, particularly when he was out in Colorado Springs when he had his laboratory out there, was standing waves. He was studying lightning and he was studying understanding how natural standing waves work. And he was developing a system of wireless collection of energy from the ionosphere. The solar wind places in an immense amount of electrical energy in our ionosphere. It's charged particle energy. He was working on a way to essentially tap into that voltage differential between the ionosphere and the ground. This he was doing through the Schumann cavity, which is basically that area between the ionosphere and the ground, and he was trying to find a way to bring that energy down to conduct whole regions of the ground.

What that would mean is electrical devices would be able to be plugged into the Earth. You wouldn't need an infrastructure and it would be completely wireless. Imagine that. It was possible. He demonstrated this principle in a low scale effect. He was building Wardenclyffe tower on Shoreham Long Island New York at the turn of the century, to try to begin to implement this on a mass or industrial scale. I believe according to some of his writings he estimated that approximately 12 of these types of towers would need to be built throughout the world to be able to essentially electrify all the populated regions of the earth.

More scientists are starting to rediscover and relook into Tesla's theories and take them seriously, because this guy was an order of brilliance beyond other brilliant inventors of his time and our time. I mean he was truly a prodigy and he truly had a balanced brain. He truly had a connection to that right brain hemisphere where intuition and imagination really flowers and comes into full potential. He used the left linear procedural brain very effectively, but his true uniqueness came from his ability to tap into that right brain hemisphere and use it in conjunction with science. He made that bridge, that bridged the gap between science and spirituality or science and imagination, and he really brought those two things together and that's what it's going to take.

So we were talking about the barriers to self-realization so let's get into the first one. I would say that I'm definitely not even going to have time to finish explaining on this show so we'll probably ride this out till the end of the show. The five sense illusion. This is a left brain imbalanced idea. It's the ideology that only that which can be perceived with the senses is real, or can really be looked at as real, be perceived as real. So only what our sensory perception organs can pick up, that's all reality is comprised of. There's nothing else outside of what we can see, hear, smell, taste, and touch. Or what we can perceive with our created extensions of those senses, which is what we call our technology. So nothing else is real except what we can perceive with the five senses.

And this has been called the five sense illusion because people are attached to the idea - and again you're going to hear that word be brought up with just about every one of these barriers to self-realization when we talk about them - because it's the attachment to these ideologies that creates all the suffering we experience, and it's the attachment to these ideologies that make us not be able to truly realize who we are. And until we let go of these attachments, we're not really going to make any progress toward solving all of the self-inflicted and seemingly never-ending problems that humanity is currently going through. Everything we call evil, that we experience as evil, or negative, or bad.

So let's look at matter. People are attached to the notion that matter is completely solid. That because I can't pass my hand through a seemingly solid object, that it is a definitive solid, hard formed thing, and that there is actually no potentiality in that thing. People are so attached, and I would even go so far as to use the word ignorant about this notion, that I'll tell a little anecdote that happened to my girlfriend who is a nurse. She was at the hospital one night, I guess it was a slow night, and her and a couple of the other nurses were kind of talking about this idea about what matter is.

Barb brought up the notion that matter is made up of atoms, and atoms are always in motion. That if you were to look at for example a chair or a desk under high enough magnification - there's not actual microscopes that can see the actual atom. We can come close to perceiving through different colliders and things what the structure of the atom is, but to actually see it in motion small enough there's no visual technology like that currently - but if you were to be able to perceive that, you would see incredible, incredible motion. Seemingly chaotic motion. Motion that can't even be conceived of, the speed with which these subatomic particles move and vibrate.

And when she tried to explain this to another one of the nurses on the nursing staff, and she said “you know if you actually looked at the molecules and the atoms of something like a chair or a desk you would see it's in total motion. I mean it would be moving and vibrating almost chaotically and crazily,” and the person actually looked at her and said “oh you're so crazy, you're so crazy.” She had actually not even really heard this notion before, that at the very, very, very small, or the quantum level, matter is in such chaotic motion and flux that we can even scarcely conceive of how fast it is moving. That we perceive of it as still and solid.

When we understand more about the structure of matter, we get into more modern interpretations and experimental observations that matter is not solid at all. As a matter of fact, it is only a potential to exist. And only when the decision to observe it is made does it actually form an actual point particle. So if we look at the subatomic particles at a very, very, very low scale, we would see continuous flux, or motion, or what has been described as pure potential energy, potentiality. The potential to manifest something, but a mind, a consciousness must become involved to actually create and form that potential into a manifested experience.

Now that's a mouthful, but in science this is known as “the observer effect,” and I'll probably be explaining more about the observer effect next week. But to re-illustrate some of the ideas of how the five sense illusion keeps people trapped in limited ways of perceiving themselves, their own consciousness and the world, we can look at an example of frequencies. We can look at frequencies of light and sound. We look at the visible spectrum of light, what the eye can actually perceive as far as wavelengths of light energy goes, we can see that our eye can only detect a minute fraction, an infinitesimally small fraction of the totality of wavelength spectrums of the full range of wavelengths that actually exists, as far as light energy is concerned.

We break that down into what we call the color spectrum. We can see red, orange, yellow, green, blue, violet so on, and the shades between those colors. Combinations of them, which create all the colors that the eye can perceive. But essentially it's an extremely, extremely limited frequency range that the eye can pick up, and we don't perceive the infrared wavelengths, or the wavelengths that exist below the color red. We don't perceive the ultraviolet wavelengths, or the wavelengths that exist above what we call the color violet, or purple. Does that mean that those wavelengths or frequencies of light do not exist? Of course not.

They exist. They're in creation. They are in manifestation, but the eye cannot perceive them. We don't decode those wavelengths with the equipment that we have. The biological technology known as the human eye. Look at the example of a dog. A dog can hear frequency ranges of hearing that a human being cannot hear. If a dog whistle is blown, no human being is going to respond to that dog whistle, because our biological technology, our equipment called the human ear, which receives and decodes those specific frequency ranges that are within human hearing, a dog whistle falls outside of that frequency range. So a dog will perceive sound frequencies that are higher than what a human ear can perceive.

We have to get out of the attachment that only that which can be perceived with our sense organs, our biological technologies, is all that exists. It isn't true and that belief is an attachment that stops us from really understanding the totality of ourselves.

What On Earth Is Happening Show #007

Topics: Barriers To Self-Realization, Five-Sense Illusion, Ego-Identification, Left-Brain Prison, Institutionalized Belief Systems, Double Slit Experiment, Observer Effect

I want to tell a little interesting anecdote about something that happened me earlier today. So I was out doing some things as part of my involvement with the Tesla group in this area and I went over to the free library since I'm going to be MC’ing for the event there. I went over there to check out the facilities and gauge what we'll be needing, so for the people involved in the logistics I could let them know what we'll need, how many people we’ll need and things like that to help out with the actual technical things in there.

And as I was coming home I was walking on Arch Street in Philadelphia toward Reading Terminal Market, and people were out there from an environmental organization. I believe it may have been Greenpeace or another similar environmental organization and they were stopping people on the street handing out literature, giving people information, and as I was coming one of the gentlemen involved with the group pointed over to me and he said “sir do you have a moment for the environment?” and I said “sure, do you?” and he said “what do you mean?” and I happened to be carrying some information about Nikola Tesla with me, because I was on my way to a business that may be a potential sponsor for the event.

And I said “a lot of the green movement and the people who are trying to organize different projects, they have good intentions, they understand there's problems with the environment, but a lot of their solutions don't really go far enough. They don't really take into account what really is possible from a technological standpoint, and this is largely because people who have a vested interest in keeping the energy paradigm the way that it is, they want the environmental movement to act as a controlled oppositional paradigm. Not a true solution for the energy shortages or woes or however you want to word it, because free energy is never mentioned by them.

Tesla is never brought up, as if the man who gave us alternating current technology that powers our homes and our devices now, with all of his brilliance and foresight and the vision that he brought forward into the realm of science, he wouldn't know better than they how to actually harness the wheelwork of nature, as he called it. To actually tap the enormous reserves of energy that are all around us and bring them to the people of the earth cleanly, and freely. This is possible. This is doable. It isn't some pipe dream. It isn't some wild-eyed optimist vision of how things could be. It is very possible.

Tesla was well on his way to being able to achieve this, and if we get our heads out of the “this can't be done” way of thinking, this totally controlled way of thinking about what's possible and we apply our imaginations collectively, we can make that vision happen. It is possible, but we have to be able to envision it, to imagine it, and then not just think about it but will it to happen. To actually go forward and do it. And we have the minds and the resources to do that, but the problem is the suppression of this level of scientific know-how, understanding and the suppression of people's imaginations by the status quo, by the controlling class, by the people who have a vested interest in keeping things the way they are, even at the expense of the very planet on which we rely for life.

This is slowly going to be broken down however because, people like this organization are not going to stop. They're going to go forward, they're going to show people that this is possible and they're going to make this happen. So get involved. I tried to wake up this young gentleman who has great intentions, but when I asked him about has he ever heard of Tesla? No. He doesn't know what he tried to do. Imagine that. He's not talked about in history books because they don't want schoolchildren to imagine that this is possible. They want them to accept the way things are, except that it always has been like that and accept that it always will be like this. And that simply isn't true.

So I told him a little bit about what Tesla was, what he tried to do, and I could tell the wheels started spinning a little bit up there. Because when I said "imagine a world that would have no dependence, and would not have to rely on mining, or on drilling for oil reserves in the ground, we wouldn't need to use oil at anywhere near the rates that we're drilling it and consuming it now with Tesla technology. You would power your homes with free wireless electricity, and power your cars the same way. You wouldn't need internal combustion engines and all the parts that go along with it. And this is possible, but will we will it to happen? Do we have the internal will, and the spirit of discovery, to combine science with the imaginative and creative capacity that a being like Tesla had and displayed in his lifetime?

We need to look to somebody like Tesla as an inspiration for what is possible, and that is how I view Tesla and that is why I am involved with this group, because ultimately the control of energy is the control of human beings. It's that simple. This show is about freedom and I think it's time for energy to be freed, because energy is the basis of what we all are, and if it stays in a controlled paradigm then we will stay in a controlled paradigm. It's critical to the understanding of the big picture how energy is controlled, and how the controllers use it to control us. It's all about manufactured lack. It's all about keeping people dependent.

Today's topic is going to be a continuation of where we left off last week when we were talking about what prevents people from understanding who they really are. What I call the realization of the true self. Not the lowercase s self, the ego centered self, the purely physical self, what some researchers like David Icke for example have called the body computer, the five sense physical world self, lowercase s. What prevents us from understanding our higher self, the self with a capital S.

So why is this important to understand? Why is this a critical distinction to make between these two aspects of the same word. The self. Well we started this program weeks ago and I brought up the idea that ultimately all knowledge really worth understanding is self-knowledge. The knowledge that is going to really get us out of the mess that we are trapped in right now, is knowledge of who we ultimately are. Self-knowledge. This is important because if we are to understand the root causal factors that create the suffering that we experience here on earth, we need the ability to tell truth from falsehood.

And ultimately that comes from knowing who we really are. From understanding the true self. The higher aspects of the self, and this is what consciousness really is. True consciousness is letting go of attachment and illusion, getting out of believing in fantasy and nonsense, and it's understanding what is real versus what is not real. Understanding truth which is what is real, what actually is, from falsehood, which is inaccurate perceptions of reality or outright deception and lies.

And sadly, the reason that humanity is in the unfortunate position that it is in right now, is because vastly, vastly more people than not have not developed this capability. The ability to understand and be able to tell truth from falsehood. This is the, the, underlying causal factor of why we suffer. I will continue to stress that every week here, and I will continue to repeat that every week. That is the root primary cause of what is taking place on this planet.

Now when we talk about issues like truth, invariably there will be people who insist upon the idea that there is actually no such thing as truth. That perception is reality. This is the notion and the ideology as we talked about before on this program, known as solipsism. Look it up, understand it, and also understand that this is the main root ideology that leads to suffering. People insist upon the notion, the belief that there is no such thing as actually being able to know what is taking place, the truth, and they insist that their own perception is reality. Not just their perception of reality, but perception is reality. This underlying ideology gives rise to every other ideology that creates suffering in the human condition.

It's called solipsism. It leads to pure left-brain scientism, or high intellects divorced from wisdom. The kind of things that lead to hydrogen bombs being built, instead of wisdom prevailing and someone saying “should, hydrogen bombs be built?” Not intellect saying “can we build them? And if we're paid enough, will we build them?” See that's left brain intelligence only, which says “can it be done and I'll do it if I'm paid enough to do it. Let's find out if it can be done and if there's a budget there, I'm in.” But true wisdom would say, “should I be doing this? Is it right?”

Wisdom always asks the question “is it right?” which leads me to the next ideology that solipsism creates. Moral relativism. Not knowing that there is any such thing as true right and wrong. The idea that these are relative ideas and that there is no such thing as morality. Well that follows ideologically, because if there's no such thing as truth. which is what a solipsist believes, then there isn't any such thing as morality certainly, because there's no such thing as right or wrong. It's all relative.

This is the notion of moral relativism. That's a very quick and slippery descent from there to social Darwinism. The idea that some people have the right to decide who lives and who dies. And from there you get totalitarianism, you get eugenics, you get genocide and every other extreme level of suffering that we experience over, and over, and over, and over again endlessly, seemingly, until we get out of that underlying ideology. So we discussed that and that's very important into understanding what blocks us from understanding the higher levels of self.

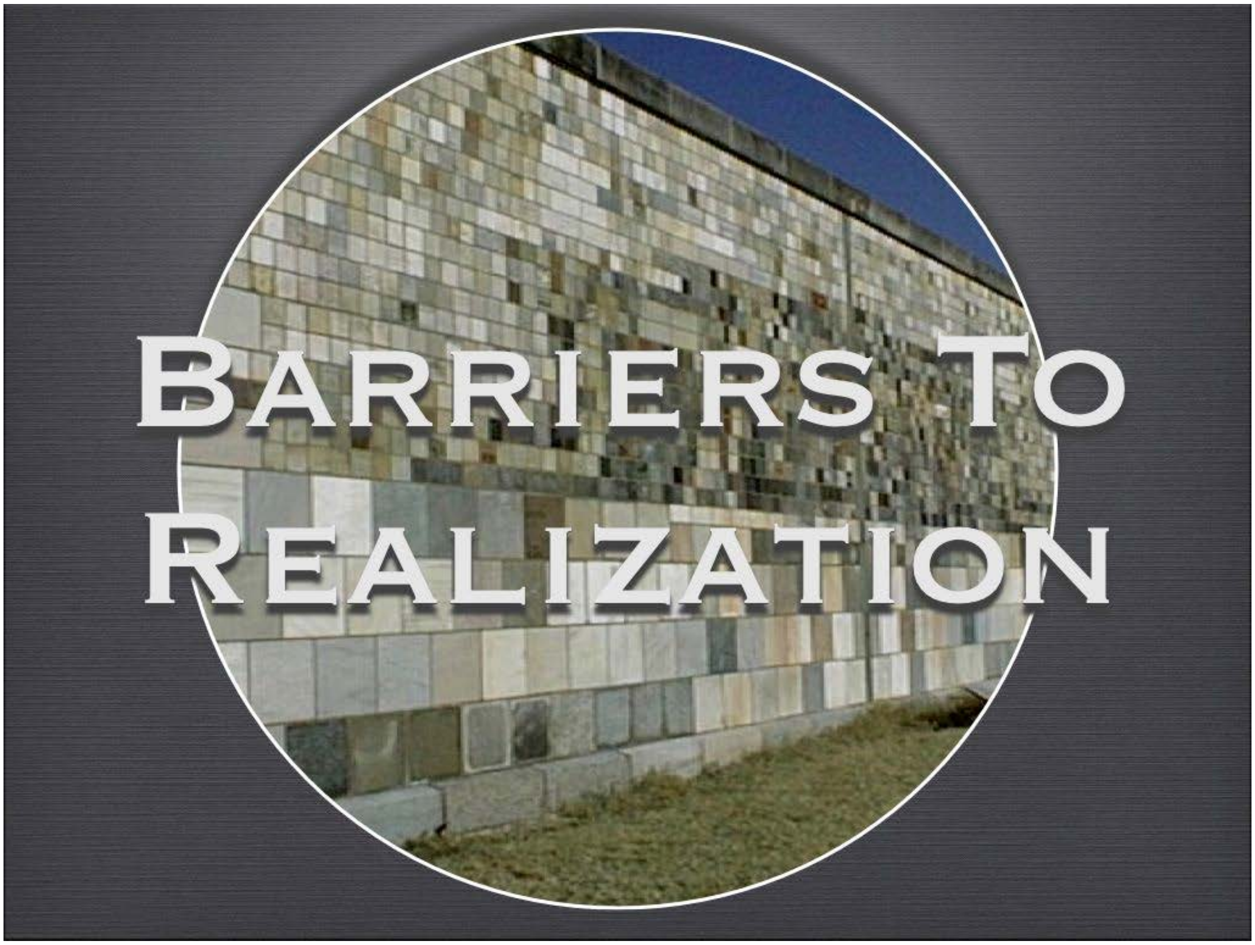
We talked about the aspects of human consciousness. Thought, emotion and action, and how those three have to brought be brought into unison with each other such that we are being that as they think, so they feel, so they act, and that they cannot be internally divided through the force called opposition. Internal opposition within. That's what divides our thoughts, our emotions and our actions, and gets us to take action against what we really think, or believe, or feel.

We so discuss the human brain. We talked about the components of the brain, because that's part of understanding who we really are. We need to understand how the brain functions. We need to understand what will balance, or imbalance the brain, and we talked a little bit about what creates brain imbalances, and we talked about what happens when the left brain becomes extremely imbalanced. And I'll be discussing that a lot tonight on the program. I call this the prison of the left brain. When somebody becomes so left brained, that they are trapped in that unit dimensional linear way of thinking - the prison of the left brain, it goes hand-in-hand with some of the other barriers to self-realization that I'll be talking about.

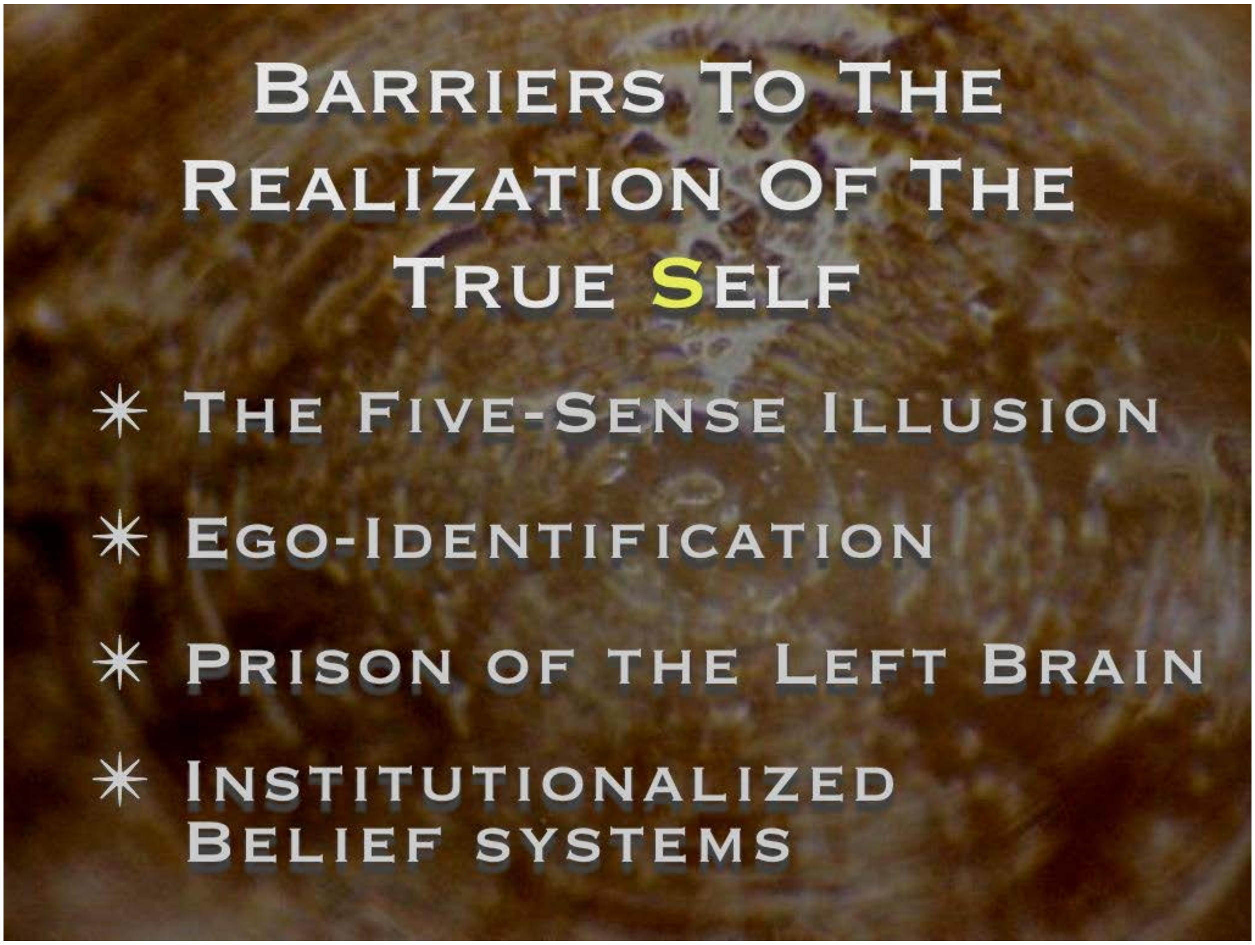
On this show previously we talked about the dynamic forces of love and fear. Love being the expansive force of consciousness and fear being the force that shuts consciousness down. We talked about how those things are intricately related to the worldview that people hold, and brain imbalance ties in with that. What kind of worldview do you hold? How do you see yourself in relationship to other human beings, and to the universe in general? A connected part of the whole of this ocean of consciousness, of awareness, or is everything separate and is it every being out for themselves no matter who they have to step on to get what they need?

Worldview. We talked about the schism of the two extremely imbalanced worldviews. One to the left brain, one to the right brain. Those being randomness and determinism. In past weeks we talked about the forces of magic and sorcery being the arts and sciences of influence. How to influence thought and behavior. How to create change, not only within the self but in others through influence. We talked about how these forces lead to two conditions, order or chaos, and the underlying understanding of how order and chaos are ultimately created in the world, is called natural law.

We talk a lot about natural law in previous weeks and we will discuss that further in future weeks. What creates order? What creates chaos? Order is ultimately based on the dynamic of awakening consciousness, or love energy. It is ultimately based in brain balance, the balance between the left and right brain hemispheres. Chaos has its roots in fear and it has its roots in external control of other people, and that is an outgrowth of fear, or the force that shuts consciousness down, such that we do not understand who we really are and we remain in a state of internal confusion and external opposition. And that's how chaos is created.



Last week we began the discussion of the barriers to self-realization, and I'm going to continue with that now by re-listing them, and then we'll take them one at a time, and I'll continue to expand upon them each individually. There are four main barriers that block us. These are walls that are already erected from the time we come into the world, and that we continue to strengthen. We continue to erect these four others that come after us, to perpetuate the same condition and that is ultimately the lack of understanding of who and what we really are.



Barriers To The Realization Of The True Self

- The Five-Sense Illusion
- Ego-Identification
- Prison of the Left Brain
- Institutionalized Belief systems

These four main barriers to awakening to the realization of the true self are as follows. The five sense illusion, that's number one. This is identification with matter, with the material realm. Identification and continual focus upon only the physical level of being. Now the physical level of being is important but being so attached to it that you really pay no attention to the mental or spiritual levels of being will get you in the mess that we've gotten ourselves into. So that's the first barrier to really waking up. The identification with the world of matter. Not understanding it as a construct for experience, but actually believing that's who we are.

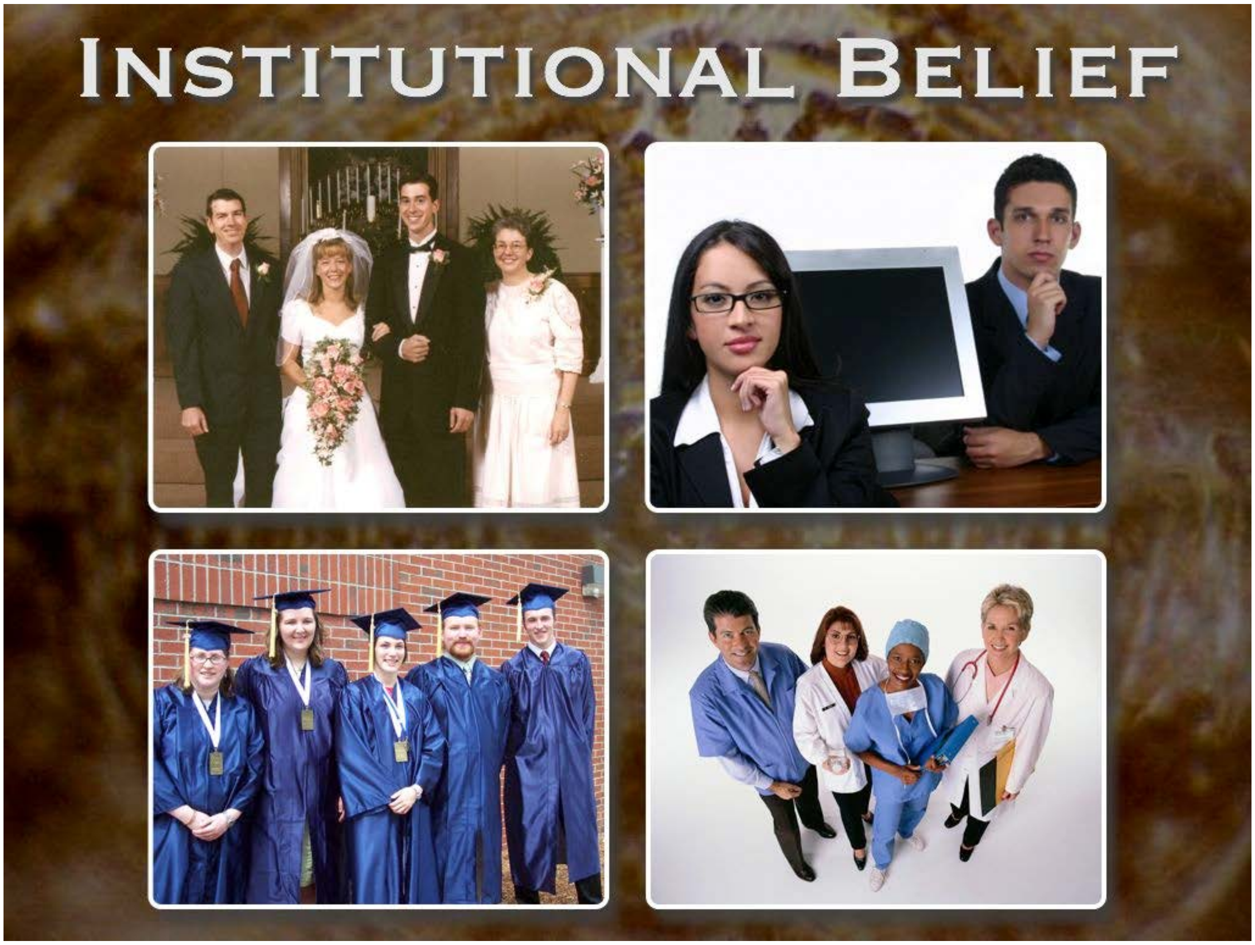
EGO-IDENTIFICATION

Number two. The second barrier to the realization of the true self, the higher self, is ego identification. So this is a second form of identifying oneself with something that one is not, or in other words with illusion. It's identifying oneself with a role that one plays, and believing that the role is who one is. This will be the equivalent of an actor starting to believe that they are the character they play. So this is called ego identification and we'll look at deeper aspects of what this is, and we'll look at specifically what the ego itself is in the way that I am using it here. That's the second barrier to self-realization.

The third barrier is, the prison of the left brain. This is a very popular methodology employed by sorcerers, people who want to control other people and not have them fully be aware or see how they are being controlled. And I assure you, I guarantee you, that the vast, vast majority of the people in particularly in the Western Hemisphere, and particularly in what we call Western civilization, are firmly trapped in this prison. Firmly trapped in the prison of the left brain. This is the inability to think in a non-analytical, nonlinear, intuitive way. What traps people here largely, is the planned and very methodical indoctrination that they are put through in the modern so-called educational system that we have in Western civilization.

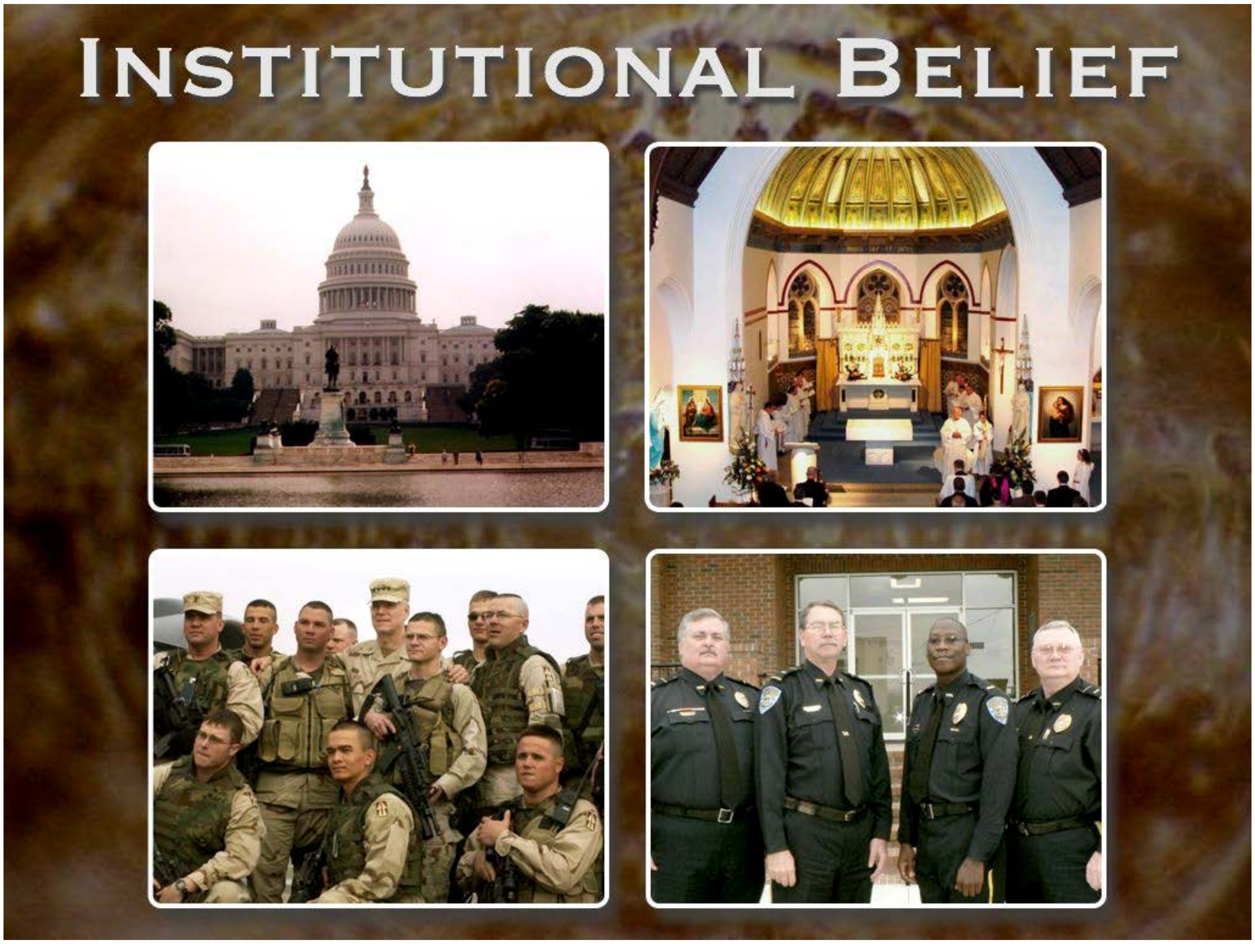
Now that is not to say that people in the eastern hemisphere don't have the same problem, because many of them do as well. It's even more prevalent in the Western Hemisphere, but it is a favored methodology of mind control. Let's get down to brass tacks and call this barrier to self-realization what it really is. It is one of the methodologies of mind control, and if you still don't think mind control is what's really ultimately behind all of this you haven't really learned a thing. This is what is really driving the devastation of human freedom and human sovereignty on this planet. This is what's really creating all of the conditions that we don't like and don't want on this planet, that we call bad, or negative, or evil. The prison of the left brain.

The third barrier to the realization of the true self, is a critical one, because so many people are trapped in that modality of consciousness. And when they're trapped there, they’re only really half of an actual human being. They haven't developed the intuitive faculties, they haven't developed the nurturing faculties, the Sacred Feminine aspects that go along with being connected firmly with the right brain hemisphere. That's not to say the left brain hemisphere is an equally as important, because it is. They need to be brought together in balance. So that's the third barrier to self-realization.



INSTITUTIONAL BELIEF

And the fourth barrier could be the strongest. This is another form of attachment. It's the strong belief and attachment to, institutionalized systems of thought. So I'll say that again. Being strongly attached to institutionalized ways of thinking and being in the world. Institutionalized belief systems, because that's what these ultimately are. They’re ideologies and they’re belief systems. They're not philosophies, they're not true understandings and they're not recognitions of anything. Certainly not recognitions of natural law principles. What these institutions are, are ideologies that are erected to protect themselves and perpetuate themselves. As such, these become institutions or institutionalized ways of thinking and behaving.



So we'll be getting into what those are and how they have a firm stranglehold on the human mind. And until we break down the attachment to those institutionalized belief systems, don't expect much to change on this planet. Sad to have to break that news to you, because we need to do so much more in the mind, in consciousness than most people think. We're a long, long, long way off from where we need to be. For people that think they're going to just work a little bit within the system and make a change happen in the system, and everything's going to be fine, most people that think that way are kidding themselves.

Because the system is what's keeping things the way it is. These institutionalized systems that are all around us, are what's keeping things the way they are and what's actually controlling people, because they have a firm grip, and a firm control, and a firm stranglehold on the minds of almost every human being walking on this planet. They're the boxes that we bring to the table. “Let's make the truth fit in my box. Oh I'll listen to you up to a point. I'll hear what you have to say on government, but don't talk about my religion being astrotheology. Anything but that. Now I'm walking in the other direction. Let's discuss the whole monetary issue, but don't tell me about the poison that's in my food.”

See most people have boxes that they bring to the table, and this one ties in with ego identification. Barrier number two, out of these four extreme strangleholds on the human mind and spirit. Ego ultimately is the inability to say the three words “I was wrong.” That's what ego ultimately is. I was in the car a couple of days ago talking with a couple of gentlemen involved in the Tesla Foundation, and I was talking to them about some things that I thought I was sure and right about, and I'll briefly as an aside just tell this anecdote.

When I first really, really started to come online and understand what was really going on in the world as far as mind control goes, and as far as all the multifaceted forms of control that surround us, that keep our minds in such a limited state as a species, that destroy the human imagination, I was still quite naive at that point, and I thought it would just be a matter of alerting some of the people around me to what was going on, and explaining to them that people who don't have their best interests at heart we're getting them to believe in all of these things that aren't true, and if I simply laid out some evidence before them they would they would appeal to reason. The reason in it and the logic in it would be seen by them.

How wrong I was, as anybody who is at least a semi-decent level of being quote-unquote “awake” or conscious could tell you. It isn't just a matter of explaining information to people. See because they're shut down at a deep ego attachment level. Their consciousness is shut down from the level of the inability to admit that they are wrong about something that they are firmly attached to, that they believe is the case, that they accepted as their perception of reality and began to believe that that is the accurate perception.

So they formed an attachment to it, and even beginning the process of giving that up is too much for them to bear because they have their identity wrapped up in it. Or barrier number two. Their ego is identified with it. They’re attached and identified with that belief. So that this is what we're going to be more deeply talking about and further fleshing out for the remainder of this program.

I'm going to start with number one which we touched on briefly at the end of last week's show, and that was the five sense illusion. We talked about that the five senses are our ways of experiencing reality and the universe. These are our biological technologies. Our eyes. These are receptors for certain visible wavelengths or frequencies of light. So the eyes are one of our receptors, antennas if you like. Ways of picking up frequencies. You have your ears. You could hear sound frequencies within a certain range that the biological equipment we have is attuned to, that is capable of picking up. We have smell which works on the same principles. We have touch and we have taste.

The five senses. Now why do I call it the five sense illusion? Well this is because what we get wrapped up in is identifying with the frequencies, the wavelengths that we can pick up with these sense perception organs. We get wrapped up in the notion, in the belief, in the idea that this is all that exists. Hand in hand with that notion that only those miniscule frequencies in the totality of the frequency ranges that do exist, that we can pick up, are the only ones that exist. Hand in hand with that flawed perception, or way of seeing what we can perceive, goes the notion that matter is purely solid and that it is a solid physical thing.

Now that is an abstract notion. It an abstract thought, and most people have a difficult time with that one. The people that have a difficult time with that one usually are the very left brain imbalanced, or left brain prison people. They have a problem with that one because their five sensory perception is telling them “wow matter is solid. I can't put my hand through that piece of wood, that piece of metal or that brick. It's solid. It is solid at the macro level at which we experience it.”

So what I want to start to talk about today and I'm going to spend a decent amount of time on this, because in my presentation when I give it live I don't really get a long time to flesh out this idea and I think it's critical, critical for us to understand how this really works. So the five sense illusion of matter when we're talking about large amounts of matter, or the macro domain - macro meaning big, large things. Things that we can see - we experience them as solid, but what they are made of are atoms. And if you ask anybody that knows even a little bit about the structure of an atom, they will tell you; one, we don't really fully understand what an atom is even to this day, and two, an atom is anything but solid.

It contains upwards of 99.999999% empty space, and those quantum physicists who study matter at the quantum level, the very, very small scale, will tell you even that level, even that small amount of matter that we think is solid, is actually when you get down to examining it, only a tendency. Only an expression of energy. Only a potential. That being the key word. Potentiality. This potential, which is pure energy, becomes manifested as a physical particle, physical matter and as events in our reality.

We were talking about the barriers to the realization of the true self. The barriers to self-realization. Right in the word realization there is a clue to what it is. You are using your real vision because you are using your real eyes. This is not accidental; this is not coincidence. This is something that as you start to understand more and more about what is really going on, and as you open your consciousness more and more, and you open your mind up to possibilities, and to imagination, and to higher level understanding then pure intellect, then left brain understanding.

When you open your mind to the wisdom that is contained and is nature, is natural law principles, is the divine ordering intelligence that is inherent in creation, you start to understand that the truth is embedded in the language that we speak. Words can tell us so much about deeper meaning, deeper purpose and to help us to gain an accurate perception of reality regarding what's taking place within us, and in the realm in which we exist. The so-called external world.

So right in the word realization, is real eyes. Phonetically realization, using your real eyes - kind of like in the movie The Matrix when they unplug Neo from his pod and they're rebuilding his muscles, they're helping him to be able to function in the real world again because he was trapped in the land of illusion, he was trapped in fantasy world in the Matrix. And he asks as they're assisting him in this process of helping to build up his strength, he says “why do my eyes hurt so much?” And the answer that comes back from Morpheus is, “because you ‘ve never used them.

Most people here are not using their real eyes. They see things from a skewed perspective that is based in brain imbalance, that is based in fear, that is based in a poisoned view of themselves and the world in which they live, and most of all is based, is rooted, and the reason that it is there is due to deep, deep mind control. Let's make no bones about that. Let's not sugarcoat it at all and let's call it what it really is. Mind control. Ultimately breaking out of that false paradigm of reality, of that mind control that most people are embedded in, is coming to an understanding of the true self.

That's what getting out of mind control ultimately is about. Knowing who we really are. Becoming self-realized. Seeing with the real eyes, which equates to being able to see the truth as it is. Being able to see the world around us as it is, not skewed by how we wish to see it. That is ultimately what self-realization is about. The ability to tell truth from falsehood.

So we were talking about the five sense illusion that we have sense perception organs that are attuned to be able to pick up certain frequencies of reality, but not all frequencies. An example is the human eyes cannot see colors that exist below the red range of colors. We call this the infrared spectrum. The infrared frequencies. Infra meaning below. We cannot see below red. Now above the violet frequencies, called the ultraviolet, the human eye cannot perceive.

Does that mean there are no frequencies that exist at either of those levels below the red or above the violet colors of the visible spectrum? No. Of course there are frequencies there. There's an infinity of frequencies there. The eye is not attuned to perceive them and therefore we can't see them. It doesn't mean they're not there.

A dog whistle is another great example. The human ear attuned to being able to receive, and pick up, and process, and decode certain frequencies of sound. Does that mean that other frequencies of sound do not exist? That other beings with different sense perception organs or biological technologies would be able to perceive? Of course it doesn't mean that they're not there.

A dog can hear sound frequencies that a human ear cannot perceive. Well to a very left brain or a very five sense trapped individual, when someone blows a dog whistle they would say “there's nothing there. That doesn't exist. There's no sound there. No sound is being generated.” Well sound waves are leaving that dog whistle and they are striking your eardrum. Your eardrum does not have the capacity, the ability to pick up that frequency.

It doesn't matter whether you want to or not, or whether you believe that sound exists or not. It is there, and you will understand that it is there, just blow one around the dog.

They can perceive it. We cannot. Perception is not reality. When people are locked up in the notion that only that which they can perceive with the five senses is that which is actually taking place around them, they’re fooling themselves. They're entering the land of illusion. They're entering deep ego, which is barrier number two ego identification, and it fits hand-in-hand with the five sense illusion.

We we're talking about how people not only think of reality as only that which can be perceived with the five senses, but as matter, as being completely solid and physically solid and real, from a perspective of, this is actually what exists and this is all that is. That matter is the only thing that is important. This ties in with the notions that physical survival is all that is important, and that only physical well-being is all that is important no matter how much the mind may degenerate or the spirit may degenerate.

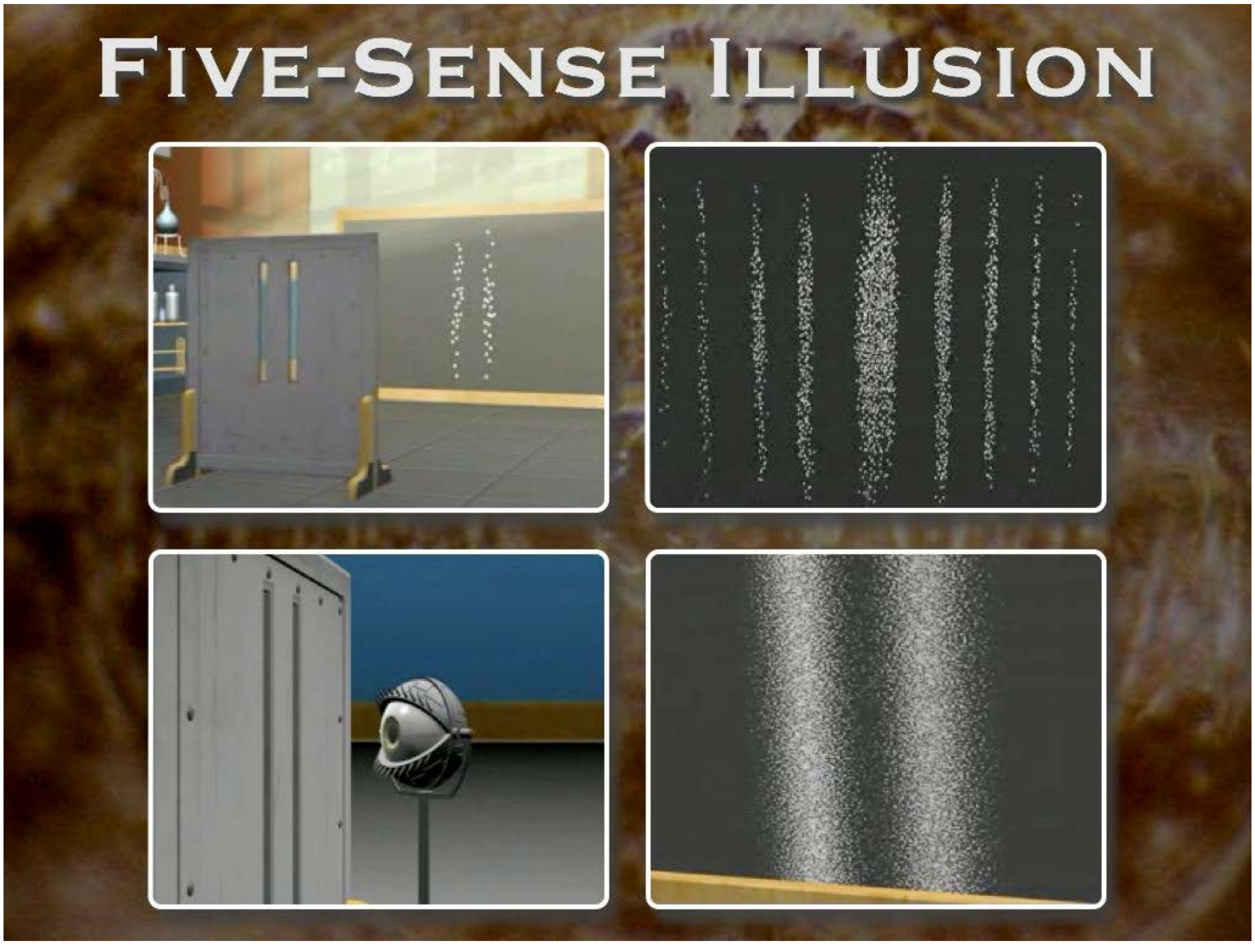
And this is a very, very, deep and difficult trap to be stuck in and it's difficult to get out of, because once were attached to these notions that the things we can perceive are all that exists and that matter is completely solid, we get into the state of having a severely, severely limited idea of what is actually possible. Because we have a severely limited idea of what reality contains. So we're cutting ourselves off from different choice points, we're cutting ourselves off ultimately from imaginative potentials.

Matter ultimately is actually not solid but is a potential energy. It has a potential to exist. If we look at the quantum level of matter, we will see that all matter really is, is energy that is vibrating at a certain frequency. That's all it is. It is not actually solid mass as we think of solidity. Now all matter is made of the same basic substance, vibratory energy. This is the basis of physical reality, and all reality, all matter, shares these same properties. It's what we are made of. It's what the stars and galaxies are made of.

So from the very, very, very, very small to the very, very, very, very large. From the micro domain to the macro domain, essentially matter is vibratory energy. That's the key thing to keep in mind. It ultimately does not actually have solidity as we are used to thinking of solidity. If you are able to perceive it at the quantum scale which is the very, very infinitesimally small scale, you would see that matter is simply vibrating energy with ultimately no mass.

Think of it like a guitar string that is plucked, and when you when you see it move you can think of it as “oh that's string is in all of those places at once.” What if you were to spin around a jump rope so fast, that it looked like a ball to the visual field? Like a fan. A fan blade is not in all of this the space that it spins in. The blades are only in half to two-thirds of the space that the full fan actually spins in. Now does that mean that you won't perceive that fan as something that solid if you put your finger in it? Sure you will, but it doesn't mean that the entire plane on which the fan is spinning in is the solid part of the fan. It's the same thing with matter and energy.

Vibration is what makes energy appear solid. So if you were to take a string, or a jump rope as I gave an example of, and twirl it extremely, extremely, extremely fast, you could almost make that appear like a solid ball of matter because no one's hand would be able to be put through it. It would strike the hand and depending on how fast it was going, it would actually feel like something that is solid if you could not actually get any other piece of solid matter through it, if you follow the visual example I'm trying to construct. We have to understand that is ultimately what all matter is.



Why is this important to understand? To illustrate why matter as potential is important to understand, I'm going to go into an explanation of an experiment in quantum mechanics that really blew a lot of scientists minds when this was first done in laboratories, and has deep profound implications for understanding how our thoughts, and actions, create the reality that we experience, through taking the total potentials that are available to us - some would call this the imagination, some would call this the unified field, some would call this the realm of pure potentiality. It has been given many different names. The imaginative realm, the realm of pure potentiality, the unified field of existence - that is where all potentials are derived from, and grow out of.

To understand that better we need to understand how matter works at the very, very, very small scale. Once we have a firm understanding of how matter works at the quantum scale - I know this will get a little bit scientific, a little bit technical - but if we understand this at a deep level, when you really, really get what is being said here, we will understand how we create our reality at a macro level, at the larger level, through our decisions. And what our decisions are doing are collapsing paths of potential. They are collapsing possibilities. Waves of possibility are collapsed through our choices, through our worldview, through how we think, and feel and ultimately by the decisions we make to actually act in the world.

And through a vast amount of people taking part in that activity, because we all take part in that activity every day. We decide what we're going to do with our time. We are thinking about ourselves, our role in the world, how we feel about different situations, what we're going to do with our time, what we're going to do with our resources, what we're going to do with our intellect, what we're going to do with how we feel about things and ultimately what we're going to do. The action we're actually going to take in the world. Now through everybody doing that we collapse these potentials that exist.

For anything to be able to happen, for anything to occur, potentiality, and we collapse them into the creation of what we are actually experiencing in the world. Now we will understand that a little bit more clearly when we look at how matter behaves at a very, very, very fundamental level. The quantum level. The very small level. Now the word quantum means amount in Latin. So what this word is used to describe is a packet of energy. An amount of what we call matter, which is essentially energy as we just talked about.

So there's an experiment in science that is not so fairly recent - it's been around for almost 20 years if not that amount so far, maybe even longer than that - it's called the double slit experiment. The double slit experiment, as in making a slice through something. Look this up on a video website and watch a video about this. It is amazing to understand how matter works at a small level.

What's more amazing to understand after I explain what this experiment was about and why it blew the mind of physicists all over the world who originally couldn't even believe or accept what they were actually seeing, what this will help us to understand, is how our choices create what we experience at the large level. Because ultimately we are made of this stuff. It is behaving the same way at the quantum scale all the time, and ultimately choice, consciousness and choice, free will is what is from this field of potential that I'm going to talk about when I talk about the experiment. From those available potentials it actually collapses down the possibilities, and then creates events that actually take place in our lives. And I'll explain that further.

Let's get into the experiment itself first. The double slit experiment is looking at how matter behaves at a very, very, very small scale. Scientists want to understand what the electron, one of the smallest sub-atomic particles, is. What is this thing that we call an electron? This orbits the nucleus of an atom, the center point of it. Before we even look at the experiment from the quantum scale, let's just envision the setup of the experiment. Before we do it with electrons, let's think about this at a big scale of matter.

Let's think of this if we were to do this with ping-pong balls, or golf balls, or something to that effect. If you put one vertical slit through a screen of some sort, let's say it was made of water metal. You carved a thin vertical slit. So let’s say you have a wooden a wooden panel that's eight feet by eight feet, and you're going to set this wooden panel up in front of something that your projectiles could pass through. So let's say you're going to do this with ping pong balls, and on the other side you have some form of a soft material that the ping-pong balls could get actually embedded in. You're gonna fire them really fast with a paintball shooting gun.

For visual effect try to envision this. So I have a gun that shoots paintballs let's use that because that's even easier to visualize. So you have paintballs and you got a paintball machine gun. Now you're setting up a screen, a wooden barrier between a far wall that you're going to shoot these paintballs toward, and you’re carving one slit in this wooden barrier between the far wall and the gun. So envision that. If you started shooting these paintballs rapidly through this one slit, the pattern that you would see on the wall would look like an individual line, a vertical line up and down, where the paintballs passed through the vertical slit and splattered on the wall behind the slit.

You would also have a huge mess of paint where the paintballs struck the dividing wood, the dividing screen, the barrier that we put in front of the wall. Try to envision that. If you put a second slit alongside the first slit, let's say separated by several inches or a foot and you did the same thing, you started firing the paintball toward these somewhat close together slits, you would get a duplicate pattern on the back wall behind your double slit. So you have it you have a barrier with two long vertical slits in it, and you're firing a projectile like a paintball through both of these slits.

On the back wall, everyday common sense would tell you that you're going to have a pattern on the back wall that looks like the two slits. Two vertical lines where the paintballs would have gone through one or the other of the slits and struck the wall behind the barrier that you put up with the slits in it. Now some of those balls would have gone through one of the slits, some would have gone through the other slit and some of them would have struck the dividing wall, the barrier wall with the slits, and not gone through one of them to strike the wall that is past the divider.

So hopefully that is clear and people can envision that. If you have a hard time envisioning it, I recommend you going to some video site like YouTube or Google Video or something like that and just type in double slit experiment. You'll get many visual representations of this experiment which are extremely interesting. So continuing with this, it's self-evident and it's very obvious that when you pass large matter through one or two slits, the pattern that you would get on whatever form of measuring device you have on the other side of those slits would be, vertical lines similar to the slit.

Okay so what quantum physicists wanted to really study is “how does matter behave at a very small scale? Is it the same as how it behaves on the large scale, or does it behave differently when you go down to the quantum level?” So what they did is instead of firing large bits of matter, they fired really, really tiny bits of matter. Very, very infinitesimally small pieces of matter, but pieces of matter nonetheless called electrons.

Initially they did it with something called an electron beam, so they're passing this beam of electrons through one slit, and they got one line. But when they were passing it through two slits, they didn't get the expected result. They didn't get two lines on the measuring device behind the barrier with the double slit in it. They were getting the pattern that you would get with a wave. I'll say this again. When they passed a stream of very small pieces of matter through this double slit, they would get the result that you would expect with a wave, which is called an interference pattern.

When you pass large waves like water through two slits, where the waves go through the slits, when they come out the other side there is a crest and a trough to a wave. Where the crests meet you have more energy. If a crest and a trough meet, you get a cancellation in energy. So you would see nothing in certain places and in other places you would see a measurement of the energy which was where the wave was striking the measuring device. This is known as an interference pattern, and you can see this when light passes through something that will block it, on the other side you'll get something called an interference pattern. If you pass light through something that is translucent you will get this pattern in the shadow on whatever the light is reflecting onto.

So they did this with a stream of small tiny, tiny, tiny bits of matter called electrons, passed them through two slits and they get an interference pattern that you would expect with a wave instead of with matter. So what they did is they said “we want to confirm this result because we don't understand it. We're sending tiny bits of matter through two slits, and with larger matter we get two lines. But with small matter we get an interference pattern. How could that be?”

They thought maybe the electrons are bouncing off of each other and creating that pattern as they go through the two slits, so they said is “let's prevent that possibility. Let's take one electron at a time and send it toward this screen with these two slits carved into, it and see what kind of a pattern we get on the measuring medium on the other side of this this barrier with these two slits in it. So they take an electron volt meter which is capable of firing one electron at a time, and after hours of sending one electron at a time through this barrier with these two slits in it, an interference pattern emerges on the far measuring device behind the barrier.

So think about this. This would be the equivalent of firing one paintball at a time through these two slits and on the other side you don't get two lines. You would get a pattern that resembles a wave form, like water or like light. It's impossible for the interference pattern to have been created by any of these individual electrons striking other ones and so bouncing randomly and creating that effect, because they eliminated that possibility by sending only one electron at a time through the slits. Now think about it, you would think that's absolutely impossible. How could they send one small bit of matter through these two slits and it not form to two vertical lines, just like the large matter did?

Well that's because at the quantum level, matter is not solid. Neither is it really at the macro level, but it becomes seemingly so due to a specific quality which is what the scientists began to understand when they introduced the act of observation. This is why this experiment ultimately became known as the observer effect. What they did is they placed a measuring device at one of the slits - and you only would need to do this at one of them, not even at both - and they wanted to measure how many of the fired electrons actually passed through that one particular slit. So now, what they're doing is they're quantifying what is happening at a specific location in space.

They're quantifying how many electrons pass through one of the slits in comparison to how many are fired. When they placed a measuring device capable of measuring when an electron would pass through that slit, the result of the experiment changed. What they then saw on the measuring device placed behind these two slits, was two lines. The electron went from behaving as a wave function of potential, based upon the act of observing and quantifying the electron in space at a particular point, the point at which it enters one of the slits. By that very act of observation, the possibilities were collapsed.

This showed the scientists doing this experiment that the electron is not an actual piece of solid matter. It is only a wave function of potential to exist, and actually become a particle. Now I'll say that again. What this ultimately showed the scientists doing the experiment, is that the electron when fired one at a time was behaving like a wave, but when you took away the possibility for it to exist as a wave function, you collapsed and you did that through how you observed the experiment.

By placing an observer at one of the slits and actually counting how many electrons went through one of the slits or the other, you collapsed the pure potentiality of the energy that that electron is, and that act of observing it in that way, created the actual piece of matter. The electron itself was not an actual piece of matter until you set up the experiment in such a way that you could observe it as a piece of matter. When you remove the electronic measuring device from the slits and it goes back to not knowing how many electrons go through which slit or the other, you get the interference wave pattern again. You put the observer back, and you get the two lines. The electron only becomes the piece of matter at the point where it is observed as such, where it is expected to behave as such.

First of all, this is utterly astounding and scientists had a really hard time accepting this fact, that matter is a wave of potential energy, and only when consciousness is introduced into the equation do you actually get any solidity, do you actually create a point particle or an event. See in the original portion of the experiment where they're sending one electron through the slits, it only really becomes a piece of matter when it hits the screen on the background, and it shows an interference pattern because up to that point it was a wave function of pure potential.

Now to get a little bit more technical and maybe over some people's heads, this is known as superposition. In reality all the possibilities that that electron could have made, it did make. It hit the screen and bounce back. It went through the left slit, it went through the right slit, and here's the kicker, it went through both slits simultaneously all at the same time. Every possibility that it could have done it did, when it was a wave. That is the only way you could get an interference pattern. What the electron interfered with was itself after it passed the screen as a wave of potential.

What does this mean in consciousness? This means that until we observe things differently and think about our role in the cosmos differently, we are not going to be working with the availability of potential that we really have, and we are going to be collapsing that function, that wave form of potential, into something that we do not really want to experience, unless we observe things differently and we think about them pretty much drastically differently than most of us have been thinking about them. So this is the quantum double-slit experiment, and what it ultimately explains is, how matter behaves at the quantum level and how that is governed through our own observations, and actually what we expect to see.

If we continue along the same way of thinking, then we will continue to get the same results. When we change the way we are thinking, you will get different results. Consciousness and the act of being the observer is what ultimately creates the reality that we experience. And this is not some new-age perspective. This is confirmed through scientific observation, and it is actually how things work at the macro scale, and what collapses all the field of potential and possibilities that we can experience is our choices. Free will decisions to take action, is how we actually collapse all of the potentials that we can pull from. The unified field of potential where all potentials exist. We then collapse them into events through our choices, and that's how we get what we experience

If your mind isn't blown by that experiment, then you didn't understand it. If your mind is completely blown and you can't believe it at first, that's also what happened with the scientists. I strongly suggest checking out the video of the double slit experiment.

What On Earth Is Happening Show #008

Topics: Barriers To Self-Realization, Five-Sense Illusion, Ego-Identification, Ego Attachment

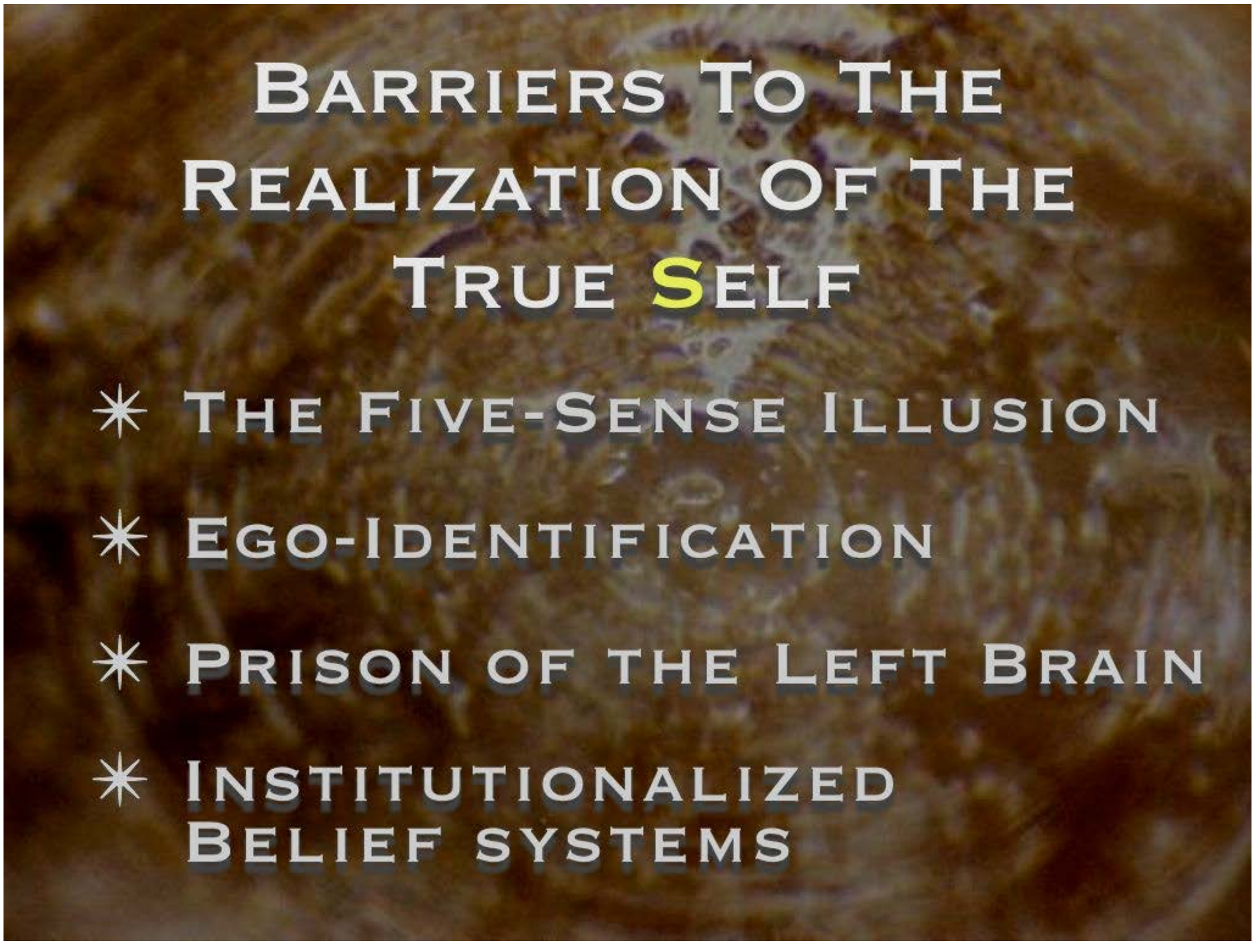
I want to recap the barriers to the realization of the true self and I want to briefly recap the first one which we talked about the entire time last week, which was the five sense illusion, and particularly the double slit experiment. This experiment illustrates the quantum mechanical concept known as the observer effect. On last week's podcast I put a link to a video that has the double-slit experiment explaining the observer effect. That'll probably solidify better in people's minds what this experiment was really about and what it truly demonstrates.



BARRIERS TO THE REALIZATION OF THE TRUE SELF

- THE FIVE-SENSE ILLUSION
- EGO-IDENTIFICATION
- PRISON OF THE LEFT BRAIN
- INSTITUTIONALIZED BELIEF SYSTEMS

So I'm going to recap now the barriers to the realization of the true self. The barriers to the realization of the true self, I list them as four main barriers. These are walls that we erect ourselves around our own consciousness which block us from our true potential. These are the five sense illusion, that's number one. Number two, ego identification and ego attachment. Number three the prison of the left brain. The left brain only modality of consciousness divorced from the right brain modality. This is intellect divorced from wisdom. We may be we may have time to get into that topic a little bit because I think it's directly related with the second barrier ego identification.

And the fourth is attachment to institutionalized belief systems. These are all of the institutional structures that we have erected in our world and around us that make our beliefs concretize. We make them hardened like stone, and we aren't flowing in what we are willing to accept as reality, what we are willing to look at and understand, because these institutionalized structures have hardened our beliefs to the extent that it becomes too dissonant, too painful for us to look outside of those boxes of those institutions, and realize that many of them are extraordinarily corrupt, and not moral, and not leading to higher levels of awareness, and consciousness, and the betterment for anyone. They are simply keeping us in a veritable prison of the mind, and in a veritable prison for our consciousness and our evolutionary growth and development.

So those are the four main barriers to the realization of the higher levels of awareness, the higher Self as I referred to it in former shows.

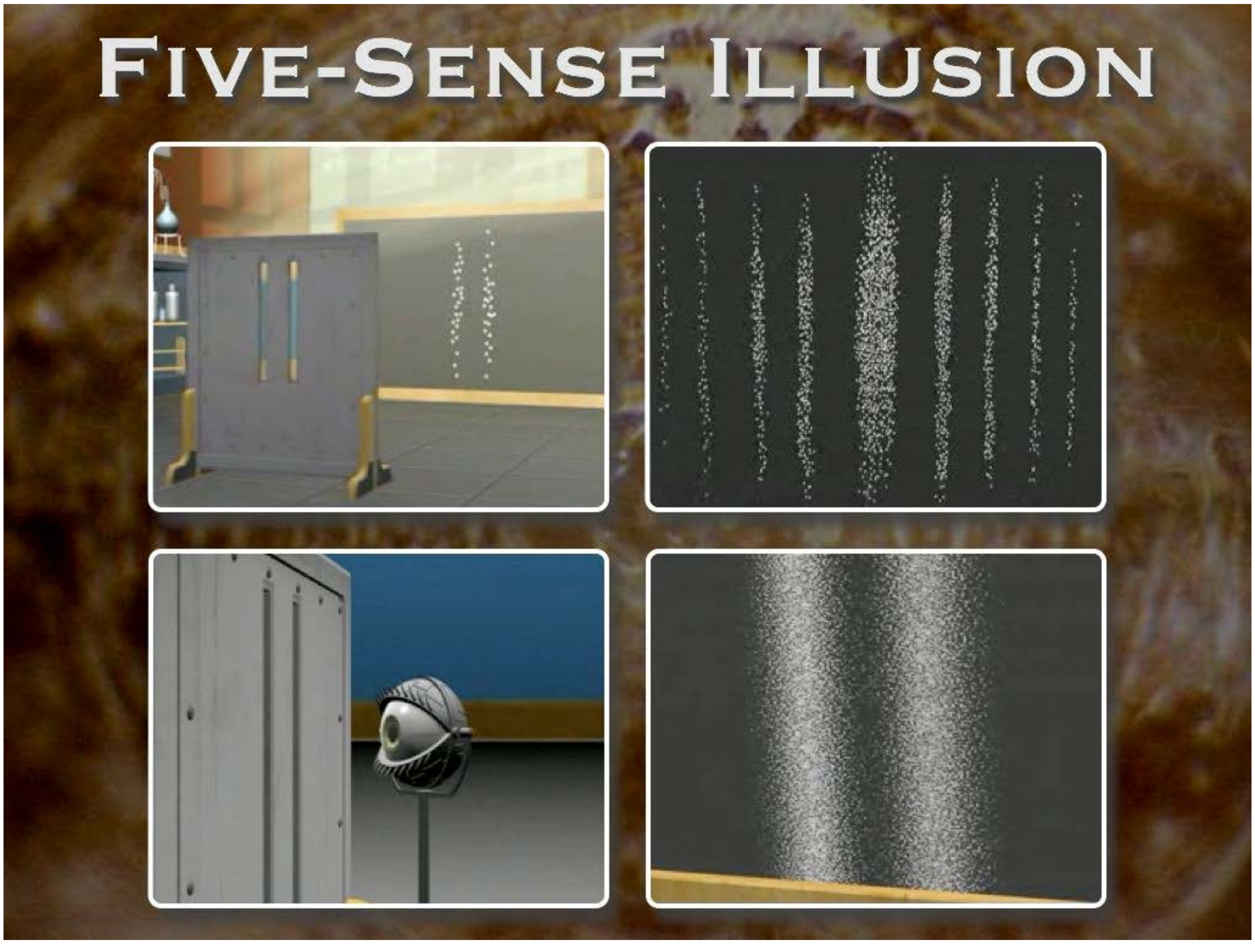
Over the last couple of weeks, I've been breaking down and fleshing out the first barrier, which is the five sense illusion. This is the notion that matter is solid, and that it is essentially purely mechanistic. That there is no underlying fundamental intelligence in consciousness that governs matter that actually allows matter to express itself in certain ways that teach lessons, that encourage evolutionary growth in consciousness, and that when we understand how those deeper aspects of matter are governed in consciousness, it helps us to understand how we create the reality that we create.

So not understanding those things, believing in the total solidity of matter, believing that that the universe is a mechanized, purposeless, purely random place not governed by any higher law or higher intelligence, and certainly one in which consciousness does not play a critical, entangled and vital role, is a trap. This way of seeing the world, this world view is a trap for consciousness, and it makes us experience things that we don't need to experience if we weren't in such a level of ignorance about how the physical reality is really structured and is really a construct for experience.

So I began breaking that down two shows ago, and last week I got into an experiment known as the double slit experiment, which explained, in no uncertain terms, in very scientific terms, how matter is essentially pure energy that is a wave form. It is a wave function. What does that mean? What that means is, when you get right down to the very basic fundamental building blocks of matter, which is what we're all made of and which is what indeed everything in the physical reality that we live in is made of, you understand that it is only a potential to exist. It is a wave potential. This means that it contains all the possibilities within it that could manifest.

But we don't really experience reality like that. We don't experience reality on the level that anything that could happen, happens in our linear progression through reality that we call time. We experience a set of manifested realities, things that actually do occur. One thing does actually occur. We call that the present moment, what is actually taking place. I would go farther and say that is actually what the truth is. The truth is that which actually manifests from the possibilities, all the wave form potentials that existed in what were referred to as the past. So this is deeply intertwined with the concept of linear time as we experience it. I won't recap the experiment. It's up on the website if you want to look on the podcast section and watch the video you can get a deeper grasp of it, much deeper than I could probably express in explaining it through words on a radio show so I encourage everyone to watch that video.



I left off the program last week saying that if your mind isn't blown by what you understand when you do deeply understand the quantum double slit experiment and the observer effect, then you really did not understand it. This is such a profound and extraordinary discovery. It really shows us that consciousness determines what we experience, and I want to just briefly touch on a little bit more about what I mean by that. When the observer is looking for something to be there, that is when something becomes present and is there.

Matter is not solid until there is consciousness observing it. What dictates the manifestation from the possible waveforms, the possible wave functions that are all contained in that waveform that we call the past, that collapses down to the present moment and becomes an actual series of events, an actual event in the present moment, is the quality of our attention. The quality of consciousness. So if we're not really paying attention, we're going to get a non-desired result that comes into manifestation. If we shift or alter the quality of our attention, we will be more in tune with being able to shape the manifested results, and bring it into alignment with what we feel is more beneficial to us and the experience we wish to have. This is how the fulfillment of a desire comes about.

See I don't agree with some schools, for example Buddhist thinking. It isn't really original Buddhist thinking. It is what I would call almost a New Age Buddhist approach, that claims all desire is suffering. That is not the original Buddhist teachings. The original teachings of the words of the Buddha are that attachment to desire is what leads to suffering. And we can get attached to desires that really have nothing to do with our true betterment, that have nothing to do with reality, that have nothing to do with natural law, but are all rooted in what we're going to talk about tonight as the second barrier to self-realization which is ego identification and attachment to that level of consciousness.

So the observer effect that I spoke about last week is deeply interwoven into this concept of ego identification, because if the quality of attention through which we are observing the physical world is a low quality, is of low consciousness, is of low awareness, is of pure ego self-satisfying quality, we are not going to collapse that potential wave function in very beneficial ways. See it isn't the desire itself that's going to create suffering. When you have a desire, that's okay. I don't believe that we should try to purge all desire. You'll never hear me say that on this show. That is not what I think the goal of consciousness and the goal of where we should try to be getting to in our understanding of ourselves - I don't think that's where we want to really go.

I think we want to try to understand that if we have a desire for betterment, that's okay. Attachment to it may create suffering, but desires come and go. They are wave in themselves. They rise and then they fall, they rise and then they fall. Observing that helps us to get past attachment to the desire. Understanding you're going to have another desire to eat, you're going to have another desire to have sex, you're going to have another desire to sleep. They rise and fall. They are sated, or not sated and then they fall away. And if they intensify and you are holding deep attachment to them, that's when we experience suffering. That's when we feel pain.

So the desire itself is something that needs to be understood, watched, and the attachment to the outcome released. That's what I believe the true spirit of Buddhism had in mind when it talked about how attachment to desire creates suffering, not the desire itself. You can have a desire for a better world, and if you want to bring that into manifestation then you do the things that are required to make that happen because all desires do have requirements. That is simply a statement of fact, of truth. If you want to sate thirst, if you want to alleviate thirst then you must drink something.

Now getting into the attachment “oh why is the desire of thirst here,” that's going to create more suffering. Thirst can be a mild discomfort and you can sate it or not sate it, but if you're going to get into the attachment to it that's when you're going to feel even more suffering. So I think there's a big distinguishment between those two states. Just the desire in place, understanding that it can be fulfilled or not and the requirements to fulfill it if it's present, is different than the attachment to the desire. So that goes hand in hand again with the observer effect and it also goes hand in hand with the main topic for this evening, which is ego identification. Attachment to ego.

So I just wanted to go back a little bit and talk about how the observer effect really is related to what manifests in our reality. And the way that is related is based upon the quality of our attention. What do we pay attention to? What do we talk about? What do we do with our time? All of those things, collectively, are what is collapsing the wave function and bringing all of those potentials that could exist in that void of potentiality, it's what's bringing all of those potentials and collapsing them down to that which we do get in the present moment. Again, the quality of our attention, what we pay attention to, what we talk about, what we do, what we work toward, collectively, as a whole, in all of the consciousness's of all of the people on this planet, when all of those are factored in, and that's why this is called a quantum wave function. It's made of an amount.

See people that talk about that amount isn't important, they aren't realists either. Amount totally determines the progression of the wave function of what we get in the present moment. And sadly too few people are moving toward the collapsing of that wave function through the quality of their attention in a positive way, and too few by not understanding how this principle works and being attached to the five sense illusion of materiality, and obsession with the physical world, and obsession with an attachment to the fulfilling of their egoic desires, are collapsing that wave function in a way that is becoming progressively uncomfortable, and creating more and more chaotic expressions in the present moment.

That's what the whole purpose of this show is folks, to try to explain how these natural law principles work. I don't claim to believe that this is how it works. I claim to be one of the many, many people, that have discovered and accept the fact that this is how it works. And anybody listening or anybody I know, you can call me as self-absorbed or egoic or whatever you want by making that claim. In the three dimensional space-time continuum that we live in I do understand how this natural law principle works. I don't claim to be special as a result of understanding it. I don't claim to be better than anyone else as a result of understanding it, but if I told you I did not understand that basic natural law principle and how it works to create what we are getting, I'd be lying to you if I told you I didn't. It is a simple statement of fact of what I understand.

If you understand how the law of gravity works, or you understand how the law of thermodynamics works, it would not be ego of you to say “yes I understand how that law works, and if you drop that object from that height it's going to hit the ground at this acceleration.” That would be a statement of understanding of a law that is in effect. It has nothing to do with thinking that you're better than anyone else. I just want to make that clear. So I'm not claiming this as my belief. I am stating it and attempting to help others to discover the same principles which I have come to an understanding of, and that's all I'm saying when I'm making that statement.

So I just wanted to do that before going forward. These are laws which I am explaining. They’re rules which we are bound by if we live in the three dimensional space-time continuum called space-time. Period. If we live in this continuum - which you know if anybody has a way to completely get out of that let me know okay - but as long as you're living in in in the laws that govern this continuum of reality, you're bound by them, period. These laws do not have exceptions. They are 100% in effect at all times and places. This is how consciousness creates reality.

That's what we're ultimately talking about here, and what we're talking about is the barriers to realizing how these laws work. Why don't we understand this as a whole? Why are we getting things that we don't really want in our experience? Why are we experiencing self-inflicted suffering? Well it's because we don't understand how these laws work, which was part of the first part of the barriers to realization, largely due to being identified with the five senses. We're so identified with the matter that we don't understand the laws that arrange and govern the matter, or the expression of it, which we call the events of our lives. We don't understand how they're being arranged like that through the underlying intelligence in consciousness. That's what’s rearranging the field to give us what we are getting.

And the only way we're going to ever get anything better than what we're getting, is to come up in consciousness so we become conscious co-creators of reality in harmony with the natural laws of nature. That is the main creative force of the universe. The other creative force is our own free will. When our free will, through a rise in consciousness comes into harmony and unison with the laws of nature, then we will be at one with those forces. We will be able to practically command them. Some people will say that he was a dark occultist, some people will say that Francis Bacon was simply someone that understood these laws and these principles. He was a master Rosicrucian in the 1600s, and he made a statement that “nature to be commanded must first be obeyed.”

If we ever want to get to the level of evolutionary development where nature would be at our beck and call, and would align itself, and its much greater Will with the will of our desires for ourselves, the only way that can ever come about is if we discover the principles of natural law and live in harmony with them. Period the end. The end. There is no escaping that. There is no getting around that. Law with a capital L is not going to be broken by us. It is in effect, and we are bound by it. What our job is, is to discover it, come into harmony with it, live in accordance with it and then we will know harmony, then we will know peace and then we will know freedom, and not a second until. Not a second until.

So the first barrier was the five sense illusion. I think we've covered that and I explained the dynamics fairly concisely, so we're going to go into the next barrier to realization this evening and we'll continue that through the remainder of the show, unless we have any callers call in they want to talk about anything else or bring up anything related to this.

EGO-IDENTIFICATION

So the second the second barrier to self-realization is ego identification. This is totally related to the other barriers. It's related to the five sense illusion and it's intricately related to the prison of the left brain. How so? First of all what do we mean when we say “identification with ego?” What are we talking about when we say ego? We're talking about identifying with the roles that we play in life. Not understanding the deeper aspects of consciousness and self, but identifying with the lower case s self. “I am, a security guard. I am, a teacher. I am, a railroad engineer. I am, a soldier. I am, a housewife and mother. These aren't who we are down at the deep, deep, deep level. The level of Self with a capital S.

At the level of Self with a capital S, we would say “I am” period. Nothing after it. We are being. We are consciousness. We are aliveness. We are life. We are dynamism. We are intelligence. We are Self capital S period. No further explanation required. We are the expression of the all. These things that we identify with are simply roles that consciousness takes on, in the flesh suit so to speak. These are roles that we play down here on the stage in the physical realm. So we're not the mother of someone else, we're not the father of someone else, we're not the child of someone else, we're not the soldier, we're not the cop, or not the banker, we're not the golfer, we're not the businessman. These are roles.

When through forgetting our true nature, the true higher aspects of Self, we become identified with the role and we forget the true higher Self, this is ego identification. Then my life is about my business, my life is about the role I play in the government institution I'm a member of. My life is about being that cop. My life is about being that sports celebrity or being that high paid athlete. My life is about being that actor on that famous television show. See there's a huge difference between those things. Between understanding who and what we really are and becoming truly self-actualized beings, capital S self, and then totally becoming absorbed, attached and obsessed even, to the level of obsession with the role that we are playing in life.

See that's not who we are. That's what we're doing. You're doing the job of, desk clerk. You're doing the job of, actor. You're doing the job of, banker. However, that isn't who we really are. So talk about the idea of ego attachment, with the identification of the roles that we play in life and believing that they are the true self.

What I'm going to do now is introduce and bring on a good friend of mine Mr. Walter Rhodes. He is from the Philadelphia area and he is an independent researcher, an explorer of many Eastern consciousness traditions and he is a seeker of truth. He's going to come on and talk with us a little bit and we'll have a discussion, and we'll fire opinions and observations back and forth for the remainder of the program tonight about ego identification.

So Walt, welcome to What On Earth Is Happening. It's great to have you. Why don't you just chime in on what I have talked about so far in relation to ego identification as a barrier to self-realization, and give us a little bit of your take on that and then we'll go back and forth and discuss a little bit?

Caller #1: Okay this may be a little bit different from the way you're going about it. You read in popular literature how ego is illusionary. It's illusionary. It seems to me the most prevalent illusion out there. Everybody has an ego, I mean it almost even seems as though animals have egos. So I wanted to figure out where it comes from evolutionarily speaking. What I found through reading various things is that ego developed early in us as a species.

So if we're walking through a forest and a tree branch breaks, and if we have no ego we will not recognize that tree branch as "other." So it'll fall on your head and crush you. So the ego was developed to self-preserve, to preserve organism, to see the separation but not to be ruled by it. Now the separation seems to rule. Like I was saying to you before it started, we're born into this world and we pick elements of popular culture that we're fond of, to build an ego itself out of. So we pick literature, music, sports, dance, all these things and we build self out of them. Everybody does. The funny part of that is, the things that people cling the most to out of their list are the things that make them forget about themselves.

So an athlete will cling to the fact that he loves being an athlete. Now when he's playing that sport, he totally forgets about himself. He's 100% wrapped up in it. So it's a total disillusion of self in that activity. Somebody listens to music, and they lose themselves in the act of listening to the music. And all these ego attachments, the ones that people cling to the hardest seems to be the ones that make them forget about themselves.

I agree and that's an interesting aspect that you brought up. And the aspect that you brought up that I could not agree with more, is that the ego in and of itself isn't a problem per se. It's the attachment of the ego. It's the identification with it, believing that it is our true identity. That's why I list the barrier not as ego period, but as ego identification, or ego attachment, because like you said ego is simply an evolutionary development that allows us to see ourselves and understand that, "if I don't get out of the way of the falling huge tree then I'll be crushed, and then I won't have a body to experience the three-dimensional world and grow in evolution of self."

But it's important to have an ago. The ego is a tool for the three-dimensional aspect of self. Ego has been described by some researchers - I can't remember off the top of my head who brought this up - but ego, when we're both sitting at a table let's say as an example, ego is that which allows me to take my fork, scoop up some food and put it in my mouth instead of yours. Because I know that I need to take that into myself.

Like you gave us a great example. If you don't get out of the way of a physical object coming your way, you're going to experience pain and suffering and possibly death. That's what the ego is intended for. It is intended to be used as a tool, to plan the level of physical separation between the body and the objects that are in the physical world, but it seems that ego took over the house, so to speak. It took over the temple itself.

Caller #1: Well because there's no self-discipline. What I mean by that is it's okay to have likes, it's okay that dislikes, it's even okay to be attached to things because we're human. If you have no self-discipline, then you have no control over those attachments and then they rule you. So it's self-discipline which is the important balance. To balance a mammoth ego, you have to have mammoth self-discipline.

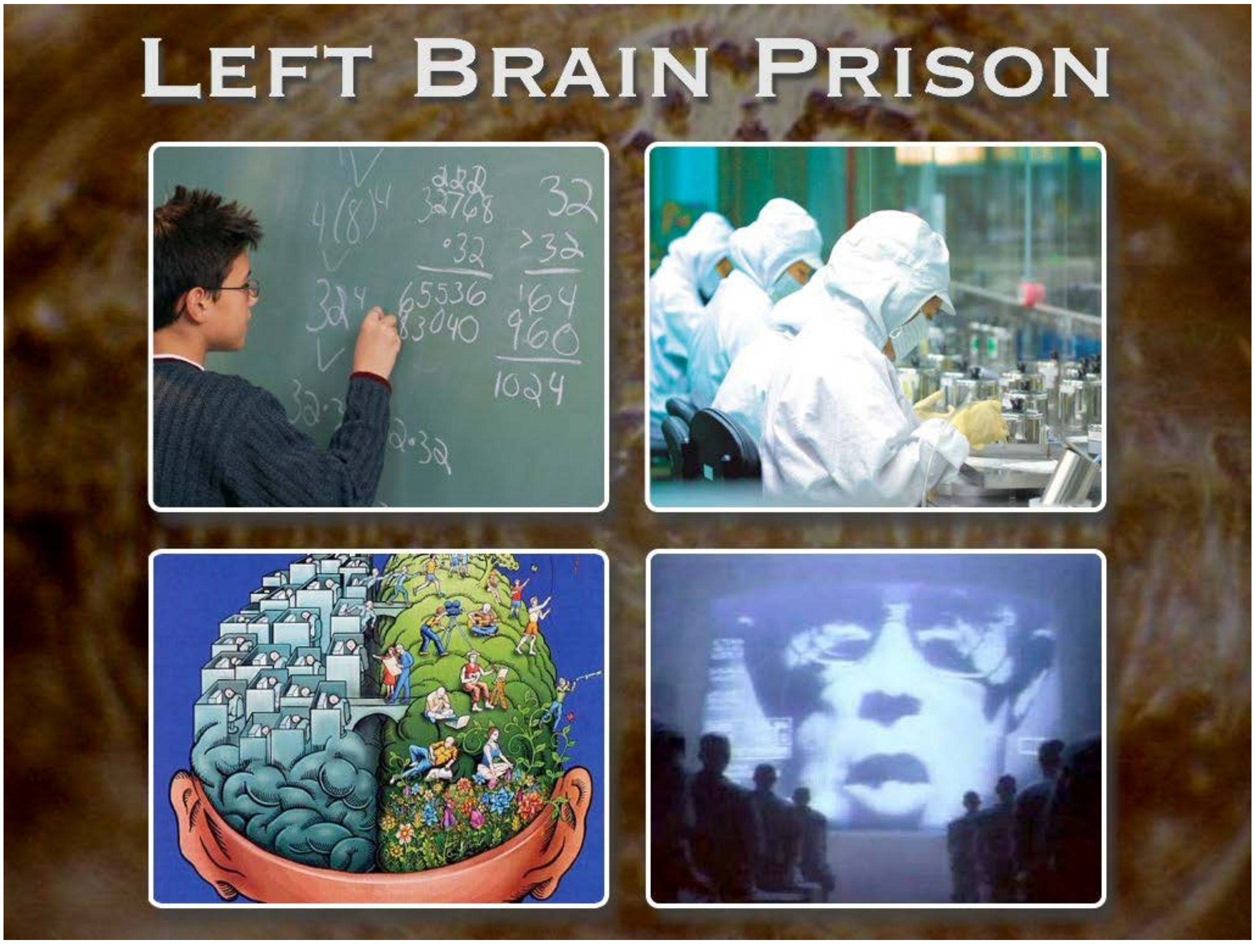
This is what I brought up on former shows as the concept that I call dominion, or true rulership of self. Self-governance in other words, and what many people term sovereignty, which is the true way out of the mess that we have created for ourselves, and I believe that you can only attain that when you understand the distinction between the lowercase s self, the physical body and the higher Self, higher level of awareness. And to do that you must release your identification and attachment to ego.



These processes go hand in hand, and we're going to talk a little bit about, if we can get to it tonight, the left brain prison. The way of seeing the physical world in a purely left-brain way. The educational system keeps this going in the Western world, the types of media that we watch and are exposed to constantly, even a lot of the diet that we eat is cutting us off from being able to have a full expression of self through getting in touch with the sacred feminine qualities that are imparted and we are able to experience through getting in touch with the right brain hemisphere.

Caller #1: See this kind of plays right into what I was saying earlier about how people get attached to the ego, to the activities in their life that help them forget about themselves, the music, and art and dance, in sports and whatever, people are most attached to that because while they're doing that they lose themselves and they unite with that force, when they're in that zone. That helps them attach with that great feminine force with that unknown. So in a way the ego attachments that people hold so sacred are not misaligned or misguided. They're the things that keep them in touch with the force and the power that is.

But they don't have the perspective to see it for what it is. When they're not in that zone they're attached with the actual activity, with identifying with “this is who I am.” In that zone they're feeling that oneness, and in a lot of ways they become attached to that because they've touched upon it in doing that activity, but then they start thinking that the activity itself is them.

Caller #1: Or the divine attributes that are coming through them are them. You know like the super athletes that do amazing things and end up with these ginormous egos that eventually collapse in on them and destroy them.

Right. They think that that higher case S self that they are getting in touch with, is equivalent to the lowercase s in their normal everyday experience.

Caller #1: People forget that you're aligning with it. It's not you. It is and it isn't. You're kind of coming into it. Like you said earlier, you come into alignment with it, and when you do it's flowing.

See the ego is that force that came in like you said, in almost like a primal defense mechanism type thing, that says “I'll protect you, this ability will protect you from the dangers of the physical surroundings and the physical world that you may encounter so that you can get out of the way of a predator, or a falling boulder or something to that effect.” Or know not to go over the cliff in an unsafe way.

Caller #1: It's doing the same thing now even though the ego has expanded. Like this is not my kind of music, I'm going to protect you. This is not my kind of art, I'm going to protect you. It's doing the same thing that its purpose was, but it's expanded and it's kind of almost taken over. It's turned the flexibility of the mind into a concrete thing. “This is mine, this isn't mine.” No flexibility there.

The servant, or the tool, has become the master. It is attempting to usurp the entire self and keep it kind of imprisoned at a lower level of awareness, because it's basically saying to the individual “I've rescued you, I've allowed you to survive this event, and this event, and this event, and now I'm not going to just be relegated to a simple tool. I'm coming in here and I'm setting up shop and I'm taking over this place. I'm not leaving.” Like a hammer. A hammer is something you go and find when you need to drive a nail or you need to remove it. It's a tool, you pick it up, you do the action that you need it for and then you put it down.

Well the ego is the tool that we once may have done that with, but eventually we got so used to having it in our hand, and then eventually it kind of gained the consciousness of its own and was saying “I direct the entire being. You're not going to put me down. I'm going to start telling you what to do and you're going to obey me.

Caller #1: It's like a catch-22. The ego protects through separation. Now we've talked about this before. We talked about how you can measure a concept or an idea based on the amount that it makes you feel united with all that it. Now if something makes you feel separate well then it is not a good measure of truth. So you can measure truth based on how it unites or separates. The ego protects but it separates, so it's illusionary in its very essence.

And a lot of people out there want that sense of protection. They're in such a fear based modality of consciousness, that they think that self-preservation is the highest level of consciousness. In the Satanic ideology, if you study the actual philosophy that Satanism puts forward, its highest law is self-preservation and survival. That is the number one thing that is kind of worshipped in the Satanic ideal, and this is a dangerous ideology to begin to subscribe to in a very attached way because you start to think that there is nothing higher than survival.

Survival is not a bad thing. Wanting to survive is pretty much the base goal of all life. Of course life wants to survive and propagate itself, but when you start getting into the idea that that's the highest level that you could ever aspire to, that self-preservation is the highest law, that it is the highest modality of consciousness. That definitely isn't true because there are transcendent modes of consciousness that allow you to see ego is a tool. Survival, yes you need it to propagate and have experience, but it certainly is not at the highest level of consciousness.

Caller #1: That whole concept of survival, that only exists if you're not understanding the unbroken chain of life that is, because I mean there is no such thing as survival, it's another illusionary concept. There is an unbroken chain of life. There is no such thing as something surviving and something isn't.

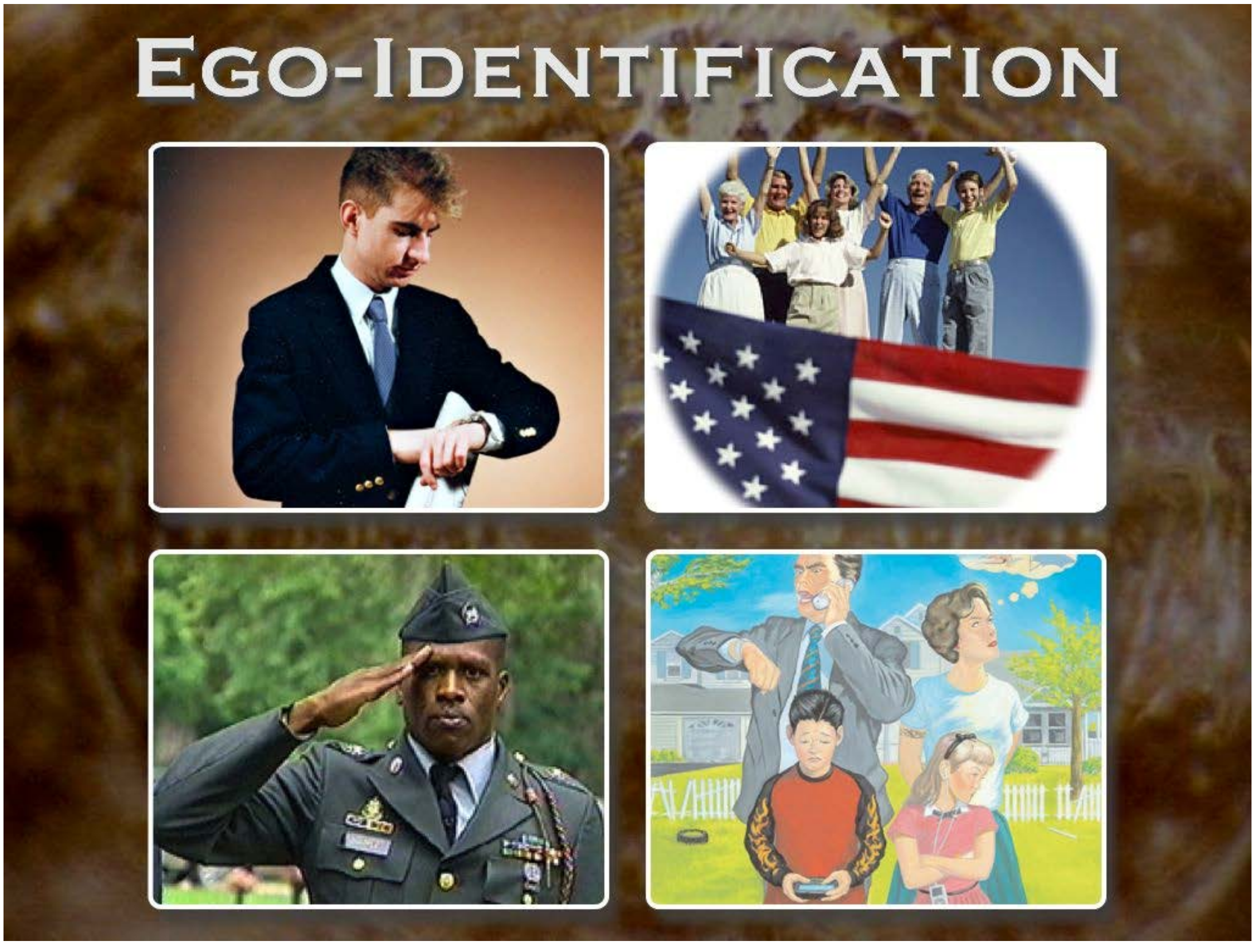
See the attachment with that level of awareness, of just survival, and that being all there is or the highest thing there is, comes from a fear of death, and if you understand like you just said that life is an unbroken chain, you understand ultimately there is no death. And getting out of that existential mode of consciousness is what really will get you out of that fear mentality and then get you to aspire to higher levels of consciousness than simply survival and ego identification.

We were talking about the second barrier toward the realization of the true self, because what we do on this program ultimately is we talk about causal factors. That's what this show is about. This is about understanding natural law principles, and the causal factors in consciousness of what lead to the events that manifest in our lives, and that we experience in the reality that we live in. That's what this show is about. We can talk about the events that play out all we want, and we can describe the so-called prison all we want, but until we understand how to attain and turn that key, good luck to us. We're not going to be making very much progress unless we understand what gets us what we have. That's ultimately what I attempt to do here in the ideas that I put forth on this show, and that's the understanding that I am trying to help people to.

These are laws that are discovered. They're not invented by anybody, they're not ideas, they're not ideologies and they are most certainly not beliefs. What I talk about here on the show are laws. Laws that exist within creation that we are bound by, and the only way to really truly discover them from the place in consciousness that we now find ourselves, is to shatter the barriers that we ourselves have erected around us and around our consciousness, and they are put there by the institutions that are all around us, they are put there by the generations that have come before us, they are put there by the very system itself that we live under. It has a consciousness unto itself.

A consciousness that is fed by those who have come before us and those around us now that subscribe to these belief systems, who do not understand how natural law principles work, quite unfortunately, and quite unfortunately they keep getting results that they do not wish to experience. This is why I do what I do, to try to help people alleviate self-inflicted suffering, and that's all intricately tied in with the notion of “how do we free ourselves? Why aren't we truly free now in this expression of the physical world? Why do we experience the immensity of suffering that we do?”



So this is what we talk about on this show and in the last hour. Myself and my guest Walter Rhodes, a good friend of mine who is an explorer in consciousness and a seeker of truth, we're talking about the second barrier to self-realization which is ego identification. And throughout the remainder of the show we're going to flesh out ego identification even more, and hopefully tie it in with the prison of the left brain, which is a unidimensional time-bound way of seeing the world and ourselves in it, that has to do with brain imbalance. And that's intricately interwoven with the idea of ego identification.

Caller #2: I listen to you talk about Nikola Tesla and a lot of people are into it, but it's kind of almost like an odd thing for someone to be into. So when I first met you, in the back of my head I'm like "maybe this guy's a little too into Nikola Tesla." But then you have things like the oil spill, and as soon as I saw the pictures from this thing I said "now I can see why Mark is obsessed Nikola Tesla," because this is such a disaster that I don't even know what to say. I mean it's just so bad that if Tesla was able to do this we wouldn't have had this catastrophe.

I'm really glad you're bringing that up because what is really going on right now in the Gulf of Mexico is, our great mother upon which we rely for our life and our existence, she is hemorrhaging profusely. What you're looking at when you see the red sheen on top of the waters of the Gulf isn't oil, it's blood. It's blood. That's what it is, and we have burst an artery and now it's just bleeding out. And this is unacceptable. What makes us even think we have the right to take oil in the quantities that we do every single day? And we're all complicit in it, including me. I need to drive different places. I drive a car. I put gasoline in the car like everyone else does. I'm even complicit in it.

I know how wrong the whole paradigm is, I know how much it needs to be changed, I'm doing something to try to get it changed, I'm involved, I spend my time, I promote it, I work with people, I help talk with some scientists to try to get them to this transcendent level of consciousness to understand why they need to use their left brain genius in marriage with a spiritual understanding. That's my role in this organization. Why we need it so desperately now. We needed it so desperately a hundred years ago, let alone now. Look at where we're at now.

Caller #2: Ego identification. That's the answer to the question. We've separated ourselves so far that we feel like this whole thing is for us to exploit. We want to achieve our aims and whatever is going to happen, is going to happen. That's just an extension of the self-preservation.

That's exactly right. We believe nature belongs to us and is ours to conquer and exploit. That's the overarching worldview, but the truth is nature is us. We are her. We belong to it. We belong to nature. We are a part of it, we belong in that holistic system and we can't really look at ourselves as separate from it if we wish to prosper truly. But many of us, when we think that nature is inert, it's dead, it's purely a mechanized thing that is there for our exploitation and consumption, and that is not true. Period. It is not true. And this has to do totally with how we're living in disharmony with nature at the current time, this energy paradigm.

It has to do with the control of the people of the Earth, and how these high-level financers and people who control natural resources, upon which people are now dependent for living on a day-to-day basis. If Tesla had succeeded in what he was attempting to do the world would be so vastly different. So vastly different. The control mechanisms that are in place right now would not even be able to be in place to the extent to which they are had Tesla succeeded in what he tried to do in an open and free way. And we wouldn't be raping the planet upon which we rely for life, just so a few rich Oil Barons can continue to wield a monopoly over people.

Caller #2: You know it's almost like our hand gets an elevated sense of self, and then it decides to start punching you in the face because your hand thinks that it owns you, and you are a carrier of him and he could do what he wants. That's kind of what we're doing with the planet.

That totally ties in with this barrier towards self-realization, and the people who are screaming "yeah it's our right, we can open up and drill more, and more, and more, and more," look at what that has gotten us. This is the worst ecological disaster in the history of humanity and all self-inflicted and all unnecessary. And I want to bring up one more component that I know you'll probably appreciate Eric. Let's not forget the occult aspect of this, because there's an occult aspect to this as well. I have a hard time even almost believing that this is just purely accidental. And you know you can even make the argument "well it may not be totally orchestrated and deliberate." Well if it isn't that then it's synchronistic.

There's a synchronistic mystical connection to how this happened, when it happened. I lean a little bit more toward myself that this may have actually been a deliberate thing, because of my former connections with the occult and my understanding of how deeply they are committed to ritual and repetition. When did this event occur? When did it actually happen? Do you know the date? April 20th. April 20th is right in the middle of what is known as the occult season of sacrifice. There's an occult concept known as the season of sacrifice. This is the time of the year that it's one ninth of the year long. It's from the spring equinox, which is around March 20th, to May 1st.

A 40-day time period. This 40-day period is when pagan traditions would offer some sort of a blood sacrifice to the Earth to ensure a bountiful harvest from the Sun, because this time period during these 40 days is the beginning of the planting season. That's when you plant. When the Sun has broken the northern hemisphere line and is starting to rise up from the zero-degree point at the equator that it makes with the Earth, and it rises up until it hits the summer solstice, which is the highest point of the Sun during the course of the year, and that's the summer solstice which is around June 21st. The midpoint of the season of spring is May 1st that's called Walpurgis Night, or in older traditions it's called Beltane. Named after the Sun God that the Phoenicians called Bell. So Beltane is May 1.

The 40-day time period between the spring equinox and May 1st was known as the season of sacrifice. Ancient pagans believed you offered a sacrifice to the Earth in the form of blood and then God would be appeased by the sacrifice, and thereby ensure a bountiful harvest. Well they did this on Earth Day, the day of the goddess, Gaia. Sacrifices of the goddess are performed during this forty-day time period. What also happened during that forty-day time period is mass ritual sacrifices, like Columbine High School, was done during this 40-day period. It's named after the goddess Columbia. Columb, the Dove. The goddess is associated with the symbolism of the Dove, as Isis was in the ancient Egyptian tradition.

I know we're sidetracking into some esoteric, and occult, and mystery school Astro theology and occult principles, but it is directly interwoven with this event that we're witnessing because I don't believe it's accidental. This is a sacrificial ritual. It was done during the season of sacrifice. It is an attack on the goddess Gaia, the Earth goddess, and it is related with blood. Oil is the lifeblood of Mother Earth. It flows in the Earth's veins and arteries. This isn't something we should be messing with at the level we're messing with it. We need to harness the wheelwork of nature around us, not exploit, take and burn the blood. We are taking and burning the blood of the mother that we rely upon. That's what we're doing.

To anybody that understands what oil is at any kind of a deeper level of consciousness, we don't have the right to do this. We need a new energy paradigm yesterday. It may already be too late now. What we're witnessing I don't even know whether we have the capacity to stop it. I don't even know whether our technology that we're going to use to try to cap this thing is going to work, and who knows what that's going to mean? Look at how many species are going to be endangered by this. Look at how many animals are already dead as a result, washing up on shore. Look at the NASA photos. Look at the flyovers which the mainstream media won't even show you on YouTube. Check those out, but look at the NASA photos from satellites. This is the worst disaster.

The high-level flow estimates are upwards of 70 to 80 thousand barrels a day. That's like 5 million gallons of oil this is like 10 Exxon Valdez's is a day if those estimates are correct. This is bigger than anyone can even conceive. Look at some of the flyovers. You'll get a slight picture of it, but I don't even know if that does it justice. Check out the satellite photos and then you'll really gain a better perspective of how big this really is, and this is going to probably, sadly, come right up the eastern seaboard. I can't see it not doing that. I'm not trying to look at it extraordinarily negatively and say “oh there's no hope,” but nothing like this should have been allowed to occur.

So it's very sad, and there is an occult aspect to it. This happened on Earth Day but it was also Adolf Hitler's birthday. 4/20 is the birthday of Adolf Hitler as well. Right in the middle of the occult season of sacrifice. Another sacrifice, Virginia Tech. Virginia Tech happened during that 40-day time period in April, and that it's named after the goddess.

The virgin. Virginia. You can go on, and on, and on. I had a list of them someplace. I think I listed these all on my Facebook page one time and I posted an image related about the season of sacrifice, and then I listed a whole bunch and other people chimed in with other great ones that I didn't even think of.

So I don't believe that it's accidental. And as we progress with the show, believe me, we haven't talked much about it yet, but we will go deeply into occult ideologies. We will go deeply into both dark occult ideologies, and into very powerful positive occult philosophies. And this is the perspective that I really discovered and what I now understand through my involvement with many different occult groups and organizations, and we will be getting deeply into the occult on this show in future shows.

So Eric thank you for bringing up the oil spill because it is something that we really have to look at, and we have to face. We have to face that with courage and realize this is something that should be unacceptable to all of us. And there's not enough outrage about it, because the mainstream media is locking down the information and not telling anybody the real extent that this has gone to. And there doesn't seem to be any end in sight. What are we in, the 29th day of it now? It's almost a month. It's crazy.

Caller #2: Every time like I used to hear the talk about offshore drilling, I always thought "what if something goes wrong?" Because they always put such a positive spin on it like "oh you know, we've got the technology to do it," and I always thought what if something goes wrong? And you know the Gulf of Mexico is ecologically just so important, and they got these things everywhere, and there's so much oil in the Gulf of Mexico it's really just mind-blowing. That's why they can't stop this thing. I mean there is so much oil where the pressure is just unbelievable. Think of like a fire hydrant. I mean this thing, it's got to be like a thousand fire hydrants. I mean the amount of pressure falling out of this thing just must be incredible.

I mean look, even if you're just a really greedy person and you aren't an oil company, wouldn't you think of a greedy perspective you would want to be careful so that you can keep making money? Now I think if we do fix this, this is definitely going to cause an energy revolution in the world.

Don't underestimate the psychopathic tendencies of these people, especially when they come into confrontations and competitions among themselves, how quickly some of them may say "well if I can't have it all I'm overturning the chessboard. I'm gonna smash the game board."

Caller #2: You know I might not have believed you if I haven't met so many people that would actually do something like that. I mean it's just incredible. There are some mentally ill people, and that might be a possibility. Who knows? But this is just terrible. And props to you for being ahead of the curve and realizing how important this is. Mark I really love you to death man. These podcasts you have about they're going to live on and there's a lot of important information that you're getting out to people, and we're going to we're going to grow this audience and we're going to make this show a lot more popular because you're the guy to get it done, and I really believe in you a lot.

Great call by Eric G. Unless anybody else calls in Walt and I will continue to ride out the remainder of the show with discussing ego identification and ego attachment.

Caller #1: If it's true that everybody has ego attachments that's part of childhood and adolescent development, building ego of self, do you think it'd be true to say that the majority of a lot of people have a lot of negative ego attachments that disempower them? So if that is there, what would you do to balance that? What I was thinking is to create an egoic view that is positive, that is the other pole of that negativity that disempowers. Because you can pick ego attachments that empower, so now you're going to get balance to this, and then you may be able to transcend that apparent polarity that neither the negative is true, or the positive is true all the time.

Well people want good health. There's one that really can appeal to people. Everybody has a physical body. So there's that positive pole though. If you can explain to people what generates that health people will naturally want to gravitate toward that because they want to feel good in the body. So create a positive illusion for yourself to balance and negatives so you can transcend at all. And that's a good approach. The barrier to that approach is something we won't be getting into too much today, but the barrier to that approach is the constant bombardment of mind control against people through the media, through the education system, etc.

Tesla. There's an example. You explain to people “hey would you like to be able to have free energy?” How many people would want to not pay an electric bill? Even a water bill because you could arguably eliminate having to bring water into your house. If you had unlimited electricity you could pull water from the atmosphere with an atmospheric water generator. But not having those is a way of appealing to ego. It's difficult even to reach people at that level because they been shut down at a level of imagination. What they don't really believe is that anything different is possible. They are actually of the opinion that it's always been this way, it is this way now and it will forever be this way, and that’s the definition of mind control. That’s a later topic.

Caller #1: So the first thing that people have to do is identify the negative ego attachments that are just disempowering, recognize them, identify them and then start developing things to balance them.

It's like a drug addict. What's the first step? Stop denying that you have a problem. You have to at least recognize that have any problem.

Caller #1: That's an excellent example because drug addicts run around doing drugs, they ruin their life, then they choose quote-unquote "positive ego attachments" in the programs, trying to get a positive obsession to balance the negative obsession right.

It even becomes a culture unto itself with friends, and a music scene, and you know a whole lifestyle.

Caller #1: But then the attachment, that people get to that did their programs where it turns into a negative thing. It initially was positive, but the attachment to it makes it negative. Because those programs don't develop self-discipline.

And eventually what starts to happen? The body starts to break down, different diseases start to come in, they'll completely neglect other aspects of their lives like a job, children, other relationship, etc. Any imbalance or obsession leads to breakdown. And that's what we're seeing now. All the laws of the earth in every area in all aspects of life, because were attached to ego identification, and the other aspect to this that I want to get into is, what really demonstrates the ego more than anything else are two actual aspects. This is the inability to admit to oneself that one is wrong.

It's the inability to say to oneself, or the admission to the universe if you will, "I was wrong about this." That is what deep entrapment, and deep attachment to the ego will never allow. It will never allow those three words to spoken, and I cannot even tell you how many times in my life I've had to speak those words. How hard is it to get a tyrant to admit they were wrong? How hard is it to get an addict to admit that they are wrong, that's addicted to anything? How hard is it to get somebody that, their entire worldview is based upon that they know this particular thing? "I know that this is true for certain. It can't be untrue because that would shatter my entire reality?

Caller #1: That inflexibility makes it null and void. That totally, totally, totally makes it irrelevant. The inflexibility. Now there may be some truth to it, but no truths are whole truth. Everything is a half-truth and you have to be flexible in that knowledge no matter what we're talking about. Does that make sense?

That does make sense. Religion and government are big examples. Let's look at it from a perspective of people who absolutely trust religious institutions and think that they're always doing good things. Not only are they doing bad things by propagating the misunderstanding and misapplications of natural law principles or not understanding them themselves, look at what goes on in inappropriate sexual encounters and relationships and traumatic experiences. But how many people go to church on a regular basis let's say, supports the Roman Catholic Church, and cannot admit that this institution is involved in poisonous activity like this? In traumatic activity that is affecting children.

It doesn't matter how many documentaries are produced about it. It doesn't matter how many books are written about it. They can't bring themselves to admit this level of evil is happening in their midst. The ego prevents them from looking at that. They insist that this cannot be true, “because I'm a member of it,” you know? I see this every day. You see a teacher who will say “the educational system can't be as bad as what you're claiming it to be. It can't harm children at the level that you're cleaning it harms them, because I'm a teacher. I'm involved. I do this for a living. You're saying I'm a bad person.” You’re challenging the fundamentals that they built themselves on, because that’s that person’s identity. He or she will see themselves as that teacher, which goes back to this first aspect of ego identification, which is attaching to the role that you play as opposed to understanding the higher self.

Caller #1: When an actuality that teacher in that example should have thanked that person for making that comment. Because that person revealed to them the level of their attachment to that idea. It’s important to have people around you that do that, that show you how much you're wrapped up in your own stuff.

INSTITUTIONAL BELIEF

That's right. But this also ties in with institutionalized belief systems which are very powerful. It's the same thing that people can't get past. They can't say “I was wrong. I believed this formerly. I once believed that the government was there to truly protect us and take care of us, and it cared about us, and it wouldn't do anything at a deep level to really create harm just so it could profit from it or prosper in ways that it wants, or take more control.” This is ego.

The ego is the force that keeps people from that admission. That keeps people from looking at what's really there, at the truth, what actually has transpired, the wave functions that actually have collapsed to create the events that have already played out which we call the past up to the present moment. They’re in denial of that, even though that's reality and can never be changed. It's what is. Those wave functions did collapse. They did create events in all the former present moments that we now call the past. And things are a certain way.

They do exist as a certain series of events, but people who are in deep levels of ego attachment, they want to say “oh no it isn't that way. I deny that. I deny that that is actually what took place. I deny that this is the condition that is actually our present moment, that is a result of those things.” And that's called denial of reality, and we talked about the name for that condition which is called cognitive dissonance. It's deliberately lying to oneself, even though the evidence is all around you.

Cognitive dissonance. It's a deep, psychological, lack of self-acceptance. Refusal to accept the truth is refusal to accept the self. They're one in the same. It’s what is. You refuse to actually accept what is, and acknowledge that yes this is the actual truth of what is taking place. Instead people want to put their head in the sand, and they want to say “oh no, that's not happening.”

You know it's like a cancer patient that's withering away with some deep terminal cancer and is still in deep denial, and saying “oh no I don't have cancer. I don't believe that that's the case.” Or you know an alcoholic is a perfect example. Drinking themselves into a coma practically. All their relationships are destroyed, their jobless, they’re homeless, but “I don't have alcoholism. I'm not an alcoholic. I just like to drink every now and again but I don't have a real problem. I have it under control. It’s okay.” That’s where we're at collectively, and ego attachment is what keeps us there.

It's the inability to admit that we are wrong about something. So you got to recognize that there's a problem at all at first, and then admit that you were wrong about the former worldview that you once held. And again, I think I had to do this about two hundred and fifty, three hundred thousand times. At least.

And find a worldview that is uniting, but how do you go about getting that if you're in a kind of a cornered position, where you've separated from that so long you don't even know what that thing looks like or how it works? You have no knowledge of it, and this is the second part of ego attachment that I think we you know when we started bringing up this notion before the show.

This is the side of ego that thinks it already knows everything. And I would never, ever, ever, make that statement that I know everything. That I know the totality of creation in the mind of God. No one does. There's always more to understand. There's always more knowledge to acquire and know. But I don't think it means that you can never admit that you do know what you already have come to understand. There's nothing wrong with admitting you understand two plus two equals four because it does. That's the truth. You can understand the acceleration due to gravity in the Earth's gravitational field. This is a law that you can come to know.

Caller #1: You can understand karmic principle but you're never going to understand the totality of it, but that shouldn't stop you from pursuing an empowering truth.

Right that's correct. So it's a basic fundamental principle. No one is saying that they can come to know the totality of the mind of God. That's not what's being claimed here. What ego attachment keeps people in is this notion that they already know everything they need to know to get by in life. They don't need to acquire any more knowledge. They never actually say the other three extremely empowering, and important, and powerful words. “I don't know.” To say “I was wrong” is the most powerful thing that I think can ever be uttered from a human mouth, making an apology, because you're admitting you were in a place of ignorance, you're coming from a place of not lack of understanding, and now you're saying “I now have at least the consciousness to say that was not the truth. And I held onto it, I was attached to it, and now I'm saying I'm not no longer attached to that. I was wrong”

But the next thing that has to be said is “I don't know. I'm aware of what level I don't understand.” And that's the only way you start moving upward in consciousness and in knowledge. The beginning of all knowledge starts with the utterance “I don't know.” And that sounds like a negative statement, but it's an extremely empowering and positive statement.

Caller #1: Absolutely, because once you realize that these ego attachments aren't you, well you have to start to question “well who am I then?” and if your first response after clearing away the crap isn’t “I don't know who I am,” then you're not starting from the right point. “I don't know who I am” is the perfect way to start. “I don't know.”

Absolutely. And that's the perfect way of putting it. It’s been said in different teachings that it's very difficult if not impossible to fill a glass that has already been filled. Until space is made and certain negative tendencies and attachments are cleared away, you can't make space for something new to come in. And that begins with the process of “okay I was wrong about that. I am willing, and I have the will to let go of that now, but I want to know now. And I realize I don't know.”

Then the next step is, “well who do you listen to? Where do you go? You go to people that have changed their lives through the understanding of the knowledge you want to acquire. So you don't go to people who are still trapped in deep levels of self-inflicted suffering. You go to people that are pretty much at peace with themselves, because they’ve come to understand who they are, and they don't inflict suffering upon others.

Caller #1: But you are very careful, not signing up for a new worldview. So yeah you're going to people who have already made that transition, but you don't acquire a new worldview from them.

You have to be careful to not take it on faith or belief from them. What you would do is learn how they did it. How they change themselves, and then follow along in that basic general methodology. They can go with an outline, and then you fill it in. It's like you want to understand how to make great tasting food, you wouldn't go to somebody who can't boil water. You'd go to a master chef and try to study under them. It's the same thing. It isn't turning that person into a guru.

Caller #1: It's like when you play in sports, you play with the best people out there because they will bring you up to their level. You will be pulled up to that level, so surround yourself with people that are above your level. Keep the bar high and continually reach, and eventually you'll get it.

Now hand in hand with that before we close up I just have to allude to this, because we'll be talking about this in future shows. The thing that keeps people from even developing the desire to get out of that basement valley of consciousness and ego identification, is the constant bombardment of your powerlessness. “You're powerless, you can't do it,” and that's called mind control.

Caller #1: Right and you know what’s a big mind control technique that just kind of just dawned on me the other day? Guilt. Media induced guilt. “It’s Mother's Day, what are you gonna buy for your mom? All good sons and daughters buy their mothers presents.” Well that's a mind control technique that's pushed via the media to get you to purchase.

Absolutely. We're gonna have to wrap it up for this week. That's a great point that you brought up there about guilt and we’ll be talking about mind control in future weeks.

What On Earth Is Happening Show #009

Topics: Natural Law, Barriers To Self-Realization, Prison Of The Left Brain

Before I get into the topic of today's show a little bit later, which is the prison of the left brain, an ongoing breakdown of the barriers to self-realization, and we're talking about the third out of four today. More likely next week we will go into the fourth and final barrier to self-realization institutionalized belief systems. Today I'll try to break down the left brain only modality which keeps us in the state that we are in collectively as a species. What creates that, what conditions lead to that state and how we need to transcend that left brain only modality that most of us are trapped in if we're ever going to make progress and actually become truly free as a species.

Before I do that I want to recap a little bit about what we've done up to this point, and then read this essay. The recap will lead into why I'm going to read this essay and why I feel it has a profound understanding of how natural law and the choices we make, whether they are in harmony with it or in discord with it, is completely and inextricably intertwined with the level of how free we are or how enslaved we are. So once again what we do on this show is talk about the causal factors that lead to the conditions that we are experiencing.

And as we said in earlier shows the ultimate causal factor that is leading to the conditions of the world as they are now, and forcing us to experience what we are experiencing right now as far as the loss of our freedoms, and that the rampant control mechanisms that are trying to be put into place by people who do not have our interest at heart, and many of them are just completely ignorant as to what they're actually creating. The bottom line causal factor is humanity's basic inability to tell truth from falsehood. We talked about the ideology of solipsism, which I called the biggest lie. The refusal to accept that there is such a thing as objective truth. The ideology of solipsism claims that there is no such thing as truth, that perception is reality.

This is the biggest lie, and this is ultimately how we are fooled and why we suffer, because we refuse to accept that there is such a thing objective truth, and we do not have the ability in a low state of consciousness to be able to tell what is actually the situation. To be able to tell the truth, from falsehoods and deceptions. And that is ultimately the bottom line reason, the bottom line causal factor of what is actually occurring. It's what's driving what we are experiencing. If we come into harmony with truth, we will not suffer to the extent that we come into harmony with it. If we go out of harmony with truth and just believe in fantasy an illusion, and buy untrue ideas and then live that way, to the extent that we do that is the extent that we will suffer. It's as simple as that.

So in relation to this we realize that we have to take a look at what human consciousness is. What comprises it, and we saw that there are three basic aspects or a threefold nature to human consciousness, namely our thoughts, our emotions and our actions. And if we are to come into harmony with truth, we need to bring these three aspects of human consciousness into alignment within ourselves such that we become a being that as we think, so we feel and so we act, and we cannot be divided, or we cannot be made to take action that is not in keeping with how we think and feel. This is called non-duality, unity consciousness, or what I refer to as dominion, or sovereignty. Owning the self, self-governance, self-control.

We looked at how the human brain works and how brain imbalance, toward either the left brain hemisphere which we'll be talking about later today, or to the right brain hemisphere, will significantly imbalance the rational higher order thought center of the brain, known as the neocortex, which will basically shut consciousness down to a large extent, and not help us to foster the ability to recognize truth from falsehood, or even to be able to reason. The brain, when it is imbalanced toward either the left or right hemisphere essentially stops functioning properly, and the neocortex stops behaving as the executive command center of the human brain. Therefore, we don't have access to higher-level thought functions, and we certainly don't have access to the ability to be able to tell what is actually taking place both within us and around us. Not accurately.

So in keeping with that, we started discussing the basic elementary forces that are at work in our lives that shape our reality through our choices, and those were love and fear. We talked about how these essences are seeming polarities, but they're really not opposites as we think of opposites, because one is real and one is illusion. And love, the real one, is really the only one that there is, but fear simply could be described as the absence of the true essence that is really there. So it can be present or absent to an extent, but really there's only one thing. Another example I gave to illustrate that is like hot and cold. There is really only heat energy and degrees thereof. Whether it is present. If heat energy is present we say that something is hot, and if it is absent we say that it is cold. Wet and dry, there is only moisture or its absence. Light and dark, there is only light or its absence so these are seeming polarities.

So we discussed polarity and how this is like an illusion. There really is only one thing or its absence. Love and fear, we discussed how these basic polar forces work to create our reality whether we choose the true essence, which is truth, which is love, or whether we choose the illusion which is fear. If we choose love, we foster dominion within the self and we foster freedom in the external reality in which we live. If we choose fear we go into a state of internal opposition and confusion within, and then the external manifestation is control and enslavement.

This dynamic what we choose is largely based upon our worldview, which we talked about different opposing worldviews toward the left brain imbalance, toward the right brain imbalance, and then we discussed a unitary worldview in which we don't see ourselves and the rest of the world in a state of separation. We see all as one. And that everything that we are basically doing to anything we are putting out into the universe, we are also experiencing and we are not separate from that. So as one suffers, all suffer. This non-dual worldview is what we need to reach if we're really going to foster true human freedom.

The opposite of that were these left brain and right brain imbalanced worldviews. The severely left brain imbalanced worldview was randomness, which I'll talk about a little bit because this is the ideology that says there is no such thing as natural law. That the universe works on principles that are essentially cosmic accidents. The extremely right-brained imbalance worldview we talked about as determinism, which is saying that there is no such thing as free will. That everything is preordained. Neither of these are true or balanced worldviews.

The truth is that the universe is a combination of both of these. That there is a random component, known as freewill, in which we get to choose, and that is up to us, therefore it is essentially random. No one can make someone choose a certain thing from among many things. They have to actually use their free will to choose it. Now they could be manipulated, they can be coerced through threats and they could be influenced in certain ways - this is known as mind control - however ultimately they make the decision, for whatever reason, to do an act or to take a certain behavior, and that's ultimately what creates the reality that we get when you apply this notion collectively to all the beings that live on this planet.

So freewill is one part of the non-dual worldview that sits in the middle between these two opposites. The other component is the deterministic component which is natural law, which is what I'm leading to talk about because that's what this essay is essentially about that I'm going to read. Natural law is what one must understand to understand what creates order, versus what creates chaos. Or you could say what creates good versus what creates evil. Or you could say what creates freedom versus what creates slavery. These are basically the same principles. One is the things that we call “good” in life, that lead to our happiness and not suffering, and the opposite component is the chaotic elements that lead to everything we call “evil” and suffering in our existence.

So we talked about the influences upon people's decisions. Whether to live in harmony with natural law, or to go into opposition with it. And we refer to those forces as magic and sorcery, each being defined as the art and science of influencing change to occur in accordance with the will. Magic influencing change to occur in accordance with higher Will, or will with a capital W, and sorcery influencing people to change in accordance with the lowercase will, which is a selfish will of the person wielding that influence. Not the will of creation, not natural law principles, but the egoic self-centered desires of the sorcerer themselves. So these concepts can all be referred to in my presentation and in previous podcasts.

What I'm going to do tonight is read an essay that was sent to me by email that is very much in keeping with these principles, with the dynamics of what creates order and what creates chaos, and how critical it is for us to understand that. To know, intellectually know - not have a belief system about it - but to intellectually understand how these forces work. How our choices, whether they are in harmony with natural law principles, with higher moral law principles, how they create the reality that we must experience as a result of those choices. And until we understand that no progress is going to be made. We're going to be wandering completely blind in a desert of useless ideologies, that really cannot do us any true good.

This essay was sent to me by a friend who was on the show previously Daryl Rolands, and he sent me this by email, and this is a link from an internet forum. And the person posting calls themselves Aquinas. So I called this essay - and it wasn't titled because it was just the forum response online - I termed this essay Aquinas on Liberty. So I'll read it and then I will chime in and comment on some of the concepts contained in it and expand on them a little bit. Aquinas on Liberty:

As long as we abide in partial darkness, we will continue to be conquered. If we looked very closely at the idea of Liberty, we would discover that there is a radical distinction between true human Liberty, and Liberty falsely so-called. Indeed, Liberty falsely so-called is that same Liberty which the New World Order qualifies as, quote, “the bait of an idea to attract the masses of the people to one's party for the purpose of crushing another who is in authority” unquote, and as an idea of freedom which is really an infection. And as a slackening of the reins of government.

So what this person is saying in this first paragraph is, there is true human freedom and then there is a notion, or an idea of freedom, that is put out by the establishment as controlled opposition. As basically baiting people into one's own movement for the purpose only of opposing another movement that currently happens to be in power at the time. This is how the two-party system constantly plays upon each other. They go back and forth, and its controlled opposition. Never actually true freedom.

Where does the false idea of Liberty come from? What is false Liberty? What is true Liberty? Knowledge of the correct answers to these questions is still lacking in the bulk of the patriot movement, and to the degree that it is lacking so is integral unity and true power to overcome the menace. Until the patriot movement unifies itself under true philosophical principles, it will win only apparent victories, while the satanic New World Order continues its long march to total global domination. True Liberty is the highest of natural endowments. It is the portion only of intellectual or rational nature's, and it confers on man this dignity, that he is in the hand of his council and has power over his actions, but the manner in which such dignity is exercised is of the greatest moment in as much as on the use that is made of Liberty, the highest good and greatest evil alike depend. Man indeed is free to obey his reason to seek moral good and to strive unswervingly after his last end, yet he is free also to turn aside to all other things and in pursuing the empty semblance of good, to disturb rightful order and to fall headlong into the destruction which he has voluntarily chosen. Worse still are those who promote a false and absurd notion of liberty, by perverting the idea of freedom, or extending it to things in respect of which man cannot rightly be regarded as free.

What he is saying here is, we are free to use our free will to come into harmony with natural law and thus create order, and we are also free to use our free will to choose to ignore and/or attempt to break natural law principles, and therefore create a hell for ourselves if that is what we choose. And I will add that this is working whether we are conscious of how that dynamic works or not. This works unconsciously. The goal is to understand how these principles work so that we can consciously come into harmony with them, and therefore become conscious co-creators of our reality that we experience.

The Declaration of Independence states as follows. "We hold these truths to be self-evident that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness." Sad to say, this is a very ambiguous and therefore dangers proposition, as it is subject to any number of conflicting interpretations. Indeed, the proof of its weakness is the young age of the total collapse of the American Republic. Obviously that clause has not been interpreted properly. If it had been, we would not have devolved into barbarity in less than 250 years. It can be argued that the American Republic was built on Free Masonic sand, and thus if we are going to rebuild it, we might want to recodify our foundational principles. In order for America to throw off its internationalist oppressors, a proper understanding of natural human Liberty in the minds and hearts of the American people is indispensably necessary. For We the People have been brought low and have been rendered soft and vulnerable as the direct result of having imbibed and believed a false notion of liberty and the pursuit of happiness. As a natural endowment given to human nature by god, the omnipotent creator of the universe, liberty must exist for an end or ultimate purpose, and this end must be identical to the essential determination and composition of human nature, which is rational, i.e. intellectual and volitional. The end or object both of the rational will and of its Liberty, is that good only which is in conformity with reason.

So I'll chime in here and say, what he is saying is, when we use our free will, the only way that we can act we create liberty or freedom as an end, is if what we choose with that free will is in harmony with natural law principles. One in the same with true reason, and that's what he is saying here. It must be done in a rational, intellectual and volitional freewill way.

Liberty belongs only to those who have the gift of reason or intelligence. Animals do not possess Liberty. Considered as to its nature, it is the faculty of choosing means fitted for the end proposed, for he is master of his actions who can choose one thing out of many. Freedom of choice is therefore the essential property of the human will, but the will cannot proceed to act until it is enlightened by intellectual knowledge. For the proper object of the will is the good. The will cannot proceed to act until it is enlightened by the intellect. Nothing can be desired by the will unless it is judged by the intellect to be a good. Thus, in all voluntary acts, choice is subsequent to an intellectual judgment that something is good or desirable. The will is referred to as the appetitive power of the soul, or the rational appetite. Like the intellect, the will is a spiritual faculty. It is that power through which an individual seeks to execute an act, or attain to an object proposed to it by the intellect. The object of the will is always the good, and even in the election of evil it must be proposed to the will under the appearance of good. Anything chosen as a means is therefore viewed under some aspect of goodness.

This is critical. I'm chiming in here now and saying that this is critical to understand. He is saying that people's will is driven by what they feel to be good, what they think of as good, what they believe to be good, and therefore they can be fooled into choosing an action that is not in harmony with the natural law, that will create disorder, that will create chaos, that will create what we call evil, in their ignorance of natural law principles, because something was proposed to them under the auspices of the good. Someone says “you do this, you take this action and good will result from it. Not taking it may result in chaos,” when in fact the exact opposite is true.

That in most cases taking actions that are not in harmony with natural law, that are based in control, and based in fear, and based in illusory power, will create nothing but chaos and disorder in the world. And until the ignorant people who are being fooled into doing these actions, by someone telling them that if they don't take such actions the chaos will result, they are actually doing the work of evil unknowingly. Unknowingly. Not consciously, but unconsciously, because they are not conscious. They do not have the developed intellect, the developed ability to recognize truth from falsehood. We're not talking about just left brain intellect here as he's using the word. This is holistic intelligence. Reason, the ability to be able to tell what is actually taking place both within oneself and in the environment, or the realm in which the self exists and operates. Or what I gave earlier in this radio program as the definition for consciousness itself.

Therefore, because in all voluntary acts choice is subsequent to a judgment upon the truth of the good presented. Declaring to which good preference should be given, it is an immutably true principle that human Liberty depends entirely on intellectual judgments that conform to reason and the natural law. If a judgment which does not conform to the natural law or to reason, and which is therefore objectively false and immoral is acted upon by the will, then it is a source of grave disorder in society. Exponentially multiply the number of individual immoral acts, and you have a republic that collapses from moral decay in a short period of time.

Absolutely amazing. This is one of the most profound understandings of how natural law works that I've ever read anywhere, and that's saying something because I've read voraciously since I was very young, and this person has a profound understanding of how natural law works in the world. I'm going to read that paragraph again and analyze it a bit at a time.

Because in all voluntary acts, choice is subsequent to a judgement upon the truth of the good presented declaring to which good preference should be given.

What he is saying here is, when we choose something by our own free will, we are acting upon what we believe to be true, and we are saying we are declaring to which good preference should be given. We're saying out of all these possible options, I'm going to choose to do this because I think that is the way to go about things. I think that is the way to actually create good. But the problem with this is, if we are mistaken or misled in our judgment upon the truth of the good presented. What if we are deceived? What if we bought a lie? What if we do not have a true understanding of what that action will really bring about when we take it?

I would suggest to the listening audience that this is where most of humanity is at in consciousness. We do not understand the true repercussions in natural law of our behaviors, and that's why we are continuing to get results in the world that we do not wish to experience. In the next part of that sentence he says

It is an immutably true principle

So immutably means unchanging. It always works this way. Immutable comes from the Latin verb muteo muteri, which means “to change.” Immutable means “cannot be changed, impossible to change.” It always works a certain way, that's how natural law works. An immutably true principle. Principle means “first things.” You know when we say “first things first?” We’re referring to principles, that which we should put first, and act in accord with first. True principles.

It is an immutably true principle that human Liberty depends entirely

Not in part. Entirely. 100% on intellectual judgments, and he means holistic intellectual judgments. Not just left brain logical thought. Logic and analytical, and linear thinking, combined with intuitive and nurturing, and nonlinear thinking. Care. True care. Wisdom. In occult traditions this difference between pure intellect and wisdom is talked about in Kabbalistic teachings. The Tree of Life in Kabbalah, which we'll be talking a lot more about occult traditions in coming weeks, but the Tree of Life is made from these spheres or emanations known as Sefirot. There are ten of them on the Tree of Life, and the top one is Unity. Pure unity consciousness that even transcends thought. This is pure being, pure unity consciousness. This is known as Kether in Kabbalah.

But below that there are two spheres, Chokmah and Binah, wisdom and understanding. Chokmah is true wisdom. Binah is intellectual understanding, or knowledge. But then but Chokmah is wisdom. It is what you do with what you know, through holistic intelligence, through having developed true higher order reason faculties by having a balanced brain. And that is the sphere that is closest to the highest point on the tree of life known as Kether. We need to develop true wisdom, true higher level intellect, holistic intelligence in other words. That is what lets us understand which judgments we will make that will conform with the natural law. So once again that sentence is critical.

It is an immutably true principle that human liberty depends entirely on intellectual judgments that conform to reason and the natural law. If a judgment which does not conform to the natural law or reason, and which is therefore objectively false and immoral

Think about that what he's saying there. When our judgment does not conform to natural law, by definition, it is objectively false and it is also immoral. That's absolutely true and that is an absolute profound understanding of how natural law functions, and how freewill functions within the boundaries of natural law to create our reality. A brilliant, brilliant assessment in language of how this dynamic works. I totally commend this person for having written this with such clarity.

If judgment which does not conform to the natural law and which is therefore objectively false and immoral is acted upon by the will, then it becomes a source of grave disorder in society.

And that's just what we've been saying here on this program. When we are not in harmony with natural law principles, we create chaos. And if we don't know how they work - not believe - understand and really know how they work, our actions cannot come into alignment with true wisdom, and therefore create order. They can only create chaos.

When you exponentially multiply the number of individual immoral acts, you have a republic that collapses from moral decay in a short period of time.

And that's where we're at folks. What led to people losing their freedom is the moral decay in America. Call it as self-righteous as you want. Say that I'm generalizing as much as you want. That is true, that is what is actually creating it. I am simply stating how a law functions. That's it. It is no more egoic or self-righteous than stating how the law of gravity functions. It's how it is. It is simply the case, period, the end. Sorry if you don't like it stated that way but I don't sugarcoat things here on this program or in life in general. So going back to the essay I'll wrap up the last paragraph.

Hedonism, i.e. the tyranny of the passions, has no place in the well-ordered man or in the well-ordered civilization. Unfortunately, our elitist overlords have long been at dumbing us down to the level of beasts that cannot employ their natural rational endowments, but only their carnal lusts. We allowed this to happen to us because we mistakenly believed that the lie they told us, namely that true Liberty is the right to do whatever we want, whenever we want, as long as it is not illegal or discoverable. True Liberty is an essential property of objective truth and morality. Therefore, there can be no true Liberty in a civilization that enshrines moral relativity.

And that's the end of the essay. And I'd like to go back over that paragraph because of how profound it is as well.

Hedonism, the tyranny of the passions

Meaning the pleasure principle, living life purely for pleasure of oneself. One's own carnal pleasures. Never taking an interest in wider global affairs, in whether human beings are living in harmony with natural law, are living in moral ways with each other. Just saying "as long as I'm comfortable and as long as I have the things that make me comfortable and happy I don't care about what happens to anyone else." That's the ideology, the way of being in the world, called hedonism. The tyranny of the passions, this person refers to it as.

It has no place in the well-ordered man or in the well-ordered civilization

Here's the concept of order again. What creates order? I'm not saying that there's something wrong with enjoying life. I'm not saying that you can never have any fun. Don't get it twisted and say that's what I'm saying because those words never came out of my mouth. What this person saying and what I'm agreeing with, is that hedonism - this is the pleasure principle gone awry to an extreme - in a world where immense suffering is taking place all around us, and all we really care about is whether we're comfortable and happy in our own little pocket of the world. That has no place in the well-ordered being or the well-ordered society.

Unfortunately, our elitist overlords have long been at dumbing us down to the level of beasts, that cannot even employ their rational endowments but only their carnal lusts.

And take a look around folks. That's exactly what has happened. Through mind control, through the education system that we have set up in the Western civilization and indeed around the world, and through the prison of the left brain. Living only for the physical. Connected totally with the five sense illusion and with ego identification and attachment, the identification with the roles we play, as we're going to continue to talk about in the second hour tonight. All connected with barriers to self-realization. The actualization and realization of who we really are.

We allow this to happen to us because we mistakenly believe the lie, the big lie, that true liberty is the right to do whatever we want whenever we want as long as it is not quote "illegal."

Not in accordance with natural law but not in accordance with the law of man. We could do whatever we want. That's not what the true Will means with a capital W. It does not mean do whatever you want. When the occultist Allister Crowley wrote the words “do what thou Wilt shall be the whole of Law,” will and law means capital W will and law means capital L law. To do the true will, one must be in harmony with higher-level law, moral law, natural law. People never quote the second part of that phrase which is “love is the law” the force of love, the expansive force of consciousness is, the, law. The higher law capital L, law of creation natural law. Another aspect of that quote is “do the Will and no other shall say nay.” You will not have suffering if you are in compliance with natural law principles, love consciousness, non-dual consciousness.

True liberty is an essential property of objective truth and morality.

What we've been talking about from the very beginning of this show. There is such a thing as objective truth and there is such a thing as objective morality. Our actions fall into two categories, those which we do have the right to take and those which we do not have the right to take. And those which we do have the right to take are called rights, and those which we do not have the right to take are called wrongs. The refusal to accept this, that this is in place, that this is true and operating upon us, is what has worked us into the mess that we are worked into, and until people accept that don't expect it to change ladies and gentlemen.

Do not expect it to change for an instant, because it is not going to until those principles are accepted as truths, and as laws that are in operation, that we are bound by at all times, and all places, as long as you are in this three dimensional space-time universe. And again I'm not worried about other universes. On this show I talk about what goes on in this realm. That's why the show is called What on Earth Is Happening? Not what's happening in some other dimension of space-time reality, or time-space reality, I don't know about those realms.

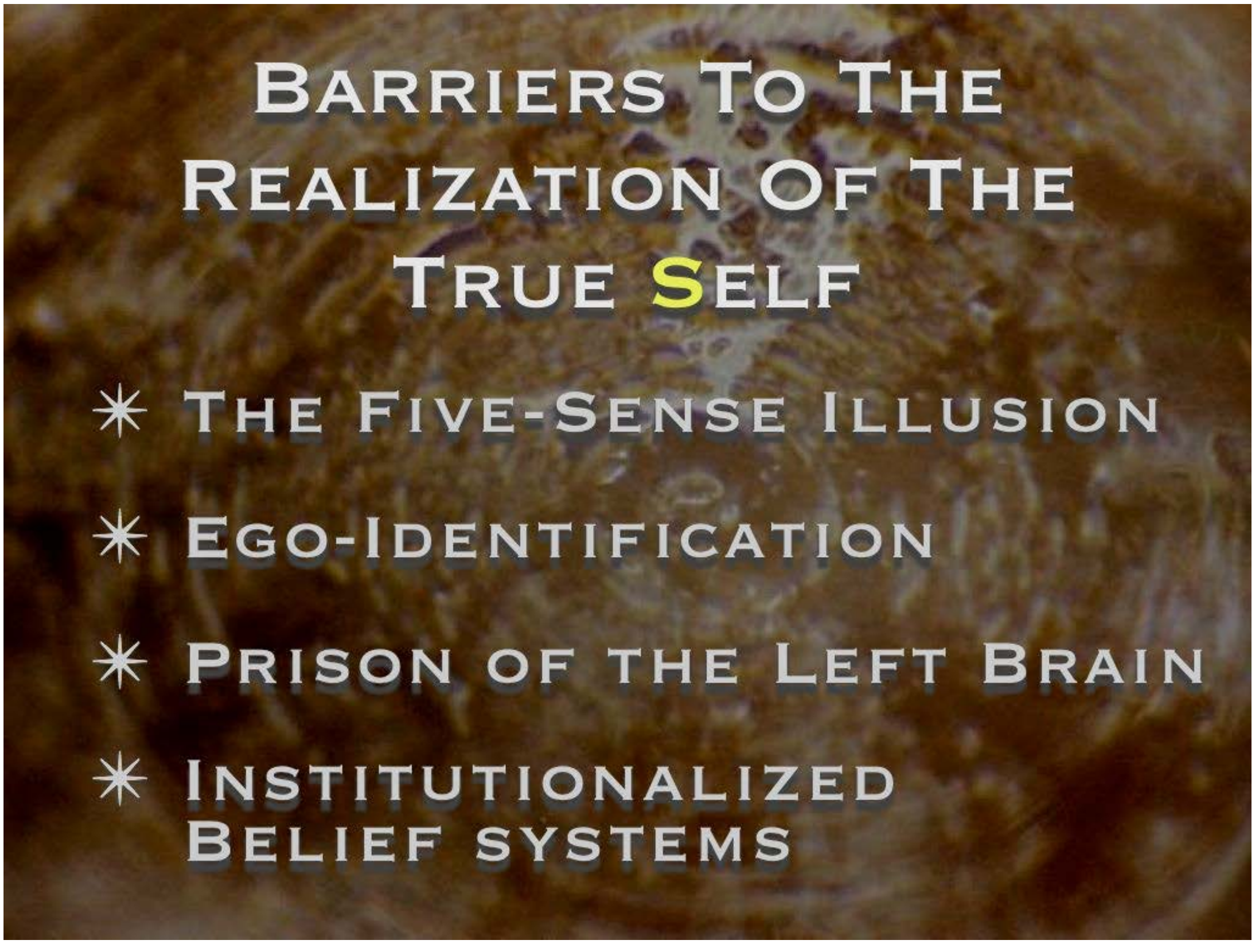
You ever hear the phrase “be here now?” Be here now. There's no other moment, there's no other place except here. So be here now. Worry about other realms when you're operating within those other realms. If you have a way to get to other realms, wonderful. Do it, prove that you could do it and then teach other people how to do it if you can get them out of this place, out of this hell. But while we're here, if we're going to change the dynamic that we experienced while we are here, then come to grips with being here and operating within the now.

So that is how moral law works, that Liberty is a property of it. When we are in harmony with moral law, taking only the actions which we have the right to take, or being in harmony with the Will capital W as we talked about previously on the show, then we will become free. If we ignore that and we accept moral relativism, that there is no such thing as objective right or wrong, then we're going to go deeper, deeper, and deeper, and deeper, and deeper into a prison. And it's fine actually. It's fine. That's how it works.

Moral law, higher level natural law is always in effect and it always works perfectly. So there's no reason to even get upset about that. What we should really be getting partially upset about if anything, is the fact that so many people are ignorant of how moral law principles work and are in their ignorance choosing to basically break those laws, or violate them. Let's not even use the word break because they really can't be broken. They are in effect, we are bound by them and they operate, period.

There can be no true Liberty in a civilization that enshrines moral relativity.

And this is exactly what I've been talking about for weeks on this show. A long as we accept the notion that there is no such thing as truth, and no such thing as objective right or wrong, there can be no freedom. And the patriot movement and the freedom movement does not have a deep enough understanding of this, and I'll be the one to say that since no one else is. Some other people are obviously. This person has a brilliant, deep understanding of it and I would suggest he is obviously an avid reader and constructs the language brilliantly. I would suggest that this understanding comes from studying occultism as well, which I'll bet if you spoke with that person they would have a grasp of occult philosophies. So the best assessment of natural law principles that I've heard in a long, long time. My hat's off to Aquinas, whoever you are.



Barriers To The Realization Of The True Self

- The Five-Sense Illusion
- Ego-Identification
- Prison of the Left Brain
- Institutionalized Belief systems

I'm going to jump right into the topic for this hour which is the barriers to self-realization. We've been covering these over the last few weeks. We've already looked at the five sense illusion which is identification with physical matter, when in fact physical matter is essentially a construct for experience. It is not solid per se, it is a wave function that only becomes solid, apparently, when consciousness is introduced to the equation. This is known as the observer effect, and I displayed this principle through a video that I posted on the podcast section of the website known as the double slit experiment. Last week we looked at ego identification and attachment with my guest Walter Rhodes. We talked about how people identify with the roles that they play in life. They believe they are the role that they play as opposed to understanding the true nature of self, which is consciousness itself, the higher self. That's what we're looking at. Barriers to realization to true awakening, identification with matter, identification with the roles that we play. “I am a teacher, I am a doctor, I am a lawyer, I am a cop, I am a soldier, I am a politician, etc.” when in fact we are none of those things. That is an experience we are having in the construct that we call 3D space time.

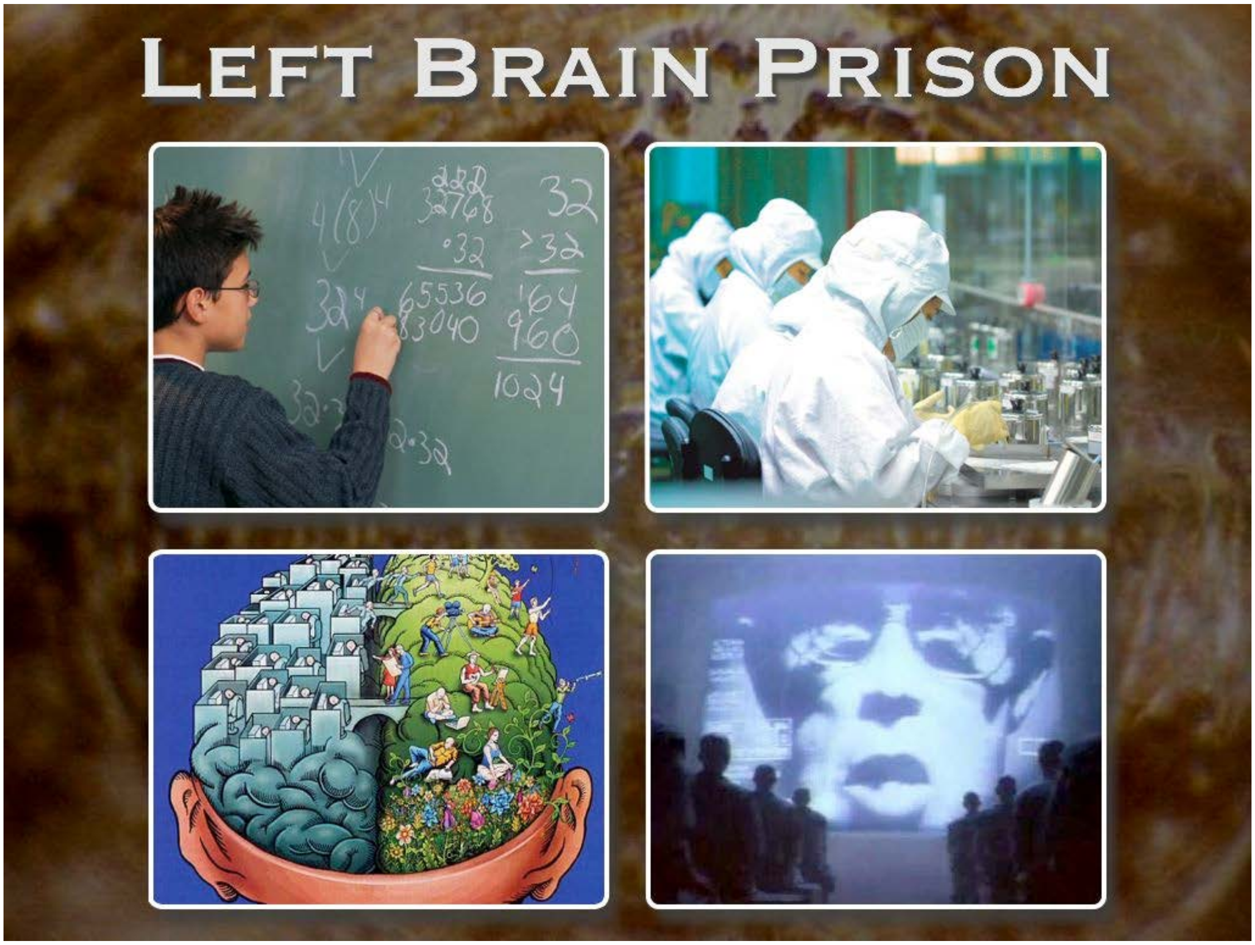
Today we're going to look at the third barrier out of four. The four barriers to self-realization, true awakening are, one the five sense allusion, two ego identification, three the prison on the left brain which will be the topic tonight, and four institutionalized belief systems which we will look at next week, but we'll touch on some tonight. And we want to understand how the left brain prison operates, and how it is connected with the other barriers to self-realization. So we can start by looking at it in comparison to the five sense illusion. Someone who is very, very identified with physical matter, with materialism, with physical stuff and things, is very, very trapped in the left brain.

The left brain hemisphere makes it possible for us to experience life in a physical body. It helps us to understand the physical nature of the world in which we live. We use it to think logically, to think analytically, to think in a linear progression. If not for the left brain we would not be able to engage in logical thoughts, nor would we be able to engage in manipulating anything in the physical environment in which we live. We wouldn't be able to walk, we wouldn't be able to talk, we wouldn't be able to see things and judge how far away they are from us, wouldn’t be able to basically use our motor skills, any of that. The left brain basically correlates all of these functions. So therefore it is critical. We need it. We can't really live without it. We need to use the left brain to go about our daily lives and function in the physical world that we live in.

The problem enters into the picture when we live only in the left brain with no connection to the right brain hemisphere, and this has been referred to by many people as the prison of the left brain. Engaging only the left brain modality of consciousness, and ignoring, or leaving out, or not experiencing the right brain modality of consciousness. When this happens several things take place. One, we become obsessed with materiality. Two, the limbic brain which is responsible for helping us to experience emotions in the body, the repercussions of what we do in the world with both ourselves and with other people, whether positive or negative emotions, both are made possible through the chemical interactions that take place in the limbic brain.

The mammal brain. This is the midbrain as we talked about in former radio shows where we discuss the structure of the brain. This part of the brain when we live perpetually in left brain modality of consciousness begins to malfunction and shut down, therefore to a much lesser extent we are able to feel emotions, which is our emotional guidance system. Our moral guidance system, that's what our emotions are. It is the guidance system that we have, our internal compass as to whether we are headed in the right direction in life or not. If we attune ourselves to our moral compass, that is only made possible when we are engaged with the right brain in conjunction with the left. A balanced neocortex, the higher-level human brain.

Only when we balance these brain hemispheres and we come into harmony with the right brain hemisphere do we engage the midbrain in its proper role as a guidance system through emotion, and that constantly sends feedback to the neocortex. The part of the brain that we use to make decisions, that we make judgment with. We use the neocortex for judgments and decision-making. Discernment, in other words. Aquinas talked about in the essay that I read in the previous hour, choosing one thing among many. How do we base our decisions? We do that by the interactions that are going on between a limbic brain and the neocortex, and those can only be in harmony with natural law when we have a holistically functioning brain. A holistically functioning neocortex, that is engaged not only in the left brain analytical and intellectual process, but also in the right brain nurturing and intuitive process. The Sacred Feminine side of the personality, in other words.



Many of us become trapped in the left brain modality through several things, but largely they can be summed up in one specific way. We become trapped in the left brain through what we take into ourselves. That's the easiest way to put it. We take in to ourselves physical matter that we refer to as food that provides the nutrients that our material body - the body computer - needs to function. The brain and body need nutrients to function in the physical reality we live in. So we take in nutrients to fuel that system. But we also take in information through our education, what we are taught when we are young, and ongoingly what we are taught as we grow older, and through the multi forms of media that we take in. Whether it be hearing other people speak, whether it be watching television, watching a movie, reading a newspaper, reading books, general conversations even that we have with other people that shaped our views, and opinions, and beliefs, and contribute to what we know and understand.

So what shapes the brain? The brain is like a sponge, it's like an empty hard drive. When we are young, the first approximately six years all we're doing is downloading data to the drive, and this shapes the personality from a very young age. It's difficult once that download stops to rewrite the software. We have to use will to get into that source code and change it, and we didn't write it. It was written by all of the opinions and beliefs that shaped it while we were still in formative developmental years. So it's a big task to change through an act of will. It's possible. There are many people who are living proof that that is quite possible, who have undergone a radical transformative journey in their lives, from a person that was a half of a being trapped in the left brain - some perhaps in the right brain - to becoming whole again and having a holistic properly functioning brain in which both the left and right brain functions in harmony, and a non-duality, non-conflict.

The prison of the left brain is created by this download of information and most people stay in that modality throughout their lives. Most do. Largely this happens through the educational system. The educational system stresses and emphasizes the first barrier to self-realization, the five sense illusion. You hear about reading, writing and arithmetic in schools, but do you ever hear about any classes on morality in schools? Oh no there would be an uproar about that. You can't teach children right from wrong. Do you ever hear any classes about how to live in true social harmony? How to respect the rights of others? How to deeply understand what your rights are as a sovereign being and respect the sovereign rights of other people? No, because you couldn't breed a controller class like that.

You couldn't breed people that are trapped in the left brain and think that they have a right to step on other people's sovereign rights as sovereign beings if you didn't put them into a left brain modality of consciousness, in which they identify with the five sense world and in which they identify with the ego or the role that they are to play. You want to get people not understanding the true nature of self, but identifying with the lowercase s self. Identifying with the role as opposed to understanding it as an experience. So the five sense illusion plays a major role in this process. You have to teach people that the goal of life is survival and materialism, to acquire things, to constantly live in fear mode of lack of not having enough.

Never understanding that we are one, we're not separate from each other, never understanding that there is enough, there need be no lack - this Earth provides an abundance more than we could ever really need or use if we were to use what is provided wisely in wisdom and in stewardship. Not believing that we have the right to exploit and take as much as we want whenever we want - and the left brain prison fostered by the five sense illusion also promotes the idea that there really is no spiritual nature to human beings. Spirituality is not talked about in schools. You have government-funded public schools that won't touch anything of a non-physical nature, of a deeper spiritual nature, and you have then private schools that will teach various dogmas and religions but not philosophies. Not true ways to live in social harmony and harmony with nature, which is the love of wisdom. Only a philosophy can teach that.

And there are no schools for philosophy. You could study it in college yes, but what schools are teaching true philosophy in the developmental years of children? I would suggest there are none. If there are I don't know of any, and are parents doing it? No they're reinforcing the very left brain prison that the schools are helping to put our children into. So the education system is one of the biggest contributors to this modality of consciousness, and for all teachers that may be listening out there get as offended as you like, because that's what modern schools are doing.

Study about the educational models that they're really based upon. What we have in the Western world is outcome based educational models that drive our educational institutions. This means that children aren't even being graded on knowledge. They're being graded upon how well they conform to the desired social outcome. Outcome based education. How well does our child conform to the system that we want him to submit to? It's called the Soviet Union educational model. That's what it is. And again teachers get as offended as you like, because if you're involved in the official educational system, your part of that. Whether you like it or not, whether you believe it or not, whether you accept that that's true or not, that's what's going on.

And this is why so many people are completely disconnected from any notion of spirituality whatsoever. It's why so many people grow up trying to control other people, because when the neocortex breaks down and ceases to function properly as the command center of the brain, when the left brain hemisphere is chronically engaged and the right brain hemispheres is barely ever used, the limbic system starts to break down, the person cannot feel the repercussion of their actions through their emotion which is the moral guidance system for the being, and they become a controller that is living in the r-complex, or the reptilian portion of the brain which is only focused on control, survival, greed, hoarding and more control. That's it. That's all it does. It doesn't do anything else. “I need to survive at anyone's cost, I need to control whatever I can control, I need to grab as much as I can” fight or flight modality.

Perpetual stress mode, and we wonder why children have more and more illnesses, and adults have more, and more, and more illnesses. Our hospitals are filled by stress-related diseases largely because of this left brain modality, and what do people do? They're raised in a left brain education system, they go into a left brain workforce, and they come home from school or work and they flop out in front of the couch to turn on the right brain modality and waiting for them is the mind control. Waiting for them is the propaganda to go to work on the right brain. To say “accept this, accept this, accept this, be subservient, be subservient, obey, obey, take this as truth.”

You'll notice on the news it's geared toward the right brain, because once somebody is it is engaged in the left brain mode for eight to ten hours a day, always in left brain mode from the time they wake up, go through their rituals which are left brain, eat, go to work do the same left brain activities all day, drive, left brain activity, they come home they want to eat - many times they're eating harmful foods, which we'll talk about on this show. As we'll get into food and the dangers of all the different additives, chemicals, preservatives etc that are in food - and then they'll flop out in front of the TV and into the right brain modality consciousness shifts.

And right there waiting is the news broadcast with all tons and tons of blue light blue hues. The color blue is a frequency geared to put somebody in the right brain mode of consciousness, which you're trying to get them to accept this information as true. Accept this, take it, it's good, believe it. Here's the blue frequency to tell you that it's comfortable, it's true. Blue goes to work on the right brain. But this can't really be achieved unless you kept somebody in a left brain mode all day long through school, through work. These are left brain modalities, and then after they come out of that they have this need, this desire to switch into right brain mode because the body recognizes the imbalance and it strives to correct it. So you want to be passive. You want that feminine aspect of passivity, and that's what makes it so easy then to drive the propaganda home in the afternoon or the evening, in front of the hypnosis box.

The propaganda box. And people fall for it. They can't disconnect from that poison because it's a drug. And the left brain prison makes it possible to get that into them through the right brain imbalance. So it's a dual form of imbalance and an important aspect of it is the left brain prison creates controllers, and I'm going to start to break down the hierarchy of how control actually works in any system. It works through the same fundamental hierarchical structure, which is formed like a pyramid. It's compartmentalized and hierarchical, and you can see how the functions of the brain work in that system. Particularly how the left brain prison helps to create a person that would be willing to take part in that hierarchy of control.

So if you have a hierarchical structure, let's say a corporation, you have the CEO at the top of the pyramid and it's only one person. Then below him you have a couple of vice presidents, and then you have senior managers. So as you're going lower in the hierarchy you have more people. They have less command decisions about what will be done. But think about it, the person at the top is all ultimately making the highest level decisions and can't be overruled. So that person is in left brain modality dictating to those below him. The people below him, let's take vice presidents for example that then give orders to senior managers, they're both in left brain modality imbalance and right brain modality imbalance, because they are completely subservient to the top level CEO. So they're in right brain modality when it comes to accepting his orders and then they go and shift into left brained control modality for those below them.

This is how the hierarchy of the chain of command in the Armed Forces works in any military institution. This is how it works in any school, this is how it works in any bank, this is how it works in any hospital, this is how it works in any pharmaceutical company, this is how it works with the police. A great example of this dichotomy between left and right brain modalities and how it functions through a hierarchy of control is the allegory that's given in the movie Star Wars. When you look at the beings that are on the Empire side, the controller's, and you have at the bottom level all of these storm troopers that are identical to each other - they're actually clones. None of them have any actual identity they're clones of one person. You find out later in episode two that they are clones of one person Jango Fett.

So these storm troopers they wear these uniforms. They're all the same, uniform, one form, not changing. They're left brain to all the people they're trying to control and put into a prison, or a police state. An empire. But to their boss, the commanders in the black uniforms, they're completely subservient. They take orders, they follow orders, so they're in a completely right brained modality. Mind control in other words. They're under mind control. That works upon the right brain largely, but it works through keeping people in a left brain modality most of the time. That's how you gain access to the right brain that basically makes the person accept and follow, accept and follow, follow orders, follow orders.

That's a right brain imbalance, and then to all the people they are told they are allowed to control and brutalize, they act in a completely left brain imbalance way. They are then the master of those people in their own minds. Not in reality of course, but in their ignorant illusion. In their total ignorance of natural law, they believe that they have the right to act that way toward other living sovereign beings, but they don't and they never will possess that right. Because it doesn't exist. They don't have that right, period, the end for all time. That right does not exist. It cannot be granted. It can only be believed. It can only be claimed and believed, but it does not exist. In point of fact reality that right does not exist that right.

So their commanders in the black uniforms, they are left brain when it comes to commanding their troops the storm troopers, but to Darth Vader they're completely subservient right brain and they're under his mind control. Vader is the same. He's not the top of the pyramid. He commands all the rest of the troops and forces and commanders so to them he's left brain, but to his master the Emperor he's completely right brained. See where I'm going with this? In a system of brain imbalance and a hierarchical system based in control, which is based in fear, there are no free beings. Everyone is simultaneously a slave while being a master of some lower level slave. None of them are truly free.

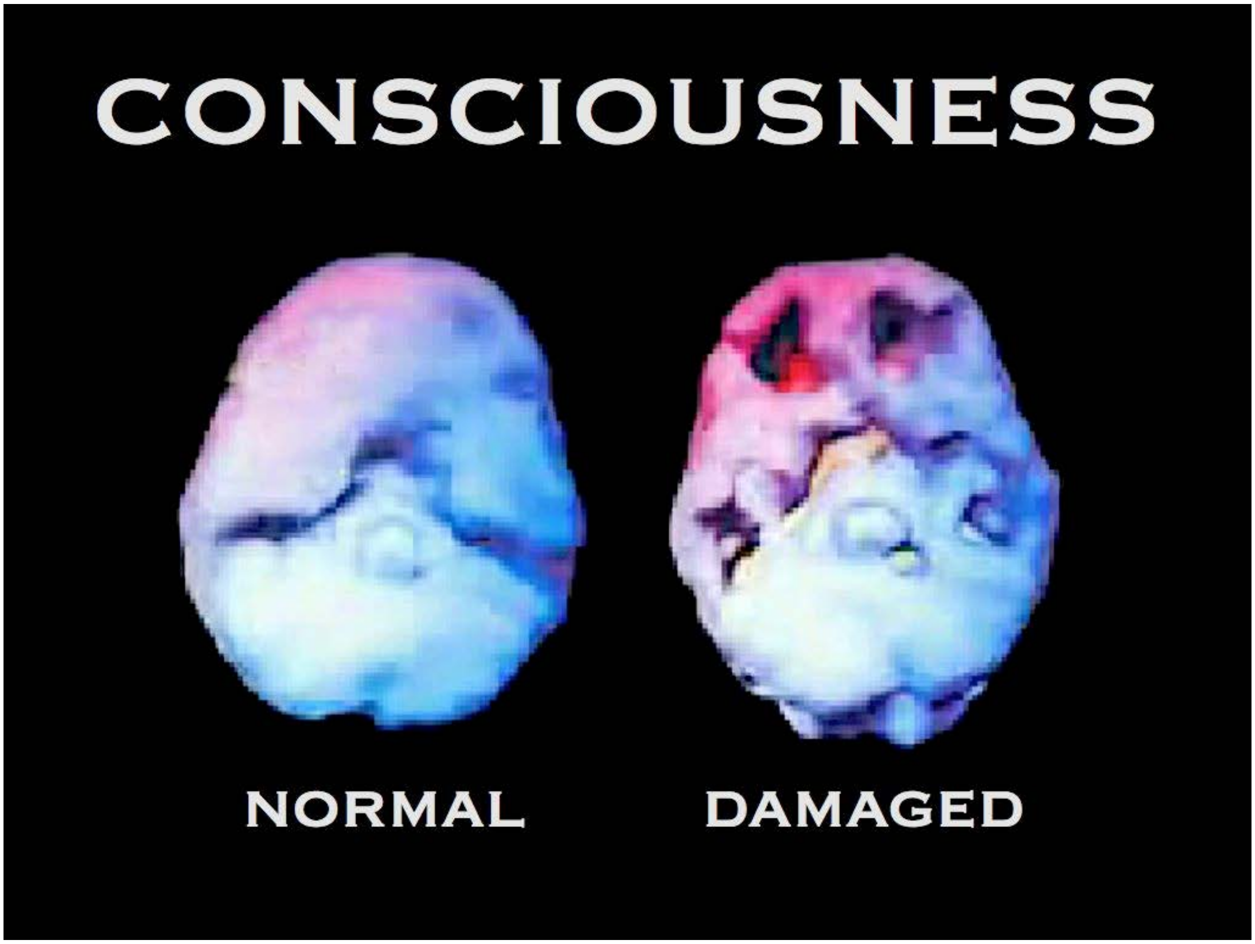
You can say “well who does the Emperor take orders from?” Well in the physical body yeah maybe it's true that no one is commanding him, but he's still a puppet. He's a puppet to fear. The dark side of the force, which is what we've already talked about as one of the essences, or the emotional polarities, the forces that through our freewill decisions we come into alignment with one or the other. One of them is real, the other is illusion. Fear is an illusion. It is simply the absence of love or awakening consciousness.

The ability to tell truth from falsehood, the expansive force of consciousness love is real. Fear is the illusion. It can never create anything good, it can never create order, it can only create chaos. So these controllers that want their New World Order, it isn’t order, it's nothing of the kind. I think we should stop calling it New World Order and call it the New World Chaos because that's what it is. That's what they're trying to build, the new world of chaos.

You have chaos in society now folks. You have no order. You have no actual even semblance of order. People who think they're creating order through control are delusional ignoramuses. They have no idea what they're creating. They are unconscious co-creators of their reality and others reality. We have a shared reality. It is created by the coming together of all the freewill decisions that we collectively make through our understanding or through our ignorance of natural law principles. The actions we do have the right to take and the actions we do not have the right to take, and so many people are choosing actions that they do not possess the right to take because they're deceived and they're ignorant and they don't have the intellectual capacity and understanding, to understand that what they're doing is morally wrong. Morally wrong.

Just like the Nazis in World War Two under the Third Reich of Hitler, and Himmler, and Goebbels, and others. Being told they had the right to do this, and they believed it. Wholeheartedly thought they were doing the right thing. Still many of them interviewed today have no remorse whatsoever. None. We're going to talk much more deeply about mind control and how it works in coming weeks. If you want to understand how it works and understand the forces that led to the creation of the Third Reich, you need to study the occult then.

And you need to check out the documentary The Occult History of the Third Reich and you'll learn a whole lot about occult ideologies that led to the creation of a regime like that. And this is the same thing that's leading to the creation of the regime in the United States. The Nazi regime of America. The police state that's coming in through barbarian ignoramuses that have no idea what they're creating, completely asleep at the wheel going over the edge of the cliff. A bunch of complete ignorant Nazi hordes, that have absolutely no idea how natural law functions because they've grown up and stayed in a completely left brain modality.



Now you look at some brain scans of people who have eaten a Western diet, who have been indoctrinated into a completely western-style educational model education system, whose diet is terrible, filled with additives, preservatives, chemicals, high fat, high carb, high cholesterol, high sugar, on and on, and on, and on, fluoride in the water, pharmaceuticals, poison air, etc. you name it. Combine that with watching media upwards of six hours daily. Watching television, garbage, sewage for the mind, and you look at their brain scans and it looks like craters on the moon. It looks like Swiss cheese.

This is a physically provable phenomenon that is backed by scientifically determined patterns in the human brain that are actually able to be imaged through modern brain scan technology. I'll post one of them with this podcast. And you look at one side of the scan and it is a brain that says normal, and this brain has global EEG electroencephalogram coherence, meaning that both brain hemispheres are in balance. And this person does not eat a Western diet. They eat organically grown foods not laden with chemicals. They meditate on a daily basis, they don't watch a lot of television, they read books, and the brain is balanced, and they're not a controller, they're not violent, and they're not controlled either.

They don't do a job where they're subservient and just follow orders unquestioningly. They don't play the game of control. They’re a sovereign person, and they understand their sovereignty because they have a balanced brain. That's why they understand their rights. You can only be led into a barbarous police state when you don't understand your rights, because you've been dumbed down not to understand them. There are so many people in the world that would not understand that essay no matter how many times it was read to them, that was read in the previous hour, because they're too dumb. They're too dumbed down. They actually do not have the capacity that the neural firing patterns required to process information and language in a way that they can actually come to a place of reason to understand conceptual ideas. They can only deal in the physical world, which is the prison of the left brain.

Worldly, matter, materialistic identification, and they can only deal with the role that they're in. “I am a cop; I am a soldier. This is what I do. It's my job. That's just my job. I'm not a being in consciousness, in creation that has rights, that needs to respect the rights of other beings, that needs to grow and learn and understand what I'm a part of, indeed what I actually am. No. I need to believe the role that I'm playing, that I've been mind-controlled into playing - let's call it what it really is - and I'm just going to follow orders.” The Nuremberg defense. “Other people were telling me that I was allowed to do that.” Yeah you could tell anybody they're allowed to do anything. You can write down that they're allowed to do it. All the things Hitler enacted was written down in law.

He passed the law for all of it. Does that mean that they had the right to do any of those things? No, because law of man and natural moral law are two completely non-connected things, and one has nothing to do with the other. Man's law is illusion. It is oppositional by nature. There is no true authority that creates it. It is only a claim of authority and those who recognize the claim, while natural law is not an illusion. It is in fact, in point of reality existing and operating, whether we are aware of it or not, whether we understand it or not, whether we agree with it or not, and it cannot be broken.

And man's law may sometimes fall into harmony with natural law - more often times it is completely out of harmony with natural law - and some would suggest it is almost always out of harmony with it because voluntary cooperation with it isn't suggested. It is force. It is saying “you must do this” or “you must not do this,” and any time you're introducing force that is based in fear consciousness you're instigating force. You're saying “I'm claiming the authority to be able to force you to do that.”

Now responding to force with the necessary force required to put down an undue act of violence, which is the initiation of force, is within people's rights. So something like self-defense, or preserving your right through taking a forceful action that will put down the act of an aggressor against a right is allowed within natural law, and this is something many people don't understand as well. And something many people continue to argue against particularly in the New Age movement because they are deceived. They think there is never, ever a time for the proper use of force. And of course there is, otherwise you wouldn't have the capacity to take that action in free will. But the initiation of force is not within natural law boundaries. Not within natural law right. That is initiating something you do not have the right to do. Coercion.

And if you look at what the law of man and government in general is, its coercion. There's nothing voluntary about it. It's a group of people saying “we are claiming the authority to be able to make you do this or make you not do that, because we are stating that this is not in compliance with our law.” Not the law of nature but the law of man. You see this is what it all comes down to folks. Man, wants to be God. That's what we're really up against here. Man has worked himself into a position where he actually believes that he can be God here. The hubris is unfathomable, and only people who are completely, completely trapped and wrapped up in the left-brain modality of consciousness, could ever even begin to think that way. Because to think that way you have to be in total oppositional consciousness with the self and you have to be in total duality consciousness with all other beings around you.

And that is where politicians, lawmakers, high-level religionists, high-level media people, high-level bankers, high-level financers, high-level corporate interests, high-level politicians, politicians of all kinds, military of all kinds, police of all kinds, they do not understand natural law principles. And even if some of them may understand it at very, very high levels, they are choosing by an act of their own free will to violate those principles. And because they want to insulate themselves from the repercussions of that law, they get other people, put them under mind control by making them believe that they have the moral authority to do such things, and protect them, insulate them, provide a level of insulation for them with any of the people who would stop them from actually doing the things that they do not have a right to do.

And until there are enough people who actually step up and stop them - and this can be done totally peacefully by refusing to help them in their agenda, by refusing to go along with and take orders from them, because they are not within their natural rights. This is what the original spirit of this nation was supposed to be about, respecting sovereignty under natural law principles. That we were sovereign beings, meaning self-rulers, that's what sovereignty means. The ruler of the kingdom of self, the only thing you're allowed to control. You have control over your own thoughts, your own emotions and your own actions and nothing else. And the principles enshrined in the founding documents of this country were supposed to respect the natural law rights of sovereign beings, and ensure that they were not violated by other people or groups of people, hence a republic. A group of people that would constitute these principles.

Republic means “of the people.” Re- is of and public, is people. But we have so fallen from that philosophical idea. Now I would argue that they went wrong in even constituting a government. It should have been stopped at the Declaration of Independence, saying “we are sovereign beings, period, the end” and then take responsibility for that sovereignty and protecting it. That's what I think needs to happen.

Once you give away any part of that responsibility to representatives, that re-present your interests and who you are, you've abdicated responsibility.

That's what you've done. I don't care how well-intentioned those people are. Government of any kind is based on control and it is based in fear, and therefore it always will devolve into the barbarity that we see, the police state measures that we see around us, to a point where these people for a paycheck are actually taking orders to stop other people from exercising the right to free speech. And that's where I tend to draw the line in the sand, and that's where I think other people should definitely draw the line in the sand as well.

Now I'm ramping up the intensity of what I'm talking about because we're in a very precarious position, and the sense of immediacy, the sense of urgency needs to be stressed. We’re on the verge of going into a permanent hell once speech is taken away, because then you can't even oppose the aggressive acts that are being taken and that's what it came to in Nazi Germany, and that's what it came to in Stalinist Russia, and in every other police state that has ever existed. Once free speech starts being messed with and they start hurting people in the free speech zones, or saying you can only speak over here or assemble over here, or assemble over there, that's called a deep police state. A hot police state. Forget a soft tyranny anymore, you're moving into hot tyranny at that point, and the people who are doing it do not have the right to do it.

Cops and soldiers you don't have that right. You will never acquire that right. No one who tells you that you have that right is correct, because you don't have it and you can never acquire it. You're immoral. Your actions are immoral. Whether you think they're moral, whether you believe you're doing the right thing is irrelevant. You are taking an immoral action that can only lead to chaos in the world, and in your own life, and your owners know that. And you have owners. You have owners. Believe it. You have owners. I worked with your owners. I worked with them for years of my life, and I heard how they spoke about you, and what they think of you. And let me tell you something, you look upon the animal that you put on your table at night more favorably than they look upon you.

Believe it, because it's true. I'm not telling you that from any belief or any place I've read in a book. I'm telling you that because I worked with these people in occult orders that I was involved with years ago in my life, and I'm telling you what they call their controllers that work and do their agenda, is they call them “our dogs.” That's their name for you. Our dogs, because that's what they think of you as. A dog on a leash. The other term that they refer to the controllers that do their bidding unknowingly, that think they're doing the right thing and have no idea of how natural law functions, and think they're allowed to just follow orders unquestioningly and just do immoral acts that are always immoral and always going to be immoral no matter what anybody tells them, they call them “the dead.” The dead. Yeah the dead, because they consider you spiritually, emotionally, intellectually, and morally dead.

And that's who you're working for. The people you protect, when you go over and you shut down other sovereign people's free speech rights, and hoard them over in the little area someplace on the other side of the city when the G20 comes, or when the World Trade Organization comes to a town, these are the very people calling you the dead. And they're right. They're not wrong. They're not wrong. When I first heard a person in an occult order referred to people like that I got so enraged that they would have the nerve to refer to other living people as dead, and as dogs, that I totally was disgusted to the core of my being. As much as even in a left brain modality as I was, I recognize the inherent wrongness in that. And you know what they told me?

When I said “I may try to even expose that,” they said “oh you're going to go and wake the dead? You're going to go and explain to people who can't think, who won't think, what's really going on? Good luck.” No concern whatsoever. No concern at all, because they know how much under mind control they have people like that, because they know how deep in the left brain prison they got you. And that's how that works. The left brain prison, and then shunt them over into the right brain to program them. That's what they are. They're wind-up toy soldiers to be used, abused, and thrown away when the agenda is done for your role in it. And that's why they call you “our dogs.”

Not my words folks. Their words. The financial elites words, the occult elites words, not mine. But again, one of the most powerful phrases that can ever leave a human beings mouth - when I said “no it will be a simple matter of just telling them what they're doing, and how they're being used, and they'll listen and they'll do the right thing.” I actually believed that in my naiveté, that the mind control they were under wasn't as strong as I had originally thought - and “I was wrong.” And I'll say a billion more times probably before I go. That's the prison of the left brain. That's how it works. Next week we'll be covering institutionalized belief systems

Topics: Natural Law, Barriers To Self-Realization, Institutional Belief Systems

Tonight's topic is going to be a recap of the subsection that I have been basically going through the points of over the last few broadcasts, and that is the barriers to the realization of the true self. The barriers to self-realization. Self being depicted with a capital S, meaning the real self, the higher self, the true self. What blocks people from self-realization? What blocks them from understanding what they really are and keeps them in a low state of consciousness, and hence we are unable to remove ourselves from self-inflicted suffering and create an experience that is more suited to what we desire?

So that's what we've been doing here over the last few weeks. What we really do here is try to identify and get to the root causes of what is actually taking place in our experience. The root causal factors for human suffering. That's what we do on this show ultimately, because without understanding those root causal factors, we are wandering blindly and we are hacking at the leaves on the tree of evil instead of actually going to them and uprooting it from the roots, so that it cannot grow, and fester, and come back, and continuously plagued our existence.

So yes we can describe all the symptoms and we can describe all the control taking place, and we will talk about mind control on future shows - we will talk about occult organizations that do their work in darkness behind the scenes - we will get into all of that, but I wanted to start the first few shows before I even get to having guests on more extensively and getting into some of the deeper manifesting problems that are taking place, to help people to understand the root causal factors. Because until we do that, until we develop the ability to tell truth from falsehood, and recognize that what is ultimately creating our self-inflicted suffering is just that, our inability to tell truth from falsehood, again, we are going to remain powerless to basically solve the problem that we are experiencing.

So with that in mind, on this show in previous weeks we discussed just that. These causal factors that lead to our being fooled, in other words. The root cause for why we suffer. Inability to tell truth from falsehood, and this is what lies beneath the manifested reality. The screen that we look upon, and look on the outside world. To just say we don't like that and that we simply just want that to change, is the equivalent of banging on the television because you don't like what you're seeing on it. Or banging on a screen at a movie theater because you're not enjoying what you're seeing, when instead in order to actually change the manifested reality that's appearing on the screen, you would have to change where that is being projected or broadcast from, and that is the self. We are the co-creators of our reality collectively, and until we change ourselves the outside reality is not just going to magically and sudden change on its own. It's a hard work to do, it's a labor of love, and if you understand the dynamic that's really taking place you recognize it is the way to go about doing that.

And that happens through the recognition of natural law and the discovery of natural law principles. That only occurs when we understand what we are. Who we really are. We understand how we express ourselves in consciousness through our thoughts, our emotions and our actions, and we talk about these three expressions of consciousness. This is how we can make ourselves known to ourselves and others. Threefold aspect of human consciousness, and that our goal is to unify them as one. To bring these into harmony with each other such that we are being that as we think, so we feel and so we act with no internal contradiction or opposition between these three aspects of consciousness.

Now intricately tied to that we looked at the structure of the human brain, because if we're going to understand how consciousness makes itself manifest, we have to understand one of the vehicles for that expression in the physical reality in which we live. So we looked at the components of the human brain, and we talked about that we need to try to come to balance between. Particularly two of the parts of the human brain, namely the left brain hemisphere and the right brain hemisphere. These are the two components of a higher brain known as the neocortex. So that's called the human brain. It's divided into two hemispherical parts, two halves.

So we talked about what manifests when these two halves become severely imbalanced, and this is what ultimately leads to all the external problems that we experience as suffering in the physical reality that we live in. Through the im-balancing of the brain hemispheres, whether it be to the left brain hemisphere, or to the right brain hemisphere. So we talked about the importance of balance, balancing those hemispheres to basically awaken what it has been called the third eye, the pineal gland in the center of the human brain, that grants us access to spiritual insight and true wisdom, combining the intellect side of the left brain with the intuitive, and nurturing, and sacred feminine side of the brain which is the right brain hemisphere.

We also discussed the concepts of the polarities. The universal forces that are essentially working in the world at all times and every decision that we make is essentially a choice between one of these two seemingly emotional polarities, love and fear. And I say seeming polarities because they're not truly opposites, because one is real and one is an illusion. One is simply the absence of the other. Mainly fear is the illusory part which is simply the absence of love, which is the unique and divine expression of basically all that is. So these two forces are what we ultimately get to choose between using our free will.

And we talked about different worldviews that are based upon either love or fear. We talked about the expressions of these forms of energy. We talked about how they each have an internal manifestation and each an external manifestation. When love is present within we will call that the person is self-actualized, or they understand that they are sovereign. They are the rulers of the self. I call this dominion in my work, because it is coming to understand that you only get to really control the kingdom of self which is your thoughts, your emotions and your actions. That's what you are in control of and essentially you're not really in control of anything else. When this state is present you could call it self-love, or self-actualization, or true balance within the self, non-duality. You can give it many different names but it is sovereignty, it is dominion, it is self-ownership, it is self rulership, in such a way that your thoughts, emotions, and actions are brought into unity consciousness, and you're not in a state of internal opposition.

So if the love energy is expressed outwardly we'll call that condition true freedom. Now the fear energy if that goes to work within a person, we call that the state of internal opposition or confusion, and when that fear is projected out into the world you get the exact opposite of what happens when the love energy is projected outward into the external manifestation, and that results in control, and ultimately in slavery of the individual beings, and eventually of the wider network of individuals who are all contributing to that dynamic. And that's why we're really seeing what we're seeing in the world in the modern day, because fear has a tight grip on this world. People are living in illusory mindsets and people are living in poisonous worldviews, which is another topic we talked about on this show.

We talked about on the extreme left brain imbalanced worldview held by people who subscribe to the ideology known as solipsism, and the slide to atheism, these two ideologies go hand in hand, and that is that worldview is known as randomness. The idea that everything is a cosmic accident and there is no purpose to existence, that the universe is a dead, mechanized, lifeless machine. The opposite extreme imbalance of worldview was the complete deterministic worldview, that essentially free will doesn't exist and everything is predetermined, and nothing can be changed from a set course that is set by God. Both of these worldviews are extremely imbalanced. The middle ground and the truth actually is that there's a combination of these worldviews at play in the world.

And there is a deterministic component known as natural law, and there is a random component known as freewill, and these two we are constantly trying to bring into unity if we're holistically intelligent and smart enough to understand what the causal factors are that lead to human suffering. And essentially what it boils down to is, we lack the ability to tell that truth. To actually recognize it. That there is such a thing as natural law. That there are consequences for our behaviors, and if we constantly try to break that higher moral law and essentially do whatever we want, we basically are contributing to that dynamic of chaos.

So we were talking about order and chaos previously on the show and what create these two conditions. And order is brought about not through control as many people insist upon thinking that it is. It can never be created that way. It is brought about through coming to the recognition, the discovery and understanding of natural law principles, and then choosing through free will to live in harmony with those principles of truth, and only that can ever create order. You're never going to create order by trying to control externally the freewill decisions of any other living being. Through doing that you are living through fear, and thus you can only create more opposition, more internal confusion and ultimately more chaos in the external reality. So the people who think that that is the way that they're going create order are severely delusional.

I described this condition as the equivalent of saying “I want to cool off this room temperature water and make it nice and cold, so therefore I'm going to put it in a tea kettle and put the kettle on top of the stove and crank the stove up to the highest setting, and I'll get cold water that way. Just watch.” It will never happen that way. No matter how much you think it will, no matter how much you believe that, it's not going to occur, because that's not how natural law works. And there really is no easier way to put it. That has to be recognized through a freewill decision to essentially learn how natural law works and admit that one was previously wrong in the positions that one held regarding how you previously thought it worked.

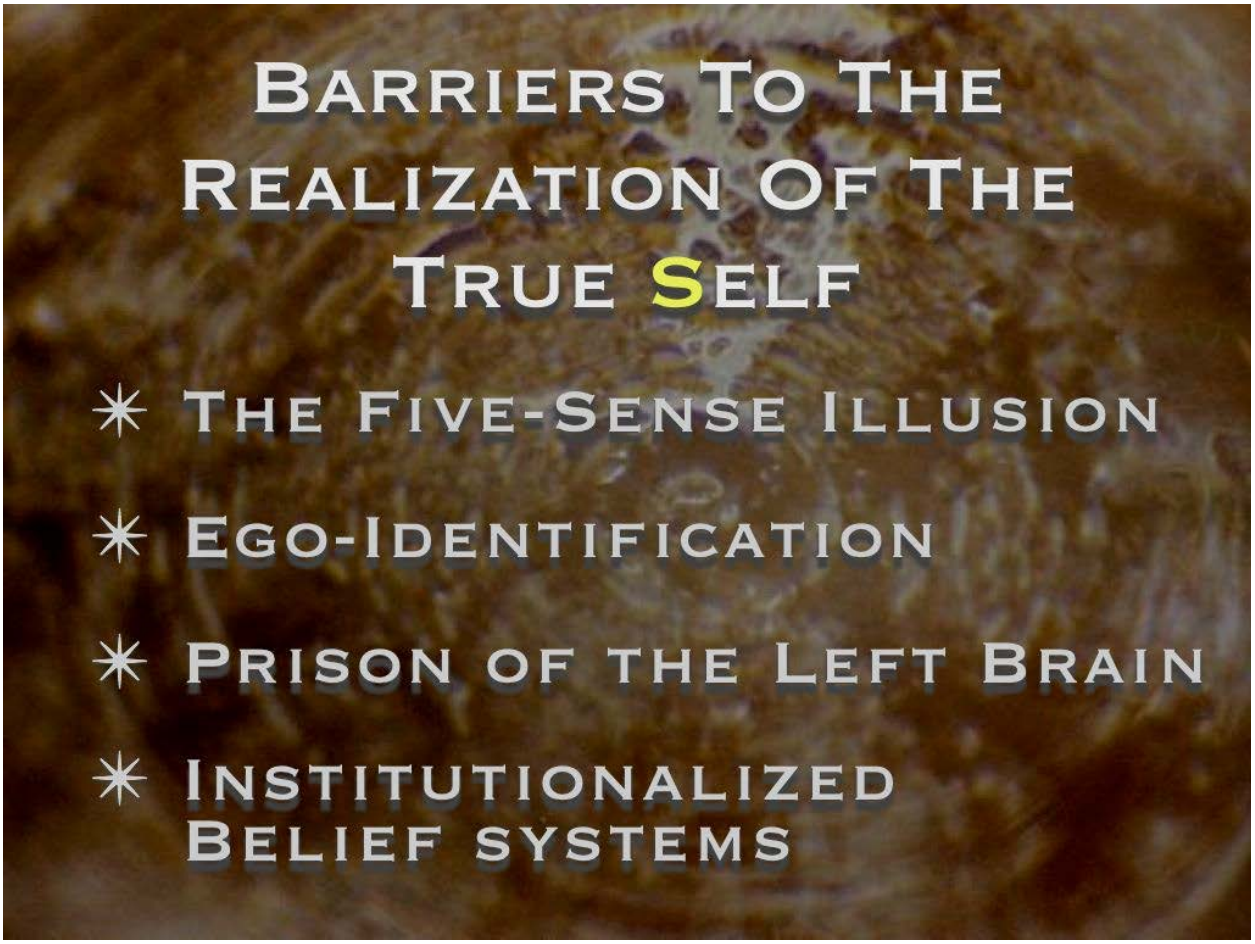
So to all the controllers out there, to all the people of the mindset that you're going to create order be controlling anything, good luck. Because you'll never do it that way. You’ll only put yourself into a deeper prison, and believe me that's where this world is headed, because so many people think that way. But what I do here is try to dissuade people from that course and explain to them how these natural laws actually work, because I am one of the people who has been fortunate enough in life to recognize those principles. I didn't invent them, they're not mine, they have nothing to do with me whatsoever. Look at me as simply a messenger who is trying to explain how a dynamic of nature works, and nothing more.

So that's what I do here on this show, and that brought us to the concept of, what is really blocking people from awakening to this understanding? And so few people are awake to that level. Even people in the freedom movement and in the different patriot movements, are completely asleep when it comes to what natural law actually is, how it works, and why we're creating what we're creating on planet Earth. Most people in the freedom movement do not understand this, and I'm sorry to have to say so bluntly but that's the case. It is an extreme minority that grasps these principles in any fullness at all, and it is largely because most people have not read enough information.

They have not listened to enough information, they have not watched enough information, they have not taken enough information into themselves to come to this discovery. And again this is just like discovering any other physical natural law. It's no different than the discovery of gravity, or electromagnetism, or the ways subatomic particles work. No different than that except, these are laws that basically govern human behavior and the experience that we create as a result of the decisions that we make on how to act and behave.

So with that in mind over the last few weeks I had been going into, what are the blocks to understanding these principles? What are the blocks to understanding how consciousness works? Why don't people really understand things, just by default? What is so difficult about getting to that level of understanding such that you start to choose to align your freewill decisions with natural law principles? Why aren't more people doing this? Because if it's really one of the only ways to create freedom and order in the world, why are so few people doing it? They say they want to be free, they say they don't want to suffer. You ask anyone on the street “do you want to be free?” Yes of course. “Do you want to suffer?” No why would I want to suffer?

Anybody that would respond to those questions with “I want to be a slave and I want to suffer endlessly,” is completely insane and out of their mind. No one responds like that no matter how rich, poor, smart, ignorant, no matter what color they are, no matter what religion they are, no matter what sex they are, no matter what age they are, it doesn't make a difference. People say that they want freedom, they will claim that they want not to suffer, but when it comes to the understanding of what can actually create those conditions - the first people who will say that they want that are the first people that will run in the other direction from it. Because that involves actually understanding the first principles, or causal factors that lead to those conditions, that either lead to suffering or the lack thereof. That either lead to freedom or the lack thereof, which is enslavement. So it's work. It requires work to get people out of the former ways of thinking. The old ways that they are clinging to and that they are attached to.



BARRIERS TO THE REALIZATION OF THE TRUE SELF

- THE FIVE-SENSE ILLUSION
- EGO-IDENTIFICATION
- PRISON OF THE LEFT BRAIN
- INSTITUTIONALIZED BELIEF SYSTEMS

So what I called these basic fundamental blocks, the barriers to self-realization, what I describe them as is four basic conditions that people are trapped in. They're trapped in what's called the five sense illusion. That was the first barrier to the realization of the true self that we explored on the show. That is essentially the pure identification with materialism in the material realm. The idea that matter is all there is. That we are a mechanized machine essentially, when you get right down to it. It's a very left brain way of seeing the world.

It's a very imbalanced worldview, not only from an imbalanced brain point of view, but from an imbalanced way of seeing oneself and others around them. Because it sees everything in terms of separation, and separateness, and isolation. So this five sense worldview is purely identified with the physical domain. The physical world. There is no looking at spirit, there is no looking at morality, there is no looking at the higher nature of self or consciousness. It's wrapped up and identified in the world of matter. One cannot see past that into what creates the actual reality that we are experiencing, and what dictates the quality of that experience. So that was the first barrier to the realization of true self that we discussed.

The second was very related with the five sense illusion, and this is ego identification. When we call this identification with the lower s self. Ego identification and attachment. This is believing that one is the roles that one plays in the physical realm in which we exist and operate. So I am not consciousness having an experience of being a mother, I am a mother, I am a banker, I am a politician, I am a sports player. Those aren't the identity, that's an experience. You’re having the experience of being a father, you're having the experience of being a baseball player, etc, etc, etc, etc. That's not who we are but that is our experience in the world. So that was the second barrier to self-realization, and being attached to that condition, that identification with the role as opposed to the higher self. Ego identification. Getting trapped and seeing oneself as the role that one plays in the physical world. The lowercase s self.

Last week we discussed the third barrier to self-realization which was the prison of the left brain, and again it's very tied in with the other two notions and all of these are very interrelated. The prison of the left brain is totally related to how they’re brought up in the world, particularly in the Western hemisphere, because of how our educational, or I should say indoctrination system is structured. The school system is completely geared toward teaching people only that which is completely tied in with the physical reality, and with the roles that we will be playing in the physical world. It's a very left brained identified way of seeing oneself and the world, because it focuses purely on just the things that are left brain only functions. Like reading, writing, verbal skills, language, mathematics, science. All of these things are all left brain logical, analytical, linear progression functions.

Left out of this system of learning - because it's not holistic, it's all geared toward the left brain - is true morals, ethics, understanding rights from wrong. That's completely left out. The Sacred Feminine is left out of this equation. Intuition - unless you go to a specialized school - very creative capabilities, art and music, and creativity are very downplayed in the Western school model because that's for a very particular reason. They want people trapped in the prison of the left brain, because the left brain responds to and becomes identified with hierarchy, and things always being done the same way, with ritual, with repetition, with yesterday being the same as today, and today is the same as the next day. Tomorrow will be the same as today, and so on, and so on, and so on, and so forth.

This is the idea that things have always this way, they are this way now and they're always going to be this way. It's a very linear progression, it's a very linear way of thinking in linear time, and this is again done by design. It's done by design because it's done to stifle the human imagination. The imaginative capacity of the right brain hemisphere. And that's the hemisphere that if we get in touch with we can imagine a way of doing things different. We can imagine a world that isn't run the way this one is, and things don't play out the way they play out in the world that we're living in now as we are currently living amongst each other.

So if we get in touch with that imaginative capacity, that's the first step toward actually creating something different, because that's the creative side of the brain. And the first step in any creative process is imagining what you're going to do. But if you shut that down by essentially cutting it off from the rest of the brain functions, and you're getting somebody engaged purely in just the left brain analytical, and logical, and linear thought functions, then you're cutting off that person from their creative potential. From their imaginative potential that gets them to say “it doesn't have to be like this. I can imagine it being different. I can imagine doing something to create something to make it different. To make the experiences that we go through play out differently than they currently are playing out.”

And that's why the education system does not want to change and help people to become holistic brain thinkers. They want people to be purely trapped in the left brain, and we've discussed how that model of seeing the world leads to a poisoned world view. This education system and science, the way our Western culture views health and medicine is also very extremely left brain. Looking at the body as purely a computer, as a mechanized machine. And then this educational model and way of viewing the world, this basic world view that this left brain prison leads to is based in control of other people and accepting control from the hierarchical chain of command that you would go into. So we talked a little bit about the control mechanisms that go in place because people are indoctrinated into this completely imbalanced left-brain worldview.

So that's what we did last week on the show. We went through that third barrier to the realization of the true self which is the prison of the left brain, and we kind of left off explaining how people become controllers trapped in a hierarchy that keeps this system perpetuating, and how completely fooled they really are. And not just fooled but it goes even deeper than being fooled. They're owned. They have owners, and they don't even know it. They have people that are manipulating them into doing this, and what they're manipulating them into doing is essentially breaking natural law, because they have no understanding of it because they're so ignorant and unread, and their owners are completely laughing at them the whole way because they know that they will ultimately have to experience the repercussions of breaking natural law principles, and of taking other people's rights, and doing actions that they do not have the right to take.

And that will all come back toward them at some point or another, whether in this life or another life. It will be righted. It will be balanced, no matter what they think. They don't understand how this natural law aspect of karmic reality, of karmic debt works. They think that they are going to be held unaccountable for everything they do, and they're wrong. They're dead wrong. It doesn't work that way. I'm 100% certain that it doesn't work that way. I'm not stating my opinion on how it works. The universe is going to balance all situations. Even if we can't see how that will occur, it will occur. As a matter of fact, it's doing that right now. It's always in effect. It's never not in effect, and it would do it by hook or by crook.

There is no breaking higher natural law principles that are based in moral law. You can think that you're getting away with breaking them, but ultimately those wrongs do become righted and those imbalances do become balanced. It's just a matter of how much suffering you're going to have to go through to actually understand that, accept it and live in harmony with it. And in my opinion from the dynamic that I studied this from, and looking at it as realistically as I am capable of looking at it, I don't see this being a process that is going to just happen organically. I see this as being a struggle and the human race being dragged kicking and screaming through the mud. I don't see pleasant times ahead for humanity, and I'm not saying that to discourage anyone I'm just being honest about what I think the dynamic really is.

Because most people are so trapped in these barriers to self-realization that they have no idea of what the true self is. They have absolutely no clue whatsoever. They're totally trapped in illusion, and in illusory ways of thinking and perceiving reality, and they have been totally hung up on the idea that their current level of perception is reality, and that's the ideology we talked about on the show known as solipsism. Solipsism is the ideology that I call the biggest lie. That perception is reality and that there is no such thing as objective truth, and this is what the demon mind wants you to think. This is what the soul of opposition, the very force of opposition itself, a fear of control, being torn apart, the opposer, the one that tears us apart from the inside, from inside ourselves that divides us, the force of division and internal opposition.

That force itself wants people to believe that there is no such thing as objective truth. It wants you wholeheartedly to believe in it and be attached to the belief that perception is reality, and that's the biggest lie there is, and it's the most dangerous ideology anywhere on the Earth, period. It's the most dangerous ideology on this planet, and it’s called solipsism. We've talked about it fairly extensively on this show and it needs to be thoroughly renounced and rejected. Because there is such a thing as truth, and it is up to us to discover it and live in harmony with its principles, period. And it's there if we have the will to go forward and discover it, no matter what it is. Whether the truth of the reality that we're living in is uncomfortable, whether we come to a very dark place, whether this natural law is in effect and it works a certain way, it doesn't make a difference what the truth is.

We need to recognize it, accept it, and then live in accordance with its principles. And if we don't like the way something is playing out, you need to get in touch with the truth in order to understand what we do to change it for the better in keeping with our stated intentions for ourselves. So we say we want to be happy, we say we don't want to suffer, we say we want to be free, well there are requirements that go along with that. That isn't the default condition of the universal. That isn't the default condition of humanity. There are requirements that go along with that. I mean hey, we could make that occur, but from where we are now there are requirements attached to making that condition occur. We can, not suffer.

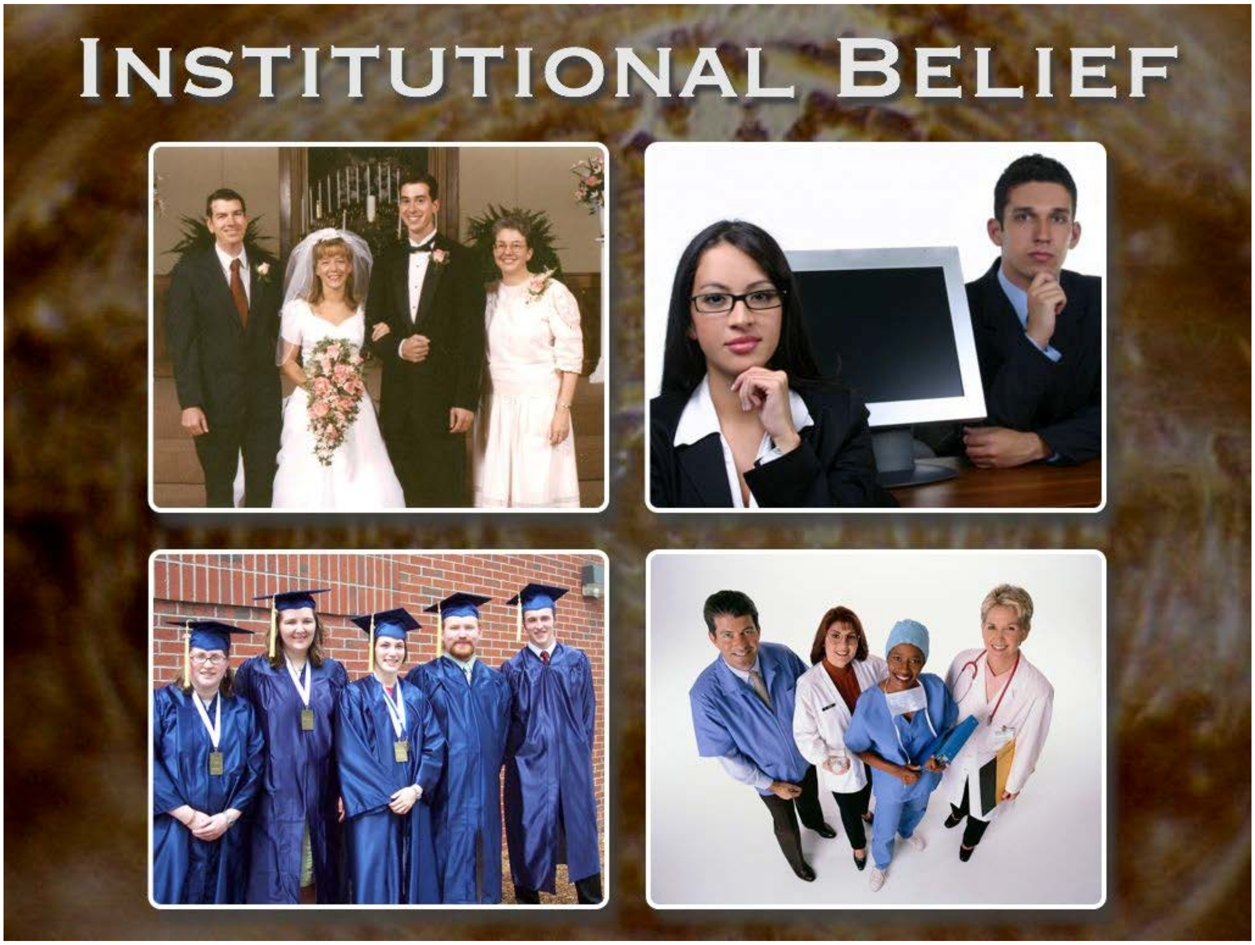
It's possible not to create non condition where there is no self-inflicted suffering. Now some will say as long as you're in a physical body there's going to be suffering. If you're attached to having to be that way then yeah, you can also see it as desires come and go. Attachment to desire is what's going to create suffering. Yeah you'll be hungry again, yeah you'll need to sleep again, but you don't need to be attached to those desires. That's living totally in your head in ego. Ego attachment as we talked about in a couple of shows ago when we discussed ego identification and attachment. It's being attached to those desires where the problem comes in, not that any desire exists. I would never suggest all desire could ever be purged from the human condition, nor that it should. But attachment to desire, now there's a problem.

So we can make a stated intention and say "I want to be happy." Well, then don't create any self-inflicted suffering, and get attached to desire, and there can be true happiness. "We want to be free." Well then don't create chaos by creating control mechanisms, and hierarchies, and imbalances, and injustice, and we'll be free. But people insist they know better, people insist that they can live outside of the boundaries of natural law, and ultimately what this is really all about is people insist that they can play God. They can be God, "I can determine how natural law works." I can say "I am the arbiter of truth, my perceptions are reality, there is no such thing as objective truth," and that's what's going to ultimately create a hell out here.

And we're well along the way, as I've said before, to doing that. Well along the way. Good job. Everyone's really so far up to this time on this planet, is doing a great job at that. Because 99% of us are completely fooled. We don't have the ability to tell truth from falsehood, we bought lies that have been sold to us from the cradle, and we stay attached to them, and we insist that there's no such thing as natural law, and we don't bring our freewill into harmony with it. That's really what's going on here. That's really what is creating the human condition as we see it today. And we said we don't like it, and yet so few are willing to learn the totality of how this works, and so few of us are willing to actually change, to come in accordance with those principles, and so few of us are then willing to explain how this works to others.

And because of that extreme imbalance and so few people recognizing this, and so few people understanding it, living in harmony with it and then explaining how it works to other people, that's why we're coming to the brink of total chaos, and total suffering, and total domination of our species. We're heading headlong into a prison of which once we work ourselves into it in fullness, it will be very, very, very difficult for anyone coming after us to ever get out of that prison. It is the gates of Hell literally closing in on this planet. No less than that, and you can say "hey that's a real religious notion." Go right ahead and say that, but hell is eternal separation from any right way of being in the world, and that's where we're headed.

In all seriousness we are headed toward a state where it will be almost impossible to live in any way connected with right action, because other people are so hung up on control, and so hung up on that “you just have to do this, or that” because other people say that's the way it has to be. It's the blind, leading the blind, leading the blind.



And that brings us to the fourth barrier to self-realization, the belief and attachment to institutionalized belief systems. The accepting of belief systems. And notice I don't use the word “philosophies.” These are belief systems. They're not knowing, they're not anything that anybody knows is the way things are. They are beliefs that are shared amongst the people that carry these ways of acting and ways of being in the world out.

And they all believe in it unquestioningly and therefore it has become institutionalized, meaning that it is so ingrained in society, it is so engrained in the thought patterns and in the actions of people, that they don't even question why this institution exists in the first place. That is what institutionalized thought and institutionalized belief is all about. There is no imagination to ever be able to even have the capacity to see that the world could exist and prosper even, to even greater levels without these institutions. Their members think that this is an eternal principle of the universe. That this always has been like this, it is this way now and it always must be like this. It must be like this. That's what an institutionalized belief system imprints into the minds of its mind-controlled followers.

And let's make no mistake and mince no words about this. The people that follow institutionalized belief systems, all, not some, but all - and again there's a generality. There's somebody making a blanket statement. Yes, I'm making a blanket statement. People are uncomfortable with that. Good. Be real uncomfortable with it. You're uncomfortable with it for a reason if you're uncomfortable with a blanket statement. You know some blanket statements are true. There are some places you can use the word “all,” and mean every single person that thinks that way, and be correct when you're saying “they think this” or that “this is really their condition in consciousness.” There is nothing that says that you cannot use the word “all” and have it be true. Because what I'm saying is - all people, not some. Everyone that believes in and unquestioningly accepts that institutionalized belief system that they are members of must always exist, those people all are under mind control without exception. Every one of them.

So what does this include? What is the biggest institutionalized belief system on the entire planet Earth? If we think of institutionalized beliefs, unquestioned beliefs that people absolutely believe are 100% true and they don't question that whole system, I would say there is one overarching fundamental belief that is the most widely shared institutionalized belief system that we have on the plane the Earth, and that is that money exists. Let me say that one more time. The widest held, and the most deeply shared and believe in institutionalized belief system on planet Earth, is, that there is such a thing as money, in actual point of fact reality. In actual nature. That money is real. That it actually means something and it carries actual value.

There is no such thing as money folks. Doesn't exist, never has existed, it never will exist. Money does not exist in the universe. It doesn't exist in nature. It's a construct that human being invented and it exists only in one place, their own mind. And it will never exist anywhere else in actual reality, and that's the biggest institutionalized belief system that there is, and every person that believes in that institutionalized belief is under mind control. Every, one. Bar none with no exceptions.

So let's start from there and move outward, because I just hit you with the hardest thing that there is to accept. Everyone that subscribes to an institutionalized belief system in some form or another, or to some degree or another, is under mind control. That's what keeps people believing that institutionalized belief systems one, are true, and two, always must exist. That the world would just descend into utter complete chaos and deterioration were these institutionalized systems taken out of existence, or they just completely dissolved. And that is the very definition of mind control. The very definition of mind control is, the inability to use the imagination to envision anything different. That's the ultimate definition of mind control.

Mind control is the extermination of the imagination. As simply as it can be put. As simply as it can be stated, that's what mind-control is. And I'm making this point for a reason because, in future shows this is what we're going to shift the topic the discussion to, and things are going to be getting darker on What On Earth Is Happening. For some people who have listened up to this point, you may have thought this was going to be a New-Age broadcast. Nothing can be farther from the truth.

We are going to look at the dark as many in the New Age movement will not, because they'll say “oh yes that empowers it.” No, ignoring things is what empowers them. Ignoring things and letting things just happen on the default settings, is what's giving the negative more power. Learning about how methodologies work, arming yourself against negative methodologies, and then being able to do something that is extremely empowering and positive is not negative.

Nothing could be farther from the truth. So we are going to look at the dark. We are going to confront the shadow on this show. The shadow is there for a reason and we should not be ignoring it. We should stare it in the eyes, we should look it down and we should confront it, and we should integrate it, and we should heal it. That's what a lot of people in the New Age movement aren’t telling people, because they've subscribed to an institutionalized belief system. And that's mind control. Let me ask you a question. Now really think about this for a moment those who are listening tonight on the podcast.

Why is it that the same words in the English language are used - now get this - for being committed to an institution, meaning “I believe in and subscribe to what this institution is doing” – “I believe in the educational system, I believe in the military, I believe in the police, I believe in this religion, I wholeheartedly support these institutions, I'm committed to an institution” - why do we have the exact same language, for being committed to an institution, as I just described, as we do for being committed to an institution. Meaning being taken away from normal society to be placed in a hospital that deals with treating mental problems and issues. That’s an accident? That we happen to have the same language for those two things? I don't think that's an accident.

You want to know why it's not an accident? Because they mean the same thing. If you're committed to an institution, you might as well be committed to an institution. And that's about as close to humor as I'm going to get on tonight’s show folks. So enjoy that, but I think there is something to that. That's not an accident that it works out that way in language, and we'll be talking about and already have talked briefly about, how critical the understanding of words as they have come to be structured in the English language, really are. We need to understand how words are structured and what they are saying to us at all times in all places. There is magic in the language.

Some people have referred to this as synchronicity or synchro-mysticism. Understanding that words are trying to tell us something. That there is a consciousness and intelligence that is coming through in the language itself, if only we connect to it through getting in touch with our right, imaginative creative capacity of the right brain. Our right mind. And there are many more examples of how language works out like that but that's just one of them, because it's all about mind control. They have to convince you that their institution must exist or there will be utter chaos and ruin. That there would be just ruin if that institution went away for some reason. Not continued to take the actions that it tells you it must take. It’s all mind control.

So let's look at some other institutions. And make no mistake about it, I realize what this is. This is attacking everything that just about everybody in the world holds sacred in some form or another. I get that. I'm not naive enough not to understand what I'm doing here, or how hard it would be to transcend this mental condition that most people are identified with. Because what it really is, is it's ultimately attacking what someone else sees, perceives, and believes as their identity, which is why this relates hand-in-hand with ego identification. Another barrier to self-realization.

As long as people identify with the role that they play in an institutionalized belief system, they're going to be identified with the institution itself. See how that works? Because “if the institution is ultimately not doing something that is really necessary, that is ultimately so good that it must exist, and I'm part of it, what does that mean for me? That I am part of that institution?” See then you have to really re-evaluate what you're doing with your time and with your life.

Let’s look at another institution which I briefly started talking about last week. Secret societies and occult orders. These are institutionalized belief systems. Some of them will teach philosophy, some of them will teach ideologies, however they are still institutionalized systems, no matter what they teach, and one of the beliefs they propagate is that “this knowledge belongs to us, and it is ours to give out to whoever we wish, whoever we see fit to give it out. And we will determine that. We will be the arbiters of information conveyance. Information doesn't belong to the totality of the beings on this world. This information belongs to us.”

This is why I know I'm not a member of any institutionalized belief system, including secret societies or occult orders any longer. Earlier in my life I was a member of occult orders, and very dark and unpleasant ones, and I'm not proud of saying that. That's where a lot of my awareness developed out of after I descended to such a place in consciousness that there were two choices. Come out of this level of consciousness, or die. And I'm still here talking so you know the decision I made when it came to making that shift in awareness. I decided to come up to a higher level of consciousness and live, and then help to explain how that dynamic works to any other people that would listen. And let me clarify my position on that just for a moment.

I do this not for myself. I do not serve myself. This isn't about me at all. I don't even care whether people know my name or understand who I am. I can care less. You go and look at my website there's nothing for sale up there. I'm not in this to make any money, and I'm certainly not in this to serve my own life's interest, because there's lots of other things I can be doing with my time but I choose to do this. Some people say “you're choosing it because you want to serve humanity” and ultimately it's a very small part of it but it's not really the totality of why I choose to do this. Because, the bulk of humanity could care less about this and isn't listening. I mean let's be realistic. I'm under no delusions of how big what I do is, or who's listening.

So I don't really do it to serve humanity either. You know if they benefit from it I would love to see that. I really hope people are getting something out of what I do but, some will and the vast majority probably will not. Based on the level of consciousness thay are currently at I don't see most people paying much attention to this. I see most people wanting to watch sports, wanting to drink some beers, wanting to pursue frivolous pursuits and live for the pleasure principle, and that's about it. And that's why the world is headed in the prison state that it’s headed in.

But going back to the idea of why I do this at all, it's simply to serve the truth. That's it. The truth will not be killed as long as people are doing this, and that's the force I serve, which is the force of love. That's it. You can say anything you want about my approach, my style, my blanket statements, the approach that doesn't baby feed people, because if you're a person that hasn't emotionally matured and isn’t ready to hear this go listen to something else or go watch some junk on television. I'm not the person that's going to water this down for anyone. Don't expect that from me. That's not my style and I'm not interested in watering it down.

Other people can take this information and try to dilute it, and then get other people to drink it. I'm not interested in that at all. That's never going to be my approach. I'm a straightforward, straight shooter. That's how this information got into me. Until I was breaking down enough to say “I was wrong, I was wrong, I was wrong, I was wrong, I was wrong,” a million times. And again I've said it before on the show and I'll say it a million more. But the ultimate reason I do this is not to serve myself, not even to serve humanity. It is only to serve the truth. That's it. That's all I look at myself as, someone who is conveying a message. And the message isn't even mine.

This isn't my message. I didn't invent any of this. I’m a re-discover of this, through re-search. I researched this and I found it. Re-found it. Discovered it. Uncovered it. That's it. That makes me no one special. I'm not your guru, I'm not your spiritual adviser, teacher, healer. You're that. That's what you are to yourself. All I can be is a facilitator of information because I’ve realize this information does not belong to me. This information isn't mine. I don't have the authority or right to keep it. I am here to speak it, that's it. For no other reason, that's why I do what I do.

So that having been said we talked about institutionalized belief systems and we're listening some of them, and secret society networks are one of them. That's why I got into the discussion of why I do this and who owns knowledge. No one owns knowledge. Knowledge belongs to the world, period. Institutionalized belief systems, one of them is secret society networks that actually believe they are the keepers of hidden knowledge, that they are the keepers of occult wisdom. Sure you are… and guess what? You think you're wise? That this is dangerous information that some of the stuff that's really, really deep in this is dangerous information about what our true powers as human beings are, and if that falls into the wrong hands there will be chaos and destruction? Guess what? That's not for you to decide, high-level secret society overlords out there, that think you know something that the rest of humanity doesn't. And in some ways you do and in some ways you're in deeper ignorance than the most ignorant of people that you call the uninitiated, that you call the slime are.

And that knowledge isn't yours to filter and to segregate from the rest of humanity. It belongs to the universe, and you're not God last time I checked, therefore you're not the arbiter of what information other people get to see and hear. You can think you are all you want, that'll never make it true. And I don't care who out there is listening that is a member of a secret society. To some form or another you're under mind control. You can take in the beliefs, you can take in the philosophies, you can study this, but once you start getting into the notion that this is segregated from other people and that there's a right to do that, now that enters institutionalized belief systems. And on this show in the future we're going to talk a lot about occult philosophies. We will delve into Freemasonry, we will delve into Rosicrucianism, we will delve into Kabbalah, we will delve into Gnostic teachings, etc, etc.

We will go into some hidden teachings of different occult orders, but that does not mean that I subscribe to the notion that secret societies that have been set up to convey and teach information have the right to keep certain levels of knowledge secret because they deem it dangerous, or they deem other people unfit for it. And some of those people would say “oh you're the unwise one because you would just display pearls before swine.” Again, it's not your decision to make. The knowledge doesn't belong to you no matter how high level it is. No matter how advanced it is from someone else's understanding. It's not yours. That's where you're in ego identification and attachment, because you actually believe that your role is to be allowed to keep information from other people, and you're wrapped up, and tied up, and attached to that belief. And it's not true.

Nothing you ever say or do is ever going to make it true, and that's why you accept your role in your institutionalized belief system, of secret society member such-and-such degree. Well it's all mind-control. First one we talked about is money. It's all mind-control. There never has been any such thing as money, doesn't exist now, never gonna exist. All the people out there that think gold's money, uh mind control. Silver is money? You're under mind control. That's called a metal. It doesn't really have any value except what you ascribe to it. Now you can boil metals down and make cups out of them, and you can make utensils out of them. Yeah then they have a utilitarian value, and in and of themselves you can say “yeah I like looking at that, it has an aesthetic pleasing value use in art,” but money as an actual system of belief - that's the only place that it exists is the human mind.

And I don't know if I mentioned this on the show that again we can get into words. The word “money.” Just like we talked about being committed to an institution, is the same as being committed to an institution. I mean getting wrapped up and identified with an institutionalized belief system is essentially being crazy and being put away. You have to really be at the same level of consciousness pretty much for both things, and that's why the same phrase says the same thin. Money is another example. If you break down the word money, its mon-, which is the root for one, mono, a mono cycle. Monopoly, one, it means one. And the last part of money is –ey. Phonetically that's I. One eye. Money is a proxy, it's an illusion. It's being presented to people as the one, eye, which it's not. They even stamp it on the US dollar bill. They put the seal of the one eye on the one-dollar bill.

But it isn't the one eye. It's a proxy for one eye. They're giving you that in lieu of the one eye, because they know the one eye is not present in the person they're handing it to. They don't have their one eye open, which comes from a balanced brain, the awakening of the all-seeing eye in the center of the brain, the pineal gland, which connects one to a higher level of awareness of self, and connectedness with the totality of the all. They know most people aren't there, so the occultists that invented money - and occultists invented money. Let's be under no delusions about that. The whole monetary system is invented and set up by occultists. People who are using their hidden knowledge and their levels of awareness to manipulate other people into breaking natural laws so they can get what they want, and not be affected by those very laws.

Or at least for a time. Let's never forget that either. For a time, they won’t be affected by those natural law principles, but they think they can run on forever and it will never catch up with them. And they're wrong, because eventually it does. And it always does. Not sometimes. All, the time. There's another blanket statement for you So money means “the one eye.” That's what the word actually means and it's been there your whole life, and most people have never seen that no matter how old they are. But there it is right in the word, and it's a proxy for the one eye. A proxy means something that is given to you in place of the real thing, and someone says “here take this and imagine that it's the real thing. Just use it as the real money, the real one eye.”

They think that they can convince you, and they have convinced many people that that's going to bring the balance, and love, and happiness because that's what the one eye actually represents. The ability to see with the spiritual sight that brings to one happiness, the end of self-inflicted suffering, true balance, true harmony, living in harmony with nature, living in the dynamic energy of love, etc, etc, etc and money will never bring you any of those things. Yet they're trying to convince you that that's what it can bring you, hence the word itself and the seal on the dollar bill, which we'll get into in future weeks.

We’ll break down all kinds of symbolism in future weeks. We’ll break down symbolism in such detail that you'll get tired of breaking it down, because that's another thing people are completely illiterate of. People are completely in ignorance of how symbols work upon the subconscious as another form of mind control. And again this is a good topic to jump off to because probably in the next two weeks or so we'll be getting into mind control techniques. Maybe two or three weeks. And institutionalized belief systems have a lot to do with mind control.

And how about the educational system? We talked about that, and we talked about the prison of the left brain. Well many people don't want to believe that the institution that they have believed in their whole life, the educational system, maybe that they're a teacher in, or a principal, or someone that runs a department in a college, or works in a university some place, they don't want to believe that that institution is ultimately creating harm in the world through. Putting people into a pure left-brain way of seeing the world, and therefore never being able to holistically connect with deeper levels of the consciousness in the mind. So people who are believing that they're doing good through the educational system, are very deeply attached to the role they play.

This is pure ego attachment, because “I can't be involved at whatever level of harm this institution is doing by simply being a part of it. Whatever would make you think it works like that? That because I'm a part of it, see I want to do good. That's my intent, and I think I'll be able to do good, through working in this institution, in this totally controlled system. I'll do good in my way, through the system.” Now I know people will say that this is harsh. I know people will say again that “you're making blanket statements.” Everybody who is thinking like this, they cannot appreciate - because of how attached they are - that they will never actually be able to influence anything for the better at a higher level, as long as they are working within any institutional belief system.

And there can no clearer example of this than politics. And here's where big portion of the freedom movement says “Mark I like some of the things you're talking about up to now, but here's where I got us part ways with you.” And what I'll say is, they're the tent pitchers. Know that the big long journey up the mountain to the land of higher consciousness, you could look at it like that. And some people don't even want to start the journey. They look at the mountain and they go “are you crazy? I’m gonna climb that? Good luck. You can climb it. I'll be right down here on the ground.” And they never begin. They’re the totally uninitiated, they never start.

Uninitiated means you haven't started. And then there are people who do start the journey with you, and you're going, and going, and going, and they say “oh this is as far as I go.” Yeah but the peak is up there. It’s way, way, way beyond where we’re at now, we’re like a third up. And they're like “well I'm setting up camp right here, and I ain’t moving another inch, because where you're going up toward that peek, that’s scary territory. I don't know if I'm comfortable with climbing any higher than this.” And those are the people in the freedom movement that still actually believe that they're going to vote the world out of the difficulties that it's in. They're going to change the world by voting the right people. You're going to vote out the bad people you're going to vote in the right people. Right? Sure you are.

Good luck with that. Let me know how that works out for you, because once again it fails to recognize a basic principle. Once you allow yourself to be represented by anyone else but yourself - you aren't re-presented by anyone. You present yourself or your owned. Bottom line. You're owned, your controlled, and most importantly you've given up responsibility. You've given up power. You've given up your internal power to make the decisions upon which your behaviors are based, on how you're going to live your life in harmony with natural law principles. Period.

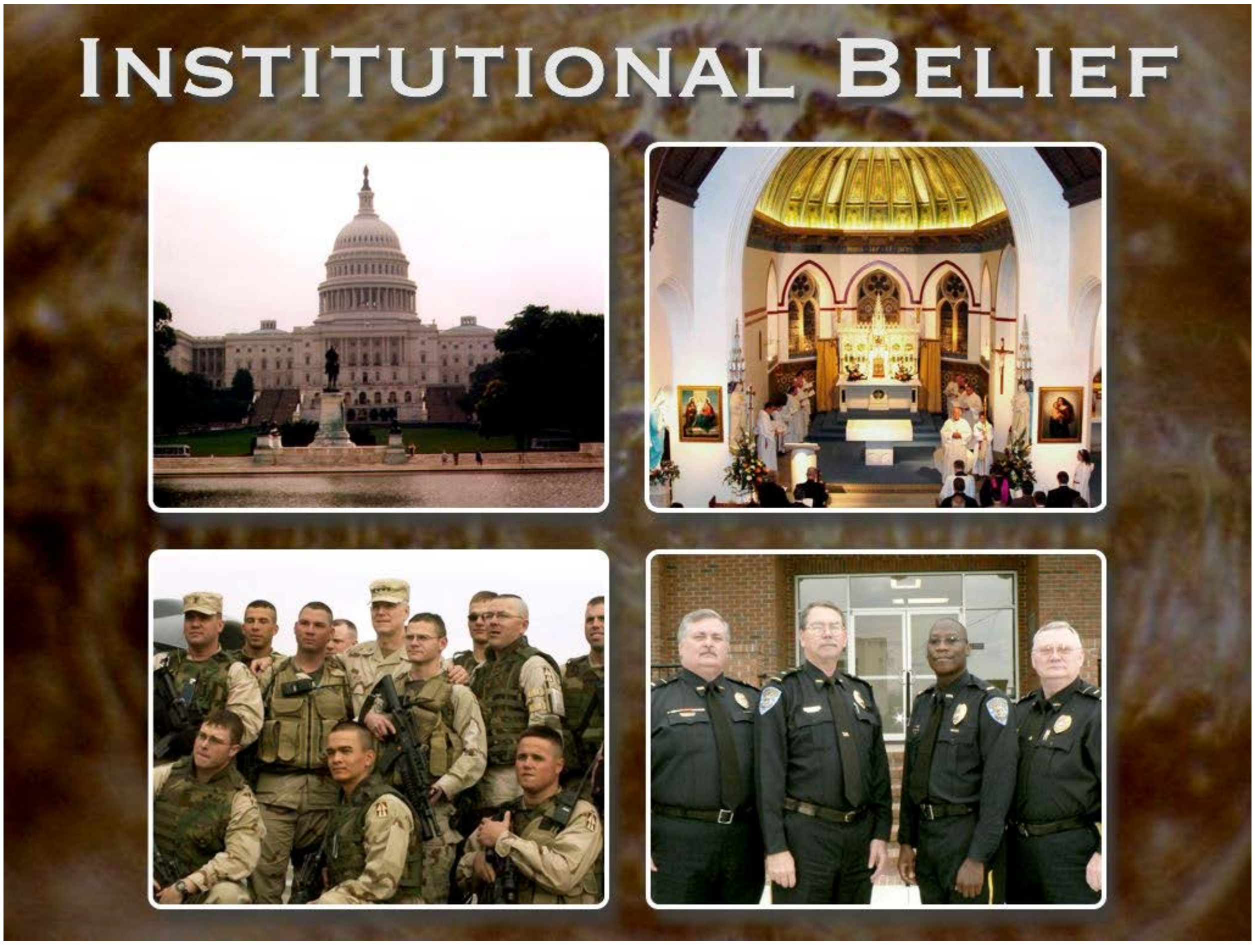
Once you give up that responsibility and you hand it over to anyone else, no matter how good their intentions are, you are owned. And, there is no way anything but disorder can come about as a result of that, because you are giving away something that nature has granted to you as a gift, and by throwing it away all you're going to create is chaos for yourself, and ultimately all those around you. And that's why all representative governments, not some, all of them, eventually descend and devolve into barbarity and tyranny, and ours is no exception in the United States. Sorry to break the news to you. Get over it. We don't have a lot of time to be crying in our beer over this. And again I'm not going to explain this in any different way. I'm not going to baby feed it to you.

When things get worse, and they will, go back and listen to my podcasts. There's my advice to the people who don't want what want to understand this, because the world, is, going to become completely more chaotic than it is now. Get ready for it. Until people snap out of this trance mind state, of believing in all these institutions, the world is going to descend, and descend, and descend, and descend. So prepare yourself emotionally, prepare yourself mentally, prepare yourself psychologically, and prepare yourself spiritually, because until people start actually admitting that someone is wrong, that they are wrong, and that they're not going to solve the problem by continuing to do the same thing, the same dynamic – "I'm going to add the same dynamic and magically it's going to change. Magically." Good luck. That's all I can say.

I can't make anybody change the way they think. I can only tell you how this principle works, that's it. And I'm not telling you this is my opinion. Again, I'm telling you I've recognized a core fundamental truth about how law, higher law capital L works, and what you're going to get when you go against it. So again I'm not telling anybody they must do anything. You can continue to go and believe in these systems and do what you've always done, but all I'm saying is, do not expect a different result. You're crazy if you do. You're doing same thing, you're not actually changing the way you think, and you think magically, suddenly the world's going to change for the better and you're not going to suffer anymore. Well I'm proud of you if you think that. Wonderful. Continue to live like that and see what happens. See what you get.

I think there's no better way to understand natural law then continuing to do the same thing and getting the same result, because eventually something will snap in your brain - unless you die first, which I think most people are so in ego that that’s what they’re willing to do. They're willing to follow this course until they die - so I think eventually something will snap in people and they'll say “hey you know what, maybe it's me. Maybe I can't continue to live the way I'm living and think the way I'm thinking and expect to get a different result in my life.” And that's what had to happen to me, and it took so much suffering for me that again, I was one step out of the grave.

Had I gone any further along that belief system I would have been dead. And finally something snapped and said “you know what? You can't do this. It's you. It's actually you, in the way you're thinking,” and when I changed it my life miraculously completely turned in 180 degrees in the opposite direction, and became semi-miraculous in the synchronicity and the things that opened up unto me, and how I was able to change myself. Not just my thoughts, but the way I feel every day, my health, every aspect of my life. Every one.



So believing in institutions is a strong force and I’ll wrap up the show talking about a few of the biggest. Government, religion, and then the control institutions of the police and the military. These are the most powerful institutions on the surface of the Earth. These are the most powerful institutions on this planet because they have the deepest hold of the human mind. These are the deepest mind controlling institutions that we have in humanity, and they are the ones who are ultimately responsible for destroying the consciousness of this planet. And I don't really care who's listening that's a member of any of those institutions. I don't care who's listening. I don't care who's offended. I don't care who finds this hard to accept or believe. These are the institutions that are going to be responsible for the destruction of the human species if we don't pull up from this course and reverse the direction that we're heading in.

Government, religion, military and police. That's it. And every member, no matter how well-intentioned, every member - I'm going to say this a thousand times, and you can take it however you want to take it. But notice I'm not saying anything about whether these people are actually good hearted people, or bad hearted people. I'm only making the statement that every one of them, are fooled. Every one of them does not understand how natural law works. Every one of them in some degree or another is under mind control. Bar none. If you are in government and believed that there needs to be government to control people's actions, and that the only way to create order is be in control, and as an end to that you must have government, you're under mind control. Period. I don't care who you are. You're under mind control to a certain degree.

Those who believe there should be less government are under a little less mind-control, but they're under mind control nonetheless. The same thing with police. All of them, not some of them, all of them are under mind control to some degree. Everybody that believes in religion as an institutionalized belief system, and I'm talking about organized religion. Not the deep core philosophy at the very core, the principles. That's not what I'm talking about. I'm talking about the actual organized religious institutions. Everybody that is a follower of one of them, and does not understand they’re a sovereign being and there is no intermediary required between them and the divine, in some form or another, to some extent or another, is under mind control.

And I will not back down from those positions. I'm not going to water it down. I'm not really interested in hearing a debate or debating as to whether that's true or not. I'm making the statement because I've recognized that is the case. That is the case. I understand what all of these institutions are. Not what I think they are. Not my opinions about them. I've studied their practices, methodologies and the way they operate in the world, to the extent that few people have, and I know that anybody believing in these and accepting them and thinking that they must be eternal institutions, is in some form or another under the dynamic of mind control.

Caller #1: Eric here in Doylestown Pennsylvania. So you have a good show tonight, very interesting things that ego attachment. Unbelievable. You said that you had a quote from somebody a few weeks ago about the two hurts and then you said basically it only hurts if there’s attachment to it?

Yeah myself and Walt Walter Rhodes, my guest a couple weeks ago, we were talking about the difference between ego being the tool to understand that in the physical domain you have an individuated expression of consciousness, versus being attached to the ego and allowing it to not operate in its role as a tool but to actually become the master. In other words, ego I don't think should be completely purged. It is a tool for consciousness to understand that “hey this is my body and not your body” and it will have different acts and physical expressions.

Ego lets me put food into my mouth as opposed to trying to feed myself by putting food into someone else's mouth. It's that simple. But when the tool becomes the master, when the tool says “hey I enable you to have a physical existence here, I want to set up shop and take over this house,” that's when it becomes a problem. That's when it's attachment. When we can't separate from the ego, when we can't lay it down when we're finished using it, we're constantly in it. It's constantly ruling us essentially, and that's what myself and my guests Walt were discussing a couple weeks back.

Caller #1: Okay and now I actually have a pretty simple question for you. What happens when we die?

Oh your guess is as good as mine. I'm still alive, you know? Every religion and every basic esoteric philosophy has different notions on that. Some people say you go into a void where all your experiences are integrated and learned from and then you have a decision as to whether to come back, and what kind of experience you want to have. I don't know whether any of that is true, again because I don't really get into that world or talk about that in my presentation or on my show because I'm not in that state. I'm still alive in the physical form right now. And have you ever heard the expression “be here now?” That's what I attempt to do. I attempt to explain - work in the domain that you're in now, as opposed to spending energy on worrying about that.

However, I think that to some extent or another, the quality of the experience that we do experience in whatever that after life, or in between life, or however you want to look at it state is, I think the quality of that is dictated by how we behave here. That I do believe. Can I tell you that that's the case? No. And so therefore I can only tell you that that is my belief. And that's where I'll delineate, when I'm talking about something I know I'll state it unequivocally. “I understand that this is a law and it works this way.” But if I do not know that, then I will say unequivocally “this is my belief about how this may or may not work.” I believe, that whatever experience is waiting for us when we pass away from this from this level of consciousness, I believe the quality of that and the amount of choice that we will have in that will be directly related to how we behave while we were in this domain, while we were in this expression of consciousness.

Caller #1: Do you ever feel like your whole life has a purpose, and we will go on to something bigger? I mean just the fact that I'm alive, I'm like a good-looking guy, I have a life, like it's just like there's more to it than just, us being like evolved monkeys bopping around the world.

Well I certainly believe there's a higher purpose for existence. I don't think that the universe is some dead machine that just is here for no reason and happened by cosmic accident, as very left brain imbalanced people do. I think there's absolutely purpose for being, and I think the purpose is, to grow, to expand in consciousness, to create. You know that's why we call it a creator. It created this construct for experience, for expression, and it created it to be a reflection of itself which is a creator. We ultimately have to get to a point where we're a conscious creator. We understand what will create our experience and then we choose that which is better. We choose one thing out of many possibilities because we learn discernment, and we learn “here's a better choice if we want to create this.”

And I think that's what this stage of our evolution is all about. It's about learning discernment. It's about learning “this is what you need to enact, or behave like this, to get what you say you want. And until you combine your will with that understanding, to actually do it, you're never going to get what you say you want.” So I think that's part of why we're here. To learn that very principle, and I wish I could tell you Eric. I really wish I could be a super hopeful person and say “I think we're really understanding that.” I do not think that we are understanding that as a species. I think some very few do understand that, but the majority of people here choose to turn their backs on those principles and ignore them. And that's why I don’t see good things coming for planet Earth, sadly. I'd like to be able to tell you different man, but I do not have an optimistic view of the future based on where we're at now. Now that may be slowly changing, but I don't feel it's changing in large enough numbers.

Caller #1: Well I know that they have us like on drugs, and there's mass mind control, and you know they throw everything and the kitchen sink at us to basically keep us in a lower state of consciousness so we don't question our reality. We don't question “is that really the truth?” We don't have the imagination and curiosity to say “wait, is there more to life? Should I be doing better?” I like the Gandhi quote you have “be the change you want the world to be.” If you want the world to be a better place, then be a better person. It’s that's simple.

Yeah I think he understand it very well. We get wrapped up in the whole idea that we need to do something first, so that we can have what we want and then we'll be happy, and it's really the reverse. You have to be different, be a certain expression in the world in consciousness, then conditions will be created so that you can have the things that are necessary for you to be able to do what you want. It isn't do, have, be. It’s be, do, have. That's how the dynamic really works.

That even is only halfway, because then you have to go back and even reverse it, and say “well now that I have what I was looking for, what do I do with that?” And that's really putting it into practice in the world and learning how to really act in wisdom. In proper moral upright ways that affect and influence other people in the world. And that's ultimately what I think the purpose of being here is. To learn how to develop the will to do just that.

That brings us to the end of this show. I think at the beginning of next show I'll briefly go a little bit more and institutionalized belief systems, and we'll get into some other topics.

What On Earth Is Happening Show #011

Topics: Higher Self vs. Lower self

I'm going to cover a lot of material, however I'm going to kind of in doing so recap generally most things that we have covered thus far on the show and on the archive shows in the podcast feed. So if you want to hear in detail some of these concepts, you can listen to all the previous shows that are all archived as a podcast on my website. But the topic for this evening really is going to close the very abstract, and I guess you could say spiritual side of what I do here on the show, which is basically talk about the causal factors that contribute to the present condition of the human species.

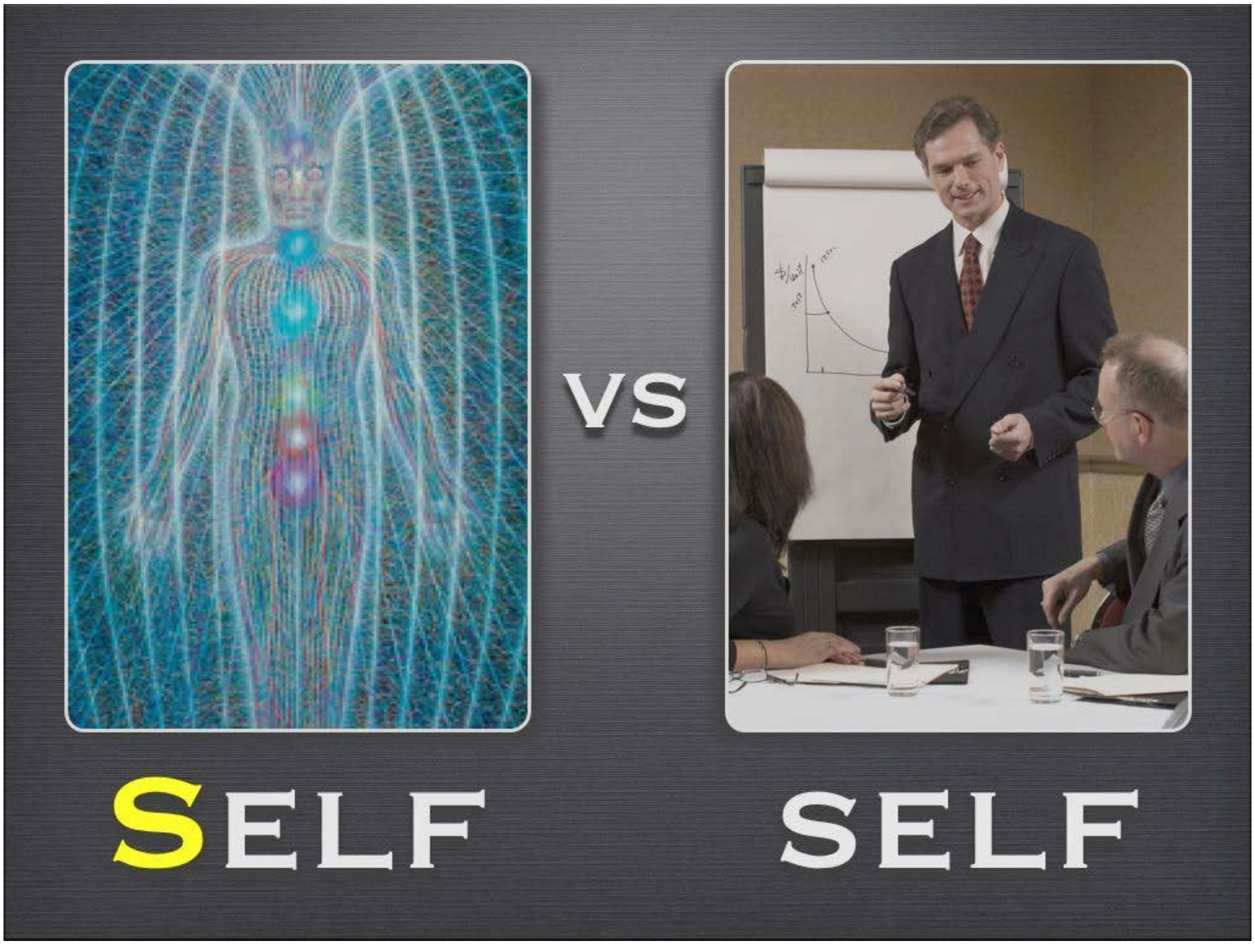
We talk about our ability to tell truth from falsehood, and how this is directly related with issues of human freedom. This show goes to the root of why we experience what we experience. That's what this is all about. The show is basically about how we create our experiences through our choices. We are the co-creators of our reality, and we create that reality in a pleasant and uplifting way that enables us to grow if we live and make our actions come into harmony with natural law principles, as we discussed in previous weeks. If we ignore those principles of truth of natural law, then our external manifested experience becomes extremely unpleasant, which is the cycle where we seem to be trapped in right now, and have been for a very, very long time.

So what I do on this show is try to explain how these principles work, and try to get down to the root causal factors of why human beings experience suffering, so that they understand how they are creating the experience that they are having. And this is again as I've said directly related with issues of human freedom. They cannot be separated. There is no separation between these causal factors that I talked about, and how free we are in our seemingly external world. So in keeping with this theme and message, today is going to be the last part of, part one of this so to speak.

Everything up through this point has been what I call what people really need to understand to know what the solution is to our problem that we are experiencing, mainly that there is encroaching tyranny in our world, and how to solve it. This is the part that really does give us the solution if we understand it, and pay attention to it and go deeply into this material to make it a part of ourselves, and in doing so change ourselves. Because the only way we're going to change the external manifested reality in which we live, is to change what takes place inside of us. When we do that, then the movie on the screen that we ourselves are projecting will change. But until we understand these factors that I talked about on the show up through this point, don't expect the movie on the external screen of reality to change one bit.

We need to understand these principles, we need to make them a part of us and we need to change our lives accordingly. If we don't do that, again don't expect much change in the external world. It's like banging your fists up against a television set or a movie screen because you don't like what you're seeing on it. We need to change the frequency, change the channel that is generating what you are seeing on the screen, in order to actually change what you see. And that's what we try to do here. That's what the ultimate goal of this show is, is to get people to understand those natural law principles.

And we are not just going to talk about how they work, we are also going to discuss some of the actual problems because, unless people are aware of why this is important to do, unless they can actually see the patterns that are taking place around them, and understand how we can actually change them by changing our thoughts, our emotions and our actions, and they also need to understand why. So we will not ignore the darkness on this show. We will look into it, we will confront it and we will confront that shadow that is part of all of us, and we will work with it to transmute it.



So what the topic of tonight's show is going to be, is a culmination of everything we've talked about thus far. We are going to discuss the qualities of who and what we really are. We are going to discuss the qualities of the higher aspects of self, and we're going to compare and contrast these qualities with what I call the illusory self. The self that is the lowercase s self. The self that is trapped in illusion, that is trapped in fantasy, that is trapped in identification with the ego and the roles that one plays in life, versus understanding the true higher identity of one self in consciousness. So we could title the topic of the show higher self, versus lower self.

This ultimately gets down to the question of who are we truly? Who are we truly? Because as I started off on the very first show, I explained that unless we really understand who we really are, we're going to remain largely powerless to make any lasting effective positive change in our reality. We have to understand what separates us from the higher aspects of our self, and that's what we've been doing in the last few weeks on this show.

We have been discussing the walls that we erect around ourselves and others. I call these the barriers to self-realization. The barriers to becoming a self-actualized being, and we identified them as the illusion of the five senses. Being rooted in materialism and the material world. Ego identification, again attachment to and identification with the roles that one plays in life. The experiences that one has being seen as identity, as opposed to understanding the higher self and realizing that that is what we are.

We talked about the prison of the left brain. The educational or indoctrinational system, and how it roots us into a physical only, linear only way of thinking about the world and seeing the world in the state of separation. Seeing ourselves in a state of separation from all others. Finally, last week we touched on the fourth barrier to self-realization which was the belief in and identification with institutionalized belief systems. And we've discussed a lot of them, and how people grasp and cling to belief systems that do not really serve who we really are. They are just put there to serve themselves and to perpetuate themselves in the name of control. And once you get into that pattern, basically you're contributing to the dynamic of fear which can only lead to chaos. It can only lead to suffering in the external manifested reality that we share.

So we covered a lot of different institutionalized belief systems. We talked about believers in the monetary system, we talked about believers in religions, we talked about control based institutions like the military and the police, and how these are all essentially different forms of mind control. And we will get into in the next few weeks the multi-faceted methodologies of mind control and how it works, because I have studied it extensively and I'll be having some guests on to talk about it in future weeks.

Again up through this point the show has largely been laying down abstract information, conceptual ideas that are important to grasp, to have a firm command of, to understand deeply and integrate them into our worldview if we're going to understand how this solution fits in to what we're going to need to do going forward if we're going to solve this global problem of human sickness, that is creating a diseased condition all over this globe. This is a critical component of it, understanding the higher self, versus the lower self. That is what we're going to discuss tonight.

Caller #1: This is Bob. It's refreshing to hear you on a little bit earlier, we got the full two hours now on Revolution Broadcasting from what I understand. I was just listening to a lecture that David Wilcock did at Project Camelot. Project Camelot had an event that they put out, and I was listening to him there and he's got a lot of interesting things to say. A lot of quantum physics, and time, and complicated things but you know as I'm sure you know Mark, I'm a consciousness explorer. And that's a big part of this is, it's getting in touch with our relationship to the Earth, and to the creation, and figuring out ourselves in order to see how we're all connected and progress.

Absolutely, I'm familiar with David's work and I really like it a lot, and I think that he does have a lot of great things to say, and I encourage people to check him out. David Wilcock if you're not familiar with him is definitely a person who is trying to expand people's horizons and their visions of what is possible, and I definitely encourage checking out his work for sure.

For tonight's show I'm going to basically go into probably what I would consider to be the wrap-up of the entire part one of the information that I convey about the nature of what's taking place, which I call the solution. This has all been consciousness related material, material that is about who we really are, material that is about the forces that are at work in the world and the causal factors that relate to what we're experiencing. So this show is going to focus on the qualities of the true self, and how they compare and contrast with the qualities that are expressed through the lower vibrational self, or the self that is trapped in ego and illusion.

Caller #1: Yeah and to harp on the ego, I think that if we continue to support the oil-based, scarcity based energy system that we have we're going to continue to kill the planet. I know that's probably on a lot of the minds of your listeners, and I've been quoted in saying "let's look at Tesla technologies." Because really Mark as you understand I'm sure this is just a symptom to a bigger issue here, and that's the scarcity based mind control that is playing on our ego through vanity and materialism.

Absolutely, and a genius who was trying to explain this to us over a hundred years ago they tried to suppressed his work, and they tried to erase his name from history but the truth can never be destroyed no matter how hard anyone tries. And Tesla will be vindicated in the end, by one way or another. I hope it doesn't have to happen through us destroying our ability to live on this planet through what we're doing down in the Gulf because it is definitely a disturbing situation.

Caller #1: Well yeah I was just going to say, I hope he's not vindicated through our annihilation. You know it's no fun to say "I told you so" when everything's gone.

Yep absolutely, so that's why we're working toward fulfilling his vision of the future, which was one in which humanity worked in conjunction with nature and was connected to its wheelwork of energy, and that's why I work with the Tesla Science Foundation in Philadelphia and that's why I think everybody should come out to this event in Philadelphia. If you're anywhere within driving distance come on out it will be a great time you'll learn a lot and meet a lot of good people, and it's for a cause that we desperately need right now.

Caller #1: You know Mark it's funny that you mentioned that "if anyone's in driving distance," because I've recently come across this dilemma myself both for a Gulf of Mexico cleanup in which I had to drive over nine hours to attend, using oil. You know I don't have one of those vegetable oil cars yet, and there's another event for social activists such as ourselves in Detroit that I want to attend that would - and I'm in Florida by the way folks - so that could be a problem as far as you know having to be dependent on using gas to get there.

Now I'm going to omit probably going to this forum because you know I'm just so disheartened by this that I don't think I can't justify going to this forum, even though I think at the end of the day it could accomplish a lot of good things and I can network with people and try to make some change. But I think we need to facilitate for now conferencing on the Internet. And Skype is one great tool for that. Mark and I we've used it in the past, and all of our listeners out there, you know as much as local activism is important and it's good to be local within your vicinity there's only so much you can do there, so it's also good to connect and have a good network of people in your community and outside of your community that meet. And you don't have to always go you know out of town to have meetings, you can do meetings on the Internet.

That's why something like a talk show is a great resource too. Anybody can host discussions, and they could host their own show. I mean put the information out there. The universe is spoken into existence. Connect with other people and speak to them. That's what it's all about is getting this information out there. Knowing it is only the first step. Reaching out to other people is the second step.

Caller #1: True and that's what the networks like Revolution Broadcasting and these other facilitators to this sort of truly independent media folks, it's really a great thing and it's exciting to be a part of. And one of the folks that are really supporting new initiatives in this sort of independent media field are RepublicMedia.TV, and at Republic Media TV they are going to be featuring What on Earth Is Happening, and you'll notice that you go on the page there that they have a big link of What on Earth Is Happening right there on the featured links. So you definitely want to stay tuned for that, and possibly some additions to your format Mark, always enhancing this so that in these serious times we can continue to up the ante in order to get as organized and active as we possibly can.

I think it's a great new media form that is being built there and I'm impressed with it, and I'm excited to be a part about it. Definitely everyone check out RepublicMedia.TV for sure. If anybody else wants to call in feel free and let's jump right in to tonight's topic, which is the qualities and aspects of the true self, versus the qualities and aspects of the lower self that is trapped in five sense identification and ego attachment. So we can look at this as capital S Self, versus lowercase s self.

So the true self, a self-actualized being. Someone who has, you know we've heard the term “woken up.” Someone who has really come online and connected with higher levels of consciousness in the universe, that it is breaking out of the prison of mind. That is breaking out of the vibrational eggshell that is attempting to hold us in lower level vibrations of mind and consciousness. And that form of mind control is the only real way you can keep a person from connecting with spirit, from connecting with, again higher consciousness. You can only do that ultimately through mind control, because the mind is the aspect of self that links the body to the spirit or the higher self.

So what we're going to talk about is, what are the qualities of this higher self that we aspire to reach to, aspire to merge with, and to know more fully? The higher-self exists in the state known as non-duality. Non-duality means that one understands that really there's no separation between the lowercase s self and other lowercase s selves. That really there's no difference between anyone on this planet. They are all consciousness. They are all an aspect of the whole that is experience itself in this construct that we call living on the Earth. Living on a planet in the cosmos. There really isn't any separation at a very high energetic level, a high level in consciousness.

Non-duality also means that this self-actualized being has come to a state of consciousness in which their thoughts, their emotions, and their actions are essentially unified as one. They have made these three expressions of their consciousness into one, and what this means is that they are not in contradiction with each other. In other words, the being is such that as they think, so they feel and so they act, and there's no contradiction between those three expressions of the being. In other words, they don't think one thing and know it to be true, and yet do something else.

Their actions are in harmony with what they think and feel, so they don't say “oh well I believe in this, and I feel that this is right, and I know that this happens to be the case. Yet I'm not going to do what I know to be right. I'm not going to live in a way that I know that certain things are going on that that I should or should not be a part of. I'm going to do something that is against those things because of this reason, or that reason, or that reason.” So the person is torn within. They are in a state known as internal opposition. They are not at one with the thing that it is most important to be at one with, the self. So non-duality, recognizing that there is no separation between oneself and others. And internal non-duality is the state of bringing one’s thoughts, emotions and actions into unison. Non-contradiction. Non-opposition.

SELF

EXISTS IN DOMINION AND NON-DUALITY

UNDERSTANDS AND WORKS TOWARD TRUE FREEDOM

PRACTICES ALCHEMY TO BRING ABOUT TRUE WILL

CONCERNED WITH ALLEVIATING SUFFERING FOR ALL

The true self expresses itself in a state known as Dominion. You could call this self-actualization, you can call this true self love, you can call it sovereignty. There are many different ways to say the state, and again it is simply rulership of the kingdom of self. It is having control over your own thoughts, your own emotions and your own actions, which are really the only things that you are in point of fact reality allowed to be in control of. Because you are the steward of the physical vessel in which your higher self inhabits, and therefore you have control over what you think, what you feel and how you act in the world. The goal which is to bring those three things into unison with each other, and when they are you can actually then manifest at a much greater level that which you wish to manifest.

So the true self is in a state of non-duality and it has attained this condition known as self-ownership, self-rulership, dominion, sovereignty. The true self understands what true freedom is. It doesn't have an erroneous definition or a limited definition of human freedom. It knows that true freedom is really the absence of self-imposed suffering, of self-inflicted and self-created suffering, by one's refusal to acknowledge and live in harmony with natural law principles. So the true self understands what true freedom is. The true-self works toward that goal. So the true-self is doing what has been called the true great work as the alchemist referred to, as very positive light occultists have referred to it as.

Now there's a dark great work which we'll get into in future weeks, but that's not what we're talking about here. We're talking about the goal of actually working toward achieving true freedom. And this is freedom at all levels. Not at one level. A big New Age movement idea is “as long as you're free in mind it doesn't matter what happens to your body.” Nonsense. This is to get people to stand down and not actually take proper action in a physical world worldly sense. True freedom is freedom in body, mind and spirit all simultaneously, because the true self recognizes there is no separation between those things either.

There's another New Age, and it's a very religious mind-control aspect that the body is to be renounced and rejected, and we shouldn't bring our thoughts toward what's happening in the physical world but only focus on the spiritual. That's equally as nonsense as saying “the physical world is all that exists and there's no such thing as spirit.” One is a form of left brain and imbalance, the worship of materialism and physicality, and the other is a form of right brain and balance that totally rejects the physical, and would let the body fall into disrepair, and physical freedom fall into disrepair. Which is partially responsible for the state that we're in now as species.

So these two worldviews come from two different kinds of left brain imbalance. True freedom, again, and the understanding of true freedom, is freedom across all those scales of expression. In spirit, spirit’s not going to be bound. It is free. It is freedom period, so nothing can bind that. But there is binding that has been accomplished through covert manipulation and mind control, on the mind of many of the people on this planet. And there are also limitations on physical freedom. Of course, we see this playing out every single day, for anyone who's paying remote attention.

So the higher level of self, when we connect with this, we come to an understanding of true freedom. And that is freedom on the physical plane, freedom on the mental plane, and of course connection to spirit which is freedom, period. Again the spiritual aspect of this is not buying the bull, so that's why they have to work on the mental realm in order to get us to enslave ourselves at the physical level. And when I say they I mean the occultists who are enacting and wielding these mind control techniques, and if you haven't gotten to that level of understanding, to understand it there is an occult aspect to this, an occult meaning hidden knowledge aspect to what is going on - and this essentially behaves like a religion because there are rituals, there are patterns of behavior, all of which we will get into in depth on the show in future weeks - and if you're resistant to that stick around.

Keep listening to the show because I will provide an abundance of evidence, and not just through anecdotal evidence and not just through reading about it. Through first-hand experience, because in the past I worked in occult orders myself. And I'll allude to that and touch upon that in future weeks, and explain how some of those ideologies work, and how their mind-control techniques - and they have mind-control techniques, and they're extremely adept at employing them, and using them to get what they want - we will get into all of that. So just understand that true freedom, which is the work of the higher self, is to free us at the mental and physical levels. Unconditionally, from any self-imposed suffering.

Now in the body, in the physical reality, there are going to be requirements to have physical expression and experience. So I don't talk about just needing food, or wanting shelter to live in some level of protection from the elements as suffering. I'm talking about self-inflicted suffering. Suffering that we bring upon ourselves, not that we just think of as suffering, because we don't want certain requirements for living to be present. That is not what I'm talking about because some people will take it to the extreme “oh there will be suffering as long as you're in a physical body.” Okay you can take it to that extreme if you want, and it's true to a certain extent. You will experience a certain level of discomfort. Hunger, needing sleep, wanting sex, thirst, wanting companionship, loneliness etc. There's many different aspects of simply being in a physical body that can bring on certain levels of discomfort or displeasure.

However, we don't need to experience that as intense suffering if we don't remain attached to those things. Attached to the satiation of those desires. They will come and go, they will rise and fall. Without food of course yes there would be suffering, however what I'm talking about here is self-imposed suffering. Refusal to acknowledge natural law, living out of harmony with nature, out of harmony with the Earth, overstepping the boundaries of what we have the right to do to another being that is in this experience with us. Breaking natural law in other words. This is ultimately what creates all forms of self-inflicted suffering, at least at this level of experience that we are currently living in.

So the true self, is in the state of non-duality and understands true freedom, and is working toward that aim. The true self who is working toward this goal of creating freedom across all levels of being, is what I've described in a former show as a true magician. This is a being that is influencing using the science and art of using influence, to bring about harmony with the Will, capital W. We talked about what that was on previous shows. The will is what’s the mind of nature, the mind of God if you will - I'm comfortable using that word. Some may be, some may not be.

But there is an underlying intelligent principle. It is attempting to move us along toward higher levels of expression. This is what is known as evolution. Evolution in consciousness, and this higher mind has a will, and its role is to make us better and to advance us, and to help us to grow and learn and mature. And if we go along with the principles that this higher mind has as essentially given as a gift - it's not a set of controls. Natural law is not a set of controls. It's a set of principles to be live according to as guidelines for evolution to higher levels of consciousness. It's understanding how nature really works at its fundamental level of mind.

So what the true self does is it practices this art, and we called that alchemy in previous shows. Alchemy is the art of attempting to help others to move into harmony with this higher will. You can never do that work yourself. You can only be an influence for others, so if you understand how those principles of natural law works, and the principles of this higher mind, what they are trying to do for us as a species, you can align yourself with them, and then you can help others to align themselves with them, by showing them the techniques you use, by speaking the truth to them, by putting the good word out there that it doesn't have to be like this.

We don't need to experience this level of suffering and discomfort. We can change the external manifested reality that we're experiencing. It is possible. From where we're at now is it easy? No I didn't say it is or would be easy. I said it's possible, and it can be accomplished. The more people that get on board with that, the more effortless it will become. Right now since so many people are convinced that the exact opposite is true, that there's no such thing as truth, that there's no such thing as natural law, that there's no such thing as a higher will, there's no such thing as the authority of nature itself - but we continue to believe in man's authority as the highest expression of all that is - we're going to have a real rough time of it if we continue to exist in that state of consciousness.

So the art of alchemy is what the true self practices. It practices this art and it strives to become better at it, because it knows this is the only game in town to really influence the minds of everyone that is currently at a low level of consciousness to help to bring them up, extend a hand down and lend a little bit of assistance and bringing them up to a higher level of understanding. That’s all you can do to make the situation better. Ultimately the person you're helping has to take that step for themselves. It can never be done for them, and that is oftentimes a source of frustration, because there has to at least be a spark of the will within that other being.

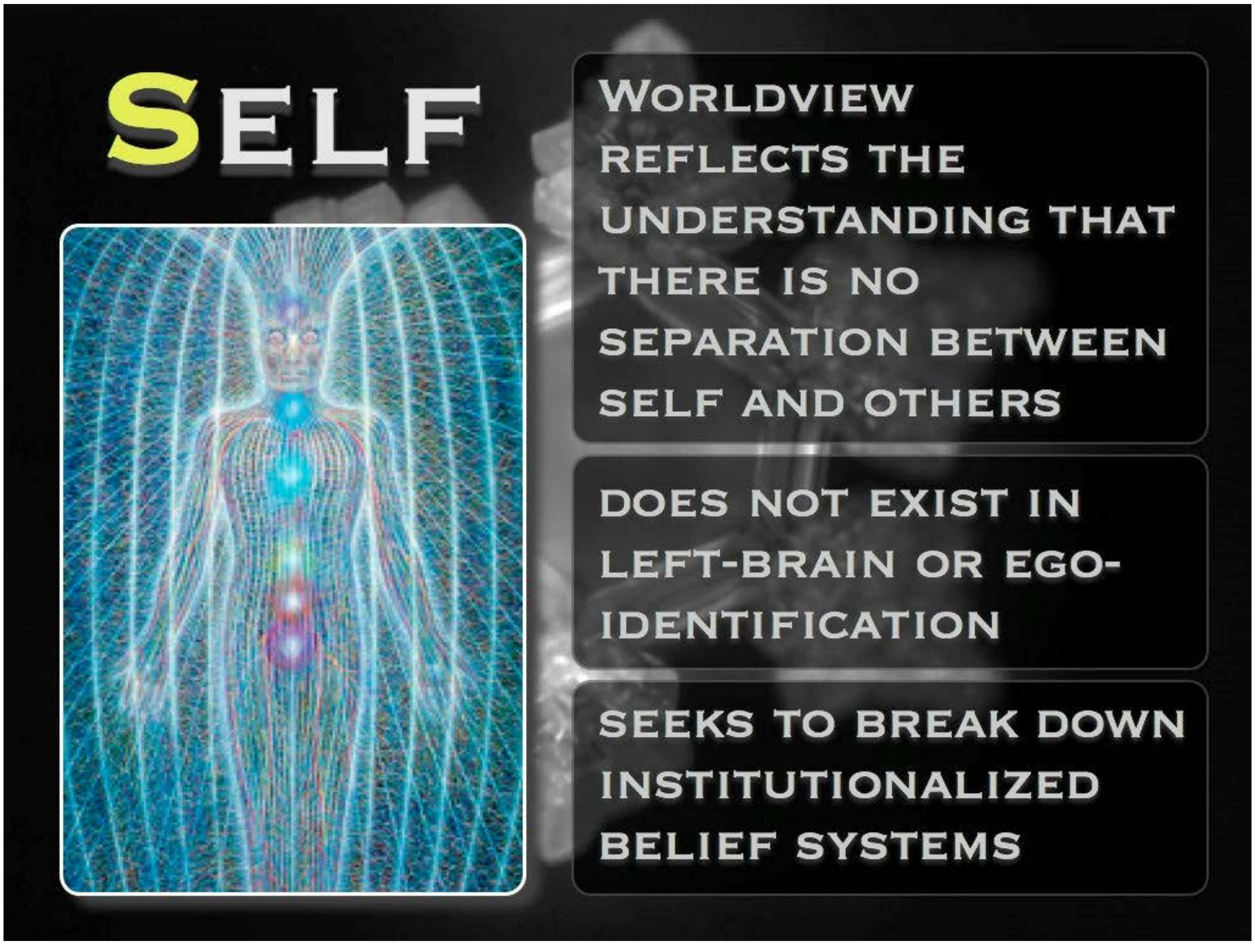
They have to have at least a desire to want to become better. And you know sadly in many people that's been largely extinguished in them. Sad to say, and they actually are living a life of total quiet desperation and believe that nothing can be improved upon from where they are at. There's always room for improvement and it's always possible if we have the desire and we employ the will to do that. So one practices this art of assisting in the great work of betterment of the soul qualities, which is known as alchemy, to bring about deeper accordance with the higher will.

The next quality of the true self is that it is truly concerned with the alleviation of suffering for all. Not just for the individuation of consciousness that it is expressing, meaning the lower case s self, like “me” personally. Yes, I don't want myself to suffer, but I have come to the level of understanding that as any are experiencing suffering, I am suffering. So that's what the higher level of self is seeking to help us to come to an understanding of. That if even one is experiencing suffering that is inflicted by themselves or by other people upon them, we are all suffering.



SELF

WORLDVIEW REFLECTS THE UNDERSTANDING THAT THERE IS NO SEPARATION BETWEEN SELF AND OTHERS

DOES NOT EXIST IN LEFT-BRAIN OR EGO-IDENTIFICATION

SEEKS TO BREAK DOWN INSTITUTIONALIZED BELIEF SYSTEMS

There is no separation between self and others, so if one person is suffering all our suffering. Literally we are connected. If you look into the meaning of the word connected, con is a prefix in Latin that means “together” or “with,” and nectero means “to bind” in Latin. So connected means “to tie together” or “to bind together.” We are connected we are bound together and the only way we're getting out of this condition is if we turn that corner and reach enough people that we understand collectively in enough numbers that the world we're heading down is leading into a blind alley. It's leading us over a cliff actually, and we need to turn that around because we understand that we're creating suffering not just for ourselves but for all.

We’re creating suffering in the world and that affects everybody, and people who don't understand natural law or who are deeply trapped in ego, they are not concerned with this principle. They are only concerned with their own comfort level, sadly, and they will do things and can be made to do things that are totally creating more and more suffering for many people. And they don't have the right to do that. They think they have the right, they believe in their ignorance that they have the right to do that, but nothing will ever make it so in reality. They're just really trapped in that control mentality, that they are privileged and that they have a right and an inherent authority to control other people.

So connection with the true self will help people to eventually break out of that mindset by understanding that as anyone else suffers, so they themselves suffer. It's a very hard realization to come to. Most people, not all, only come to that level of realization once they themselves have suffered so much that they practically hit rock bottom. That there is no place else left for them to go down in suffering, and that is how I myself experienced that level of understanding. I did not get this the easy way for anybody thinking that. It didn’t happen that way folks. I took the left-hand path. I took the long way around, the long way home. And it was years of enormity of self-inflicted suffering to a point where as I've said before, there were two places to go. Death, or reverse course, admit that I was wrong and move upward from there.

So that's what I chose. I didn't choose death I'm here with you now, and I learned a lot of things on the way back up from that point. I considered that I was a mild case, believe it or not. As for those who didn't know me back then it's difficult to even convey how bad it got, but for those who didn't know me back then, but for me to say that I'm a mild case compared to where other people are, it's even shocking to understand. Because if it took what it took to get me out of my level of rebellion against higher will, and against natural law, what would it take for some people that are so far beyond the condition that I was ever at? I just wonder about that a lot. Sometimes I just think they would choose the grave. Happily, willingly choose the grave over changing.

I hope that isn't the case. I hope they'll eventually come to their true senses, but all we can do is keep putting the message out there. I'll keep saying the same thing over and over again until I'm not in the body anymore. I've said that before. So this is the only thing there is to understand, ultimately, if we want a better life from where we're at. People really have to come to an understanding of this and an acceptance of it, because it's not going to change. This, what I'm explaining is not going to change. And this isn't my information. I said that before on the show many times. This is just information I've learned that is out there.

These are principles that exist in nature, and we either accept them and come into harmony with them, or we reject them and bad things happen. And it'll continue that way until we make a different choice. But as long as we keep making this choice - I just say make the choice, fine. I can't make anybody make a different choice, but know, and have heard it at least, that why I do this is at least so that other people can have heard that nothing is going to change if they make the decisions that they're currently making. It's the definition of insanity to say “I'm going to do the same thing, always get the same result, continue to do the same thing and expect a different result.” That's crazy, completely. It's craziness. It's mental illness.

So the only way to really come out of this level of self-imposed suffering is to understand these principles, which again I’ve disclaimed many times on the show that these are not mine. I don't own these, they don't belong to me, I have nobody to keep them secret, I don't own the information that belongs to the cosmos. That's why give it out freely. I speak it to the world because it does not belong to me. I am simply charged with delivering a message. That's it. Nothing else. And really, you know people I make little cards to hand out about my website and my radio show and I don't even have my name on it. People say “why don’t you have your name on your own card?” I say “because that's not important. It's not important who I am, the information is important. Go off and check it out. You don’t even need to remember my name. Not important.”

So continuing with the qualities of the true self, the higher self, the self with a capital S, this self is not bound in certain ways of seeing the world. The worldview has become unbounded and it sees that there is no separation between anything. That everything is just a vast ocean of consciousness and there is ultimately no separation. That understanding in worldview - if there isn't one worldview imbalance or the opposite worldview imbalance, as we talked about when we covered worldview on a previous show - the true self is not bound into seeing the world as either a grand cosmic accident which is the randomness worldview, nor does it see everything as totally predetermined in which we have no free will to actually change the result of what we experience.

The higher self connects with the true understanding that there is no separation between self and others, and what we're really experiencing in manifested reality, is a combination of a deterministic principle which is natural law, plus the free will to live in harmony with those principles or to reject them. So some people would say “well that's not really free will.” Sure it is. It's not really free will only if you see natural law as some sort of a prison, or as some sort of a control mechanism. Natural law is not a control mechanism. It is there for pure and total unequivocal freedom. It is placed there in love, by creation itself such that the expressions of itself would be able to have whatever they want. Bliss ultimately, if they only live within the principles of truth.

A very firm term that I just said there. The principles of truth. That's what natural law ultimately is. It has nothing to do with our perceptions of it, has nothing to do with how we think about it, how we feel about it. It is. It’s that which is. So ultimately embracing that which we are is embracing natural law. Rejecting natural law is rejecting what we are. Rejecting the higher self. There's no difference between these principles of natural law and the higher self.

They are one and the same, but we in our ego, in our identification, in our attachment, want to think that we as individuals, or groups of individuals, lowercase s selves, are, the law. We want to think that we are, the authority. We want to think that we are, the creator or God. That's how far gone some people are from connection to this higher expression of self and consciousness. They actually believe they’re God, and that they own other beings.

So to go back to the qualities of this higher level of expression, the higher self, also is not operating on only a percentage of its faculties. Meaning, it uses the entire being, the whole brain, all of the energy centers of the being. Not just the mind. It uses the mind in conjunction with the body, in conjunction with the will of the being on the physical plane. And it's a holistic coming together of mind, body and spirit. True care is present when the true self is present.

So you're using the action principle, the heart principle and the mind principle. I refer to this as the heart mind guts. It's connecting the heart chakra, with the third eye chakra, with the solar plexus chakra. It's connecting true care, with true intelligence, with true courage, or willpower. These are the three planes that we have to work upon to make any positive change happen. We have to have intelligence, we have to have care, we have to have willpower, and courage. If we succumb to the forces of ignorance, the lack of intelligence, if we succumb to the force of apathy, the lack of true care, and if we succumb to the force of laziness and cowardice, we're not using the guts, we're not using the solar plexus energy.

So the true self is holistic. It's bringing these qualities together and therefore it does not exist in the prison of the left brain, as we talked about as one of the barriers to self-realization. It is using holistically all of the functions of the brain and it is connected with the spiritual qualities, and the intuitive qualities, and the nurturing qualities of the right brain, or the right mind. Finally, the true-self does not exist in ego identification, meaning it does not identify with the roles that it plays in a physical expression. Meaning it doesn't get wrapped up in being a business owner, being an author, being a writer, being an actor, being a poet, etc, etc, etc.

It knows that these are simply expressions and experiences while we are in the physical body. While we're in this vehicle having experiences to grow and learn, but it doesn't take them on as itself as the self, as its identity. So it's not attached and identified with the ego. It also will seek and encourage to break down institutionalized belief systems wherever it encounters them, because institutionalized belief systems in any form that they exist, are forms of mind control, as we talked about last week. And that again is strong language.

That's a firm statement being made. Institutionalized belief systems, no matter what they are, are forms of mind control. They exist to control the thought patterns of any adherence, such that they perpetuate themselves, such that the mean that they represent is perpetuated. The overarching idea that they represent is perpetuated and therefore it is going to work in building something in the physical reality.

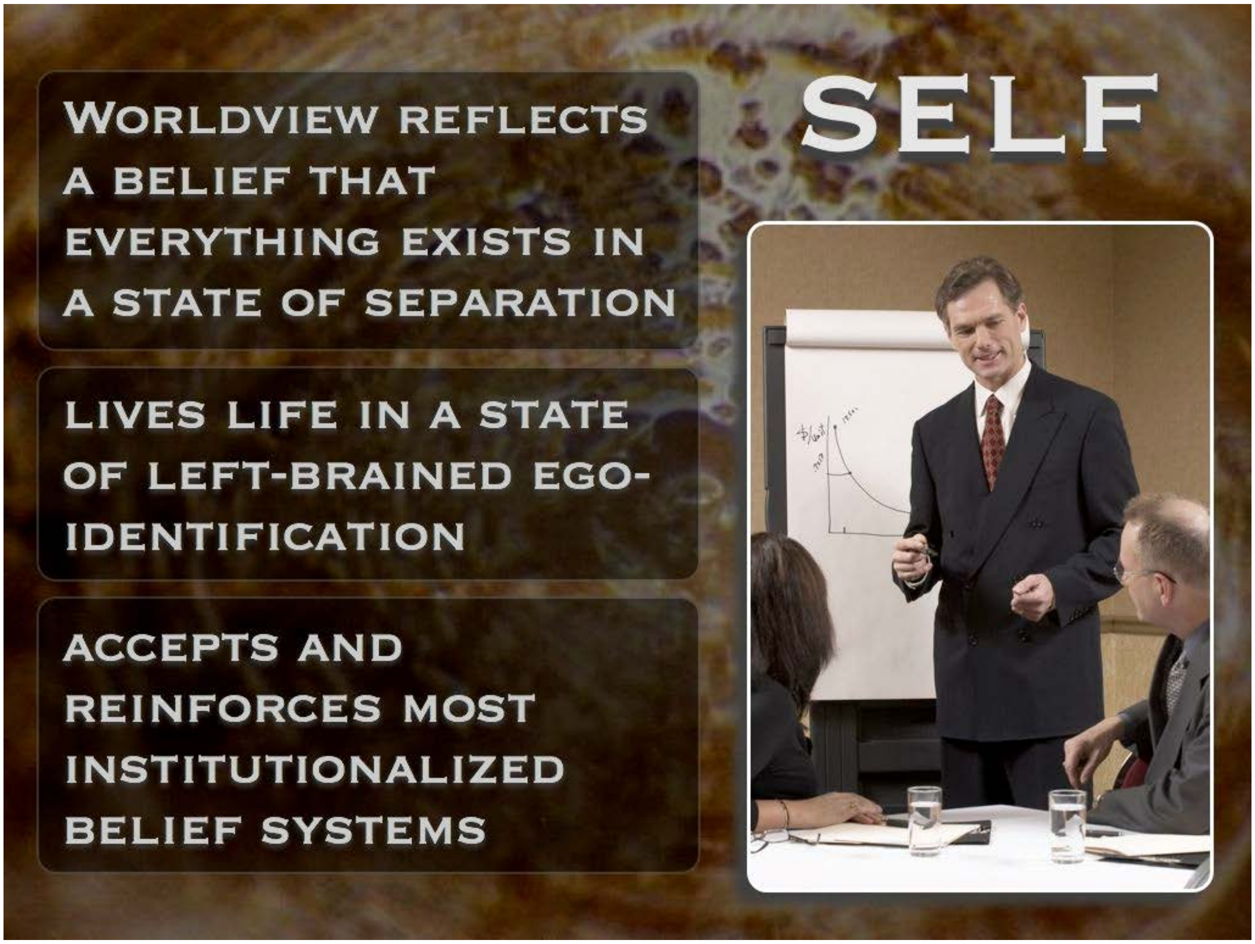
So the higher quality of self is always trying to work on breaking down these belief systems. To the extent that we are not connected with that higher self, we will identify with and work in institutionalized systems. And a lot of people will not want to hear that, and I recognize this. I know this. Many people will want to hear “I'm a good person. I’m working in this banking institution, or I work in this scientific research, or I work in this level of Finance, or I work in this level of education, or I work in this level of the medical industry, the so-called health care industry,” and they won't want to hear that ultimately.

Yet they can do good on a level working with some people one on one, but ultimately the aim that that institution is working toward, is control. And I don't care what it is. You can't tell me one institution that isn't set up like a hierarchical pyramid. You can't do it because there are none. Institutions by definition are hierarchically structured and compartmentalized, meaning that many people working in them will not know what the task of the other person is. They’re not around the table as a group so to speak. They are structured. They have rank. They are about control and subservience. Control to the level below and subservient to the level above, as we talked about last week.

So ultimately all an institutionalized belief system can do is perpetuate the dynamic or the force of fear. It is largely based in fear. That is why they even come together at all. That's why these structures form, because someone was in fear of something, and we need to do something about that, so let's propose the solution. And here it is. A monolithic structure that will control this aspect of being, this aspect of life, this aspect of reality. They're all the same. All.

Another mind control technique is that there can never be any totality. That can never be any statement that “all institutions are like this.” You can't make it a statement that it incorporates all of them. Sure you can. I just did, because that is how institutions are structured. All of them are structured like that. It doesn't matter what they are. Banking, finance, military, police, education, religion, organized-crime, government, you name it. It’s structured the same way. The media, science, all structured as a hierarchy. All structured in a compartmentalized way.

So finally the true self will seek to break down those institutions, because only in breaking down walls and barriers that divide us and structures that keep us chained in fear, and in lower levels of self-expression, only by breaking those structures down are we really going to advance and come into alignment with our true potential.



SELF

WORLDVIEW REFLECTS A BELIEF THAT EVERYTHING EXISTS IN A STATE OF SEPARATION

LIVES LIFE IN A STATE OF LEFT-BRAINED EGO-IDENTIFICATION

ACCEPTS AND REINFORCES MOST INSTITUTIONALIZED BELIEF SYSTEMS

So the lower case s self, the lower self, the egoic self, the ego attached and ego driven self, what are its expressions and qualities? Let's look at this for a little bit. The lower case s self, is trapped in the state of identification with the roles that it plays. It believes that it is separate from everything else. That's its fundamental worldview. The fundamental worldview is that everything is separate from everything else. “Because I see I'm here and you're over there, that means we're separate from each other. What I do to affect me isn't necessarily going to affect someone else that I don't know, that I'm not directly affiliated with or connected with.” Everything exists in separation.

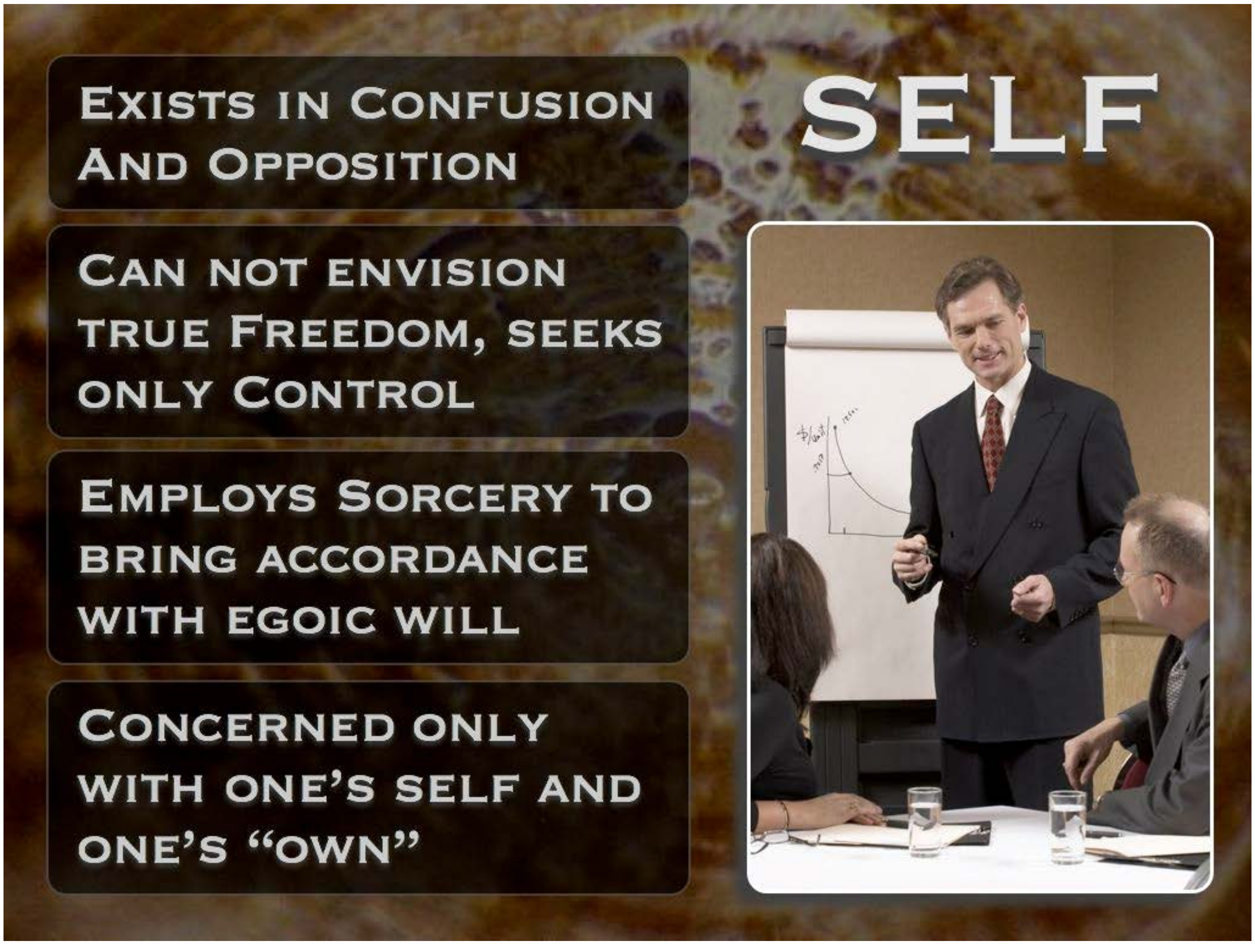
A worldview either skewed toward the left brain of pure randomness, that everything is an accident, there's no such thing as natural law, everything can be reduced to a mechanization, the universe is one big mechanical construct, a big machine, It's not alive, there's no such thing as consciousness. Pure separate separatism in consciousness. The right brain aspect is “ok God created everything and it's separate from us purely, and this force or being completely controls everything. We have no say about what happens, we're just in this and something's being done to us, and the creator is separate from the creation, and we have no free will.” Ultimately this is just again like a machine and we’re just along for the ride.

Both of these imbalanced worldviews, they both reflect a state of total separation consciousness. Pure separation consciousness. So that is the worldview of the lowercase self. This expression of being, this trapped consciousness existence state of internal confusion all the time. It doesn't recognize patterns, whether they take place within the being, in their emotions, or in their thoughts, and it doesn't recognize patterns in the external world. It has no idea what's going on essentially. This is a person that has no clue what's actually taking place around them, or within them for that matter. They're not awake at all. They're in internal opposition. They can be made to do things, through various methods, that they will state against how they really feel.

In other words "oh yeah I'll say that my morals are a certain way, that I believe that this is good and this is true and this is right, but, throw me enough money and watch what I'll do. Offer me enough money. You want me to hurt that other person in some way? How much? You want me to go and take that person's property to give it to you? Okay how much?" And some people's price is cheap. Some people you just have to pay them a meager salary, and as long as they can get to be dominant and aggressive and act like a brutish thug, "pay me a meager salary by even today's standards of what most people are paid in the corporate world anyway, and yeah I'll go and do whatever you tell me I'm allowed to do."



SELF

EXISTS IN CONFUSION AND OPPOSITION

CAN NOT ENVISION TRUE FREEDOM, SEEKS ONLY CONTROL

EMPLOYS SORCERY TO BRING ACCORDANCE WITH EGOIC WILL

CONCERNED ONLY WITH ONE'S SELF AND ONE'S "OWN"

No sense of true morals, only concerned with what they get out of it. Only concerned with one's own lowercase s self comfort level, and their immediate family and that's about it. If that. To some who are completely trapped in a psychopathic mindset, they don't even care about the people they're around at all, let alone working toward helping anybody extricate themselves from the condition of self-inflicted suffering. They could care less about the qualities of being connected with true intelligence, true care and true will. These things are meaningless to someone who's trapped in the ego. They've never even heard of these things.

Many people have never even heard and could not tell you anything or give any example about what consciousness is at all. That word is meaningless to them. Their concerned with their physical survival only, and the survival of "their own" in quotes. That which they see as, "this is mine. That out there, that's other people. All I'm going to worry about is my own comfort, my own survival and maybe the survival of my immediate family, that's it. If that." The illusory self - and this is a person that is trapped in pure illusion. None of what they think is real. They believe in fantasy because they bought lies about who they are, ultimately.

Again I started this show a couple months back explaining what was written on the Oracle at Delphi in Greece, that it says "how do you expect to know other wonders if you do not know the wonders of your own house? In you is hidden the treasure of treasures. Know thy self, and you will know the universe." Know the self. That is what someone who is trapped in the illusion of all the constructs that other people have built up around them, and brainwashed them and mind-control them into believing. That is what this lowercase s self has no concept of. The true self.

What they're talking about when the Mystery School said "know the self" is know the higher aspects of self. Understand who you are at a higher level. It also means understand physiology, understand how energy works through the body, understand what we need to do to take care of the vessel. Of course you don't dismiss the physical, but it's ultimately know the self, capital S self. So these qualities are extremely important to know and understand. And it's equally as important to understand the qualities that are expressed through this illusory self. This cut off aspect of being. Cut off by the walls they themselves have either erected or allowed to be erected around them by believing what other people have told them.

And we've all done it throughout our lives too at one extent or another. We're born into that. It's very difficult not to ever fall into that unless you're fortunate enough to live in an isolated culture that doesn't teach nonsense like most of the Western cultural world teaches, and the eastern culture as well. Mind control is everywhere on this planet folks, it doesn't matter where you're born. There's a few isolated pockets of indigenous cultures that may be teaching a healthy worldview to people, but it's a rarer and rarer thing. That's why to come out of it is magnificent and is miraculous, and it shouldn't be understated.

We should give credit where credit is due to people who have emerged from this lower state of consciousness and raise themselves. Whether they've done it wholly on their own or they had help in doing it through mentors and other very selfless individuals - and I mean selfless in the sense that they're not concerned with just their own comfort. They've spoken up even in the face of ridicule to put information out there into the world that could help raise other people to higher levels of self-expression and consciousness. So we need to understand these lowercase s self qualities, these egoic qualities, if we're going to help people transmute them and come out of them.

So the lowercase s self, the egoic self, can't even envision true freedom. They don't know what freedom is. They have no concept of it. The only thing they're interested in is, more things, more money, more control, more for me. That's it. They think that's the way to happiness. That's the way to betterment. “If only I had more money I could do this, this, this, and this. That's their solution for everything. If you ask anybody what's your solution to any problem, and their answer is “money,” they're trapped in this level of consciousness. In lower self consciousness, because they're in a state of internal opposition. And that's all driven through fear.

Fear is ultimately what keeps somebody here. That’s the force that's behind this. Fear is the force that keeps people enslaved to this level of consciousness. Now the lowercase s self that has come into a little bit of cleverness, a little bit of left brain intellect, and they have certain information that other people in the world don't have access to, will employ the opposite art that the true self employs. They will employ the art of sorcery, which is manipulation. Sorcery is mind manipulation. Employing the technique, the science and art of influence, for self-important reasons, for self-serving reasons, and I mean lowercase s self, so they may learn how to influence people. But it's only because they want to get them to buy something. They may learn how to influence people because they want to get them to do something that they want them to do.

“Forget the higher level will. It doesn't matter what it wants. I want somebody to do this. Me, me, me, I, I, I. That's what the lowercase s self is all concerned about all the time. So they will use the art of influence and manipulation in a negative aspect, not to align anyone with the higher will, with true balance with nature, but they will only import these techniques to align other people with their own selfishness. Their own selfish, egoic, self-serving will with a lowercase w. Huge difference between that and the higher will.

The lowercase self is trapped in the left brain largely. There are cases of people in this condition that are in the right brain as well, but it's rarer. They're trapped in the prison of the left brain, and of course they accept, they work through and they continuously reinforce, whatever institutionalized belief system that they're a part of, or whichever ones can help serve their self-serving aims and goals. So institutional belief systems to them are perfectly acceptable.

They don't care whether it's a form of mind control, they don't care who it hurts, they don't care whose life it destroys. “If it puts money in my pocket, I'm all for it.” If it gives me a job, I'm all for it. If it kills lots of other people, so what? If it harms lots of other people's minds, and brains, who cares? Is it doing something good for me? Am I benefitting? Well then let it continue. Wonderful. Great. Let's have more of the same. Let’s have more of this, because that person's suffering as a result of what this institutions doing, that ain't me, so who cares?”

This is the consciousness of the person trapped in ego. And I'll tell you what, a lot of the people in the freedom movement don't have a much higher level of consciousness than that, because how many of them were working amongst institutions, and corporations, saying that they want true freedom, but yet they're still doing something that is helping the opposite dynamic of what they say they want. It's a controlling institution, and again it's not going to be a popular thing to hear. I'm not here for a popularity contest folks, in case you didn't grasp that yet. I say things people don't want to hear, because they need to hear it. That's it.

The truth is ugly sometimes for where we’re at. Most of us can only see the truth from that little corner that we’ve worked ourselves into, and from that perspective it looks horrendous. It looks horrifying. Once we come out of that little corner that we've wedged ourselves into, we'll see it wasn't so horrifying. It was actually being spoken and it's actually there for our self-betterment, higher case S self. And lowercase s self, because if we get connected with that higher case s self, the lower case s self will improve its condition, and its comfort levels, and its understanding, and it will merge and it will come into harmony with that higher level expression of consciousness that I call the higher self.

Caller #1: I put your show on I was listening to you, and like a half-hour in listening to you just hit me how spot-on you are. Just how people are locked into this lower level of consciousness, where their institutionalized belief systems, their ego attachments, all of it just dominates them. It just completely rules them. They have no understanding of the higher self. They're completely shut out of that realm and it’s sad. And they're literally like a disease on society.

They've been manipulated into such a condition, and this is our work. Our work is to help cure them. You're right what they have is a disease. I wouldn't say they are a disease. They are expressing disease, and they are infected with this. This is a dis-ease. They're not at ease. They're in an illness. They have become ill, and this is what our work is. Our work is to understand how the total dynamic all works and fits together, so that we are at a level of understanding that we can be of help and service to these individuals. And I fall prey to hating what they do more so than anybody, and if I didn't admit that I'd be lying to everyone out there.

I get enraged by it a lot of times, but we have to look past what people do to their true selves, and try to make a connection with that and reach it, and transmute their behaviors by our care for their true selves. And it's harder said than done, and I need to take my own advice when it comes to that because again I fall prey to getting as upset about what other people do as anyone else. It's a difficult thing.

Caller #1: Well there's many, many pitfalls in life absolutely. We all have our own issues, but I have another question. It seems like the establishment is really against the use of cannabis sativa, you know because it does make you think well on things and use your logic. Do you ever see a day when we get past that?

Well this is something that I'm going to talk about on this show. And I have extremely strong feelings about this, because think about how deep the hubris of other individuals is, that would make a claim upon the consciousness of another living being. Let me let me ask you this. Let's say you're having a barbecue, are you going to drink a beer tonight maybe Eric? Okay, so you're going to have a beer with your dinner, right? Now what if I said to you “Eric, I'm telling you that you may not consume that kind of beverage ever again as long as you're alive. I'm declaring that that is unfit for your consumption as an adult human being on this planet.”

Because essentially what I'm saying is, “I own your ability to judge what you wish to put inside of your body, and whatever substance you wish maybe to alter your body or your mind with. You don't have that right. I am taking control over that choice for you.” Imagine this. Imagine you going up to another person, let's say I go up to my cousin Jason, okay? So I'm going to go over to my cousin Jason's house and I'm going to say “Jason listen, I've determined that you're no longer allowed to eat any salt. I'm taking all the salt out of your home, give me all your salt shakers, and if I ever find you buying salt again I'm going to hurt you in some way. I might punch you in the face, I might smash one of the windows in your car, I might break a window in your home or I might fine you $1,000 like New York is doing.”

This isn't about controlling a substance. This is about controlling a being. And it's more than that, it's about controlling the consciousness of a being. It's saying your consciousness, where you may journey or have any level of experience in your own mind, belongs to me. It does not belong to you. You don't own your own mind and consciousness and body. This is a claim on your body. It's saying your body does not belong to you. You may not determine what you put into it. I own your body. I will determine what goes into it. Imagine this.

See it's a real hot topic, a button presser for me, to a point where I could get really enraged about it, because this is one of the highest levels of hubris that exists in the world. That someone else owns my consciousness? Really? Realy? Really? Sure you do. You own my consciousness? If I said that to you, I would expect you to be ready to defend yourself. That’s a claim over your actual body and mind, and yet there are people who will never admit that that's what it is, and who’ll never see it that way because they're so wrapped up in fear. It's all fear. “Oh you're saying out of your advocating the use of this substance and what about children?” So no I'm talking about an adult human being that knows what they're taking, and has the right to put whatever they want into their body. And I'll make this statement a thousand more times. I own my body, I own my mind.

Now I can't take my body with me beyond this physical reality, so I'm the steward of this body while I'm inhabiting it. No one else is. I own my mind while the expression of it exists in this physical vehicle, and no one will tell me what I’m going to do with any of those things. So I will drink what I want to drink whether it is healthy or harmful, I will eat what I want to eat whether it is healthy or harmful, I will smoke what I want to smoke, because what I want to do is an expression of my consciousness, not anybody else's. I will snort what I want to snort, I will inject what I want to inject.

And I'm all about total taking care of your health. I'm not advocating getting into any kind of hard drugs, I’m not saying to snort cocaine, or meth, or anything like that. I'm talking about if I want to sit and smoke any substance that grows in the Earth, I'll do it. If I want to smoke cannabis, I'll do that. If I want to smoke salvia, I'll do that. If I want to smoke dimethyltryptamine, I'll do that, because no one else owns my body and consciousness. Period. The end. End of story.

This is the issue that's never brought up when it comes to drug prohibition or legalization. It's always about other issues, but very rarely do you ever hear somebody bring up the idea of self-ownership. Who owns your consciousness? Who owns your mind? Do you own it, or does someone else own it and then is allowed to tell you what you can do with it? And I say you can write whatever you want to write on a piece of paper, you go ahead and scribble whatever you want. It'll never give you the authority to actually have the right to do what you're claiming you have the right to do the other human things because you wrote something down on a piece of paper. It will never make it right or moral.

It doesn't matter what you think about it, and you know what? It doesn't matter what anybody thinks about it. There is a moral law that governs this, and all that matters is whether someone understands it or not. That's it. That's what's creating their reality that we are experiencing. The amount of people who understand the actual moral principles that govern creation. That's it. And all the cops that go out and put people, who are nonviolent people, into a cage for taking any substance are sick people. They're sick individuals. They don't understand how sick they are, but they have brain damage in a physical sense.

We talked about how the brain becomes unbalanced through certain worldviews and by continuously doing certain behaviors, and how one of the substances that will destroy the brain faster than any other is adrenaline. Adrenaline is way more destructive to the brain tissue and synapses then many hard, hard drugs are. And this charge that controllers get going into battle or arresting people, or wrestling people to the ground and taking their homes and taking physical control over their bodies, they're getting this big adrenaline rush constantly, and it's working on their physical brain. I'm not talking about the mind. I'm talking about physical, provable, scientifically provable brain damage to the neocortex of the brain. It’s is provable with PET scans and SPECT scans, and nothing that they do, that they ever believe will ever grant them the moral authority to do what they are doing.

They're wrong, they will always be wrong for as long as they continue to do it, and there's no nicer way to say it. You don't have the moral authority to do what you're doing. Many people understand this but they're not vocal enough in completely dead set ways. Let's not back down about this. It isn't about just helping people with medical conditions. This is an issue of ownership of the mind. That's what this is an issue of, and I cringe when I see people bringing up reasons that any substances should be quote unquote “legalized” when they never touch upon that basic issue. The basic foundation of I own me, I own my mind, I own my consciousness and I'll do what I will with it.

You don't own my body, you don't own my life. Period. And that's the bottom line for me on that issue. I mean that's it. That's what has to be understood, and this has nothing to do with trying to sanitize society, or make things perfectly safe for everybody. You want to make things safe? Educate people about natural law, help them to understand why it's important they live in harmony with it and you'll have a relatively, almost completely safe society. You'll never completely sanitize - I'm not saying that you can have a 100% and total and utter utopia that nothing ever happens - and that will be pretty damn boring too, but forget controlling anything, or trying to eradicate it from existence.

Education is always the answer over control, and that's what I advocate. Get educated about substances. Know that they're not all the same. Know what the effects are. These are things that are grown on the Earth for God's sake. You're trying to make a part of nature illegal. It's madness, utter madness, and it's all born out of fear. These people are some of the most in fear people that you will ever, ever meet. And they think that they're tough, and that they're big, and important, and you know it's a child's mentality.

A controller’s mentality is the mentality of an emotional and spiritual child. A child, and it's sad that we have so many people like that at that level of consciousness. It’s a very sad thing. These are ill people. They need help. They need treatment, and they need to be cured of this. And it's tough not seeing people that think like that there. Like I said I fall prey to it a lot myself, and I'd be lying to you if I told you that it was easy to look at these people as simply ill and in need of help, because they're the people that will deny that the most. They'll say “oh no you're the one who's wrong, and who's sick and damaged.” And they don't really understand what they do.

It's like the whole words of Jesus when he says “forgive them they know not what they do.” These people really don't understand any dynamics. They've never been exposed to them, they have never thought about them for a single instant in their entire lives, and they're very ill as a result. But that's where I stand on all drugs. It doesn't matter how hard or harmful they are. Education about them is the answer, not prohibition and besides, who is anybody to claim authority on another being’s consciousness? You're no one to do that, and no matter what you write down you don't have that right.

These controllers just think, they believe they have that right. And because so many of them believe it, they're willing to all back each other up with violence. That's ultimately what this is about. It's about thugs backing each other up to violence because they've accepted a belief system that’s erroneous, that's complete nonsense. And again, call it whatever strong language you want. Say “oh that's making a generalization.” No. I'm explaining what the truth of the matter is, and that's the truth of the matter.

But until you study these dynamics and understand natural law, it may sound strange to you but, you don't own anybody else's consciousness. You own your own, and that means you have no control over anything but your own thoughts, your own emotions and your own actions in the world. And once you start stepping over that line and trying to take control of other people's actions and what they can put into their own body, and they're not harming anyone else by doing it, they're making a choice for themselves, then you are stepping over the line of natural law that you have no right to step over.

Again, it’s sad that these people think that that would be effective. It's not effective. They're not changing anything. The same rate of drug consumption is going on since the drug war started, and as a matter of fact drugs are even more strong and pure now than they were years ago. There's a higher level of power to some of these substances than there used to be, and there's the same amount of people doing them. The drug war has done nothing. It's cost billions, and billions, and billions of dollars. It's ruined millions, and millions, and millions of lives and it has accomplished zero. Zero.

Zero, and if you don't want to take my word for that, look into Law Enforcement Against Prohibition, LEAP, a group of police that want to see all drugs legalized because the war on drugs is a failure and even some of these people have recognized that. They may not understand all natural law but at least they recognize how horrific of a failure of the war on drugs has been. So that's my position on that but we'll get into that on other shows too. I know I took a big amount of time on that, but since you brought it up, why not make it clear? That's my stance on that. You don't own my consciousness.

Caller #1: Well that was an interesting breakdown. I realized some things while you were talking about drug war, namely the fact that, you know how many times has the CIA been caught flying in the cocaine and heroin on private planes? They run the drug cartels in South America and Afghanistan. Our troops are over there guarding the opium fields, and at the same time our government is allowing people to own private prisons of the same people that fly these things in, so I mean it's just a criminal organization. The prohibition of cannabis is basically because, you know cannabis - whenever I use it, and I use it every day - I always think of solutions. Like I'll think of a problem and then I'll come up with a solution.

They don't want us coming up with solutions. They want us in mind control and all the other constraints they put us in. They put us in molds. It's like they place us in mold. You have to break out of that mold and become your own person. We shouldn’t be locked into a particular mode. And also the nutritional aspect too. I know that when you start using superfoods you have increased blood flow to your brain. Gingko biloba prove it increases the blood flow to the brain. That makes you smarter. It makes you think clearer. It makes you remember better. They don't want you to remember things. They don't want you to think clearer. They don't want to come up with solutions. They just want you to shut up, go to work, and anybody who thinks out of the box they want you to attack that person. And like I said these people are a disease.

Look at all the benefits of the hemp plant in health. And hemp oil could have fueled all our automobiles, instead of having millions of gallons draining into the Gulf of Mexico. That never would have happened and we all would have been much more prosperous because we could have been more independent, there could have been all these farmers - our government pays farmers not to grow things. I mean, there's so much corruption. There's so much criminality that the whole system is diseased, and I think we're coming to a point where it's going to get destroyed and rebuilt. And you talk about 2012 and the apocalypse, and how it's the great unveiling of the truth. I think that's coming and I see it.

Sure. I think some of us are moving toward that unveiling. Some of us are facing it head-on with eyes wide open, and others sadly are choosing to close their eyes to it and go into a fetal position. It all depends on how you view what you will be able to do with that truth, no matter how dark it may seem. And people who are more connected with the higher level of self will be able to take that information and transmute it, and use it for a good purpose, a positive and empowering purpose.

So that's what we try to do here on the show, and Eric when you call in you always bring up great topics of discussion, and I thank you, and feel free to call in anytime in the future. And anybody else listening I like to take callers. So call in and I'll always put you on, and then talk about anything you want, and you know I think it helps to create an interactive dynamic on the show.

So I think I wrapped up what I really wanted to talk about regarding the dichotomy between higher level self and lower level stuff. And this really, for the most part wraps up, again the end of the first big section of material that I wanted to get through when talking about the dynamic of what's really happening in the world. These dynamics that we've covered thus far on this show really are, the bottom-line solution. These are the that the very core, core causal factors of why we're experiencing what we are experiencing in the world.

Help people to understand this information. Give them some of the podcasts, encourage them to listen to the show, check out the videos on my site, listen to other great shows on the Revolution Broadcasting Network and other networks that are speaking the truth out there in the alternative media. So it's important that we reach out to others with this information. Knowing again as I've said on this show is not good enough. It's only the first step. Take in the information yourself and understand it so well that you can speak it to others in a plain and clear way, and in a decisive way, because that's what this is ultimately about is a decision.

People are making their decisions about which force they're going to serve. Are they going to serve the force of fear, and chaos, and confusion, or are they going to serve the force of light, and love, and order, and harmony, and peace, and connection of the higher levels of consciousness, and that is the force of love.

So I think what I will begin to do on future shows is, I'd like to take more callers regarding what I have discussed up to this point, and that's always welcome for anybody to call in, and I think I will begin putting the word out to get some more guests on the show. So what I will ask some listeners to do is if you have any potential guests for this show, please email me.

My email address is Mark@whatonearthishappening.com. If you have anybody that would like to be on the show, send me some contact information and I can get in touch with them and start discussing with them about what they would like to talk about and maybe scheduling them to be on an upcoming show. In future weeks what I'm really going to be getting into is the dynamic of mind control. I think guests in future shows are what I want to focus on as I start to unfold some of the darker aspects of the problems that we are facing as a species. Again get in touch with me if you have any guests that you want to recommend for this show, and I think that about wraps it up for this week.

What On Earth Is Happening Show #012

Topics: Mind Control, Compartmentalization, Hierarchy

The topic for tonight is going to be a continuation of discussing the ongoing problem that the human species is seemingly trapped in, and a huge part of that problem is mind control. So we're going to start to divert a little bit from talking about the types of factors and conceptual ideas and philosophies that we've been discussing over the last several weeks on this show, and we're going to get into a little bit darker waters and talk about what is perpetuating and keeping the problem manifesting for as long as it has been. Which is that human beings are continuously creating a scenario, a manifestation, an experience that they do not wish to experience because it contains a large amount of suffering that is self-inflicted suffering. It is not necessary to experience, and mind control is a dominant factor in any analysis regarding what is actually taking place and what is driving these dynamics. So ultimately what we have done on this show up to this point, is talk about the bottom line causal factors regarding why human beings suffer the way they do. That's what this show is ultimately about, and the very notion of freedom is all about freedom from suffering. Freedom from unpleasant experiences. So what we have done is we have discussed causal factors and the ultimate causal factor, the bottom-line reason that human beings experience self-inflicted suffering - and this is not an overgeneralization, this is not reductionism, it's not oversimplification - there are really only two reasons as human beings experience self-inflicted suffering. It is because they accept into their belief systems that which is not true, and simultaneously they refuse to accept that which is true. Human beings are fooled and suffer in only two ways. They refuse to accept that which is true, and they accept that which is false. So you can you can compress it even more and boil it down into one overarching dynamic - the ability to tell truth from falsehood and deception. That's it. Every other problem that we experience that is unpleasant for us, that contain suffering for us, is derived ultimately from that overarching dynamic. And there will be those who don't agree with that who think that that isn't the case, and that's fine. But there are people who have studied this dynamic intently and intensely for many years. There are people who have written about this dynamic, who have in their wisdom tried to explain this to many other people so that they could avoid the pitfalls that we fall into constantly, and yet that wisdom is almost constantly rejected universally. But there are very few who do listen to it, and have really been able to apply those principles and turn their life around such that they themselves do not inflict self-imposed suffering upon themselves. Again one of the problems is we live in a quantum universe. We live in a universe that is driven by quantum dynamics, which means amount. So a very few people doing something can in creating influence, but until there is a critical mass or a significant number of people that are changing their attitudes, that are changing their thought processes, that are changing their behaviors, it is very difficult when there is an immensity of people that are seemingly not changing and are continuing down this road of suffering. Because ultimately we are all bound together. Ultimately we are all connected. There is no separation at the level of consciousness. As those with one goes with the whole, and vice-versa. Many people think “if it doesn't affect me then I don't need to worry about it. It's something that I can ignore.” And this isn't how it really works. Being that we are all connected fundamentally in consciousness, we all universal energy experiencing itself, as one suffers, all suffer. So it's difficult to get to that critical mass point where enough people are willing to get out of old patterns of thinking and old patterns of behavior in the world, and change such that the overarching dynamic of what is creating the shared reality of the whole changes. That's what we're trying to work toward by assisting people in changing their worldview. Changing their fundamental way of thinking about how they operate in the world, how they interact with other people, how they treat other people, how they treat themselves, how they view themselves in relation to others. Because ultimately again if you understand what really is, you understand there is no separation and as happens to one being is ultimately happening to you as well. It is only through our filters that we see self and other as separate things. Ultimately they are the same in consciousness. That being said, one of the fundamental principles that needs to be acknowledged, that is operating in the world, is mind control. This is what keeps this new paradigm, this fundamental shift in the way people think from emerging. It is like a force that is constantly holding something down and constantly has to be applied. It's an applied force, and if that force were let off from the application point, namely the mind, we would see things dramatically shift very quickly. The problem is the forms of media that are out there in the world that most people are taking into themselves and making a part of them by what they are paying attention to, are poisonous streams of information, that are either based in pure ignorance, or outright deception. Knowingly. I know that may be you know a difficult thing for a lot of people hear, but it needs to be said and it needs to be understood, and mind control needs to be understood. The methodologies of mind control, how it is used, how it goes to work on the subconscious, how it goes to work through patterns, through repetitions, through symbols. We'll be discussing all of this. We’ll be discussing multifaceted techniques of mind control. It's a war on consciousness ultimately, that's what mind control is. And I've sat up on this show, and I'll say many more times, ultimately what mind control is, at its fundamental level, is an attempt to exterminate the human imagination. An attempt to exterminate the ability for people to challenge the status quo because they cannot even envision or conceptualize anything being different than how it currently is. And if you destroy the imaginative capability of human beings, you have them exactly where you want them for as long as you want them there. That's ultimately what mind control is about. Caller #1: Somebody posted the show on Facebook so I just I called into the line to get a listen this is great stuff man. I'm Garrett doing the We Are Change Maryland thing. Right now we're just playing for the porcupine festival up in New Hampshire next week, and we're just doing what we can around here and Maryland hitting all the different college campuses trying to spread truth and just open up the awareness to so many of the poor college kids that are being literally institutionalized. I can definitely relate to that and I agree with that. It's a good place to reach out to on campuses for sure because we do need to reach young people for certain. If there is any hope it is in in the youth and to change their attitudes and behaviors is of fundamental importance, so that's great that you guys are doing that. Caller #1: It's so refreshing to see stuff like this getting mentioned on Facebook. There is definitely a major shift in the mindset of people nowadays going on and it's just thrilling to see. You know some people are sitting there waiting around to see what Obama's going to say about the oil thing right now. I think he's talking about it as we speak, but it's good to see so many great radio shows popping up and people really getting the word out. I agree. If we're going to take back control over our own minds and our own destinies, one of the places that will be on the frontlines of that war is going to be the alternative media, and the Internet is going to play a gigantic role in that and that's why we need to protect freedom of speech above all else, and we protect an open Internet for certain. Caller #2: I just saw this posted on Facebook and I jumped on. This is good. This is Marcus, how are you? I'm always looking into all kinds of different things. One thing that you might be able to comment on better than other people, I was just going through a presentation of Fritz Springmeier talking about trauma-based mind control. This is information I had never really listened anyone talk about and it's unbelievable stuff. He was saying how every Nazi intelligence agent was a British double agent and just go on from there, and it lot of history. It’s amazing. Well this is going to be a topic that it will definitely be addressed in my conference on consciousness mind control and the occult called Free Your Mind. It's coming up in 2011 in April and I know a bit about trauma-based mind control. Fritz Springmeier is a great resource on that. I would also encourage people to look into Bryce Taylor, her work, and Kathy O'Brien's work, and look into Project Monarch, look into MK Ultra - Monarch was an offshoot of MK Ultra. I will more likely than not be speaking to some people from the monarch project speaking at the conference next April. What trauma-based mind control is for listeners who may not be familiar with this technique, it is a physical mind control technique that happens through torture, or some other kind of extreme violent action taken on the subject, that basically like an event like an extreme car crash is blocked from the memory of a person so that they don't relive it. If it's so painful that they don't want to remove the memory, oftentimes there will be sort of an amnesic barrier thrown up such that the person cannot recall the events that led up just prior to the crash or just after it. This can also be true with rape scenarios, it can be true with brutal beatings or torture scenarios. And what trauma-based mind control is used to do is to create what are called “alters,” or compartmentalize regions of the mind that are essentially walled off from the rest of the personality. In other words in an extreme torture environment that the person cannot physically extricate themselves from - they cannot physically get away from the actual pain in the environment that the torture is being done in - if this goes on long enough, eventually the personality fractures. The psyche actually splits into two parts, or more parts, and one of them will be physically experiencing the torture ongoing in the physical dimension, but the other part which is what the consciousness will sort of move into as a hiding place so to speak, or as a defense mechanism, that part will be an alternative personality that will not be present and experiencing physically the torture as it is taking place in the present moment. So it's a defense mechanism of the psyche to fracture the personality. This has been referred to in the past as MPD, or multiple personality disorder. Psychologists and psychiatrists no longer call it that. They now refer to this as DID, which is dissociative identity disorder, meaning that the standard identity of the person which is the main personality dissociates. It creates a dissociation from itself which is played out as an alternative personality. So it tends to turn multiple personalities, or multiples. This dissociation again is a defense mechanism such that the person can actually in consciousness move out of the scenario where they're actively being tortured. What this does is compartmentalizes the brain structure, and there are methods that that scientists and psychiatrists have come up with to program those alters, those altered personalities. There are triggers that they can give them. And there are phrases and words to shift the person automatically into one of those personalities and that personality acts like a blank slate because it is essentially walled off from the emotions, from the experiences, and from the personality of the individual. It is like a separate person there that can just absorb information like a new being. You know we are constantly downloading and absorbing information in the first six years of life or more, and when you create one of these new personalities it acts like a sponge. It can absorb everything, there's a high availability of memory recall, and there are functions that are available like learning languages that the person did not previously know, picking them up very quick which is normally very difficult because there is nothing to unlearn or no information that needs to be wiped clean to make room for new information. It's basically again a clean slate and like an information sponge that can absorb everything in this new compartmentalized structure that has been created through torture. So this is an advanced and a scientific mind control technique. I was not planning on getting into that this evening in any depth, but I will have people that will talk about this at the conference in April, and will relate their experiences. I may have a couple of people who were actively tortured in the monarch project that may be willing to come forward and relate their experiences. Again I kind of know alluded to other speakers that we have planned, and the goal is to try to work with some of these individuals to help get them over their fear to get them to come forward and to relate their story. Because it's extremely important. People need to know that this stuff is actively going on. It's going on right now as we speak, as a matter of fact. So that that's trauma-based mind control, but the methodologies I was going to be discussing a little bit later this evening was what is generally referred to as soft forms of mind control, or mass mind control techniques. I think these may not be as interesting or as extravagant as trauma-based mind control, but I think they're equally if not more important to understand because of how they work upon the general population. So that's basically we're trauma-based mind control is. Caller #2: One film that I'd like everyone to see if they could, maybe you have, is called The Soviet Story. I just recently saw it and it's basically about some information about the history of the Soviet Union and the crimes that took place, and there's certainly a lot of mass mind-control took place in that regime. But it’s an amazing film that sort of talks about certain things that Americans don't get didn't get to learn about in public school, and general knowledge about their agreements with the Nazis, and a lot of the crimes that that have gone unpunished from their regime, and also some of the ideological similarities and differences between Marxism and Fabian Socialism. It compares and contrasts Nazism, and Marxism and Fabian Socialism a little bit. That sounds really interesting. I do not have this documentary. I have thousands of documentaries in my collection but this is one I have not seen yet and I will definitely look it up and watch it and I thank you for the recommendation. It sounds great and like you said, those two ideologies, Nazism and socialism are essentially two sides of the same coin. They're all about total control and a complete and utter authority over people being used as resources and subjects. It's all about 100 percent total control and thinking that you're God and have the ability to completely control other people's lives in one form or another. Just the methodologies basically differ by certain orders of magnitude, but the end result is the same, and people need to understand that as essentially, simply flip sides of the same coin of control. So when you mentioned the Nazis and their role in mind control techniques as well as the Soviets, with trauma-based mind control in particular coming out of Monarch and coming out of MKULTRA before it as kind of like a predecessor to the monarch project, we have to understand who really developed the MKULTRA project in the first place. And going back M K stands for mind control in German. Because this was done through, it was an offshoot of Project Paperclip in which many, many Nazi scientists from the Third Reich were secretly funneled over to the United MKULTRA, Monarch, etc. So I just wanted to mention that that that is completely related with Paper Clip and the Nazi scientists who were channeled over to the United States after World War II. Caller #2: Anything they can do to dehumanize people it seems to be basically their game plan. I want to thank you for calling in and thank you for bringing up that point, and also really thanks for the suggestion on that documentary The Soviet Story I will definitely download it myself and check it out. I see we have a third caller. I like taking calls. We'll keep doing this as long as people are calling in and then we'll go back to discussing the concept of mind control. Caller #3: Hello this is Bob from Cincinnati. I go under the moniker online as Serene Being on some different websites. Firstly, let me say Mark it is an honor to speak to you. I have followed your work for about a year and a half now. This is a pleasure for me. I believe you are speaking about things that are intrinsic to the survival and also the moving forward, of not only Americans but as people. Issues of consciousness, issues of occult black sorcery which controls the dynamics of the lives we live of what we call reality today, and also of revealing the suppressed Tesla technologies and making that apparent to a wider audience. On behalf of all of us thank you for what you're doing firstly. The topic seems to be right now mind control, which is an excellent topic. I believe people are just waking up to these topics. The name Fritz Springmier was mentioned, an excellent author and resource to gain more information on mind control. And you spoke of the creating of altars and the immense intense trauma-based mind control that the Illuminati / New World Order / Black Ops creatures use to create their puppets, or marionettes. There's another Project Marionette, which was another Nazi mind-control program that should be checked out. But a wonderful topic. Now on a offshoot of that topic, Fritz Springmier was an associate, or a collaborator, or met a man named John Todd. Todd was a speaker amongst the Christian Church circuit back in the late 70s before he disappeared under mysterious circumstances, but he spoke of what's going on now. The Illuminati would crash their own businesses and their own economies to ferment and bring in this New World Order and I think we're witnessing that now. A complete collapsing. A triggering. Almost like the 9/11 buildings, a planned demolition, a planned, destruction of their businesses is occurring around us. Somebody brought something interesting to note, that with the collapse of BP which we're witnessing right now - because that's what's going to happen to that company. Now I'm not shedding any tears believe you me, but what is going on it happened to GM earlier and 08 going into 09, which was basically as the company collapsed the first people that will be affected by the collapse of the company are the aged retirees who depend on the pension system. And that's exactly what's going to happen. They're going to squeeze BP dry and that's only going to precipitate an acceleration of the collapse of the British economy through the pension people who are completely dependent on BP as a source of income. But that's a side issue I just wanted to put that out. I totally agree with what you just said. They are going to try to do this in a very scripted and a very controlled way, and this BP thing may definitely play into that that plan, to take down the world in a controlled way such that people cry out for the solution and they then present themselves as the savior. The classical Hegelian Dialectic or Chaos Magic scenario. Caller #3: Absolutely, and Mark to move back to chaos - and I know I'm all over the board because this is my first call to you and like I said I'm very excited to finally speak to you. I believe your work is seminal to where we are now as people consciously waking up to the dis-reality we live in, and the ability for us to move forward. I mean you're talking about consciousness, Tesla technology, these are the two pillars of which we're going to latch onto to move forward and I'm so proud of you. And whatever happens from this moment, you are an excellent person - and I'm not going to sit here praise you all night even though you know. It’s not falling on deaf ears -

but thank you again. Thank you for your work Mark. But to move on to a different subtopic, I want to move back to your presentations which are is on the What On Earth Is Happening website. These were excellent presentations opening my eyes personally to the black sorcery of which we find ourselves under. The black sorcerers who were housed within the Intel communities, which are the black adepts of the 21st century. Black sorcerers who used magic, and ritual, and symbols, and meaning, to create 9/11 and to work it into a ritual of the first order. And if one has not seen Mark's work I would direct them to the second part of your work Mark of the four-part presentation that you had. It was called Occult Influence, Mind Control and Astrotheology. It’s Part 2. Caller #3: Absolutely. Excellent work to bring one up to speed, to understand how occultic black sorcery is a part of our reality, and most people have a difficulty in accepting that. “Oh well that's all hugga-baloo. Magic, that's all just that's all in Disney movies.” Well Walt Disney was an adept of the high Masonic Order. Walt Disney, and through his Disney World and Disneyland, is used even to this day as part of the trauma-based mind control creating altars and reinforcing these controlled creatures. God bless them, I pray for their souls. But Walt Disney, his movies are used for vehicles of mind control. The most famous, Fantasia, is 72 minutes of the most ridiculous, meaningless - I mean artfully done don't get me wrong - but every one in the audience came away saying “what was that all about?” Well to this day it is known that it is used for children as they used them in these creating of altars, through horrific trauma-based mind control. But I didn't want Walt Disney to get off the hook. He is part of the problem in his whole operation, as if everybody cannot see in the logo of Walt Disney the six comprised as the first part of the D, the I dotted the six above it, and the Y curly cuing into a six, forming the Trinity 666 of which I won't even touch. Most people are understanding of that. But Mark keep up the great work, I will listen to your work and I look forward to calling again. Thank you so much for taking my call. Bob thanks for calling in you have a good night. All right so that Bob in Ohio. I thank you for your kind words Bob and I do appreciate the fact that you are find it valuable what I'm doing, and again I would just state I'm just a messenger. The message is what is important. Actually understanding this information and getting it out there to people, and you know basically living it, that's the important thing. Who it comes from isn't nearly as important as the quality of the message itself so that's what I aspire to do, is to put a message of truth out there that can help people to understand what's going on and change it for the better, and that's what I will continue to do. Just put it out there and if people take it and they run with it, and they change things for the better, wonderful. If they can't deal with hearing something that's seemingly in total conflict with their current view of reality and they do not want to accept it into their worldview, then no one can make them do that. That's what free will is all about, but I would suggest that we may be in for a very bumpy ride if we cannot collectively bring this message to many, many, many more people. So the topic for tonight. We've gotten into probably the aspect that I would have talked about last when it comes to mind control techniques, which was trauma-based mind control. And on that topic, I would really like to have a guest on, on that specific topic. If anybody knows of anybody that would be interested in being on this show, who is either an expert on or has had direct experience with trauma-based mind control, I would love to do an interview with someone like that. Before we go into the techniques of Mind Control, let's review the topic of magic versus sorcery that we talked about in previous shows. So magic and sorcery both we defined in previous weeks as, the science and art of influencing change to occur in accordance with the will. So magic is the science and art of influencing change to occur in accordance with the Will. So it's an influence. Influencing change. The will in this instance when we are referring to magic is a capital W will, meaning the will of creation. Meaning higher will. It is the will of the universe to progress and move forward in consciousness in the evolution of consciousness. it is not an individual's will, lowercase W. That is the definition of sorcery, when someone is using a science or art, a set of techniques, for influencing change to occur in accordance with their own will. A lowercase W will. It's critical to understand the definition between those things because essentially they're the same, except for the connotation of the word will, whether it is a higher will or a lower will. So while that initially may sound like a Hollywood depiction, like “oh you're talking about magic, you're talking about sorcery, magicians, sorcerers, as we've seen in a movie.” For example like Lord of the Rings, where you have a white magician and a dark magician. You have one magician who is trying to serve the force of good, one magician who is trying to serve the force of evil, in that movie Sauron the evil eye. So a sorcerer is serving his own egoic desires. That's what a sorcerer is doing. He doesn't care about the well-being of others. He doesn't care about evolution of consciousness. He is trapped in the dynamic of fear. He is trapped in the dynamic of confusion internally regarding his own emotions and evolutionary development in consciousness, and he is trapped in the desire most of all to control others. So to those ends, the sorcerer uses his set of techniques for influence to create the scenarios that he wants to serve his will, even if it means that other people suffer at the expense of anyone else. Because to the sorcerer the suffering of others doesn't matter, because the worldview that a sorcerer holds is one of complete separateness and not a unified worldview of oneness of all consciousness. So that's a critical distinction to make we'll talk about the science of influencing others. What people who are coming online to this kind of material and understanding how these sciences have been used - and that's what they are. They're Sciences. They are sets of known techniques based in knowledge. That's really what magic and sorcery are - what the positive magicians, or the alchemists of the world are attempting to give is to raise consciousness by making people aware of these techniques, and making people aware of sorcery that is taking place around them in their world. And that form of sorcery, the main form of sorcery, the main tool, the main science and art that sorcerers in this world use is mind control. And again as I've said, mind control is a war on nothing less than human consciousness. So the sorcerers of this world, those who are manipulating other people to get what they want - and I don't mean that on a small scale. I'm talking about a global scale - the sorcerers of this world are small in number in comparison to the general populace. Infinitesimally small as a matter of fact. The very few are controlling the mass numbers of people in the world. And people will often say “well that's probably not possible, you would need a whole lot of people to control a whole lot of other people” and that's simply not the case. Because people aren't being controlled so much in a physical sense as they are in a mental sense. Again mind control is the tool that the sorcerer use, and as we will talk about it has an incredible amount of techniques. There is not just one technique for mind control. There are many techniques for mind control. So this small cabal who is really controlling things are doing so through the art of manipulation. It's a subtle form of mind control. It works upon the masses of people, because if you're controlling the information that people get to see, and hear, and read, and you're controlling the knowledge that is propagated through the vast portion of society - you don't even need to control it all. You need to control it at major points of distribution and interest, like the mainstream, newspapers, what goes out over television networks. Most people unfortunately, not all but most people, are still taking believe it or not the bulk of their information through outlets such as that. Television, newspapers. These are owned largely by the same sorcerers and corporate interests that they control. They are the owners of a lot of these institutions, like the mainstream media. They work by artificially lowering the vibration of consciousness that people are operating at. They need to lower people's vibratory energy, the energy at which they radiate. The energy at which they operate on needs to be at a low vibration, because this is the vibration of fear. This is the manifestation of fear energy. Fear is a low waveform vibration. A slow and long wavelength if you will. It is heavy. It is deep. They need to put people into states of fear so that they will buy into their manipulating efforts. Without fear of being present in people - physical fear, fear of survival ,fear over the future, monetary fears, fears over food, you name it. Everything. Lack based worldview, “there isn't enough. I need more. I need to do this. I need to have this. I'm not good enough. What will this person do? What will this person say?” All fear-based mentalities, fear-based ideologies - this is the main form of mind control. Ultimately all mind control is based upon this principle. The overarching principle that in order for a sorcerer to control, and by a sorcerer again I mean someone who is skilled in the science and techniques of influencing other people to get what they want. To get them to behave in certain ways such that they prosper at other peoples expense. The sorcerer, or the manipulator prospers at the expense of the people that he or she is manipulating. So that's the main thing to keep in mind. This this small group of controller sorcerers, sorcerer is trapped in their own consciousness in the dynamic of fear, they're also in this dynamic. They're also in that energy. Their goal ultimately is to make everyone as miserable and cut off from true self as they are, and they can only do that by manipulating the consciousness of the masses of people into the vibratory energy of fear. That's the only way they could possibly get us to cut our own selves off from our true potential and our true understand of who and what we are, and to get us to serve their agenda, unknowingly in the vast majority of cases. So in any mind-control propagation, in any methodology of mind control that is going to be used, you're always going to be using people who also do not understand what your ultimate agenda is. So it will be like the blind leading the blind. It will be mind-controlled people helping to mind-control other people. Just think about it. You need people who are in ignorance to propagate something that ultimately can only create more suffering in the world, even for them. To get them unknowingly to cooperate with an agenda. This is done - and I'll use a word that I used previously when I started talking about trauma-based mind control, and it's very appropriate but this is how the system would work - they do this through something called compartmentalization. In addition to compartmentalization, which is walling off different areas of interests and different areas of influence from each other, such that the left hand does not know what the right hand is doing. That's compartmentalization. You hear about this in military operations. You hear about this in defense projects that are being worked on and being developed. They are compartmentalized. They may have one person working on the flight dynamics of a new aircraft while another person works on the propulsion system, but they never know what the ultimate design is going to be, look like, or how it's going to manifest until the entire operation comes together as a whole. And that of course is controlled from higher levels of awareness. People who have knowledge of what the entire project is about. The people who are actually doing the work on the ground to create that project, they have no idea of what they're creating because the compartmentalized. They're walled off from each other. You could say there's a gulf between them, to play upon on what's happening right now in the Gulf. Compartmentalization is a critical part of mind control and it's a critical part of the structures that are taking place that are operating all around us in the modern world. So the second part of this structure - you could call this the manipulation structure, the structure for mind control - it works basically the same way no matter where a compartmentalized project or project that deals with the dynamic of controlling the mind of the individuals working in it. This structure always basically operates the same way. It works through compartmentalization first and foremost, and it works through hierarchy. Hierarchy means that there are levels of the structure. As well as it being separated into different compartments that operate independently of each other, it is hierarchically structured. So mind control institutions are always going to be structured in two ways, hierarchically and compartmentalized. Those are the two basic features that if something is set up like that, it is an institutionalized belief system and ultimately it is trying to prevent people from thinking outside of those institutional lines of belief. There are ranks and structure within hierarchy. So a private is way at the bottom in the army, and then above him there are many ranks leading up to five-star general.

So hierarchy has to do with how much knowledge is contained at a particular level of the institutionalized structure. So as you go higher into the hierarchy of this structure, you reach higher levels of knowledge of the entire system. As you are lower in the chain of command, you are lower in the chain of knowledge. A general knows the battle-plan of the entire operations theater. A private does not. He just follows these orders. A director of education understands the entire structure of the educational model that is being presented in schools, while the teacher simply teaches the curriculum that he or she is asked to teach to do that job. The low-level employee in any given business or corporation has no idea about the executive decisions being made by the CEO and the board of directors. Knowledge is hierarchically structured in any institutionalized belief system, and it's done so for a reason. Because if you disseminated knowledge freely and widely and made it more similar to a round table as opposed to a pyramidal hierarchical structure that is compartmentalized, you will not be able to direct all of the energy of all of those people nearly as effectively as if you had centralized decision-making and centralized control over the people that comprise that structure or institution. So this works the same in any institution. It doesn't matter whether it's military, business, education, politics, religion, you name the institution and it is set up and it is structured according to these two basic principles. Compartmentalization, walling off individuals from each other in the project, and hierarchy, meaning the higher you go the fewer the people are involved, and the higher the knowledge that is contained by those few individuals so they can pull strings from the top up. The CEO makes a decision at the command level, at the executive level, that decision is passed down and propagates down all the way down to the most insignificant of workers in the corporation. It's a top-down hierarchical structure. In what is actually taking place on this planet right now, the top level of this pyramid I would describe as sorcerers, or black magicians. These are individuals who have perfected the science and art of influence to create change in accordance with their own will, and could care less about the will of any other people and certainly could care less about the will of creation. They want to profit, they want to prosper and they don't care who suffers. They are pulling the strings from the top up, sending their decision-making, and their orders, and their commands down to lower levels beneath them, that often contain people that are well-intentioned and do not understand the agenda at the higher levels of the structure that I've described. They just want a paycheck, the people down at the bottom levels. They just want to go along to get along because “hey, I don't want to rock the boat. I don't want to start up trouble. I just want to keep my head down, make my living, have my house, have my car, have my food and it doesn't make a difference what I’m a part of. Why should I rock the boat? I have it good enough.” Well-intentioned people who have absolutely no idea because of the compartmentalize and hierarchical nature of the structure their involved in, of what they are being used for. And that's what these sorcerers, that's what these manipulators do. They use people, and when they can no longer use people for the agenda they want to use them for, they throw them away like a toy that they're done playing with, or a bone that they just picked clean, because they don't care about other people. They only care about themselves, and they're not interested whether they just used up a person and basically toss them aside when they were done with them. It doesn't matter to them in the slightest bit. The other thing that mind-control works through, and the other thing this hierarchical structure that I'm talking about essentially propagates its control through, is the occult. Now there's a word that conjures all sorts of negative connotations with people, and there are reasons for that. I'm not saying that those reasons are altogether not well placed, however this is a word manipulation game that is actually played by the very sorcerers who are controlling things and who are manipulating people and events in this world. The word occult, connotatively in most people's minds - if you play a word association game with people on the street and you simply ask them “what is the first word that comes to your mind when I say the word occult?” If you ask most people, your average person on the street “what does the word occult mean to you?” Or “what word do you associate with the word occult?” Almost invariable - now a few people will associate it with something different or random, or may not even know what it means at all. But I guarantee you if you do this little word association game with most people, the word that they will most often associate with the word occult is the word “evil.” And again there's a reason for that. When you look at the origin of words - and I've already brought this up in past shows, but we will definitely be discussing the origins of many words and how in words there is great meaning that we don't traditionally ascribe to that word, that we don't understand because we don't know where the word came from. Where it was derived from. It’s etymology as it's called. The word occult is derived from the Latin language and it comes from a Latin verb “occultare.” Now if you take any Latin dictionary and you open it up to the O section and look up the verb occultare, occultare means “to hide or to conceal from sight. To hide from view.” So what the form of that verb occult simply means “hidden.” That's all it means. The word occult means “hidden from sight.” Look at the word. Occult has in it the root of ocular, which means related to the eye. Oculus in Latin means “eye,” so occult is a form of the word that means “eye.” The thing we see with. The organ we use to see. Occult is derived from oculus and it means “hidden from sight.” That’s all the word means, and that's critical, critical to understand as we go forward into understanding mind control and occultism. Sciences and art forms that are used to influence that are largely comprised of hidden knowledge. Now there's two main reasons people would wish to hide knowledge. The first has a positive intention behind it, but what I will say is that ultimately you still get a negative result. No matter how positive this intention is, it's misguided. It's misplaced. People who will hide knowledge for this reason do not understand deeply an important principle of natural law. And the first reason that people will hide knowledge is they believe that that knowledge in the wrong hands may be used completely irresponsibly or dangerously. I'll say that again.

The first major reason that people will hide knowledge from others is because they believe that if they have certain knowledge, that they would use it in an irresponsible or dangerous manner. Now that's a seemingly well placed intention for hiding knowledge, however it always ends up backfiring. It always ends up in some form in a disastrous outcome, and for occultists that may be listening to my words and may be listening to my work over previous weeks and in my presentations, take heart of what I'm saying. When you hide knowledge and you think of it as your own, you think of knowledge as belonging to you, and you may do what you wish with it no matter how dangerous it may seem if it were to get into the quote-unquote “wrong hands,” you are going against a natural law principle that will ultimately only lead to further suffering and further degradation of consciousness. Get as upset about it as you want, because there are many people in certain occult orders and in acting in occult capacities, that will get extremely upset by what I just said. And this is the reason I am no longer and never will be again in at any time in my lifetime affiliated with any formalized occult orders. I will not take an oath to an occult institution. I do not agree with hiding knowledge from anyone, and there are certain occult orders - even if they are positive in their intent – there are certain occult orders that will say “this knowledge is ours to protect.” That's the thinking. They say “we're the ones who will meet this knowledge out to people that come asking for it. We're the keepers of it.” Really? Well I would suggest that's why the world is the way it is today. You're getting exactly what you created for doing this. This is the big failure in all of the ancient mystery school traditions. What they descended into was ego when they started believing erroneously that they, meaning this group of occultists, of people who have hidden knowledge in their possession, are the owners of said knowledge. They went into deep ego seeing themselves as the owner of information. Really? You're the owner of information? And there are sacred people, and there are profane people that we could never let have this information because of what they would do with it. This is in and of itself a compartmentalizing and a hierarchy. You're walling people off from each other, but most importantly you're walling them off from truth. From knowledge of that which is, and you're creating levels, or hierarchy, or structure within an institution that has now come into being. “We’re the ones who hold on to this knowledge and we give it out as we see fit to those we deem worthy.” Even for such a positive intent as, “God help us if this were to fall into the wrong hands,” sorry to break the news to you, but it doesn't work that way in natural law. Because once you get into the thinking that you own the knowledge that other people may get to see and hear, you're acting as the sorcerer. It doesn't make a difference what your intent was, you're acting as the sorcerer. The only way to truly ensure that knowledge that had a potentially dangerous application would not fall into “the wrong hands quote-unquote” people who would use it in an irresponsible way, and I'm going to say something that when people originally hear this they may think “how could that be?” I'll start this again. The only way that you can ensure, truly, that knowledge that may be - if used in the wrong way dangerous, and could be using irresponsible ways - the only way you could ensure that knowledge from not falling into the wrong hands, is if you propagate it as widely and as freely as possible. Because the structure of any institution that is going to use knowledge irresponsibly and dangerously, is set up like the control of a sorcerer, or the institutions that sorcerers work through, and that structure is always compartmentalized and hierarchical, which means the knowledge in it is not shared widely or freely. It is compartmentalized and it is it is controlled through hierarchy. The way that you ensure that knowledge will not be abused, ab-used, used improperly, is through what I call the BitTorrent Effect. The BitTorrent Effect, for people who know the program on the Internet on computers, it is a decentralized way of distributing information. It's not based on the old model of, you have a central server that everybody connects to to get a file. Well what happens when the file is hot file, and you have this this method of “I'll put the file on this one server and then I'll open up the doors for anybody that wants to come to get the file.” If the file is not real popular not that many people want it, then okay you'll be able to do that fairly effectively. But what if the file is extraordinarily popular and millions of people want it? Do you know what's going to happen? Your server is going to get hosed. It's going to get as they say slash dotted okay your server isn't going to be able to deal with that kind of bandwidth of millions of people hitting it all simultaneously so have worked around this problem and they come up with something known as BitTorrent or somebody makes an announcement I have this data want it sure one person comes in when they get a little bit of it then they can give it to others so everybody becomes both a receiver of that information and a transmitter of that information and that is how you assure that that one piece of knowledge or data does not fall into the wrong hands or does not become prevented from being propagated and understood by everyone the big Tour effect well this is what we need to be to combat what's going on in the world and the combat specifically mind control we need to take as much information in to us from a wide variety of sources and then re disseminate that information widely and freely open sharing this is a round table model this is a bit torte effect model not compartmentalize and hierarchical as I've said on the show the information I talk about on the show does not belong to me it isn't mine to hide from anyone it isn't mine to wall off from other people the universe is spoken into existence share our knowledge as widely and freely as possible that's how you ensure that it doesn't become used as a form of control you don't have secret society networks and intelligence communities gathering all the important knowledge of the world and keeping it back from other people which is what we have now this is the this is the degradation of original mystery school traditions that felt they had the right side knowledge from people so the sorcerers of this world operate through occult principles getting knowledge that's the main factor to keep in mind and it is structured hierarchically and compartmentalize like a step pyramid with the highest concentration of knowledge at the top and then those who are not familiar with the actual agenda of those at the top forming the base of the structure the more you have the farther down you go on the on the pyramidal structure and the less knowledge is contained at that level I want to read a quote by a researcher named Judith Moriarty she described this hierarchical structure an occult pyramid if you will with the very very knowledgeable at the top and the ignorant masses forming the base in base consciousness at the bottom she said that the greatest conspiracies of our world are not actually hidden they are not actually hidden or occulted they are just fragmented into different pieces like a puzzle like a jigsaw puzzle right before our eyes in plain sight think about that you what prevents us from realizing the structure and understanding the hidden knowledge it works through is mind control which the question isn't how many people are under mind control the real question we need to be asking is how many people are not under mind control because there are way way way more people in this world who are operating under mind control then whose minds are actually free and clear of externally imposed influences and erroneous belief systems that they are completely attached to so with that being said I'm going to take a break from a topic and I see we have a caller on the switchboard Dee Skylar you are on what on earth is happening dee Skylar are you there hi mark hi John shake my life my name is Devin I won't listening for five weeks now from my friend Kevin as well great um you made a comment about teachers earlier and it just it caught my ear I was like what and then I was really really deep into your your discussion um you're right I mean I believe that there's a great amount of people under mind control and that I mean what what is the opposite of a cult if it's the people who who are not you know the opposite of occult is not hidden the opposite of occult is done in the light of day for all to see not trying to hide anything occult simply means hidden from view a compass of both both kinds positive and negative there is such a thing as positive occultism in the in its intent see how it actually works out in the real world though is because Oh cultists in this elitist sense believe that they have the right to hide knowledge from anyone they deem since they currently hold it and other people do not hold it is they are still basically creating a chaotic scenario because this is not in keeping with natural law principles you don't own the knowledge of the universe no one does I don't own its knowledge now there's nothing for sale on my website has anyone noticed that I'm not even trying to hold it back from anybody I put my videos up on on online now i will sell some some dvds to come to cover the cost of making them if people want them on DVD people should did I think they're great for you let them tell ya the whole point of this is the world is not ultimately going to change for the better you know that vast wider sense now listen to exactly what I'm saying here the world in a wider sense is not going to vastly change for the better okay until until the occult is no longer the occult meaning we're not going to see lasting positive change until hidden knowledge that has been kept back from people for thousands of years is no longer hidden and it comes forward to the light of day so powerfully such that it becomes common sense it can be commonly sensed by an average to D police that don't happen in our lifetime I have a very realistic way of looking at this we're a long way off from that statement and it happened yes are we even close to that I'd be lying if I said yes not to discourage anybody not to discourage anyone because when you begin to understand the amount of information that we're talking about and how many different interconnected areas of life that it relates to when I look at my information collection let's call it my library if you will I often can't believe how much data I've taken in over the past 17 years of my life it's almost a guerring for me to conceive of and I'm not saying that to try to you know be all on my mr. bigshot in a lot better than anybody else that's not not at all in the sense I'm relating that if you look at what I have taken into myself through an enormous effort an enormous amount of time and thank that I'm I'm gifted with very high ability to recall data I have very good information retrieval I wouldn't say that what I have is a photographic memory it is more like an extremely large hard drive with good with good I spin speed okay really good capability to retrieve data quickly so I can recall and remember things that I read even many many years ago or watched many years ago and and there's a big capacity there and that's just an innate capability not everybody is the same when it comes to that but when you start to understand how much inter related data we're talking about it can become daunting and people often say I don't know where to start I don't even know where to begin so what I've done if it did just as an aside in talking about knowledge in general um I took a friend of mine months back or almost a year ago now he can said to me I see what you've amassed as far as data goes digitally um not just in physical books but eventually having downloaded a massive amount of material from the Internet and uh I back everything up you know I have bags and bags of disks and I back things up off off of the computer so that you know they're not at me now and the capability being wiped out by a hard drive failure or whatnot so yeah my friend my son asked me if I would put some of the best data that I have amassed on a hard drive for him so he went to the store and he bought a one terabyte hard drive a fat nigga bikes yeah the bank and I just said sure I'll do it for you but you're going to have to lend me your hard drive for a while because it will take a while to fill that up and I went through all of my material that I downloaded over the past 17 years and it took three months because I put in one disk at a time and I literally went through every disk go ahead and I said is this something really good from the checkout was just so so is a quality materials a quality information and I put it I would load that on the drive every every day a little at a time over three months whenever I had spare time until I went through my data collection my digital collection at least and I filled to the capacity a one terabyte hard drive with books with audio books with lectures with podcasts with videos you name it if it's of importance to go to the events that have taken place on earth it's on this drive and I make that available completely for free to anybody that wants it you get in touch with me you send me a drive I'll get it out there I'll fill it up and get it back to you no I like your radio show right that's like your radius you got it right there you frame what you invited doesn't belong to me yeah well it's all arson that's that's the importance of understanding what we occult is it's hidden knowledge it has been hidden from the human race for thousands of years and ultimately what it is is knowledge of self that's the bottom line about all this it is knowledge about how we work and operate and it is knowledge about how our consciousness expresses itself in this construct that we call physical reality to have experience here and sadly that's what ocultist throughout time have attempted to hide from other people whether they're positive intention for to say there are some dangers in how this works so I have to be the steward or the caretaker of it to make sure it doesn't fall into the wrong hands or for extremely negative and malicious intentions to control other people externally what if ever leadership and there's a yes sorry teachers I just finished college after six and a half years and I became a teacher and I was caught by your teacher comment I'll try to say this real quick because I feel like that there's a new era of teachers coming out that are bringing multiple resources for the classroom that are going beyond that curriculum that the upper you know the magicians are bringing to us it's it's in Philadelphia and I want to kind of like um that's that's a lot of schools but I want to get into it because I think this new era of teachers that moving forward could change that for us now are you talking about teachers in the wider sense of just knowledge in general of the world are you talking about teachers working in these school systems via actual education systems I really feel I mean in this bias because of where I my education which was to different schools but I really feel that teachers are getting more more education about how to modify curriculum so that it meets the needs of their students so that the students are interested you know they don't they don't want to learn one story they want to learn all the different stories um okay I would hope more teachers I would hope more teachers would start thinking outside of the box of what they're asked simply to propagate down to their students and and would try to come up with some kind of creative ways of reaching them at different levels particularly in the creative sense and in the in the creative thinking sense in critical thinking skills and capabilities and teaching them to question you know the educational model in this country is has largely been diverted to outcome based education which is basically preparing a student to be a on your unquestioning worker yeah I don't I wouldn't imagine right I mean I want our water but I want more for them what teachers are constrained in a lot of ways in the modern educational system if they saw any upside down on them yes absolutely you are you know you're watched by that I you know Sauron so it's there I guess I just feel that the recent maybe in the last I mean because I did go to college for a long time to get a bachelor's degree so I've seen the education programs that like that they they're modifying them so that teachers are teaching student centered instead of based on these you know these print out curriculums that we get you know I'm not going to say any of the big names but I can list ten of them you know that you're supposed to read and you teach this and that's it and you know really boring for the children I think I think education in college is going beyond that to show professional teachers in any field what how to do something I think part of the solution is that we have to look at education as something that simply doesn't happen exclusively within school systems we have the parents need to become the main educators of a gadget and and get this information into them if they're even going to send them to a government school which I don't really see as a positive thing to begin with I think more people should begin to choose homeschooling so that they do have a modicum of control over what reaches their children's ears at least in addition to the curriculum that is mandated by the current control system I see very successful homeschooling and I think that education also does reach out to tell people that you know parents really need to become more of a part of this because there are so many that won't they and and I you know those reasons I I I really dislike the whole district system and in other charter schools and there's all different kinds of schools but it all boils down to the same thing which is exactly what you just said it's it's a system that's run what and I just graduated so where am I supposed to crew now right well I you know I think that basically again that these route um understandings of the aspects of who we are that if more parents understood that if older people that we're going to make the decision to have a child understood that their children were being a lot better of a position and we would understand a little bit more self knowledge of who they are and how they were you know we're not even taught about consciousness at all in any schools pretty much we're not taught of how many children learn the components of the brain and how the brain functions how many people look at look at dynamics energy dynamics around them as far as polarities within within the emotions we don't keynotes about how emotions work not nothing of the kind you know it's all rigid facts left brain thinking you know then you're signing more about what they're going to know should be more about what they want to know left brain all left brain we need to connect education needs to become holistic such that we connect with the creative and intuitive right brain functions and then people will have more imagination and more inquisitiveness because these are right brain functions largely now so that's another thing our education system is so left brain in how it is structured and it really does not emphasize the arts it does not emphasize ethical considerations it's just all fact-based learning and now it's even going beyond that in a detrimental direction and it has become largely outcome-based which is a soviet model it's a soviet union model of Education outcome based education will look up that term and read about it and this is being implemented in schools all across the country and it's a dangerous trend so vs. process you well I want to thank you for your call bringing that to our listeners attention and and for listening in I hope you'll continue to listen in and feel free to call back any time thank you great thank you very much have a good night you too you take care all right the educational system is a big part of the structure as I mentioned earlier in the show and we look at that when we talk about the barriers to self-realization one of which was the prison of the left brain and as I just said the the current model of education being taught in the United States and in most Western countries is almost purely geared toward the left brain and when that happens the individual becomes more drone like more willing to accept less willing to question less longed to get in touch with their intuition and most of all it begins to shut down the most critical factor but I began this discussion with the human imagination because once that aspect of the self begins to become shut down the Bing can basically be controlled through manipulation and fear imagination is one of the key elements that a sorcerer has to try to wipe out to gain control over an individual a sorcerer wants people thinking one thing above all else it has always been this way it is this way now and it will always be this way not to imagine any way out because if you can't even imagine a state or things a state of being where things are different than they are now how will you ever work toward the goal of creating that condition in the manifested reality that you live in you will not be able to I joke around and I say one of the phrases that I want put on my headstone whereon berrigan's mind control is the extermination of the imagination because there is no clearer or simpler definition or mind control so I think we've done a very decent job today the caller's all all were fantastic today I encourage people calling more and whenever you feel like it I like taking calls I think it's a preacher a good rapport with the audience and I think everybody this calling the show has had great things and interesting things to say so I'd like to encourage that to continue anyone that has any potential guests for the topic of mind control please email them to me and I think we've done a decent job covering the structure of hierarchy and how the occult basically works through hidden knowledge next week we will go in-depth into some mind control methodologies and techniques so that's all the time we have for this show thanks everyone for listening see here next week Tuesday at 8 p.m. I'm mark passio this has been what on earth is happening good night everyone you

[Music] welcome all this is one on earth is happening and I am your host mark passio today is Tuesday June 22nd 2010 we are fully into the summer season as the summer solstice was yesterday on the 21st and we've got a good show planned for you here this evening let me give the callin number first of all to call into the show at any time there's no taboo topics here as always call in and talk what on earth is happening calm and you can always catch it in my podcast section or on top shoes archive so with that having them said I'm going to jump into the event announcements and after that's done the topics for this evening will be the control structures of the world and an introduction to the methodologies of mind control so that's what we're going to be getting into a little bit later and I see we already have a caller online so I won't be getting to your calls as well so coming up very very soon only a few weeks the Nikola Tesla energy independence celebrations right here in my home city of Philadelphia Pennsylvania July 9th 10th and 11th a three-day conference to call to people's attention the need for a new energy paradigm specifically regarding the incredible visionary efforts regarding the technologies of Nikola Tesla so the Tesla Science Foundation is who hosts this they bring together scientists inventors and enthusiasts for three-day conference highlighting the need for new energy paradigm this July in Philadelphia the Tesla Science Foundation will be hosting a three-day conference and celebration to commemorate Nikola Tesla's legacy and world vision Tesla was a brilliant inventor who lived during the turn of the 20th century his innovations resulted in the implementation of alternating current radio the AC motor wireless technology and many other influential inventions that we now take for granted in the modern age Tesla's vision to bring clean free energy to the world through advanced wireless technologies was blocked by the financial and corporate interests of his time through this event the Tesla Science Foundation will bring together like-minded scientists inventors and enthusiasts who share the common goal of bringing Tesla's advanced energy technologies to fruition for the betterment of humanity the event schedule is as follows July 9th from 8 p.m. to 2:00 a.m. at the independence Visitor Center 6th and Market Streets in number 38 the second announcement that i have for everyone today is a new one and this is about the philadelphia UFO Awareness Day 2010 this event is hosted by MUFON the mutual UFO network it's actually hosted by the Pennsylvania branch of MUFON so Pennsylvania MUFON Purdue presents Philadelphia UFO Awareness Day 2010 Sunday July 18th from noon to 6:00 p.m. this event is totally free to attend it's going to be a great conference with some good speakers the speakers are Bob Gardner of is the Pennsylvania mutual UFO network chief investigator and field investigator his lecture will be interviewing the witness next speaker is Bill Weber he is the pennsylvania MUFON state section director and field investigator his lecture is UFOs and technology Chris August in is the next speaker he is a paranormal investigator and he runs the website aliens the truth calm his lecture will be entitled alien abductions and I will be speaking at this event I was invited by Bob Gardner to give a presentation at this event so myself Marc passio independent researcher and presenter website what on earth is happening calm my lecture for this event is going to be called don't count on disclosure and I'm going to really hit people hard in this one I'm going to talk about pretty much the topics that I do not cover in what on earth is happening and have not gotten into on this radio show and probably won't for quite a while if I do decide to go into these sorts of topics but for an event like this I'm going to pull out all the stops and I'm going to hit people pretty hard with some of the information I'm going to give at this conference by the way this will be taking place at germ books and gallery a phenomenal bookstore in the Frankfort section of Philadelphia germ books is located at 2005 Frankfort Avenue in Philadelphia the zip is one nine one two five so for more information about this great event go to MUFON PA com that's mu fo NPA comm or germ books comm ger em books comm germ is a great bookstore and um I just really really think that um they they have some of the best one of the best book selections in the tri-state area so you definitely if you're in the Philadelphia area you want to check out your books because there is a great occult selection there there is a great conspiracy research section lots of books on the UFO phenomenon and just a great overall bookstore so um with that in mind I have one last event announcement and this is for a conference that I will actually be hosting with the help of some other individuals in the Philadelphia area so this is going to be called free your mind a conference on consciousness mind control and the occult the date for this event will be April 9th and 10th 2011 I know it's a long way off but I'm going to get into promoting this from now because I want to make this as big as possible the location is yet to be determined but I have already scouted a few venues and will be making the decision probably within the next three weeks I'll take a guess and say that we'll have a definitive location within the next three weeks to a month the admission price for this conference is going to be only $20 per day and we already have 3 confirmed speakers with a fourth that is almost certainly confirmed but um I am going to hold off on the 4th until I get 100% confirmation but we have confirmation from Aaron McCollum Michael Kelly and of course myself I will also be speaking at this event so that is free your mind a conference on consciousness mind control and the occult this is going to be in the Philadelphia area Saturday and Sunday April 9th and 10th 2011 those are the event announcements and I see we have of a caller so I'll go to the caller before we jump into the event announcements I'm sorry before we jump into the topics for this evening so it says here on the switchboard that the name is Savi ohms so Savion you are on you are live on what on earth is happening hello caller can you hear me Savion are you there yeah I'm here how are you I didn't have no question now how it is miss me man then okay that's not a problem when I see a caller uh callin I am assuming that they one wanted to get through and actually talk or raise a topic but if you're just listening in through the line that's fine too so I'll go ahead and meet you and uh enjoy the program yeah maybe later I'll have a question no problem okay so that is how the talks you switchboard basically works people can call in they can listen through the switchboard as well if I see that it is showing a phone icon meaning that they have called in I usually unmute them to take the call but it's okay if you just want to listen in line that way too so tonight's topics are the control system in general the control system being what we began talking about last week how the control systems of the world are structured we were looking into the structures of the control of the world we were looking into how control systems are compartmentalized meaning that they are broken into many different sections or compartments that are essentially separate from each other and do not understand what the other compartments are doing this is called compartmentalization and it is a good way to keep people advancing an agenda that they may not have all of the information regarding therefore since they don't see the total picture they keep going with the work that is actually being orchestrated from a much higher level of awareness or knowledge that they do not have this is compartmentalization the second component that we discussed last week was the hierarchical nature the hierarchy that is inherent in a control structure this means that any control structure will be basically set up like a pyramid with an apex at the top that is comprised of very few individuals and they have the total awareness or the total knowledge about the structure about the way that the structure is organized the way that it is set up the avenues that it works through what its agenda truly is what its goals its operational goals are a hierarchical system is essential toward chain of command keeping people in line and in lockstep with the agenda because they answer to their superiors at the next higher level of this hierarchical system so we looked at these two basic structural components of the control structures of the world and on the podcast for last week I put an image that was showing was displaying this pyramidal structure it it's called in the image the pyramid of manipulation so this manipulative pyramid or this basic control structure comprises just about every area of human endeavor from finance to all corporations businesses just about of any kind to the media to organize religion to politics and political structures to the military-industrial complex - education etc etc and it's critical to understand that people in these structures which all for now simply call the structures of control that are dominating our world that are bringing about all of the suffering that is seemingly inherent to the human condition however as we talked about in passions it is technically self-inflicted because we are obsessed with the notion of control and we do not want to accept basic truths because they may be a bit difficult to discover because they take work upon the self and knowledge of self to discover those basic fundamental principles of natural law which we have talked about fairly extensively on past shows these structures are able to be controlled much more easily than most people would think because of the two basic qualities that these structures have inherently built into them and that is compartmentalization and hierarchy so I want to read a quote regarding these pyramidal structures these basic control structures set up like levels of a pyramid knowledge higher up and compartmentalize as you go higher in them there are fewer people but there is more knowledge of the overall agenda and yet there are sections to them that are essentially walled off from each other in other words the left hand is unaware of what the right hand is doing I read this one last week this is by Judith Moriarty a researcher she said that the greatest conspiracies are not actually hidden they are just fragmented into different pieces like a puzzle right before our eyes so they're not actually hidden they're hidden in plain sight this is a favored methodology of VO cultists of the world the dark Oh cultists of the world have a favored methodology they love to hide things right out in the open they kind of get a twisted pleasure from putting something almost right in someone's face and because of the level of consciousness that that individual or a group of individuals may be operating at they are incapable of seeing how the structure or the scheme or the plan works hidden in plain sight it's a form of mockery actually it's a form of derision and ridicule to the uninitiated as an occultist would refer to someone who does not understand their methodologies their symbols the ways they operate hidden in plain sight it's basically pure mockery and jest of someone who hasn't a clue who's completely clueless about these very control structures the researcher Judith Moriarty simply refers to them as conspiracies which is another word that has a negative connotation or a ridicule based connotation attached to it when if you look up the etymology of the word conspiracy it simply means those who breathe together conspirators are simply those who live and breathe together they move as if they have one mind and one will and that is all the word means any group of people working together toward a common goal is essentially a conspiracy so that is a quote by the researcher Judith Moriarty here is an excellent one by another researcher named Phil rocks row these are a couple of independent researchers ROC Stroh said that the authoritarianism that is inherent to this structure and when are you saying this structure he was formerly talking about a pyramidal base control structure that is based in hierarchy and compartmentalization the authoritarianism inherent to the structure is antithetical to the concept of the rights and liberties of the individual antithetical essentially means it totally opposes it it is completely the opposite of that which you're talking about so he is saying this structure itself one that is based in compartmentalization and hierarchy is antithetical the concept of rights and liberties of an individual most individuals bound by secrecy prone hierarchical values will over time lose the ability to display free thinking engage in civic discourse and even be able to envisage the notion of freedom that's a phenomenal quote with a lot in it so I'm going to read it one more time most individuals who are bound by secrecy prone hierarchical values will over time lose the ability to display free thinking engage in civic discourse and even be able to envisage the notion of freedom let's think about what's being said there when people participate in a control structure in a structure of compartmentalization in other words a structure that is based in secrecy in holding back information about what the people in it are really involved in when they do this and when they take part in hierarchy in bowing or supplicating themselves to apparent authority that is above them in this chain of command in this hierarchical structure some things happen in their consciousness in the participants of this system just by being a participant in a system like that they lose the ability to display free thinking now that's a big statement I would totally agree with that because secrecy and hierarchy are lower forms of consciousness this is a base brain behavior this is base brain consciousness we talked about the structures of the brain and how the lowest part of the brain the base brain the r-complex which stands for the reptile complex is basically geared toward survival mentality fight-or-flight response and bass instinctual behaviors this structure itself a hierarchical pyramidal structure reinforces base brain behavior and essentially base consciousness itself consciousness that is of a low vibratory frequency it is fear-based consciousness having to hide something from other people is fear-based it is said that good works are done in the light of day if you need to compartmentalize something and create a hierarchical structure because you don't want people at lower levels to understand what's being done at higher levels it is a secrecy based agenda and it is based in fear ultimately good works are done in the light of day dark works evil works works that are not geared toward higher evolutionary progression and consciousness they must be done in darkness because most people if they were to understand what we're really being done what the true agenda was would not participate in that system so they have to be done in the dark people have to be kept in the dark of the true agenda to essentially keep participating in and this is true of any hierarchical compartmentalized control structure once enough light is shed upon what the true agenda is those who have any modicum of conscience will withdraw their support from that agenda so I think that's a great quote to understand by Rosco there they would lose even the ability if they participated in this system over enough time without understanding its true agenda it's based in hierarchy it's based in in pure secrecy eventually they would no longer be able to even comprehend or understand what freedom really is they would lose the idea to even be able to envision what true freedom is and sadly that is where most of the world has come to it's a terrible thing to have to admit most people in the world more than not have this mindset that's what we're doing here on this show trying to change that mindset that is based in I control people below me while I take orders from people above me this means that everyone that's a part of this system is essentially a slave I have a master and I get to have slaves below me but let's not forget I have a master see you're part of that control system you're not free don't even try to kid yourself that you're free you're a slave because you just take orders from those who are above you in the hierarchy in return for your obedience in return for taking your orders like a good slave well will tell you that you have the authority to try to disrupt or take away the inherent rights of those that we say are lower than you on our hierarchical value system it's all nonsense though because it doesn't exist these structures don't exist in nature they don't exist in natural ball they're all flawed man-made conceptualizations and structures that are built up in the human mind in a diseased human mind in a mind that is completely ruled by the force of fear in a mind that is confused internally whenever someone is fearful and confused inside themselves they don't know themselves they don't understand the situation they're in they don't know what's going on within them or around them that's the definition we basically gave for consciousness in this program in general what they do is they lash out and they try to take external control which they have no natural law right to take the only thing they have a natural law right to take control over is and it's the same thing anyone has the only things anyone has a natural all right to have control over is your own thoughts your own emotions and your own actions and nothing else but these structures are in place in the world that we live in sadly and it is my intention to tear them down utterly and completely unquestioningly and unequivocally to destroy them to destroy this form of mind control because that's all this structure is and those who erect such structures are essentially people who are attempting to control the actions of others by controlling how they think and feel a dark agenda an agenda that does not have someone's genuine interests in mind that can only lead to further suffering not just for most people but for the individuals even taking part in it the only way you can ever really convince them to take part in something like that is to manipulate them through control the covert control the hidden control over the mind because the mind is the layer of being that exists between the body which is what we perform our actions with and the spirit or the state of pure consciousness pure being I also put up on the site in the podcast section for last week's show that would be the June 15th show I believe its podcast 12 a picture that shows the three levels of being or existence if you will the physical existence which I put at the bottom this is equated with the body this is the male or the yang the active or concrete aspect of creation above that there is the level of mind this is where spirit and matter meet this is why this level of being of creation of consciousness if you will must be where the controller the sorcerer as we referred to them as the occult sorcerer the one who performs hidden influence over the minds of people for his own selfish aims and selfish agendas this is the realm that that selfish sorcerer must perform his magic in the realm of mind this is the battlefield so to speak that the war that is taking place in consciousness on the earth is being really truly being waged because if you can control someone's level of consciousness at the mind level you can convince them of all sorts of nonsense and ideologies that simply aren't true you can basically begin to sever the beings connection to source which is spirit which is the highest level of being that is that Sacred Feminine is the pure unadulterated consciousness the sacred feminine expression of being and I put that in this graphic on the website at the top level that level you're not going to control directly in people at least not in in this form that we exist in you're going to have to sever or wall them off from it through the control of the mental plane of existence the mental domain and this is how all of these structures work they essentially work through mind control now I know that may be something new for some people to hear and some people are very very resistant to that idea that there is mind control taking place in the world all around us it isn't some places it's basically everywhere it is pervasive throughout our culture and throughout the world mind control is everywhere it is cultural programming is putting influencing people's consciousness into little boxes from which if they really become rooted in which they if they are really trapped in a certain pattern a certain conditioning it becomes very different to break down those structures in the brain that form over time when we think and feel a certain way repeatedly over years and years and years and years ways of thinking feeling and acting become ingrained and the longer that that has been ingrained that way those patterns have been ingrained that way the more conditioned that person is the more under mind control they really are and it becomes much more difficult over longer periods of time to break someone out of that patterned conditioning and the controllers of this world know this they know it well they know it well they know how our psyche functions better than most of us and I'm not saying these things one I'm not saying them to put anyone into any kind of state of fear nothing on this show is said to encourage people to be fearful or to give up or to be hopeless or anything like that knowledge is the pathway to power I wouldn't even call it power itself power is right action through knowledge that's where power comes from it comes from developing wisdom right action through knowledge but knowledge is the pathway to that state of consciousness it is they is the pathway to power and hence many individuals will refer to it as lights because it opposes darkness which is lack of knowledge and lack of knowledge is essentially through not knowing oneself and that happens to fear fear is what blocks out the light or blocks out understanding oneself in one's own consciousness we've talked about this dynamic on this show in past weeks so what I want to begin getting into is the methodologies that these controllers who I will refer to as sorcerers of consciousness that is essentially what we are talking about you can call them many different names people have referred to them as the masters of the world they have referred to them as the illuminated or those with all of the knowledge of how things really work in our structured they have been referred to as dark or cultists black magicians when we look at the definition for sorcery we saw that it is the art and science of influencing change to occur in accordance with the egoic will not the will of creation the higher will not in keeping with natural law principles not in keeping with the furthered higher evolution of consciousness but in keeping with the selfish self-identified will of the sorcerer himself the one who is wielding this mental psychological influence so who are these occult lists and sorcerers of consciousness or at least what are the vehicles that they work through that they are born into certain positions certain people are appointed through others into certain positions of power manipulated into certain positions of power well at very very high levels I would say you have actual dark or cultists that are actually members of high level occult think tanks and by occult what I mean is hidden we talked about that last week the meaning of the word occult is not the connotation that most people think that it is most people will think of that word as meaning evil when in fact the word is derived from Latin the verb occult RA in Latin simply means to hide or to conceal from sight the word occult simply means hidden from view difficult to see occult means hidden quite simple there are occultists people who practice the techniques of hiding knowledge keeping it secret using it for their own selfish benefit they are members of secret societies they are members of think-tank organizations they are members of political organizations that operate behind the scenes of the elected or seep so-called elected levels of the political world that level the political level the realm that we see we think is in control or in the role of protectors the scene level is not the level that is actually calling the shots now if you haven't understood that yet you're very very far behind in the game here politicians are very low in the hierarchy very low in the structures of control that I'm talking about here they're essentially frontmen puppets for much larger I shouldn't say larger much smaller groups of people but with much greater influence that they wield to hammer an agenda through and get their way in the global sense because these people are globalists it's another word that many people call these individuals that we're talking about control-freak individuals that work together toward a common goal which is them prospering at the expense and suffering of anyone that gets in their way because they're rooted in the reptile mind the r-complex of the brain and they are they act in the lowest modalities of consciousness due to being trapped in this our complex brain function now this does not mean that they do not use the higher brain functions they're they themselves are governed are controlled through the force of fear the fear of not having enough the fear of lack the illusion of separation believing that they are separate from everyone else believing that everything must be a win-lose scenario and if they are not the winners they would be the losers no oneness no unity consciousness pure do out of all the time horrible state of consciousness to be sure to live in at all times and places but this is their consciousness don't think for a moment this does not mean that they cannot reason at very high levels because they also have a highly developed higher level brain the neocortex as we talked about on former shows on previous shows this engages them to really really deeply be able to conceptualize ideas plot scheme and plan better than most people the part of their consciousness of their brain of their entire makeup that is missing is emotional qualities the qualities of terror the Sacred Feminine as we have talked about concern for the well-being of anyone else but themselves because essentially what these individuals are that are operating at the highest levels of institutions and institutionalized belief systems and the council's that essentially are the think tanks that are behind the governing of world affairs what these individuals who run things currently at very very high levels of influence and power are are psychopaths psychopathic individuals there are people who have psychopathic disease essentially now it has been estimated that between 1 in 50 - as much as possibly 1 in 30 people are psychopathic in nature meaning that they are actually born without a conscience as difficult as that may be for many many people to believe look up psychopathy and understand this psychological condition it is called sociopathy more commonly nowadays by clinical psychologists but look it up it is a fascinating study psychopathy psy CH o PA th why qualities of a psychopath essentially are that they are incapable of feeling a normal range of human emotion particularly when it comes to being able to empathize with other people meaning they cannot feel any level of suffering that another being may be in so let's say a child is riding a bike five six years old they fall they get hurt fairly badly maybe break a bone they're crying they're distraught the normal human that has a full and normal range of emotions not a diseased make up and this is a disease cycle psychopathy psychopathy the normal human in that instance would feel for the child that they've been hurt wants to go over and help them want to make sure that they're okay the psychopath would not feel anything at all I mean nothing they can not feel empathy for anyone else's suffering the only thing they're concerned about is their own well-being their own prosperity themselves not being in suffering if anyone else is in suffering they don't care they are incapable of caring now these are the qualities of the people that I am talking about at the highest levels of the control structures which I've been mentioning over the last couple of weeks the people below them will not necessarily be psychopaths who they get to do their bidding because they are putting them under mind control in order to do their bidding they would have to there aren't enough Psychopaths to continue to operate like this to operate the world the way it is being recurrently run and directed you would have to fool people into supporting a psychopathic agenda and these Psychopaths who are ultimately at the highest end of they know the technique the technology the science for doing this and it is a science sorcery is a science above all else make no mistake that there are verifiable technologies for accomplishing putting someone under the influence of another beings will and this is done not just in any kind of one-on-one sense or even in small groups this is done on mass the techniques I'm going to be talking about over the next many weeks are forms of mass mind control now there are formalised methodologies for direct mind control over one-to-one over an individual that's basically known as calm as trauma-based mind control I will not be getting into that in a lot of depth for a while I was asked about it last week I went into it a bit but essentially what I will be getting into is mass forms of mass mind control now the directors of this illusion of this worldwide system of control they are indeed globalists who I refer to as the sorcerers of human consciousness the black magicians if you will the dark Oh cultists who have people in a spell and there's a that's a very specific word that is chosen because as we will see over many weeks if you listen to this show people are being controlled largely through words through language language is one of the main methodologies to control the human psyche to control the mental and emotional development of human beings that you want to influence language is the main methodology to do it and if we don't have a firm grip or how language is being used in the very words we speak what they mean what their origins are we are going to be prone toward this form of mass mind control and it's all around us is affecting us everyday it is in most of the major forms of media that most people pay attention to and take in on a daily basis these globalists worked in many different organizations many people who listen to the show will have heard of many of them some people who are new to this information may not you should look into the Bilderberg Group others among them are the Trilateral Commission the Council on Foreign Relations a committee of 300 Royal Institute of International Affairs the Club of Rome United Nations at a lower level various other think-tank projects financial institutions central banks the Federal Reserve System secret society networks of all kinds intelligence agencies central intelligence agency the National Security Agency Federal Bureau of Investigation you can go on and on and on high-level military intelligence naval intelligence army intelligence high levels of religion any organized world religion this being of the Islamic faith of the Judaic faith of the Christian faith it matters not high level religionists at very high institutional levels of religion or high level o cultists let's get real clear about that and make no mistake about that but rather than going to now those institutions you can look into on your own there are volumes and volumes written on these different groups and think tanks you can essentially go on overload with the amount of information regarding all of the groups I just mentioned it but information about these groups is so voluminous that it would take a lifetime multiple lifetimes you wouldn't be able to go through it all but I just want to read a quote by a former President Theodore Roosevelt that hammers this idea home that there is a enshrined invisible controller class that sits behind the scene levels of world politics and the governments of the world and is calling the shots from a level of puppet master it is simply pulling the strings of people below them now let me ask a question in general to put out there to the listening audience would you imagine that a person who had attained the presidency of the United States would understand how the structures of the world are built better than the average human being better than the average person you wouldn't believe that someone like this would know what they're talking about correct maybe it's maybe I'm the weird one that I would think if a President of the United States came forward and gave a quote like this and told people up front this is what's going on that you might think he understands a little bit about what he's talking about based on where he's been what he has seen Theodore Roosevelt said quote behind the ostensible government meaning the one you believe or think of as the government okay the one you traditionally view as yeah this is the government the ostensible government behind the ostensible government sits and in sits enthroned an invisible government owing no allegiance and acknowledging no responsibility to the people I don't think it can be any clearer than that I don't think you could speak it any clearer than that this is a former President of the United States openly telling people behind the ostensible government sits enthroned and thrown like kings or masters an invisible government only no allegiance and acknowledging no responsibility to the people to me it's difficult to not take that at face value and it's also difficult to try to read something into what he's saying there I don't think he minced any words I think he was pretty straightforward and non ambiguous but there are people who will try to twist everything into something that it is not and say he meant something else when he meant exactly what he said so I'm going to take a break right there we're a little after into the second hour it's about 8:05 and I see we have a caller on the line from Illinois so here we go caller from Illinois you are on what on earth is happening what do you have for us hello hi I'm just using the phone so I get a clear reception so I can hear you I just it's first time I've ever heard of this show can you help yes I can very well not a problem at all service I'm glad you're checking out the show I when I see a caller call in I just I pick up and see if they have anything to contribute this uh this son Hawk shoe program also acts as my switchboard so I saw that you were connected via phone so not a problem I'll go ahead and mute you and continue to listen to till I just final day I really appreciate what you're saying thank you sir all right take care and I'll give the call-in number again for anybody that wants to call in and contribute anything and ask any questions or raise any topics of concern the call-in number is seven two four four four four seven four four four once again that's seven two four four four four seven four four four and I'm sorry I did not give the call ID number in the first hour when you call in if you want to go on and ask a question the call ID number for this show is eight three five one five punch that in and that will put you through - uh - of this show on on the phone and then I'll I will see that you're on the switchboard hold on and I'll get to your call call in number seventy two four four four four seven four four four the call ID number once again is eight three five one five so we're talking about the control structures of the world the hidden controller class if you will I call them simply Bo cultists the dark or cultists or the sorcerers of consciousness that is what I refer to them as when I talk about these individuals as a group we talked about the fact that they are psychopathic they do not have the ability to empathize with other living beings this is a essentially a disease of the Spirit it is a disease of the mind is a disease of the psyche it is a psychological condition the person is essentially born without the ability to feel compassion or in other words they are born without conscience and that unrestrained them from the type of actions that you would never consider see when people will hear about some of the things that this control freak class of individuals will do and what they are doing in the world one of the things you'll hear your average naive trusting individual who sadly is quite ignorant regarding what is taking place in the world I'm not saying that to be mean or vicious I'm saying that because it is simply the case that happens to be true people who think like this are naive and they are ignorant regarding what is really taking place otherwise they wouldn't make a statement like what I'm about to tell you they will say things to the to the effect of oh the things you're saying that these people are doing they would never do that really they would never do that interesting well what I think a person who is of this mindset is really thinking in their own mind is I would never do that see that's what they're they really mean see they can't imagine because they don't have this emotional disease this psychological disease known as psycho psychopathy okay they cannot even imagine that there are people that will take the kinds of actions that they are taking and trusting well-meaning individuals who don't understand a lot about these events that are going on they'll say they would never do that you're crazy they would never do anything like what you're describing well the fact of the matter is don't try to attribute your restraints do to the conscience that you possess and use to others that may not have those same inherent qualities which we call a conscience because there are people in this world that do not have a conscience and believe it believe that like you know your own name and if you don't believe that start reading up on psychopathy get a good psychological textbook or go online and type in the term and start reading about it and you'll be shocked at what some of these qualities are as a matter of fact I guess um I could probably take some time and go through a few of the qualities of the psychopath I read a speech on the show that I gave it out in the Fed that essentially listed the qualities of psychopathic individuals so I'll bring that up on the on my computer here and I'll read you some of these qualities psychopaths are aggressive they're callous they show an abnormal lack of conscience and empathy as we've been saying they they they are extremely adept at manipulating others they develop this quality because they know that they need to manipulate people if people find out you don't give a damn about them you don't care about anything that they happen to be experiencing they basically go in the other direction they want nothing to do with you and a psychopath understands this from a very young age so they become real good actors at feigning emotion at faking normal human emotion making you believe they have the same emotions that you do when in fact they do not they engage in a moral often criminal conduct they possess a deceptive ability to appear outwardly benevolent oh that's such a nice person he would never do that wrong answer you would never do that because you're not a psychopath because you have a conscience he would most certainly do that has behaved in superficially charming ways in order to hide their purely selfish motives is this starting to sound familiar to anyone they use intimidation and if necessary violence to get their way they have no problem with violating the basic inherent human rights of others is this starting to sound more familiar because the psychopaths at the top try to breed and create more Psychopaths below them in their hierarchical chain of command to do their bidding no matter what their orders are no matter how immoral those orders may be and yes I'm referring to the bottom of the line of the control quote-unquote controller classes the military and the police because they're there only to ultimately serve the bidding of the Psychopaths at the highest levels of these institutions which I've been talking about and if you don't believe that you're very naive because it is provable it is provable with what is actually going on the events that are taking place how military police are willing to simply go and do whatever they are told whatever they are asked to do just for a paycheck just so they get to exercise what they think is control over another human being what they think is power I should say and they don't have any right to do this they don't have any right to violate the basic inherent human rights of others but they still do it anyway because they've essentially become psychopathic see psychopathy is in my studies a communicable disease it is inherent in some individuals who are simply born that way they have a genetic condition of psychopathy but through mind control and emotional manipulation you can breed a psychopath you can make someone's brain essentially so damaged that they become and act like a psychopath they won't be a genetic psychopath but as long as the brain is in that damaged of a condition and we talked about brain damage and how the brain when it goes into significant states of imbalance actually becomes physically damaged there are slides on former shows on earlier shows when we talked about the brain and its structures we talked about how the brain can become imbalanced you can go and look on on scans of the human brain I posted one last week the brain becomes damaged through the forms of assess it's very simple how it becomes damaged if he comes damaged through what we put into ourselves the end that's it it's real simple what we put into ourselves you've heard the phrase you are what you eat well I would just extend that to you are what you take into yourself it's not just what you eat what you eat what you drink what you listen to what you pay attention to what you read what you watch that's what you become you emulate that you become like that that is your software it becomes the software let the body which is the computer the electronic biological computer that we work in that is our vessel for experience that is what programs it essentially everything we put into ourselves so everything coming in is shaping the qualities of the consciousness of a human being and this is going on from birth and continues to go on through life depending on what the person is taking into themselves and that's why essentially the answer on how to cure this brain damage that results and creates Psychopaths and yes the Sigma significantly brain-damaged individuals are the people who are the so called controllers the military and the police and that's going to be a very very very difficult thing for most people to hear especially those who have members of their family that act in these capacities they're the most brain-damaged individuals on the planet folks and part of what this show is here to do is to try to help these individuals become well to try to repair the damage that has been done physically this is physical provable brain damage I don't know how much more clearer I can be about that if you've got a brain scan done high-contrast pet or SPECT scan you would see the damage to the neocortical structures of the human brain of someone who is obsessed with control clearly you would see it I posted an image regarding this to Facebook earlier this week on a comment and it is incredibly clear how this works the more that one lives in and operates in the reptile brain the base brain structures the more one is under stress the more one is in fight-or-flight mode accosted by a violent situation or a potentially violent situation fight or flight modality the more damage the brain becomes now who's in those situations all the time I've had conversations where I have explained the people all the different levels of brain damage that occurs through abuse of drugs you could look at the abuse patterns of something as relatively benign as marijuana but if you abuse that substance yes it can damage the neocortex if it's used improperly if it's AB used and there are lots of people who damaged their neocortex with pot you go up higher you get to alcoholism alcohol abuse the neocortex becomes even further damaged with patterns of continued chronic abuse we're not talking just usage we're talking chronically abusing a compound or substance okay now worse than that level of brain damage is cocaine abuse worse than that level of brain damages methamphetamine and speed abuse worse then that level of brain damage is opiate addiction and there's one that can even be worse than that and most people will not think of this because they don't think of it as a drug and they do not think of it when they think of drug addiction for one of the most dangerous compounds to have in the body in any kind of a chronic sense and the substance which will damage the neocortex the higher order thought functioning centers of the human brain more than any other compound that you could put find to put into your body you are already holding in your body and it is called adrenaline and if you look at the abuse of adrenaline you will see the most damaged brain patterns of any other compound now that should explain a whole lot to a whole lot of people and it should get more people who don't understand this as of yet and who may be resistant to hearing this to start thinking about this who has adrenaline being who what people have adrenaline being pumped into their body almost on a non-stop basis you get a prize if you figure it out any takers it's pretty easy to understand once you have the information and then it becomes easier to understand why these individuals act the way they do why they don't have a conscience seemingly why they will follow whatever orders they are given no matter how immoral they are or no matter who they harm or no matter whose inherent human rights they proceed to attempt to take away it's because there is physical brain damage and ladies and gentlemen I can't say more clearly I worked with some of the Psychopaths that I'm talking about I worked with them I was involved in the dark occult myself first-hand experience for many years of my life when I was younger this is largely how I understand this not by reading about it not by read by researching it from other people's writings because I was directly involved and with these people working with them I did not understand because these institutions are compartmentalized and hierarchical what I was involved in for many years until again I was at a point where I was so low in consciousness and so low in energy and and essentially life that there was only two places for me to go up or death to die or to move back up in consciousness and again I chose the latter the latter meaning the later of those two options and it's funny that it sounds like the word ladder I chose the latter la dee dee er yes to climb out of that pit that cesspool of consciousness and if you scan my brain back then I guarantee you it would look as destroyed as some of the controller class that I'm talking about namely police and military and those in those institutions and they should be in some other institutions if they're not getting help about this see it's again language is a funny thing and always reveals things to us if we just pay attention individuals in institutions so my experience in dealing directly with Psychopaths individuals when I was well on my way to being one of them to being a total psychopathic being until the power of consciousness if you want to call it God go right ahead the the power of the intelligent force that is inherent in the universe I finally began to get in touch with that because again I recognized my life was so desperately bad it was so painful was so emotionally tumultuous it was so um depressing that I had to make a choice do I recognize that this is me is the causal factor the ultimate bottom-line causal factor of this suffering by the way I'm thinking and behaving thinking feeling and acting where do I continue to try to sharp that responsibility not understand more about myself and change because that was the only path out of it will knowledge and will understand what you have to understand to get out of this mess learn it and then use the will to enacting the knowledge of course has to come first and thankfully I was a always a very well-read person and through my in some of my involvement with the occult had some access to some higher level information and I went into higher levels of what I would call light ocultism some people will say there is no such thing because you know the occult in general means hidden knowledge and I talked about this last week I agree knowledge should not be hidden it does not belong to anyone it belongs to the world belongs to the universe period hiding knowledge is the beginning toward the slippery slope into tyranny I don't think I could be more clear about that that's why I learned this knowledge of self I learned what was going on and I made then the decision to communicate that to others and even that took awhile and there was some pain associated with that too because I told my tongue for a very long time about things that I had come to understand in the world I don't not quite sure why maybe it was a combination not thinking that I was qualified to speak on it no not not enough self-confidence thinking that there would be ridicule for others but for years I knew what I know now and stayed silent I I still to this day regret that to some level because for a few years I said nothing to no to anyone and through uh through my girlfriend and a woman that we met through some consciousness groups that we had attended a woman that I met at a group said you're knowledgeable and that carries responsibility what are you dealing with this you've been given a gift of knowledge through your studies what are you going to do with it and I say I hadn't really thought about that and she said something to the effect of well you better start thinking about it what makes you think you have the right to sit on all of this and not speak it and it just made a profound impact on me the way she said that it was so very clearly and matter-of-fact as if you know who are you to to even have all this knowledge amassed within yourself and not be releasing it out to those who need it and that made a lot of sense to me and that was one of the uh was an impetus for me to begin doing what I do so let's go back to talking about these power structures and these cultists who are behind them and I know that is going to be a very difficult thing for a lot of people to accept purely on the basis that they do not have enough information about the occult and about the occult networks that are in operation throughout the planet they know very little about the philosophies and the ideologies that are part of occultism and they know very little about the psychological condition known as psychopathy which I just essentially characterized for you by listing some of its qualities I would say one of the last qualities is of this condition is that these beings who have this condition are so rooted in fear of being discovered and routed out that they again become very good actors they can hide the fact that they do not possess normal human emotions they do not want to take responsibility for the consequences of their own actions instead they want to shift the responsibility on to other people but more likely than not what really they do is they get other people to do their dirty work for them you see because we don't the hidden Oh cultists that are ultimately at the highest end of the agenda they don't fight their own Wars do they they get normal quote unquote people to fight their Wars for them because they manipulate them an orchestra events in order to make them perceive a problem that must be resolved through war it's a mind manipulation technique mind control they don't ultimately do any of the tasks that really result in the physical suffering and torment of the people of the world they just tell others that they must be done and I know that will be painful for many people to hear because ultimately it isn't this controller cycle psychopathic class that is doing this it is doing the events that we see taking place around us that we do not like do not appreciate do not want to continue it is us doing it this is another thing that many people will have a problem with me saying they'll say oh no it's them it's always something outside the self point the finger point the finger it is not them quote unquote meaning these sorcerers of consciousness they only use a technique to influence behavior of others but it is others mainly people in the general population that are actually doing these events performing these actions and largely who the groups are that performed these actions are the police and the military there is no easy way around that there's no easy way around that I'm not an apologist I'm never going to make excuses or other for what the human condition is currently and for what people do that they do not have the inherent moral right to do and that will mean that in many people's view I will be extremely unpopular and people will not want to listen to what I have to say and so be it I am NOT here again as I've said on previous weeks to be partaking in any kind of a personality contest or a popularity contest that's not what I'm here to do I am here to speak the truth of the dynamics that are taking place on this world to help to alleviate human suffering that is what I'm here to do that is my task that I have accepted due to the knowledge that I have acquired about how this works over many many years of experience and seeking information and when those two things come together experience and first-hand experience or gnosis and an abundance of well researched information I'm not afraid to say the words I know you know there's this whole um perception and it's based in a some attitude of solipsistic that we've talked about over the weeks that there is no such thing as truth you know this is a dangerous ideology it ultimately leads to all the suffering that we experience ignoring truth or believing that it does not exist that there is no such thing as events as they have actually occurred and that one can know that well when I know something I'm not afraid to say I do in fact understand that I do know it people don't like to hear that because when you have information that someone else does not have they become very ego driven about the fact that they make that their current beliefs opinions and attitudes may not be correct I'll wear this we can become an attachment is if you will hold on to knowledge when current evidence has shown that it is not accurate now I may have formally thought that I understood something and did in fact but I always throughout my life I saw evidence to the contrary I was never a person to cling to specific information attitudes beliefs or information okay I always was a person that said new evidence has come to light if I formerly thought this and the new evidence is clearly demonstrable conflicting with this and proving it not to be accurate I don't have a problem with letting go a former formerly held information many people do have that problem and many people don't like hearing that there is such a thing as truth the way things actually are happening are working right now in the present moment and that there are people who can understand that knowing getting stuck in just the knowledge part of it is also a trap because you can have all the knowledge of the world you can be you could have total knowledge you can know everything if you studied enough and you made it your life's journey to just know more and more things and be accurate about them and you know gather more and more and more data until you're sure about a certain thing and guess what it can be utterly useless even possessing all of that knowledge because ultimately again as I've said knowledge does not become power until it is properly morally applied in the world through our actions that is when it becomes power and if you want understand why the world is in the condition that it is there's the main reason there are not enough people in the world who have a vast array of knowledge about what actually is and what is actually taking place and the dynamics there that are in place and the causal factors of those dynamics that are occurring again that's what we ultimately do here is get down to the causal factors being that there is not enough people who do have that knowledge of course that is not being shifted into enough proper moral action in the world to change the overall overarching dynamic of what we see taking place in the manifested world that we live and operate in this is why once you understand what is occurring the only game in town is to propagate information as widely and as freely as possible you learn it and then you speak it that's it the universe is spoken into existence and the reason this planet is the way that it is today is because the d'arco cultists who spewed their venom and their negative influence and their mind-control and listen very closely to these words these people these psychopathic individuals never stop speaking their message 24/7 their message is constantly being spoken with force and they mean these psychopathic occult sorcerers are on largely the same page they speak with one voice they're not divided amongst themselves to a very high degree they may bicker over little odds and ends and certain distributions of power and wealth and influence but ultimately their minds are all geared on the same prize on the same ultimate goal a conspirator a group of con spirit ORS are those who are imbued with the same energy the same life force energy and the life force energy is the breath the spirit of breath it has been called in spiritual and mystical traditions the breath well con in Latin is a prefix that means together and spiro spear a spear or a means to breathe con spiro means to breathe together or to operate with the same life force energy what a true conspiracy is and these individuals that we're talking about the psychopathic control class individuals they live and breathe together they're on the same page they're not divided amongst themselves they operate as one do we there's my question do we largely operate as one speak with one voice understand the same basic principles and live according to them because they are just and moral and do not create suffering or are we completely conflicted not only amongst each other but also within amongst ourselves because we say we believe in something that we say yes we feel this way about this concept or or you know principle but then we go right ahead and do things that are not in keeping with those concepts or principles that we say we believe in our words and our actions are not congruent our thoughts our emotions and our actions are not as one are you are dual in nature they're not unitary in nature or non-dualistic but the group of people who are ultimately controlling this planet through sorcery through mind control influencing you can better believe they're on the same page and that they breathe as one they operate under the same lifeforce energy they have their eyes on the prize they know what it is they know how to get it and they do it and they act now some people may say well you're really awfully down on people you're awfully down on the average person well take a look around at what's going on and what we have I've got the corner we backed ourselves into it's going to take a lot of work from where we're at to reverse the current trend because so many people are utterly convinced that the ways that we're going have to eternally be this way and be in place or there will be utter chaos and disruption and you know the sky will fall if we don't continue the course animals total fools they bought a lie and because they've so wholeheartedly bought it they're committed to it then there's no greater form of mind control than to see with your own eyes the evidence that what you have been doing has not been working if anybody thinks what we have been doing has been working for us and still see all of the enormity of suffering that's taking place in this world I would say they're a severely delusional human being that that has no knowledge of what's really going on at all I'm not saying there's nothing good happening in the world I'm just saying largely control based systems that are based in total profit motive that are not based in any kind of ethical considerations rule this world and I think it's fairly irrefutable that that's the case yet some people seem not to have a problem with it they're just content to put their head down go along to get along not say a word and just work from cradle agree thinking that that's what life is and there's nothing deeper than then just doing my job making my money getting my house having my kids reproducing and then letting the whole cycle repeat itself a purposeless for the most part a purposeless existence and if you press the individual that lives like that what is your purpose for being what is your purpose for existing at all what is the purpose of your life they couldn't even they would have no response for that they would be pretty much a miss to tell you an answer to that question with any kind of conviction do a social experiment just ask some people what they think the purpose for them being is and how many people will not even have an answer to that part of mind control is the pleasure principle they get people to think that the entire purpose for being is just to have as much fun as you can while you're alive as humanly possible ignoring all the suffering that's taking place in the world all around you while you're doing that this is a pretty bad place to be as far as I'm concerned this is like you know the person that just sits back watching a crime being committed directly in front of them does absolutely nothing you know this this was a this was an allegory in a major television show that was aired on TV for many years and was one of the most wildly popular sitcoms of all time Seinfeld Seinfeld was about four completely egoic unconcerned individuals who only ever thought about themselves really didn't give a damn about anybody else around them acted like pretty much like Psychopaths that didn't really feel anything about what they were doing to any other human things in the last episode they totally ignore crimes that are being committed against innocent people that they could have done something about and they end up in a prison cell as a result it's a pretty straightforward allegory of what's really going on in the world and that's why we're heading into a prison cell as a species unless we stop thinking in these psychopathically inspired ways where we're not compassionate toward the suffering of other human beings of our fellow beings but most people still don't want to hear that some people are waking up to it slowly but surely and usually involving an immense amount of suffering personal suffering to wake up see the universe is going to keep coaxing us in a gentle way until we're totally resistant and when we become real resistant then it gives us a nice heap of suffering and says enjoy that while you try to reevaluate your position and grow a little bit and grow up and there are people who think this does in the car that there's no such thing as natural law but the universe doesn't intelligently restructure events some people have referred to this as karma in spiritual traditions fine I call it natural law call whatever you want some people will refer to it as a specific quality of quantum entanglement in na and of quantum physics terminology I'm a scientific based understanding if you are left brain and that's how you want to understand it look at quantum physics and quantum entanglement and it's experimentations in consciousness when certain actions or vibratory frequencies are displayed to DNA quantum mechanics will show you that these principles of natural law are true that they operate over vast distances instantaneously and they affect living matter and they intelligently reorder the field of energy that comprises everything to bring us the experiences that we need to learn and grow this isn't this isn't some mystical belief system rooted in some fairy tales that we're told by ancient people this is scientific understanding in the modern world proven through painstaking experimentation that is repeatable and demonstrable but the word isn't out about it that's the problem see the word get trickling down to the common individual from advanced Sciences like quantum mechanics doesn't trickle down to the average human being for many many years some estimates are upwards of 30 years that it's something that cutting-edge does not actually make it into the mainstream consciousness in certain documentaries and videos and people's work who have touched on this including my own are trying to get this information out there to people some great scientists like the John Hagelin Gregg Braden um Bruce Lipton and others nassim haramein phenomenal works by these individuals and many others that talk about this from a scientific perspective so again the mind control the form of mind control resistance to truth which people have dubbed deliberately ignoring reality is also a psychological condition and it goes hand in hand with ignorance it goes hand-in-hand with apathy it goes hand-in-hand with laziness and it kind of is the glue the kind of holds these three really painful dynamics that lead to further and further human suffering in place and this is called cognitive dissonance cognitive dissonance is seeing with your own eyes the results of what behaving certain ways will get you and what is actually taking place in the world you can see with your own eyes and yet you deliberately choose not to acknowledge that people have said even if the government had anything to do with the events of 9/11 orchestrated it in some way you know secret elements within the government orchestrated this event and you know deliberately killed people for justification to go into war and take and take natural resources from other sovereign countries and use it as an affront to attack our civil liberties which I definitely think all those things are the case but some people say even if that were somehow proven to be true I would still choose to ignore that and believe that it wasn't so because I don't want to live in that world that's not the world I want this place to be cognitive dissonance deliberately ignoring reality a big form of mind control as a matter of fact it really is the thing that makes mind control be able to be propagated and stay in place it's like a glue for mind control you can look at it as when people deliberately ignore that which is they're very susceptible to believing anything to believing mind control or they just make up they think I call those in cognitive dissonance their own personal arbiters of truth that's like my little name or label for people that are in that condition the arbiters of truth they someone granted them the incredible gift of being allowed to determine what reality is based on their likes or dislikes isn't that an awesome gift that they got I want to know how they got that how awesome is that imagine you get to determine what reality is what is actually taking place only based upon what you're comfortable enough to accept as being true that's awesome I got to get I got to get that situation I got to figure out how to get that working for me amazing the people are in this condition and this is a psychological disorder and sadly many many many people in society are afflicted with this disorder unknowingly if they really came to the knowledge of how dark things really are right now and and and whose hands that the steering wheel is in so to speak and understood that the true nature of the position that they're really in right now at this time in history most people choose to look the other way and ignore it because it's so horrible and with that being said I'll start to wrap things up I want to read a quote by a great philosopher Vernon Howard he said that human sickness is so severe that few can bear to look at it but those who do look at it will become well the way out is through there is no escape okay I've said this before on the show there is no escape from this condition you're not going to escape it by ignoring it cognitive dissonance is is not a effective tool to doing anything about the current condition than anyone is in it is a escape mechanism and it doesn't work and all it's therefore is because of fear the mind shuts down the person is sowing fear that they don't understand how to act and so the only choice they make is like an ostrich who puts its head in the sand to ignore reality you know that you've seen the picture of the monkeys with you know their hands over their eyes their ears in their mouth see no evil hear no evil speak no evil things are so bad too bad I can't I feel powerless to do anything about it so what's the best thing I could do I'll ignore it cognitive dissonance goes hand in hand with mind control ultimately we are the ones who need to use our will to do something about this condition these two conditions that go hand in hand mind control and cognitive dissonance look no further than the person in the mirror for where the solution lies when we change that individual then the external manifestation will change and not a moment before not a moment before next week what we're going to do here on the show is I'm going to I'm going to I'm wrapping up talking about the actual structures and the way that they work you could do some research on the the groups that I mentioned okay but next week what we're going to start to tackle is the actual methodologies of mind control what has been called the war on consciousness the war on you the actual methodologies of the manipulating sorcerers of this world that's all for this week folks I hope you'll tune in next week at the same time Tuesday at 7 p.m. I'm mark passio this has been what on earth is happening see you here next week everyone you

Topics: Occult "Sorcerers," Mystery Traditions, Basics Of Mind Control, Methods Of Manipulation

welcome everyone you are listening - what on earth is happening I'm your host mark passio my website is www.pevs.com today is Tuesday June 29 2010 the call-in number for this show feel free to call in at anytime as always there are no taboo topics on this radio program the call-in number is seven two four four four seven four four four once again the call-in number seven two four four four four seven four four four when you call in you have to give the call ID number the call ID number for this show is eight three five one five once again the call ID is eight three five one five so we have a pretty good show lined up for this evening hopefully we'll get to take some calls tonight as well tonight's topic will be a continuation of the themes that we've been talking about over the last couple of weeks on this show namely mind control and it's methodologies so I usually start off the show with some event announcements in the Philadelphia area I have three of them this evening coming up in less than two weeks now what is potentially shaping up to be a huge event in the Philadelphia area and a very important event for all of humanity when you understand the critical significance of the technologies that were invented by Nikola Tesla the Nikola Tesla energy independence celebrations 2010 July 9th 10th and 11th the Tesla Science Foundation brings together scientists inventors and enthusiasts for a three-day conference highlighting the need for a new energy paradigm this July in Philadelphia that Tesla Science Foundation will be hosting a three-day conference and celebration to commemorate Nikola Tesla's legacy and world vision hustla was a brilliant inventor who lived during the turn of the 20th century his innovations resulted in the implementation of alternating current radio the AC motor wireless technology and many other influential inventions that we now take for granted in the modern age Tesla's vision to bring clean free energy to the world through advanced wireless technologies was blocked by the financial and corporate interests of his time through this event the Tesla Science Foundation will bring together like-minded scientists inventors and enthusiasts to share the common goal of bringing Tesla's advanced energy technologies to fruition for the betterment of humanity and boiled boy do we ever need that at this time we need it as a hundred years ago when Tesla invented it but the world is crying out for it in the modern day the events scheduled for the Nikola Tesla energy independence celebrations are as follows on July 9th from 8 p.m. to 2:00 a.m. they will be holding a birthday celebration for Tesla Tesla was born on midnight between July 9th and 10th 1856 this will this birthday bash will be at the independence Visitor Center that's at 16 Market Streets in Philadelphia there's going to be a Tesla coil a competition we'll be firing many Tesla coils in honor of Tesla on his birthday night this event is free to attend the next day at the same location independence Visitor Center 6th and Market Streets from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. on July 10 Tesla Fest featuring exhibits vendors information art and music this event is also free to attend I have the honor of hosting one of the events as part of the energy independence celebrations for this year I'll be the master of ceremonies at the presentations and lectures at the Free Library of Philadelphia at 1901 Vine Street July 10th from 10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. the featured speakers are Russell Anderson Michael Kelly Tatiana Milotic Mike Michael treat mano Davina Michael Craner and Brian yet sir this event is also free to attend three of the five events as part of this conference are completely free so come on out learn about Tesla and its technologies and have some fun with us and have some fun helping to bring this message of awareness about clean energy technologies to other people as well to to kind of a wrap up the event or as a centerpiece I should say there is a reception dinner and concert being held the evening of July 10 that's Saturday July 10th from 6 p.m. to 11 p.m. at the Arch Street meeting house that's at 3:20 Arch Street in Philadelphia this will feature the theremin based on Samba the divine hand ensemble centered around the electronic instrument known as the theremin which is absolutely unique and it's like a you know a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to really get to hear a virtuoso with this instrument and the the be a conductor of this Orchestra ensemble is just that he is a virtuoso with the theremin and it's something that has to be really experienced this event both the dinner and the concert only $20 for a great evening out and supporting a great cause so the the last part of the entire conference will be the scientific conference this is geared mostly toward scientists and inventors this is Saturday July 10th and Sunday July 11th two-day conference 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at 2:00 Liberty Place on the 32nd floor that's at 1601 Chestnut Street the featured speakers are Robert Huth Tom Malone Gary Peterson James quorum Kenneth quorum James Hardesty fran mccabe anna atenas Kovich david rowe cignoli Russell Anderson Michael treat and Tatiana Milotic registration for the scientific conference is only $110 and you can register at the Tesla Science Foundation's website for emerging details see the conference website at wwlp.com oh oh RJ you can also join the Nikola Tesla Club meetup group for details about all of the events that the Tesla Science Foundation and the associated Nikola Tesla inventors Club hosts their meetup group is n Tesla meetup.com slash 38 that's NT e SLA meetup.com slash 3/8 so that's the Nikola Tesla energy independence celebrations coming up in less than two weeks in Philadelphia next event I'd like to plug is the Philadelphia UFO Awareness Day 2010 this is hosted by Pennsylvania mutual UFO network this will be taking place Sunday July 18th from noon to 6:00 p.m. and the good news is that this event is also free to attend there's going to be six speakers at this event and just added great news that from Temple University dr. David Jacobs will be headlining the philadelphia UFO Awareness Day 2010 David Jacobs will be giving a lecture on the abduction phenomenon so he'll be headlining it I also have the honor of having been asked to speak at this event so I will actually have a presentation there um my lecture will be entitled don't count on disclosure where I'm going to get into some of the deepest reasons the occult reasons for the cover-up of the phenomenon of extraterrestrial intelligence Chris August in will also be presenting he's a paranormal investigator his website is aliens the truth calm his lecture will also feature the topic of alien abductions bill Weber will also be speaking he is a Pennsylvania MUFON State section director and field investigator his lecture will be entitled UFOs and technology Michael Melton a Pennsylvania mutual UFO network state section director and field investigator will be giving a lecture entitled UFO investigations interviewing the witness and finally Bob Gardner Pennsylvania MUFON chief investigator and field investigator will be presenting credible and convincing evidence for the existence of UFOs again this event is Sunday July 18th from noon to 6:00 p.m. at Durham books and gallery one of the best bookstores in the Philadelphia area charm books is at 2005 Frankfort Avenue Philadelphia PA 19154 MUFON PA next mu f o NP a calm and germ books calm finally last event announcement I have and you'll be hearing a lot more about this in weeks to come the event is called free your mind a conference on consciousness mind control the occult this will be taking place in Philadelphia Saturday April 9th and Sunday April 10th 2011 the location is still yet to be determined but we're closing in on a definitive event location and I'll be announcing that over the next couple of weeks admission price will be $20 per day when we'll be looking to have approximately 12 to 14 confirmed speakers by the time this event is uh is hosted right now we have three confirmed speakers including myself Michael Kelly and Erin McCollum so this is already shaping up to be a great event and will be a lot more information presented on the show over the next several weeks about the free your mind conference a conference on consciousness mind control and the occult in Philadelphia in April of 2011 so those are the event announcements for the evening I guess what I'll do is very briefly recap what we've been discussing over the last couple of weeks here on what on earth is happening the topic that we've been deeply exploring over the recent weeks has been mind control in general and we talked about a couple of weeks ago the nature of a system that must be in place if mind control is going to be propagated and is going to be effective that system must have two general characteristics it has to be hierarchically structured meaning that it has to be set up in levels where those at higher levels are higher levels of awareness of the agenda of the organization or system those at lower levels are much more in number or much greater in number but they are much more ignorant regarding the true intentions and the true aims of the institution or organization that they are a part of at a lower level the second aspect of a system that uses mind control and manipulation to advance its aims and agendas is that it must be compartmentalized we talked about compartmentalization as breaking the structure into smaller subsystems such that each subsystem is unaware of the goals that the other subsystems are working toward are working to advance it's a blind leading the blind scenario it is a left hand not understanding what the right hand is doing scenario so these are the two most necessary aspects of a structure that is going to advance a hidden agenda the next thing that we talked about over the over last week was the nature of these systems in and of themselves are occult in nature and again this is a word we will be hearing a whole lot about as the show progresses as the week's go by because there is a negative and untrue Association attached with the word occult and this is in fact a part of mind control getting people to associate words with certain concepts and ideas play a word association game with any of your friends or family members regarding the word occult occ ult occult and when you bring that word up to most people they will immediately respond that they feel that that word generally means to them evil evil is the most commonly associated word with the word occult so test fits theory as this this statement just play a simple word association game with people ask them what the first word that comes into their mind when you say the word or cults and I guarantee you 95% of the time you will receive the answer evil and this is by design Oh cultists do do not want people to look into their ideologies they do not want people to look into their methodologies because once you do you understand you begin to understand and open up your mind about the hidden power structures of this world because that is all the word occult means and has ever meant the word itself simply means hidden it is derived from the Latin language as we talked about it comes from the Latin verb occult RA occult re is derived from the word oculus which is the Latin word for I as in that which we see with i ey e so occult simply means hidden from sight hidden to the eye to the scene hidden from sight not easily seen that is all the word occult means when we look at its etymology and derivation why would anyone want you to associate occult knowledge with evil well if you think it's evil you won't look into that knowledge and that knowledge would be much easier to control people with because the occult is a set of techniques and practices that can influence the mind that is what occult knowledge is and what better way to maintain control and influence over people's mind than to dissuade them from looking into the very techniques and the very methodologies that you are using to manipulate their minds if you get them thinking this is all evil and I I have no business looking into any of it and oh it's something that I'm afraid of and I should look into it all you have a right where you want them from the very beginning because they'll never understand the techniques that are being employed against them so that is how mind-control essentially works what I'm going to begin doing over the next several weeks is introducing different occult methodologies these are the methodologies of mind control that are employed by ocultist s-- people who know and have known these techniques in many cases for thousands of years because this stream of knowledge goes right back into our ancient past you know you've heard the term if people do not learn from the past they are doomed to repeat it well this is the case this is a true statement definitively true most of us are ignorant sadly you can say that's a negative statement but it happens to be a true statement most people are very ignorant about history about our past about the events that have occurred in our past and this is why most of the time we squander opportunities to see the same patterns as events play out in our world that have played out in in our past and if we miss those patterns if we are not aware of those patterns we are essentially sabotaging our own opportunities to see them coming this time around because time does move in cycles history does repeat itself this is not just saying time moves in sick Euler movements like wave patterns and it brings us opportunities that we may have failed to learn from in the past and often even if we did learn the lesson it will challenge us to prove that we learned the lesson in the past and if we're not aware of those dynamics if we're not aware of those patterns when they come up we will squander those opportunities for learning and growth and advancement in consciousness and suffering will be attached with that squandered opportunity so part of understanding the past is understanding how this stream of occult knowledge has not only been compartmentalized hidden structured in hierarchy meted out to people that other people at high levels of awareness and knowledge deemed worthy to receive it and they set themselves up as the keepers of said knowledge okay this is how they have been able to socially engineer and bring in so much covert control of people and that's why we see such a controlled society that we do today in every invasively in seeking to take over more and more aspects of our daily lives and the name of the game is control they don't call it mind control for no reason the name of the game is control covert control because a covert form of control is not as easily spotted as an overt or an open form of control see when there's an overt form of control exercised physically over people they're very aware of it because it's right in their face but when it's a form of mind control of covert control that form of control often goes unchallenged largely because it goes unseen unseen again the word occult means hidden from sight not easily seen available only to the initiated those who have begun the task of decoding this hidden knowledge and I'll tell you right now folks this is necessary to understand people will say oh we don't need to know all of the methodologies and all of the forms of control that are that are being used over the mind and how it's all occult based nonsense no shortcuts this does need to be understood it needs to be known how this works many people especially in New Age schools of thought and I'm not saying that all of that stuff is totally bad there's some good information in it but when they get into what you're talking about is negative because you're talking about how people are trying to control other people and we don't want to hear that we just want to you know meditate our way to the world peace or you know just work on our intuitive side or or or getting in touch with emotional qualities while all of these things are great and should be practiced and I'm not saying to stop doing those things but if you do not understand the covert methodologies that are being used to subvert people's consciousness that means their thoughts their emotions and their actions then you are essentially powerless to stop these negative patterns from recurring when they come up again in future times as these time cycles move forward into the future you may be able to overcome them temporarily with some of the techniques that quote-unquote New Agers advocating but you will not steal yourself and more importantly educate and steal the youth part and the youth against these covert practices and techniques that's why it's important to consciously be aware of how these techniques work and the further reason that it's critical to understand how they work is because in doing so we learn a great deal of knowledge about how our own minds and psyches work in the process of decoding these negative and often psychopathic techniques that are employed by these dark oak cultists as I have referred to them on previous shows they are sorcerers they are employing the art and science of manipulation techniques to get what they want at the expense of other people and almost invariably at their immense suffering at other people's and men's suffering because these sorcerers of consciousness as I refer to them as they are psychopaths they do not care about what happens to other people they have no empathy no basic feeling for the repercussion of their action upon anyone else they only care about their own comfort and well-being and as long as that is taken care of their attitude is it doesn't matter what happens to anyone else but me and that's the nature and the definition of a psychopath and that is indeed what these dark controllers are we shouldn't let that frighten us or intimidate us to speak the truth see people will say why aren't you afraid you're describing with their psychopathic often murderous individuals who will do anything to get their way doesn't that make you scared that somebody's going to do something you absolutely not and I mean that I do not care what anyone tries to do to me I don't live in fear of that happening and any of these darker cultists who may be listening to any of my work or listening to what I do I'm not afraid of you I don't care what you can do to me you're dealing with a will that has transcended normal human will and that only happens when you're not in the vibratory state of consciousness known as fear I'm going to speak this and nothing is going to stop me not even being released from a physical body if it should ever come to that which I'm not afraid of happening because I'll find a way to continue to do this nothing is going to stop me that's the kind of resolve we ultimately really need to come to when it comes to speaking truth to these power-mad lunatics that are currently running this Asylum called planet Earth because they are going to continue to do this until we stop them and the way we're going to stop them is by refusing to comply with their psychopathic ideologies and agendas and the only way we're going to get to that level of consciousness is by understanding the methodologies that they are employing against us to make us do their bidding thinking that we are getting something good for us in return therefore we have to become empowered through knowledge even if that knowledge is perceived as being dark disturbing quote-unquote negative okay it is quite disturbing to understand that mind control is something that is possible that is not only possible but is happening actively all around us it is an on-going aspect of our daily lives conditioning is everywhere it's in every structure that is that there is a fundamental part of daily living on this world whether it be the media that we take in these school systems the education of our of our youth political structures military structures employ mind control to outrageous levels businesses through marketing and other forms of propaganda and print advertisement and radio ads and TV ads you name it mind control is all around us and ultimately they are using ancient covert knowledge and that may be difficult for some people to come to terms with to accept the ancients knew an incredible amount about how the human mind and the human psychological structures that comprise the mind worked they understood how they operated they knew the psyche they knew that the most important knowledge to have was the knowledge of the human psyche on the Delphic Oracle in Greece it is inscribed how do you expect to know the wonders of creation if you do not know the wonders of your own house meaning the wonders of the self if you do not find that which is within you you have found nothing you will not understand anything that is outside of you because ultimately there really is no outside everything is generated by the mind the generative principle and the first principle in some of the ancient hermetic writings is that everything is derived from the mind the mind creates all of the experiences that we experience in external manifestation in other words the mind is the all the universe is mental everything that we encounter is a byproduct is a product of mind first for any idea to come into manifestation mind employed it for any object to come into manifestation it had to be thought of first before it was created the mind is the generator of our experience we create with the psyche we feel inwardly about that which we are generating with the mind and then we take actions based on the marriage of those two fundamental dynamics thought and emotion so action is the byproduct of those two other aspects of consciousness and we've talked about this at length on previous shows the three aspects of the way our consciousness manifests itself being our thoughts our emotions and our actions and how important it is to bring those into alignment and such that they operate as one so that we become a being that as we think so we feel so we act and we are non dual we are united all three of those aspects of consciousness have been brought into unison unity consciousness if we are not in that state of oneness within we are in duality consciousness and that is mind control if anybody can get you to take actions that you know you do not agree with you feel our moral you feel are unethical you feel are not right mind control is employed in some form ultimately the only way to truly transcend these methodologies of mind control is to raise your consciousness which is essentially your awareness of the patterns that are taking place both within yourself and in the external world around you and you do that by understanding how you work first and foremost and then when you understand that you'll start to understand in a wider sense what's really happening in the external realm because that's a byproduct of all of the internal spaces of individuals all of their internal makeup multiplied and then expressed outwardly it's all a byproduct of the individuated psyches of all the people on this planet and it's very common sense when you think about it in those terms we are creating the reality that we experience nothing outside of us so the answer is to understand enough about what we truly are how we truly work know the self and you will know the universe and the gods again inscribed upon the Delphic Oracle one of the seats of the mystery school traditions the sad state of affairs the human consciousness has come to in the modern day is because we as a whole have forgotten who and what we truly are and we do not know in mass it is not common knowledge sadly Calva psyche works what the components of the brain are what they're responsible for regulating and doing how they may become imbalanced and behaviors will follow certain kinds of behaviors will follow when certain structures in the brain are a significant level of imbalance people don't understand it as a whole how their brains function most people couldn't tell you any of the parts of the brain we've covered this on previous shows the structures of the human brain the physiology of the brain fascinating study neuroscience into understanding the behaviors that we see demonstrated and acted out all around us in the world so knowledge of self is what this is ultimately about and I cringe when I hear people say we can get through this we can get past this dilemma but the human species is it in in control and in low vibratory states of consciousness without knowing how Mind Control works good luck with that folks that's the route you want to go down you're going to be here and you're going to be in this position of suffering for a long long long time and I really it doesn't bother me how condescending that may sound some individuals who are listening because there are people who will say there's no such thing as mind control well I I don't I don't even care if that's some people's a belief or because that's all it is is a belief I don't believe that mind control is an operation I was employing these practices and techniques during my years of involvement in the occult I don't think they exist I don't believe anything about their existence I know they exist I know they're in operation and I know how they work and I don't make any apologies for that statement that happens to be the case I do understand this information that I'm presenting or I wouldn't present it to other people if I thought this was inaccurate I wouldn't be speaking about it I would keep it to myself until I was able to confirm it through personal experience or enough personal research into the matter of which I happen to have both of those criteria when it comes to this type of information the most important being direct experience in some of the occult orders which I'll probably be getting into and talking about over the weeks to come but what I want to do first and foremost is that tell people to understand this information is ancient it has been with humankind for thousands and thousands of years and it is essentially derived from what people have come to call the mystery traditions of consciousness and there are hundreds of orders that are part of these mystery school traditions but the instead of going in-depth into all of the different orders we could talk about we could talk about Freemasonry we can talk about Rosicrucianism we could talk about hermetic traditions we could talk about the Asafa chol traditions we could talk about the lamech traditions you could talk about Kabbalah on and on and on you could get into hundreds of mystical traditions that the thing that is important to keep in mind is that this information is essentially the most ancient form of psychology that has ever been with mankind this is knowledge of how the human psyche works and the underlying motivations of mankind that's what's important to keep in mind and in general people call the places the occult schools that this information has been derived from has been kept within and has been disseminated slowly over time to the elect the elite the enlightened whatever you want to call it I personally don't even like to use those terms because there they are elitist and they are separative I do not agree with the keeping back of knowledge no matter how seemingly dangerous or in the wrong hands you may deem it to be I don't agree with that concept that's why I am no longer and never will be any a member of any occult order I am a sovereign individual I represent no one I present me that's it I represent no one else I give no permission for anyone else to act as my representative I present my information interests qualities consciousness etc no one represents me and I represent no one there is no one no one's interests are being served or presented here except what I feel is powerful information about what is actually taking place on the earth in the times that we live in and I am disseminating that information as freely and as openly as I possibly can do it and as widely as are within my capabilities and the technologies that are available to me and the other minds that also want to see this in for important information disseminated so that's why I do this in the interests of the truth coming out about what is taking place and as I've said no one will dissuade me from that course no matter what kind of intimidation or scare tactics are used because I not backing down because I'm not afraid of what can be done to me because I understand I'm not this body so best of luck to anyone that wants to try to stop what I'm doing here best of luck to you that's all I can say so I see we have a caller on the line I'm going to go to the call and we'll see what Johnny P 21st you are on what oh my goodnes us so selfish how are you doing I'm doing good how are you not bad not bad well you have for us today if you want to bring up something or talk about something I saw that you called in I usually go to callers that call in if you were just listening that way that's fine but you want to bring up anything on air okay looks like key either wasn't ready or how about so yeah I'll give the calling number again if anyone wants to call in the technology that they show is done on his talk show it's a great service collaborative calling program so sometimes people just calling to listen to the show and they may not be prepared because you could also do it that way you can listen in on the caller number I kind of like would like to see the the the phones used for just people who want to participate and contribute something for the show so when I see someone calling I you know unmute them and take their call on the air it's fine if you want to listen but uh you know let's see if anybody wants to call in and actually get involved in the discussion the calling number is seven two four four four four seven four four four and the call ID number which you have to enter when you call in is eight three five one five so the call ID number seven two four four four four seven four four four and the call ID number is eight three five one five okay so what I want to do is again we're emphasizing this is ancient psychology that's essentially what mine controls techniques are the ancients through these mystery traditions or occult traditions began to understand far back in human ancestry how the structures of the psyche worked they understood the compartments of the mind of the brain the different components of the human brain and how they functioned and they understood that we either worked upon our understanding of these principles and dynamics also physiology okay we learned about this and we made ourselves better as far as the psyche was concerned more equipped to deal with anything that we may come into contact with situations that may arise we became more ethical and impact empathetic compassionate toward other individuals around us if we developed these understandings and if we worked with these principles of the psyche and delved into our selves to understand how these dynamics work within us they also understood that if we did not we would revert to almost an animal-like state of consciousness they also understood and that state of consciousness is all around us I mean we talked about being human but the fact of the matter is most people on this planet are not at the level of even human beings they are not being as a human is they act more like a member of the animal nature that lurks down within under the sub human level then they do a human many individuals in this world this is part of the mind control system they are attempting that the people who understand this knowledge and have perverted it have used it for their benefit only to subvert the consciousness of other individuals what they are doing with that knowledge and that covert form of control is essentially pushing the individuals of this planet down into lower states of consciousness through fear and manipulation until they become more like animals than they are like human beings and that may be also difficult for most people to hear that's fine the truth remains the truth regardless of what we feel about it this is one of the techniques of mind control play upon emotional preferences we'll talk about this extensively this is one of the most effective mind control techniques people don't like hearing direct truth once they have come to a certain level of comfort regarding what they feel is true in the world there are perceptions of reality they get conditioned into this state of perception that they believe is true and then that becomes comfort because those neural patterns in the brain are nested and they are hardwired into the brain we started talking about this a bit last week this creates emotional patterns in the brain and when somebody hears information that conflicts with those emotional dynamics that are hardwired into them they rebel against hearing it at all this is called cognitive dissonance it's a psychological condition it's called wishing to lie to yourself even in light of evidence and abundant information to the contrary let's look at example the example of the recent g20 conference in Canada and the one that happened before that months ago in Pittsburgh Pennsylvania well you could ask people who had seen the footage of this conference if that's what you want to call it that requires quote-unquote security I don't know about you but to me works done in the light of day for the good of humanity don't need any kind of security like what is evidence at the g20 okay yet you'll show people the footage of their free speech rights being decimated right in front of their eyes Robert bullets being fired at people LRAD cannons being fired of people people being outright beaten having done nothing nothing with quit clubs pepper-sprayed having done nothing but assemble and speak and if you want to get into the whole o anarchists are coming with their trash cans to smash windows and smashing windows with chairs etc please this is another psychological warfare tactic called Agent Provocateur and this is you hire a group or you have a covert group that are undercover agents acting as the opposition you get them to create a violent or chaotic situation so you can justify going in and beating on people or spring tear gas into the crowd it's the Hegelian dialectic this is called chaos magic I refer to it as chaos sorcery it is starting a chaotic event so you can get a confused reaction and then you can propose that you sneak in to use that opportunity to propose a solution that would ordinarily be completely frowned upon if very simple I call it chaos confusion opportunity create the chaos wait for the confused reaction and then use that opportunity to slip in your predetermined solution which ordinarily would not have been stood for this is philosophy that was basically um basically derived out of the writings of Georg Hegel german philosopher who did not advocated advocate this dialectical principle to be used in such a manipulative way but yet that is how his his writings have come to be interpreted and used I don't feel that that's the original intention for Hegel's dialectic however that is how the mind controllers who come up with these schemes and plots and inside jobs and you know sorcery is what it is it's sorcery over the mind that's what they're using it for and we'll get into that as a technique before I even list the multi-faceted techniques because the mind is accosted not at one level but at multifaceted levels and and multifaceted methodologies are employed to subvert the human psyche before I even get into listing what they are and then we'll talk about them we'll start to break them down one at a time over the next several weeks what I want to do is just basically give a general outline of what are the basic ways that mind control works on people what are the basic principles that underlie all of the forms of mind control that are out there and when you really break this down when you break each of the manipulation techniques down you see that there are only a few underlying principles upon which mind-control is based and when I when I explicit there some people are going to be skeptical they're going to say it can't be that easy there's no way it's that simple there has to be more to it than that well truth is always simple folks and in keeping with that it may confuse some people to initially hear that manipulation and deception is also simple it is not as complex as people want to make it out to be once these basic building blocks are understood you can see it everywhere because it is quite simple and the simplest things are the most effective things the problem in seeing it resides in the complexity that the occult controllers want to embed into our thinking they want us to think they want to manipulate us into thinking that the universe is irreducibly complex that there are no basic fundamental principles upon which the psyche or the mind work upon they want you to think that it is so enormous ly complex that you can never understand anything so why bother to try that is one of the key fundamental underlying techniques that is used in occultism and we will talk about how simplicity is replaced with or you know subverted by this notion of complexity truths are fundamentally simple so is mind control here are the basic underlying fundamental principles upon which mind control works here they are words is number one and perhaps the most powerful words the use and meanings of words is one of the fundamental techniques of mind control as strange as that may seem to to think of words are fundamental to controlling other people's minds the second fundamental principle is color color yes the basic colors that we see with our eyes these are frequencies words are sounds which we emit from our vocal cords from our throats the throat chakra the energy that comes from this spiritual vortex or center of energy within the body through the vocal cords passing air of vibration over them this is the vibratory energy it is a frequency words color so we have found and site is already working upon colors of the visible spectrum of light are frequencies they are wavelengths that we decode just like we decode wavelengths of sound with our ears the words colors the next basic principle upon which mind control works is shape now we can talk about shape as archetypes a r CH e type-2 an archetype is a fundamental simple shape that it has an intrinsic meaning an inherent meaning that is self existing in the human psyche and that is another concept that some people will have a hard time with that a shape in and of itself already has a pre-assigned meaning within the structures of the mind I'm not going to attempt to convince someone that that's true I happen to be aware that that is the case that that is true Ark types are simple fundamental shapes the circle is one of them the square the triangle the blade as it is called an upward pointing Chevron shape the chalice a downward pointing Chevron shape or a v-shape the straight line the cross these are Ark types they have deep intrinsic meaning self-existing meaning in the human psyche the just being displayed they will put the the viewer into a certain state of consciousness you will see lines used in certain that straight lines used in certain advertisements used for a more logical left brain purpose you will see curves and and circles used when there is a more esoteric or spiritual or intuitive dynamic attempting to be communicated or displayed or associated with in an ad for example so we have words we have colors we have shapes next one is a slightly more complex one and it is the last one that I'll be going into to talk about the basic principles of mind control and this is these are symbols look at the word symbol a symbol is a series of arc types put together to form a more complex deeper meaning arcsight a symbol you are combining shapes you're combining colors sometimes words into an arrangement a specific arrangement it is for very specific purposes of reaching the psyche at fundamental levels of awareness so symbols more complex arrangements of archetypal shapes often with colors and words attached to them so you're employing all of the first three dynamics that I spoke about the word symbol itself okay it's an instrument that resonates sound wave vibrations vibratory sound energy a symbol when it is struck resonates it vibrates back and forth that's what a symbol does as well meaning an arrangement of more complex and more complex arrangement of simple archetypal shapes symbols are a language unto themselves they are read just like words they are combined just like words in a sentence so we will go into over the next many weeks how all of these basic fundamental principles come together to influence individuals thinking to influence individuals emotions and to influence individuals behaviors that's what mine control is therefore so in a more proper sense we could not even talk about it as mind control what we're really talking about is consciousness control because the consciousness is the expression of thoughts which arise from mind emotions which arise from the inward expression of thought within the body emotion is manifested in wordly in the physiology and the control over behavior or actions which is the outward expression or the the byproduct of thought and emotion so what we're really talking about here is the control of human consciousness and as difficult as it may be to register with some this is accomplished through words colors shapes and symbols so sound energy light energy and form energy that is how human consciousness is manipulated when the knowledge of how this may be done is used for egoic purposes for the Evo for just serving that lowercase s self that we talked about in relation to and in contrast with the higher self or the high will will with a capital W this manipulation these manipulation techniques are employed to serve the ego the lowercase s self and the lowercase W will the egocentric often psychopathic will of the sorcerer who is employing them the one who knows how this hidden occult knowledge of the human psyche works and employs it not to raise consciousness of others not to help foster a consciousness of non-duality of unity consciousness of recognizing that all are one and as one suffers all are in suffering but to serve only the agenda and the selfish ego centered self-centered view and and drives of the practitioner of these techniques himself or herself and that is how that is the difference between these techniques these techniques can be used to enlighten and to enhance consciousness it is how they are used that determines what results as a result of employing them and why I'm going to get into a deep breakdown of all these techniques is to empower people not to put them in fear you are empowered when you understand how something works because it is affecting you whether you believe this or not does not matter again people will hear that and they will get angry get as angry as you want as angry as you want it's utterly meaningless it is absolutely it's negligible it does not matter whatsoever you don't need to believe that this is an operation see some people say well I don't believe in that stuff oh you're the commercials on TV I don't pay attention to them so they have no effect on me well guess what if you're in the room they're having an effect on you because they're going speaking right to the subconscious mind they're bypassing the conscious mind and the psychologists that analyze every microsecond of a TV ad they understand that that's exactly what they're doing they're in total full cooperation with these companies to penetrate the outer veil of human consciousness and slip messages right into the subconscious they would do it at a deeper level through subliminals if they were even allowed to do that and they slipped many of them in because even regulators and people who are supposed to watch out for that stuff allegedly protecting the public interest against you know invasion of the subconscious realms of the psyche that they don't even understand how a lot of these techniques work one of the things to instantly verify this this is one people can see right out in the open it's very simple just watch your nightly news broadcast whether in your local area or nightly national news just just do that do it tonight turn on any news program the 11 o'clock news in your area and you I won't even tell you what this is Hey you tell me how's that tell me what call you're gonna be bombarded with throughout the install most the entirety of the news broadcast find out watch an average news broadcast 11 o'clock news your local station and tell me the predominant color that you will see throughout the entire news program once you have that answer then tell me why that's the critical part you can understand oh yeah here they're showing me this color repeatedly over and over and over in almost every segment well why why would they keep displaying that same color over and over and over why not a different color why not a rainbow of colors there's a reason for it and it's mind control people know how this stuff works and they're using it very deliberately and calculatedly it's no accident so if anybody knows the answer to that question call in bring it up on the show I can tell you why but do it tonight and then call in next week tell me what's a predominant color on your local news broadcast on television and if you could find out why even all the more power to you call in and you tell you tell the audience why words colors shapes and symbols sound energy light energy form energy the energy in archetypes this is the basic fundamental of methodologies at the core fundamental level that mind control is fundamentally built upon that is the foundations for mind control or consciousness control so with that having been established and with establishing that sorcerers of this planet the people who understand these psychological weapons these techniques are essentially deriving their information and their methodologies from what we have called the mystery traditions of consciousness these traditions predate modern psychology and psychiatry and they go right back into our ancient past they are free history pre-recorded writings free civilization as we know it now that's why they are called the mystery traditions the true origins are indeed so old that they become murkier and murkier the farther back into the distant and ancient past you go you attempt to research they have been here with us essentially as long as we have been on this planet that's how long mind control has been with us and I don't tell you that to instill fear we need to understand a significant amount about how this state of consciousness that we are experiencing on the earth came to be we need to understand a significant about amount about the traditions of occult knowledge from which these sets of techniques have been derived over thousands of years so look at the sorcerers or the ocultist of this world the mind manipulators of this world those who are employing these sets of techniques for covert control over the consciousness of the people of Earth look at them as the most ancient psychologists they have taken their knowledge from the most ancient psychologists that ever lived who penned this information about how the psyche works put it down in books and in oral traditions over thousands of years right up into the modern age this knowledge has been kept hidden and passed down through the generations and that's why there has always been a small controlling class because this controlling quest has this knowledge of how the human psyche works and they use it all the time they do not hesitate to use it for their sick demented ego driven psychopathic purposes because all they care about is themselves they are from a generational long lineage of Psychopaths that goes back right into the ancient world and I don't tell you that to encourage or to inspire fear in anyone understanding this is empower immense it is empowering to understand how we are being controlled because only in understanding how we are being controlled do we eventually build up our psyches such that we become psychologically resistant to these methodologies of covert control over human consciousness it's like lifting weights folks I couldn't throw a 200 pound dumbbell at you and expect you to catch it if you've never lifted any weights in in your life but if you worked your way up and built the muscles and your arms up to a point where you are so strong that that wouldn't even be like holding a lot of weight it would be possible that would take time however see there is a time dimension in this time is not wholly illusory it is not wholly an illusion as many people in New Age teachings will teach time is a requirement I look at it as a spiritual currency of which there are two time is one that's why we say we spend time or what are you purchasing with that time you're spending a form of spiritual currency by what you do with the time you are allotted the other form of currency is another thing we say we pay we spend time and we pay attention so it does require time and attention to understand these methodologies and how they work and it requires time and attention to understand how the human psyche essentially works and only in doing so are we building up the muscle that is required to become psychically and psychologically strong enough to resist this form of mind control when we built up that muscle so to speak we become strong enough to actively resist covert control over alle consciousness and I will never ever capitulate to the notion that it is not necessary to consciously actively understand how these techniques work you're not going to get you're not going to take a shortcut and win if that's what you're thinking and many people in the New Age movement and I know I keep you know talking about that negatively like I'm attacking it and in a way yes I am I'm attacking the New Age ideologies that are out there I'll never look at the negative don't spend any time on that only just work on you know understanding the higher aspects of consciousness nonsense and BS you need to know how the negative works as well as the positive if you're going to be balanced and is is for as long as the human species does not understand these quote unquote negative technologies of the mind is as long as they will be manipulated by them get over it get over it and I know okay that's that's a very harshly stated that's very you know that you could say okay that's that you're viewing that in a one-track way saying whatever you like I'm explaining how this dynamic does indeed work you're not going to take a shortcut through it and really be conscious and really be awoken and really be steeled against a negative influence trying to control you doesn't work that way folks get to get over that New Age notion notion that there's some kind of instantaneous Satori or instant enlightenment understanding how mind control works and understanding how the human psyche works takes time and attention and that's what enlightenment ultimately is how are you spending your time what are you paying attention to who are you paying attention to who are you paying attention to who are you listening to and you know why we're in the the morass that we are in why we're in the ditch that we have dug for ourselves because we haven't done this work in the early early years of our lives most of us are so mind controlled in so conditioned by our own parents because they are mind controlled and conditioned and word that was done to them by their parents because they were mind controlled and conditioned it's a self-perpetuating dynamic once we break it then we can start bringing up conscious children because we can teach them this information from a very young age and help them to understand that these these negative influences are all around us and we need to be strengthened against them and that is done through knowledge of self through knowledge of how our psyche works and through knowledge of how these manipulate or ii- efforts and techniques do indeed work as a methodology of influencing the mind and behavior so let's start out with the principle of no shortcuts no shortcuts time and attention focused for the right reasons for true care this is bringing together the left brain which requires progression of ideas in a linear way and analysis being able to break down and put back together alchemists referred to this as solve a at coagula which means I'm sorry coagula at solve a to break down and then to reintegrate break something down understand its parts understand its constituent elements then you will be able to see how it all fits together and you'll be able to integrate not only that as an idea but you'll be able to integrate yourself your consciousness your thoughts your emotions and your actions into a unison a synergy a oneness a non duality as you think so you feel so you act and that's the goal here and there's no shortcuts to that it comes through awareness of patterns within us and around us and that's what consciousness is so we do need to know these principles we can't expect to float by on autopilot and get it by accident it doesn't work that way we do need to use the logical left brain an analytical part of the brain but we need to use that in conjunction with the Sacred Feminine intuitive nurturing and caring and empathetic empathetic right brain hemisphere the Sacred Feminine energies of the goddess so to speak our feminine nature whether we are male or female this isn't male or female this is masculine and feminine energies and thought dynamics coming together as one the balancing of the left brain hemisphere with the right brain hemisphere to open up the all-seeing eye or the third eye of it as it has been called the third eye chakra true knowledge true mastery I call the state Dominion the rulership of the kingdom of self understanding what you have control over and being in control of those things and you have control over nothing except your own thoughts your own emotions and your own actions and you have control over nothing else but those three things all forms of external control are an illusion based in the dynamic of fear basic in the energy of fear so understanding why it is critical to know these methodologies why we're not going to get around the low point in consciousness that we have come to and solve it without understanding these principles let let's begin this week to look at the multi-faceted techniques that the sorcerers the dark Oh cult controllers manipulators are using are employing knowledge the date predates our current civilization that goes back into the ancient world thousands of years old let's look at some basic techniques specific techniques that they use to manipulate human consciousness and this has been called many many names this overarching war because that's what this is this is a war on consciousness that is what I prefer to call this whole set of techniques which will be breaking down over many weeks here on the show we will be doing this for several weeks I can't say how many you might be able to do a couple of methodologies per week maybe we can go through this in the next two months maybe eight eight future weeks maybe ten who knows maybe more than that but I'm going to spend a lot of time on mind control I'm gonna I'm gonna parlay that time spent on techniques of mind control over the weeks we will get into specific forms of occultism connected with some of these techniques and we will start to break that down and I will you can view this almost as an occult initiation an initiation into occult knowledge and that is a positive thing because you'll be receiving some of the information you can explore it so in so much incredible detail on your own if you're a driven person if you like to read if you like to do research if once somebody gives you a little bit of information you take that ball and you run with it the amount that the speed with which you can acquire and accumulate great amounts of empowering information by what you're going to hear over the next many weeks on this show we'll be able to take you from a level of seeing part of the picture for those who are already partially aware to Christ be an enormous an enormous ly greater and wider picture of the reality that is actually occurring in our world and that's the goal here on this program because what we're alternately trying to do is get people to understand what the causal dynamics the cause the root cause factors of what is causing what we see manifested in our external reality if we don't address the causal factors then we are essentially continuing to bandage a self-inflicted wound but we're never addressing the question of why are we inflicting the wound to begin with we're just screaming out for more bandages it's like putting on a movie and complaining that wow I really hate this movie let me go and smash the screen that I'm projecting the movie on to instead of changing the movie at the source which is the projection the projector you're never going to do any good by continuing to bandage and treat a self-inflicted wound I I liken it to this I joke around and say with people the people of Earth are an entire world of cutters you ever hear about this really you know very deeply disturbing psychological derangement of people that become so self-loathing due to addictive patterns due to chemical imbalances due to extreme right brain imbalance of our own feelings of unworthiness that they start to cut into their flesh with blades and other sharp objects and that they relieve some of the self-loathing through cutting themselves extremely disturbing but there's look it up many people do this and you probably have heard about this well the world is it is an entire world of Conner's we live on a world of cutters and you know what we've come up with as the quote/unquote solution for being cutters make more bandages our entire culture is crying out for bandages more bandages this is the most important thing we can have as bandages nobody or I should say very few people want to address the issue of why are we cutters think about it maybe if we addressed the question why are we cutters we might just maybe get to the point of consciousness where we would stop inflicting the wounds well that's what I'm trying to do here on this show to inspire people to want to get to that place of consciousness to know why the answer to the question why but first it's got to be asked we asked that question and then we get to the causal dynamics of what is really creating the reality that we are experiencing once we do that then we're in a position then we're in an empowered position to create true change true lasting solutions a change in the underlying dynamic of what is creating that external situation and that is our consciousness that is what is creating that external situation it isn't a really external situation at all it is derived from that which is within us so that which is within is what will become manifested without again one of the hermetic principles basic laws as above so below as within so without this set of manipulative techniques has been called the war on consciousness that is essentially what I refer to it as the great research from Michael - sorry on who has generated so much prolific works deep efforts to attempt to enlighten mankind as to these dynamics has called these sets of techniques the war on you this is the war on you and there's no other war that's really being waged on planet Earth all the other quote-unquote wars are all deceptions they're all lies they're all fabrications they're all made up they're all smoke screens and diversions to get your attention focus on anything but the war on you because there's no war on drugs that's a war on consciousness there's no war on homelessness there's no war on poverty there's no war on ignorant there is only a war on consciousness being waged on this planet that's the only war that's going on understand that if you don't already if you do already try to help other people understand that this is taking place and understand what the techniques are that foster and perpetuate this war on consciousness in my presentations over the last couple of years I have basically included within them you could take a look at these videos on my website what on earth is happening dot-com I have included 14 of these basic techniques there are many others but these are the 14 techniques which I personally believe are the most powerful are the most prevalent are the ones that are the most active in society and every one of these techniques in some form or another is to keep you spinning your wheels accepting untruths accepting deception and manipulation and essentially steering you away from an understanding of your own consciousness and your own higher self controllers don't want you empowered by getting in touch with the higher aspects of your own consciousness which I have referred to as the higher self capital s self you can call that the spark of the divine you can call that the human soul you can call that spirit I don't care what you call it it's basically the same thing we're talking about here you have a version to spiritual language or what has traditionally been religious terminology okay call it self call it whatever you want call it the underlying intelligence that's inherent in nature that is within us all doesn't matter what you call it it's just a label it's just a name it's the same dynamic force of energy that we are all made of I I call it the higher self okay these are the techniques that are employed to control the human consciousness they are I will simply list them then we can start going into a breakdown of them week by week and again I'll try to cover maybe a couple each week the first of these methods of manipulation these sorcerer techniques is called obfuscation so I'll spell that for the listening audience obfuscation is OB f u SC 8000 n abuse ocation this means confusing in a simple way one thing for another but most of the time the thing you are confusing with another thing is the polar opposite of that very thing so black is white up is down left is right etc that's obfuscation we'll get into it in detail the second technique is called world view poisoning world view poisoning this is getting people to have a this unified view of themselves and others not caring about the suffering of others the whole misanthropy hating humanity in general thinking that there are too many people the world is overpopulated etc etc etc world view poison there are many different ways that our world views which we talked about the concept of world view can become utterly poisoned and this is a big sticking point it's one of the most critical forms of manipulation we'll talk about that in upcoming weeks the exploitation of primal ears yes humanity has primal fears that stem from our ancient ancestor E and former ways of life that we lived in for hundreds or thousands of years and these patterns become ingrained in the very physiology of the human brain and that the biochemical patterns of the synapses of the brain neural pathways have built up people have fears that are ancient that they don't understand their archetype of fears I call them primal fears a primal fear is the fear of darkness fears of animals fears of abandonment fears of chaos and disorder heavily played upon the exploitation of primal fears that is the manipulate Ori technique number three number four the technique or the strategy of divide and conquer if you're going to conquer and rule a group of people you need to have them divided amongst each other always fighting over there would be differences keep them separated you want to rule people you have to keep them separated keep them fighting amongst themselves so they don't recognize a common enemy threatening the entire society divide and conquer it is true that united we stand and divided we fall in consciousness we have to understand how these techniques work to get us constantly in fighting amongst ourselves and then we don't really have any power because we've become atomized the divide and conquer strategy we'll get into that much more technique number five indoctrination instead of education there is no better way to put a culture undermine control than to indoctrinate the young this is what we talked about briefly when we talked about the prison of the left brain when we went into the barriers to self-realization all the things that stop us from written with a recognition of self true self so a doctrine Asian this is what we have in the Western world in place of true education it is a form of systematic instruction that is geared almost entirely to the left brain logical linear progressions of thought regurgitated back onto the piece of paper effort is memorized that's what we have instead of true education in this country to get somebody to accept the set of beliefs unwaveringly indoctrinate them we'll get into that technique number six widely in prevalently use controlled opposition playing two sides off against each other to achieve the result of not getting people to see the real hidden controller controlled opposition well the agenda is the the one who's wielding the agenda is the puppet master in the background holding the two puppets but he's making them fight amongst each other and people are watching the puppet show going hello I like the puppet on the left no I like the puppet on the right when in fact they're not making any of the real decisions or calling any of the real shots the puppet master is and he's getting these controlled opposition groups or puppets to war amongst each other just to put on little dog-and-pony show a little puppet show as a means of distraction just to distract from where the true power is being wielded from and to distract one from understanding the true self to get them looking into anything that creates division and creates infighting goes hand in hand with divide and conquer technique number seven a huge one and probably one of the ones that's the most monolithic and monumental and is going to take some of the most effort to overcome because as I stated before in previous weeks the biggest most unquestioned form of mind control which is the only religion the only true religion of this planet is the monetary system Dogma is a completely unquestioned belief the monetary system has become Dogma on this world who questions the very existence of money well the only people that really truly question the very existence of money are people who are no longer under mind control because money has never been real is it real now and never will be real and that's something that most people will go to their doom refusing to accept to their doom they will take enormity of suffering unto death and still refuse to accept that true reality if there is no such thing as money in the natural world doesn't exist never has and never will but the financial system is the most monolithic form of mind manipulation that has ever existed on this planet it's more pervasive than any religion and it is the overarching religion this is the widest held belief in something that holds back the evolutionary progress of humanity that isn't the most widely accepted in every culture in every corner of the globe the monetary system so we'll get into that as one of the forms of manipulation and mind control the eighth method is the control of mass media if you control what information people get to see in here you basically control their consciousness ix methodology is food in quotes and medicine in quotes and we could do many shows about this because this is also monolithic and it is also one of the things that keeps people under the most control through the destruction of them of the physical vehicle for consciousness the body and the brain we are actively being poisoned through what we eat and the so called medications that we take in the world and that is also something that people will be very resistant to hearing but it is constantly going on all over the world our food is of sub-standard quality and medication is often poison that does way more harm than it could ever do good and what will expose a lot of this on on this show in future weeks that was technique number nine technique number ten the method of manipulation the illusion of time here's where we get into a more abstract one there is a heady notion and we will look at time as a abstract notion that basically controls the subconscious time that is based in physical objects moving in space that materializes time and since time is so the concept of time is so intricately interwoven into human consciousness it materializes human consciousness again this is an abstract and heady concept we'll get into that in future weeks technique number eleven the denial hassle ridicule factor or in other words us policing ourselves because we don't want to be viewed as the conspiracy nut or the guy who thinks non-level is an inside job or the guy who thinks that Satanists were on the world etc etc etc I don't want to be viewed outside of the quote unquote norm doesn't matter if the norm is a group of mind controlled followers I just rather not have their derision and ridicule I want to stay in the hassle free zone you know in denial cognitive dissonance ignoring reality the ostrich with its head in the sand I call this the DHR factor denial hassle ridicule and then we'll look at the three big huge techniques but even I would say even transcend the financial system because they go so deep to the human psychological subconscious mind this is religion religion specifically as occult binding and we will talk about on this show how the Oh cultists of this world are the inventors of the originators of all of the world's religions and that will be a painful thing for many people to hear this invented the religions that you believe in folks don't want to believe it believe whatever you want that's what they hit they invented all of the religions of the world every one of them you can discover this you can read about this you can actually research this for yourself start to look into the origins of religions instead of just listening to what people say about them they were derived from these mystery school traditions that I'm referring to that's technique number 12 religion binding as I refer to it as simply because that that's what religion is the next technique number 13 is the use of subversive symbolism symbolism that actually subverts the conscious mind and goes right to the subconscious these are complex archetypes come combinations of shape sound color words etc and we will go in extensively into breakdowns of symbolic language entire sigils occult sigils we will break down complex occult symbols hopefully we'll create some very symbolically literate individuals by the time we're finished breaking down occult symbolism technique number thirteen subversive use of symbols and finally the big gun and the one most people always fall for over and over and over and over you may have heard of it referred to as false flag attacks they you may have heard of it as problem reaction solution which I've talked a bit about earlier on this show create the problem wait for the confused and chaotic reaction and then take that opportunity to offer your solution that is always based in control always based in the giving up of more freedoms the giving up more of your inherent rights and energy to be protected to be protected have security to be safe right well I call this what it is this is chaos sorcery manipulation through the fear of chaos with orchestrated events to bring about a predetermined solution to the problem that you created yourself as the sorcerer of consciousness I don't call it chaos magic as some have referred to this as this is chaos sorcery as we seen in previous shows I look at a significant difference between the dynamic of magic the techniques of magic and the techniques of sorcery because they are used for grandly different purposes I'm going to leave it there for this evening instead of bombarding people with even more I see we have a caller on the line I'll wrap up the show with this call so here we go caller from Southwest Ohio you are on what on earth is happening what do you have for us it is hello it is the serene being from Cincinnati checking in with what on earth is happening calm hey how are you good how about you mark good to hear from you hey good to talk to you again hey uh I am excited about it can am i coming in clearly absolutely I hear you perfectly excellent I dialed on a regular landline this time instead of my cordless no problem and thanks again for taking my call tonight I am excited about what you're talking about I don't think that people realize what you've announced I mean you've enumerated a lot of things tonight which is overwhelming unto itself but highly important highly important ladies and gentlemen if you have not gathered a pen and paper to to start taking notes I implore you to start taking notes now as Mark is beginning to reveal the most important aspects of the ancient mystery schools of Babylon mark himself is taking this on his shoulders many people have tried many people have failed but mark is going to do it and I feel it mark I know it mark you have alluded to the ancient mystery schools the knowledge the ancient tomes which have not been shared with us the profane the unclean masses mark we are excited that you have deign to share this with us as stated I don't think people understand what you're attempting to do and and we as a people are very excited that you're going to share this information with us firstly and thank you I thank you and I'm excited about it I have a good feeling about it I think that you know there's there's an energy that is palpable and tangible to go along with this and I think if people do apply themselves with this information they will go far they can understand a whole lot and it will get them to a whole new level of awareness about what is really going on in the world this is the underlying these are the underlying causal factors about what we're seeing play out we need to stop looking at it from a perspective of oh I hate what's going on out there and even though the techniques that are being used to to covertly covertly take control of the human psyche to get us to create negative events in our external our so-called external situations once we take back that power and we are not immune we become psychologically immune to these negative influences over the manipulating the mind then we have taken back our power and we can use it for the true benefit of our species and that is the ultimate goal why I'm putting out this information and again this is derived from first-hand experience one of the big differences is I was involved in this myself I make no bones about that I've been open about that and I understood how immoral some of the things that were taking place with regards to this information and these techniques and that's why I'm going to speak about it openly I'm going to get this information out into the world as much as with is within my capability to do so no one's going to get me to back down from that I don't care who threatens me or what is attempted to do to me like I said at the place in consciousness I have come to the will that I have been able to build up within myself to do something like this transcends normal aspects of the average human will because it's not really me I've given over my will to that higher case w-will and said let my will not be done let thy will be done and that is why I'm going to continue to speak the truth and reveal this information and not be dissuaded so caller I think you so much that about wraps up this show I will see you guys here next Tuesday we'll continue to go into mind-control techniques and and uh manipulation methodologies I'm mark passio this is what on earth is happening see you next week everyone thanks for listening you enthusiasts for a three-day conference highlighting the need for a new energy paradigm this July in Philadelphia the Tesla Science Foundation will be hosting a three-day conference and celebration to commemorate Nikola Tesla's legacy and world vision Tesla was a brilliant inventor who lived during the turn of the 20th century his innovations resulted in the implementation of alternating current radio the AC motor wireless technology and many other influential inventions that we now take for granted in the modern age Tesla's vision to bring clean free energy to the world through advanced wireless technologies was blocked by the financial and corporate interests of his time through this event the Tesla Science Foundation will bring together like-minded scientists inventors and enthusiasts who share the common goal of bringing Tesla's advanced energy technologies to fruition for the betterment of humanity the event schedule is jam-packed there's something here for everyone finally the scientific conference is a two-day event Saturday July 10th and Sunday July 11 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. this will be happening at 2 Liberty Place on the 32nd floor to Liberty places at 1601 you can join the Nikola Tesla Club meetup group on meetup calm at n Tesla meetup.com slash 38 so on the line with us right now the president and founder of the Tesla Science Foundation of Philadelphia mr. Nick launch our Nick how are you good how are you very good very good it's great to have you with us tonight on what on earth is happening why don't you tell the audience a little bit about yourself how you got to begin the Tesla Science Foundation and what the goals are for the energy independence celebrations and anything else you'd like to talk about oh I don't know from my early age I always but I was only supposed to made by Tesla and you use it will actually be start this first Nikola Tesla table probably last year was really our first with a good year and this year is very better than before you get the the open meetup group then that pretty much would bring a lot of people in they have over could be five different invent in last 20 months or like probably I which is one in healthcare month a lot of different people coming plus and now this energy independent celebration is actually you named that you had that palette of that it was all working together and trying to figure out what will be interesting for general public and be bringing a lot of different things so area no one will have excuse don't come there because they will be if something for everyone yes yellows all these tougher to stay and will be there the same thing is like our members is really different and they delivering different ideas so really supporting each other and all this stuff and I'm really glad the goodness exists and I'm one of you guys that's wonderful absolutely negative we thank you for what you're doing as the founder of the Tesla Science Foundation and again I've been promoting this for many weeks on this show because I think it is of critical importance to the evolutionary future of our species it is that important that we work together to try to forge a new energy paradigm for our species because with the one that we are addicted to and the one that we are using right now we are destroying not only ourselves in competition for energy through wards through endless wars and imperialism but we are literally beginning to destroy the very living ecosystem the living planet upon which we depend for life and this cannot continue if we have any if we have learned anything over the last 100 years being using and being addicted to this immoral energy paradigm it is it should be that this cannot continue indefinitely there is a finite amount that Nature herself is going to allow this to continue for and if we have any wisdom we are going to tune in to that frequency and really listen and understand and develop a little bit of internal wisdom that we really don't have the right to continue of generating and distributing energy in the ways that we're doing it now because it is all based on artificial lack scarcity and competitive consciousness competitive mentality and that's a dualistic way of seeing each other and especially of seeing the world so that is why I became involved with with your cause and that is why I think this is one of the most important things that we can bring attention to to the wider public good so Nick you have anything else to say about the upcoming events to the audience to the listening audience any a particular aspect that you want to talk about a little bit more actually I don't know I really think that this can come out and enjoy this three days we will have time and they can go on our website and they can not questions maybe you have person because it's so much they were doing on I don't know it would be that I would be there able to explain all this stuff I I would say I think you should bring maybe other guys would organize paid and able days to talk a little bit about Park area and you know maybe David personally could talk about science and scientists there well if you'd like to get in touch with them and tell them to call in I would be happy to put them on the air and speak with them about the aspects of the events that they're involved in organizing uh the the listening audience are knows that I am was the organizer and will be the master of ceremonies at the free library event so anyone that wants to come on out to that great speakers lined up and it's completely free as well if you're more technically inclined maybe you're an engineer or an inventor of some type you would definitely want to take a look at the scientific conference though the other engineers and inventors there and uh you'll meet some brilliant minds there I can guarantee you that so like Nick said there is something here for everyone at any level of interest come on out get involved that's what the name of this game is get involved show your support and network with people when you're there you'll meet a lot of great people who are really trying to do good work for the world and its people that's what this event is all about that this is an event that has been organized because the the or we put it all together recognized this need they understand the critical junction that we are at as a species and they are mobilized to actually take right action that's why I love the Tesla Science Foundation so much and it's an honor for me to be working with you guys so Nick thanks so much for coming on the program I know you're really really busy as we all are all the organizers who have been putting this great event together so I want to thank you for taking time out of your schedule to be here on what on earth is happening thank you thank you very much and I will call read where we key will pull him in great sound like we would love to hear from things way Nick take care ladies and gentlemen Nicola launch are the president and founder of the Tesla Science Foundation of Philadelphia a great guy who I'm honored to call my friend so that is the first of the event announcements I have three more that are coming up in the Philly area two of which actually all three of which I'm a part of so the first one is the Philadelphia UFO Awareness Day 2010 this is hosted by Pennsylvania mutual UFO network this will be on Sunday July 18th from noon to 6:00 p.m. and once again this event is free to attend you see a lot of free events all over the place you don't even need to spend any money to come out and learn and and help grow your understanding and network with great people who are again really trying to do something positive with their energy so it's a great lineup of speakers for the UFO Awareness Day this year the headliner is dr. David Jacobs of Temple University he's a Temple University professor and he's an author of many books his website is UFO abduction calm he will be speaking on UFO abductions and alien hybrids I know this stuff touches on some material that some people don't feel as comfortable discussing but again as I've said many times on this show there are no taboo topics here I have been convinced in my studies and in the huge huge amounts of evidence that I have poured through that there certainly is something to the UFO phenomenon I don't think it is one thing but I will be giving a speech at this conference as well my lecture will be called don't count on disclosure and in it I'm probably going to touch upon just about every topic of interest and study that really got me into looking at esoteric topics into hidden knowledge the UFO phenomenon truth be told is kind of my in to everything that that is taking place in our world it is the thing that once I started looking into I realized what a rabbit hole it was I realized how much deception there was surrounding it and ultimately going down that path of research I feel that I have understood quite a bit about why this phenomenon is lied about is covered up the public is deceived about it about some of the deep underlying reasons why we're not told the truth by quote-unquote officials by government agencies military intelligence etc and I will be really bringing the hammer down so to speak with this lecture at this conference and I'm going to get into a lot of what I would think people would view as uncomfortable information about why this phenomenon is covered up at the very deepest levels so my lecture will be called don't count on disclosure meaning official disclosure coming from the governments of the world also speaking will be Chris August and paranormal investigator and the author of the website aliens the truth calm he has a great sight his lecture will be on alien abductions bill Weber is another speaker he is the Transylvania mufon state section director and field investigator his lecture is entitled UFOs and technology Michel Melton another Pennsylvania MUFON State section director and field investigator he will be giving a talk called UFO investigations interviewing the witness and finally rounding out the lineup of speakers Bob Gardner he's the PA MUFON chief investigator and field investigator his lecture is entitled credible and convincing evidence for the existence of UFOs again Philadelphia UFO Awareness Day sponsored by Pennsylvania mutual UFO network Sunday July 18th noon to 6 p.m. free to attend this event is taking place at germ books and gallery one of the best bookstores in the whole tri-state area germ Books is at 2005 Frankfort Avenue in Philadelphia 19125 for more information please visit the websites mufon pa that's mu Fon P a.com and germ books com ok next announcement the group truth freedom prosperity their website WWE as

Barry org will be hosting a free documentary showing and discussion they do this every third Monday of the month at the ethical Society building in Philadelphia the ethical society building is in 1906 South Rittenhouse Square the movie will begin at 7 o'clock p.m. sharp and this month they are showing the documentary fresh it's all about food and why our nutrition is so critically important to the quality of our lives and our consciousness and the types of foods that we really should be eating be nourishing ourselves with it is true that we are what we eat I can't stress this enough food is one of the methodologies of manipulation that is wielded upon us poisonous genetically modified full of chemicals full of additives preservatives carcinogens you name it our food is tainted in the West folks as a matter of fact all over the globe and we really have to make a conscious choice to attempt to nourish our bodies with higher quality quality foods because what we put into our body does become what we are at least physically the nature of the brain and the connective capacities the connective capacity of particularly the neocortex of our brain which is the higher order thought Center and reason center of the human brain of the neocortex so what we eat has everything to do with the nature of our consciousness and that means it has everything to do with the fundamentals the fundamental dynamics of human freedom because our consciousness or lack thereof is what is generating that dynamic that's why it's important to understand how to nourish ourselves properly so come on out for free documentary showing at a great location the ethical society building is a wonderful building every third Monday truth freedom prosperity documentaries and discussions at the ethical Society of Philadelphia don't miss it the next one is July 19th Monday evening 7:00 p.m. and finally last event announcement and we'll jump into our topic for tonight free your mind a conference on consciousness mind control and the occult this is a conference that I myself am hosting having had some experience in helping to organize the Tesla energy independence celebrations for the last two years I decided to go ahead and organize my own conference those are the topics human consciousness mind control and ocultism and there will be some phenomenal speakers at this conference this will be happening April 9th and 10th 2011 April 9th and 10th that's Saturday and Sunday April 9th and 10th 2011 and I can I think I can now announced the tentative location more likely than not after some discussion with some of the members of the organizational team it looks like we are going to go with rubra Club Hall Ruba Club Hall Ruba Club is just north of Spring Garden Street in Philadelphia off of Fifth Street it is on fifth and green which is in the Northern Liberties section of the city so Ruba Club Hall is the tentative location that is not 100% confirmed as of yet I'll say it's about ninety percent confirmed we're just working out some details with the the proprietors of rubra Club but that is the most likely location unless something dramatic happens over the next few weeks so we have a location the admission price will be only $20 per day and we're probably going to have a total of about fourteen speakers when it is all said and done so far three speakers are 100% confirmed with another couple tentatively confirmed I will not mention their names today but the 100% confirmed speakers for the free your mind conference in Philadelphia 2011 are myself Michael Kelly and Aaron McCallum from the West Coast so that is free your mind a conference on consciousness mind control you call Saturday April 9th and Sunday April 10th 2011 right here in Philadelphia hosted by myself and some other great people in the Philly area helping out so tonight's topic is a continuation on mind control we will be talking about the methodologies of mind control and we will be getting into three specific methodologies if time allows I have some ambitious aims for this show I want to come the topics of obfuscation worldview poisoning and the exploitation of primal fears I don't know if we'll be able to get to all of them today but that is the goal okay um I am also going to be reading a little bit maybe about three or four pages from a phenomenal book that I highly recommend to talk about some of the mind control tech not techniques that are used that are employed against us and the book is called the end of all evil by Jeremy Locke I highly recommend this book I think it is a very simple introduction to the true philosophy of human freedom it's a very high consciousness book it is written in very simple easy-to-understand terms and I again think it is highly beneficial for everyone to check this book out I'll be reading a little bit a couple of excerpts from the end of all evil by Jeremy Locke but before we jump in I see we have a couple of callers on the line and uh hey you guys take precedence so let's uh let's see who's on the line and take a couple of calls okay so caller from southeastern Pennsylvania you are on live on what on earth is happening hi kandi sure how are you doing hi hi this is a David Ross reality Dave how are you good bring it iris from you Dave as well as other organizers from the Nikola Tesla energy independence celebration Dave organized the scientific conference at Liberty - so Dave what do you have for us today hey I just I mentioned a few other speakers or uh just couple things are going on science conference if you got a minute absolutely you go right ahead you have the floor my friend all right well thank you Mark and I just want to say it's going to be a great conference and we have a number of speakers and probably a dozen or so speakers we have people talking about atmospheric electricity extraction the continuation of tussles work about the cleansing as the ionosphere cavity and and also some history on the tussles a link to edit - I'm sorry a Benjamin Franklin and Loomis for 19th century we have a link to another talk about the the ball lighting and mains salesy now we have a talk on electrogravitics and another of different talks on a range of Tesla related topics and people who include the Coen Brothers and Michael treat Russell Anderson and several others how covering two days and Saturday and Sunday and July 10th and 11th absolutely that sounds awesome a lot of incredible topics I know there are some brilliant brilliant individuals who are going to be part of that scientific conference I guarantee that anyone that attends will learn a lot and will meet a lot of other great minds great minds that are coming together in Philadelphia for an incredible event over the weekend anyone in this area please come out and get involved the world needs this we need this now more than ever again I've said before many times on this program this should have been implemented over a hundred years ago but we have the power within ourselves right now to force this issue and to bring this to the awareness of the people and to get people involved with a grassroots effort forget lobbying people forget begging for on petitioning the government let's get involved at a grassroots level to get this actually done and implemented let's bring Tesla's vision let's bring the vision that he had for the future to fruition let's do it ourselves let's not wait for orders from headquarters so to speak we have this capability to do this on our own and we will do it because it is the right thing to do so Dave you have anything else that you want to say about the event coming up this weekend oh yeah I just think it's gonna be a great event we also have a banquet on Saturday night with additional speakers we have Marge Pfeiffer and a number of other speakers well so a panel discussion Saturday night Saturday afternoon about the future of energy so anyone interested on any of these topics I strongly urge you to attend I think you'll find it interesting and and just as you say that really should take the initiative absolutely Dave thanks so much for calling in and thanks for your great work in putting together the scientific conference hey thank you thanks for letting me have a chance Locke anytime ladies and gentlemen David Rosen no Lee one of the main organizers for the Nikola Tesla energy independence celebrations 2010 he put together all the speakers at the scientific conference at Liberty to place a great job and we thank him for the work that he is doing as well I had to see we have another caller on the line so here we go caller from South New Jersey you are on what on earth is happening what do you have for us all right this is Fred hey Fred how you doing ladies and gentlemen thread another organizer from the Nikola Tesla energy independence celebrations Fred you organized the outdoor portions of the event the Tesla birthday bash and the Tesla Fest whether the birthday bash is going to be on July 9th 8 p.m. to 2:00 a.m. and the Tesla Fest all day long Saturday July 10th and they're both an independence Visitor Center right there on the lawn so what do you have for us well you want to talk about regarding of the conference and festivities coming up this weekend yeah we're starting out on Friday night we're going to have a Tesla coil contest where we're going to have like five coils and we're going to have a contest you know see you know which coil can shoot the furthest which is the brightest and it's a very rare event where you have multiple coils in one place yes and it's going to and and it's going to be right on Independence Hall and it's it's going to be a really great event and at the same time we're going to have a dance party and it's a 1 and I'm sure on two people going to show up and and at 12 midnight we're all going to get together and I heard mark Paseo is going to give a speech about on energy independence Tyson right right you guys and I'm going to be reading a document that we put together as part of the Nikola Tesla inventors Club are called the unanimous declaration of energy independence I'll be a noun that Ingle how fitting that will be on Independence Hall that's really I think you have to be a great time so there's going to be some music there's going to be fireworks Tesla style with many different Tesla coils a Tesla coil competition I don't know if I've ever heard of anything like that so I think that'll be really unique hopefully a lot of people will will catch some of the Lightning on camera will be a lot of man-made lightning going on there and will be some some music and what's going on the next day at the Tesla Festival out on the water Tesla's a festival we're probably going to have 1520 exhibitors we're going to have a coil going and we're going to have all different aspects of Kessler representative from Long Island um Jane Olcott will be there she's working on from from the Wardenclyffe saw probably right exactly yeah and we're going to have petitions and we're going to have a one-one of the petitions will be to change client Street Expressway to the Tesla Expressway also another petition will be for the energy independence and also mark I don't know if you heard the news the the city of Philadelphia has proclaimed Jan July 10 as a Tesla honorary Tesla Day and we're going to have red black from the city of Philadelphia that's awesome Fred I actually did just hear that just before we went to airtime and that is phenomenal news it's about time it's a long overdue I should say finally the city of Philadelphia recognizing Tesla his accomplishments and his achievements and they are recognizing July 10th as Nikola Tesla day in Philadelphia that's a great news and can you can you imagine if vine I know people aren't familiar with um Philadelphia but Vine Street expressed where it goes right into the heart of downtown and as always always got traffic jams so as they make their daily traffic announces um they'll be currently saying and tesslar expressways jams up again and it'll just get the the word out to all of Philadelphians um you know who Tesla is and what Tesla is and and and I get people interested in in Tesla and there's so many people when when they hear Tesla they get so excited because this man is such a great example for Humanity and he's such an inspiration because not only of the things that he invented but his heart his inventions he didn't he didn't keep them for himself he gave them away he gave them away for Humanity to use his idea for the Wardenclyffe tower with the Bogey's towers throughout the whole world so that the whole world can enjoy free electricity and my email I mean yeah yeah that's absolutely right Tesla was never driven by profit motive he truly like you said did open his heart and wanted to share his brilliance with humanity and make his inventions available to all for free money was not his object of desire he wanted to help to advance the human spirit of innovation and he wanted us to boldly march into the future knowing that we would not have to compete for energy needs here on the earth unfortunately like we are doing now because we've gone down such a horrific different different path and what Tesla originally envisioned for the species but we it's not too late to do something about that that's the main point of this conference and still reverse this and still bring a brighter future into manifestation as someone like the great inventor and scientist Nikola Tesla envisioned for us it can be done we have to employ the spirit of our imaginations combined with our intelligence to make that happen and then to put our will forward and truly work and again come together as one or the same intention of making this vision for the future of free energy actually a car make it app so bread anything else you'd like to say about the events coming up that's it we just you know it's basically about Tesla and the betterment of the society so energy independence so that's what it's about absolutely Fred thanks so much for your hard work and organizing the outdoor portions of this great event and uh thanks for calling it thank you you got to take care another one of the hard-working organizers for the Tesla energy independence celebrations 2010 all right we have some more callers and again I love to take calls so you guys take precedence here we go we could always get back to the topic of discussion and continue with that you know even if we get to that a little later in the show or we don't get to a couple of topics that next week is another week so here's another caller from Southwest New Jersey you're on the air or what on earth is happening where you have for us I know this is a Shakir from Pennsauken New Jersey hey how are you I'm good got a question for you um to try a bunch of listeners out there who would like to participate the camp for any myriad of reasons journey group organizations you know where they cannot get any money to the folks that are out there in the tank you don't work for them are you talking about the Tesla Science Foundation we get in particular like anyway you oh oh what area are you in cakewalk you and your usual Jersey okay well um that's not too far from Philadelphia I mean that's right over the Ben Franklin Bridge right or the that's right over the Betsy Ross bridge so um there's a lot of organizations in the Philadelphia area I mean I just mentioned several of them in this region that are working on all different aspects of the truth all different aspects of consciousness truth freedom prosperity is one of the best groups in this entire area I feel that a lot of the people in that group really understand the route dynamics the causal factors of the problems that the human species is experiencing at this time in our evolutionary development so that's a great group to get involved with truth freedom prosperity org they work hand in hand with a lot of the members of campaign for liberty that's another great group they just tabled out at the Independence Hall tea party on the 4th of July Wow what a fiasco that thing was I actually went to promote went to a tooth so to some of those people of the Tesla event and that it's it is not the case that that that organization understands a lot of the dynamic unfortunately I was kind of reach out to many of them and some were very open minded and others were not so much but so truth freedom prosperity of the pilot recommend I would highly recommend the Tesla Science Foundation their website is uh Tesla Science Foundation org I would highly recommend a great group called survive and thrive they have a meetup page if you type in survive and thrive Philadelphia region uh this group talks about grassroots survival techniques taking care of yourself and your family in survival situations great organizer great topics just incredible information given out on a monthly basis I highly recommend getting involved with them there's probably many others but I I think a good place to start is true freedom prosperity myself if I had to point you in one particular direction ok you got it thanks a lot for calling in all right take care alright one more caller I see we have holding here we go caller from southeastern Pennsylvania you're on what on earth is happening hello mark it's just George burden I listened to her earlier part of your show and I'm with the Nikola Tesla Science Foundation of work member and I also would love to talk with you about the upcoming events that are happening at the independence Visitor Center on the mall at 6:00 and market it's a birthday bash I don't know how much was was heard but this is an event that to celebrate on on the 9th of July Nikola Tesla birth date was July 9th between July 9th and July 10th that approximately midnight probably at midnight exactly in 1856 in the village of Somalian province of Lika in Croatia which was the former Yugoslavia but anyway mark is it's really fitting because of we have independence from Independence Day on July 4th and here is a celebration that will bring about we hope more independence and energy for for everyone that's right George I want to thank you for your work and helping to organize these events as well George is another one of the organizers for this three-day conference in celebration in Philadelphia and are you also working in the scientific conference yes I am and I wanted to bring something to your listeners attention that the scientific conference is July 10th 11th which is Saturday and Sunday it will be from 9:00 to 5:00 p.m. at two Liberty Place on the 32nd floor however you need to register you can register by going on the Nicollet by the Tesla Science Foundation org or you can go to the one of the organizers for this dr. Raza David Ross and Ollie and his email address you need to register to be there is dr DAV o are at enter in ter dotnet and if you want me to repeat that i can that's dr. just dr dave did t o r @ en ter dotnet and the other thing that i wanted to mention that we've been given permission by the president obviously ssin nicola lawn chair to allow 25 students in free as long as they register and otherwise the two-day conference would be hundred and ten dollars I feel as if you're going for one day there's that great place as it is only $110 but I wasn't even aware that they were going to open up that floor for the first 25 stoop college students they wanted to to come into the conference that's really great so there's some new information about the conference if you're a college student I guess you have a you know provide like college ID you can actually get into this scientific conference for free the first 25 students can get it assigned to the conference every interrupt you again market does college students actually can be high school student high school students also and let me mention some of the people that are coming to that and what the subjects are if you don't mind sure one would be a very personal all the way from Colorado Gary Peterson is going to talk about the test of world of wireless telecommunication systems he'll be there I believe on Saturday there'll be someone let's see David Ross and Holly will be talking about by electric impacts of Tesla coils and other RF devices there'll be March cipher he's a very well-known author he'll be talking about Tesla and Einstein will be Michael treat dr. Michael treat asked miss talking about atmospheric electricity and Tom Malone and about zero-point energy and there'll be a panel discussion also and there's certainly be time for everyone to ask questions this is going to be a very very interesting scientific conference and probably not one like it in in all of the United States at this point so I think these are the subjects that are going to lead to the independence and energy so we will not be beholding to and I don't want to mention BP but I will because if there's any oil company that could happen to and not just be fortunately be he has money to pay us back but we need to be independent and and you always talk about independence as independence as the spirit and getting back to the Constitution so if there's any questions I can answer about the conference I want to invite everyone to come to definitely the free parts of the the conference and they are starting on July 9th there's going to be a birthday bash that in Independence Hall and and therefore you can also go on our website and which is the Nikola Tesla Science Foundation org and have a full schedule of all the events and all of them are free except for this this one scientific conference except for the 25 students and there's a dinner which is very nominal it's going to be sponsored over at the Quaker meetinghouse on 4th and Arch Street with speakers that will be on Saturday night and that's only $20 and each $20 and foot obvious is seems to be very reasonable you can't beat that price for a nice evening out with a very classy musical act and a great dinner as well and there is a dish there for everyone there will be a meat dish there will be fish there will be a vegetarian and vegan cuisine so no one will be excluded with the the types of food will be available there and I can guarantee that they are good quality foods and prepared with a good state of consciousness from our friends there at the Quaker meetinghouse so I highly recommend everyone to come out and check that out because it will be a once-in-a-lifetime chance to really check out a concert thorough minused the divine hand led by mano Divina uh he is a a virtuoso with the theremin he's one of the only concert there amoenus in the United States I believe only one of three in the world and it is something that you have to actually be there present to hear to behold because it's there is nothing like the theremin instrument and it is very very rare to uh to get here one of them played as beautifully as mono Davina can play so he he's an amazing person in his own right but his orchestra is is something that actually can play classical music by just turning one of us one of his fingers and it's just amazing what he can do is definitely in the Tesla realm that's for sure it's great that he's also going to be speaking at the free library event about the theremin instrument and how it functions and its ties to some of pestles technologies as well absolutely it's a instrument that has resonance and and and by moving your hands you can cause resonance and cause the notes to happen and be amplified that's what a bowl event is ultimately about raising vibration that's what this is really about getting people inspired to actually take right action and for things that we really need to bring each other together and to stop destroying each other in our planet I mean that's what really this is all about independence from the completely immoral and disruptive energy paradigm that we are currently addicted to this is about raising vibration through resonance to come up in consciousness to understand not only why this needs to be done but then to get involved in to make it happen the technology is is within in Tesla's background and that people are read some of his background or come to the conferences and come Ingle with the people that understand a good bit about Tesla technology they can lift this yoke that has been put upon us by I can't say utility companies but just put upon us at especially on today when we have this unbelievable amount of heat tests nology could lift us out of this mire that we're in monetarily I don't think we'd ever be in this mire of monetary monetarily if technical test of technology was used that's absolutely right George great great words there and it is a hot one in Philadelphia today I think we hit a hundred and one degrees today unbelievable it's so fitting that that Tesla is maybe it'll maybe land 110 when the when went on July night but I think it will hit a very high temperature with all the people that are going to be there and they're going to bring Tesla's lightning thoughts back again and bring about a new new age in the electricity to be used by everyone at a at a price that is next to nothing and it would be down in the nano nano area incredible George I really want to thank you for all your hard work and dedication in helping to put this conference together and I wish you and everyone else involved the best of luck this coming weekend thanks for call Park thanks so much for calling in all right it did you take care okay thank you and Marc I really appreciate it you got it ladies and gentlemen George Byrd and another one of the great organizers for the Nikola Tesla energy independence celebrations so you know Tesla had a vision for this world and he had a quote he knew that he was stopped by powerful financial interests during his time but he didn't leave this world before he made this quote he said let the future tell the truth and evaluate each one according to his works and accomplishments the present is theirs the future for which I really worked is mine think about that ladies and gentlemen we can make this happen it's all about getting involved learning what this is about learning why it is so desperately needed and then joining the cause getting involved in whatever way you can contribute to making it happen and together we'll do this we will achieve energy independence and this is one of the key cornerstones of the structures of control of this world because as I've said many times here on this show the control of energy is the control of human beings the control of energy is the control of people we bring this we pull this stone out from underneath this massive architecture of control and the whole system would crumble it's one of the cornerstones upon which the structures of control are built we break that one down we break that one apart the whole control system would not be able to stand on its own people are controlled with the kind of consciousness that a lack based energy system is built upon what it does to the human consciousness through getting us to focus on lack on not having on what if we don't can't afford this or can't have this anymore what would happen to society if it suddenly went away all this is lack and fear-based consciousness and that routes us into lower levels of the brain it routes us into the r-complex of the brain as we've talked about on this show many times that's why the controllers the oil barons the energy companies etc the banks that have enormous interest in these monopolies of control they want us thinking that oh it's just about to run out it's a you know we need to go to war and have eternal competition and and pillaging of other sovereign nations to keep this going otherwise they'll be catastrophe and disaster Tesla showed us over a hundred years ago we don't need competition and the consciousness that goes along with it to have all of our energy needs met and then some he was studying radiant energy understanding how that radiant energy is generated by the very real work of nature itself and how we can tap that so again it all ties in together and it all ties in with human freedom energy affects everyone everyone again don't wait for some sort of petitioning to quote-unquote leaders to make this happen they have a vested interest in this not happening and the people who control them okay they're not our leaders we have to be the leaders get involved in a gray roots effort that's how this is going to come to fruition so let's jump into the topics I see we have no more callers right now but again anyone who is interested in calling in again you see I take your calls you know I want people to have a voice on this show so it's the top of the second hour they're calling number seven two four four four four seven four four four once again the call-in number seven two four four four four seven four four four when you call in you punch in the call ID number for this show which is eight three five one five once again the call ID number eight three five one five no taboo topics call in and talk about whatever you like so I will now go back to the topic of discussion that we had done over the last few weeks here on what on earth is happening which is the methodologies of mind control the techniques of covert manipulation of the human mind and the human psyche and I'd like to tell an anecdotal story before I even jump into the first technique I went out to the independence hall Tea Party to promote for the Tesla event and to also try to identify some some people who were perhaps a little bit farther along than the average tea partier if some of the listening audience takes my meaning on that to give them some of my cards for this radio show and my website so I gave out a few of those but I gave out a whole lot of the Tesla energy independence cards that we had printed up to promote for the event we literally gave out a few thousand cards over this weekend really great work I want to thank in particular Michael River Song and David Soltis for really helping out in a distributing a lot of those cards they stood with me in in some brutal heat yesterday to reach the the general public and give these uh these information cards out about this conference so thank you guys you hung in there with me and we really got a lot done without we reached a lot of people I think so while I was at the tea party I corralled about 15 tea partiers of all different ages and persuasions and I asked them if they wanted to partake in a little social experiment that would teach them a lot and would help to explain one of the methodologies of mind control to them now whether they even believe that mind control is real and is taking place and is all around us in society was really irrelevant at the time because I simply asked ask them if they wanted to participate in a word game and people love word games so I I got about 15 people to agree and I had some slips of paper just folded in half and on the inside of the slips of folded paper there was a words or phrases printed and there was a blank area in which the instructions were simply write down one word only one word about what this word or phrase makes you think when you hear it okay so the first word that I gave them was the word occult occu LT occult and I handed them out the 15 strips of paper sent a couple of pens around and I said just write down the first thing that comes to your mind when you see or hear that word and you know I said if you don't know what the word means it all just write a question mark no problem so the papers come back I open them all up and I get you know a general consensus people are writing down evil negative bad chaos one woman wrote down politics which wasn't far off from the mark I kind of laughed at that someone wrote down paganism someone wrote down I think religion or something like that um and you know an interesting array of answers came back no one actually put down what the word occult actually means which we have talked about before on the show again a a cult is from the Latin occult RA a verb which means to hide or to conceal and you can see that the root of the word it comes from Occulus in Latin which means I oculus means I so it's related to the eye occult simply means that which is hidden from sight that which is not apparent to the eye that's all it means so so the next slip of paper went around and it simply had the phrase on it concealed from view hidden from sight and when people wrote down what they thought about this almost invariably the word secret came back one person uh wrote down um uh I'm trying to think that the word that they used a covert or something to that effect um secrecy covert secret was invariably the the word that came back for hidden from sight or concealed from view so when I showed people that the word occult simply means that and we are conditioned to believe that it automatically has a negative connotation all of the words that came back were very negative chaos evil um uh paganism which in itself has a negative connotation even though it isn't inherently just pagan religions or beliefs aren't inherently negative but in our culture it does so the word occult has this connotation that it carries with it that it's always something bad or file or evil when in fact what I was trying to display to people is that's just something that you've been conditioned to believe to accept that the word occult always means evil it simply means hidden nothing more nothing less it means hidden from sight not easily seen hidden from the eye it is from vision like the word ocular means related to vision related to the eye ocular that's all occult means hidden from the eye so the next thing I sent around to these individuals was another slip and on it it said no masters no rulers almost invariably every person wrote down the word freedom I think one person wrote down the word Liberty which in many cases used interchangeably with the word freedom but almost everyone wrote down the word freedom because indeed the state where there is no masters and no rulers over us is the state of freedom I don't think many people would argue that if you do not have a master or a ruler someone who can tell you what to do and override your free will decision you have freedom you are a free being so there was almost unanimous consent on that one the fourth slip of paper went around and on it was written the word anarchy anarchy and there was almost unanimous consent with the exception of I think one person almost everyone in the group wrote down the word chaos almost everyone and when I explained after taking all the papers back and holding the no rulers no masters paper right next to the paper that said anarchy when I explained that the word anarchy you go to any dictionary or even an etymological dictionary and just look up the word anarchy almost every dictionary will simply define the word Anarchy as the state where there are no rulers or no masters the conditions where no one rules the absence of ruler or a master does the word the root arc AR CH as in Archon okay or architect essentially is a planner or a ruler or a master bark AR CH the root means ruler and our key an arc absence of ruler absence of master so if you define the condition of the absence of a ruler or the absence of a master as freedom and the absence of a ruler or a master is what the word anarchy means why would someone write down the word chaos as the first word that they associate in their mind with the word anarchy how does that happen is what I asked everyone if the word anarchy means no rulers no masters and you think no rulers no masters means freedom and how can you think that anarchy means the exact opposite of freedom which is the state of total chaos chaos is what ensues when evil and control rule ourselves in our environment chaos has nothing to do with human freedom it has everything to do with human slavery the essential condition that the majority of human beings exist in I would almost say all human beings exist in physical but we're in slavery at a much deeper level at a mental level which is why this show attempts to expose and educate people as to the root causes of that slavery of the mind or mind control mind control is what we're going to be breaking down into its constituent elements and techniques over the next several weeks here on the show so this is a form of mind control is what I was attempting to explain someone got you to believe that the word black is equivalent to white that the word up is equivalent to down that left is right and right is left how does that happen well that happens through the power of words and word play and word association and that happens through repeating something endlessly over and over and over and over and over and if you look in a Latin dictionary at the word dictator it means to repeat over and over that's all the word dictator means it comes from the verb dick tear a which means to speak well dictator means to speak repeatedly that's where we get the word dictator from because that's all it really takes to create a dictatorship whether a physical one or a mental one to repeat the same thing over and over and over and over again until someone believes that black is white that up is down that left is right and indeed when people saw that these two things were equivalent and that they had been convinced that they were opposite meanings that they had been taught conditioned to accept that the word anarchy means chaos that that's what results when there are no rulers no masters you have chaos well I would suggest that if you have no external rulers or masters you have freedom not chaos where I would say you have chaos is where you yourself are not the master or the ruler of yourself when you let someone else rule you master you become your master and own you then you have chaos and ladies and gentlemen that is what we have right now we don't have freedom we have chaos in the world in case you didn't notice chaos is what is raining and ensuing things are in a state of chaotic flux there isn't any order the people that think that they're keeping order through controlling other people are delusional regarding what creates chaos and what creates order and we've talked about those forces as natural law principles extensively on previous episodes of this show that which creates chaos is based in fear confusion about what is taking place within us not understanding who and what we are or what our true purpose is and lashing out through fear and confusion to attempt to control others externally this is what creates chaos that is the dynamic of natural law that actually creates chaos in the world right there it is explained you don't have to believe me that doesn't mean that what I just said isn't true I've recognized that principle in my life through direct first-hand experience so I don't claim that that is my belief I understand that principle now many people have a hard time when I say something like that because no one wants to hear from anyone else that they know something this connects with the ideology of solecism which we have talked about on this show this is the ideology that there is no truth and no one can actually know anything and actually know something for sure and this is a nonsensical ideology of course there is such a thing as objective knowledge it exists the laws of nature do exist they can be known they can be known by us you can know them if you don't actually believe that again it's going to be very difficult to get to any higher state of consciousness because you will not actively desire truth you will not actually desire to become a seeker of truth because you are holding the belief that truth does not exist and therefore you cannot grow closer to it through the acquisition of knowledge and experience that's called that ideology is known as solid sysm sol i PSI sm we've talked about it extensively it's the most dangerous ideology on the on the planet and indeed it is the ideology that i refer to as the biggest lie it is the main deception of mind control it is the absolute foundation upon which all tyranny is based a deceiver a tyrant has to get you to accept you cannot know the truth because it is so complex why bother ever even looking for it so this idea brings us well before I go into that what creates order in the world is the exact opposite of what creates chaos what creates order is the dynamic energy of love which is the expansion of consciousness the expansion of our knowledge and experience letting go of fear and dispelling confusion within about who and what we are becoming beings that as we think so we feel so react thoughts emotions and actions the three aspects of the manifestation of our consciousness coming into unison as one as we think so we feel so we act this is the state when you referred to as self love Dominion which is the rulership of self becoming a self master knowing the true qualities of the self which we talked about in relationship to the ego mind to the egoic lowercase self the our animal nature so to speak understanding how we have that level of consciousness that level of base consciousness blocks us and erect barriers to the true understanding of who and what we really are all of this has been covered on previous shows and when when we become masters of our own selves within of our own emotions our own thoughts our own actions then and only then and not a moment before will the dynamic will the state of true freedom manifest itself on this world that's what this show is all about because those are the causal dynamics those are the causal factors the natural law principles that create what we are experiencing around us and they are all generated from within not from without so what I'd like to do now is get into the first actual technique of the techniques that I identify as being the most critical to understand there are many others however I identify 14 particular methods of manipulation of the human mind why is it important to understand these deeply well I'd like to read a quote on that but the co-author of the book transformation of America with Cathy O'Brien a modern controlled trauma-based mind control slave of the project known as monarch and while I'm mentioning Cathy I can tell you that I'm going to have a pretty interesting treat for excuse me for our listeners coming up in probably a couple of weeks on this show I will be bringing onto the show live I don't know whether I'll be doing this through the internet or possibly even in person right here in my home studio I will be having on someone I will not be mentioning this person's name yet who was directly involved in project monarch from a victim perspective he was a victim a trauma-based mind control victim of project monarch now trauma-based mind control is a little bit different than the quote/unquote soft mind control techniques that I'll be discussing over the next many weeks on the show but I will be taking a break from discussing some of those techniques to bring on someone to tell a bit about his story in project monarch and this will this will really really curl your the hairs on your head when you hear some of the things that take part as part of trauma-based mind control a what is known as a hard mind control technique which we've discussed a small bit on previous shows but I brought that up only because I was bringing up this quote by the co-author of Cathy O'Brien from who was involved in monarch also as a victim her book transformation of America was co-authored by an individual who helped to deprogram her from that trauma-based mind control life that she was embedded in from a very very young age this person's name is Mark Phillips and he said that for every problem there exists a solution but the formula for problem solving rests firmly on the quality of the supporting research information concerning the nature of the problem I want everybody really to think about this what is being said here and this quote is that yes every problem can we can come to understand what the solution to that problem is however the actual way that you get to the solution is by understanding enough information concerning the nature of the problem and there are many many many people who think this is not the case there are many who think we can solve problems without understanding the nature of the problem we can do an end run around it this is a new age belief it is a belief it is not a philosophy it is a belief a lot of New Agers will tell you we don't need to understand how mind control works we can do an end run around all of that and just get people to a higher state of consciousness by telling them that they need to love each other and practicing all different techniques of how to you know raise vibratory energy within the body etc etc however we can ignore all of that quote/unquote negative stuff we can just ignore that we don't need to talk about it they don't need to know how that works and what I say to this simply is nonsense nonsense this is itself an obfuscation technique and it's dangerous for people not to be influenced by the techniques of mind control they do need to know specifically how those techniques work and how they are wielded and I will be definitive will say that very definitively and strongly you're not going to get out of this technique and ensure out of this state of consciousness that we're in which is mind control and get out of it completely unscathed and ensure that this is not going to encroach back slowly even if you did get out of it by some miracle sudden awakening of consciousness that there's not really any evidence to support in the New Age movement you'll hear this referred to as a Satori SAT Oh are I a Satori moment is a sudden awakening someone just suddenly realizes the whole picture and how it all fits together and their consciousness jumps an enormous enormous amount in a very very very brief amount of time with technically no actual knowledge acquired in that in that moment it's just a sudden awakening and like I've said before I'm not going to completely deny that that may occur maybe in one person out of billions every hundred years or so maybe a little more frequently than that but guess what the amount is so small that it's like saying well you know maybe we can count on being able to jump out the window and flying but so far so few people have been able to do that not saying it may be not possible in some you know at some level of consciousness to do that but the amount of time you would probably have to go through to see that actually happen is probably longer than the age of the observable universe so why are we going to waste time and thinking about and discussing that here we're not I'm talking about practical application of knowledge doing the work on the ground so to speak instead of having our head in the clouds all the time this is why these techniques are critically important to understand once we understand enough about the nature of the problem we have made what is known as a diagnosis when there's an illness and there's an illness in humanity in the human psyche and spirit when there's an illness you need to develop a diagnosis now let's break this word apart diagnosis Dai GN OS is diagnosis we see that it is comprised of two Greek roots dia means through as in to go through and gnosis means knowledge or awareness in Greek diagnosis diagnosis gnosis GN OS is knowledge dia through a diagnosis means to go through knowledge to take in enough knowledge concerning the nature of the problem and now you're in a position of power because knowledge isn't power in and of itself knowledge is the means to power because the real source of power is knowing what to do and then doing it that's what real power is wisdom is the proper application of knowledge upstanding right moral application of knowledge is what wisdom is so for those who will say you don't need to know how mind control works to solve this problem bunk bunk you want to keep your head in the sand go and listen to some New Ager tell you that all is rosy with the world that's not what you're going to get on this show that's not what we do here that's not what I do here anyway okay we're going to look at all of the aspects of the truth light and dark we will propose empowering solutions and those solutions will come through looking at some of the dark aspects of the truth and that's why it's critical to understand how mind control works so the first technique of mind control abuse Cashion OB f USCA tion abuse ocation okay this is the first out of the 14 techniques the 14 methodologies that we are going to look at over the next many weeks on this show and again I will maybe break this up and intersperse it with a few guests or callings as always we'll take calls as we go through the show but this is what the bulk material is going to be over the next many weeks on this show so the word abuse ocation when we look it up in a dictionary we see that it means to render obscure unclear or unintelligible abuse patients confusion and this is the dynamic that goes to work on our emotional state again when the force of fear is present within us within we become emotionally confused this is the dynamic that reigns over the human emotions confusion and the technique that is the most responsible for propagating this vibratory energy known as confusion is abuse occation so we'll look at some examples of obfuscation how I've likened it in my presentation is it's like someone coming up in a very elaborate beautiful mask that's pleasing to the eye has nice tones maybe they're completely dressed up in a way that is completely pleasing but it's all a smokescreen they're presenting something it's like it's like putting a very thin layer of skin that that maybe looks attractive you know over a piece of rotted meat or flesh you know and then putting it on someone's plate to try to get them to eat what's underneath okay make dressing something up making it look good so that someone takes it in place of the real thing or in place of something that could do some good for them and it's really reversing it's a total reversal of different principles again it's just like getting people to think that anarchy means chaos when in fact it means the absence of rulers or masters it's getting someone to swallow the poison pill because you covered it up in something that is attractive or appealing to render obscure unclear or unintelligible to create confusion is to obfuscate something okay so what is obfuscated what are some of the principles that we need to understand that are completely obfuscated the first and most important thing that is obfuscated that is a technique of mind control is the obvious Cashen of simplicity with complexity I'll say that again one of the first and fundamental techniques of mind control is the abuse patients with complexity and again this ties in with wrapping someone's mind up in knots and getting them to go down labyrinths mazes in their mind to think wow this stuff is so complex I could never possibly understand it truth is always simple folks always simple if someone is trying to get you to believe that understanding what is taking place in this world is so complex that you could not possibly be able to understand it they are trying to control you they are lying to you they are deceiving you and they are trying to control your mind the world is not irreducibly complex now some will say this is the ideology of reductionism the wrong answer again this is not reductionism this is a simple truth truths are elegant and simple and every great philosopher and every great scientist who has ever lived has said that truths are elegant and simple the first technique of obfuscation is to confuse simplicity with complexity so in helping the listeners to understand how this dynamic completely is tied in with human freedom I'm just going to read the first three or four pages of a book called the end of all evil by Jeremy Locke I highly recommend people get this phenomenal book it's brilliantly written and quite simplistically written and it goes a long way toward helping to explain what is actually taking place on this planet so I'll read chapter 1 called freedom and then I'll read maybe the first page or two of chapter two and that's it and it's vet this is a very short book I think the totality of the book is not 90 pages or something like that chapter one freedom the definition of freedom is the infinite value of the human being the definition of evil is the destruction of freedom everything that is evil teaches people that they have limited value the truth is always simple all people recognize truth because all people are intelligent beings it is the nature of evil to create artificially complex ideas it does this to hide or abuse Kate the freedom it destroys if you remove the complexities and fears from your life you will find a plain and beautiful truth this truth is the nature of your worth to understand freedom is to understand the value of a person everything that evil wants is to disguise and destroy your value all authority is created by evil men to disguise your worth to understand your own worth is to understand the nature of Liberty the crucial key for understanding our world is to understand the nature of evil I want to repeat that sentence the crucial key for understanding our world is to understand the nature of evil evil challenges the value of people by denying them the opportunity to make their own choices by denying them the chance to grow strong in learning and understanding while evil seeks to destroy or hide a person's worth freedom shows humans their full potential and their full value with freedom people have loved sure disease removed hunger eased labour and lived in peace with freedom happiness is possible freedom is the exact opposite of evil everything written in this book is written to destroy the ideas of culture and law lowercase L law the lessons of this book are simple nothing on earth is more valuable than you chapter 2 there is a dark conspiracy which has clouded the minds of humanity throughout all ages this conspiracy is evil incarnate and controls vast mountains of human emotions work thought and speech it has been responsible for the deaths of hundreds upon hundreds of millions and the slavery of nearly everything who has ever lived if you can accept a single principle that you have infinite worth then this book will give you the vision necessary to see the world as it truly is to know once and for all that this dark conspiracy is not strong but weak that evil is not growing but dying to understand how evil controls people it is necessary to understand the difference between principle and law with a lowercase L so I'm going to stop there for one moment and help people to understand how this next few paragraphs I'm going to read are totally connected in with the idea of simplicity and complexity and the idea of principles versus law and I'm talking about man's law here this is the next abuse patients simplicity is obvious kated by complexity truth is always simple fear-based consciousness what Lockyer is referring to as evil always wants you to think you cannot understand something that is simple by getting you to believe it is so complex why bother looking into it you'll never be able to figure it out anyway and this is simply untrue and this is an obfuscation technique next technique is principle of it of obfuscation is the obfuscation of principle with law so this is what Locke is going to get into discussing in the next couple paragraphs there's only a couple more paragraphs I'm going to read continuing a principle is a truth that creates freedom I want to read that sentence again a principle is a truth that creates freedom I'll give an example when I described what creates order being the expansion of consciousness the rulership of self of owning our own thoughts emotions and actions and bringing them into unison as one and then propagating the true philosophy of what freedom really is that is a truth understanding that truth will create freedom therefore it is a principle it is one of the principles that everything that I do attempts to embody to bring solidity to to manifest in the world it is a principle of natural law that I understand simply and many many many people do understand this principle it is not unknowable it is very simple it is not impossibly complex it can be understood and it is understood by many many people on the earth sadly more people do not understand it than do but we're going to change that and we can change that so continuing with a reading from the end of all evil by Jeremy Locke a principle is a truth that creates freedom a law lowercase L man's law is what he is referring to here a law is a lie that creates slavery principles describe reality they are knowledge that can help you to make use of your world because of your intelligence you recognize principles in everything you do every true thing that you learn is a principle think about that every true thing that you learn is a principle the movements of your hands which foods taste good mathematics empathy for a friend are all based on principles laws are artificial ideas created by evil men to restrict the thinking and understanding of people and I will read that sentence again laws meaning man's laws are artificial ideas created by evil men to restrict the thinking and understanding of people laws mask themselves as Authority so that they can impersonate principles when people mistake law for principle their freedom is restricted when people mistake truth for the ideas of authority their abilities and their wisdom are diminished this is the perk of law an example of principle can be found in thermodynamics a liquid is cooler than a gas this is a principle because this is a principle it does not restrict us but enables us using this principle we can condense and expand a substance between gas and liquid to create refrigeration with this principle we have more understanding and more power principles are truths that create freedom an example of law can be found in the culture of royalty a commoner owes homage homage to the king this is a law because it is a law it destroys freedom and enslaves under this law a person must neglect usage of their minds their speech and their actions they must believe that they are worth less than the king notice that unlike principle there is no truth in law it is entirely possible to disrespect the king and therefore to break the law lowercase L law lowercase L must be enforced to use the principle of to use the dynamic of control in other words what Locke is saying here law always must be enforced through the dynamic of control law must be enforced because there is no truth in it a law destroys freedom because it is a lie a principle however creates freedom because it is knowledge that which destroys freedom is evil the world is simpler than it pretends complexities are found in every aspect of our culture's politics and economies everyday people are introduced to new ideas new spin new views or a new symptom of our world many of these ideas are perversions of principle decide assigned to engineer specific reactions from people evil societies invent ideas to destroy the free thinking of people some of history's names for these ideas have been socialism fascism racism communism democracy class warfare political correctness decency royalty and terrorism all of these ideas are created for exactly the same purpose they are all vehicles to confuse the minds of the victims of slavery they are all evil you are capable of understanding everything in the world around you your intelligence is not limited distortions and complexities are introduced into your understanding so that evil men can control you evil wants you to believe that you are incapable of understanding your own world I'll read that sentence again evil wants you to believe that you are incapable of understanding your own world when you understand the magnitude of your own worth evil will fail there are two principles relevant to understanding the concept of intelligence the first is simplicity the principle of simplicity states that intelligence recognizes truth intelligence recognizes truth when any truth is presented in pure form all people are capable of understanding it there is no truth that you can not learn this is the principle of simplicity that intelligence recognizes truth the second principle is the principle of abuse patient abuse patients or ssin of principle abuse patient is the creation of false ideas in order to hide truth to hide truth well this is exactly what we've been talking about folks hidden knowledge the world will not be free until the occult that which is hidden is no longer the occult when it becomes common sense to comment I'm making here taking a break from the last couple paragraphs he is talking about hidden knowledge or otherwise known as the occult obfuscation is the creation of false ideas in order to hide truth sometimes this is simply adding ideas on top of truth to disguise the nature of the original truth just as I described obfuscation as even ideas that seem entirely appropriate can be used to very simple truths abuse casein is used by evil to confuse the minds of people abuse patients principles so that people will be unable to learn and as we've talked about on this show the root causal factor of every all the negativity and suffering that we are experiencing is people's in ability to recognize truth from falsehood that's the root underlying cause of what we're experiencing on earth as human suffering is concerned self-inflicted suffering continuing evil uses obfuscation so that you will be unable to gain wisdom wisdom proper application of knowledge it does this to limit your freedom culture knows that people will discover fewer truths if they are focused on artificial complexities as children grow they learn that seemingly complex ideas are actually basic and simple principles what they have seen what may have seemed impossible to understand at one point becomes wonderful once understood it is good to gain wisdom with wisdom you can do anything your search for knowledge will become easier for you as you shed any notion of your own inferiority and I would suggest that it will become easier to gain knowledge and wisdom as you shed the idea that truth is too complex to comprehend and to come to know this is not true this is a lie that the Dominator culture wants you to accept and believe we can know the truth it is simple our intelligence inherently recognizes simple truths your search for knowledge will become easier for you as you shed any notion of your own inferiority evil uses obfuscation to make people feel inferior you are not inferior to other people and you are not inferior to ideas you have infinite Worth and I will stop there with the reading from the great book the end of all evil by Jeremy Locke and I think that's all basically cover for tonight we're winding down to about the last hour in the show I want to thank all the great callers for calling in I want to thank everyone involved with the Nikola Tesla energy independence celebrations 2010 I want to make one final appeal to everyone in the Philadelphia area and the surrounding region come out to this event get involved with these great people participate in these wonderful ideas and together we will achieve energy independence and we will achieve independence on a much wider scale the scale of true human freedom and energy independence is a gigantic part of that so with that having been said I'm going to sign off for tonight ladies and gentlemen thank you for listening here on what on earth is happening calm and on the revolution broadcasting radio network at revolution broadcasting calm I am your host mark passio and this has been another episode of what on earth is happening good night everyone you

Topics: Energy Independence, Mind Control, Methods Of Manipulation, Obfuscation, Simplicity vs. Complexity, Principles vs. law, Dominion vs. Fear Of Punishment, Gnosis vs. Belief, Individuality vs. Culture

ladies and gentlemen welcome you are listening to what on earth is happening today is Tuesday July 13 2010 I'm your host mark passio my website is www.pevs.com and this is the show where we discuss all topics and issues that relate to human freedom and why it is that we're currently in the process of losing human freedom in the day and age in which we live what we ultimately do on this show is discuss the causal factors the underlying causal factors of why human beings experience self-inflicted suffering in this world that's ultimately what we do here because that is intricately interwoven and connected with what is going on politically with what is going on with our freedoms and with what is going on with human consciousness so today we are going to continue to discuss some of the concepts and ideas that we have been over the last several weeks namely the methodologies that are employed to covertly control human consciousness mind control techniques and methods we are going to continue our discussion on the first method of manipulation which is obfuscation and hopefully get into a couple more before I do that let me give the call-in number for this radio show a call-in number you can call in at any time just hang on the line I will get to your call there are no taboo topics here you can call in and talk about whatever you like the call-in number is seven to four four four four seven four four four once again the calling number seven two four four four four seven four four four when you call in you have to put in the call ID number for this show the call ID number is eight three five one five once again the call ID for this show when you call in is eight three five one five so I usually start off with some event announcements and I want to let everyone know that the Nikola Tesla energy independence celebrations for 2010 have now come and gone there in the history books and it was overall a great success there was a couple of spots that were a little bit rough around the edges but you know you live and you learn and will gain more experience as things progress of weather did not cooperate with us this weekend unfortunately so one of the day's events got rained out one of the outdoor events for Saturday during the day at Independence Visitor Center they didn't want to take a chance with some bands playing that required electrical equipment and some other inventions that were going to need electrical power um they didn't want to take a chance and it did rain pretty ferociously here on Saturday in Philadelphia so they called that event but the other events went very successfully and I look forward to another great event this time next year that's basically my recap but after I read the event announcements I'd like to read a document that I did not get a chance to read on Saturday night at the dinner reception and concert because um the schedule pretty much went a little bit late it ran a little late there and I was supposed to read the declaration of energy independence that the Tesla Science Foundation came up with but I did not get a chance to on Saturday night saw I read that Friday night out in Independence visitor center but I'm going to read it again this evening on this show to try to hammer in the importance of how energy and the way we produce and distribute energy is directly related with human freedom but before I do that let's get into the event announcements for the philadelphia area I have three event announcements this evening the first this coming Sunday July 18 from noon to 6:00 p.m. this is a free event totally free to attend Pennsylvania mutual UFO network presents Philadelphia UFO Awareness Day 2010 a great lineup of speakers scheduled including dr. David Jacobs Temple University professor and author his website is UFO abduction calm he will be speaking on UFO abductions and alien hybrids I will be speaking at this event my presentation is entitled don't count on disclosure and what I mean by that is don't count on official government disclosure of the UFO and extraterrestrial phenomenon in any way that resembles truth because their job is to dissemble cover-up and destroy truth wherever possible so I will be giving a lecture about the deepest covert reasons for the continued and deliberate cover-up of the UFO and extraterrestrial phenomenon on this planet Chris Augustine is the next speaker a paranormal investigator and the author of aliens the truth calm will give a lecture about alien abductions bill Weber will also be speaking he is a Pennsylvania mutual UFO network state section director and field investigator his lecture is entitled UFOs and technology Michael Melton another pencil MUFON State section director and field investigator will be speaking about UFO investigations interviewing the witness and finally rounding up the schedule of speakers Bob Gardner is the pennsylvania MUFON chief investigator and field investigator you will be giving a talk entitled credible and convincing evidence for the existence of UFOs again philadelphia UFO Awareness Day 2010 hosted by Pennsylvania MUFON is on Sunday July 18th from noon to 6:00 p.m. it is a completely free event and will be hosted at germ books and gallery which is at 2005 Frankfort Avenue in Philadelphia for more information on this great event go to MUFON PA that's mu Fon P a.com or germ books GE RM books com next event announcement the great activist group out of Philadelphia called truth freedom prosperity will be hosting their monthly free documentary showing and discussion night at the ethical Society of Philadelphia they do this every third Monday of the month the date for this month will be Monday July 19th they start at 7:00 o'clock p.m. sharp they show the documentary at 7:00 p.m. and then there is a discussion following the documentary screening the ethical society building is at 1906 South Rittenhouse Square in Philadelphia this month they will be showing the documentary fresh so fresh is basically about what is going on with our food and why it is important to grow and consume fresh foods because food is completely related to our state of consciousness our state of well-being how much we understand about what is taking place within ourselves and then the world around us and our food supply to a large extent in the modern world has actively been poisoned and it is important to get back to fresh organic fruits vegetables etc to take into our body to nourish ourselves properly that's what this documentary is basically all about so I encourage anyone interested in health health freedom and freedom in general to come on out to truth freedom prosperities documentary nights at the ethical Society and finally the last presentation announcement for tonight free your mind a conference on consciousness mind control and the occult and this is hosted by yours truly I will be hosting this conference next year Saturday April 9th and Sunday April 10th 2011 the location is still not 100% confirmed but it looks more and more as if it is going to be at Rubik lub which is in the northern Liberty section of Philadelphia I will be making the definitive announcement on the location within the next few weeks admission price will be only $20 per day for a great lineup of speakers and some great presentations probably between 12 and 14 speakers total if everything goes well we already have 3 confirmed speakers for the event myself my friend Michael Kelly and mr. Aaron McCallum from the West Coast so it's already shaping up to be a great conference that is free your mind a conference on consciousness mind control and the occult April 9th and 10th 2011 in Philadelphia so those are the event announcements for this evening and briefly I want to go back to the Tesla inner energy independent celebrations that happened this past weekend in Philadelphia we had a great gathering on Friday evening outside the independence Visitor Center on Independence Mall Park and there at around midnight I read the unanimous declaration of energy independence so it was highly symbolic and appropriate for the location because we were standing right there outside Independence Hall the place where it all took place 234 years ago the place where some of the founders of this country put forward the philosophies of true freedom and tried to enshrine it in the Declaration of Independence that they wrote and has been a safe which has been a sacred document in this country since that time so what some of the folks at the Tesla Science Foundation did a year ago they followed in the footsteps of the founding fathers of this country who did not ask for their independence they declared it they declared it as an absolute fact and energy independence being completely related to overall independence because as we talked about on the show many times the control of energy is the control of human beings a people cannot truly be free if their methods of energy production are controlled are limited are polluting can never really be free if they're tied to an unsustainable polluting limited and controlled energy paradigm our way of looking at energy needs to completely be revised and we need to understand that there are ways of hooking into the wheel work of nature itself and providing clean abundant sustainable renewable and free energy for all the people of this planet excluding none with that in mind I'd like to read to you a document that we came up with as part of the first annual Nikola Tesla energy independence celebrations this was last year in 2009 when this document was written and it takes a lot of cues from our very own Declaration of Independence so I'd like to read this document for you right now in conscience July 10th 2009 the unanimous declaration of energy independence when in the course of human events it becomes necessary for the people of earth to dissolve the relationships habits and thought patterns that have bound us to an unsustainable energy paradigm our conscience compels us to state our grievances with these outmoded systems and to unanimously declare our intentions for the future of free energy we hold these truths to be self-evident that in our modern age all means of energy production are not equal some being polluting limited non-renewable and controlled by corporate driven profit motives while others are clean abundant sustainable and able to be made freely available for the betterment of all people that human innovation and creativity have excelled beyond our current methodologies of energy production that the current energy paradigm is ecologically unsound economically unfeasible socially divisive and morally bankrupt that dependency on our current energy production methods has led to the increasing environmental degradation of our living planet and to a growing systemic mentality of scarcity lack fear aggression and imperialism that free energy technology has been developed and suppressed for over a century and we need not be dependent on non-renewable energy for a moment longer that the time is now for us to develop means of energy production and distribution that utilizes the inherent abundance of nature itself that as stated by the great scientist and inventor Nikola Tesla science is but a perversion of itself unless it has as its ultimate goal the betterment of humanity that whenever any any energy model has been perpetuated toward a system of control limitation and the stagnation of humanity's collective evolutionary progress it is the right and duty of the peoples of all nations to abandon the outmoded technologies upon which such systems are built and to transition toward those which are clean renewable sustainable and free we therefore free people of Earth in good conscience assembled appealing to the supreme order of nature for the manifestation of our intentions do solemnly declare that in our lifetimes through our continued dedication ingenuity and inspiration we will bring to fruition a new and free energy paradigm one in which empowering advancements in technologies are made widely and freely available to all peoples in the service of human potential and for the support of this declaration of energy independence with a firm reliance on the protection of divine providence we mutually pledge to each other Our Lives our Fortunes and our sacred honor so that is the unanimous declaration of energy independence as drafted by the Tesla Science Foundation and the associated Nikola Tesla inventors Club and I think it beautifully and concisely states why we need to get off of this addicting and unsustainable energy paradigm that has held human evolutionary progress in check for over a hundred years for over a century and it's time that it stops now and that's the ultimate aim of why the Tesla science foundation hosts this yearly event and I think it was a overall a very positive and empowering event I think a lot of people learn the whole lot over this weekend and I hope that will continue into the future and inspire people to do what is necessary to take our independence as we so desperately need to when comes to free energy so with that having been said I guess I will jump right into the topics for tonight's show which is an ongoing expose of mind control and the technologies the techniques and the methods of manipulation that are employed to place people under mass mind-control that's what we have been doing over the last several weeks on this show and we will continue to do this over the next several weeks probably many weeks because there are many methodologies they need to be clarified and explained so that listening audience has a firm grip on understanding how they work on the human psyche however next week I'd like to make a special announcement next week we will be taking a break from the explanation of some of these mind-control methodologies because we'll be having a special guest on the show right here next week and I will kind of be jumping ahead a little bit because this is a technique that I don't list in my presentation and in the list of 14 mass mind-control methodologies that I'm going to be discussing here on the show because what we will be doing next week is exploring trauma-based mind control and I'll be doing this because I'll be taking this divergence in the material that I am planning on covering on the show over the next many weeks we'll be taking this um this fork in the road for the specific reason that I have the opportunity to interview right here live on this show a victim of trauma-based mind control this gentleman was involved in what has been come to be called project monarch monarch was a I guess you could say joint operation between intelligence agencies and very dark occult organizations for the purpose of creating hard-wired mind control slaves through extreme trauma carried out over long periods of time to create what are known as altars in the mind fracturing of the psyche and the personalities into what are called multiples this can be called multiple personality disorder and in doing this in creating this disorder through torture which is what it is they can then program the fractured components the fractured compartments of the personality the separate personalities that fracture off that split off from the main personality these are like sponges they're like blank slates that can be programmed to carry out whatever orders and to act in whatever ways the programmer places into these compartments of the psyche so next week a special guest that is going to talk about some disturbing material from a first-hand perspective events that he actually experienced and went through as part of Project monarch so tomorrow next week's show is not one that you will want to miss but tonight let's continue with our breakdown of methodologies of mass manipulation or mass mind control last week we delve into the first technique of mass mind control and this was obfuscation I'll spell that obfuscation is spelled OB fu s CA tion obfuscation we defined what it is to obfuscate obfuscate means to render obscure unclear or unintelligible to bewilder or confuse so obvious casein is create the creation of confusion and we talked about on earlier shows what confusion really is confusion is the inward expression of the dynamic force of fear when it comes to fruition within an individuals consciousness confusion it is created through fear so that is what obfuscation does fuses two or more things in someone's mind often to create the exact opposite notion of what something truly is in the minds of the individual rules being worked upon that are being controlled this way when a person thinks of this idea or concept the first image that comes into their mind or the first word that may pop into their head is the exact opposite in reality of what that thing really is so it is getting you to associate ideas in completely inverse relationship that is ultimately what obfuscation is trying to do and indeed in the very definition we see that to render unclear or unintelligible to bewilder to confuse to get someone not understanding which way is up and which way is down to completely confuse something in their mind and we started looking at different examples of specifically what is obfuscated in our world the first thing we looked at was the station of simplicity with complexity controllers mind controllers most often and and very much want to obvious can't eat the notion that truth the truth is simple but they want you to be confused about that fact they want you to think in your mind that to know the truth about anything you have to tear apart so it is so unimaginably complex that what you ultimately end up thinking is why either I could never it would take too much time too much energy the truth about so overwhelmingly complex that I could never understand it anyway so I won't bother even I this isn't that the office of things really are now merrily the computer today is that the truth is always simple when truth is ultimately explained or put it into words simple to understand it becomes like an aha moment and someone will often tap could I have been so naive and so confused that I did not see this before it's so obvious it's so simple now that I do see it a controller a manipulator a sorcerer if you will will always try to obfuscate the notion of simplicity with the notion of complexity the truth is that the truth is simple it is easy to understand once it is exposed and brought to the light of day again the obvious Kayson of simplicity with complexity we talked about that last week and tied in with this first technique of obfuscation is the obfuscation of principles with law in helping the listening audience to understand this concept what I did was read a bit I read three or four pages from a book called the end of all evil the end of all evil by mr. Jeremy Locke loce ke and I think this is a extremely important book the book is very simple it's very easy to read it's very short it's only about 90 pages long and I read an excerpt from it that explains these two first fundamental principles the idea that simplicity is always obvious gated and confused with complexity because that's what the force of fear itself wants people to think of as being true that oh the truth if there is such a thing it is so impossibly complex I can't bother to go there I would waste my time I'd be looking I'd be chasing going off on a wild goose chase chasing something that may or may not even exist and even if it is even if it does exist it's way too complicated for me to grasp this first chapter of the book explained elegantly and beautiful that everyone is capable of understanding that which is true and which is real it isn't an impossible task the truth does exist you are capable of knowing it of understanding it finally in the excerpt that I read Locke went into an explanation of how man's law lowercase L law not natural law which is truth but man's law the laws that men and women write up and scribble down in their pages in their books and then expect people to obey as if they are true Authority people who consider themselves authorities in this world writing down commandments that others must obey upon some physical penalty or financial penalty and we'll be talking about that fear of being penalised today when we get into the idea of fear of punishment as being something that obfuscates truth so what Locke was explaining is that principles principles are always based in truth and morality principles are based in philosophy in the love of wisdom because they are based in fundamental truths fundamental truths are natural law principles these concepts are one in the same if something is true it is right we use the same words to describe these seemingly different concepts we use the word right to explain correct or true but we also use it to describe something that is morally correct morally upright when we get into touch with that which is true we are getting into touch with our principles principles mean first things and the reason that humanity has gone so drastically off-course in the modern world is because we are not putting first things first we are not putting our principles first what we are often putting first is comfort money success popularity and laws or control we think that in attempting to control other people by writing down laws and then punishing them in different ways if they don't conform to those laws that they will magically become moral people and it doesn't work that way folks it never has and it never will only proper moral education of natural law principles will ever create a condition that resembles order and peace and freedom never will you do that through control and last week I put a very very simple to image explanation on the site this is in podcast number 15 in the related images of how natural law essentially works and it's so overwhelmingly simple that there are people there that will insist this is reductionism this is explaining something that is so complex and such simple and easy to understand terms that it can't be this simple wrong it is that simple it is that simple and it's a very very easy to follow flowchart if you will about what creates the conditions that we experience in the reality that we ultimately manifest for ourselves through our thoughts our emotions and our actions those are the ways we create the world folks and on this simple flowchart of sorts that I made it's very simple to understand how we create the conditions of the world that we then must live in and our children then must live in if our thoughts are in a state of balance and if they are guided by the dynamic energy of the love which is what we explained as being the expansive force of consciousness the force which helps consciousness to expand ever outward and look at everything and take in everything and understand that you are a part of everything and that you are a creator of your experience a powerful co-creator that is love and if our thoughts are attuned with that dynamic energy that force in creation that we will be creating inward harmony with our emotions our emotions will then take on the quality that I refer to as Dominion or self-respect self-love unity consciousness as we think so we feel and so we act in the world and there is no contradiction or internal opposition within us when we are in that state of being only in doing this can our actions in the seemly external world the manifested reality that we experience on the three-dimensional plain that we exist on only when our thoughts are guided by the force of love higher-level consciousness expansion of consciousness and our emotions are balanced and we bring these all together through our actions and our actions are geared toward creating true freedom in the world so these three forces all working together with the components of the expression of our consciousness thoughts being the creation force the emanation okay the Creator God if you will emotions being the sacred inward qualities of our consciousness the sacred feminine aspect of the Divine Mother the nurturing intuitive force our emotions together with our actions the byproduct of our thoughts and emotions which is the child of that that creator and the Divine Mother together our thoughts are the essence our emotions are the inner quality our actions are the external manifestation only when we bring those into harmony with each other through the dynamic energy the force of love expanded consciousness the inward quality of Dominion not being divided amongst ourselves within ourselves our thoughts emotions and actions are one they do not contradict each other only then are we creating freedom in the external manifested reality that we live in that we experience and in doing so that is the only way that order ever gets created never ever ever through control do passing laws through trying to physically dominate and control other people through manipulating their mind so that they give their power away to others and keeping them controlled through things that don't even exist like money which is a mental construct and some things that do exist like energy and controlling its production and distribution methods the flipside to how natural law works is pretty much what we're doing now and it's it's still working don't don't get me wrong it's always working perfectly 100% perfectly but right now the dominant energy that most people not all but most people still are putting out there they can change this whenever they want is fear they're constantly in fear and this is going to tie in with fear of punishment as the next method of obfuscation and what it opt escapes which is true self-control and true Dominion the rulership of oneself not any other being a United being so Dominion being United within one's self thoughts emotions and actions are in unison as one thinks so one feels and so one acts one is not divided in his own house Dominion which is part of the solution you can call it sovereignty if you will this is obfuscated with fear of punishment now how that ultimately happens is because human beings as a whole do not understand natural law principles they don't they confuse principles with law and people really don't understand how this works in general there's still a lot of confusion about this it's very simple very simple it's almost overwhelmingly simple and I could explain it in only a couple of minutes essentially anything that is written down as a law that an individual does not have the right to do I'll say this once again anything that is written down that is trying to give a power as a law that is attempting to give a power to an individual or groups of individual that any individual does not already have or possess inherently given to them by creation is immoral does not exist in nature is untrue and should be thoroughly renounced and rejected by anyone with any modicum of common sense I'll give you an example it's very clear simple and easy to understand and before we even get into this justifications reasons that you can come up with are all irrelevant they do not matter well and I'll explain what I mean by that I'll talk about something very simple like taxation now people will sell taxation that's very complex there's a million laws written about it yeah in the dominators worldview in the dominators structure yet it's an extremely complex labyrinth because dominators and manipulators want to confuse simplicity with complexity they want to give you enormous complexity so you'll never see the simple truth taxation is one person or a group of individuals being granted the power of taking the creations of others the fruits of one's labor or the creations of others through force violence if they do not comply with the idea that the person who is claiming the right to tax another does not have that moral right well do you as an individual have the moral right to tax any one else any other single individual or group of individuals do you yourself as an individual born into creation living here on the earth do you possess inherently the natural law right to say to another individual for any reason that you could come up with I have the moral right to take this which you created or manifest it yet it's a yes or no question there are no Shades of Grey and it doesn't make a difference what excuse or justification you may come up with you do not have the right to steal from others at the threat of physical penalty you don't have it I would think that should be pretty clear to anyone with any moral Center or conscience whatsoever but again sadly many people do not possess that quality sadly and many have been completely brainwashed and mind-controlled as to how simple this concept is it isn't complex it's very easy to understand nothing could ever grant you the rights the moral right to take something which does not belong to you from another person for any reason you can ask them if they would give it to you you could make a suggestion to them that they should give it to you but you cannot claim the moral right I have the moral right to take that from you because I said so but indeed even many people who believe in the the founding fathers basic principles that they were laying down in the documents of this country believed that they could have granted to themselves or to Congress or to any other quote/unquote lawmaking body that they possess the right to do that it's a fundamental flaw and it's one of the fundamental reasons this country fell apart in less than 200 years there are things in the founding even in the founding documents of this country like the Constitution that betrayed moral law that betray natural law principles and again we talked about the idea that people think that there is no such thing as moral law in the world that this is all something that people simply make up and it does not actually have any effect upon what occurs in our experience and these are the same people that are determined to bang their own head against a brick wall for eternity and they'll continue to do that until they get the message natural law exists it determines what happens in our experience based upon our behaviors the end you're never going to make that untrue you could ignore it you could delude yourself into believing that that does not exist and you're going to suffer eternally till you get that message folks and that's what ultimately this is all about that's why our freedoms are being devastated real simple our freedoms are being devastated because we're accepting nonsense and we refuse to accept what is true the end one sentence you could sum it up taxation is always theft it doesn't make a difference what you claim you need the money for if you're taking it by force of violence it's immoral the end it's clear-cut it's black and white there are no shades of gray it doesn't matter what you're using it to do doesn't matter what good you're claiming that you're doing with it irrelevant and that's a hard pill for some people to swallow and they'll fight you to the death over it it's a hard pill if you yourself do not possess the right to do an action it can never be written down as law and claim that this is true and this is good and this is just an this is moral the end that is how law abuse Kate's principles if it wasn't right if you yourself as an individual claimed the right to do it then no individuals no matter how many there are can claim that they have the right to do it I can't see how it could be more clear-cut to me it's so self-evident it's so obvious that it's almost laughable it's funny that people cannot see it if they weren't killing each other as a result it would be funny it's so self-evident to me at the level of consciousness that I operate at that I can almost not even fathom that other individuals cannot see this as a simple truth it's almost laughable so what happens when we continue to obfuscate principles with man's law or we come to something called the obfuscation of Dominion with the fear of punishment the obfuscation of Dominion with the fear of punishment what are the reasons what are the principles that should be invoked and lived according to if one is choosing to take a certain course of action or a certain set of behaviors those actions and behaviors should be based upon a conscious understanding of the morality that is inherent in those behaviors and actions again if you alarm basically getting out here is the reasons that we take any of the actions that we do and if we really sit and think about this why do people take most of the actions that they do take is it because they know for certain in their minds and in their hearts that those actions are morally correct and that they should be taking those actions to improve the conditions of the world and the people in it and leave it better than they found it is that really the reason most people take the actions that they take or are most people currently in the state of consciousness that most people exist in here on the earth now today do they take most of their actions out of fear-based consciousness do they take most of their actions based upon well if I don't do this I will be fearful of what will occur if I don't do this I would strongly suggest it's the latter it's the second scenario which I outlined most people take actions based upon fear of what would happen if I didn't take that action oh there'd be disorder there'd be chaos well again this comes back down to a simple natural law principle if our thoughts are aligned to the consciousness of fear which is the force that shuts human consciousness down that creates internal confusion that gets us not to be able to see what is taking place within us and around us if our thoughts are always geared toward fear what happens with our emotional qualities our indwelling aspects of our consciousness that are within us they become confused or abuse cated we become a being whose actions are out of alignment with their emotions and with their faults such that we act in a way that betrays how we think and feel and ultimately we start to attempt to control to control each other externally through things like law do things like punishment if there isn't conformity with man's law whether it be moral or not ultimately what we are creating at that level of consciousness is chaos that is how chaos is created in the world everything that we talk about as bad or evil or chaotic you can never do it that way ever like I said in previous shows I have likened it that you're going to dry something by pouring more and more water upon it it will never work that way ever you can be there till the death of the universe it will never work that way you're adding a dynamic to the scenario that you can never create the opposite with you're saying I want to create order and yet you're putting into the system the very dynamic the very energy the very consciousness that creates chaos it can never work that way ever but yet there are people who insist it can insist insist will go to their graves suggesting that it that you can do it that way so the next thing that is obvious gated is having an internal internal unison between one's thoughts one's emotions and one's actions so it's knowing why you should take the action it's feeling deeply because you understand it's so well that the action is right it is moral it is just and then you do it because of those reasons because you know and feel that it is correct that it is morally right you care enough to do it and you know that it's right not that you believe that it is or there's someone told you it was or you are afraid of what will happen if you do not you simply do it because you know it to be right in your heart you know it heart and mind combined thought and emotion combined 100% you're on the same page and your actions do not betray those aspects of your consciousness your thoughts and your emotions the opposite of that that which the dominator world the sorcerer's the manipulators the mind controllers the globalists whatever you want to call them what they will abuse Kate Dominion true self rulership self ownership self control with is fear of punishment they'll get you to think I have to do this because if I don't know the negative consequences that will happen so you're always in the state of fear you're taking the action not because you know it to be right but only because you're in fear of what will occur if you don't take that action and fear is the lowest form of consciousness that you can ever take any action or behavior based upon you're never going to create anything that is ultimately good by taking positions and taking actions that are based upon fear namely the fear of punishment because violent punishment is what we are threatened with if we do not conform to the laws that man writes that men write down and insist that they are moral and they must be followed whether they are in keeping with moral law or not with natural law capital L law because there are many laws that are in keeping with natural law and you know what they don't need to be written down on a piece of paper if they're in keeping with natural law they're correct and it's common sense maybe not in today's world that isn't because most people don't have common sense and what know what morality wit was if it punched them in the teeth because simply they weren't properly morally educated themselves by their parents and and it goes on down the line and a large part of that has to do with people have largely stopped reading or in the past never learn to read period so they could not take in ideas from anyone that was not immediately in their surroundings acting as an exemplar and sadly today most people continue not to read even in the abundance of event of information in the information age that we live in so they continue to take their actions based upon fear of punishment because they believe that all man's laws are just and moral and that's not the case as a matter of fact the overwhelming majority of them are not moral they are serving a small class of people to keep them in positions of power and control if a law is in keeping with natural law need not be written down and imposed upon anyone by force it is truth and truth stands up under its own accord if a law is immoral is not in keeping with natural law principles one doesn't matter how much you write it down it's still a moral and and not in in conjunction with natural law not in harmony with natural law and to no one need obey it because it is not moral and you can never force someone to obey something that is not moral yet there are people who think they can there are people who think they can impose immorality upon people and get away with it not only that but get people to accept that what they're doing is morally justified and that they have the moral right the inherent human right to continue to do that like taxation for example which is just one example there are many cops that actually believe they actually think that they have the moral right to shut down free assembly and freedom of speech because they were told they're allowed to do it by another equal moron or an even bigger moron who actually thinks that they have the right to tell them that they're allowed to do that and then write a law down that says they're allowed to do it I mean to say that it's BS and that it's nonsense is a complete understatement but yet you have people that all they want to talk about is the rule of law man's law lowercase L not the rule of law capital L natural law the law of the universe the law of nature of morality but you start talking about that and hey you're self-righteous you think you know you think you understand there are many people who understand how natural law works I'm not the first folks won't be the last not by a long shot it exists it is real it is what you need to understand to truly free yourself because if you don't you're going to be going around in circles for your entire life and so are your children for their entire lives we need to get back to true natural law principles based in moral understanding not in fear of punishment for man's scribbled down laws some of which may hit upon natural law and some of which are completely in the other direction and once again if something is in keeping with natural law it is common sense truth you don't need you don't need to bother writing a law down about it it exists in nature the law of gravity could care less whether man wrote it down it exists you're bound by it it's an operation at all times in places period the end for eternity as long as the three-dimensional space time continuum exists get it and no amount of writing down something that doesn't exist and you don't have the right to is ever going to make it true is ever going to make it exist and is ever going to make it morally right unfortunately what that does create is mind control in the minds of other people who believe you had the moral right to do that they start believing that what you're saying is true that it's gospel that it actually you actually did have the right hey I wrote this down I have the power to tax i morally granted myself that right ain't that nuts isn't that wild how that works don't you wish you had that same capability that same power it's it's awesome that I have that you don't want to know how I got it I made it up because it's nonsense it's complete BS it never existed and it never will and yet people believe it they accept it and and like I said they'll argue with you to the death that what I'm saying is incorrect and that other people do have this moral right they've granted to themselves by writing something down on a piece of paper one of the hardest forms of brainwashing ever to get out of is that there is no such thing as man's law there it is said very simple folks it does not exist it's another mental construct that does not exist in nature natural law exists in nature man's law exists in your mind and nowhere else but that is how people get others to accept the notion that law lowercase L man's law is real and can usurp and obfuscate true principles or morality and that is how they control their behaviors through fear of punishment instead of understanding the true reasons that behaviors or actions should be taken in so that's all that I will say for tonight on those principles of obfuscation we'll start to get into some of the other ones hopefully I can wrap up obfuscation by the end of the program tonight I'm going to start going to a couple of calls well before I do that we're past the set of the top of the second hour so I'll give the call a number once again the callin number for this show is seven two four four four four seven four four four once again seven two four triple four seven triple for the call in ID number is eight three five one five when you call that number you've got a punch in the call ID it's eight three five one five calling anytime hold on the line I will get to you know taboo topics as always so here we go I'm going to take a call now caller from southeastern Pennsylvania you are on what on earth is happening what do you have for us this evening mark oh hey buck this is Chris from new jersey hey Don Chris how are you man thanks for calling good mark mark I've listened to the show as you know I'm involved in the Tea Party movement as some of the people within that movement I would say the minority not the majority understand natural law real I think what you're talking about is critical we have lost the ability to understand what's natural law and my question to you is do you believe that we have within us a moral compass where we we can just determine what is natural law based on what we know is right and wrong or has that been so distorted now like how is the majority of the population going to remember what they forgot or never learned in the first place excellent question and again thanks for calling in Chris you bring up great points I would say definitely we do have such a thing as a moral us in life to help us to understand and to live according to natural law principles and it's very simple what that compass is I'm going to tell you what it is that compass is our emotions that is what that compass is we can know through how we feel within our bodies whether the actions that we are taking are in keeping with truth with conscience with morality we can know that for certain that even L know is in my control and brainwashed to a large degree they still retain that ability somewhere deep down underneath all of the layers of that mind control onion so to speak yes it is there it does exist that seed is presence the problem is as you're saying there is so many layers of conditioning over top of it that essentially what they have convinced us to do is to continuously go against our emotional compass when we take actions that we know to be morally incorrect we do feel the repercussions of those actions within the body and you know what that's why we have so much poor health and have had so much poor health throughout human history human beings are essentially continuously betraying the emotional qualities of the true self and they're taking actions that they know deep within them we all deep within know what what the truth is we all deep within know what right right from wrong is we know it we don't think it it doesn't require any any linear thought the liver as I was getting it okay yeah I'm really happy to hear that these people the most people are all people still have that ability because if they didn't I now we are going to regain it they were going to regain it they did possess it inherently again the problem is that they have been conditioned so much and there are so many layers of nonsense so many layers of obfuscation so many layers of let's just call it what it really is of mind-control that are obscuring this that are hiding in cloaking this natural ability that we all have within us that most of us are continuing to betray that emotional compass and go in the other direction that that emotional compass needle is pointing in and telling us where we need to go sadly that's the case the thing that really helps to uncover it there are many things okay one we have to understand this is not only done through just the ideas that are pumped out there the poisonous ideas that are pumped out there in society it's done through electromagnetic means it's done through the food we eat which is basically an electromagnetic vibration that we put into our body it is done through everything that enters our physical body okay and then through that that becomes part of us anything we put into us becomes part of us again the adage we are what we eat is true but not entirely the whole story isn't told with that adage we have to add we are what we eat what we drink what we take into ourselves through books what we take into ourselves through other forms of media through the conversations we have with other people through who we listen to you know it's everything we take into ourselves in all forms of information comprise who we are and that's what's basically either magnetically energetically aligning that moral compass in the true north direction in the true up right direction or that's what's sending it southward down into the abyss of consciousness and we don't listen to it you know it's just pointing us in the wrong direction if our emotions are all out of whack and this is one drama and I think it'll listen very intently I really am interested in this because I'm trying to help other people realize what what natural law is all about I'm trying to break down the walls of the fear that the societies that go up in their minds as to what it really is about I mean and and now I realize and I'm trying to teach other people that it takes courage to be free nope absolutely so I assure your time I appreciate everything you're doing and I want to get to other callers thanks so much mark Chris you're welcome to call in here anytime you're a good friend and I think what you're doing to help try to enlighten people is is very much appreciated and I thank you for it so thanks for calling in all right thanks right take care got it Chris from New Jersey on gray collar and he brings up great points and I'm actually glad to hear that some of the people in some of the Tea Party movement saw this is a topic that they are um you know talking about discussing and trying to come to some understanding of that's out very encouraging to to hear that's great news so yeah to go back to to go back to our emotions again our emotions are our moral compass and this is why food the understanding the food like what I was reading earlier about the event coming up in Philly at the ethical Society they're showing the documentary fresh I mean it's critical to understand the kinds of foods were taking into our body because that's affecting our mind and it's affecting our consciousness and that affects our morality so we have to understand a lot about what's going on on so many different realms it's all simple once the truth about it is exposed but there is a lot to the tapestry electromagnetic forms of pollution or another one you know all the devices and electromagnetic fields that our brains and bodies are exposed to on a daily basis you know what the most powerful electromagnetic field is you would think it's the brain it's not it's the heart the heart true care can conquer all of that if we care enough about what we see going on in the world to try to make it better it will conquer all of that it will conquer all the other forms of tyranny and oppression whether it be through poisonous ideas poisonous foods poisonous electromagnetic pollution and anything else for that matter if true care is present with an individual that's the most powerful radiant electromagnetic field that exists and it comes from the heart not the brain again that where the brain comes into all of this is once we buried the heart so much once we buried our true care so much and we don't want to get involved and we don't want to take right moral action the only way to really help people to do that is to explain to them linearly in a left brain progression through information and knowledge what has taken place what has occurred and why you know they need to understand a lot of this information to get to get out of that state then once that happens then the heart will take over the mind will re-establish its connection with the heart and then there's no stopping that person they're not going to stop no matter what happens because they understand what they truly are and why we're all truly here they recovered a sense of true purpose in their lives because they found true care so information is always going to be a critical part of this because there are so many people whose whose conscience has been buried to that extent they need to be raised up out of that state of consciousness through information that's why I say to people in the New Age movement it is not just just about feeling ultimately yes we need to get to that state of developing true care and and resetting our moral compass which is our emotional qualities but in more instances than not that Center that emotional compass Center within an individual is so devastated is so damaged that it needs to be repaired with the help of abundant amounts of information knowledge if you will so it's important to read it's important to watch documentaries it's important to have discussions with other people and be exposed to the truth about what is actually taking place in the world that is how we get some people out of that state of being buried or in a grave so to speak their their care is buried okay the dead sadly how many d'arco cultists refer to those individuals I have heard it from their lips to my ears folks not reading about it being there with them hearing them call people that who have that emotional quality that is completely buried they call people the dead what a thing I will imagine to call people who are alive the dead you know because they say they may as well be dead for all intents and purposes because they're powerless to actually affect that anything because they don't care their heart is dead you know that is how we will get to an understanding of natural law principles when we care enough when we understand that only through caring enough are we going to reverse this dangerous trend that we see playing out before us with the erosion of our natural law freedoms given to us not by any man or group of men and that which cannot truly be taken away by any man or group of men they can think that they can take that away from us but in reality in reality they actually cannot sadly most people have given up caring about their natural law rights and freedoms and in doing so they're handing their power to over to controllers and manipulators so again I want to thank Chris for a great call in because it really does emphasize how critically important it is to understand what natural law is and how it affects our reality through our behaviors so I'll put up those images once again on this week's podcast two simple images which basically explain it all how it works I call it natural law for dummies okay two simple charts of how we create our reality it can't be any more simple but the truth is always simple so I'll try to wrap up obfuscation with the half an hour we have left the net the next thing that is obfuscated is gnosis or knowledge and this is kind of a nice segue because we were just talking about how important knowledge is to get help get people even in a left brain or linear progression of understanding that's important to put information together in a logical progression to get people to start to dig themselves out of the the consciousness grave that they have done for themselves by burying their true terror so gnosis can be looked at as knowledge it's a Greek word for knowledge there's a connotation to gnosis and I'll spell gnosis it's GN osos that's a Greek word in Greek it would be spelt gamma nu Omicron Sigma Iota Sigma gnosis so GN Oh sis gnosis means knowledge and there's there's a specific connotation that is often used when referring to gnosis it is knowledge that is acquired through experience through at we having lived something who actually having understood it because you experienced it directly so without being without in any way bragging I feel that I can state because it is simply the case I have gnosis of natural law have experienced how natural ball works directly in my life I was living certain ways thinking certain ways feeling certain ways and I got certain results invariably got certain results they always worked a certain way as long as I was thinking a certain way feeling a certain way and acting a certain way I received in the external experience that is my life the the seemingly external experience they indeed the manifested reality that I dwelled in I received a certain type of experience of energy and when I was thinking thoughts that were based in fear when I was thinking thoughts that were based in self pure selfishness meaning only caring about myself and no one else and actions that were geared along those lines and principles those ideologies I should say I was receiving extremely negative events in my life suffering in other words I was suffering and I was suffering greatly greatly as an understatement I finally began to come out of that grave of consciousness that cesspool that pit and I was beginning to realize you know maybe just maybe the events that I'm experiencing are related to how I think feel and act and I started to change those things the external events of my life completely changed for the better I experienced natural law and how it works first hand that's not my belief about what happened that is my experience of what happened I'm not asking you to believe that that's how it happened I'm telling you that that's what occurred because I lived it I don't care whether you believe me or not quite frankly you can believe whatever you like that's your natural law right to believe whatever you want to believe but I'm telling you that happened in my life I know that it happened because I lived in that's gnosis I read about in a book although it's subsequently to understand and kind of conquer ties that idea and be able to explain it to others how that works I did read about it in many books sadly it didn't happen in the reverse order I didn't get that knowledge first through through book knowledge and then apply it I had to apply it by suffering enough and then realizing hey I'm going to end up in one of two places you know a prison cell or a grave and then you know finally I got taught the lesson of this is about me and how I think feel and act and started to change those dynamics too bad some of the really powerful positive philosophies that you can read about in books that discuss natural law principles like the end of all evil which I read from last week too bad I didn't have a lot of that knowledge back then so I had to take the left-hand path as they say I had to take the path of darkness and suffering and pain to get it and that's the path were on now collectively as humanity folks as a species doesn't have to be that way we can take that central path we don't need to take the left-hand path but we're choosing it as a whole not all of us but as a whole we're definitely choosing that left-hand path of suffering all I'm trying to explain here on this show throughout the weeks is it doesn't have to be that way and there is another way and it's called natural law and it's called getting out of mind control and it's called rediscovering our emotional compass for direction in life and it's called uniting our thoughts our emotions and our actions in the spirit of true care that's a little truly free us no external solutions the answers are all within us and with with these concepts that we need to realize to make real around us and then we'll be free and you know what not a moment before not a moment before there's no shortcuts and there's no escapes we're not getting out of this without getting that lesson I understand that some more people are coming online to that understanding I'd like to see it become a massive tidal wave of people who truly understand that but what we'll see we will see so what a controller wants to abuse kenosis with direct experience all knowledge is belief so the obfuscation of gnosis with a belief this is putting this mask on to the face of true knowledge and getting people to accept something that they cannot they do not actually have any experience or knowledge of and that's called belief and it's very very interesting that the word belief if you break it down and this is something that we'll do and this is something I'll explain in future shows but this is known as green language this is known as alchemical language words often betray their meanings in the sound the phonetic pronunciation of the sound of the word itself belief belief is Bell life now Bell is the name of a Sun God of the ancient world the Nisha Cana Sun God the Phoenicians worship the God known as Bell or bill but at this time when their culture existed their civilization the son was in the house of Taurus it has now progressed in the precession of the equinoxes past the house of Taurus into the house of Aries the RAM from Taurus the Bull to Aries the RAM and then to Pisces the fish so we're in the house of Pisces now as the precession of the equinoxes go and around five four five six thousand years ago we were in the house of Taurus the Bull again we have similar phonetic pronunciations pull bell bill another name for this God was bel VA al not to diverge into Astro theology too much here but we're talking about the word belief well this God represents in my understanding and studies of Astro theological principles a Sun God but it is it is more often a associated with a dark aspect of a Sun God now some incarnations of Prince Baal well if you will are a positive aspect of the the light a Sun so to speak however human sacrifice was often done to this God hey we will talk about how human sacrifice is perpetuated even to this day when we get into forms of dark occultism and how human sacrifice is actually ongoing in the modern day the biggest one is called war a perpetual human sacrifice that the occult controllers the occult sorcerers keep going and going and going and going they don't even have to March her the high priests need not even March anyone up to the top of a pyramid to slice their heart open slice their heart out with an obsidian blade they just whisper in their ear in modern time and send them off to war with a gun and some occult symbols and blaze all over their uniforms and uh the the objects of human sacrifice do it to themselves now that's how well mind control and belief work in the modern world but look at the word belief it's bail life Bell life right in the word we have a now chemical wordplay going on same or cultists or controllers or manipulators want us to lead a life of belief named after one of their gods you can look at this in a million different places too just as an aside a quick aside we pay bail when we're in prison we pay bills we pay bills whit's bills that's the name of their God bill money is called bills I'll get into this in detail we go into a show theology later shows one of the main secret societies controlling the world is the Bilderberg Group which means Rock of bills the headquarters of one of the forms of proposed world government the European Union one of the main bit stepping stones to a true world government is in Brussels Belgium you can you can go on and on about this actually there's so many different examples the very fact that they name their money after it is a very clear one in my estimation and the fact that they we they get us to recycle that energy right back to that same God paying bills with bills if that's not accidental you can think it is if you want and think that it's too simple that that's how things work but believe me the world is controlled through words we talked about that when we talked about the basic methodologies of mind control when you start breaking down words and understanding that there is information told to also right in the words that we speak about what's going on in the world you just have to be conscious enough to see it the leaf abuse case gnosis controllers want you to believe things instead of checking in to them for yourself and this is how much I believe in the idea of gnosis folks one of the things I think that is the most destructive thing that you could possibly do is believe a word I'm saying I don't want you to believe me I say this at the beginning of all my presentations and I'll say this on this show as well I'm not here to try to get you to believe anything I want to be I want to help explain some things to you to help you to know things there are things that can be known truths can be known you don't need to believe a truth again truths stand on their own because they're based in fundamental principles that are based in natural law you don't need to believe that they exist they operate they are true we don't need to believe in how gravity works we don't need to believe in that heat is emanated from the Sun we don't need to believe in the fact that what we experience as a solid object is more dense than water or something we experience as liquids or gases this these are self-evident obvious things that are all around us that we can know they don't require belief what we need to do is get move away from believing anything and start looking into things most of all looking inward into ourselves then we will acquire knowledge and specifically we will acquire knowledge through direct experience we can experience the qualities of our self to understand how our consciousness works how our psyche works we can experience direct knowledge of how natural law principles work in the world to create the things that manifest and that we experience in the world we can know that through direct experience through gnosis and that is what gnosis is but the dominators that controllers the occult sorcerers of consciousness they have created many many belief systems they are labyrinths of ideologies they are labyrinths of ways of thinking and being in the world often which have no resemblance to reality whatsoever they can get people they can get people to identify with those beliefs and get attached to the idea that they are true and most of all attach the idea that if they weren't present there would be chaos have you right under their thumb folks right off the bat of course one of the first things that comes to mind when you're talking about belief is religion what about the idea that man's law is a good idea and that we should be going to bat to or getting to the rule of man's law instead of the rule of natural law beliefs what about the idea the belief that our scientific institutions what betray us the ideas that are the belief that our medical institutions what betray us the belief that our military is there to protect us the belief that our police forces are there to protect us the belief that our religions are there to impart morality to us when every one of these institutions has de mantra bleep shown to anyone who's paying even an iota of attention to be thoroughly corrupt to the core and only create more and more human suffering now maybe in religion in these belief systems that religions specifically propagate I want to address an idea maybe you could convince enough people through some of these beliefs even if they're not true that they need to be good to each other simply for fear of the consequences otherwise not because you truly experientially in gnosis understand the principles that such an idea may be based upon but you feed them fear of punishment fear of punishment and because of that those ideas embedded in religion you can get them to actually treat each other in moral ways well it's it may be a stopgap but it's not the ultimate goal the ultimate goal is understanding principles is understanding what morality is what rooo natural law moral law is and why if we want to experience that which is orderly peaceful good non-chaotic non-destructive we need to live according to those principles we need to make first things first principles first things religion a belief system many different belief systems labyrinth of belief systems could accomplish that goal I'm not saying if they could not but they could only accomplish that goal with going back to our next our previous obfuscation fear of punishment that is what most of these religions that are out there are based upon law fear of punishment wrath of God God's law so in some esoteric symbology this is known as if you look at the Great Pyramid at Giza the biggest of the pyramids the oldest and the most incredible built with techniques we could not even come close to duplicating today there's actually a timeline of sorts built into this pyramid there's a subterranean chamber a very steep drop leading to a subterranean chamber known as the pit then there's a ascending Chamber the Grand Gallery and then there's two halls these two large chambers above what is known as the Grand Gallery this ascending staircase almost like a ladder one of them is the Queen's Chamber and one of them is the King's Chamber the King's Chamber is above the Queen's Chamber Queen's Chamber is lower than the King's Chamber this is the idea that we're on a slippery slope down toward the pit it's kind of like a symbolic timeline was actually built into the pyramids by those who put them there you can research this and look and look up information about this symbolic timeline and it's kind of telling us we're on this downward path and if we don't turn our course around by getting in touch with our true emotional compass and understanding natural law we're going end up in the pit which is destruction the abyss hell so to speak but there's these two ascent this is there's this ascending chamber and then it splits off into two passages one of them is the Queen's Chamber and if we can turn around from our descent away from morality away from natural law away from chaos that we continuously are creating in our lives away from mind control we can reach that ascending staircase and we could go into one of these two chambers well if we continue to be bound by belief the highest we will ever reaches this Queen's Chamber which still routes us in a form of mind control religion maybe if we truly followed some of the tenets and religions maybe better than some of the forms of mind control that we're under now which are based in fear of punishment and man's law etc and let's face it outright outright pure control and nonsensical ideas like greed and money and you know controlling other people etc if we can ascend up at least to the Queen's Chamber we would avert disaster but we'd still be in some form of control which is how religions work through belief so maybe the disaster would be averted but we would still ultimately be in a prison of sorts the goal is to get out to the King's Chamber which will grant access to the star shafts and take this truly out of the structure of control where we can truly be free and the King's Chamber represents symbolically the understanding of how natural law principles work and the true resetting of our moral compass in life which is truly getting to touch with our emotional selves uniting that heart energy with our minds and then putting both of those into proper moral action in the world and that's called Dominion self rulership sovereignty being a king and queen truly I think it's a misnomer that it's the Queen's Chamber underneath see the king and queen chambers ultimately the King's Chamber that's the sovereign a sovereign individual and if in that chamber is an empty sarcophagus because it represents that the true self is not in the physical realm the true self is the no thing it is not bound by the flesh you are not this body it's a true resurrection true gnosis of self and that's what a mind controller a sorcerer wants to abuse Kate they always want you trapped in beliefs I think this is beautifully represented by the Great Pyramid the goal is to get to that King's Chamber again modern Egyptologists call the chamber below that the Queen's Chamber this isn't to say that there is a dim you nishan of the the female here the sovereign is the king or queen and that top chamber represents sovereignty the true understanding of natural law the true understanding of conscience true care and that and that alone is what will grant access to those shafts that lead to the stars that lead to true higher consciousness with the gods so to speak the symbolic gods I think it's a beautiful out allegory to represent symbolically the path that we truly need to take but right now we seem to be on that slippery slope to the abyss that descending passageway and one of the reasons we're on it is because people are attached to belief they have their belief about what this thing is that they like so much and if they're attached to it and you're not willing to let it go they're not willing to see how they may have bought a belief because it contained the poison pill wrapped up in a few truths see that outer layer now they took that sandwich that's mostly truth it's good it's nourishing but then in the sandwich they embedded the poison pill and because they become identified with all of the other somewhat good ideas in it they'll take the whole thing as a belief structure and accept it and then stay attached to it never be willing to say you know what some of this serves who we truly are and some doesn't and that which does serve that which we truly are must be taken and use and employed for our betterment and that which does not serve that which we truly are should be abandoned for the outmoded belief that it is because maybe people that formulated ideas like religions didn't have all the answers maybe people who formulated ideas like self-governance as far as a nation goes like our fount the fountain fathers of this country maybe they didn't have all the answers and indeed we don't have all the answers today pursuit of truth is an ongoing process there are things maybe will serve us today that we will need to abandon in the future we should constantly be refining that process to go ever higher in consciousness we get stuck and we start descending when we get attached and identified with a belief that we think is true then they or may not be some beliefs are true some are not the goal should be gnosis knowing that something is true because you have directly experienced it experience is the best teacher not that you can't learn through other methods but the best is direct experience of a thing so briefly I will go into some of the other obfuscation techniques we've looked at simplest obfuscating simplicity with complexity abuse gating principles with natural with man's law principles which are based in natural law with man's law we've looked at obfuscating Dominion the real reason and the real reason to take actions with fear of punishment which is the lowest form of consciousness to take any action and now we've looked at the obfuscation of gnosis with belief well dominators and manipulators attempt to obfuscate individuality with culture true uniqueness with culture which is basically a form of conditioning and programming which is getting people to see themselves as not unique as just one of the numbers one of the herd and culture being a local operating system as Terence Mckenna a great teacher often referred to it as he said that culture is not your friend it's your cult right there in the word again it obfuscates individuality an individual is one who is not divided or dual right in the word in divide dual not divided or door culture creates divided and dualistic personalities and mindsets in attempting to get everyone to conform because people go along with what the status quo or the culture programs into them even though within themselves and their emotional compass their guidance center they know that that may not be the truth or morally correct another form of obfuscation just like man's law obfuscating principles so we'll get into this technique of obfuscation and wrap up obfuscation as a technique of mind-control and then next week I'm sorry the following week we will get into world view poisoning I'm going to leave it there for tonight and I want to remind everyone that next week right here on the show a victim of the trauma-based mind control project monarch will be interviewed right here on what on earth is happening so next week is a radio show that you will definitely not want to miss we'll get back into the continuing explanation of the techniques of mind control the following week - in two weeks time so next week we will take the divergence and we will look at trauma-based mind control so with that in mind I'm going to sign off here tonight you've been listening to what on earth is happening I'm your host mark passio my website go up and check it out tons of great videos up there all the podcasts that we've done on this show so far with related images next week I will actually have some related images pre show up on the show page because my guest has requested that we have some images related to what he is going to talk about for people to pull up live in real-time while he's on so that will be on the on the show page on the listen live page so for now I'm going to sign off you've been listening to what on earth is happening ww1 on earth is happening calm the networks website wwhen broadcasting calm I'll see everybody here right here for a great program on trauma-based mind control next Tuesday night at 7 p.m. thank you all for listening folks good night you

What On Earth Is Happening Show #017

Topics: Trauma-Based Mind Control, Project Monarch, Occultism, Bohemian Grove

what we've been doing over the last several weeks and what we will continue to do over the next several weeks is discuss the methodologies of mass control the methodologies of mind control that are used against the general population what we're going to do tonight is take a break from the I guess you could say the regularly scheduled class the regularly scheduled classroom environment where we delve into these topics and then take some calls and discuss them and I'm going to interview a gentleman that was the victim of trauma-based mind control this is in contrast to what is known as soft mind control techniques or mass control techniques and this is hard mind control this is trauma-based mind control which I'll let our guest tell you a lot more about and relate some of his experiences here on air live on what on earth is happening this evening so without further ado I'd like to introduce our special guest knio knio thank you for being on what on earth is happening well you're welcome mark it's a pleasure to be here it's an important subject to talk about and well let's get to it I'm going to first discuss briefly my family history I grew up in a multi-generational satanic family my father was in the Illuminati his father was in the Illuminati my father's family association with the Illuminati probably started in the early 1700s long before Adam Weishaupt declared the existence of the Illuminati in 1776 May first the Illuminati basically goes back all the way to Babylon in many different forms but it's the primary ancient mystery religion and it's known to be adherence as the old religion basically my mother and her family also generational Satanists my mother traces her witchcraft and her sorcery back 5,000 years to people known as the Amalekite the unalaq or Amalekite were a people in Canaan during the time of the first founding of Israel during a team saw in that particular time period I got some stories my mother told me when they were first training me in a true history of the world that I will relate about the outlet later basically I have two older brothers no sisters and I'm going to go through a brief summation of my life with the cult I never became a cult member due to my personal rebellion against it so I was programmed to be what's known as a slave and basically there's a hierarchy in the Illuminati and they basically go on a regimen of I would say bloodline it's probably the most important as far as getting a good position in the Illuminati but intelligence and it's a ton of history have a lot to do with it but for the most part the Illuminati are locked into a hierarchy that doesn't really change that much unless someone who does something extraordinarily good or extraordinarily bad in the eyes of the Illuminati leadership it's a caste system and it's a programming system very similar to that which is found in India you're literally born into your social class and your status in the world with programming you can move up the chain or down the chain depending on how you're evaluated but basically I'm going to just simply go over some of my personal experiences I basically can say that I spent seven years in torture in rape in abuse and in Hell once a child in an illuminati family reaches oh the age of six and seven the direct torture and rape is for the most part taking away because it's too hard for the hypnotism and drugs to cover the abuse instances and the victim would have a realization of what was going on to them and now discuss that later my first years of abuse it simply started in the cradle my father would force me to fellate him while my mother stood behind him this went on in the cradle for as long as I was in the cradle my mother would be looking at me over my father's shoulder with a total spirit of disgust and anger while my father was enjoying the sexuality he was receiving from him one of the things that causes people to become mind-control slaves is a basic dissociation causing the brain by trauma and by receiving two too similar signals into your biological computer your brain at the same time so you would have two opposite things going on simultaneously which causes a basic confusion in Europe in your mind this is done constantly in an Illuminati family basically my father would enjoy himself at Maya you know it you know I was just a baby so I didn't know what I was doing but after he was done enjoying himself he would then physically pinch and twist my body so that I was suffering in pretty severe pain and the energy that my father would give off while he was receiving his pleasure from me and then followed by quick sharp torture is what is the primary basis of the Illuminati system of making a slave and programing the mind basically you are constantly being bombarded by opposite feelings opposite situations where the mind is left in a state of confusion as to which way to turn what to think and so you're basically in a state of confusion and fear now there's those many things that my parents did as far as drugging spell-casting both my parents abused me from the cradle sexually there was much hunger in my early childhood and other deprivation and also the experience of my parents manifesting what I call other dimensional energy or other dimensional forces whether and you could say there are satanic demons inside them or what I really don't know what to say all are then every time I think about my memories of people manifesting these other consciousness levels that seem to be demonic I would always immediately think Phoenician Canaanite and I believe that is because of the teaching that I was taught of the original history of the old religion both my brothers and I all three of us received monarch mind control training and old religion trauma based abuse what this does is causes disassociative personality or multiple personality conflict it gets very technical when when you talk about it on a psychological basis but there are several excellent authors who have done years of research on monarch mind control and I'd like to mention one right now and that is for its spring water for its spring Meyer has done a book called how to create the perfect mind-controlled slave and Fritz Moon Meyer has written four books on the Illuminati and on mind-control by the Illuminati Britt spring Mars books are required reading for anyone who wants to understand what is going on in the power hallways of the world this world is being run by Illuminati cultists and we're going to have a discussion of that later in the next hour of who these people are and where they hang out you know find may stop you for just one moment I know a lot of people are really fascinated by hearing your account and I thank you for being here once again I just wanted to briefly jump in and give the call-in number for the show to the listening audience because in the second hour Mia will be taking questions from the audience so the call-in number for this show if you would like to call in and we are going to for this show in particular limit the questions that come in specifically for neo his account of his experiences and trauma-based mind control in general please for this show do keep the questions to that topic if you're going to call in I thank you in advance for that so the calling number for this show seven two four four four four seven four four four once again the calling number is 72 four triple four seven triple four and when you call in you have to punch in the call ID number for what on earth is happening the call ID number for this show is eight three five one five once again the call ID eight three five one five so in the second hour we will be taking calls and I'll turn the floor back over to Neil thank you I'm not a psychologist I spent some time studying what happened to me in Psychological books to try to figure out what I could do to heal myself I have a system that I use that it's working well for me in healing and basically I've had to just gut it up and just deal with the damage I have so many notes I don't even know where to begin but I guess I'll just start with talking about some of the major psychological manipulations of Monarch and how someone is made into a slave or whatever they want to program you to be but basically it's a hierarchy of state panicked energy and thought the abuse of children is done for one primary reason human beings naturally have a mindset that is basically good to manifest the murdering thieving reckless warmongering power-hungry personalities that are in the dark occult you must traumatize the brain causing synapses to be rewired from their natural order by rewiring the synaptic pathways of the brain different chemicals are released into the brain from the trauma that caused literal literal permanent brain damage until you start doing exercises to rewire your brain and repair the damage because what happens to the neural net in the brain as you think and as you feel over a long-term consistent basis the neural net in your brain and the hormones and the chemicals in your body will form addictions and hardwired patterns this is why so many people in vehicle have problems with habitual depression anger drug abuse alcoholism because in dealing with the twisting of their synaptic pathways they've turned to things to try to cope it usually drugs and alcohol but I found in the people that I grew up with who are cold that many of them have substance abuse issues and this is because of what they grew up in primarily now when my father and mother were first raising us we lived in what I considered a normal development in the Philadelphia region but when I was three and a half years old almost for my father and mother moved us to what I call an occult community around every major metropolitan area in the world there are concentrations of dark occultus arrayed around major metropolitan areas in developments and communities and to try to explain this I will just say the earth has a geomantic grid around it this geomantic read it's called ley lines or dragon paths it's the ancient name it is the geodesic kind of like dome grid of the energy that naturally flows across this planet what the Illuminati do and have done is place major cities along the major ley lines of a planet for instance London Boston New York Philadelphia and Washington DC are all located on one ley line so that the energy that is being manifested in these cities can travel up and down these ley lines and they can kind of like it's almost like hardwiring together so they can share energy around each major metropolitan area there will be towns and precincts and developments where instead of a normal mix of people where only ten percent would be of the old religion you will find concentrations of 70 to 85 percent of the old were Lincoln and so they literally have communities where you grow up and most of the children you grow up with are involved in the occult trauma rituals that you're going through also the reason that most metropolitan areas are circled with occult towns and developments it's so that the energy of the traumatic abuse of children can be fed into the main leyline grid I know this sounds very foolish but to people that study this stuff but I wanted to make that point so I've made it when my family moved to the higher concentration coal town to the outside world we look like any other family there was nothing different with us we went to church on Sunday we paid our taxes we didn't do anything that would cause anyone to have any thoughts of anything of normal with us when would we go to church and I just want to say some of the major Church memories that I have with my parents going we were Presbyterians for whatever that would mean considering what they really were my parents were always close with the hierarchy of whatever church we went to to the point where my mother would be with the pastor's wife constantly the hierarchy of the church you know regular Protestant Presbyterian churches had no idea that my parents were blood-drinking mass-murdering satanic pedophiles just like there were regular people which makes me wonder about their spiritual discernment' to say the least one time we were going to church we passed the church sign that said Trinity Presbyterian Church I looked at the sign as we drove in and I asked my mother what's Trinity mean and my mother turned back in the car and looked at me and she said that's us when you study the history of religion and the corruption of spirituality on the planet Earth you will find the thing known as the Babylonian Trinity the Babylonian Trinity spans six seven thousand years and no matter what name that Trinity is given the energy and the basic spirituality of it is the same it doesn't matter if it's Semiramis Nimrod it doesn't matter if it's Pisces and forest it's just whatever society that Trinity runs through the spirituality of it is the same I I'm not going to go into that this this show I'm just going to try to get through some of the abuse memories that I have and try to explain some of the wine first spring monitors book on monarch mind control is a must read if you want to understand more of this because it's it's too much for me to deal with in a two-hour program so I'm going to lightly touch on some of the things I went through so we can actually get some calls and talk to people and I can discuss with more similar things now the first time I went into the Church of the cult in the Illuminati town that we moved into the front was just a normal store no one would know that in the back of this store was a hidden Church there was a fairly large room it had all the things that a satanic cult needed it had the goat head Baphomet on the wall it had the pit in the floor where people were lower than in mock human burial there was the cattle prod in the corner there was the car battery for electrical shocks to be given and there were other devices of beating and torture children in an Illuminati family are never left in peace not for one day they are under constant attack so the brain is skewed into a dark mind-control mentality what what the church of the occult does is you go to meetings of the cult and they'll be let's say four children there and their parents there'll be some sort of satanic ritual there will be raping of all the children there will be a time of physical and emotional abuse there will be two favors given to different cult members by the children my parents considered their children nothing but say that we were that we existed for one reason one reason only to facilitate our parents cult activities we were given freely to other cult members for degradation torture humiliation sexual favors and it was good for my parents they had three young boys that they could please the older wealthy pedophiles with and I'm sure they receive a fair share of renumeration for what they put us for in mind-control the personality has to be split into many different smaller pieces and program this programming is done free torture what your parents do in the first several years is bill personally torture and play mind games with you and set the ball rolling synaptically in your mind once you go into the cult and work with the leaders of the cult then you get into more serious satanic rituals and this is usually from three years old to six years old these rituals consist of martyr rhythmic abuse force cannibalism force eating up feces and hours and hours electroshock torture and deprivation just basically they will torture you - you say uncle and then they won't torture you some more and some more until you are out of your mind terrorized begging God to kill you just to stop the agony what the Illuminati wish to do to their people to make them as they are is to get you to believe that you have to being completely abandoned by your society by God and you have nothing but what they tell you now one other thing you know I'm looking at my notes and wondering whether I could talk about certain things but now I'll start here for instance when I was probably 40 years old my parents gave me a true history of the world what they describe to me is that there was a society known as Atlantis that they traced their belief system back to the Atlantean warlocks of all then there was a cataclysm on here which geologically happened at 9600 BC and is written about in the book the day the earth nearly died by authors Allen and Dallaire the authors Allen and de l'air of written three books on the 9600 BC earth Cataclysm the days of the earth nearly died is one another book is Cataclysm Cataclysm 2000 9600 BC and even while others box is a great history lesson in geography and in Earth history because the destruction of the previous high civilizations on earth 10,000 BC open the door for what we are experiencing in the world today it appears that the Atlanteans survived the Holocaust of 9600 BC better than others and were able to set up a renewed Society in Sumer and then in Egypt and the Indus Valley so they got a head start on their rivals in the Pacific Ocean which would be the mauryans which basically for my knowledge became the indigenous peoples of the world my parents always believed that from the planet and star system went serious a group of beings came millennia ago possibly as much as five hundred thousand years ago I'm not sure but many many eons ago believe me and manipulated the DNA of the human race and made some of the Atlantean warlocks a specific genome type different than most Homo sapiens these people consider themselves the elite from research done it would appear that four percent of the human race has this different genetic makeup now they say that they're Illuminati they've controlled the world since the Cataclysm and they're not going anywhere and they basically give their allegiance the generational Satanists give their allegiance to this very small minority on top who would be considered the trillionaires of the world who are deep deep occultus and people who believe that they are genetically different than the human race the of serious and the beings that came here also opens up a discussion that there are possibly other dimensions in our universe and this was discussed also to me as a child and that the other dimensions and the Sirians basically have taken over the world and are running the world through a dark occult system and even though people believe they are free and in fact they are not one of the things that's done in the Illuminati system is physical marks maybe put on a person so that people in the cult can recognize who is what almost like the dots on the caste system people from

India for instance I have a cattle prod mold on the side of my cheek and this is to designate me as a manipulated slave if someone I was doing business with was a coal and recognized what I was he could simply flash an occult symbol at me and I would literally work for pennies on the dollar some of the things that I went through personally with my parents one of the first mind splitting promise to make a multiple-personality individual that is mind control is at the age of three to four they're placed in a cage no bigger than a oh I would guess a small dog cage the child is placed in the cage and you're literally punched up to where you cannot even move and then the cage is left alone for basically two maybe two and a half three days so you're in that cage you've already screamed yourself hoarse there's no point yelling for help anymore no one's going to come and help you and if they're two days into the room walks her father his Savior he's here unfortunately it's not your father it's the other inside him he is in full other-dimensional spiritual entity manifestation and he is seething with what the Apostle Paul calls the absolute heat of the devil and he looks at you with such other he murderous hatred and it's clearly the energy coming off him is something that I can't describe when these people really go into full other-dimensional manifestation mode it's not human it's definitely not of this world and it's definitely evil and Mel events beyond verbal description so as a child I looked up and saw that it wasn't my father there to rescue me it was the enemy and it was the enemy of all humanity what this does for the child and what it did to me was literally my mind imploding and this is called a primary split and from that split many programming and hypnotic suggestions are based how the Illuminati actually do this programming and the in-depth manufacturer of a slave is described in Fritz lamar's book monarch mind-control how to build in a perfect mind-control slave I'm not going to go into that I'm just going to say that's one experience I went through as a child the other experience would be the buried alive experience very popular and basically you drug probably a form of hallucinogenic you are placed in a very tight coffin and lowered into a grave at the Church of Satan your father who is your primary handler will dress up literally in the father-god garb of white flowing roads with long silver hair and beard and have a large book in his hand and as you are and this is a very deep hole they lower you into while you're on hallucinogens so you're already out of your mind and you look up probably ten feet maybe more and there is your father now I recognized my father in this father dog costume but my mind instantly denied that and my father had this giant book in his hand and he screamed at me this is the book of life and your name is not in it you are condemned and you go lower and lower and the ritual basically imprints on your shattered mind your split mind that basically you're going to hell and there's nothing you can do about it and even though consciously at that time I recognized my father it didn't matter the psychological damage was done and like I did you know it's actually taken me years of thinking about that ritual to realize that for a brief moment I did recognize that dog figure as my father but immediately went into denial about it now as my father and mother and some of the cult members would torture me at one time when my father was torturing me extremely painfully for long periods of time with a car battery the car battery would be placed the shock would be given at the base of the spine or the genitals then we'd hit your lower part of your brain like a sledgehammer it's extremely painful throughout the entire body by the time they do this over and over again you're just begging for death you don't want to eat that anything would be better than this so basically my father says to me would you like to join with Jesus now I know who's that and he says Jesus it's none of the God you want to join with him and I'm like will he get me out of here and my father goes yeah well I joined with Jesus the torture continued and basically the reason for that is anything that's good and wholesome in this world has to be destroyed in a person's mind you have to have they complete distrust of anything that represents morality community goodness you have to know deep inside your program mind that it's false and that it cannot be trusted and that only the cold is where you belong so basically when a child is raped and tortured in the name of that society's primary religion what happens to the person subconsciously after that is every time they see a church they're subconsciously triggered into memories of a mind-control torture so they're constantly held in the torture dungeon in their subconscious I began to resist my parents probably at the age of five the simply getting tired of the neverending harassment rape brutalization and torture after the church on Sunday morning we would always go to the satanic Church where other families were there to engage in monarch mind control some rituals and seminars to teach and program the children how to be good little demons basically I remember one day the church pastor was shaking hands at the door of the church one fine spring morning my parents were leaving and the three children we were standing at the footman's steps waiting for my parents to exit the main sanctuary the past was certain my father and mother's hands so enthusiastically and thanked them for showing up at the church that when my mother got into the car with us that go to the satanic abuse center she looked at my father and said maybe we should have asked him to come to the reason I bring that story up is simply through my experience I have never seen one status quo religion that has spiritual intuitive natural insight that can look at an Illuminati and recognize them for what they are they simply don't see it they don't have the spiritual discernment to see it and I really really wonder what that's all about years of blogging beating and abuse go on and basically you're you become a compliant person to whatever authority is in the call now one day after being late in the morning we got off as a family and went to the breakfast table well one morning I complained out loud that the breakfast table to my entire family that I did not appreciate my father raping me and my mother holding me down why he did it the night before my middle brother turned to me and said you're not supposed to talk about that and when he said that everyone in my family stood up from the breakfast table and walked away leaving their meals behind them so I guess I knew where I stood in my not wanting to cooperate with my father and mothers sickness one of the things that goes on in an Illuminati community there are house parties or children being raped while they're on drugs at these house parties where drugs toddlers from three to six years old are being sexually abused while under drugs a small glass bead will be handed to the victim while they're being raped the victim is told to hold on in the palm of their hand this small glass bead with a hole drilled in it very much like a lifesaver only smaller this glass bead is then taken by one of the wiki's and the victim never sees it again but the victim is told that every time they come to that particular ritual on that particular drug they will receive a talisman of glass forty years later after I started breaking my programming my oldest brother hook me down to see some occult people at their asure home trying to reboot my program which was not working I was always done with it and by the grace of the spirit of life I gotta a miraculous revelation as to what had happened in my life basically all my memories flooded into my mind in a very short period of time this is known as a trigger was brought to my attention and it literally dropped the foul of forgetfulness into my consciousness but considering that the Illuminati was using me in business to their advantage they didn't want to see me stand up on my own two feet and stop being abused financially by them so my oldest brother who did become cold which I did not know at this time I just knew about my father and mother took me down to a vacation home of a major occultist from the occult community in which I grew up in while in their vacation home to go to bathroom so I go into one of the bathrooms in this house and there is a teddy bear on top of the toilet tank and many people have potpourri baskets or avaaz of flowers or paper towels on top of toilet tank but in this particular house there was a teddy bear and this teddy bear had a very special necklace on this teddy bear had a necklace of glass beads lamb its neck and when I looked at that necklace of glass beads I remembered the occult ritual of being raped on drugs with the glass bead and so I counted the glass beads that that one particular teddy bear had it was probably sixty glass beads around its neck I don't know if they were all from me but I'm sure quite a few of them wore that man woman who owned that vacation home never been charged with pedophilia have never been hassled by the authorities ever of the hundreds of families that I know personally that are occult satanic mass murdering Illuminati pedophiles in the Philadelphia area I have heard of none of them ever getting hassled by the police Nevel my parents had friends from college where they met who were also how to file Satanist and we would go visit them and they would have their way with us one of my father's casual friends was an artist he unfortunately got caught for pedophilia because although he was a pedophile like my father he was not Illuminati therefore he received no protection from the powers that be when he was caught as a pedophile he was sentenced to 16 years in jail what are the rituals that the Satanists do in the cult I grew up in is a heart of stone ritual we're a drug hypnotized child told that their heart is being removed by the High Priestess witch and that their heart is going to be placed in the temple of Molech this is a terrifying ritual to go through when they did this ritual to me and it was the wife of the occult leader in the occult town I grew up in who performed this satanic ritual on me all I can remember from it was just a feeling of total and complete implosion emotionally and spiritually now of course I know they did not take my heart for me but when you are hypnotized and drugged you'll practically believe whatever you're told especially from people that have been consistently torturing you for years all of this is there are so many rituals orgies basically in the rituals and orgies you'll be engaged in some kind of sexual pleasuring of someone and then immediately be hit with electrical shock there's a constant oh this is good oh no it's bad oh this is good I don't know what's bad but just anything to shatter the mind anything to create confusion anything to make you wish you never won't belong one of the things that happened to me was because my mother was especially sadistic and she was probably of all the people I've met and can remember in the cult probably the most statistics no one enjoyed murder more than my mother no one enjoyed pure Marquis de

Sade torture than my mother what she did with me seeing that she had a feisty child on her hands one that had its own mind and its own thoughts what she encouraged my rebellion for spell-casting and some of the other mind-control techniques she knew about in this way I was more rebellious than I would have been naturally which gave her more opportunity to inflict correction so I realized that although once I grew old enough five years old six years old to realize what was truly going on with these people and how long it was then I went into full rebellion when we were driving from our Christian Church to the Church of Satan one day we were my brother middle brother and I were complaining to my parents we don't want to go and my mother turned to me and said oh you don't like what we're doing to you well we'll just kill you and dump you in the forest which my brother middle brother said go ahead I don't care and I added dad go ahead kill us I don't care either I was probably four years old and my older brother five and we were serious after years of rape and torture we would have preferred death at that moment or many books out on satanic ritual abuse the one book that you need to read to understand this matter more fully because I'm not well-versed in how to explain what I've gone with nor am I ever going to be my mission in life is learning healing modalities for other trauma-based mind control abuse victims and that's all I'm considering in my life today by a no desire for justice revenge what happened to me in my life is over with the cult and I and done with it I'm merely making this presentation with Mark passio tonight to open the eyes of people so that they understand that horrific systemic occult abuse is going on nationwide in America and throughout the world ten percent of the u.s. population is engaged in the old religion now how many of the old religion are Illuminati I do not know but according to my Amalekite mother she claimed to me when I was in the training of the true history that actually over ten percent of America more like twelve percent was involved in the Illuminati freed Masonic conspiracy to take over the world which is known today as the New World Order not sure if it's as much as my mother said at 12% but for my studies I would say 10% would would be acceptable 9% would be acceptable so of the old religion of Molech and the other human sacrifices of the Canaanite Phoenician ilk basically you can say in America there are roughly 30 million adherents to the old religion they form for the most part the rank-and-file of the Satanic machinery that runs the world they are the police officers they are the teachers they are the engineers they are the professors they are the doctors they are the nurses to control a society you don't need to have everyone in a position of power you just need key levers of power under constant control now how the human race is going to break this control I do not know other than becoming aware that's the first step one of the magical things that the Illuminati mind controllers can do is they can convince you of things in a spiritual dimension for instance I mentioned the hardest stone ritual where your heart is taken out and placed in the temple of Moloch now there's another thing that they do and that is when the Illuminati have someone in cult that is shown to have a consciousness that will never cooperate they are given a special level of programming this programming is known as spiderweb programming this programming is a programming of ultimate mental chaos one of the things that the High Priestess witch did to me in the spider web programming when it was realized by the call that I had in consciousness that we never go cult was they may drug me and made me to believe that I was inside of a giant blown glass object I would say the size of a 20 by 20 room may be even larger but it was amber-colored and somewhat round in shape in this glass chamber was myself and also three giant spiders now of course my cousin what they had told me was that I was and you have to understand I'm hypnotized some drug I'm under thousand-year-old satanic mind-control suggestion these are they have rituals and spell-casting and they know things about the human mind that I can't even describe but essentially they convinced me and I saw it in my mind's eye myself in this glass chamber were three giant spiders and I ran for those from those spiders for forty years part of my consciousness was in that chamber running from those giant spiders just a little boy which subconsciously what that ritual hold does is it puts you subconsciously always in a state of panic which is very good for someone having a negative mindset one of the things I'm going to talk about is as I rebelled a certain friend of mine a young boy who was in the cult and a friend of mine going through the usual Illuminati raping on Friday night and his colon was torn by being raped so viciously I need developed a bacterial infection in his infection it spread throughout his body he went septic and in the space of a couple of days died when he died I tried to go to the police and get help of the murder now I did this through a third party unfortunately when the third party went to the police to tell them of the child's raping and death by suffice the police looked at the man and said oh we know what's going on there but we can do nothing about it and that was the end of that the man whom I approached to helping the murder of my friend was a Christian he did everything he could in his power justice for my friend and for myself at that time when I was six years old but he could not tell the police to do something they refused to do there wasn't time that the police fought with the cult my father was in in this one particular tri-state area a community three policemen were quickly dispatched by Illuminati assassins from that day forward the police stayed away from the cult that is why when the Christian man I has to help me went to the police the police say we'd like to help but we can't do anything about it the Illuminati elite have armies of private mercenaries at their disposal and have no problem killing people who get in Norway including police when John F Kennedy was murdered in Dallas we watched as a family the funeral my father said to my mother we did this called the death of a king ritual this is to traumatize the nation I thought were also mentioned that day that the driver of Kennedy's limousine was the Illuminati's man when the leader of the call in the king cult community that I was in died of a heart attack my mother cried for three days straight it's interesting to know that my mother cried for three days straight wailing the death of a mass murderer pedophile child torture with trauma-based mind control people's spirituality mentality is turned 180 degrees opposite of what is natural for human beings you evil is good good is evil many many many personal tales itself they're all quite despicable but these people through hypnotism and drugging can convince you emotionally and spiritually they can put you just about any place they want to and of course having a handy car battery around that's always helpful too you know I'm just going to jump in for one moment here and I want to thank you again for being here incredible information extremely disturbing yet enlightening simultaneously I just want to remind the listening audience out there that if you do want to call in and have any questions for Neil about trauma-based mind control the call-in number is seven two four four four four seven four four four once again the calling number seven two four four four four seven four four four the call ID number for this show eight three five one five when you call in punch in the call ID number four what on earth is happening the call ID number is eight three five one five it's a little past the but uh almost we're almost at the 20-minute mark after the second hour so we have about forty minutes left in the show tonight that's plenty of time to take some calls we don't have any callers on the line as yet because I'm sure people are very interested in hearing this story but if anybody wants to call in just give us a call and hold on the air and we'll get to your calls momentarily Neil the floor is yours again well I think I think we should take some calls and talk to some people about what's going on in this world and I got it's going to this is the first time I've ever spoken out about this more I'm not that literate a speaker to talk about this topic I recommend two books for people that want to know about this information that can explain it better than I can and Fritz pling Myers books all four of them deal with these subjects and the Illuminati and a book that would make you understand personally what it's like to grow up in a satanic family would be Kathy O'Brien's transformation of America Cathy O'Brien was a sex slave for the Illuminati and her story in transformation of America details the first 30 years of her life in a generational satanic family and how her father sold her to the intelligence agencies to be used as a presidential model sex slave and black ops operative and it's a really really important book any person in America that wants to understand the true heart of the evil they're dealing with in the elite needs to read that book you got any calls on no one is holding on the line yet so if anyone does want to call in you have those numbers I'd recommend another couple of books actually on the topic I think the Franklin cover-up is an excellent book to understand how this satanic abuse is covered up by the so called authorities how the police won't get involved how courts won't get involved I believe that's written by John decant and I think in general a great book about mind control is mass control by Jim Keith that goes into a variety of both trauma based techniques as well as mass mind control techniques like propaganda and mass mind manipulation of perpetrated upon the masses of people so I think those are two excellent books to cover this topic as well so what I really like to ask you in particular or actually I have a comment and then a couple of questions but um one of the things you mentioned is that when you went to the police their complete unwillingness to get involved with anything in taking down this system of abuse and torture and you had talked about a lot of these police are involved in some of these of this cult activity but what I would like to bring up is the attitude of some of these elitists when it comes to the so called controlling classes which aren't really the controlling classes they're the mind controlled classes but people who think that they're in some form of control like the police the military etc even the intelligence agency operatives in my years of involvement in the occult and we've had discussions about this in private in our levels about our levels of involvement clearly yours goes deeper as far as being in the heart of an Illuminati bloodlines based family my involvement in the occult was based in more peripheral structures secret societies you could call it but they're they're basically outer lying structural formations that are there to basically weed out people who are unsuited to propagating the agenda of the higher-ups and to take people that have a more psychopathic personality up to higher levels of this outer shell you could you could call it and into the center of the web so to speak so it's a it's a weeding out process or it's a a process of discovering certain personality traits that they're looking for to take people into higher levels of involvement and in my dealing with a compass at this level of the hierarchy the attitude that they displayed toward the police and military was so appalling and revealing simultaneously that I could barely believe some of the things that came out of these people's mouths when they talked about how they viewed the police in general and they basically called the police our dogs was a word that a term that I always heard them mention referring to the police they called them our mucks our mutts our dogs they just said we have these beings if you even want to call them that on such unleash that they're not even human beings they might as well just simply we just refer to them as our dogs because they will do whatever we command as long as money keeps flowing to their paycheck in their direction or their pensions however you want to view it depending on their involvement whether it's police or military in comparison to the general population who they called the dead by the way because there's they consider them spiritually dead having no discernment like you talked about earlier they don't even consider them to be alive so they look at it as we are abstained from anything we may do these people because for all intents and purposes they are already spiritually dead so I don't know if you saw anything like that in your years of involvement in the cult that you were traumatized by but I just wanted to bring that up as a comment out all right I'm gonna tell those four I have basically seven years of satanic ritual abuse stories I get share and that I'm looking at my notes and I didn't want to talk about this story but I'm going to now it was a man my father work with who had a little girl my father liked to sexually abuse this little girl so he would we as a family we'd go over to this man's house and he had a wife and his little girl and my father and this man would have a few beers and then the sexual abuse would start I believe that my father was paying this man to abuse his daughter and I also believe that this man at first thought it was okay because his daughter was like three years old and I think I was probably at the most bring half war remember was this man one day when we were over at his house remember seeing him with a rather disgusted look on his face that he realized what he was doing was wrong and he was going to put a stop to it which I believe he did irregardless of whether he could believe that his daughter would remember the abuse or not I think he had decided that this was a selfish and wrong thing to do now my father in the cult had a hypnotic device that was the size of the palm of your hand this hypnotic device I always called a spinner it could once he triggered that spinning hypnotic device you would be hypnotized in probably ten seconds now I believe that you need to have had some form of dissociative conditioning for that spinner to hypnotize you but who knows maybe not but my father did use the spinner on myself my brothers and other victims but what I was going to say about this one man as he tried to break away from my father abusing his daughter I remember my mother and father talking about the situation and my father said to my mother everything's fine they sent some detectives over to talk to him and straighten him out so this man was knowing to go to the police and submit himself as a child molester in order to get to my father but when the police came to him and told him what was going on in fact telling him that they basically gave him an ultimatum they said if you don't kill yourself we're going to throw you in jail for pedophilia or murder you anyway yes several days later he ran his car into a concrete abutment and killed himself but I remember my father and mother talking about this man and saying that police detectives had talked to him and I ice I'm filling in that the police detectives told him who was running the show and that was the Illuminati I see we have a caller from southeastern Pennsylvania let's take this call Palmer from the Philadelphia area you're on what on earth is happening hi mark I'm mayor this is Chris hey Chris how are you good first of all I want to thank neo for coming forward with this information I think it's by the grace of God that he remembers what happened and it takes a lot of courage to do what he's doing I can't imagine how many other people out there have had similar experiences but can't remember because they've been hypnotized or brainwashed or whatever I get a sense by comparing who I think we what we really can be as a species to what we are that what neo is saying is true that the forces that we are up against are imaginably evil and I'm not certain how we're going to conquer this evil but I'm certain that we will with the help of God I don't know what the next step is I think one of the reasons they are able to control people is because they use fear like you talk about the police officers and then they fall in line because they are fearful well some of the people in this world who aren't fearful need to take a stand collectively together and put an end to this insanity because Satan is ruling this world and if you realize who we are not just humans but spiritually and what we're doing in this world it's clear to me that that's the case couldn't agree more Chris I think that it's a brilliant insight and an excellent way to basically explain it fear is the force that is holding this satanic hierarchy in its position of so-called power in the world which is basically illusory power because it is based in fear but all that a lot neo respond to that all right thanks mark thanks now you're welcome it's amazing to me that of the well I know burden welding in this region thousands and thousands of people have gone through the system that I grew up in and yet only a handful of people in this world have come forward and really spoken out and I would recommend Cathy O'Brien her book transformation of America for a better understanding of the personal journey of a trauma-based mind control victim and also of an overcomer because I consider myself an overcomer I consider my mission in life is to find healing for myself and other victims and I've gone a long way to do that and there's a lot of things I want to talk with on marks future shows about healing and what we can do as a species to raise our consciousness now so that we can combat the evil energy that these Illuminati rituals are pouring into our collective space and there's this is much to be discussed about why why do they attack infants why do they release blonde there's much to discuss there very very noteworthy that you are not seeking revenge that you are now in the healing and I think that's important in one sense that you're when you when you don't hold a grudge any longer you no longer let that power control you and I think absolutely you would mention that you're one of your siblings had gone cold whereas you didn't go cold and I think what happens is that the system propagates itself and if they pick on in the young minds and then those minds become so distorted and so you know confused that they in turn go cult and the system perpetuates itself in some six circle and some six cycle yes they're they're driven by vengeance as opposed to wanting to keep it truly heal and I'm gonna have Neil back on a future show probably in a few weeks to talk about healing modalities and how this kind of twisted sick a black energy can be overcome through different healing techniques because he is very versed in a lot of different healing methodologies so one thing I want to bring up and Chris I want to really thank you for your call great insights that you brought up feel free to call in and any time in the future always always great to hear from you I look for that the future share be really really interested in hearing what you had to say about that great thanks Chris I'm goodnight goodnight guy bye-bye I'd like to mention just a couple more authors that I think people would benefit from reading some of their material on trauma-based mind control there is a great book by Bryce Taylor Bryce Taylor she wrote a book called thanks for the memories also check out any of the books of David Icke who gets into trauma-based mind control a bit in his book and specifically gets into some of the the old religion as neo term that the mystery traditions if you will the per verdun version of the mystery traditions I I'd like to offer as a caveat to that there are two sides to all this there are I believe powerful positive allegories and symbology within some of the mystery tradition philosophies and this aspect the dark occult takes them perverts them uses them as weapons against the population so that they can come out on top in a position of so-called power there is a light side to this is it is not all dark and some of the techniques that we'll talk about in on future shows are derived out of some of the positive philosophies and positive methodologies of some of these older mystery religions Jordan Maxwell is another author that you should check out regarding the ancient religions that are based that have been used to base these trauma-based mind control techniques upon he has a particular book called that old-time religion that I would recommend so Jordan Maxwell that old-time religion David Icke pretty much any of his books and Bryce Taylor thanks for the memories there they were just a few that I came up with while while sitting here thinking about more books that deal with this particular topic for the listening audience to check out so neo you also wanted to touch upon we have about twenty minutes left in the show you wanted to touch upon some images that are up on the website on the radio page on a listen live page that are basically old photos taken from Bohemian Grove now Bohemian Grove for listeners that may not be aware of this location and what takes place at it is a clearing in the redwood forest of Calif about 70 miles north of San Francisco high-level occultists and elitists meet their yearly at midsummer to partake in rituals and they engage in mock human sacrifices at this location a ritual known as the cremation of care which I will get into more in future shows particularly when we get into occult symbology and the cremation of care essentially is a ritual of absolve Minh sins it is a absolution ritual to basically cremate one's own care for all of the vile evils that one will be committing during the course of the year so they forego their to forgive themselves of all of the torture that they have put others the ruins forgive themselves of all the evil deeds that they have done the defrauded that they have done the lying thieving killing etc that their ilk has part taken in over the previous year so and this goes deeper than that this is about psychologically destroying or immolating burning up one's own care one's own conscience it's a ritual that is about the destruction of conscience ultimately that's symbolically what this ritual represents so on the website if you go to the radio page which is listed at the link at the top left where you see listen live 7:00 to 9:00 p.m.

Eastern Time if you click that on my website what on earth is happening calm you'll see under there it's a temporary section I'll be moving it to the podcasts tomorrow but temporarily up there it'll say images for tonight's show July 20th and you can take a look at some of the images that we'll be talking about sonio do you want to talk about these images that you asked to have put up regarding Bohemian Grove well the reason that I wanted us to discuss the Grove is because of the truth of what's going on in this world and you and I have a concern about the corrupt wing of the mystery religions that have become nothing more than cold-blooded pedophile mass-murdering fraud and corruption drug-dealing Psychopaths bent on ecologically spiritually emotionally destroying the earth and the human race and I couldn't have summed that up any better now the first picture I mean I just ate the first picture that you see is the actual midsummer creation of care it's done in the evening and all the priests and the high priests are there with their torches well actually I don't think there's any women there but there are no women at the Grove not even the employee prison no women employees there's there's no priestesses but no but I swore I saw pictures of women at the Grove what we'll talk about this more we'll get to that well what I want to discuss about the Grove is human sacrifice in the cult I grew up with my parents were adherence to a demon known as Andris the lord of 40 legions he is the marquis of hal his name is Andris and he supposedly rules 40 legions of demons now the Andris call practices human sacrifice along with pedophilia and murder of their enemies but in the standard andris sacrifice a child of about 5 years old will be put on the hypnotism or in a drug-induced trance a victim usually opposite-sex because they'd like you to have sexual relations with the victim before they ax murdering the person so basically you'll come out of the trance and you're a five year old kid they'll be like four to six of cult members around you you'll come out of this trance and right in front of you is a girl who the last time you saw her you are playfully having sexual pleasure with you know even in an infantile way and there she is again their arms and legs chopped off - wounds all over her body and she is slowly choking to death on her own blood and everyone in that room turns and looks at you when you come out of that trance and says you butcher look what you did every person in the Illuminati has a similar experience like that I lived through that that is one of the main promise that is used human sacrifice is real and ongoing in America and in the corrupted old religion mark that's utterly chilling and appalling think that they would do that blame it then on a child who then thinks that they perpetuated perpetrated that act is just unfathomable so there there is mock human sacrifices to take place at this location called the Bohemian Grove some people say that they aren't mock sacrifices that there is a real sacrifice taking place but the mock sacrifice is set up as a diversion for the lower level initiates who think it you know just as it isn't real and it's just a psychodrama or play-acting I think it's pretty sick either way I don't know how many people get their entertainment from mock human sacrifices you know and think that that's fine or normal but elite powerbrokers from just about every aspect of our lives finance entertainment banking and you know be a holic Hollywood artists you name it politicians of course are there and present every year around this time of the year let's uh let's get into some of the other images on what image number two shows on a boat that they flowed out on this lake in front of this large owl who we can talk about as Molech an owl slash bull god of Phoenicia Cana an ammonite God actually who human sacrifices in the form of children were offered to in the Levant area thousands of years ago so this boat carries a child's effigy upon it which represents what the Grover's term don't care that's the name they give to this child because it represents the inner child it represents one's conscience what they do is they float it out there in front of this stone owl and then immolate it they light it on fire and let it burn up as part of this mock child sacrifice a mock child sacrifice well I I see nothing wrong with it I mean you have Walter Cronkite used to go there every year Jimmy Carter former present and has been there many years Gingrich Amin Ronald Reagan image number 16 shows two former presidents Ronald Reagan and Richard Nixon both at the Bohemian Grove simultaneously to jump a little ahead but if you look at images three and four just to move this along a little bit because we have about ten minutes remaining in the broadcast tonight you'll see other angles other vantage points of rituals taking place across the pond from the stone image of Molech images five and six are banquet tables set up five shows a round table style or you could say Atlantean City style layout there that's allegedly what the city of Atlantis was laid out like in concentric circles six shows some sort of a ceremony taking place during a banquet at the center there here do you want to take the image number seven well basically the old religion society many people think that it's ruled by those who have the most wealth or political power but in fact the old religion is ruled by those that know the black arts the most those that have the satanic and deep hidden occult knowledge of us what this world really is and who we really are and beings and this is a group of high priests at Bohemian Grove dressed in some oriental garb I'd like to make the point that this incorporates religions from all over the world from the Indus Valley from the Far East from the Middle East everywhere you see there's a large statue of the Buddha making a hand mudra behind these priests and there is an altar set up in front of them for emulating sacrifices so I couldn't agree more it is about knowledge it is about hidden knowledge it is about the knowledge of how the human psyche works and it is about the knowledge of what this place really is energetically and spiritually and those are some of the priests priests class that really are controlling the game down here let's move to the next image you see some more druidic perhaps you drew it ik garb there in image number 8 so of the priests class members posing for a shot there in the redwood forest alright let's go to some of the more strange stuff in images 9 and 10 neo you take these well as my mother always said true love is always in gender so if you're a man and you want true love you must be with a man if you're a woman you must be with a woman this is the backwards trauma based mind it's everything upside down that's that's pretty disturbing I think perhaps more so than anything that you talked about tonight some of our listeners may have some nightmares from images 9 and 10 as I know I'm a that's all I'll say about that let's move on to some of the more esoteric and dark images here in the next four images that we have 11 12 13 and 14 show depictions of some of the rituals that take place at the Bohemian Grove image number 11 shows what looks like a very short black man laying down tied to some sort of a table or board with the other members holding flags over him some some members cross-dressing seated that almost look like hags old hags in front of him and a dog running by now I have no idea what we're really looking at there it's just a bizarre scene this images this image was taken and this photograph was taken in 1909 you have any comments on that there are many different rituals and one thing I can say that whether they actually like the previous picture whether they're actually going to kill that gentleman or not these well-trained sorcerers can energetically bring in spiritual energy and change people's mentality and emotions we have about five minutes so let's shoot through the remainder of these pictures there's a a mock hanging in image number 12 in image 13 we have a gentleman laying down with candles placed around them and a hooded initiate reciting some incantations over him an image 14 that this is one that you wanted to talk about are more hooded initiates performing a ritual at a gravesite with arms hands and feet sticking out of the grave and it says here lies gusts born every minute died August 8 1940 1909 so it's the old adage that there's a sucker born every minute and they refer to the average person as the dead as I have said many times and I think they're ritualistically acting this out here in this photo now image 15 is very esoteric actually we see some art portrayed in this image with some Grover's standing and seated in the picture and what I'd like to call to the viewers attention is the image the long rectangular image in the background what we're seeing in this image is a depiction of the hierarchy of beings on this planet we're seeing if you start at the far right of the image what they're showing you is a barbarian class of people nomadic hurdy herders hunter-gatherers but uh you know just a more animalistic class of people that you know may live closer in the nature that we do but the elites see them as non civilized completely animalistic as I said and barbarian hordes essentially moving forward then you see what you would have is like animal animal husbandry or agriculture people who have moved to that stage of civilization then you go forward and you have like a you have like a peasant class sort of the poor young the underprivileged people just your average person you have a very overweight person area then you have some would look like destitute people and then moving forward then you have a more aristocrat aristocratic class of people until you get forward and now you have the people who are handling the test actually in front of them you have the so called controller the muscle man right that's police and military symbolically and then in front of them you have the finance ears and then the high-level finance ears you could see the individual is holding the umbrella over the the bankers head there as he marches forward leading everyone into the future as the main sorcerer be the magician if you will so we have one minute left in the show neo any final words well when I look at that Bohemian Grove a social picture I mean basically the sorcerers are the great hidden Illuminati families are running the show and the bankers are obeying them and what we're gonna have to do this again that's a much more information to cover we will have you back in a future show in a few weeks and we'll cover some solutions regarding energy and healing now I I'm sure our listening audience will be fascinated about what you will have to say about that well that's my expertise now absolutely neo I want to thank you again great show I'm mark passio you've been listening to what on earth is happening I'll see you here next week

welcome one and all you are listening - what on earth is happening I am your host mark passio this show is broadcast live every Tuesday evening from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. Eastern Time today is Tuesday July 27 2010 my website is what on earth is happening calm the networks website revolution broadcasting calm the call-in number for this radio show seven two four four four four seven four four four once again the call-in number and as always there are no taboo topics on this radio show call in and talk about whatever you like calling number is seven two four four four four seven four four four when you call in you have to punch in the call ID number for this show the call ID number for what on earth is happening is eight three five one five once again after you call in you have to punch in the call ID number which is eight three five one five we have a great show lined up for you here this evening and how about last week's show folks same was that something or what just an incredible show last week I want to thank my very special guest neo for doing what he did and shown the courage that he did I mean that was not easy to do for those who heard it and I could tell you personally that that was very difficult for that gentleman to come on here and do what he did last week a lot of emotions were were dredged up and like I said it takes a lot of courage to come and tell a extremely personal and disturbing story yet one that people really need to be made aware of that these kind of events are taking place in our world while we sleep so what I like to do to get started is read a couple of event announcements for my area to alert people in this vicinity about freedom related events that are taking place in the Philadelphia region so I have two event announcements tonight get these out of the way quick and then we'll move on to our topics for this evening as always every third Monday of the month the great group truth freedom prosperity in the Philadelphia area hosts a free documentary screening and discussion at the ethical Society of Philadelphia so this is every third Monday of the month next month it will be August 16th Monday night August 16th at 7 o'clock p.m. sharp they start the movie at 7:00 and then afterwards it is followed by a group discussion I don't know what this month's documentary is going to be last month's was fresh and it was a great film I had seen it before but it was great seeing it again and I'll tell you that we had a good turnout a good crowd came out last month actually this month I should say um what happened there was a unique occurrence that happened at the ethical Society a couple weeks ago an anti-war I shouldn't even say an anti-war a pro-peace group is really what it was was scheduled to have a meeting in the ethical Society building in another room and it turns out that their group did not did not end up meeting so what happened was they all came into our documentary and afterwards got involved in some great discussions with us in our group and I think it's going to be a good future relationship with the people from this pro-peace group because they had a lot of questions and did not seem to be aware of a lot of things that are currently going on in the financial system they had some questions about the Federal Reserve for us how the Fed is the enabler of wars and how our current fractional reserve banking system that we have in the United States really is contributing to all of these wars of aggression that we are waging in other foreign lands so I think it was kind of a synchronistic event that took place at the ethical society I think maybe uh it was Providence that they're meeting kind of uh you know dissolved their last minute I guess the the group leader didn't show up and they were kind of put in touch with a group that has a lot of the information that maybe some of them simply have lacked up to this point and yet are hungry for the people in this group seem to be hungry for some of the information that truth freedom prosperity had to give them so um come on out ethical society building is at 1906 South Rittenhouse Square in Philadelphia 7 o'clock p.m. start time every third Monday of the month for more information on these events go to WWF redeem prosperity org truth freedom prosperity o RG and finally one more event announcement a conference on consciousness mind control and the occult I myself am ho sting a conference in Philadelphia next year in the spring it will be called free your mind a conference on consciousness mind control and the occult the date for this will be Saturday and Sunday April 9th and 10th 2011 the location will be Ruby Hall Ruby Hall is at 414 Green Street in the Northern Liberty section of Philadelphia this event is already looking to be a great one it is really shaping up we have some great organizers we have some great speakers lined up already the event already has four confirmed speakers we're going to look to have about somewhere between 12 and 14 speakers for this event but right now we already have four confirmed speakers I myself will also be a speaker at the event a good friend of mine Michael Kelly will also be speaking mr. Aaron McCallum from the West Coast will be coming over and speaking at this cup at this conference and newly added for the first time I'm announcing this we just got confirmation Laura Magdalena Eisenhower the granddaughter of Dwight D Eisenhower former President of the United States Laura Magdalena Eisenhower will be speaking at free your mind a conference on consciousness mind control in the occult April 9th and 10th 2011 in Philadelphia it's only going to be $20 per day for a fantastic event we're really going to wake a lot of people up with this one we're going to have some great speakers I started putting together a website for it I'll be announcing that website here next week on air just getting some content up into it the description that I wrote out for the event this may be tweaked a little bit over the upcoming weeks but it's a two-day conference featuring multiple speakers and diverse educational materials for the purpose of raising awareness of mass mind control techniques covert and subversive influences upon consciousness and behavior trauma based and ritualized abuse and the availability and practicality of specific healing methodologies for the above-mentioned devices so that's free your mind April 9th and 10th 2011 right here in Philadelphia that's all the event announcements I have or this evening what I want to do next is start to go back to the regular outline that I've generally been following along to explain some concepts and ideas to people that have been listening to this show all of these shows are archived as podcasts on my web site if you just go to what on earth is happening comm and you go to the podcast page on my site you'll see that every show is archived and is up there for download to any kind of a digital device or for playback on your computer so we've been essentially talking about mind control for the past many weeks here on the show and we will continue to talk about mind control as the main vehicle the main methodology for the covert manipulation and move toward enslavement of the human species there are many methodologies and techniques that are employed in mind control and it is critical to understand how those techniques indeed work for us to become empowered so that we do not fall under the influence of these covert methodologies that sometime can be very hard to see so we've been talking about in general how the structures of control in the world work we discussed pyramidal control structures you can look at these as a pyramid or even a spiderweb centralization of control this works through two methods through compartmentalization which is essentially separating people into different compartments so that one group of people does not understand what another group of people are doing and therefore they cannot see how each compartments agenda is fitting into a larger agenda or a larger plan that is orchestrating all of the people involved in that plan the second way that these control structures perpetuate themselves is through a hierarchical structure through hierarchy this means that inherently built into these systems of control there are ranks and those who are lower in rank or responsibilities are subservient and answer to those above them and on this chain of command goes on up to the highest levels who are really the only it is the only level that understands the entire agenda and understand how all the different compartmentalised pieces are working together to advance that agenda often those at the lowest levels have the least amount of knowledge about the agenda that is orchestrated and tied together at the top of the structure in going forward in discussing specific techniques of manipulation we started to talk about obfuscation and obfuscation simply we discovered was how to make someone confused about concepts and ideas to render specific concepts and ideas unclear unintelligible bewildering confusing and often backwards completely the opposite of what they really mean so over the last few weeks we really focused on this first technique of mind control and I'm going to wrap this technique up and move on to the second tonight we talked about how simplicity is often confused with complexity truth is always simple a controller or a manipulator once you to think of it as unimaginably complex so that therefore you would never really be able to comprehend or understand what in fact is actually taking place because the truth is right there in front of us it is right before our eyes it is very simple if we only open our eyes to discover it going hand in hand with the obfuscation of simplex simplicity with complexity we looked at a few weeks ago the obfuscation of principles with law principles are truths that exist in nature that we discover and recognize and then apply in our lives law is man's attempt to control others through decrees and therefore invoke fear of punishment for violating said decrees of man and in doing so this prevents the understanding of principles that exist under natural law man's law is the inversion of the recognition of principles it seeks only to punish it does not seek to actually educate regarding natural law because it only seeks to serve its own ends which is more power and more control hand in hand with this of course went the obfuscation of self-control or Dominion owning one's own thoughts emotions and actions and uniting them into a harmonious vibration harmonious working such that as one thinks so one feels and so one acts this is obfuscated with the aforementioned fear of punishment which is one of the lowest levels of consciousness that one can ever choose to take any action based upon we also discussed the obvious casein of gnosis which is knowledge acquired through direct experience of the thing or direct experience of a principle which has been discovered this gnosis true knowledge is obfuscated with belief and belief systems which we briefly began to discuss religion as one of these obfuscation techniques which is one of what I call the heavy guns of manipulation and we will be delving deeply into religion as the week's go on not so much this evening but it ties in with the obfuscation of true knowledge or gnosis with belief systems that are simply that some beliefs may hit upon truth some may not but they are clung to because their adherence would rather think of themselves as being right in their beliefs rather than pursue the truth regardless of where it goes and how uncomfortable it may make one feel so that was the basic idea of the obfuscation of gnosis with belief finally we were looking at the obfuscation of individuality true individuality the uniqueness of a living being with the concept of culture and I had briefly begun getting into this topic when the show ended a few weeks ago couple weeks back I'm going to explore this out a little bit more and then we're going to change gears and go into the concept of worldview poisoning which essentially has everything to do with how we view ourselves and those around us and our purpose and our value in life so let's look at the obfuscation of individuality with culture individuality right in the word as I briefly explained before there is the word divided and dual and it is prefixed within which means not if we become a true individual we are not divided and not dual now of course one thinks of this exactly in the opposite terms if one is in deep conditioning or mind control because we think of a true individual as one who completely separates themself from everything else the man who thinks he's an island and we all know no man is an island no man or woman is an island right as we've been told well this word really means to not be divided or dual with oneself higher case s upper case s self which we talked about the differences between the true self and the ego driven self lower case s self weeks ago on this show which you can go back and listen in the archives right in the word individual not divided or dual one who has become whole with oneself culture always seeks in getting someone to believe that they must conform to the ideologies of the group or hive mind which is culture that they can never really truly be an individual that that is death essentially that that is atomizing oneself and cutting oneself off from the collective hive mind so to speak that there is strength in not being different not being a true individual that there is strength in conformity these are the goals of culture getting everybody to follow along with the herd mentality to go along to get along and essentially as the great order philosopher Terence Mckenna who is no longer with us once said culture is not your friend it's your cult right in the word cult you're phonetically in the word and this is not accidental words can teach us a lot just by their phonetic pronunciation people think there's nothing to this that it's just random it's not folks there is meaning embedded in language we'll see that as the week's go on as we pick apart some words and really delve into their true meanings what I'd like to do to flesh out a little bit more the idea of what culture is and how it abuse Kate's not only one's personal identity but in a much greater sense and in a much more debilitating sense it abuse abuse Kate's or confuses one's sense of morality and to do that I would like to go back to a book which I read a little bit from a few weeks back called the end of all evil by a gentleman named Jeremy Locke this book had a big profound impact on my life and my awareness I highly recommend that everyone read this book it is very short it is written in incredibly easy to understand language it flows easily you will not easily want to put this book down some people will just be able to tear through this and read this book in a couple hours it's only about 90 pages large-print easily available online um of course you could purchase the book online at any number of book suppliers online but you could also get a copy for free on scribed scri BD dot-com scribed is a phenomenal resource for digital books you might be able to find it as well on Google Books I'm not sure if it's up there but I do know it is available on scribed scri BD dot com as well as our hundreds of thousands of other phenomenal works of literature scribed is just a phenomenal resource for anyone that loves to read and you can read for the rest of your life on that site and download the books as well so I encourage people to check out that site as well but what I'd like to do briefly is to read part of a chapter of the book the end of all evil that talks about culture and what culture really is as opposed to what most people think of it as this is chapter 4 in the first section is simply called culture cultures are created to protect power structures culture is the enforcer of authority culture distorts principles in order to defend the authority of evil culture must convince you that it is not wrong when law subjugates your Worth and destroys your freedom think about that folks culture must convince you that it is not wrong when law subjugates your Worth and destroys your freedom culture convinces people of this by perverting the concept of morality morality is liberty immorality is evil the exercise and defense of freedom are moral the destruction of freedom is immoral this is the pure truth of morality prudence is the proper application of principle imprudence is foolishness prudence is not morality it is not immoral to kick a heavy stone with your bare foot but it would probably be foolish prudence is a question of applying the principles and wisdom you have gathered in your life to achieve the goals you have for yourself this is made possible by Liberty without liberty prudence is meaningless but morality must come before prudence the great lie of culture is that authority is not bound by morality and that authority can enforce its own prudence upon you the great lie of culture is that you are worth less than law cultures teach that intentions of prudence can be enforced by law in this fashion they gain the excuse to control the lives of people in order for people to learn grow and find happiness people must be free to test their understanding of principles with freedom they can do this by a process of faith trial and error in this fashion children grow from immaturity to maturity in this fashion human beings can gain wisdom cultures are the agents of evil the objective of evil is the damnation of your ability to grow strong in wisdom I'll say that again the objective of evil is the damnation of your ability to grow strong in wisdom the objective of evil is the destruction of your worth in order to gain control over you culture spread the lie that authority is not bound by morality it teaches that authority can destroy freedom at will and claims that prudence as the reason that you should willingly submit to that authority in the name of defending you culture claims that the destruction of freedom is morality culture pretends that evil is good and that good is evil and this ladies and gentlemen is one of the other techniques of obfuscation obfuscating good itself with evil continuing with the reading of this excerpt prudence can be found all around you it is found in the choices that you make every day even when a mistake is made you learn prudence prudence cannot be enforced to it to attempt to enforce prudence is law man's law law is a lie without the freedom to choose you cannot learn prudence and therefore you cannot ever be happy morality can also be found all around you wherever you find it you will find joy wherever you find immorality you will find misery culture and forces Authority by destroying freedom with law this is immorality and I feel that that is a brilliant condensation of what the ideology of culture really is now we are not talking about living in social harmony that is not what I mean when I'm using the word culture again I'm using the word culture as that which destroys morality through the application of law that is based in control and the limitation of freedom and yes of course I know the justifications in people's minds and the arguments that will be made is that laws are made to try to enforce moral principles well therein lies the complete non understanding of what principle is folks you can't enforce principle you can only discover it and live according to it in your life you cannot enforce it you can speak the truth of a principle out into the universe and therefore help others to more become aware of it and its existence and its truth and then to also influence them to live according to those principles but you cannot enforce prudence as mr. Locke is explaining in his brilliant book once you go down that path you have tyranny every time not once not sometimes every time it always works the same way because you are applying the basic essence the energy of fear control and the desire to control others is based in the polarity of fear as we've talked about many times on the show in attempting to create anything that is good anything that is true anything that is free that is based on freedom you cannot do that can not do that by using the polarity of fear because that leads to internal confusion or obfuscation which leads to external control or the destruction of freedom people need to be free to experiment with natural law principles and reap the consequences thereof culture through law is the destruction of that ability and therefore it is the destruction of the individual this is not to say that we are not social creatures and develop societies in which we live and grow I am NOT talking about social behavior as long as there is more than one individual you will have a society and again there's always this great confusion when it comes to how does one know that one is breaking natural law in attempting to come up with some sort of a law or a statute etc I would suggest if you think that you're the authority that can write down a law and bind someone to it you've already broken natural law because you're not the authority in this realm natural law is the authority in this realm however what I would how I would answer that is anything that happens to be written down it doesn't even matter that it's written down that man makes no difference okay because you could write anything down if it's in keeping with natural law principles its morally acceptable it is right because none have been wronged you were using the word right in the actual content context that it what it means to have a right to take an action or to do something means that in the performance of that right the the exercise of that right none have been wronged by that action you haven't harmed or defrauded anyone else you haven't stolen their freedom from them in some way what I tell people to do is just in vision that there's only two people on the planet so there were only two people on the planet you and another individual if you have the right to take a certain action in relation to them living in this society of two then it is right under natural law if you are not harming that individual so let's say there's two couples on the earth there's four people total on the planet and let's say one group has a child and they say to the other group since we have just had this child we are going to come to where you are living okay on the opposite side of the pasture let's say and we are going to confiscate from you a certain amount of food to feed our child oh don't worry we will also give a certain amount of food we produce to feed that child but we are going to force you to give a certain amount to feed that child as well well they don't have the natural law right to do that they have the natural law right to ask if you would do that but not to enforce it under some kind of penalty or fear of punishment the threat of doing something that would infringe upon your freedom or your well-being should you choose not to participate in that activity and you could see that you could apply this right down to just one other person living on the planet well people will say well that isn't the case there isn't just two people or four people on the planet and I would answer it doesn't matter if it is wrong when there would only be two or four people on the planet it would be wrong with there with six or seven billion people on the planet or 22 billion people or billion people morality is unwavering it doesn't care what you think of it it is it's a law that exists in nature and again we talked about the people who refuse to accept their believe in that social Darwinists solipsistic assault amande this is the path toward a psychopathic society moral relativism moral relativism is ultimately the past tour path toward a society that has become completely psychopathic which is pretty much where we are right now and there are people who will fight you tooth and nail to the death that there is no such thing as natural law this is a completely out-of-control left-brain ideology we got to make up what's right or wrong didn't you know you didn't get the memo it's a great deal being the arbiter of truth in life isn't it that's how you get to every totalitarian regime in history through moral relativism well this is what the law of man ultimately does because based on our likes our preferences we get to make up what's right and wrong what people may and may not do it's a great deal the discovery of natural law is where it all needs to go for us to be able to truly live in social harmony to understand what having rights really mean and it's not called rights for no reason right in the language it's there again we use the same word to mean a right that we possess under natural law and being correct about something is it true that you have the ability to do this behavior or is that not true in natural law well if it's not true taking that action is wrong if it is true taking that action as a right and it is that simple it is that simple it isn't any more complex than that the problem is so few people know what is right or wrong under natural law because of how screwed up they are mentally emotionally and spiritually because of the brainwashing and mind-control that culture has put them through that they have absolutely no clue about what natural law rights and principles are none they're blind they're wandering in a desert of conflicting ideologies it's a labyrinth out there where people's mindsets are I'm an observer of people and people's behavior and I'm telling you their mind is twisted up in knots about what is right and what is wrong in knots years and years of television will do that to a human brain years of years of believing in this nonsense left-right paradigm will do that to a human brain years and years of falling prey to obfuscation with the distortion of principles will do that to a human brain we have to become clear folks abuse ocation is to render unclear we have to get clear about what is right and wrong obfuscation means to render unintelligible we have to become intelligent about natural law principles because we've gained gnosis about these principles through direct experience of applying them in our lives and making mistakes in relation to them which can be the greatest teacher and we have to be free to make those mistakes obfuscation wants to create confusion within us and we have to become uncontained which means we have to become the ruler what of well nothing more and nothing less than our own house our own thoughts our own emotions and our own actions and that's the only thing we're allowed to rule over under natural law we need to get clear about this folks we're running out of time when we become clear these lies and deception will no longer abuse Kate our vision and we will have passed that barrier of mine control that wall that culture has erected around us so let's move on to the next methodology technique of mind manipulation these techniques must work upon the mind for them to be effective when people know they're in a prison we know they're in a cage can see the control can see the bars they'll rebel against it so physical domination will not hold a culture in Chains for very long the spirit the higher self when it is present cannot be ruled externally it is too powerful of a force it is pure being you're not going to rule that so the plane that is attacked the domain that the war must be waged upon is the mental domain the realm of mind second technique of mind control is worldview poisoning worldview poisoning is just what it sounds like our view of the world ourselves and our relationship to others in it must become poisoned it must become sickened for us to be further controlled and mentally manipulated a person who has a properly focused and functioning worldview which we began talking about already we talked about the very concept of worldview on earlier shows a person's worldview must be skewed in order for them to be controlled what do I mean by this we have to think of ourselves in the world in a certain negative and dark way we have to think of our value in a negative and dark way and in a limiting way we have to think of human nature in a very negative and dark way in order for a mind manipulators techniques to work better upon us ultimately what this is all geared to do is to get us into victim mentality victim mentality and we all know what this means essentially because we've all seen people like this and heard their language seen their body language felt their energy and we all know the victim mentality phrase the victim mentality mantra' but what can I do about it we've all heard that mantra' repeated time and time and time and time again and what puts that thought roots that thought into someone's consciousness is a poisoned worldview that's what puts the thought what can I do about it into someone's brain and keeps it there this sense of powerlessness because after all I'm a completely atomized cut off helpless powerless tiny person with no real power right that's the victim mentality that's what it thinks because of the overall overarching worldview that they have that says an individual doesn't matter an individual is powerless an individual cannot make any actual change that's the next biggest part of worldview poisoning it has to get you to think that change is impossible and it has to get you to think that you can never impact the lives of others influence the lives of other others to get change to ripple out into a wider framework it has to get you to think you don't have that power as an individual over all it has to get you to think things have always been like this or this way now and will always be like this and nothing anybody does will be able to change it and this is a lie and it's a big big lie that is a mind manipulation technique that is mind control let's look at some of the components of worldview poisoning the first thing it needs you to focus on is that a human the human nature in general is inherently bad flawed or evil that the condition that a human being is born into as an individual is evil the nature of the being itself is bad and this is a lie this is a deception anybody that believes this is undermine control they've been duped folks if you believe that you've been duped because it isn't true now I'm not saying everyone comes into this world as angels either but they don't come into this world as demons people come in this is the idea of nature versus nurture that we're going to get into here a little bit and this can often set off a firestorm of hot um debates and you know very very deep-rooted opinions there is very little actual human nature that a that a being is immediately born into the world into and that may come as a shock for most people I didn't I'm not saying there is no nature of a being but it is not inherently evil nor is it inherently tremendously good it is essentially neutral essentially neutral it is through conditioning in the environment that that being is born into that programs the mind of that individual to take on the thought patterns and behavioral patterns that they will take on in life and most people will go to their graves battling that idea and refusing to accept that what I would suggest if you want to understand the real answer and I know people will say oh this is a simple simple oversimplification this is reductionism etc etc don't bother reading enormous amounts of scientific literature on this topic because again ultimately those are simply opinions to the honestly the best thing I have ever seen I've read some psychology books I've read neurophysiology about the brain in regards to this topic sociology it's all largely speculation and conjecture the most beautiful thing that I've ever actually seen Donna about this topic and I know this will be a shock and people will get a laugh out of this is the movie Trading Places by a great American patriot Aaron Russo you want to see how human nature really functions watch Trading Places when people are born into the world their environment programs them who they are around what they see what they hear behaviors they see other people taking opinions they hear batted back and forth between people around them and their families amongst their friends their schoolmates their co-workers etc the first six years of a human beings life they don't have actual formed opinions they're like an open they're like a dry sponge sopping up everything all the moisture from their environment the human mind is essentially a computer with a blank harddrive at the beginning of life maybe some firmware instructions on chip okay there's a little bit of nature there but it's largely nurture largely nurture I'm not using the word in this case I'm not using the word 100% I'm not saying all largely to a great deal nurture or conditioning is what programs a human being to take on the stances the opinions the behaviors that they take on now this can be changed through information that one takes in and not only into their mind through what they read through what they watch do what they listen to to who they speak with to conversations with conversations they have but this is also done through the body because the body is part of this computer that I'm talking about the body and mind connection work together to form the nature of the individual this is something that we create as we live based upon our choices of who we are going to listen to what are we going to read what will we watch what will we listen to who will we hang out with what kind of activities will we do we are creating this not even just individually we're creating this collectively and that's what human nature becomes the word becoming is very important when we're talking about human nature what are we moving toward the word becoming is a very deep occult concept that is used on both sides of occultism the light and the dark you will hear the term becoming because a cultists know this principle and they know it very well that there is not actually a human nature human nature is what we create it to be actively through our choices what controllers and manipulators want you to think is that we are born into reality inherently flawed and inherently bad the concept of original sin in religion the concept that if left to our own devices we would simply be animals if there were no controls namely governments well nothing could be farther from the truth and if you bought this idea you bought a lie you were fooled and that's why it will be very very difficult for most people to admit that they got fooled on this that they got clowned on it that they bought a great deception more people than not in the world I would suggest from conversations that I have had with people asking people for their opinion on this actually believe that lie that we're born into the world inherently flawed and inherently evil and if there weren't tight and strict controls exercised that there would be chaos that everybody would be killing each other take a look around you if you think that's really what there would be without a total control based society pushing everybody's nature down further which is what essentially control does because it routes people in fear and fear is the lowest form of consciousness there is you're living in the r-complex of the brain which we talked about when we talked about the physiology of the brain on earlier shows and when you live in that are complex modality you're not in right reason you're not in the moral center of the brain that's that those cognitive functions aren't being developed those neural pathways aren't being forged in the neocortex the higher thought center of the brain you're not even in connection with your emotional centers of your brain the midbrain that generate the the neuro peptides and other chemicals that are responsible for you feeling emotion within your body which is your compass for moral direction because it helps you to feel the repercussions of your behavior in relation to other people that's all control does is keep you rooted in the lowest part of the brain which keeps those higher thought functions and emotional qualities from ever truly manifesting to a great degree so if you think control is the answer you bought another big lie if you thought human nature is inherently flawed and and we come into the world as beasts you bought another great deception our behaviors are conditioned like instructions put into a computer you put crap in you get crap outs a computer program is essentially constrained to doing only what the programmer input into the program that's all it can really output to the screen or to an output device like a printer in order for it to output something different the programming must be changed or in other words the humans condition current conditions must be overcome through an act of will meaning using your ability to think your ability to feel and your ability to act and change behavior to create a positive change in life based upon what information you put into your mind and what nutrients you put into your body and that's what will change your body mind computer and it's done through an act of will once we reach an age where we are able on our own to begin decide what we are going to believe except as true and now in an age of unbelievable practically unlimited sources of information there is no excuse for adult people not doing this task it's because they've been conditioned to be lazy and ignorant and to accept that because they've given up their personal power their personal responsibility and have said let other people handle my problems for me that they don't want to do that and that is part of the conditioning factor as well a part of the mind control as well get people to not want to care about decisions and events that affect their lives to a point where they'll just let anybody do it because they think they're better equipped to do that then then the person themselves oh go ahead vote over this make decisions that directly affect my life and I'll accept what you decide what kind of a follower herd animal would you even have to be to accept that notion to even accept the notion that there is such a thing as representative government at all oh really you represent my interest you represent to me what my interests are really Wow Wow imagine this and people go for it they continue to vote for a representative rhe present me well you know what no one presents reap resents me I present me I am an individual not divided or dual I understand natural law principles I understand morality I know right from wrong and I'm not afraid to say that I know that I can live in social harmony with other beings without harming other people or trouncing and stepping all over their natural law rights and freedoms I have that ability I know that's the only path to freedom and therefore I respect that natural law which is not created by any being in this cosmos it is the living cosmos the Unified Field you can call whatever you want call it God if you want doesn't make a difference it's that which is its truth I tend to want to look at that force is as more of a feminine principle or in other words the Holy Spirit if you want to put it in a religious context or a cosmic context of some sort it is a living spirit that essentially governs this realm in regards to what decisions and behaviors are made and taken we live in harmony with the principle of harm none do what you will we'll be okay if we live according to the ideologies of I'm going to try to control as many people's actions and behaviors as I can to get them to do what I want them to do then we're going to be in for a very very disturbing experience here and it goes hand in hand with going hand in hand with that it also means turning my back when I see immoral acts of control constantly perpetrated upon other people and not doing anything about that when other people's freedoms are being destroyed we have a moral responsibility to act and in the first and foremost way to be honest and tell the truth about what that act is that it's immoral for them to act that way a cop agreeing to take freedom of speech rights away from other living human beings by saying you no longer have the right to protest or you must even have permission to be at this location to say I don't like events that are going on in the world well you know what you don't have that right to do that action cop you don't have that right under natural law to do that that's immoral and more people need to tell people like that that they're immoral that they're behaving immoral and that they don't have that natural law right and that they don't desist from that they will do something to stop them from taking that immoral act they don't have the right to take it harm is being done by them taking that action upon other living beings and their rights and freedoms but unfortunately these people are too dumb to understand that and it really is that simple folks and I'm not going to apologize about that I'm going to say exactly as it is they're dumb people they haven't read books they haven't discovered natural law they haven't been raised properly by their parents yeah you can bring in the whole idea of public schooling putting people in this mentality social Darwinism is really being taught moral relativism relativism is being taught in the schools it's parents responsibilities and the local community's responsibilities the society to educate their young properly in moral law well you can't get that education if the older members of society actually believe in this nonsense of moral relativism moral relativism also which happens to be the case in in most places let me tell you something sadly I didn't acquire my understanding of natural law from my parents far from it and it pains me to have to even say that but it's true and in many cases many people's parents are still on the complete other side of the fence when it comes to this understanding they still don't grasp it at all worldview has everything to do everything to do with how we are morally being raised as young when we don't morally raise our young according to principles not according to you have to become successful and make this much money and get this kind of a job and drive this kind of a car and have this much money in a bank account and dressed this way and look this way and talk this way that's all nonsense most people's parents aren't actually educating their young about moral principles in life and that's the sad cold matter-of-fact reality of this world and that's why they grow up with a demented sense of human nature and they have no idea how human nature actually does work it's all conditioning conditioning were born into conditioning we're born into a society that's under sickness and dementia and mind control and then we take on those psychological properties as we grow older and then we spend most of our lives trying to overcome and deprogramming a deep program from that conditioning and we wonder why the world is as screwed up as it is once again I'm going to give the call-in number for the show if anybody wants to call in and talk about anything call me number is seven two four four four four seven four four four the call ID number is eight three five one five calling number seven two four triple four seven triple four call in ID eight three five one five we're talking about mind control and the technique known as worldview poisoning we're talking about the first principle the first technique I should say of worldview poisoning is to get people to accept the notion that human nature is inherently evil and you got them under pretty good mind control once you accomplish that task we are conditioned into a psychopathic mind state because our parents are conditioned they don't raise us properly morally and the cycle goes on and on and on it is a self-perpetuating psychosis it is largely nurture or conditioning that determines what we will behave like upon reaching adulthood whether our neuro-pathways have been built up in positive reinforcing ways in the neocortex or whether they will exhibit psychotic tendencies and this is all about what has been programmed into the mind body computer which is our physiology our physiological makeup that is not who we are but the mind body computer plays a role in the expression of who we are and it plays a big role in that expression and the manipulators the covert manipulators of this world understand that to a great great depth and sadly the people they are manipulating don't understand it much at all but this is slowly changing I would like to see a great acceleration in that understanding but some people are beginning to very slowly grasp it and apply it one of the first things that they should look at is how they see the world and other people in it and this isn't to say ignorant of how what people really act like in the world because people are largely ignorant and they get into the pattern of accepting ignorance and being apathetic now the whole joke you ask somebody what's worse human ignorance or human apathy and their answer is I don't know and I don't care sad but true we can't ignore that fact that this is the current condition that people have worked themselves into but we make a great mistake when we think that this is the eternal nature of the human being there's a big difference between condition and this is why it is called condition egg see it's all in the words folks all in the words it's not called conditioning by accident it's called conditioning for a reason it's how it was made into this condition which we currently call the human condition that's the mental manipulation technique of worldview poisoning through the acceptance of evil as being the root of human nature original sin in other words were born inherently screwed up and flawed well I would say once again this is simply nonsense that needs to be thoroughly renounced and rejected we need to understand how the human condition is created it doesn't come in through something that we call nature it is a process that is created not by our thoughts emotions and actions alone but by the collective thoughts emotions and actions of the environment into which we are born and that is the first method of worldview poisoning in this larger technique that were discussed let's go to the next component of worldview poisoning and this ties hand-in-hand with human nature and the way we see ourselves in the world first component of worldview is how we see our nature the second component of worldview is how do we see our worth and I love how Jeremy Locke puts it in the end of all evil he says the worth of an individual is infinite no value can even be assigned no no numerical value can be given to the worth of an individual the worth of an individual is everything the one who is not divided or doled or dual the individual the one well what do most people in our current condition society believe that an individual's worth is comprised of what makes our worth what makes us worthy well you ask most people what that word means if you immediately just say the word worth or value you do a word association game right the word worth or value down on a piece of paper and tell people to just write underneath it one word that they associate with those words and I almost universally guarantee you that the first word that will come to their mind that they will write down on that piece of paper is drumroll please you don't even need one because you already know what it is money money cuz sadly most people not all think that that's what determines the value of the individual how much money does he make what kind of car does he drive what kind of house is he living where does he live how much money is in his bank account what kind of clothes does he wear how is he look like external appearance what you have people think what you have is what you are you have more money you'll be a better person you'll be happier you'll be worth more you'll have more value really hmm the true value of the individual is not connected to any of those things what determines the worthiness of an individual is how moral they behave in the world that's what makes you a good person that's what makes you a better person when we say a bad person do we think of a bad person as someone who has no money no we think of an unfortunate person because of how this deranged society runs as having no money but we don't think of a bad person as someone who doesn't have any money yet we think of the worth of a person as having money we connect that in our brain this is all mind control this is all manipulation technique most people when you say the word value or worth immediately money is the word that comes into their mind and that's what they think of when they think of the worth of a person very few people will write down that values have to do with morality values have to do with freedom values have to do with principles the value of the individual is infinite what makes someone a good person or a bad person is how well they apply principles in their life principles are truths that contribute to freedom when we move in the direction of having principles and living according to those principles that is how we are increasing our worth not by accumulating worth less pieces of paper into a bank account so we have to understand the distinction between true value which is based upon principles and this fake notion of value and worth which is another manipulation technique a technique of mind control to get us to poison our worldview of not only ourselves but of other people because it gets us to look at them as something that is worth less or of no value when in fact what we should be looking at as in relation to what is the worth or the value of this individual is are they principled do they have principles that aren't they are living their lives according to truth but how many people when meeting somebody try to find out how well in harmony with what is true in the world do you live one of the first things we ask people upon meeting them is what do you do meaning how much money do you make what kind of a job do you do so I can get an idea of how much money you make this is ridiculous what about one of the first questions after meeting somebody is do you live your life in a moral way how about asking that question to people after we meet them it says saying hi what's your name my name is John or Jim Mary Ellen whatever and what do you do not are you a good person what do you think of as far as you know the nature of what is actually taking place on this planet what do you actually know about what's going on in the world and around you how conscious are you how principled are you how much you care about truth how about those after what's your name but most people try to run in the opposite direction from from talking about concepts like that because it makes them uncomfortable because they know the answer to those questions and very high percentages of people is that they're not principled they don't care they sell their principles out in a minute for a paycheck and they do it every day and that's what needs to change and you can say all you want this you know can sound preachy or self-righteous go right ahead this is why the world's descending into tyranny folks because of how we value ourselves and how we are not principled people when it comes to money we'll sell out our principles for a paycheck in a second 90% of people or more would and that is what human nature is be calming not what it is and that's done through mind control through conditioning we have to get back to principles first things to put first things first that's what being principled means and we do that by getting in touch with what is true under natural law what do we have inherently in nature the right to do and what in nature inherently by natural law do we not have the right to do we get in touch with that and live according to that law and no other shall say nay and that's the only right we have if you hear what I'm saying so let's move on past the second method of poisoning someone's worldview getting them to think of themselves as a number poisoning the value the idea of the value of the individual again the next way that we are targeted for worldview poisoning is a controller a manipulator a worldview poisoner must get someone to naively believe that change is simply on a large scale is simply impossible why bother changing anything in your life to try to affect change in other people's life don't even bother you're just going to make yourself more uncomfortable drive yourself crazy trying to do that because things have always been like this they are they are this way now they will always be like this there is no such thing as change this is what a mind controller wants you to accept once again if you buy this notion you're under mind control this is what mind control is folks these aren't even just the techniques what I'm describing here these things that I'm describing is what mind control is okay I'm not again the things I talk about on this show you may think these are my opinions I worked let's just say that to simplify things I worked in this field I don't like to use the word expert so I won't I won't say to you I'm an expert in mind control but I know more about it than the average bear let's just say that let's just say I not only know what it is I know how it works because I worked in this field and I've touched on that and I'll go into it a little bit more as the week's go on but what I tell you about this these techniques I didn't learn entirely from reading in books let's just say it that way I worked with these techniques first hand and saw how they were applied in the world gnosis not belief this isn't my belief system this is gnosis I know this because I was working with people that are actively applying these techniques in the world all around us and I know they're being applied I know that this is what they are and this is how they're being applied and I'm not again people don't like my tact or my rough edge that I will explain this with because I will say something like the words I know because I do it's not wrong to tell somebody you know oh that something is taking place when in fact you do know that it's taking place I'm simply stating a truth these techniques are in fact occurring taking place and this is how they indeed work so a manipulator essentially this is their ultimate goal their ultimate goal is to put the person in the victim mentality because the victim mentality takes on the worldview that I am the eternal victim and there are eternal masters that victimize me that this isn't our collective doing and this isn't our collective conditioning okay this is simply how the world is and it has always been like this and it will forever be like this and again if you think that not only are you under mind control you are completely deceived by the manipulators of this world change is possible I didn't say it was easy it must be willed to manifest but it is possible it is possible when we take back control of our own personal power of our mind which creates our conditions when we give its power away it creates negative conditions when we take back the creative power of our mind we can create positive conditions with that power we are the co-creators of this reality with natural law principles when we discover them and apply them in our lives which Jeremy Locke in his book which I was reading extra an excerpt from earlier called prudence when we apply these principles properly for the right reasons for the the stated goals toward our stated goals which is life liberty and happiness then we will have those things but we will not have those things until we embody principles meaning we must be something first that will enable us that will empower us and power means the ability to do something that's what power is even the scientific definition of power is the ability to do work well we will have the ability to do the work when we take that power back and we will take that power back when we embody principles meaning be a certain way in the world through our thoughts and our emotions our through our world view when we are being or be coming into that state then we will have the ability to do the things we want to do and then we will have the conditions that we want to have it is the process of being then doing then having not the other way around which is another mind control technique people think you have to have things I have to have money so that I could do the things I want so that I could be happy when in fact the reality is is exactly reversed it is exactly the other way around change is possible the corner that we have worked ourselves into I am NOT going to sit here and lie to you that it will be easy to affect that change but it is possible it is possible we must will it to happen will it to happen and that will be accomplished when we arrive at true intelligence true care and true courage you know all the things in that movie The Wizard of Oz a deep occult allegory Dorothy who wants our conditions to change and to go back to a peaceful state that's from what from whence she came called Kansas or peace in other words or truth or freedom all of these things she has to acquire helpers along the way toward that goal to get past the illusion of this grand manipulator wizard who control who has the ability to control everything and really has the ability to control nothing it's all the power that people are turning over to this fraud so she meets the Scarecrow and he needs intelligence the brain that woodsman needs once a heart he wants true care and the lion wants true courage when we develop these three principles then we will override our conditioning and the human condition will change we will have that which we desire good quality of life peace prosperity freedom and happiness and not I'm not a millisecond until not a millisecond and that's exactly as it should be and people think they're going to take shortcuts to this goal again this whole new age movement notion you know you hear a million things about this the sauce sudden awakening is going to happen though people aren't going to have to do great work and uncovering how all this stuff works they're not going to have to expend a lot of effort to learn new things and research you know ideas and you know actually change their thinking it is just it's just a sudden awakening that's gonna happen I mean I can't even tell you what BS that is or that we're going to magically morph and go into another dimension you know don't wait for this stuff folks because it's all occult-driven nonsense some of the occultists I worked with in the past told me wait till you see the labyrinth in nature of the notions that we're going to pump out through our publishing houses and what these utter unthinking people will accept into their brainwashed worldview they'll believe anything we tell them anything because what people don't want to hear is that hard work is required for change to a car never am I ever going to use the phrase to change is easy you'll never hear me say that because it's not it's hard work that has to be done through an act of will willpower is how this is accomplished anybody telling you that it's easier than that is a liar a fraud a charlatan or an idiot that knows nothing and many people are telling many people that many people are believing that notion that this is just some kind of a lay it's going to be a laid back organic process that we don't direct well yeah there is a notion of stepping into a slipstream where you stop fighting against and doing all the things that are wrong and then this process does become something that unfolds naturally that's certainly true but don't think this isn't work that has to be accomplished to an act of our willpower change is possible but I will never tell you that it's a given it is not a given it's not easy just something from the from the sick twisted condition that we exist in now in the world it's not going to be just an easy process to get from here to there it's going to be a long journey fraught with peril more likely than not that depends on how many people ultimately depends on how many people heed this message heed the warnings that are being given about power on the wrong path and then heed the message on how to get onto the right one and knowledge is required it is not just a heart based thing about love and care that those are absolutely one of the three essential critical elements that must be present you have to care deeply about this not not so much that it becomes uh you know I cut your nose off to spite your face situation however I think you have to care a lot you have to care deeply your heart has to be in the right place but you have to have intelligence about how these principles that are working against you on the other side are are are working like a chess game because the people who are playing this manipulation game are very skilled at it and they have a long history in their bloodlines of practicing these techniques and they know how to how to implement them and execute them very well and most people on the other side of the game haven't even satin down haven't even sat down at the game they don't even know games being played on them you tone hey there's a game going on here you're you got your opponent's whipping you looking out what's chess that that's where most people's mindset is that not all but most and again I would say that is slowly changing but not nearly the rate it needs to to really have a deep impact on the outcome of this game and it's all about what we want to see happen now people will tell you oh I want this I want happiness I want prosperity I want peace well what are you actually doing to put those goals into manifestation just hoping for it doesn't make it so the notion of the law of attraction as just being something you hope and wish for and visualize to make it happen is nonsense that is not how the law of attraction is actually applied you have to manifest things through how you think and feel but then toward proper action in the world through courage so you need to know how the care but if you don't have the will forget it it's never going to happen you hear where there's a will there's a way well that's absolutely 100% true the way lies in the will that's why when we talk about some occult symbolism when we get into the pillar of the will what is that what does that mean it's true wisdom on how to manifest change in the world which is what we're talking about here that change is possible but only when three critical ingredients come together knowledge intelligence true care and then courage to act in the proper moral ways in the world by an act of will by the power of the will and that is the the coming together the synthesis that we require to actually manifest change in the world when we have that combination in the right proportion then change becomes possible and if we did that in big numbers then you would see it start to flow not in the paltry numbers that the people who have made this paradigm shift and come into a new vibration of consciousness and knowledge and understanding and care and we'll where that number is at now is far too small to make change ripple over into a a worldwide dynamic I didn't say that's not possible I said at the numbers that were at don't expect that to happen where we're at right now we have a long way to go and a lot more work to do and a lot more people have to make this paradigm shift this fundamental change in worldview and until they clean that palette that plate so to speak until they cleanse their worldview and get clear on what is human nature what is the valuing of the individual and how this change really take place they're not going to be in an empowered position to manifest those changes that they say they want you could say you want it all you want you could think of that hold the goal in your mind all you want you can even feel as good as you want about it unless you actually take the measures to create a new condition based on those thoughts and emotions don't expect it to manifest the will is the final ingredient in that triumvirate it takes all three in conjunction that's why the all-seeing eye representing this activated consciousness is always within a triangle three things must converge the triangle is another sacred shape until those three aspects of consciousness thoughts emotions and actions intelligence care and will united with courage come into manifestation we should not expect change to magically occur on its own so that is how the whole technique of worldview poisoning goes to work upon the human mind poison someone's view of human nature and you have them where you want them because they'll be working against each other poison someone's value of themselves and others and that will make immoral behavior all the easier to become manifest in the world and that's what control is all about immoral behavior that's what the essence of evil is so that's poisoning the value of the idea of what the value the true value of the individual is and then the third method is poison someone's mind with the thought that change cannot actually occur that we are stuck in this condition eternally all of these things are lies human nature is not inherently evil the value of the individual and the worth of the individual is not based upon a number it is based upon the dynamic living spirit that is within everyone and change is possible we understand these things that is when our worldview will be cleansed will be healed which is the first and foremost technique of consciousness-raising healing solutions that we will talk about many weeks from now when we get into practical solutions to the problems that we are experiencing in the world world view healing how do we heal this poisonous worldview that most people have taken on in this system of manipulation we'll talk about some specific healing techniques and modalities so this is where I'm going to leave it for tonight folks I think there was some sort of a technical issue going on on talk show it doesn't look like arm doesn't look like any calls were able to come in because my talk-show connection dropped out there somewhere in the middle I'm seeing that I don't have the talk-show connection on skype so I apologize for that I may need to rework some things on the technical and but not to worry I'll work that out I think we covered a lot of ground today and we will go into more mind-control manipulation techniques on next week's show so thank you everyone for listening in I'll see you all here next Tuesday night at 7:00 p.m. Eastern I'm mark passio and you've been listening to what on earth is happening thanks everyone you

[Music] welcome everyone welcome you are listening - what on earth is happening on your host mark passio this show is live every Tuesday evening from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. Eastern Time on my web site what on earth is happening dot-com and on the revolution broadcasting network at revolution broadcasting calm today is Tuesday August 3rd 2010 and we have a great show lined up for you here this evening we're going to be continuing our discussion about mind control and its multi-faceted methodologies that are employed upon the human species so we'll be getting into the third technique in this journey of discovery of how mass mind control and manipulation techniques work upon our controlled species before I do that I want to give the call-in number for this show as always feel free to call in at any time there are no tableau topics on this show the cult Hall in number seven - four four four four seven four four four once again the calling number for the show feel free to call in at any time and there are no tableau topics here talk about whatever you like seven two four four four four seven four four four when you call in putting the call ID number the call ID number for what on earth is happening is eight three five one five once again the call ID eight three five one five so I usually start off the show with some announcements that are going on in the area where I'm from so local people listening can get an idea of events that are happening in the Philadelphia area so I'll start by doing that and then we'll jump in with the topic for this evening every third Monday of the month at the ethical Society of Philadelphia free documentary screenings and discussions posted by the group truth freedom prosperity the ethical Society is at 1906 South Rittenhouse Square it's a 7 o'clock p.m. sharp start time for these documentaries and then they are followed by public discussions I don't know what the film this month is going to be but I know that it will have something to do with the banking system because last month we showed the documentary fresh and a bunch of anti-war / Pro peace activists turned up because they're meeting in the same building I did not happen that night so a lot of them poured over into our Meetup and we had expressed to them that we are also anti-war protists in truth freedom prosperity and that we really helped what part of what we do in that group does help people to understand the immoral fractional reserve banking system which is essentially another name for usury that we have in this country and in just about every other country called the Federal Reserve System and their members did not know much about the Fed in true freedom prosperity we feel that it's critically important to educate people about the Federal Reserve System and how it is the enabler for warfare for imperialistic aggression against other nations so the leaders of TFP decided that they're going to show some a film that highlights what the Fed is truly all about and explains how that basically enables our continued imperialistic foreign policy so that's what the film will be on I don't know which one it's going to be but hopefully I'll have that announcement here on next week so come on out join the group truth freedom prosperity you can check out their website at truth freedom prosperity org at the ethical Society of Philadelphia every third Monday of the month free documentary screenings and discussions my second and final announcement is a conference which I will be hosting in 2011 already shaping up to be a great event we have six confirmed speakers so far it's called free your mind a conference on consciousness mind control and the occult free your mind is a unique two-day conference scheduled for April 9th and 10th 2011 in Philadelphia PA featuring multiple speakers and diverse educational materials for the purpose of raising public awareness of the critically important topics of mass mind control techniques covert or occult subversive influences upon consciousness and behavior trauma base and ritualized abuse and practical mental and emotional healing methodologies available for those effected by these devices the date is Saturday April 9th and Sunday April 10th 2011 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. both days the location Ruba Hall 414 Green Street in Philadelphia the admission price only $20 per day per person we already have six confirmed speakers and look to book at least six more maybe even more than that the confirmed speakers to date are Erin McCallum Andrew basiago Jay Parker Laura Eisenhower Michael Kelly and myself mark Basia for more information as this event approaches there's basically only a skeletal outline there right now we will be adding more information to this site but I'm going to give the website now on the show for the first time the website for this conference is simply WWF re your mind conference calm free your mind conference calm April 9th and 10th 2011 in the city of Philadelphia so those are the event announcements that I have for this evening I want to give the call and number one more time let's see if we can get some calls this evening seven two four four four four seven four four four four four four four seven four four four when you call in punch in the call ID eight three five one five so what I'm going to do tonight is continue in our outline of discussing mind control techniques and these are mass mind control methodologies techniques that work on large groups of people not just individuals we have been discussing these over the past several weeks we have talked about the technique thus far of the techniques of obfuscation and worldview poisoning when we discussed of the obfuscation we showed that what this technique is about is to make concepts that relate to truth that relate to freedom completely obscured and over complexified in the minds of the target so to obfuscate is simply to render obscure unclear unintelligible bewildering or fusing that's what obfuscation is we looked at these this technique and broke it down in detail and showed how simplicity which truth always is based upon simple concepts is obfuscated with complexity this is to attempt to get someone to think that they can never understand simple truths they're way too complex for my mind to comprehend and so they will not look into information because they think they can't possibly understand it simplicity obfuscated with complexity we looked at the concept that principles truths that are based in natural law in moral principles moral law or obfuscated with man's law man's law based in violence and Punishment getting people to equate the laws of man with morality itself in their minds and more than not these two principles have nothing whatsoever to do with each other man's law and moral law or natural law that was connected with Dominion versus the fear of punishment Dominion being ownership of self governance of self true self respect or self-love as one thinks so one feels so one acts and there is no contradiction between those three modalities of that beings consciousness and we saw how that concept is abused skated with the fear of punishment the lowest consciousness or the lowest vibrational reason that anyone can take any action or form of behavior we looked at the obfuscation of gnosis knowledge acquired through direct experience with belief and institutionalized belief systems propagating this obfuscation we looked at the obfuscation of individuality with culture the destruction of the unique qualities of the individual in favour of conformity with culture which is essentially another way of saying driving out the imaginative and creative capacities that are often inherent inherently indwelling in individual so that was obfuscation that was the first mind-control technique that we looked at in detail and you could go back and listen to the previous podcasts on that they are all archived and labeled by topic on my podcast page on my website what on earth is happening calm the second technique which we discussed last week was known as worldview poisoning this is the degradation of the way someone sees oneself in the world and others particularly the relationship of oneself to others in the world it is also the way one sees basic human nature so the technique of manipulators or mind controllers is to get people to see human nature as something that is fundamentally flawed or evil you have to get people to see others as fundamentally flawed or evil by their very nature by their design to hold them in lower regard and in lower value and also to see yourself that way so that you can be controlled a manipulator wants someone to look at human value as essentially bad worthless flawed evil etc we saw how the true nature of the individual has to do with how they create themselves through what they take into themselves now of course that is partially conditioning and things that they do not at the beginning of their lives have entirely within their power so it is largely conditioning that goes into the makeup or the nature of a person but as they live and as information becomes available to them and as they develop the power of reason and will they can choose actively consciously willfully to change that nature so we talked about the concept of becoming or creating oneself that is what human nature ultimately is about it is not set as a default when we are born and that's how that person is throughout their life it is largely nurture the conditions of nurturing when one is young and then what one chooses to pay attention to and to involve oneself in as one lives the quality of information that one takes into themselves the quality of nourishment that one takes into himself through the food the one chooses the second component of worldview poisoning we saw last week was to be value in one's mind what the true value of the individual is the value of the individual is infinite it cannot be given a number yet a controller a sorcerer a mind manipulator wants you to associate yourself with a number namely how much money you make what kind of car you drive what kind of house you live in what kind of clothes you wear what you look like all external properties but never to look inwardly toward the self of whether one is upstanding whether one is moral whether one is United with oneself sucks that as one thinks so one feels and so on ax value of the individual has to be poisoned in the minds of the people for them to be controlled that's the second characteristic of worldview poison and finally we talked about the possibility of change how that has to be obscured and poisoned in the mind for someone to allow themselves to be controlled you'll often hear that devastating question but what can I do by someone who doesn't believe that an individual has within their power the capacity to radiate change outwardly from themselves by setting an example of course this is untrue change is possible I will never use the word easy in relation to it I know all too well the point at which we have arrived and where we are and it isn't easy from where we are we've allowed that but since we're the ones who have allowed it we can do something about it change is possible but it must be willed into existence it must be cared enough about for it to be willed and one must know or possess the faculties of intelligence enough to understand how one would create positive change so these three factors we talked about have to come together intelligence care and will and what I'm going to talk about tonight that was the concept of worldview pulling those three things a worldview poisoner wants you to think the change is impossible when in fact it is not again what I'm going to relate this concept to tonight is what exists in our primal subconscious minds because if you can prey on hidden fears that are often not even known to the individual that are a collective meme so to speak that are a collective entrenched subconscious deeply programmed fear tell that the subconscious level and you understand how this works yet your prey your victims your target for manipulation do not understand how those deeply entrenched fears work why they are there has never even looked at them let alone confronted them well it's child's play to manipulate the minds of people in that condition see it also connects in with worldview poisoning because if you can affect someone's idea of themselves namely their nature and the nature of others their own value and how much they believe that they can change and that others can change well you really have them right where you want them because eliminating the possibility of change the very thought that change is even possible is killing the human imagination for one to envisage one's way out of a problem out of a circumstance that they feel is negative and that they do not want present anymore the imagination must be present someone has to believe that while that condition is not currently the case that it is possible to achieve people thought that it was impossible for man to fly they thought that it just could not be done according to the laws of nature and yet people fly on airplanes every single day now had they had people continue to have just accept the notion that's impossible it would never have been done the imagination had to be used to first say I think this is possible and here are different techniques that maybe we can employ to make it happen and then of course trial and error ensued until success was reached in that endeavor the imagination ultimately made that possible what a manipulator once you locked once your imagination locked up in a box padlock they want you to think only what they have programmed into the collective mindset of what is believed to be possible is possible they never want you thinking outside of that narrowly confined structured view of what is possible when you start thinking outside of that box of what others have set up for us as this is possible and this is not that's when you open yourself up to the field of possibility from where change emerges any kind of change that we wish to see this is all about knowing oneself ultimately it is all about understanding how the subconscious mind works and it is also about knowing some of the dark aspects of a subconscious mind the dark recesses that holds some of our deepest ancient primal fears we have to look at those fears and confront them because those who consider themselves our owners and believe me there are people who consider themselves your owners they know how these fears work they know them far far far better than the general human being on the street knows how these aspects of the self work months ago when I started this radio show one of the first quotes that I read was an inscription upon the Delphic Oracle in Greece the Delphic Mystery School it says heed these words you who wish to probe the depths of nature if you do not find within yourself that which you seek neither will you find it outside if you ignore the wonders of your own house how do you expect to find other wonders in you is hidden the treasure of treasures know thyself and you will know the universe and the gods myself is what ultimately opens up all of the vistas of possibility within the field of potential in which we all exist and by knowing oneself we empower ourselves so we have to look at our own dark aspects of our own subconscious mind which is our deep-seated fears this is what our controllers have understood for centuries again they know it much better than we do one of the main reasons they know this is because they're incredibly well-read people in my past I have worked with some of these individuals not proud of that but I do have an amount of respect for their intelligence and in a twisted way they also have care they care about what they are doing they want to manipulate people they care enough about it to do it and then they do it so in a way they're not torn they're not in duality consciousness as they think so they feel and so they act albeit in a psychopathic fashion but you know something the universe will respect unity over duality it will respect dark care over no care that's a hard pill for a lot of people to swallow but it's true that's why they're so successful and that's why we're basically continuing to be conquered there are some people who are coming on to this understanding and who are growing in their intelligence of how these basic methodologies work but they're in the deep deep minority it is a paltry minority of people that do understand this that do understand any of these methodologies let alone all of them and there's more than just what I will get a chance to outline on this show so tonight we're going to start looking into the exploitation of our primal fears by the hidden manipulators of consciousness on this planet and to do that we want to basically list these fears and then explain how these fears are deeply interconnected with each other ultimately they are all interwoven into a fabric they are all interwoven and essentially in many ways work as one and you'll hopefully understand what I mean by that when I go through them when I list them and then start to talk about them so the first is the fear and every one of these fears it should be understood are ancient they have been with us for essentially as long as we have been here first primal fear it is entrenched and in rooted into the psyche of mankind is the fear of darkness now that may sound strange to most people but it is one of the most ancient embedded fears in our consciousness is the fear of darkness our ancient ancestors relied above all else upon the Sun the star which we our planet revolves around which gives us our warmth our lights the ability for the foods which we eat to grow protection from predators that have a better night vision than do we when the Sun would be absent in our ancient past before we had modern the conveniences of modern technology the absence of the Sun would essentially equal something akin to death food won't grow in winter climbing things freeze over our ancestors would die of exposure they would die of starvation if they were not prepared sufficiently to last through the winters if they were living in non tropical climates the absence of the Sun each night would lay our ancient ancestors open to predatory beasts like tigers lions wolves hyenas etc the Sun became a symbol of power of life of hope because they would wait for it to rise again and expectation it would it would be like a savior come each morning so the fear of darkness is more deeply entrenched into the human psyche then mostly any of us would imagine we take this for granted today because we walk into our home and flick on a switch and we have late however before that modern convenience was made available to us essentially human activity would stop when the Sun went down for all intents and purposes yes of course we could build fires but for the most part we lived on the circadian rhythm provided to us by the rotation of this planet and our activity will correspond with daylight and our restful time periods would correspond with darkness a controller knows well this embedded fear they understand how this works this is why you will see the Sun used symbolically on so many different corporate logos because they are associating their product in the minds of the buyer or the viewer of the symbol the prospective buyer with all of the things that one subconsciously through our very genetics the codes within us associates with the son life power energy growth safety etc all of these concepts associated subconsciously with the light the antithesis of darkness the Vanquisher of the thing one of the things that we fear deeply darkness that's the first embedded primal fear in the human psyche totally connected with this fear as I have mentioned in explaining the fear of darkness is the fear of predators that's the second primal fear again people of the modern world don't fear the types of predators that our ancient ancestors used to fear namely animal predators that would often find a human dwelling place often dragged a human away from a cave a tenth of some sort some kind of some kind of simplistic dwelling when beasts of prey get hungry enough they'll enter terrain that is essentially owned and controlled by another kind of animal even if they're vastly outnumbered so yes our nomadic ancestors live in roaming packs let's say but even one large predatory animal let's say a mountain lion could easily overpower even the strongest human beings among us of course we developed the weaponry to begin to protect ourselves against such predators but even with our ability to create in fashion fashion weapons and use them to our advantage you always have to sleep so our ancestors would many times be taken by surprise or picked off we weren't in any kind of large numbers so the fear of predators goes hand-in-hand with the fear of darkness bears big cats other kind of animals absolutely have better night vision than human beings human things are not very adeptly suited for vision at night at all even other primates gorillas apes orangutans chimpanzees they are much better suited for vision like than are we human beings don't have very good nighttime visual acuity therefore this leaves them open to predation by animals that do have much better night vision and again we can see how this would be tied intricately together in the psyche in the collective mindset of our ancestors Sun Goes Down it's dark we're open to being preyed upon by whatever beasts maybe whatever carnivorous beasts may be in this region where we're currently living hand-in-hand with the fear of being preyed upon is that ever-present every night fear of darkness they're tied together is related to the other now in the modern world we still see this although in a different way of there's still more human activity during the day than at night even in cities where we have treat lamps to light the city streets at night more people are loathe to go out very late at night because they fear being preyed upon not by animals but by other human beings and this is the modern form of predator that most people fear and live their lives in fear of now granted consciousness is so low in some areas that it would be dangerous to walk through certain terrain territory man can be as territorial of an animal as any other and there are some places that most people wouldn't want to walk this is due to the level of consciousness that the large portion of individuals in a certain area may be holding but essentially what we're talking about here is the fear itself of being preyed upon of being attacked of being hurt physically most people do still live their lives in fear of this it goes hand in hand with worldview poisoning I'm not saying that there aren't any bad people that are looking to harm someone and take what they have on the streets in any kind of major metropolitan regions or anywhere else for that matter because it's true there are what I'm trying to get at here is the underlying fear of a predator and how we live according to that fear we let that fear essentially control us and controllers people who want to manipulate people based upon such a fear know this well they know it well what they know more than almost anything else what they know better than anything else is that given the chance the vast majority of people will choose a form of control over a form of discomfort I'll say that again most people will choose a form of control meaning control that is actually directed at them rather than choose a form of discomfort and what I mean by that what I mean by discomfort is something that would require a difference or a change in how one lives their own lives to correct for something that is affecting them for the negative in other words an example would be most people would willingly hand over constitutionally protected freedoms rather than have terrorists run amok among us fear of being preyed upon the fear of being attacked harmed is preyed upon itself by controllers by manipulators they're going to grant you your safety but you'll have to pay something in return for it and it will always always 100% of the time mean a reduction in your freedom but the manipulator isn't concerned about that they know that most people are fearful and cowardly and instead of taking on a problem they want someone else to solve it for them so we create whole controller classes for those who to control those who we didn't raise properly by instilling any moral values when they were young and the irony is that that controller class is among them it's from that very group they haven't had any true moral values instilled in them they're just looking to all somebody because they're psychologically inadequate that's how they feel and you know what this is almost universally true it is so the exception to the rule that that isn't what controller really wants to control someone they themselves are load full of something that is indwelling within their own psyche their own beam and so they want to take that out on somebody externally anything but look in where and face the problem anything but look inward and then change what you don't like seeing part of what's part of the main problem with the loss of freedoms in this world is that people are apologize errs but all in the wrong ways they make excuses they'll say oh it's not it's not the institution itself it isn't a vast majority of people in this control based hierarchical compartmentalised institution that cares very little for human rights it cares very little for moral substance no no it's just the bad apples we apologize for people that we shouldn't be apologizing for it isn't just a few bad apples in the police and the military it's a systemic overarching problem that affects almost all of those people that do this job it's a problem the problem lies in the very creation of an organization like that to protect us from ourselves because we won't do the work to learn natural law principles and to teach them to our young so if it sounds preachy oh well that's how it is I'm making a vowel going forward that I'm going that really really really start turning up the heat as far as putting the responsibility on the shoulders of the people that it belongs upon and that's your average person it doesn't raise their children and when I say the word raise I I say in a very specific way we forgot what morally raising our youth means at all each embed all this control is acceptable because they'll have safety nonsense utter nonsense and only a fool would accept that mentality only someone in deep fear themselves that's controlled and owned by their fear that's never looked at their own subconscious mind and looked at what they're really afraid of and then worked upon it to make themselves stronger by confronting them Spears and there under mind control in a lot of different ways the very nature of what they think human nature is which we talked about last week other justifications that they use for statism and violence initiation of violence against non-violent people which is essentially what the state is everywhere every kind of it in any country regardless of how oppressive it may get or how much it may propagate the illusion of one's freedom it's the same thing it's the initiation of violence against anyone that doesn't go along with the program and that's easy to do folks it's easy to get people to accept easy to get people to accept because if you have a population whose mind is in a liquid sewage state by everything that they've taken into their body by everything they've taken in their mind that show no will to change any of those things they won't turn off their television they won't eat decent food they won't engage in any kind of activity that is edifying in any way you know that you have them exactly where you want them because you know exactly what their fears are you know what all the weaknesses of their psyche is it's child's play it's child's play and I know I'll have a harsh tact about this but hey I'm not sugarcoating anything on the show I think I explained that to people from day one you're not going to hear any sugar-coated explanations of what's happening nor you're going to hear apologizing for people that wouldn't know morality if it cracked them across the jaw and told them to wake up in a loud voice and people don't look into this information because they are owned by their own fears and until they start to confront those fears and work on them with no shortcuts through education the reading books through going inward if you get some information externally then going inward and really making an examination of self but how few will take on that responsibility anything but that most people will say no wrong in the other direction as fast as they can for looking inward and as long as they do they'll continue to be externally conquered by controllers who know a thousand times more about themselves than they ever will by their through their own willful ignorance these people have brought this condition upon themselves their own willful ignorance and let's stop making excuses about it that's how it is how are we going to change it well the only thing I see that is possible to even do is learn how these dynamics work and then put information out there widely and freely and to get more people to do the same who you can identify as those who really want to learn about these dynamics and as an aside going into this before I go into the other two primal fears you know there's there's people out there that think that they're going to party their way out of slavery you know I'm going to use escapist drugs or just do nothing but hop from one party or festival to the next party or festival I'll dance my way out of the harsh reality is a planet Earth well good luck to you very proud of you and again people won't want to hear this they'll take offense you know anything but work on the true deep nested shadows of the subconscious mind and the people who bill get the most upset with are the people that actually have done this work upon themselves because they'll say you have no right to complain about other people you have no right to point this out in others while it is true those who live in glass houses should not throw stones but some of us have shattered our little glass house and it's a paltry few the whole idea of thinking outside of the cage that we impose for ourselves because of our own fears and none is more prevalent than the fear of predation of being preyed upon so we'll look to an even more powerful controller to say please protect us will do anything to be protected from these predators even give up our freedom our free will our rights inherent rights that no man has a right to take away yet because these controllers never hear the word no coming from people in mass they'll keep taken and taken and taken because in their minds not to say no is to say yes in their minds not to say no is to say yes whether you agree with that principle that's what they're operating under that's the law they're operating under and the people that do these control jobs which it's all an illusion they're not in control of anything they don't even own themselves they think they own someone else they have owners I've gone into what their owners think of them on the show in the past and I'll do that again in the future but you couldn't sit down sit them down at a table explain to them that they have owners because their ego is so entrenched and you know what some of them wouldn't even care they'd say oh yeah I understand that I'm wholly owned and operated by someone else that I just performed their whims for a paycheck imagine this is the moral constitution the moral constitution of many many many living beings in our society right now and we wonder how the Nazis did what they did during World War two we wonder how Stalin accomplished what he accomplished in Russia and people don't believe that this is going to happen here when you have people that that's how they think I often think what orders wouldn't you follow what orders wouldn't you know a brainwashed military-type follow sit down yes sir no sir and ask them is there any wonder you wouldn't follow Alba if they'd be hard pressed to even come up with something that they that they wouldn't just unquestioningly obey because that's how mind-control works you're following a program anything outside your program is unthinkable computer program can't do anything outside of what's programmed into it that's what most people have allowed themselves to become and unquestioningly an unquestioning robot programming in and that's B that's the confines of their behavior but again sit and try to tell the hypnotized person that the illusion that they see upon the stage isn't actually there they'll try to tell you you're crazy and it's all because of spiritual weakness folks let's not make any apologies about this it's all about spiritual weakness this is not something that people have had done to them externally when I explained these techniques to you please do not think that I am saying that the person who has the ultimate power in wielding these techniques is the controller themselves because it is not their power is an illusion and I've stated that before and I will continue to maintain that they have no real power that has not been willfully granted to them by someone that does not want to think the end and I make no apologies for people of that mindset they have brought this upon themselves and they've brought it upon other people to do value their freedom and they have no right to do that they have no right to do that people say oh yeah people have a right to be as ignorant as they want nonsense you don't have a right to be ignorant when it affects my freedom ladies and gentlemen so go and tell that to the controller that doesn't care whether he's a slave whether he's a house slave and will follow orders onto the deck like a Nazi robot you don't have a right to affect my freedom in that way you may think you do all you want but that's a right you'll never have so to go back to these fears predators the third fear is interwoven with the protection from predators okay when we're faced with a predator in our midst one of the first reactions in the subconscious for those who allow this fear to own them okay that don't face it and try to correct it you just give in to this force called fear which is the shutdown of consciousness and going into the our complex of the brain the reptile brain the first thing they want is protection while who to protect them except the strong father figure here's the next character in our play in the ancient world while the Sun is Goes Down the Predators come out and then we have to rally around our strong father figure of the tribe to protect us from these animals but in doing so we're going to give him complete control we're not going to solve this in any kind of an egalitarian way we're going to put this father figure in charge the biggest alpha male strong sharpest teeth biggest muscles you know can throw the spear the farthest and the hardest and we're going to let him take charge over all of our daily activities in return for keeping them safe keeping us safe from those predators out there does this sound familiar to anybody anyone to sound like the familiar a thing that's being played out again in our in our times I don't know maybe it's just me but I'm getting to something I'm getting to something that is very powerful that I'm going to get to before I close this show tonight it's after 8:00 now on the East Coast so I'm going to give out the calling numbers again anybody want to call in and chime in on this topic the call-in number is seven two four four four four seven four four or once again that's seven two four triple four seven triple four when you call in you have to punch in the call ID number for what on earth is happening that is eight three five one five the call ID number is eight three five one five when you call in I'll see you on the switchboard just hang on and I will get to your call so those in fear run to controllers to protect them against predators this has been going on for thousands of years because people will not develop courage courage is action in spite of one's fear and the vast majority of human beings on this planet do not have courage and get as upset as you like about that folks the vast majority of human beings do not have courage they look to annex controller to protect them and they're willing to give up their rights for their protection and they expect everyone else to fall in line with that ideology then they'll get upset with the people who don't want to live like that and live as slaves essentially and say I grant you no no ability to take any of my rights away from me in return for protection and this is a mob mentality this is mafia mentality you've open up a new store and mob territory they come and visit you and say well you got a pass protection money where the were the biggest alpha males on the block and now you're not going to be able to operate here without problems without violence unless we get what we want from you so you're going to give us a cut of what you're making in return for not harming you and it's the same thing this is what every state is on the surface of the earth I want nothing from any state I want the state out of my existence because I'm a sovereign being that is known by anybody you don't own me the end the end no compromise zero all rights reserved period yet that that attitude that philosophy is so in the minority in in today's world that is but a speck of light left in a dark world people in the freedom movement and in higher consciousness groups they make them very grave mistake of thinking that more people think the way they think then actually do and this is something that is propagated by the Internet itself the Internet is a wonderful medium folks I hope we have it for as long as where we are here and that it gets even better than it is in propagation of information and transparency of information however it does create a flawed way of seeing how many people are actually awake we think because there is a vocal minority on the internet that is are beginning to discuss these issues that this is some kind of common sense widely known thing what's what's going on as far as control goes the moral issues that accompany me and this awakening out of this trance mind it's a such a tiny fraction of people that you would be a poem if you even grasped how tiny that fraction is I see this over and over again people think more people are coming online to this than actually are I don't want to be a you know a naysayer in anyway I don't want to rain on anyone's parade I just want people to look at things realistically you know for example right here in the city of Philadelphia a few months back they had an end the Fed rally on a beautiful day a beautiful spring day and 300 people if that showed up in a city in a metropolitan region of like what five six million people I mean if this is it's ridiculous how tiny it is for people that understand this that the effort needs to not just be redoubled it needs to be thousandfold forget doubling anything it's what we're not even remotely near the amount of people that we need to reach and it's largely because people are trapped in these fears hand-in-hand with the fear of predators and darkness which is which is associated with predators is the fear of abandonment the fear of abandonment by that alpha male father figure because that represents having to deal with the Predators or oneself anything but that anything but that and in the modern world that equates to we might have to raise our young morally ourselves god forbid because we don't want to live morally we're going to teach it to our young people we'll just have the controller come in and take care of any acting off that's what we'll do why should we live in a moral way why should we teach that to our young that's the hardest thing there is to do to instill actual proper upstanding moral values and young people the hardest thing there is to do why should we be burdened with that let's just have Big Daddy government do that work for us by through control through violence let's have him enact violence whether the person is themselves violent or not even peaceful people that have not harmed anybody will set these unwavering laws if you do not conform - no matter how peaceful you are violence will be enacted upon you and we'll accept that even though it's a trouncing upon our human rights are inherent human rights that aren't granted by men and can't be taken away by man well except that we'll just willingly hand over all of those rights to the controller for Keith enough say us safe because god forbid should we not have him should we be abandoned by big daddy who protects us from the Predators we could never accept that because that would mean were all on our own we're all on our own and we don't know what to do on our own we don't know what to do we never thought for ourselves you've never protected ourselves from encroachments of violence by ourselves we've always had somebody else do that for us you see how this is a timid mindset of a timid person it doesn't understand their rights or care about their rights it could care less about their own rights or the rights of others they're just in our complex reptile brain mode all the time I'm going to explain why that is after I talk about hand in hand tied inextricably to the fear of abandonment is your number four well hey if we don't have the light and the Predators are here and O our alpha male father figure has abandoned us we don't have him anymore to protect us what are we really afraid of happening and what we're afraid of this breaking out and it's the word you hear all the time associated in the minds of the mind controlled slaves with the removal of control play this word association game with people okay you tell people no control no masters they'll give you back the word freedom but tell people the first word that they associate in their mind with the word anarchy and they'll say the magic word because this is what the fourth primal fear is the fear of chaos there it is chaos we don't have these controls and we don't have Big Daddy telling us what to do because we don't think for ourselves they'll be chaos and you know what folks maybe there would so I'm just going to come right out and say it I consider myself an agent of chaos I'd rather have all of the violent offenders of the world out in the open rather than covert line controllers manipulating us from behind the scenes I'll take the physical chaos and you know what I think I think that the physical chaos would teach us a lesson I think that's how we learn natural law by making the mistake of ever letting things get to the point where chaos would really truly break out then only then because of our ignorance our apathy and our laziness up to this point I think only then are we going to start to understand how natural law really works when we experience enough chaos in our lives and guess what we don't have order now we have chaos now we have chaos in a covert form which is arguably much more sinister than chaos in an open form but we have nothing that resembles through order what we have is control and control is chaos because it's based upon fear fear leads to confusion we strike out we lash out and try to control and ultimately what that creates is chaos in the world unintended consequences of every kind and the lack of order but controllers are too dumb to figure that out and what I mean by that is not to make the real controllers I'm talking about the people that think they're in control the people who've never really read any books in their lives and have no view of history whatsoever and yet think that they're in control of someone physically right please don't make me laugh if it wasn't so sad I would burst out historically laughing because controllers out there people who think you're in control you have owners you have owners and I worked with your owners and I know what they think of you look at Henry Kissinger telling the military that they're dumb stupid animals to be used as pawns in our foreign policy decisions I mean imagine this openly telling people that openly telling the military you are your are dogs dumb animals and people still will follow these people's orders this is a person who's responsible for positioning of troops of troop deployments to make strategy based upon whether these people are going to live or die that governs whether these people are going to live or die and yet they'll carry out his bidding just to get to hurt somebody or oh yeah the other excuses are and that's ultimately what it is you know it's its inadequacy and they just want to hurt somebody but let's be honest about what it is votes okay let's everybody get as offended as they want turn it off because you don't want to hear anymore get it all out there ain't going to change nothing okay you want to hear what's really going on in the world go back and listen to my interview with neo two weeks ago these are these are the owners of the police and military make no mistake about it they have owners and that's who their owners are I'm telling you that out directly because I know this is the case but hey they're going to follow their course probably because they don't want to hear it because it's too painful to them to admit that they got clean you got played like a fiddle claimed as a matter of fact you didn't get played as if it was in Street lingo you played yourself that's what happened you played yourself but your ego is too too powerful to ever let you commit that walk away from it you're committed to that course just like the Nazis were in 1930 30s and 40s German the same thing can't step back from your own mind and ego and admit that what you're doing is wrong because you don't really believe the nonsense that your owners are feeding you that this is moral for you to do they don't they don't believe believe that see I I ultimately do believe in not believe in I recognize the natural law principle of Ordo ab KO now there are people out there will think this is all evil and there's not it's a good side to it when you start looking into deep meanings in occult words symbols phrases etc when you really do your study of the occult this is not a negative principle in and of itself it is twisted for negative reasons and that is what I would call chaos sorcery which we will get into in future weeks but see Ordo ab KO means that order will eventually emerge from a chaotic situation or condition and in fact when one does not do one's own work so much when they when they fall out of doing their own work upon their own consciousness upon their own psyche upon their own subconscious so much that they created for themselves a condition of chaos the only thing that will bring them out of that condition is more chaos is it is that condition becoming so unbearable and so uncomfortable that finally their ego is broken down it is melted in the fires of purification to a point where they say I cannot do this anymore I cannot continue this course I must change because it threatens the very well-being and continued well-being of the entire species not just any one individual or group of individuals the whole is detrimental effected by the ignorant of the whole and sadly I think that's the path we've chosen I don't think we've chosen what is known as the middle pillar the ground where we refuse to accept control and will not become a controller ourselves that's called the middle pillar in the occult we chosen was known as the left-hand path the path of severity this is the path where sadly we have let our ignorance apathy laziness and cowardice have to become our greatest teachers and that maximizes the pain and discomfort through which the lesson will be gained good luck because it didn't have to be that way yet that's what humanity is collectively choosing I'm not here thinking that really well I'm saying is going to ultimately change that decision I'm just helping to explain what we've chosen folks that's all I'm doing I do this show not in service to human beings I do this show in service to truth only and secondarily for the human beings that do want to understand this and do want to live free do want to understand themselves may they gain something from this wonderful and they'll take it and they could parlay that into their studies and I will say that as a secondary goal I do that I do this for them who I certainly do not do this for are the people that want to remain ignorant apathetic lazy and cowardly and lastly I certainly do not do this for me because if you think I really want to be doing this you're as crazy as a fruit that is all I can say if you think this is what I envision my life to be explaining how mind control works you have to be as out of your mind as anyone has ever been if you think I enjoy this I do this because I recognize it as a responsibility based on where we're at in consciousness on this planet and for no other reason in the interest of truth and for those who it may serve to help them transcend their current mind controlled condition everybody else is going to get exactly what they have coming exactly what they deserve and they're going to get the lesson one way or another what no matter how painful it may have to be they're going to get the less you're not escaping the lesson I said here before on this show and I'll say it many more times there's no escape period there is no escape you're not getting out of here the way out is through quite simply that's it the way out is through what is meant by that is you don't get past the lesson that is on deck for you to learn until you go through it by mastering it by learning it well and mastering it so those are the four primal fears the fear of darkness the fear of predators the fear of abandonment by the father figure or controller and the fear of chaos and this keeps people in a nice neat little prison all self generated by the mind controllers the owners of most of the people of this world know this perfectly they they know this like you know two plus two equals four this is secondary child's play common sense to them yet how many people have really deeply explored anything resembling that what I've laid out here tonight very very few because most people won't do anything to avoid turning inward and looking at the shadow of the subconscious the shadows are what we have to delve into the way out is through the whole idea of this New Age nonsense of not looking at the negative is just that nonsense everything is not okay folks I didn't say everything is anything is not working as it should be working the in Traverse its laws work flawlessly at all times in all places that doesn't mean everything is okay we're choosing things that are not okay for our evolutionary development and in many cases in many ways weird evolving instead of evolving and it's cause very few people want to do this work they want to look externally for a solution the solution is an external the solution is in our own thoughts our own emotions and our own actions the end its internal when we change that the external world will change and not a millisecond before and that is exactly as it should be that doesn't mean that based on where we say we want to progress to we're doing things that are okay because we're not as a whole and mess what do all of these or primal fears have in common and this is the key the crux of the whole thing this is the most important thing to understand about the whole thing of how how we are exploited through our deep subconscious primal fears that are encoded right into our DNA our ancient ancestor II the main thing to keep in mind is that all four of these fears are completely associated with survival the instinct to survive is the strongest instinct in the human species now with that being said every one of these things the fear of darkness the fear of predators preying upon us the fear of the Dominator or controller type abandoning ops or at least let's call it the protector type abandoning us I have a fear of chaos breaking out these are the deepest seeded fears in the human psyche they're all based upon our desire to continue to survive and that's ultimately what a controller is going to based in sorcery upon the fact that it knows you'll trade anything for survival ladies and gentlemen I'm going to tell you now a deep occult ideology and a dark occult ideology and for those who have read a bit some may have heard this before and I'm going to sum up in explaining this ideology I will not call it a philosophy it is an ideology is a way of thinking that does not necessarily that does not truly lead to higher wisdom which is what philosophy is about the love of wisdom Sophia this is a dark occult principle if you will I won't even call it a principle again it is simply an ideological path so to speak and this is a satanic and Luciferian concept in the dark schools of occult it is taught that the first and foremost responsibility of the individual is to self-preservation this is stated in dark occult schools as this sentence which I'm about to say right now self-preservation is the highest law in Luciferian and state tack occult sects or schools if you will secret societies orders whatever you want to call them cults isn't is a nice word for what it really is there is the principal or I would say really a non principal this is a ideological concept that is embedded into the minds of the dark occult initiates self-preservation is the highest law this is a mind control technique and it works through the exploitation of humanity's deepest primal fears namely the fear of darkness the fear of being preyed upon the fear of abandonment by the alpha male dominant father figure and the fear of chaos and that the occult controllers know this they know this well and they've gotten people to swallow all of their control methods based upon exploiting these four fears all because they know that the deepest underlying human instinct not philosophy but instinct which is based in the reptile brain the instinctual survival brain they get them to accept the the dictum that self-preservation is the highest law and all I will say about this before I go to some phone calls because I see we have a couple callers on the line please hold on whoever is calling in I just want to wrap this one part up and then I'm going to take your calls all that I will say in response to that occult ideology and that is the first law of dark occult vism burning one that truly knows about all of my journeys spiritually and everything that I have learned everything that I have taken into myself all wisdom teachers that I have taken in some of their knowledge that I've read in every aspect of my personal spiritual journey up to this point I can sum up that journey in one sentence and it would be this self-preservation is not the highest ball self-preservation is not the highest law let that sink in caller from New York caller from New York City you are on what on earth is happening hi MA thank you for taking the name is Mike how are you Mike the way I like to thank you for all 19 shows so far you know nobody on on radio that's being broadcasted digitally or not is really talking about her being as honest as being as truthful as wide-ranging with the topics and knowledge that you have pretty much on radio at all but I've heard like thank you for for doing what you're doing I thank you very much for that compliment Mike I would just say just keep in mind this isn't about me I appreciate the compliment this is simply about this information I want to thank you for listening in and helping to spread this information in any way that you can thank you well I wanted to basically talk about with the actual uh we were just bringing up is actual self preservation I feel that I feel like once you you were woken up to somewhat of a knowledge and anything you you sit down and you started realizing you know what you used to think is not really what you think anymore and you know you sort of moved on it's sort of even tough to live in this matrix that were surrounded by this system that's already been created before we even got here so based upon the horrible banking system and the way things are it's almost like tough to even survive in this community but as you're saying self-preservation is not the highest law but it is it's almost like they're preying upon that very very fact and the whole system is set up against that in the million ways that they can as many laws as they create you know and things like that so I just see some some ideas on how to uh how to maybe build a better system within your evil within your own community or get other people together almost on like a uh on like a spiderweb basis where you didn't need any one person doing it as long as someone was doing it within the community by you right sure well we have access to lots of technologies too propagate this understanding I mean start your own what if you fully grasp these concepts start your own radio show get hand out cards in the local community to get people listen to it start your own website start up a meetup group host free documentary screening is like what truth freedom prosperity does in the Philadelphia area there's many ways to get active with this but it is all about ultimately we need to keep in mind it is all about ultimately changing the way that we think about ourselves in relation to the world and other individuals other souls on their journey in the world and respect is what this is ultimately about you know it's it's about understanding that we are sovereign understanding that we have inherent rights as beings in the cosmos by nature of us being born into the cosmos on our spiritual journey and we should understand and respect those rights and teach that value that that's what value all we have to hold as our primary values this is what value means what do you value you know do we value money above morality to value money above our rights or some people sadly do we need to reverse that that's that it's it's something that is inherently wrong and it has to recognize there's something that is apparently wrong and spoken all that such unapologetically hmm yes I I agree with you a hundred percent you on it it's so strange because I mean I grew up in a very old-school Italian family where culture is a very very major thing you know that goes on obsession way of the product you know and it's it's tough to even talk about this for anybody you know sometimes it's just like I'd like to talk about it with strangers you know then send my own family you know and I feel I feel horrible for that sometimes but I thought that strikes up a very resonant note with me personally because for anyone that personally knows me they have heard you know essentially the same thing for me I've seen my story is almost identical to that as far as being raised in a Catholic Italian family in Philadelphia and sixteen thing hardly anyone in my family can I even approach with this information so I can there yeah you know and I like to thank you because it is since since I saw you documentaries that he had released online I saw them probably I think it was actually June of oh nine you know when I but I said to myself before I even knew about you or anything I said what on earth is happening I think I might've through the f-word in there somewhere but you know I said because I couldn't you know I just had just trying to write so that this can't be it can't be the reason you know there's just something going on because obviously it seems as you say chaos and evils ruling this world whether you what do you what do you have certain thoughts about it or not but you can tell that you know it's almost like it's almost ludicrous you know it's up and down setting off and the drive light is you know it just says what guy was saying you know but with the pictures how they dress and the visual representation of what that is you know it's it's kind of that a bunch of guys and make it so still about the symbolism right rule the world not the word yes a book that I highly recommend people reading not to get poisoned by it to know what it is going in because it is one of the books that really led me into my dealings with the occult in a dark sense and I think if people read this they will understand that what is ultimately being built in our society is a satanic structure it is a satanic system that is being built read the book The Satanic Bible by Anton LaVey now I know some people will say oh why are you even telling people to read something like that because it contains in it out of the archaeology of the occultists that are really running the world it really does if you really understand that book you will understand the perspective of the mind manipulators of this planet well I was I was one of the ones I was lucky enough to get one of the arcs that you had sent out so I was I was the one from New York that got the arc that that you had sent out to everything traffic oh yeah yeah okay great great yes thanks for calling him and what did you think of it oh you know what I look like once I saw your documentaries I started creating my own rock just naturally cuz I'm a computer guy so I had some of the stuff you had and I added to it now I got closest to terrabytes myself Wow and Wow you know and like I said I just say and you know a lot of that so I applaud to scribed all the time and I made torrance emotion as much as I could so and it's going well and you know every day is you know just recently I had a my apartment went up in flames uh so there was a lot of bloody chaos yeah that's okay it was electrical fire in the morning everyone got out safe there's you know other thing was all right but you know basically what I learned was through the chaos I mean you almost had that there was a situation thrown at you where you woke up in the morning I would smoke you know I sure has one got out you know you figured out where things were going you know and one call nine-one-one you got you know pets and everything so we've all made it out a lot safely everything was great but basically what I'm what I'm seeing from that now a couple weeks down the road is that sort of like it is the laws of physics inside a house electricity water pipes not a good combination well that's just for physics that's just laws of physics could happen anywhere anytime it happens but the chaos in the world is sort of it's coming to a desk awaiting as we're going I see it you know every dangers like another another oil rig is hint you know and buy a boat and another guy ties a grenade to us to a pole and another guy shoots up another place and it's all just the lone guy and it's all just that one day under the rug go back to sleep you know but if you see the patterns in your awake and you can leave the screen the line you can see something's coming you know I think which I think what you're doing is please essential I think it's the timing is perfect and I just wanted to say especially so thank you and I will continue to listen and continue to get the word out myself Mike thank you so much hey thanks a lot have a great night you too take care great great caller uh what Mike from New York was referring to was when he was talking about the arc is made available to people a one terabyte hard drive that basically contains it is just full of digital information books audio video I think there's 5,000 books over 5,000 books in PDF format on it there's something like 22,000 mp3 files and about 1,800 video files it would take literally you know a lifetime to go through all of it but it is a digital information that I have assembled over the years I waded through my collection for a friend and put some of the best materials all on one a one terabyte external USB hard drive and I copy that up for those who who want that so uh on my on my website if you subscribe to the newsletter um essentially whenever I send information out to those who are on the newsletter I put it include a little PDF document that explains what the arc is and how to go about obtaining a got a copy of it so that's what Mike was referring to there but I'm glad this to see that there's other people who are very activated and that's what we need more of so Mike thanks again I'm going to go to another caller here caller from southeastern Pennsylvania you are on one on earth is happening hey Mark it's Chris from new jersey how are you Chris what's up man mark with only one here from oh it's good to hear you every night every the Tuesday night as well mark I first I want to thank Mike for all he's doing as well but that's great to let you know we need people helping people and then that's how it's going to get done even though right now it looks pretty bleak when you look at the numbers but you hid behind a nail on the head when you said that people are confusing themselves with their bodies I know that sounds crazy but what I look at why we're in the state we're in it comes down to fear and then it's been a question becomes fear of what well it's the fear of running out of money or the fear of starving so people are linking up the fear with their physical existence and I can understand how they do that but by doing that I think they make a serious error because they're never going to be able to face their fear unless they get rid of that notion which i think is garbage I think that I know it's garbage because I am more than my arm in my leg and I know that I go on after this world I am energy I have infinite life and if people will come to that realization the controllers will be out of luck they would they wouldn't have any way to control us anymore and we would understand why you know what our purpose is and who we really are agreed totally agreed that that identification with the purely physical is a left brain imbalance and I spoke about it when I talked about the barriers to self-realization to understanding who well and what we truly are in a form of podcasts and in my presentation so that's a really great point that you bring up you can only really control someone through fear when you have them completely identified with the world now this isn't to say that we should go in the other direction and as I was talking about you know people who have escapism you know as one of their plans and think that there's no work to be done here on the ground so to speak you know and they will indulge in you know drugs in it in a way that really doesn't promote true expansion of consciousness it's just for a means of partying and you know again aren't really doing any hard philosophical work with people they're just you know think that there were not party again like I explained it party their way out of slavery and that's the opposite end of the spectrum you know where you know people think that they're going to meditate their way out of slavery as well you know that we could just meditate in the world will suddenly change it isn't going to work through either of those methods those are real right brain imbalanced ways of approaching that this this condition in which we are currently in and the real left-wing way that keeps it this way is that the left brain form of imbalance that keeps it this way is total identification with the physical right yeah I think that the you know the Oracle of Delphi you know know thyself and Socrates said the same thing I think if people went inside themselves more they would come be more likely to come to that realization is the realization intentionally that they are not you know their physical bodies that there are more there's more to life than than just their their life oh it's they're here to learn something and to do the right thing when it I guess when it when it seems hopeless and that's what I'm doing and I guess that's what you're doing too because I don't see a lot of hope out there I don't see a lot of waking up but I'll be damned if I continue to do what I do every day trying to help people along the process you know but in the end realizing that the only person I could save is myself that's that's quite true I think we can be of influence to others but ultimately we have to do our own work upon ourselves in doing that we can become an example and that example can inspire others you know it can kind of uh that our energy can kind of radiate out into the field and help others but ultimately the work is our own at the end of the day so I agree with that as well tomorrow you guys push it all you doing I love listening on Tuesday night keep up the good work thanks so much Chris I kick have a good one I'll bye I'll tell you what the callers that I get into this show just uh very conscious and aware of people and I feel blessed to have callers of this caliber calling in I don't think that we've ever had any bad calls into this show like people calling with very thoughtful and insightful things to say and I'm really always excited about that hope that continues into the future so callers thanks so much I don't see anyone else calling so let's see let me uh let me go back up I would like to clarify one thing about what I was just saying about you know different forms of brain imbalance and we talked about that on this program before but what I was just saying about meditation please don't take that to mean that I think that meditation is a bad thing I think too much of it or obsessively medicating can put someone into a right brain form of imbalance I think so can using psychedelics of different kinds both of these tools can be incredibly therapeutic and help us to go inward and work with different aspects of our psyche but you have to know yourself enough to know when that becomes a crutch or even a you know an imbalance in so that that can be a fine line that one doesn't really see very clearly when one is in the throes of those things it reminds me of dick-suck than telling a story and that dick something I think is an excellent teacher SUT Phe and dick Sutton and I have a lot of videos and some audio by him and I think that his work is very good and should be looked into he told a story in one of his workshops where a friend of his was obsessively meditating day after day after day after learning the technique of TM Transcendental Meditation and uh you know at some point it how to get over different kinds of anger and rage but then he became so obsessive with it doing it four hours a day that he couldn't really focus or concentrate and he was you know kind of uh not really performing in his work as well and didn't feel clear so he went to you didn't feel like he was able to consciously focus on something for a long period of time so when he went to he went to a doctor who I guess did a scan of his brain and the doctor said that the scans of his brain showed similar patterns to when someone is very very high on uh marijuana and it this was he taking nothing has taken no prescription or any other kind of drugs so what was producing that effect was the obsessive meditation and it produced a very right-brain form of imbalance in this person's neocortex so I think there's a balance to be walked in all things as far as you know what we're going to put into our body in mind and meditation is one of those things I think it can be a powerful tool however if it is a done imbalance in in a balanced way so I just want to clarify that before anybody thinks that I'm down on the practice of meditation as a whole I am NOT I think it is very use a very useful tool but I think it's the same as something like psychedelics it can be a very powerful tool and teacher but if it is over done or if it is done for of frivolous reasons or escapist reasons then it can become a problem and it can prevent someone from seeing truth so that having been said let me just go back to the idea that self-preservation is not the highest law this is probably the one overarching principle that I feel I have learned in my overall journey that being said I'm not saying that we should not strive to survive and that when we are threatened that we should not face a threat that threatens our survival and I think there's no greater threat to survival than the globalist agenda these people want to poison us they want to wipe out a large portion of the human population and their indiscriminate about it they don't care who's doing good or bad it's just it people are people to them and they look at the whole world as one neck for one noose so if they're going to wipe out a whole bunch of good moral people with people that they consider vile or animalistic or predatory or what they call useless dears first of all I don't think anybody has a right to make that decision about someone else's life but you know they look at it as their threats to them because they own this planet they think this planet and their resources belongs to them and people belong to them and they can do with it what they will and they can do with people what they will I think they're delusional um but you know as I was saying before the state of most people is that they don't have any of the developments in consciousness they don't have intelligence care or will and nature will respect at those who at least have some or even all of these qualities even in an imbalanced twisted way that's a hard thing for people to understand nature will respect and grant power in some form to those who are unified with vet with their thoughts emotions and actions even if it's not for good this is why they're basically kicking our rear ends folks they are unified as they think so they feel so they act and I'm talking about the dark occultists the globalist the Sorcerer's the mind manipulators whatever you want to call them the Illuminati it doesn't make a difference what you call there the Psychopaths we're running the show here and they have their energy focus they have their consciousness unified as they think so they feel and so they act and the universe will have a modicum of respect for that whereas it will not grant any power to or respect for those who do not have any of those principles unified will say we want something and then do something completely different that is the antithesis of creating that dynamic that we say we want so our actions or behaviors betray our thoughts and emotions and that's the true mark of the beast that's why they say that the beasts mark is carried in the head and in the hand because when what is it aren't thoughts is betrayed by the actions we take with our hands we have accepted the mark of the beast it is a symbolic thing this is this is a symbolic way of looking at duality consciousness we have to bring our consciousness into unity consciousness as we think so we feel so we act I think I say that at least once on every show because it is the most important principle to understand in taking anything away when you're listening to this show bring yourself into unity and that is why I will make the seemingly dark and bizarre statement that in in a way I have respect or the dark occultists that are running the show here and I do not have much respect for people who are completely in oppositional consciousness with themselves with themselves that is the worst place you would want to be particularly those who know and do nothing Wow is that not a place you really want to be people who know and are not taking action man all I have to say is that's the last place I'd want to be but our opponents in this grand chess game if you will their unified they have a dark form of intelligence they have a dark form of care and they're willing to carry out that vision we have to come become unified in the same way for the right reasons and when we do that's what when I say we truly become activated and then I have infinite respect meaning I've looked again and seen something change okay that's what respect means to take another look at so I think I'm going to leave it there for tonight's show I think we cover a lot of ground I'll go into the fourth method of manipulation on the next program so for now arm let's call it a night and I will see everybody here next week Tuesday at 7 o'clock p.m. right here on the revolution Broadcasting Network I'm mark pasio and you have been listening to what on earth is happening good night everyone you and there are no taboo topics on this show the call-in number is seven two four four four four seven four four four once again the call-in number is seven two four triple four seven triple four when you call in you have to put in the call IV number for what on earth is happening the call ID number for this show is eight three five one five once again the call ID number for what on earth is happening eight three five one five when you call hoping on the line I will be alerted on my switchboard here and I will get to your call sometimes it takes a little while so please be patient I will eventually see the call and and get to it so we have been talking about mind control over the last several weeks and we will continue to talk about mind control over the next several more weeks this is because there are many techniques there are many methodologies which mind-control employees which the practitioners of mind control employ to keep someone in their web to keep someone in their grip we already have looked at on previous shows the technique of obfuscation obfuscation meaning to render obscure unclear confusing bewildering unintelligible and looked at all the ways that this technique is employed in the modern world second mind-control technique we looked at a few weeks back was worldview poisoning getting people to see themselves and the world around them in a horrific negative way specifically getting people to see human nature as something that is fundamentally flawed and or evil worldview poisoning also employs the technique of the valuation of the individual sucks that the individual thinks of him or herself as a number as something that can have a digit value placed upon it making someone see themselves in terms of money in terms of possessions etc finally worldview poisoning employed the technique of destroying the imagination which is first and foremost destroying the ability of someone to understand that that change is possible and how to affect that change in their manifested reality so that overall was the technique known as worldview poisoning last week we looked at the third method of mind control which was the exploitation of humanity's subconscious primal ears when listed the four main ancient subconscious primal fears of our species and they were the fear of Darkness the fear of predators the fear of abandonment and the fear of chaos we examined those in depth last week on this show I think it was one of the better shows that I've done thus far because I think the examination of these subconsciously held fears go a long long long way toward explaining how people are controlled at a subconscious level if you understand these fears if you yourself deal with these fears which we all have they are nested into our very genetic structure we have them at some level or another if you bring them to the conscious level explore them and work with them instead of ignoring them you will be much less likely to be susceptible to the techniques of mind control so that was the exploitation of primal fears that was technique number three today we are going to look at we are going to examine we are going to explore in detail mind control technique number 4 out of 14 which we will be covering in total in the show 15 if you count trauma-based mind control techniques which we discussed a couple of weeks back on show number 17 when I interviewed a special guest neo who related his absolutely horrifying experiences in an occult family in which he was put under a technique known as trauma-based mind control we'll hear a lot more about that technique at the free or mind conference so today we're going to look at how we are conquered externally because we are divided among ourselves this is the divide and conquer strategy that rulers have employed to their benefit for millennia if you keep a people if you keep a group of people focused on the external perceived differences differences that they perceive among themselves they are all the more easier to rule people it is essential for rulers to keep people thinking of themselves as separate and different never seeing their unity never seeing their inherent non duality but certainly most of all never seeing their collective shared situation with any level of clarity when a people cannot see that they are in the same basic collective situation they will be more prone to act in ways that continues to divide them continues to weaken them and continues to allow their weaknesses to be exploited from without this is the technique that has been perfected over thousands of years by rulers throughout the centuries and they still do it quite well today and they have had much time to perfect this technique and they're still employing it with great success and until we see essentially that we are all in the same prison cell together as dark of a way of looking at things as that may be let's be honest that's the case until we see that we are all essentially in the same cage together we're never going to put down the perception of difference among us because essentially there is no difference between human beings we all have the same basic desires we all have the same basic needs we all have the same basic fears and we are all essentially oppressed in the same ways by this small parasitic class of people who like to think of themselves as our owners and I'd like to say that they're not our owners collectively but unfortunately they out they are most of our owners they're not all of our owners but they are most of our owners most people in the world have not come to the understanding of self-ownership let alone practicing it in their lives they haven't even come to an understanding of self ownership self ownership would look like a bizarre extremist crazy idea to most people in the world because they are under such mind-control because there is such a depth of convinced that they have been embedded into over the course of their lives through the opinions that they have heard from other people not truths but opinions often repeated opinions spoken with no experience or knowledge to back up set opinion the rhetoric through the educational quote unquote educational system which is the indoctrination system which we'll be talking about next week through the food that they have eaten quote-unquote food we'll be talking about that in a few weeks the things we put into our body how poisons a large percentage of it is and that plays such a role on people's ability to think critically to analyze their situation to understand and true nature of the reality that they are living in so what are some of these ways in which we perceive differences let's look at a few of them we see ourselves as different first and foremost that the the largest division among people and I would say the one that clearly displays itself in what takes place in our world is the seeming division or separateness or difference of the sexes male versus female and we see this played out as an extreme imbalance we live in a male-dominated world and this is an imbalance that is not part of our true nature is not something that is good for evolutionary development and it is not something that is actually true in the sense that it must be that way it's true that it is the case right now that the world is out of balance toward the male aspect toward yang energy as we talked about previously in older shows we once lived in more egalitarian energy when it came to the male and female the yang energy of the male and the yin energy of the female and it should be our state of striving to get back to a place of balance between these two seemingly polarized energies we talked about this when we talked about polarity the seeming opposites that we perceive in this dualistic realm in which we operate male/female light-dark good evil hot cold etc but these are just you oscillations of the same energy there is no real high-level spiritual difference between male/female everyone carries both of these energies within them whether they are a man or a woman we have both the masculine yang energy within our being that expresses as our actions and we also carry with us the Sacred Feminine element of our emotional makeup our emotional qualities we need to bring these two into a state of balance or harmony again so that we become a being that as we feel so we act and our actions do not betray our feelings our emotions or our conscience at which we know to be right this is the chemical wedding the true chemical wedding it is bringing together the emotions and actions in the harmony it is also bringing together the left and right hemispheres of the brain imbalance in the neocortex of the brain and we talked about this extensively when we discussed the components of the human brain in older shows all of these shows all of these topics can be heard can be gone back and be downloaded for free they're all on my website at what on earth is happening calm in the podcast section just click on the tab that says podcasts you can read the topics of the shows there are related images for each show you can play them embedded right there in the web browser and you can also download them for free to put on your mobile digital music players so the dichotomy between male and female is one of the number one ways that people see themselves as separate and this must be continuously reinforced a man is supposed to act like this a woman is supposed to act like this the installation of cultural memes and cultural identities into the subconscious mind from the time were born men dressed this way women dressed this way men play boys play with these toys girls play with these toys men want to do these things when they grow up women want to do these things when they grow up and the Dominator is the elite class the sorcerers if you will the Darko cultists who are really running the show here because they know a million times more about our consciousness than 99.9 percent of the human species ever will probably unless they wake up slumber out of their self-imposed slumber they don't even need these occultists these these dominators they don't even need to reinforce this themselves we do it for them our parents our teachers our friends our family members are essentially our own police when it comes to these ideas we perpetuate them it's a self-perpetuating cycle that needs to be broken and it can only be broken once that dichotomy is seen for what it is nonsense so what's another one let's look at another one well what about age now we all are born and we grow up we have a childhood we have an infancy and then a childhood and then teen years then we become young adults and then finally adults and then middle-aged and then elderly and people see themselves different across this line as well this stratifies people into more groups this one is also bound by the idea of time which is a very esoteric concept which we'll talk about as one of the techniques of mind control a much more abstract one and slightly more difficult to grasp we'll get into the illusion of time in a later show this is another way in which we are divided through age another way is through class how much money do you make what kind of job do you do what can you afford this is a a really bitter one because people take this one perhaps more seriously than any other they bought into this one the most and again this is because as we've talked about on this show before the number one technique of mind control the number one religion of this planet the form of mind control that more people are under than any other technique is the belief in money that money is something that is actually real and so this religion which make no mistake about it is the world's number one religion and if you really want to get technical about it I would say it's the only religion it's the only actual religion that is truly deeply practiced and respected on this world everyone belongs to this church just about in some form or another we'll get into that even more in previous show in future shows we'll be talking about the monetary system I think in about three weeks or so and when we get into symbolism we'll go in depth on this concept of how this is sold to us as spirituality money is it is sold to us as the very idea of God and again that is because it is the only religion and this plays deeply into how people see themselves as separate to class warfare people look down upon the poor people who have money how people who hate the rich people who don't have money and it's all an illusion every bit every iota of an illusion none of it real all fake and yet people kill and die over this stuff that's fake it's someone made up that a cultists made up thousands of years ago and you bought into it that it was real and they're busting a gut laughing in your face busting a gut laughing in your face I don't know how else to say it folks if you really understood if you really could see and experience the opinion that the people who truly own your consciousness meaning they are currently controlling most of your thoughts emotions and actions if you could actually know what they think if you actually had even a sense of that it would completely change the way you look at reality in a heartbeat if you could know it as I do see I don't I don't I'm not saying that I think I understand what they think of us because I worked with some of these people directly I do know from factual first-hand experience experiential knowledge that no one is ever going to tell me isn't real that I didn't experience because I know that I did and that puts a whole different perspective on things I tell people it's like try going up to a soldier and telling him he wasn't in the war that he was in gone to a Gulf War vet tell me you were never in Iraq see what happens find out well you didn't see you didn't see anybody's brain splattered all over a wall you know you didn't see you know one of your friends died right there at your feet you're making it all up you don't know what you're talking about you are never there don't challenge some military people and say that to them see what happens oh it's the same situation some people have the benefit of actually having been there and that's the perspective I'm explaining to you what the elites think and it's a big belly laugh for them folks the big belly laugh so that's another divide and conquer strategy class one that most people think of immediately is race racial differences how many people are killed over this yearly all nonsense all an illusion no difference is really between races it's all the same desires it's all the same needs they're all under the same controls of them make a difference whether you're African American Italian American Irish American Polish American you're from Italy if you're from Greece if you're from Spain if you're from Russia if you're from Africa if you're from India if you're from China it's all the same prison folks you're in one jail cell if you haven't gotten that yet and yet 90% of the people around you haven't you may have but you know what about the people walking down down the street right in your neighborhood how about your next-door neighbor how about your own family members can they see this 90 percent can't or greater and it's because of these techniques constantly get people to see themselves as separate there's only one true level of separation and this is one that is true and that's how conscious are you how aware are you that's real that's real really that's if you want to really get technical about it you can look at that as illusion as well because it's just a matter of how many blinders do you have on how many layers of conditioning are there over you're truly awaken self because everybody is truly awakened at the being level at the level of consciousness itself how many blankets are thrown on top of that level however how many sheets have people willingly self imposed on top of themselves you know how many walls have they built up around themselves to blind that light of consciousness to darken that flame to extinguish it practically all because of fear all because of wanting to be taken care of all because of wanting to absolve oneself of personal responsibility and for no other reasons that's it fearing that which is and not wanting the responsibility which comes along with that which is those are the real barriers toward people's enlightenment of these topics and concepts and the real breakdown of their self-imposed differences they're continuously reinforced by their owners continuously reinforced by their owners people buy into it people buy into it I mean I would venture to probably guess that there are a lot of racist people out there in the freedom movement itself all an illusion all the propagation of a difference it is all imposed among ourselves just so we keep fighting amongst each other that's what the dominators want fight amongst each other weaken each other that makes it all the easier for me to come in and take what I want and get away unchallenged I'm going to give some examples of this on this show after I go through a couple of the other ways we are divided ways we allow ourself to be divided how about nationality America's the greatest country on Earth viva la raza I'm Italian I have an ancestry that's in in Europe in Italy well I'm Russian my ancestry is in Russia yeah and we hold this nationalistic pride about which prison cell which which small cell in the large prison who came from wonderful very proud of you are you free no but I'm Irish exactly it's where it's almost ridiculous it's almost laughable I mean you have to laugh at it actually I know your owners are laughing out I'm sure of that people will get on me because they'll say oh you're not angry enough that the people really perpetuating this which is the elite well wrong answer because they're not the ones really doing it and if you still think that they are you haven't woken up yet you haven't realized what's really going on yet and that's why I don't really talk to down on those people I don't agree with their methodologies which is why I expose them but hey did they really sell that to you or did you buy it willingly were you looking for it as an excuse not to really work on yourself not to really take personal responsibility I'm not in the camp of blaming the people who are actually in control and it's easy for them to exploit that control I'm in the camp of putting the responsibility on the people that it really belongs on us and get is offended about that as you want get is offended about it as you want raise a big up uproar about it pound your fist on the desk down your fist against the wall beat your head against the wall ain't going to change nothing we're the ones who are doing this to ourselves and no one else and that's great news people should be happier about that because that means it is entirely within our power once we decide so to reverse that scenario we made it were the ones that can unmake it but not if we continue to walk around in a stupor which most people are in so until this is talked about constantly with everybody here around and it's it that's it's hard work to do this you will alienate some people but more and more people are listening it's a slow process and that's all you can do but how many people are in fact really doing that without an agenda of some kind without real total self-interest about it simply because it's true you've recognized it as such and you want to propagate truth into the world to change this place for the better how many have an accurate grasp of these techniques truly and a grasp of the really big picture and the really long view of history not many and most people have found their way into other cul-de-sacs the New Age movement different religions limited government I'll call the sax that's why these words won't be very popular except to the very very few because I'm not one of the 10 pitchers or the the people who makes excuses for all the wrong immoral actions that other people take I'm not I'm not one of the people that says well look at all the negative horrible immoral things that police are doing yet I still support the police as an institution I don't support the police as an institution I think humanity can do away with this institution I think the whole prob 1-lakh big problems is we appointed an institution to take care of people that really do things they don't have a right to do in society and we've said that's your responsibility it's not ours and then you're going to wonder why an institution gets out of control completely out of control starts thinking that they're god you're the one who absolved your power to them you mean the people of the earth I haven't cuz I don't believe in that institution I reserve all of my power as an individual period I'm sovereign you're not you're not here to handle my problems for me I'm here to handle my problems period you don't protect me I don't again I don't acknowledge that anyone is my protector because I'm not in any fear of any but anything that anybody can do to me I don't care how crazy events of the world yet I don't want anybody's protection I'm not afraid of what can happen in the world that's it as long as you are he'll be enslaved as long as you're afraid of what can happen in this world you will be enslaved the end and it's a piece of cake it's a piece of cake when you don't know yourself when you don't know what your subconscious desires and fears are when you don't know how those can be exploited when you don't understand how a Dominator can step in create chaos and then and then basically take control of the situation after the chaos is created and people are running for a savior to their problems then good luck because if you don't get that you don't understand how you're being played which brings us to the next way that we're divided which is politics an example of the Hegelian dialectic which will go into great detail on won't talk about 9/11 and chaos sorcery and controlled opposition which will be coming up in a couple weeks politics as if there's a difference between political parties and people still still think there is they still go out and vote they still think that the institution of voting is going to solve any problems that it's you know some privileged thing as opposed to begging somebody for something I just posted a phenomenal video about this on my Facebook page from Stefan Molyneux there was a fabulous philosopher that discusses a lot of these techniques and and discusses mind control going to make an offer to them to come and speak it before your mind conference I don't know if he will accept but we'll see and just a phenomenal video about the illusion of voting and how people propagated themselves oh yeah we'll vote our way out of slavery it's just a matter of picking the right master all it is just a matter of picking the right master a it's your privilege your privilege to be allowed to pick your master don't you know please hey I know my words are harsh but what we need to grow up people we need to grow up so politics that's another way we're divided as how man is that division everywhere strong see people warring over conservative versus liberal Republican versus Democrat everyday and they still think there's a difference they still actually believe it I can hear the ripples of laughter and the real true corridors of power I heard them with my own ears my friends I heard them with my own ears in real life not on a movie screen watching a documentary reading it in books or imagining it and and I still can't bring myself to say that those people are they're wrong yes morally but you know I can't really attack them at any kind of a deep level because I feel that they are unified they're unified among themselves we talked about this last week the universe will respect dark care over no care it will respect a psychopath who is at least unified with his own position well he has thoughts about how things are in his relation ship with them he has basically no feelings and empathy so that's not a problem and he unifies his will to carry out the actions that he thinks he should be taking therefore he's not divided and the universe will essentially grant people like that their wishes because they are non-dual I don't know how much clearer to say that you don't need to accept that you could think that that's not the case all you want and it will never make that untrue because the universe does not really care about what you're really trying to create as long as your non-dual about the way you go about it and there are people who will fight with you over this concept because they don't understand how it works people who themselves are saying well I think it should be this way and yet you can see in a short amount of time how their actions actually betray that it's all apologies it's all apologetic behaviors we want to make excuses people that's what we really want to do we want to excuse ourselves for the way that we separate it from each other and we want to excuse ourselves for the way that we are divided within our own selves and there's no excuses there's no excuses there's no escape I've said there's a million times you're not getting out of here unscathed by taking shortcuts nor are you going to get out of here unscathed by making apologies for stuff you should be making apologies for look at what actually is taking place with no apologies but yet you hear it all the time and so it's not people's fault they were manipulated into it yeah there are techniques of manipulation but once again you have to buy them you have to buy into them through your own spiritual weakness and hey I'm not gonna you know say I didn't fall for these things but you know what with the availability of information and the amount of people that are discussing this now there's no excuses anymore I mean come on you really think there's still excuses for the ignorance the level of ignorance that is out there how much information would it take is what I often ask you'll think there's enough information in the world nations and ignorance a child who just learned the walk is nation about the dangers of crossing the street they're not ignorant about it they have not yet been taught they are not at a cognizant level to be able to understand even what a car is let alone how it can hurt them that's nations ignorance is the information being aware and you being able to perceive it and yet you still look the other way because you don't want it to be so you don't want that thing to be the way it is you're uncomfortable with it being so cognitive dissonance I'm uncomfortable with that being so so I'll ignore it and I'll pretend that it never was that and it'll go away a friend of mine has a daughter who he said when he tried to tell her about 9/11 being an inside job and being an example of the Hegelian dialectic of chaos sorcery as I refer to it as as creating a chaotic situation and then capitalizing on that situation for your own aims that you wanted to impose anyway but you wouldn't have gotten popular support for without that chaotic situation happening that people now cry out for you to protect them from ever happening again well he said that his daughter said to him even if I knew that were true even if let's say officials that did it within the government in intelligence agencies and you know special forces came forward and said yes we did this we are openly admitting it we did it here's how here's all the evidence she said I would do choose to believe that I live in a world other than that I would still in my mind make myself believe that it didn't happen that way to to to get myself to accept that I don't live in that world I imagine that this this is room we're trying to wake up folks imagine that the level of psychological did not that's disease that is deep psychological disease to make a statement like that the level of fear you have to be in to make a statement like that is so monumental I can scarcely conceive of it and we're going to look at things like this on the show continuously because only when we look at the dark are we going to really come to the light we have to understand the nature of the problem that's how you get to the causal factors by looking at what is and making the proper diagnosis diagnosis through knowledge all the people who think that it doesn't take knowledge and it doesn't take understanding to come to freedom to think that we're going to feel our way out of freedom alone it's just about propagating a feeling will meditate our way out of it you know we'll love each other out of it this whole concept of that they don't understand what real love is which we talked about on this show real love is an expanded state of awareness you have the knowledge because you care about propagating that important knowledge the real deep level knowledge of self and of these techniques and then it's using that knowledge and using that emotional state to actually take the right actions in the world like the philosopher Vernon Howard said humans sickness is so severe that few can even bear to look at it but those who do look at it will become well and you know what that's the only way they'll become well we have to make a proper diagnosis we have to look at how we're separated we have to look at how this illusion of separation is continuously propagated how we are manipulated through it the media propagates this endlessly they're the biggest propagators of this nonsense of separation but so are families so our teachers are so-called educators who think that they're teaching people real information that is important and it's all excuses it's all because they don't want to think that they're in the hierarchy that is actually damaging people they don't want to think their actions are bound within that paradigm within that way of doing things in the world in that hierarchical and compartmentalized system that we talked about weeks ago they just want to absolve themselves of that responsibility teachers so-called teachers let's wrap that in quotes I'm talking about no public school educators I was talking to my friend he was saying his girlfriend is a teacher or friends who's a teacher I'm sorry you know is reluctant to hearing this doesn't want to accept or believe that there's such a thing as indoctrination again people don't want to see how they're involved how they're doing it to others now they're doing it to themselves it's all denial it's psychological denial and my words will be hard for people to hear because I'm not an apologist for humanity sorry folks not going to get that on this show if you want apologies for Humanity though tune into another new-age program on some new-age program or something tune into another radio show because you're not going to get that here you're going to get harsh truth here now listen is some New Ager that wants to tell you that the world is all sunshine and roses and then no one can ever be blamed for anything nonsense BS let's look at it as it really is let's trip back all the layers of the onion and place the responsibility firmly where it belongs with ourselves how about religion folks whoo now we're talking colossal separation does it get any bigger than that one do people get anymore raged have more deaths resulted from the divide and conquer strategy of religion than any other it's so much so much so that we will have our will have several weeks on religion alone probably and we will have at least a few weeks dedicated on this show just to the nonsense that is religion okay and we'll get into how religion is Astro theology we will get into the symbology associated with religion and the stories that the the exoteric cover stories that veil the esoteric mystery traditions that underlie religions we'll look at what religion really wants to hold us back from because the name of religion itself is to hold back it comes from the Latin relig re which means to hold back to tie back to tie out of the way in a nice neat little package so when we're talking about divide and conquer religion is right there at the top of the list like I said I don't think there's ever been any more deaths attributed to anything in the world than controlling Pete the control of people's minds through religion and again it's all nonsense it's all something that's been made up and it's been made up by the elites it's been made up by the occultists their own this place and they own it for one reason they own this world because they own your mind that's it that's it it can be boiled down right to that the occultist the darker cultists who own this world own this world because they own your mind there's very very few people who are fully out of that mind control very people you know who really in the modern age as much as you can call the last 2,000 years the modern age really propagated this technique who is the father of this technique of divide and conquer it was the Roman senator Gaius Julius Caesar the Roman Emperor dies Julius Caesar Caesar waged a war campaign around the first century BC I believe it was around 50 BC or so in what we now call France it was then called Gaul and he played off all of the tribes of Gaul against each other he would send his intelligence agents into the field find out what all the differences between the tribes were where all their tribal differences had thought them in the tribal warfare over the centuries and then he exploited every one of those weaknesses he would go in and propagate the warfare between a couple of the tribes he would take one of their sides and then he would wipe the other tribe that and then he go move on to the next divide and conquer all because they couldn't get along with each other and they could never really truly recognize that they were being conquered from without because they had no unity within now united we stand divided we fall as a true concept it really does work that way but we have to be united over that which is true truth should be the number one unifying force in the world that we should be fighting for not nationalistic pride not some limited government program that is just as enslaving as any other not some religion which is utterly nonsense based on Astro theology but for truth for truth herself a Sacred Feminine element that is almost dead in this world and we make excuses for killing every day I'm going to take a break here I'm going to get into a little bit about the garlic wars that seed your Caesar waged in a moment and then we'll go more into the divide and conquer strategy it's the top of the second hour I just want to give the calling number once again I always enjoy when callers call in so if anyone out there is waiting to call in the calling number is seven two four four four four seven four four four seven two four four four four seven triple four we're talking about the divide and conquer strategy of the rulers the elite the globalists the Sorcerer's the dark occultists whatever you want to call them the mind manipulators there's a nice one it's about as true as it gets how they prey upon our perceived differences which are just that perceptions and their erroneous ones at that anybody want to call in and a comment on this talk about it fire any questions out seven to four triple four seven triple for the call in ID number the ID number is eight three five one five kool ID number once you call in you got to punch this in PO ID number for one on earth is happening is eight three five one five my website is what on earth is happening calm the brought the Broadcasting Network is revolution broadcasting their website is revolution broadcasting calm the show is live every Tuesday evening from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. Eastern Time we're going to continue in this second hour talking about divide and conquer strategies so in the modern age Julius Caesar was the number one practitioner of this technique he was the father of this technique you could say okay so I'm going to read a short clip about the campaign that he waged in Gaul short text uh factual reading on this is about his campaign that he waged against the tribes in Gaul what we now call France around the first century BC the Golic Wars were a series of military campaigns waged by the Roman proconsul Julius Caesar against several Gallic tribes lasting from 58 BC to 51 BC the Romans would also raid Britannia and Germania but these expeditions never developed into a full-scale invasion the Gallic wars culminated in the decisive battle of Alesia in 52 BC in which a complete Roman victory resulted in the expansion of the Roman Republic over the whole of Gaul essentially an entire subcontinent was conquered but these wars paved the way for season to become the sole ruler of the Roman Republic although Caesar portrayed this invasion as being a defensive preemptive action most historians agree that the wars were fought primarily to boost Caesars political career and to pay off his massive debts oh wow where have I heard this story before I don't know it sounds familiar you know but I just can't put my finger on it maybe someone could call in and enlighten me still goal was of significant military importance to the Romans as they had been attacked several times by native tribes both indigenous to baal and further to the north conquering gaul allowed rome to secure the natural border of the Rhine River this military campaign is described by Julius Caesar himself in his book commentary II de bello gallico which is the most important historical source of the conflict this book is also a masterwork of political propaganda as Caesar was keenly interested in manipulating his readers in Rome to support him I myself now I'm taking a break from reading for a moment I myself when I was in high school I took Latin and ap Latin and um we translated some of this book about Caesar's military campaigns in Gaul and it was some of the most enlightening educational material that I encountered while in school I remember it to this day because what I specifically remember about it is the manipulation tactic that Caesar used to conquer Gaul this divide and conquer strategy it was brilliant it is still taught today to generals in the military in war colleges continuing with the reading with this little excerpt despite the popular image the peoples of Golden Caesar sought to subdue were far from disorganized barbarians they weren't just disorganized barbarians they just weren't united among themselves they were too busy warring amongst each other over nonsense over things that didn't really make any sense while they were being destroyed from without by an external threat and it's all one thing is a reflection of the other as we are within some will happen to us without the universe is a great big mirror the macrocosm reflects the microcosm and vice-versa that which is above is like to that which is below and that which is below is like to that which is above hermetic principle number two the principle of Correspondence and it's unquestioningly true but most of us just refuse to see so despite the popular image the peoples of golf whom Caesar sought to subdue were far from disorganized barbarians they had coins and kings towns and trade and sophisticated craftsmanship in bronze and gold they put up a fierce struggle and on more than one occasion came close to a victim inflicting serious defeat on their own allegiance the Roman success in the Gallic Wars was due to a combination of clever politics effective campaigning and greater military capability than their dog opponents Caesar pursued a policy of divide and conquer to pick off his enemies siding with individual tribes in disputes with their local rivals he systematically gathered intelligence on the Gallic tribes to identify their characteristics weaknesses and divisions and divisions there by being able to dispose of them in turn do we really need to go any further 2,000 years ago have we learned a thing a thing the same technique still work because people are generally at the same level of consciousness this is the only thing that truly does define our condition conscious are you how aware of what is going on truly going on are you and I would suggest realistically and sadly it's a paltry fear and get as upset without it as you like that's the reality of the situation there's a whole lot of people out there folks that consider themselves awake that aren't the slightest bit they've cracked an eyelid and think they're fully awake alert and ready to go and they're still in bed the covers are still pulled up almost up over their nose they have an eyelid cracked and they're peeking out and they think they see clearly I mean to tell you the truth it's it's tiresome it really is because so few people really do understand I can give you a short list off the top of my head people I think really deeply deeply understand I mentioned stuff on Molineux I think he gets it I think Michael - sorry on gets it I think Jordan Maxwell understands I think someone like um David Icke gets it I think mark and Rose totally understands I mean you can count them on a few hands you there are so few that are truly truly awoken that understand this from a spiritual perspective from the perspective of true sovereignty I am a sovereign being existing in the cosmos the fact that my existence itself grants me my my sovereignty I need it granted by no one else no one can ever take it away there are no authorities in this realm the end you don't own me the end that's it that's that's the only fact anybody needs no I don't own you you don't own me I own me you own you the end there's a whole book you want to write it down on a piece of paper and put a cover on it go right ahead that's all you need to know there's no authority here authority is made on it's mind control it's all illusion there's no such thing as external control over other people if you think there is you're under mind control deeply as a matter of fact people no place I am born puts me under anybody's jurisdiction there's no such thing as jurisdiction there's only people who have made a claim to it and believe it and then propagate it through their ignorance that's it doesn't exist authority doesn't exist in this world no one's an authority you haven't authored anything you want to be an author go write a book man's law does not exist doesn't exist folks you think it exists you're under mind control it doesn't exist you don't bind me based on anything unless I harm someone that's it I'm living my freedom and I'm not harming anybody you don't own me you're not going to make laws Tony where I can go what I can do how I can talk where I can talk et cetera etc etc etc this is all fear all little boys and little girls who've never grown up emotionally who have never grown up psychologically who have certainly never grown up spiritually in fear that's all this is and I'm calling it for what it is fear they're not they don't really own themselves and they think they're going to write laws that bind others you don't even own your yourself little boy you don't even own yourself little girl you think you own people who do own themselves and know that they own themselves good luck good luck with that all right so that that's my gettin riled up for this show I went off a little bit last week too but it truly pains me to actually see people that think they own other people that they're that diseased they're that disease because they have no there's only one reason they're fearful little children they've never grown up their mommies and daddies that pay enough attention to them when they were born they have deep-seated psychological issues they have abandonment issues they have self-esteem issues you know they have sexual issues in many cases zone repressed sexuality it's repressed sexual nature based on their religious beliefs and it's people who just want to hurt other people they just want to be the morally sanctioned initiators of violence in the world that's all any government is there the more we sanctioned initiators of violence and I challenge anybody to prove otherwise because you can't do it because that's the truth that's that's what it is that's what government is that's what it is it's the morally sanctioned initiation of violence and that's another thing people have to understand that are so brainwashed by the New Age movement which is another religion just another way of dividing people that's all another religion the New Age movement there's never any time ever ever ever to use physical force never this is what the New Age movement actually thinks or 99% of the people in it and what they have failed to realize is the distinction between the initiation of undue force and the use of force in its proper context one you have every right to undertake and one you have no right to undertake no one ever has or can acquire the right to initiate undo force but when confronted with undue force every being in the cosmos does inherently possess them right to use do force to quell that undue initiation of force and that's what they don't want you to understand they don't want you to know that so the new ages is set up is another tiny little cul-de-sac package oh come on off into this room cattle so you never understand natural law we don't want you going there we don't want you in understanding that so come on here and let's let's meditate for hours on end please please okay say that the attitude is condescending and it is it's true that's what's going on it's just another method of manipulation we'll talk about this in two weeks when we get into device are going to get into controlled opposition which I'm going to dedicate at least an hour talking about the New Age movement and how it's 99% bunk with a little bit of truth thrown in there to take the masses into the cattle car it's just another religion folks it's just another religion it's a religion to get people out of taking right action in the physical domain because it's a religion that they want just like other religions to get you think that the physical domain does not matter that's what it's there for people have called it the last cul-de-sac before the goldmine the last darkroom that they can that they can hurt all the cattle into and slam the door tight behind them before before they get to the light to the true light so this is yet another thing that people are divided on religion the New Age being one of the biggest modern-day religions in the world all to get people to see I'm sorry to get them not to see to keep them from seeing that they are essentially chattel property that they are slaves by others who think that they actually own people okay so I have a text comment here um all right someone is saying morally sanctioned are you sure and I would say yes people have given their moral sanction to government to do what they do the vast majority at least not all certainly not all there are very few who do understand what government truly is but most have given their moral sanction taxation is one of them how many people actually believe constitutionalists believe this constitutionalists believe that the government has the right to tax they have the right to impose something called taxation which is theft that's all whatever has been that's all it ever will be it doesn't matter why you're using it doesn't matter what the money is going for it's taking money by force there's not nothing voluntary about it even though they say it's voluntary compliance it's well it's involuntary its coercive it's done at the point of a gun it's done at the point at the threat of I will take your freedom away if you fail to take this action that I'm telling you you must take which has given me a certain percentage that I define of what you earn what you make do your own the sweat of your own brow and ask people go out into the world to go out onto the street and ask people does the government have the right to impose any taxes at all does a group of people have a right to say to any other group of people no matter what the numbers are doesn't matter what the numbers are does any group of people have the right to go and say to any other group of individuals I am taking this much of what you have produced you have warped the earth you have done done this in the physical domain this is what you have manifested and I'm taking this percentage of it without your consent because I'm going to help you with it but nonetheless you have no right not you have no right to refuse I'm taking it or I'm going to hurt I'm gonna hurt you physically or I'm going to penalize you in some other way by taking something else that I can steal from you or I'm going to actually put you in a limitation of your own physical freedom of movement but we don't even think about this that way because people are so brainwashed I was watching a documentary the other day with my friend Walt and he was saying I don't think that I could explain that this concept which was essentially about taxation about people don't have the moral right to do what they're doing as far as taking anything I really love lark and roses take on this you type into YouTube the right to rob you buy mark and rose but a brilliant assessment wonderful very clear very easy to understand English and he's dead on he spot-on about this okay and I think stefan molyneux is dead on spot-on about what taxation is as are many other intelligent individuals who aren't mind controlled by the word constitution that think that that is the actual moral law itself being spoken to us to man from God by which it's net is nothing whatsoever to do it as a matter of fact if you even look at the consciousness level of the Constitution you can easily determine that it is a much lower level of consciousness than the Declaration of Independence which was written years before it we would have done well better to stop the Declaration of Independence where we would have had something closer to a true Republic a government of the people meaning people governing themselves until we stepped into the domain of Constitution which is essentially law writing yes it's to restrain the government but it also granted the government powers which it never had the right to grant that sovereign beings don't have the right to grant powers that they themselves don't have you don't have the right to rob someone's wealth at the point of a gun you can't grant that power to anyone else I mean this is simple logic even for laying down the moral issue aside momentarily this is simple logic if you don't have something to begin with you can't give it to someone else I don't have a chocolate cake in my refrigerator I can't go give somebody a chocolate cake from my refrigerator very that's very simple logic to follow well if I don't have the moral right to impose taxation on another living being as its sovereign being myself I can't grant that right to any institution it's so clear again it's laughable and the people who could come up with this good truly the real people behind the scenes will come up with this stuff I'm talking about the occultists behind the scenes are laughing hysterically they I'm telling this is a I'm not even asking you to believe this I'm telling you they are I know how they laugh at people I've been in rooms with the people who are actually doing this these sets of manipulation techniques to the general public or at least they're propagating them for the general public the general public again is doing it to themselves by buying their nonsense but they laugh hilariously at this in a way they have a very good sense of humor albeit it's very twisted but they laugh it's not all seriousness all the time they have a dark sense of humor about how hysterically misguided the general population is and it is an endless source of mockery ridicule and derision for them and they laugh hysterically about it because they have a hard time believing themselves the people will buy their crap they actually I mean it has been said to me you would not believe what people will buy that we will sell and they'll buy it every time that specifically things that were mentioned to me were like books that were going to be coming out new age books new age publishing houses and I was involved in the occult in the early 90s okay and the new age books are up through the late 90s actually but the new age books that came out we're told to make that we're going to be coming out about different techniques about different concepts there were going to be total perversions of occult topics that they were going to take a little bit of truth and then just cover it with this big huge lie so that that people would accept all the nonsense and go around in circles but they would take that little little tiny bit of truth that they'd never really expand upon but that would be the little bit of good taste in the poison pill that they need to perceive is there in order to accept it and they said watch how much the the voluminous amounts of material that we're going to pump into this New Age movement and how much of it is going to be nonsense that people will buy and they said they'll swallow it all because they know they're hungry they know that people are hungry for something at a subconscious level so it's easy to feed the nonsense they haven't made it conscious yet what's really going on they haven't understood these techniques at a conscious level that's why they're so easy to prey upon you know somebody that doesn't understand themselves how easy is it to manipulate them that is divided within themselves this is the ultimate divine conquer strategy they need to divide you forget about dividing you from among other people and other groups like cops like soldiers like politicians like judges it's us versus that must versus them forget even at that level of a group dynamic level they need to first divide you amongst yourself your own self has to become divided for them to manipulate through these strategies you have to be a being doesn't doesn't understand who you are and they essentially got you when that's the case I'm going to go to a caller here all right here we go here we go caller from Southeast Pennsylvania you're on what on earth is happening hey Mark it's Chris again how you doing my friends how are you good mark listen I'd like to recommend people read a book called the iron web by rock and rose fantastic great yes I read that book and it makes you think we're callous about health tell us a little bit more about it what's the general concept of it you know what does he go into in it well I want to give away but if they see deals with considering Anarchy and what it really is and but more importantly it gets you to think about your natural rights and natural law and what I mean I had to think about it for a while I read it what was really gone because it seems in or out extreme in some sense but the reason it seems that way because what we've been Ted is so off to betray all of the truth and to unlearn that that there's almost instinctual understanding of you know how rare works and where it comes from it takes time because not only are not only do you have that that understanding it wasn't letting you by your parents and and probably by their parents so the brita cycle is extremely difficult I mean when you when you you said this last week when you mention Anarchy to somebody they think if you're crazy or chaos I know my own family as people may say oh there would be chaos oh you know like you said before though after slipping into this I would much rather have the evilness going on in the world going on in the open that's right that's happening now because what's happening now is a hundred times worse than what would be happening if we had natural law and how much more quickly do you think with evil running amuck even if that did happen openly right how much quicker do you think people would understand the necessity of instilling proper more from the time we are young into our youth if that we're going on openly versus what we have now witches take care of us from cradle to grave Big Daddy protect us from the Predators in our midst that we created because we could morally educate them properly when they were young because we didn't want to handle that we wanted a hand we wanted to turn over the power of that education over to the state well I mean I also somebody said when you said you know ko order out of chaos and that is their motto they know that there's a natural progression when you have cast it will move to order now what are the New World Order you know it you know it could be worse than in the original situation but what I want to do is true the victim of ortholog chaos is true it is just a matter of what which order you want to move it toward that's absolutely right and Chris that's a profound understanding that most people even in the Masonic lodges do not have about that victim of order lab KO so you come into that understanding is is profound leave neither one of us are in the official or the the lodge system of masonry although I would suggest I have a deep profound understanding of Freemasonry from working with it and through it however um to reach that understanding most people even in the large system never come close so that's why I won't take much more time but when I when I listen to Neil a couple a couple shows ago and I listened him you know chillingly described his experiences in life I mean and to think that that is going on not just here with our communities or it within the United States all over the world I mean the amount of evil that is and the negative energy that that's got to be generating is far off the chart and if we had natural war and we didn't have the we protected ourselves and look under natural law we we would make we bring order to the situation real fast because if you strike scoffs but you know something someone you just cut their hands off and that's the end of it seems drastic that you wouldn't have too many more thieves but let's go home now behind the ears in the shadows is just off with children it just makes me sick I mean I don't even necessarily think we have to take that extreme action on most people there probably would be a small subset which would be Unruh for mobile now based upon their current deranged mental condition but if we started working on our young upon an understanding what is truly going on we could raise a moral generation in one generation is all it would really take they don't know if they fully have the elitists know if they probably have one generation they have everything they need to set their process in motion toward their order and I want to suggest you know who I would suggest that generation was sadly I would suggest that generation that they had under their thumb more than any other was the baby boomer generation and that was done but but you look at that generation that is the first generation that was truly coming up okay that was raised largely on the television now that was the generation where the television had their minds so deeply entranced you know from when they were young that was the thing to do sit in front of that TV whole family just putting their kids in front of that constantly they were raised on more television than anybody else I think that generation is more mind controlled through the television than even the modern one and that's saying something yes but from my my standpoint I pretty much turned the television off I I don't I don't subscribe to that that mind control anymore even though I understand it I know that it's affecting me and I pretty much turn the television off me and I've also often think that my generation I'm in my mid-40s I thought that my generation is the one that runs because someone's got to lose got to lose freedom so there's one generation it's gotta fall asleep at the wheel before we know freedom is lost forever you know like because what Reagan said you know you know freedom is just one generation away from extinction and I don't want to be in that generation that the IRS takes to wrap it up I think that circumstances because people aren't waking up that circumstances are going to Nessa Tate and that's that's a natural role and they're going to learn these principles over but we're going to like you say the left-hand path we're going to learn the hard way right unfortunately it looks that that is the path we are headed on to and like I said I think what we have in store for us is the harshest lesson perhaps that humanity may have ever had to endure because we would not take the lesson the easy way and it said I mean it didn't have to be that way but I do I feel that's the path that we are on now barring some dramatic event some dramatic event that really pushes the this awakening process forward in a big way but you know I don't like to hold out hope for miracles and generally I think that's what it would take advance this question well cuz I'm rich - your take on this um we've been we have a learning 2,000 years it seems like if we go through this however your purification my fire baptism by fire is humanity going to learn the lesson at some point do you have maybe we go maybe we'll survive this process physically but will humanity firmness that you know who we really are whether capable of and not said I'll tell you this this illusion the we that we want form painted prey - I would say that that largely depends on the process that is initiated after the chaotic period the chaotic transitional period see we had a chance at this back in 1776 when we declared independence from the tyrannical foreign power that was oppressing us that crossed an ocean under mind control to oppress us imagine that back then you had people crossing an ocean to oppress people of another nation because they were so much on their mind oh wait a minute we're doing the same thing now only in the opposite direction across the ocean mention notice so what have we really learned you know what but I think it depends on the aftermath we did have a chance in 1776 we freed ourselves but only very very temporarily and the controls the shackles came right back on deck towards the research mark I think that we were never free I think the nation founded this country and I think from the get-go we were designed to be secretly ruled and mainly P Hall word about this extensively about the secret that the United States of America the the question is you know is it a destiny or can we change it I mean I don't know I mean I don't I don't understand all the forces that were up against but I do know this 99% of people out there have no clue whatsoever sure I think there were Masons involve on both sides of that there were Masons who are truly trying to free this this group of people you know that we're living here that they understood sovereignty and they work for the true Freemasons see and then there were Masons working through the lodge system there were agents of the crown there were agents of tyranny and they were the dark Masons so masonry is about choices we'll go into this and later shows I'm going to do a whole show on Freemasonry in the future okay it's about choice this is what this whole philosophy is really about ultimately what material are you going to build with what are you going to choose which master are you going to truly serve are you going to build with light and knowledge and reason and morals or are you going to build with dark materials which is building walls which is turning people to stone emotionally mentally right erecting walls between people dark nations build up with brick light masons take down the walls the barriers to divide people which is what we're talking about divisions they don't erect divisions okay and that's why pathogen anima hilary dollar bill every dollar bills like that brick expect there's our middle and you know what when you remove that brick the light comes down and joins with the earth that's what it's all about the dark mason builds up with brick the light mason tears walls down and and lets light come into people's souls so it's not all masonry that's met the problem here now that's just a philosophy a system of allegory symbolism morality that if truly understood could be very powerful the problem is it isn't truly understood even by people in the premises of today I want to read a quote that illustrates part of what you were talking about earlier Chris um this is from George George Bush's um uh speech George Bush senior's speech um that he gave when he talked about the New World Order back in the 90s okay he said this is an historic moment we have in the past year made great progress in ending the long era of conflict and cold war we have before us the opportunity to forge for ourselves and for future generations a new world order a world where the rule of law not the law of the jungle governs the conduct of Nations when we are successful and we will be we have a real chance at this new world order an order in which a credible United Nations can use its peacekeeping role to fulfill the promise and vision of the UN's founders not the founders of this country the UN's founders which is a socialist group yeah and he wants to build this new world order based upon the rule of law lowercase L man's law and he puts he describes the law of nature natural law you know and say not natural ball he says not the law of the jungle because what idea subconsciously does that put into people's minds what we talked about last week the fear of predators the jungle is a dark place where there's no civilization and there's predators waiting to get me at every turn all of those concepts right into the subconscious mind this is neuro linguistic programming it's a mind control technique the world is controlled through words his speech writers understood exactly what they were putting forward by using that kind of language it's very clear to see when you look at these Psychopaths language what they're saying if you know how to read it yeah I know I believe you that speech you just read I've seen many many times on YouTube them to the point of ad nauseam yeah I said I Fisher you're addressing you know some of my questions and clearing a couple things up for me I like to get back the show but um I'll keep listen and what you're doing is a great thing first thanks so much man thanks MA okay you two minutes he always are great to hear from them on the show okay let's see okay have another text comment here okay I'm with you on the taxation is theft part maybe I misheard your statement about morally sanctioned government indifference does not equate to morality powerlessness does not equate to morality cluelessness does not equate to morality a lack of awareness of of the need is no morality arguable quote acceptance is not morality how come the mirror how can mere masses equate to morally sanction government okay so how I would respond to this is absolutely none of these things equate to morality I'm not saying that it makes it moral people are sanctioning it of their own accord which you put in quotes as arguable acceptance but it is acceptance nonetheless as I talked about last week the occultists or the mine manipulators see not saying no as saying yes they equate not non refusal to comply with acceptance with agreeing that this is justified that this is acceptable so that is placing one's own moral sanction on it not speaking out and saying no this is unacceptable I refuse to comply with this I do not you do not have the moral right to do this they consider not saying openly that not living according to that principle as moral sanction and most people do think that the government does have the moral sanction do it if what I'm saying is that there's certainly you're absolutely correct that does not make it moral in no way does that equate with morality itself I'm not talking about morality itself I'm talking about people's collective perceive moral sanction on that action for example I'll give an anecdote I'll give a couple of anecdotes about what I've talked about this evening and I guess I'll wrap up the show with these um I went into a bar before going to a concert one evening with my girlfriend we sat down I got into a discussion with a gentleman at the bar and we got on the topic of what's going on as far as our freedoms being taken away and how politicians are corrupt and you know the the two-party system is basically you know brings in you know one crook and then the next crook comes in to take some take his place and they're essentially you know ruling the country and taking it in the socialist direction and in a fascist direction etc etc yet when I brought up the issue of Taxation immediately what was said was oh come on man you gotta pay your taxes how's anything going to get done and I just I really dropped my head into my hands at that point I was like we just had a conversation about all the evils that are going on as a result of government and how our rights and freedoms are essentially being eroded and I just heard that statement out of his mouth after saying that and at that point I just gave him one of my cards I said here's the website go check go check it out if you understand it you'll understand it you'll read further and you know you'll wake up more if not you won't but it's just it's it's unfathomable to me to think that people actually think that this is something that we could not live without that their imagination is that deadened that they're admitting to themselves when they make a statement like that here's what the person really said to me okay now he didn't really say these words okay but in effect here's what that gentleman at that bar about a year or two ago said to me in saying what he actually did say in effect what he said is what I think mark is that the human species is so deaden so dumb and their imagination has been so destroyed their will is so weak that they can not envision or imagine doing things any different way than what we are how we are currently doing them therefore in that level of fear and ignorance I am going to sanction people taking whatever percentage of other people's wealth that they feel they have the moral right to take and I'm going to stand back and say well that must happen because however would we do any of the things that we need to do in life without that process of theft taking place that's what that person said to me by saying you need to pay your taxes get it that's essentially in effect what was said now here's another active and this relates directly to divide and conquer I guess I'll wrap up the show on this and this you know you know um one of the things I'd like to say to the listening audience is yes I could be harsh on the general population let's bring it home to me because this is where I always say you know a lot of times you'll say something harsh you'll say something that is unapologetic about people's actions to an individual and they'll get very defensive and upset before specific reason they'll get very defensive and upset because they have family members that are involved in these institutions that you're talking about so you talk about the unlawful removal of someone's right to have free speech let's say in Pittsburgh in the g20 last year which I'm still a raving lunatic about when I think about it okay it's you want to talk about a hot-button issue to talk about with me there's nothing that gets me more wild than what I saw in the g20 and a subsequent one up in Canada but specifically the one in Pittsburgh the nerve of these individuals thinking that they have the right to do this ever under any reason for any amount of pay because anybody told them that they were allowed then the unmitigated gall that these cops have thinking you have the right to even be there doing what you're doing you got nerve okay so calm down you'll say that to someone whose husband is a cop and they'll get all uppity in defensive how dare you talk about their visit because their husband's a cop not because they don't see the inherent immorality in what was done but because it's bringing it home to someone they're close to so let's bring it home to someone I'm close to okay see I'm not a meaning to this right I say let's talk about people in my family okay I do this all the time because I want people to know I make no excuses for anybody not even my own mother my own father my own grandfather my own grandmother etc etc etc doesn't matter who it is okay so I'll tell us a short anecdote to wrap up the show recently on my street where I live here in Philadelphia there has been two hour parking implemented okay and what was lost was something that we once had free parking on our street and parking could have gotten Oh tight in some instances but at least we had freedom to park on the street and then a parking spot that was open and we didn't have reaches we didn't have parasites coming into this neighborhood immoral parasites that are essentially house slaves okay we didn't have house slaves coming in to our block putting tickets on people's cars for not being parked there for more than two hours even if they live on this block okay well here's how this got done okay and it people on this block are fighting this and aren't going to stop fighting because fraud was committed on this block okay my own cousin and here it is out there on the airwaves and archived on the internet for all posterity my own cousin lives on this block went to the controllers because she felt she had the privilege right to be allowed the park on this street and not have to walk if she had a park a half a block away a block away or god forbid farther than a block away so on the here's the problem reaction solution and the divide-and-conquer I'm going to go right to the controller to solve my problem for me we have no other way of solving a parking problem we couldn't use any creative methods of solving this you couldn't come up with funding to build a lot or parking garage or anything like that but don't ever look in the free energy technology which could get us off on having to use cars or anti-gravity propulsion which has been suppressed for hundreds of years okay free energy technology like Tesla pioneered which has been suppressed for over 100 years don't don't ever dare look in any of that go right to the controller because you're too lazy to walk a block or have to drive around the block a couple times a look for a parking spot god forbid because you're too lazy go right to the controller bring and bring the power sites into our neighborhood and you don't care about anybody else whether it affects their financial situation whether it creates inconveniences for them and now you got to go get a license to park on this block permit and how many are so many people that are for this crap okay because they're all selfish individuals all they care about is themselves and their own situation as all it is and it's laziness it's pure laziness and it's lack of respect for other human beings that and here's how it was done folks this is the kicker the kicker isn't that it was put to any kind of a democratic vote and voted upon and this was popular consensus here's how it was done they came around and nothing registered mail wasn't used this wasn't put to a public vote in a public forum one person came around with a clipboard okay and said hey you want this to our parking stuff it'll make it easier for us to park on this block which is nonsense to begin with because that's not true okay but that's how they came around and soap try to sell this to people right and they never told you how the vote worked they just said if you want it sign this petition we're going to submit it and try to get to our Park parking implemented and so most people on this block actually didn't want it 10 out of the 21 houses on this block just under 50% they needed 70% agreement approval and this is going to confirm another thing that I tell you about controllers and their mindset okay they didn't tell anyone that there was a no sheet that you needed to sign to cast a vote for no well I don't want this crap on my block so in the omission which is fraud okay this is fraud and the person should be held responsible for fraud because they lied by omission they said here's what to do if you want it and that's all the information that was given and so they got a bunch of yes signatures by the people on the street that did want this implemented and they got hardly any no signatures because they didn't tell anybody there was a note that's how they did people dirty on this block because they're lazy they just wanted their way and this was my own cousin ladies and gentlemen let's bring it right home let's bring it right home this is the kind of consciousness members of my own family are in so now we have to pursue this to try to get some sort of a fraud investigation going because people and the neighbors on this block lurk utterly lied to about how this worked and it was not put to any kind of an open vote this was done in secret and with a lack of information a deliberate holding back of information and guess what that's how they divide and control you they got the whole block fighting amongst themselves about this while they go to the bank the controllers got there away they got the to our Park and implemented and they're writing a bunch of tickets now and then it can tons of money off of people's ignorance apathy and laziness and that's how it works every time and my own family is no exception so I'll wrap it up right there and leave it at that this week great show great colors as always I'll see you guys here next week Tuesday night 7 p.m. Eastern right here on what on earth is happening check out my website at what on earth is happening calm good night everyone you

[Music] welcome ladies and gentlemen you're listening - what on earth is happening right here on the revolution broadcasting radio network I'm your host mark passio my website is what on earth is happening calm the networks website is revolution broadcasting calm this show is live every Tuesday evening from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. Eastern Time today is Tuesday August 17 2010 and tonight we have a great show lined up for you we are going to be talking about the indoctrination system of public education right here in the United States this is a part of our ongoing discussion and revelation of the methods of mind-control which we have outlined and we will continue to explore in depth over the next several weeks so what I'd like to do first is make a quick event announcement and I only have one event announcement for today and it is about the free your mind conference this is a conference that I am hosting you're going to have some great speakers coming out some heavyweight speakers coming out for this conference it's called free your mind a conference on consciousness mind control and the occult this is a unique two-day conference scheduled for April 9th and 10th 2011 in Philadelphia featuring multiple speakers and diverse educational materials for the purpose of raising public awareness on the critically important topics of mass mind control techniques covert or occult and subversive influences upon consciousness and behavior trauma based and ritualized abuse and the practical mental and emotional healing methodologies available for those affected by these devices we already have some great speakers lined up like Aaron McCollum Andrew basiago Alfred Webber J Parker Laura Eisenhower Michael Kelly and myself mark passio this will be very reasonably priced only twenty dollars per day it'll be all day both days on the weekend from about 10:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. Saturday and Sunday April 9th and 10th 2011 the admission price only 20 dollars and the location Liuba Hall in the Northern Liberty section of Philadelphia at 414 Greene Street that's the event announcement I'd like to give out the call-in number for this show feel free to call in at any time hold on the line once you call because if I'm in the middle of discussing something we're laying out a concept or an idea it'll take me a moment to see you on the switchboard but I will eventually get to the call the call in number is seven two four four four four seven four four four once again the calling number four what on earth is happening seven two four triple four seven triple four when you call in you have to put in the call ID number for this show which is eight three five one five the call ID number eight three five one five all right so we have over the last several weeks been discussing how mind control works what are the methodologies by which mind control is perpetuated how is it wielded upon the public consciousness it's critical to understand these methods because only when we are fully aware of these methods do we understand how they are working against us how we ourselves may be under these influences and indeed the vast vast majority of us are to one extent or another affected by the methods of mind control in the past weeks we looked at the technique of abuse ocation to render unclear unintelligible bewildering confusing essentially putting up smoke screens and confusing one idea for another we looked at world view poisoning which has to do with one's own way of seeing oneself in the world and indeed one's relationship to others in the world saw how world view poisoning works through getting people to see human nature itself as fundamentally flawed or evil getting people to see themselves as a thing instead of a unique individual placing a digit value on one's worth and again we saw world view poisoning working on people from the perspective of reducing their imagination their idea of what is or isn't possible particularly their idea of just how much change is possible for them to affect in the world in previous weeks we also looked at the exploitation of our primal fears fears that we carry with us on a genetic basis on a species wide basis nested deep down into the subconscious mind fears that have been with us since our ancient past deep in our ancestry and that we carry at a subconscious even a genetic level whether we are aware of these fears or not well a cultists are aware of these fears and they use them against us whenever they have the chance and if someone isn't aware of their own fears of course it's a piece of cake to manipulate individuals like that last week I think it was a great show it revealed a lot I think some people got a lot out of it from the feedback that I've gotten for that show we talked about the divide and conquer strategy and this is a huge technique of mind control and manipulation people have much less overall effective power when they are fighting amongst themselves instead of directing their power outwardly to effect change so to keep people divided and continuously seeing themselves in a state of separation and difference is a manipulators dream as long as we keep perceiving ourselves as different along different lines like race sex age religion nationality politics etc etc etc we will be continued continued we will continue to be conquered from without by those who understand how to use this technique of divide and conquer so we looked at that in depth last week and this week we're going to look at something that in some form or another all of us have been affected by just about all of us and this is what we laughingly call education in modern Western civilization indeed all over the world but particularly in Western countries it would be nice if we had real education sadly what we do have is what we're going to go into an indoctrination system it's been that way for a long long time folks this is nothing new but it's still important to understand how the public school system in particular works how it is set up what is the general model of our educational system here in the United States and why it seems to be turning out people that can barely tie their shoes let alone understand events that are playing out on the world stage look at the definition for indoctrination first indoctrination means to teach a person or group to accept to accept a set of beliefs uncritically I'll read that again to indoctrinate the very definition of the word is to teach a person or group to accept a set of beliefs uncritically without thinking critically about the information on any sort of a deep level it's essentially regurgitation of information or some sort of reward memorize this because this is what I told you this is how I told you it was and if you do memorize that regard to Tate it back to me the way I want it you're rewarded if on the other hand you disagree with said information that was given and you don't provide it back the way that it was put forward no reward meaning grades the system of rewards in the educational system is grades as if this is some kind of indicator of actual learning barely as if the information that is being presented is truth first and foremost what we have in the United States as far as our educational system goes is a system that is akin to the Nazi and Soviet educational models that were used in those respective regimes and in general what this indoctrination system is is an outcome-based model for quote-unquote education so we're going to look at what that means we're going to look at what outcome based education is why we have it here in the United States and why this type of a system does not lead to individuals that have acquired a true healthy sense of learning of curiosity to learn first and foremost and most importantly the ability to think critically about that which they do take in by listening to someone reading watching various forms of media etc so let's keep the definition in mind as we go into this indoctrination it isn't to educate it is simply to get someone to accept a set of beliefs unquestioningly essentially the educational model that we have in the United States moreover the educational model that we have here is specifically geared toward only left brained modes of consciousness now this is arguably even more important than the fact that is it it is an outcome based model we talked on previous shows extensively about how the brain works the components of the human brain what these components are essentially responsible for and what they generate in terms of human behavior when these brain components are used in certain ways or when we are chronically dwelling only in certain modalities of consciousness that manifest in the brain three components of the brain the three essential complexes of the brain is more accurate to say as being the bar complex being the survival and base instinctual mechanism of the brain comprised of the brain stem and the cerebellum above that we had the limbic brain or the mammalian brain so the r-complex stands for reptile brain because it is of a reptilian nature instinct survival only base consciousness stimulus-response motor skills and not much more beyond that dealing with the physical world and one's survival in it we have the limbic system many of the glands in the brain in that complex of the brain essentially responsible for our emotional makeup for generating the chemicals necessary for us to feel emotion within the physiology the spirit in which we do things our moods all the gamut of emotions whether positive negative or indifferent then we saw the higher brain called the neocortex which sits above the limbic brain the highest in physical location and correspondingly it represents the highest part of the brain as far as consciousness goes this part of the brain governs higher-order thinking creativity logic intuition mathematics art science music everything that essentially makes us human all of the human faculties that are essentially not possessed in other species - this neocortex comprised of the left brain hemisphere and the right brain hemisphere we call the human brain so we have these three complexes all within us the reptile the mammal and the human brain we saw how if one hemisphere or the other hemisphere is dominant chronically how that will Express in terms of behavior and what kinds of personalities and behaviors will result will be displayed should one side of the brain completely dominate the other essentially what we saw when we looked into this was that if one becomes chronically left brained chronically left brain dominant controlling type of personality will develop very ego-driven very centered upon the physical world physical reality never looking toward any deeper questions never looking to seek to understand the spiritual component or dimension of our existence and essentially accepting one's role in a hierarchically based system we talked about how hierarchy is one of the components of the structures of control along with compartmentalization when we started looking into how mind control works if the right brain becomes chronically dominant you have a person that is more apt to ignore the physical reality not care about one's situation in the world be more apt to drift off in sort of a new-agey type consciousness let's say thinking that everything is just fine no matter how bad it gets because it's just the physical world it's not that important addiction stems from this form of right brain imbalance because it's not caring about what you do to the vessel that you your spirit inhabits doesn't make a difference it's just the body it's just the flesh I'll punish it why not of loathing suicidal tendencies etc etc so toward the left brain and balance you see total scientism pure atheism social Darwinism moral relativism etc for the right brain imbalance you'll see radical religion ISM one form of imbalance produces a control-freak type personality one form of imbalance creates the type that will go along with just about anything left brain imbalance control acceptance of hierarchy right brain imbalance slave type personality never speaking up for one's own rights or in justices that may occur and also accepting of a hierarchical based institutionalized structure in our current educational model in the Western Hemisphere and again this is reflected essentially throughout the world but I'm talking specifically of the public school education system that we have here in the United States we have a predominantly left brain imbalanced model system essentially ignores the creative imaginative capacities of the right brain hemisphere and all of its functions essentially work upon the left brain of the individual science and math words linguistics etc these are left brain concepts we engage in the left brain when we engage in logic science mathematics literature etc word skills all kinds of business or economic skills all types of modern science for the most part this is what is heavily stressed we've heard in the past referred to as the 3 R's the 3 R's reading writing arithmetic all damage and I've kind of joked that the three RS will put you into and keep you in the are complex see when we're chronically engaged in the left brain hemisphere and it's modalities of consciousness the limbic brain will suffer as a result of that not using both hemispheres of the brain in balance chronically always engaging the left brain hemisphere will essentially begin to disengage the limbic brain and it will route one's consciousness in the r-complex of the brain that centers upon instinct survival focus upon self lowercase s focus upon one's own needs not caring about anything that is holistic meaning if it doesn't affect me I'm not interested in it that doesn't affect me personally on a personal level meaning my body my physical needs and maybe extending out to one's immediate family when the right brain hemisphere is chronically dominant we see the opposite we see the person tending to care less and less about the physical needs the person will become unattentive toward one's own body and situation and only only focus on things that are of this spiritual or otherworldly nature or if it goes far enough in imbalance just become a self-loathing or addictive potential this is because the limbic brain is where one is continuously quote-unquote living this is where the person is engaging consciousness because the right brain imbalance will begin to shut down the functions of the are complex or the survival modality of the brain so with one type of imbalance we get one generalized set of behaviors with another type of imbalance we get a different set of generalized consciousness modalities the right brain imbalance suppresses the instinct and survival mechanisms of the individual and in their proper component in their proper function and it essentially makes the limbic brain become the master and control the individual left brain imbalance the r-complex becomes the master and controls the individual becomes reptilian when they're in a state of left brain imbalance following hierarchy accepting what comes in through hierarchically based institutions meaning follow orders and also attempt to control this perfectly describes the controller class quote-unquote and I don't mean the real controller class I'm talking about people who think their controllers police and military left brain imbalance all the way completely accepting on the hierarchical structures following orders control those that they consider below them us versus them mentality only ever giving any importance to the physical world the right brain imbalance the person is controlled by the limbic system words essentially they are a victim of their emotions and here you have people that purely think with their emotions the kind of people who can accept the kind of controls that are taking place in the world they can't accept any of the evidence the multitude of evidence that for example politicians are puppets the system controls them and they essentially have owners in the banking institutions but they think they're going to vote their way out of this mess they'll just put in another puppet in the hierarchy within the institution until solve it people that think like this are overwrought by their emotions their emotions control their thinking they don't think at any kind of a logical level it's just as in critical it's just as erroneous as people that think only with the left brain to think there is nothing going on of any sort of a spiritual nature on earth but this has nothing to do with spirits that there's no such thing as good or evil let's say the idea of moral relativism all of these types of consciousness of quote-unquote thinking if you even want to call it that come out of the Western educational model that we laughingly call education I should say and this is by design that's what we need to keep in mind controllers don't want anyone truly educated they want obedient people they want people who readily accept things they want people who will accept their role and take their place in a hierarchically design institutionalized structure and whether you come out of that education system on left-brain side of the imbalance or the right brain side of the imbalance the right brain side is much rarer but it does happen essentially you're not a person that thinks critically or thinks at all essentially most people that come out of this system have been indoctrinated to simply accept their role know your role shut your mouth take your place in the workforce at whatever level of proficiency you may have happen to assimilate to that's your life put your head down do your work retire we'll bring in new new flesh you're just filling in a position filling in a position filling in a position and then once your disposable once you can't be used anymore off you go and in income someone else to fill the position and it's the same thing whether it's the military whether it's the business workforce whether it's the police this system doesn't care about you doesn't give a damn about you you're there to be used for the ends of the system that's it the goals of the system that you're in used up until the system says you're no good anymore and then goodbye and in with the next because now they can continue with the goal of the system and there are people who can not accept that there are people who know that this is true but they still try to ignore it and continuing on with the example of people will say hey I'm ready to point fingers and talk about other people and I said last week I gave the anecdote about my cousin who brought the parasites of the so-called parking authority into this neighborhood I was talking about divide and conquer lastly you know people who see themselves as us versus them I'm a member of this grouping and they're not a member of this group so they're not part of us they're not with us like police mentality you know it's us versus them I have to look out for my fellow officers military mentality you know we're in this just to protect us yeah but simultaneous to that you're just being used by your owners you have owners period owners owners see I can't understand how people can accept that they're owned oh yeah I'm an owner I just I I'm owned I have an owner I just do what my owners tell me whatever comes down whatever orders come down that's what I do I don't think about it I just do I can't comprehend how anybody could look themselves in the mirror sleep at night or even think they're a man or a woman because your robot is what you are if you're in that kind of consciousness you're not a man or a woman you're not a human being you're subhuman because what it means to be human is to be able to think critically and to be able to form your own opinions on things and to be able to think for oneself that's what being human is that's the essence of being human you you once you've given that power away you've given essentially your life force away and that's why the so-called New World Order the regime of the dark occult but the the new world that is coming into view through the dark sorcerers of this world the mind manipulators whatever you want to call them really doesn't matter by people who do think and who have gotten other people not to think that's all it really comes down to and you know people want to argue and debate over how smart these people are and I'm here to tell you they're the most intelligent people in the world I may not I don't have to like their agenda but I know how smart they are I'm not I'm not asking you to accept that either I'm telling you I know how smart these people are from firsthand experience I know how smart they are because they never stop reading my friends never stop you want to talk about well-read you've heard the adage leaders are readers and it's true people who need other people they're able to do that because of their wide array an eclectic array of knowledge that they possess and this knowledge has been held generationally in their families for thousands of years in some cases again it's based in ancient knowledge it's based in the knowledge of the mystery traditions which we'll get into more as weeks go on and we get further into the occult but uh where I was going was let's bring it right home who can accept that there are part of something where that that may not be what it appears to be people who just accept that they are supposed to go to work make a living raise a family pay their bills you know go on vacation every once in a while and that's their life they just accept that but they can't really bring themselves to accept that this is a farcical way of life that this is just a smokescreen for control to get you to just go along to get along so that people who really want to control things can do that in the shadows while you just have your head down working to stay alive never looking at any bigger issues when I tried to explain this concept to my own mother years ago she would strike out in rage about it because the idea that she was fooled on this is too much to bear it's too much to comprehend and the whole idea of what can you do about it once you know well the answer is a lot how much impact that will have all depends on how many people are doing that and I for one

I'm going to do it whether no one else is doing because once again I've said this before on the show and I'll say it again many times I'm not talking about anything that I talk about in the interests of humanity and I'm sorry if that offends anyone but that's the case if you think I'm going to get emotionally invested for the people of this planet you're crazier than anybody I've ever met one known I do this only in the interests of the truth that's it nothing else I do not serve the people of this world serve the troop herself and no one else so the whole idea that you have to care but not too much is I think wise advice because once you get emotionally tangled up in the people of this world expecting them to change good luck with that I'm not holding out any hope for that I'm not saying it's not possible it's possible only if will is exercised it's not going to happen by a miracle don't expect the Savior to come and rescue us from what we've done to ourselves it's not going to happen folks get over it about religion and coming weeks it's all made up it's all that's all generated by the occultists who have running the show folks and there's people who will refuse to accept that as well well and fine don't you want to believe in nonsense that was made up by a cultist to control you go right ahead I for one am out of that level of control I'll tell you about the deep esoteric mystery beneath all of the lies superstitions and Astro theology and all the covers the exoteric cover stories that bill veil overtop of a true inner mystery that's about the self and one's own consciousness I'll tell you all about that we could talk about that all day because they'll keep throwing more and more and more on top of it anything to get you to get you not to see what's really underneath it you know anything to get you to look in the other direction from within that's all this is about that's all religion is about that's all politics is about all just to get you not ought not to point the finger inward but to keep playing it outward not to be your own Savior but to expect to be saved and rescued externally well good luck with that to get back on track we're talking about how people can't accept that they may be part of an institution that is ultimately doing harm like the military like the police like the education system this is largely the right brain imbalance component within the individual because someone can have both these forms of imbalance and often does one will be more dominant or severe than another but the right brain imbalance plays out like this it's the one that can't get the person to look objectively and what is really happening I can't accept that Obama is in the totally on the side of and working as a lap dog for these big financial corporations that are essentially causing our economic crisis and trying to put people into further slavery which is debt they're one in the same he seems like such a wonderful guy he's got a family kids etc he's well-spoken well dressed looks like a good guy you know you want to believe these on your side this is all right brained emotional thinking right brained emotional thinking you know then a so-called conservative Republican will come up and he'll say he's on your side and the person will you know from the other end of the political spectrum will react with that same emotional thinking not the logic of seeing the system as it is the reason I should say true reason being able to see the world as it really is that's all the emotional reactive side of the mind and that's all generated by right brained imbalance emotional thinking same force that can't get somebody to accept that they were played that they just were fooled entirely you know that their life was a joke that was played on them and when I attempted to talk with some family members about these dynamics that's the kind of rage you get back they'll respond with rage from that emotional reactive side of the mind you police they'll respond the same way when you try to explain to some of them that they're fooled that they have owners that their owners mock and ridicule them at every opportunity I mean it's really tragically sad as a matter of fact it really isn't funny their owners think that it's funny it's hysterical to them but it's quite sad when you really understand how much the occult is inter penetrated into the military and the police as a matter of fact that will be my topic at the free your mind conference I will be discussing occult symbolism in police and military uniforms and regalia it should be an interesting presentation I'll I'll go in-depth on this it'll incorporate a lot of things and the goal will be at least in my presentation at that event to try to get people to understand to try to get people in these institutions to understand part of the language that is being wielded upon them because there's a secret language that is essentially being spoken to them at all times everywhere they go at all times and places that symbology surrounds them and it works upon the subconscious mind many of them are too on in a state of brain imbalance to understand how this works or to be able to interpret symbolism at all you have to have a balanced brain in order to perceive a higher level of communication that is nonverbal it is based in form color frequency vibration this is a vibratory language that is essentially working upon their subconscious mind and sadly they're illiterate to the language which mocks them at all turns you know and just to take a little divergence here I mean it's related with education in the sense that there are people out there who I think want to consider themselves educators or re-educate errs or people who are trying to return things to a constitutional standing so they say but I'll put out a call right here on the show tonight I sought to work with military and police to help get them out of these modalities of consciousness in any groups that are attempting to show people the truth about what is really taking place within these institutions and I've put out this call and I've asked people in groups like oathkeepers or police and military against New World Order if I could work with them help show some of the things that they would not really be trained to see unless they were studied occultists and there is no response from that community at all none and they think they're at a level of knowledge where they're going to make a dent or an impact in what's going on and I have news for them you're not really doing much of anything okay and I know that'll be wildly unpopular and guess what I don't care because I'm not in this for a popularity contest folks I've already told you that do you want to hear popular stuff go turn on the television or something don't listen to my show I'm here to speak the truth of what's taking place I think a lot of these groups are not really not really interested in reversing the dynamic they're interested in staying in their little box that they've set up and how I got into this is talking about institutionalized structures the people cannot accept our fundamentally flawed fundamentally setup because of people's irresponsibility and doing something that is fundamentally immoral any way you look at it even if it's supposed to be doing its intended function it's a moral from the get-go but you got people that can't accept that and one of the reasons they can't accept that is because of the brain imbalance that they're in as a result of the worldwide indoctrination system they're under mind control and that'll be real unpopular because lots of groups want to work with you know former police officers and former military and former sheriff sheriff set cetera etc etc who want to think that they're going to work within these institutions and change something well you don't understand how it works it's a little boys perspective on reality and the way I describe it is what you want to know what you essentially are when you take on that position you're a brick in the wall you think you're going to knock the wall down by being a brick in it you're already in place you're set in place you're cemented in you ain't going nowhere you're not making any dents you're not wielding a wrecking ball you're not even we love being the little chisel you're doing nothing and this isn't infighting either I'm attempting to enlighten people as the hell indoctrination systems work how hierarchically based systems work how compartmentalize structures work how they work on the consciousness how they work on the mind I made a little graphic of the seal of the mystery traditions people may recognize it on the back of the one dollar bill the all-seeing eye in pyramid on it kept this Novus Ordo seclorum he favors our project the New World Order and I put a little I highlight one of the bricks darker than the others in that pyramid then I put a little cartoon speech bubble next to it saying hey I'm mr. block and I'm going to change this structure from the inside just and watch well good luck with that very proud of you enjoy let me know how that goes get as offended as you like folks anybody stuck in an institutionalized mentality doesn't understand they're not helping things we talked briefly about this last week dark Mason's build that wall they build walls that's what they build what they built with bricks heavy material that weighs people down that doesn't enlighten them true light occult this build with light they try to remove walls between people realize we're all in this together we're all one so if the light that all-seeing eye doesn't have blocks in front of it essentially if there are no blocks between us on the earth and the light we'll be enlightened but the more blocks we erect which are institutionalized compartmentalized hierarchical structures good luck with being enlightened there's no such thing as an enlightened soldier there's no such thing as an enlightened cop there's no such thing as an enlightened controller folks does not exist that's an oxymoron okay they're complete two incompatible things you when you become enlightened you don't have any desire to control anybody because you're not in fear no matter what anybody can do that's what enlightenment is stop accepting this nonsense crap new-age version of enlightenment that is some kind of total perfection there is no such thing as total perfection in the physical realm doesn't exist and you can't be a controller and be enlightened simultaneously it doesn't work that way so again folks please get it off as offended as you you want to be but sooner or later you'll have to understand that and learn it and learn it well these states of brain imbalance brought on by indoctrination are calculated they're calculated to be that way because think tanks have essentially built the modern quote educational system as we know it today these are calculated efforts take a look at the Tavistock Institute of human relations read some books by John Coleman Tavistock Institute committee of 300 etc great author understand what outcome-based education is which is basically taking the emphasis off of actual learning of material and toward an outcome a scenario a way of being that you want the student to be in the world essentially conformity someone is saying what do we want what set of standards do we want this child to conform to and we're going to gear all of our propaganda otherwise known as the curriculum around these standards based on what we want to pump out the outcome we want for their mind and that's all they'll get to know because we as the controller's of this institution set those standards ie the curriculum and anything we don't want them knowing any behaviors we won't don't want them displaying will not be part of the curriculum for our outcome this is the Hegelian dialectic all over again problem reaction solution or essentially thesis antithesis synthesis we know where we're going all along but we can't just take people from one point to the other we have to gradually take them there and when we finally get them there they'll be graduated small steps incremental this is how the educational system works it works in grades graduated indoctrination another great source to check out there's a great video I'll maybe I'll post this on the podcast page when I put the podcast up probably tomorrow the video on google video or YouTube called who controls our children I recommend everyone check this one out it's about the outcome based educational system the woman's name is peg Luke SiC l UK sik peg Luke's ik who controls our children I have a description here it's the description for this video on outcome based educational models is while parents schools provinces and states across North America bicker about the democratic process of running public schools forces are manipulating education from behind the scenes major international choirs are reshaping public education to suit their own self-serving agendas without regard for the ones of parents and the welfare of their children this video lecture documents how today's educational system thumbs down kids deliberately making zombie-like people who don't ask any questions but just follow orders another great video to check out on the deliberate dumbing down through the educational system this Nazi and Soviet based educational model called outcome based education is Charlotte is Ruby Charlotte is Ruby is CR b YT she served as a senior policy advisor in the office of educational research and improvement in the US Department of Education during the first Reagan administration where she blew the whistle on a major technology initiative which would control the curriculum in America's classrooms and I believe this is referring to global 2000 if I'm not mistaken but she essentially talks about the deliver dumbing down of the children of this nation through the educational system she's got a website called deliberate dumbing down calm deliberate dumbing down I think that's the best way to put it it is an in doctrine is an education it's indoctrination it's deliberate dumbing down it is getting people to accept a set of beliefs or opinions without critical thinking so I want to read something before I get into this next excerpt that I'd like to read on the educational model that we have let me once again give the call in numbers to call into this show you want to discuss the indoctrination system here in North America to call in call seven two four four four four seven four four four the call-in number is seven two four triple four seven triple for the call in ID number for what on earth is happening is eight three five one five once again the call ID number eight three five one five so we're little past the top of the second hour and I'd like to read something called the not-see model for outcome based education history keep this is by a gentleman by name of Barrett kudos history keeps repeating itself a few heat its warnings if our leaders did they would know that today's massive attempt to transform our culture by nationalizing education will bring repression not freedom they would see that the manipulative strategies of master learning will create human puppets not independent thinker thinkers another name for outcome based education essentially in spite of the information explosion America hasn't heard the message perhaps our leading change agents don't know what they're deceptive strategies and dumbed down curricula will do to our children and this is true many teachers are not aware of this and cannot bring themselves to accept it because of their own level of ego they can't admit to themselves that the whole educational paradigm do we have is degraded is not based upon is not helping people to truly learn it's not based upon true education it's based upon indoctrination but people are wrapped up in their own ego and don't want to admit to themselves that they may be involved in something that is causing more harm than it is good the same with police the same with military the same with doctors doctors are some of the most ego driven people that can't admit that some of their practices are harming people they don't want to talk about food because they're on the gravy train of prescription medication and surgery and it's all it ultimately comes down to isn't it folks let's be realistic let's be honest with each other it all comes down to the almighty dollar the paycheck that they're receiving for their bucket of beans as long as I get my bucket of beans doesn't make a difference if what I'm doing is ultimately immoral and I know I get harsh on people but hey again I bring it right home right home to my own family I'm not talking about other people in no ways that I wouldn't talk about members of my own family who are just as ignorant and again that isn't really saying something truly mean about someone you know saying someone is ignorant means that they're deliberately turning their back on truth I'm not saying they're dumb people there are some people who are truly Nishant and I've really never come across or thought about any of this information because they've just lived a life of a child and they're nation' I'm talking about people who have kind of thought about this or been exposed to it and still go on with it they're ignorant ignoring big difference between ignorance and Nations so continuing with this Nazi model for outcome-based education in spite of the information explosion America hasn't heard the message perhaps our change agents don't know that they're deceptive strategies and dumb down curricula will do to our children maybe they haven't noticed the similarities between their educational strategies and former Nazi tactics for molding young minds and teaching group conformity perhaps today's psychological manipulations are simply a modern expression of human wisdom without biblical guidelines however it seems clear the US and Nazi change agents teachers quote-unquote share one tragic trait the dearth of the kind of honesty and integrity that one once made America safe for children that propaganda and indoctrination were two of the cornerstones of Nazi education is no secret Hitler's goal was National Socialism a fascist state that would subdue the world learning his lessons from Soviet revolutionaries he knew that only cloaked promises and misleading visions would win the support of the unsuspecting masses and build a compliant army of young radicals at America's education and political educational and political leaders would stoop to the same low standards has remained hidden from the general public that their aim is global socialism with cradle to grave surveillance is angrily denied by the trained and trusted guardians of our children's minds if the sleeping public doesn't wake up and resist soon it will surely be too late to stop the rising tide of deception that threatens to involve our children if so God's people will once again have demonstrated the blinding consequences of spurning truth and loving lies so the source of the following quotes is is the 1983 book Nazism a history and documents and eyewitness accounts 1919 to 1945 edited by Jane Oakes and G Pritam in cooperation with the Department of History and archaeology at the University of Exeter it represents years of research into the primary documents of the Nazi era many of its following quotes have been shortened in order to include as many illustrations as possible within the given space the page numbers are given at the end of each quote since this comparison was written to accompany my book brave new schools I have not included definitions and explanations of the new American international educational system all terms and bugs buzzwords are explaining in this guy's book brave new schools so here's the points of outcome based education right here this is the goals of what outcome based education is doing to our youth one transformation of the world by changing the children transform the world by changing the youth children must be changed first the Nazi leadership appreciated the difficulty of in doctrine doctrine aiding the old generation so there was difficulty in indoctrinating people that had already learned one way of being or doing things so the Nazi leadership appreciated this difficulty they were all the more determined to mold the new generation along Nazi lines as the leader of the Nazi Teachers League Han Shem put it those who have the youth on their side control the future create a world-class citizen create a new type of student so that was number one they knew that to really own the future to be able to control the future generation you had to get to the children and that makes perfect sense where do you get to them in the classroom number to teach politically correct beliefs and values political correctness you don't speak out against the established system everything has to be sanitized for political correctness condition students for the new social and economic order German youth must no longer this is a quote quote German youth must no longer be confronted with the choice of whether it wishes to grow up in the spirit of materialism or idealism of racism or internationalism of religious or godlessness but it must be consciously shaped according to the principles which are recognized as correct according to the principles of the ideology of National Socialism doesn't matter what the truth is it doesn't matter what's moral it doesn't matter what's scientifically true anything only that which we say is morally correct according to our ideology of socialism of Nazism continuing censorship of contrary models so anything that is contrary to this outcome based them we will censor that that this teaching is aimed to encourage a consciousness of being German in the selection of teaching materials they should issue those works which contra they should eschew those words would contradict German feelings or paralyze energies necessary for self assertion and only those modern works would be selected which quote have an affinity with the spirit of the new Germany so that was the second Nazi outcome based model teach politically correct beliefs and values eschew any values that contradict the German or Nazi I should say the Nazi spirit the affinity of spirit with the Nazi German model point number three established an outcome-based education system restructure the schools and nationalize tests and standards does that sound familiar quote the regime endeavored to assert its control over the education system the reorganization and centralization centralization of who controls the decision-making about the curriculum this is what outcome based education is effective feeling centered very important feeling centered attitudinal but not cognitive learning earns the graduation certificate feeling centered not cognitive learning earns the graduation certificate quote many pupils believe they can simply drift through for eight years and secure their school leaving certificate and secure their school leaving certificate even with minimal intellectual performance those pupils who are in positions of leadership often display unmannerly behavior and laziness at school in general it must be said that school discipline has declined to an alarming extent the new movement offered prospects of future employment at a time of massive graduation graduate unemployment so this outcome based model is getting them prepared to take a position in the new workforce and since it is completely politically correct it is teaching them never to question the status quo the established political order point number four implement mastery learning conditions students to become social servants not individuals but tell the public the opposite well the principal task of the school is the education of youth the service of the state in the national socialist spirit this is me this made clear the Nazis determination to shift the focus of education away from the needs of the individual and the development of his potential as a human being to the requirements of the community of nation and state of which the individual was a member and to which he must subordinate himself this is exactly exactly the model for education that exists in the United States at this time exactly the same as in 1930s Germany set effective but not cognitive goals meaning outcomes the more enthusiastic they get the easier the exams and the sooner they will get a position I'm reading a quote here the new generation has never had much use for education and reading now nothing is demanded of them on the contrary knowledge is publicly condemned this is straight from the Nazis mouth in their education system similar in the modern United States how many of our you think that knowledge is something to aspire to it's a popular culture practically that to read a lot is not even cool is uncool there the whole nerd thing oh if you read too much and you're into into really truly learning you're a nerd quote-unquote forget facts teach write attitudes or a character through feel-good experiences an important aspect of nazi education was the cult of experience as being more crucial to the development of the individual than the academic process of learning with it stress on knowledge unlike knowledge which involves the intellect experience involved feeling which alone provide provided access to the deep truths of Nazism which were essentially based on ideological unity such an experience was regarded as essential to character building quote-on-quote roots anything but folks so this is continuing this quote from a high-level Nazi in the educational system reject old authority figures through critical thinking and Values Clarification it appealed quote it appealed to the desire of youth to be independent of the adult world and X and Exploited the conflict of generations so this is the divide and conquer strategy drive a wedge between children and their parents between the young and the old generations teach the new youth your parents don't understand they're just they're just set in their ways you know they're not ready to move into the new world like you are the divide and conquer technique right there in Nazi documents the typical timesheet people to challenge authority figures whether parents or teachers so they're playing on this spirit of rebellion they're using it against the youth shaping their minds turning them against their parents while thinking getting them to think that they're actually rebelling but they're rebelling against their parents set of values not against the state continuing confuse students values to shocking stimuli and Values Clarification exercises particular quote particularly teachers in secondary schools were alienated by the crudity of this indoctrination and they use the very word right there in their documents indoctrination that was point number four point number five infuse new values through real-life learning create new beliefs and values through multicultural and global education new courses were introduced in fields such as racial studies eugenics and defense studies and there was a new emphasis on prehistory law and political science courses were adapted to fit in with changes introduced by the regime infuse new values through real-life learning that was point number five condition students into compliance is part of this point quote it was preferred that people should not have a will of their own and should totally subordinate themselves amazing spelled right out in a director of Nazi education documents it is preferred that people should not have a will of their own and should totally subordinate themselves how many of our youth seem to have a will of their own and think truly critically anymore they spit back what they're told to spit back on the tests and think that that's learning and that they know something and I'll tell you what some of the people that uh you know go through this entire at graduated indoctrination system and get a degree and even a master's degree are some of the most egocentric uninformed people that you'll ever meet that think they know something they actually think that they're well-informed people because they have a piece of paper that tells them that they spit the right answers back onto tests point number six require community service which is pretty self-explanatory service-learning mandatory service service in the Hitler Youth quote is honorary service to the German people all young people are obliged from the age of ten to their 19th birthday to serve in the Hitler Youth Leader worship character education and cooperative learning we cannot quote we cannot fight our way out of this deep crisis through intellectualism the school for character which is a practical test of true comradeship in work and living is irreplaceable the true great practical school is in the labor camp for here instruction and words cease and action begins this resonate with some of the things Obama has put forward wanting to do forced so you revised history of the next point well in addition to new content in addition to controlling and indoctrinating the teaching profession reorganizing the educational system and a lot establishing new elite schools the regime sought to influence you through the content of what was taught in the schools relevance and his historical revision the course of history must not appear to our young as a chronicle which strings events together indiscriminately but as in a play only the important events those which have a major impact on life should be portrayed and who writes the history books in the modern indoctrination system well I'll give you a hint it's some of the same people that control the international banking system the cartel of international banks there's some of the big biggest publishing houses owned some of the biggest publishing houses in the world and they're the ones who are writing the textbooks that indoctrinate our children and give them their version they're revisionist version of world history retrain the teachers create the new German educator in the spirit of National Socialism is being carried out with the same methods which with with which movement has conquered the whole nation indoctrination and propaganda right in their own documents out in the open in in the open telling people openly and this is exactly what's going on here in the United States folks exactly just agree that once again retraining the teachers to create the new German educator in the spirit of National Socialism this is being carried out with the same methods with which the movement has conquered the whole nation indoctrination and propaganda it could could it be anymore spelled out I mean right there the very words of Nazi educators the next point silenced the opposition bloc the negative influence of parents and traditional culture these boys join our organization at the age of 10 four years later they move from young folk to Hitler Youth and there we keep them for another four years and then we are even less prepared to give them back into the hands of those who create our class and status barriers punish parents who protect their children from state indoctrination is this sound familiar a legal guardian will be liable for fine up to 150 Reichsmarks or to imprisonment if he deliberately contravenes the stipulation of this decree registration for the Hitler Youth private schools and denominational schools gradually succumb to various pressures the loss of government government subsidies or tax concessions exactly the same has happened here over the last 50 years because World War two never ended it came right over here to the United States and went underground folks look up Project Paperclip read about the Tavistock Institute of Human Relations read about the Soviet and Soviet inspired and in full practice Nazi based outcome education system truly amazing to hear that bluntly and openly right from the horse's mouth well I'm also thinking about reading another document that was a speech that some people may have seen this is floating around the internet um it was a valedictorian speech by a young lady named Erica Goldson she gave this during her graduation ceremony she was the valedictorian at UH Coxsackie Athens High School and she gave a valedictorian speech there on June 25th of this year called here I stand and I'm going to get into a little bit of that because it was kind of refreshing to hear a young student who graduated at the top of her class talked about what kind of an educational system model we truly have in the United States and speak with such openness and clarity about it at such a young age so this is a person who was not fooled and kind of woke up I guess she had an awakening experience during her years at this school so I'll get into that in a couple of moments but I see right now we have a caller who looks like been holding on the line sorry I made you hold so long let's all hear what you have to say caller from Southwest Ohio you are on what on earth is happening no trouble whatsoever hello mark passio from the shadows out of the darkness in Cincinnati Ohio this is Bob aka the serene being how are you I'm great you are on fire tonight laying out my pleasure laying out all of National Socialism tenants and how they mirror you the United States of America in 2010 it's shameful isn't it mark how eerily similar our life is in American fascism compared to Nazi Germany it is truly amazing if it weren't so disturbing it's absolutely my numbing it there's I'm sure you're familiar with the psychological term when one is overwhelmed by the myriad of things that just it's too much to comprehend at once if we could take one of these things piecemeal but but what is that term when everything just overwhelms the person um it's it's overload really that's what it is I mean it is uh it's it's a shock to the system to realize that wanting this is going on at all and to that many of us have been complicit in it you know not only going through this system it's truly amazing when someone comes out of the controls that are imposed by the system but what is more disturbing I think is for people to really sit back and comprehend that this is what the school system is in this country and that they may be a part of it unwittingly we need to get our teachers to start thinking critically they're indoctrinated themselves from their educational upbringing we need to get them to take a second critical look at the educational model that's at work in this country I agree my wife is one of the volunteers at the local public school and and the teachers are required of course to follow through with the George Bush juniors every Child Left Behind policy which gives these teachers no time to focus on any sort of teaching whatsoever it's pure dog and pony show let's get the kiddies to jump through the hoops if we don't get the kids to jump through these hoops to regurgitate the pablum that we're pushing is education on to the paper and the papers are graded correctly then we won't get our state funding to continue this madness of operation that we're doing amazing and that's how they keep these people on the hook right on the on the fishing line by dangling out that carrot before them and saying you won't get your funding and that's how they keep them going along to get along it all comes back to the funding follow the money I'm sure you're you're familiar with that phrase mark yeah and this isn't just at a large organizational level this comes down to the level of sin we the teacher doing this for a paycheck because that's what they do for a living just like the cop doing this this is just my job it isn't just a job this this idea that I'm just doing something because it's a job has to be rejected people have to look at what they're doing and say is the major question Dec 2's is not what will I be able to make a living by doing this that that's the wrong question to ask oneself the major question to ask is am I truly doing something that is right and it is not causing harm those are the questions that have to be asked in one's own mind when one is doing anything any action any job for that matter and sadly so few people ask these questions because all they determine what they will do for a living is based upon how much money it can make them and will it provide any kind of a secure income for them and their family and that's not good enough it's not good enough and I know that some that's something easy to say when you have a family to support yeah it is no one ever said doing the right thing would be easy you got to recognize it and then you have to use will to live in harmony with the truth the truth isn't always comfortable but getting in touch with it will set you free if your ego isn't big enough to get involved and say well I'm just going to do this because that's how I make money that's my skillset this is all I can do or just this is just the way it is and that's my job and I don't question anything those attitudes and values are not good enough and they don't cut it just saying I was following orders didn't cut it in the Nuremberg trials and it shouldn't caught it even in something like this it is about being a teacher a quote unquote teacher people are saying I'm just doing what I'm told I'm just thought you know following the education via a curriculum that's been outlined for our students by people higher up in the educational system and that's not good enough it's not good enough and I know they face reprisal and consequences when they don't teach it but I think we have to find kind of creative ways around those limitations and restrictions and one of the best ways I've still said is home school your children don't even put them in these these gulags for children which is essentially what they are that we educate our children based on our moral values hey we can only do that if we have them though that's that's the catch-22 more we educate yourself and then morally educate your children and school him at home I wish I wish I had more courage mark to to break free I have work in a profession that you know hasn't got the best rap lately and once again I am one of those classic people you're talking about the bill payer I what I know how to do I'm trying to wake up consciously to what what's going on and in trying to move forward I did score one victory though we recently had a baby my wife and I and what happened at the hospital I've fought these vampires tooth and nail to not stick needles in this baby and you would not believe the resistance or you would probably believe the resistance I came up against I was it was unbelievable but in the end I walked off that ward and that baby had no no mercury no thir Marisol there's no poison whatsoever in its system and that was a victory for all of us well Bob congratulations number one on boy it was a girl little girl Oh congratulations and I I think that's a great story and that took a lot of courage to do that because I could imagine how resistant they were to that and how determined they were to us stick the child with uh with those poisons it was overwhelming and and if anybody doubts that that we are on track with Nazi Germany as our model I'd like to point out if I may mark that the term Hitler was fond of using when he spoke of his dear Austrian homeland there he called it his high MOT minor high Mott which relate which which translates to the word homeland we have no English equivalent for the word high but all of a sudden in national regalia we have our new Department of Internal Security I mean Homeland Security and it's shameful mark yep yep right out of there right out of their playbook it's almost word-for-word oh it's exactly it is word-for-word hi Mott homeland and also frightening Lea enough in 1947 we set up our national agencies of security but the German term in their country was called the right CK Heights helped humped which translates exactly verbatim to National Security Agency and that is frightening unto itself and of course as you know founding in 47 was at the same time that we started bringing all these Nazis over here through the OSS in the CIA employing the most heinous SS war criminals to create what is now the CIA the Bush family completely speaked financially and socially with these Nazis but but but I won't I won't belabor it too long mark but I've got a couple of questions if I may ask absolutely I've been I know mark that you yourself are steeped in a cult the cult for in your former world in your former life I I know that you've moved on that you were once a follower the left-hand path to comment and I've got a question Stanley Kubrick was also a person steeped in the occult and he tried to convey in his movies a lot of things too to the uneducated like myself out here it particularly in his last film Eyes Wide Shut some of which you probably know he was murdered I'm sorry he died mysteriously six days after it was in the can just like Mozart died six days after the Magic Flute hit the hit the stage because it revealed the esoteric realities of the mystery schools and its teachings and he says they were trying to relay this to the common or like like me and but but I would like to comment and ask you a question to the the ceremony and eyes watch at the focal point of the movie is the ceremony at this a wrister kradic castle and it's conducted by a red robed clad person surrounded by black robed which seem to be sex slaves but at the beginning they're black robed in a circle the dark satanic music in the background but I'd like to point out that the one of the gold masks that leads the the protagonist dr. Harford which supposedly is a play on Harford

Harrison Ford not not Hart Ford but Harford supposedly Harrison Ford accidentally walked in on one of these ceremonies and they had to convert him very quickly but but one of the gold mask people that led him back in the room for his Inquisition it my god I saw it as clear as a bell the village when it turned to the side it was the face of Bob Hope the mask was the face of Bob Hope which confirms what you were talking about the book of by Brice Taylor the yeah sex thanks for the memories amen brother thanks for the memories of which Bob Hope working with others like Henry Kissinger and others are in the sex slave trade the presidential sex slave trade which is the highest level for these these ports and I want to thank neo personally for speaking about what you spoke about that was Brent groundbreaking radio and history-making presentation thank you neo I'm going to have neo on in a couple more weeks probably on the second week of September and he's going to come on to talk about some of the methodologies which he has used and does use that are healing a vibrational healing techniques to help people to recover that are under such types of mind control or have lived through these experiences these horrid experiences in their lives some of the techniques that he personally used to get himself to the level of health that he is now at mentally and spiritually and emotionally it's needed and and thank him personally if he's not listening please say for all of us out here that we need to hear this more it is horrifying and shocking as it is I even had to turn away for a while just to get my pairings but but I came back to finish it up and powerful presentation but my question mark in the movie Eyes Wide Shut Ness from what I understand one of the things that infuriated the Illuminati masters infuriated them was the presentation of the eight pointed stars all over the the movie eight pointed stars now I know Walmart has recently switched to a six pointed star in their logo out of nowhere and of course the five pointed star the Baphomet inside that the pentagram are pentacle what have you is his old hat that's old satanic symbol but my question is what does that eight-pointed star mean and and how does it relate to sigils and working spells just like target has recently switched to an arrow on all of their marketing materials logos and printed products from what I understand an arrow is a witch's spell being cast what does that eight-pointed star mean mark and I'll take my answer out the air you are a st. mark now you're not a saint but I got this I appreciate what you're doing man you're my brother keep up the great the good work great works for Masons good works or for good people thank you Mark you got a thanks Bob I appreciate it always great to hear from you well in my studies of symbolism what I have seen the eight pointed star to represent is an astrological interpretation of the great cross and the lesser cross combined so this is that the great cross basically gives us our position within our galaxy it is comprised of the four fixed signs of the zodiac which are Taurus Scorpio Aquarius and Leo some people refer to these as the the lion demand the bull and and the eagle the lion being Leo the man being Aquarius the water bringer the bull of course Taurus and the eagle is Scorpio this is a reference to the constellation of Aquila in Scorpio so this represents the four cardinal directions as related to the center of our galaxy Scorpio points toward the center of our galaxy along with the adjacent constellation of Sagittarius the center of our galaxy can be found right in between Scorpio and Sagittarius between the Scorpions finger and the arrow of Sagittarius so you go across and from from on the zodiac and you get to Taurus Taurus as the constellation two points away from the center of our galaxy and then you have the arm that creates the cross of Leo and Aquarius so you have a fire sign an air sign a water sign and an earth sign on that great cross of the fixed signs now parallel to that cross you have the cross that defines our solar system so the great cross is known as the cross of st. Andrew the cross of st. George is the cross of the solstices and the equinoxes so these are the this is the cross that separates the seasons it defines the winter and summer solstice and the spring and autumn equinoxes so these two crosses together form an eight-pointed star an eight-armed star now you'll see this depicted in different configurations sometimes it is two squares overlapping okay sometimes you'll see this depicted in an octagonal arrangement now the octagon is another symbol that goes hand-in-hand you'll see this in movies a lot octagonal symbolism this goes hand-in-hand with another symbolic occult concept known as the tesseract a tesseract is a four dimensional cube it's called a hypercube you won't see this in early initiatory occultism you'll see this in higher levels of initiation that people will be initiated toward the center to the symbolism of the tesseract or the hypercube this is definitely definitely dark occultism the symbol of the hypercube is I would I would say is occultism that relates to controlling the mind of someone else so this is what would be referred to as claw pot ik occultism this is the occultic principles which mind control is based upon that's what this symbol ultimately represents so I'll just give an example one of the places you'll see the octagonal symbol it's usually black you'll usually see a black octagon in dark core pata occultism the octagon is a projection of the hypercube in two dimensional space so I know that's getting a little bit complicated but if you look at a 4d representation okay like a three-dimensional extrusion you're essentially to create a line you're extruding a point to create a plane you're extruding a line to create a cube you're extruding a plane to create a hypercube you're excluding a cube if you can follow that geometrically in that progression that I just laid out well an extruded cube is called a hypercube or tesseract when you look at this extrusion from a certain perspective and you map that onto a two-dimensional plane you have an octagon this is why the Octagon is a representation of the hypercube it's a projection of the hypercube a shadow if you will okay like a shadow of a three-dimensional object on a wall in two dimensions so the shadow is what dark occultists work with they work with projections they work with the subconscious they work with the thing that is thrown off of conscious mind or the conscious aspect of the Bing and that's how they can create puppets essentially or what they call golems the golem the creature that is shaped by the magician again this is court otic magic ql i PP o th the poke klappa it's dark um mind control based influential in the sense that you're trying to influence someone to do your own will lowercase W will not the higher will okay so to create your zombies which is essentially what we're talking about with the educational system but just as an example where do we most see the octagon most frequently not even in a cult movies I'm in movies that have a cultic symbolism in it we see it on every street corner it's right there on every single street corner as a stop sign stop sign is octagonal in the in the color red which is the the the symbol of the lowest or base form of consciousness of the base chakra we're on the Tree of Life this spinal-cord tree called the sefirot ik tree it's called ma coupe so we'll get into some of this stuff when we start talking about Kabbalah when we start talking about Freemasons and we start talking about Rosicrucianism etc I'll go in-depth and all of this stuff to answer the question that's essentially my interpretation from what I have learned in my studies of the eight pointed star and its associated octagonal projection which is a projection of the hypercube the tesseract but secondarily one of the places we see this the most and it's kind of a synchronistic that you would bring up on the eight fold shape because I mentioned what I'll be talking about it the conference next year of police and military symbolism and the octagon will feature prominently in that presentation particularly the hypercube I will I will break it down and discuss what this represents and how it is you are initiated to some of this symbolism if you go far enough in in the occult but this works upon the subconscious just seeing the shape one understands what it is used for one understands what it represents and dark occult to see the band of zodiacal stars as like a prison they see the world of matter as a prison for the soul not the soul evolving and having an experience within this body that we call matter the material world um therefore they look at that which is contained within the hypercube as the material of the prison and they use the octagonal shape to represent prison bound consciousness mind controlled consciousness whenever you see the octagon used in the context of dark occultism you can guarantee and again this is according to what I have learned about it there may be other interpretations of this but according to what I have learned about it this represents control essentially mind control the symbol for mind control is the Octagon B and again you tack on the corners to the Octagon you get the eight pointed star so it is a variant just like you tack on the corners to the Pentagon you get a pentagram since this octagonal prison this box within a box okay because a hypercube can also be described as a cube inside of another cube hey you're extruding a cube into all of the other phases open to all of its phases you're extruding all of the cubes phases so you get a box within a box a cube within a cube a hypercube one of the places we see this used symbolically most frequently is right upon the head of police upon the head of police right on top of the crown chakra they place an eight-pointed hat an eight-pointed hat right on top of the crown chakra an octagonal black hat the octagon represents the hypercube which represents mind control this is placed directly upon the top of the head as a hat that is black and you think that's accidental okay they're essentially telling police out in the open we own you you're totally under our mind-control you don't have any idea what our symbolism means you think a cop has studied or learned any of that that I just explained to you why the occultus would use that symbol what they the dark cultist think that it means whether it truly truly means that or not that's their interpretation of it they're using it in that context to control the mind and to get people to continue to do things under their direction it's a mockery it's a it's a big laughingstock belly-laugh game that they're playing on people and they're getting a roaring kick out of it that the people under their control don't even understand it it's a joke to them it's a big joke to them well we're almost out of time I got a quote all right here we go caller from New York your own water birth is happening you got 30 seconds you wrap up the show hi mark I want to thank you for a great show I just wanted to say that you want to know more about what you thought about also to learn I see nothing arson I can pound my name right now empower me yes he does a great job on the sacred geometry I just wanted to say with you quoted on this show was a difference between any of us as our level of consciousness and I want that they end it with that because a learning that the true value and you know practice behind that is really getting over the differences of the supposed differences of all of us on this planet I couldn't agree more unfortunately we're out of time I thank you so much for the call I think you're right on point ladies and gentlemen thanks for listening this has been what on earth is happening I'm mark pasty I'll see you all here next week good night everyone you

Topics: Mind Control Methodologies, Indoctrination, Outcome-Based "Education," Natural Law, Controlled Opposition

[Music] welcome ladies and gentlemen you're listening - what on earth is happening i'm your host mark passio my website is what on earth is happening calm the networks website is revolution broadcasting calm today is Tuesday August 24 2010 and we are going to continue our discussion of the outcome-based educational system we have here in the United States today we started this conversation last week and I feel that this is such a critically important topic I'm going to continue in with some more about the educational system that is being perpetuated as real education um I'm going to continue that discussion this week and if we have time we'll move into some other topics this is of course an ongoing discussion about the techniques employed in mind-control so-called education which we termed indoctrination being one of the most powerful and influential mind-control techniques that is used in the battle for our minds so let me give the call-in number for this radio show feel free to call in at any time while listening the number is seven two four four four four seven four four four there's no tableau topics talk about whatever you like the number is seven to four triple four seven triple for the call ID number which will have to be entered to put you through to the what on earth is happening show is eight three five one five so the call ID number after you call call a number is eight three five one five what we do ultimately on this show is we try to get down to the causal factors ultimately of why humanity creates self-inflicted forms of suffering that's what this show is ultimately about and in that overarching discussion we came to the topic of mind control and how our psyche can be easily influenced by those who understand how to use specific tools in order to steer consciousness and manipulate it in a certain direction this toolbox is a big one there are many different components to mind control they work in an interlocked fashion and the only defense against them is understanding indeed how they do work upon us once we have that understanding we are in a better position to defend ourself against the attack of mind control techniques and we are in a better position to help awaken others to this silent war that is being waged in our world so before we get into the topic the continuation of outcome based education and the indoctrination system that is laughingly passed off as education in this country I'd like to read one event announcement and as I said I will be reading this every week until this event comes up because it's going to be the biggest event of this kind in the Philadelphia area and I hope to see the place packed I hope to see many speak more speakers added to the lineup we already have eight great speakers lined up this is going to be the conference to attend in year 2011 in the entire Philadelphia region it's called free your mind a conference on consciousness mind control and the occult free your mind is unique two-day conference scheduled for April 9th and 10th 2011 in Philadelphia PA featuring multiple speakers and diverse educational materials for the purpose of raising public awareness of the critically important topics of mass mind control techniques the covert or occult subversive influences upon consciousness and behavior trauma based and ritualized abuse and the practical mental and emotional healing methodologies available for those affected by these devices this will be taking place Saturday April 9th and Sunday April 10th from 10 a.m. to about 8 p.m. on both days the location is rubra hall at 414 Green Street in the Northern Liberty section of Philadelphia PA 19136 expenses for the conference the confirmed speakers to date Erin McCallum Andrew basiago Jay Parker alfred weber laura magdalena eisenhower michael kelly myself mark passio and just added Suzanne Taylor who is going to talk about the crop circle phenomenon and its influence upon consciousness what this phenomenon may possibly be about it is certainly an enigma and she has made a documentary on this phenomena called what on earth synchronistically enough she's also going to be showing a bit of her great documentary on the crop circle phenomenon at the for your mind conference so Suzanne Taylor just added to the conference for more information about for your mind conference check out the website free your mind conference calm it's a work in progress still adding information and speaker biographies got a couple of them up there but that will be being worked on as the conference approaches I hope to get of some more work done on the site and have it a little bit more complete in the following week so with that having been said let's jump right back into the topic of outcome based education the indoctrination system of mind control of our youth in other words what I'd like to do tonight is read some material that discusses this system and exposes it for what it is and I didn't get to this last week but I had mentioned uh this valedictorian of a North Eastern High School her name was Erica Goldson now um I wondered that I have her on the program but it looks like that just wasn't able to wasn't going to be able to happen for tonight so I'd like to read the valedictorian speech that she bravely gave back in June because I feel that she really told it like it was and spoke from the heart and you could check out this video I think I'll post a link and you can check that out in the podcast section when this goes up on the podcast page on my website tomorrow but um she was the valedictorian of Coxsackie Athens High School in New York I believe it's in upstate New York near Albany arm this speech is from her valedictorian address given on June 25th 2010 and she really let them have it is all I can say about this speech this is called here I stand by Erica Golson there is a story of a young but earnest Zen student who approached his teacher and asked the master quote if I work very hard and diligently how long will it take me to find then unquote the master thought about this and then replied 10 years the student then said but what if I work very very hard and really apply myself to learn fast how long then master replied well 20 years the student responded but if I really really work at it how long then ask the student 30 years replied the master but I do not understand said the disappointed student at each time that I say I will work harder you say it will take me longer why do you say that replied the master when you have one eye on the goal you only have one eye on the past this is the dilemma I have faced with the American education system we are so focused on a goal whether it be passing a test or graduating as first in the class however in this way we do not really learn we do whatever it takes to achieve our original objective some of you may be thinking well if you pass a test or become a valedictorian didn't you learn something well yes you learned something but not all that you could have perhaps you only learned how to memorize names places and dates to later on forget in order to clear your mind for the next test school is not all that it can be right now it is a place for most people to determine that their goal is to get out as soon as possible I am now accomplishing that goal I am graduating I should look at this as a positive experience especially being at the top of my class however in retrospect I cannot say that I am any more intelligent than my peers I can attest that I am only the best at doing what I am told and working the system yet here I stand and I am supposed to be proud of what I that I have completed this period of indoctrination I will leave in the fall to go on to the next phase expected of me in order to receive a paper document that certifies that I am capable of work but I contend that I am a human being a thinker an adventurer not a worker a worker is someone who is trapped within repetition a slave of the system set up before him but now I have successfully shown that I was the best slave I did what I was told to the extreme while others sat in class and doodled to later become a great to later become great artists i sat in class to take no and become a great test taker while others would come to class without their homework done because they were reading about an interest of theirs I never missed an assignment while others were creating music and writing lyrics I decided to do extra credit even though I never needed it so I wonder why did I even want this position sure I earned it but what will come of it when I leave educational institutionalism I will I be successful or forever lost I have no clue about what I want to do with my life I have no interests because I saw every subject of study as work and I excelled at every subject just for the purpose of excelling not learning and quite frankly now I'm scared john taylor gatto a retired school teacher and activist critical of compulsory schooling asserts quote we could encourage the best qualities of youthfulness curiosity adventure resilience the capacity for surprising insight simply by being more flexible about time texts and tests by introducing kids into truly competent adults introducing kids into truly competent adults and by giving each student what autonomy he or she needs in order to take a risk every now and then but we don't do that unquote between these cinderblock walls we are all expected to be the same we are all trained to ace every standardized test and those who deviate and see light through a different lens are worthless to the scheme of public education and therefore viewed with contempt HL Mencken wrote in the american mercury for April 1924 that the aim of public education is not quote to fill the young of the species with knowledge and awaken their intelligence nothing could be farther from the truth the aim is simply to reduce as many individuals as possible to the same safe level to breed and train a standardized citizenry to put down dissent and originality that is the aim in the United States unquote to illustrate this idea doesn't it perturb you to learn about the idea of quote critical thinking is there really such a thing as uncritically thinking to think is to think is to process information in order to form an opinion but if we are not critical when processing this information are we really thinking or are we mindlessly accepting other opinions as truth this was happening to me and if it wasn't for the rare occurrence of an avant-garde 10th grade English teacher Donna Bryan who allowed me to open my mind and ask questions before accepting textbook doctrine I would have been doomed I am now enlightened but my mind still feels disabled I must retrain myself and constantly remember how insane this ostensibly same place really is and now here I am in a world guided by fear a world suppressing the uniqueness that lies inside each of us a world where we can either acquiesce to the inhuman nonsense of corporatism and materialism or insist on change we are not enlivened by an educational system that clandestinely sets us up for jobs that could be automated for work that need not be done for enslavement without fervency or meaningful achievement we have no choice in life when money is our motivational force our motivational force ought to be passion but this is lost from the moment we step into a system that trains us rather than inspires us and now here I am in a world I'm sorry we are we are more than robotic bookshelves conditioned to blurt out facts we were taught in school we are all very special every human on this planet is so special so aren't we all deserving of something better use of using our minds for innovation rather than memorization or creativity rather than futile activity for illumination rather than stagnation we are not here to get a degree to then get a job so we can consume industry approved placation after placation there is more and more still the saddest part is that the majority of students don't have the opportunity to reflect as I did the majority of students are put through the same brainwashing techniques in order to create a complacent labor force working in the interests of large corporations and secretive government and worst of all they are completely unaware of it I will never be able to turn back these 18 years I can't run away to another country with an education system meant to enlighten rather than condition this part of my life is over and I want to make sure that no other child will have his or her potential suppressed by powers meant to exploit and control we are human beings we are thinkers dreamers explorers artists writers engineers we are anything we want to be but only if we have an educational system that supports us rather than holds us down a tree can grow but only if its roots are given a healthy foundation for those of you out there that must continue to sit in desks and yield to the authoritarian ideologies of instructors do not be disheartened you still have the opportunity to stand up ask questions be critical and create your own perspective demand a setting that will provide you with the with intellectual capabilities that allow you to expand your mind instead of directing it demand that you be interested in class demand that the excuse quote you have to learn this for the test unquote is not good enough for you education is an excellent tool if used properly but focus more on learning rather than getting good grades for those of you that work within the system I am condemning I do not mean to insult I intend to motivate you have the power to change the incompetencies of this system I know that you did not become a teacher or an administrator to see your students board you cannot accept the authority of the governing bodies that tell you what to teach how to teach it and that you will be punished if you do not comply our potential is at stake for those of you that are now leaving this establishment I say do not forget what went on in these classrooms do not abandon those that come after you we are the new future and we are not going to let tradition stand we will break down the walls of corruption to let a garden of knowledge grow throughout America once educated properly we will have the power to do anything and best of all we will only use that power for good for we will be cultivated and wise we will not accept anything at face value we will ask questions and we will demand truth so here I stand I am not standing here as valedictorian by myself I was molded by my environment by all of my peers who are sitting here watching me I couldn't have accomplished this without all of you it was all of you who truly made me the person I am today it was all of you who were my competition yet my backbone in that way we are all valedictorians I am now supposed to say farewell to this institution those who maintain it and those who stand with me and behind me but I hope this farewell is more of a see you later when we are all working together to rear a pedagogic movement but first let's go get those pieces of paper that tell us that we're smart enough to do so so that was Erica Goldson valedictorian speech to LA June 25th 2010 at Coxsackie Athens High School and I think it's highly encouraging that a young person can be that insightful and can have that firm of a grasp of what indeed the educational system in this country has become even that close to having been put through it for most it takes years of deprogramming long after one has been put through the indoctrination system to understand it for that which it is so I would like to commend this thinker because to be at that level of consciousness that that young age is uh is an accomplishment in and of itself so um I see we have a caller on the line from central New Jersey and again I love taking calls call in at any time during the show whenever you have something that you want to discuss or whenever you have something that you like to say so let's go right to the phones caller from central New Jersey you are on what on earth is happening what do you have for us central New Jersey are you there all right going once going twice gone all right when I see that someone is called in I usually try to get to the the phone call unless I'm right in the middle of a concept so be patient when you call in I guess either that person is just listening on the call in line or didn't want to go through with it so not a problem let's um let's go back to pal the indoctrination system fits into mind-control in general we talked about how a left brained educational model that has the emphasis on purely physical world things math science reading only legit logic skills only word word skills only okay math only science only these are left brain modalities when we are engaged in one chronic type of brain activity which means geared toward one brain hemisphere or another what happens is the entire neocortex suffers as a result of that imbalance we need to be balanced when it comes to the modalities of brain activity that we engage in so our brain activity needs to be holistic in order for the brain to truly be healthy the physiology of the brain really comes into play I encourage people to go back on former podcasts when we talked about the components of the brain the structure structures that exist within the brain that the three basic brain complexes of course the real structure of the brain is more advanced than that these are simplified models to help people who haven't really been introduced to any deeper level of neuroscience to comprehend essentially how the structures of the brain work and we have to understand that if we engage in left brain chronic activity and thought we are going to see an imbalance across the entire neocortex last week I posted a slide on the education system with two scans of different human brains one that displays something called global EEG coherence which is activity neural activity across the entire neocortical structure of the brain as viewed from the underneath side and really highlight the prefrontal neocortex at the top um if you look at the image to the left in that slide that's a properly functioning neocortex the image to the right is what we're turning out through the indoctrination system the outcome based educational system in the United States that is almost purely left brain inspired almost purely let geared toward the modalities of left brain only we need to engage in holistic thought processes in nonlinear thought processes and intuitive thought processes and in doing so that's how we engage the right brain hemisphere the creative side of ourselves the intuitive side the nurturing side the caring side this is the Sacred Feminine aspects of ourselves that are so lacking in particularly Western culture but throughout the world in general so this is how the brain becomes destabilized and as the brain becomes destabilized physiologically the mind and what one is willing to believe in the directions that one are willing to be led also follow suit so I ended the show last week with a question from Bob in Cincinnati we had started to get into some topics that touched upon occultism and occult symbology and one of the other things that I wanted to talk about was the symbol that is most frequently employed in education and that has to do with the cap and gown so I'd like to briefly discuss this and see if this opens up any further discussion or comments from the listening audience the graduation cap and gown is a cult symbology they are black one is clothed in a black robe now that's significant when one graduates black is a symbol that is traditionally used to represent darkness and this is a form of Oh cultic mockery the so-called graduated individual and indeed they have been graduated they haven't been initiated but they have certainly been graduated outcome-based education is a stepwise model just like other processes that work in government in financial institutions in the military in the police and in all institutions that essentially are built upon control you can't take people from beginning to end all at once they would know that something was afoot they would know that it perhaps is not in their best interest what you're trying to do to them so they have to be taken there gradually that's how indoctrination works that's how mind-control works it's a building block process it's a stepwise process well you don't go the entire distance in one fell swoop you take the person there gradually you take them there in grades and when you have them to the level that you want them at meaning you've conditioned their mind to the point where you feel that it is now they are now acceptable to enter the workforce which you want to put them into which is essentially indentured servitude and slavery before you do that you have them in front of you for one last ritual maka Lee and the ritual mockery is called the graduation ceremony and in that saram ceremony you're giving them this document that says that they've been gradually indoctrinated or graduated and putting it in their hand as a wand something that is rolled up even though you know that this person is not the magician they're not the alchemist they're not even the sorcerer because they can't even understand the sorcerers techniques they're impotent the graduation diploma rolled up like a wand with a ribbon around it is a symbol of impotence it is the one that wields no power on top of the head is a black square which sits over top a rounded black cap this is saying to the individual at a symbolic level now for those of you who want to think about this purely in the left-brain sense you're not going to grasp the concept because symbology is not a left brain concept and if you want to approach symbology like that you will understand exactly zero about it and about what it says when it speaks so if you want to continue to go on thinking that symbols are meaningless and that they don't actually speak to the subconscious part of the human mind and psyche go right along thinking that way I can't convince you that what I'm saying about symbology in general is true you can only understand that by studying symbology on your own and understanding how it is used in what instances it is used and what it is saying when it speaks because symbology is a language and there is a language that only once someone has made a study of can one decode it it's like learning any new language that one has no grasp of or one initially exposed to it so we touched upon this a little bit last week when I briefly discussed the concept of the symbol of the Octagon of the eight pointed star and the hypercube related topics that are related to mind control in general and I in answering Bob from Cincinnati's question I had begun talking about symbols in relation to mind control since we're talking about the educational system I thought it'd feel it's appropriate to talk about this symbol of the black square now for those who may be somewhat familiar with Freemasonry which is something that we're going to talk about extensively on future shows when we start to discuss and penetrate occult systems and occult philosophies and occult ideologies we will talk about the symbols of Freemasonry and one of the most important symbols of Freemasonry is the black and white checkerboard floor you will see this in free Masonic temples lodges you will see this in they're tracing boards that they give to initiates to study to contemplate to make meditate upon what this symbol ultimately means in the system of allegory and symbology that is Freemasonry is it means base consciousness that is what the checkerboard floor of the house ultimately means in symbology it is it is explaining to the person that you in your state of unconsciousness in your state of not having been yet fully initiated to truth and wisdom you are a wanderer between light and darkness yet you do not have the spiritual discernment to know truly know which is which and this is a true concept this is not something that is just made up by the people who developed the system that we call Freemasonry it is not just something that people randomly believe in this is a symbol that is stating a truth in nature a truth in how things actually do exist in the world that we live in because there are an overwhelming abundance of individuals who have no idea how natural law principles work and we've talked about natural law extensively on the show we'll continue to talk about that more so as the week's progress I'm going to say a bit about natural law tonight in relation to what we know how we know it and the whole indoctrination system that people are put through that we call the public school system of Education they're putting upon the head this symbol of the black square in the black and white checkerboard pattern that is used in Freemasonry and another occult systems as well the black square represents darkness it represents ignorance it represents the condition of not knowing you one could also say it additionally represents nations and I've made the distinction between essence and ignorance quite clear on previous shows but I'll restate it again Nations is not knowing or understanding something that one could not reasonably have the expectation of knowing by never having been exposed to it ignorance is not having information about something that one would reasonably have the expectation of having known at some point because of the information that they do have at their disposal so in in this distinction I would unequivocally state that the human species is largely in in a state of ignorance mass ignorance not a state of mass nations ignorance is deliberately ignoring something that you do have the reasonable expectation to be able to comprehend because that information does indeed exist within your grasp and you have the ability to take in that information through exposure to it because it is made available and there are people who will violently deny this and violet violently say if that is not the case case that the human species is simply nations that they could not reasonably have the expectation of understanding natural law principles of understanding the truth of what is taking place on this planet and that this information is completely suppressed from them and what I say to that is total bunk total bunk nonsense and I can't make it any clearer than that I'm just going to state that as fact that's total utter nonsense the amount of information that it exists in this world of good critical information that exists in this world is so overwhelmingly staggeringly immense that it can barely be even comprehended by anyone it's ignored flat-out ignored okay it's ignored by people who should know better and want things to continue like this that exists purely out of ego purely out of selfishness and it's ignored by people who - just think they have enough information to get by in life and their ego will not let them see how ignorant they indeed are because that might admit being wrong that's what it ultimately comes down to folks the most powerful three words in the English language I was wrong and I say this to the so called educators out there who may be listening when the ego has you you can't admit that you're part of a system that's doing more harm than good also it can't get you admit that you may not have all the information that you need to understand what's really taking place around you that's what ego ultimately is the inability to admit that one is wrong the inability to look at additional information that can bring light to something that is taking place in one's environment that's what ego really is the force that has the hold of the mind of the individual so much the hope that has hold of that psyche and the spirit indeed of that individual that says I will not allow you to admit that you are wrong about this let's go over the cliff into the fire first but never say those three words so getting back to the symbolism of graduation this black square is placed in a subversive position okay it's not carried by the person okay it's not on their shoes right it's on their head it's not only on their head it's on the top of their head right at the location that is traditionally referred to as the crown chakra the Voort Fortis of energy the vortex of energy that is the highest spiritual flow of energy that bursts forth from the human body and connects with the universe this is the chakra that is associated in mystic traditions with the attainment of enlightenment along with the third eye chakra of on this chakra point at the top of the head is place this black covering a black cap and above the black circular cap okay so put in a superior position to even the circular shape that surrounds the the neocortex okay they're putting the circle around the neocortex but covering it in a black dome and then above that they're putting the square the square elevated to the position above a circle just as we talked about last week the octagon elevated to this position on a cop's hat now you're not just at you don't just have the single square but the double square the mind control is completed not only do you believe in nonsense you're willing to enforce it and violence through the initiation of undo force what you don't have the right to take against other sovereign individuals so they're doubly insulting the cop who wears the black octagonal a cornered hat right out in the open to anyone who has any eye and any ear to understand the language of symbology and this is very basic symbology the black and white checkerboard floor very basic symbology the black square see it's it's saying that one it that the being itself is a checkered quote-unquote checkered person they live the checkered life see this is a word pun word puns are also used in occult symbology particularly particularly when it comes to mockery of an individual through symbols and again this will be my topic of discussion in my presentation at the free your mind conference I'm giving you a small taste of it here but I'll be going extensively into the symbology of police and military and showing you how they are the most ritually mocked people on this planet and the occultists who own them and they do own them they do okay I wanted to rage against that fact in my youth when dark occultists in my involvement with them told me to my face we own these people like dogs and call them dogs I could not bring myself to accept that that is the was level of control that they had over the person's mind and you know what folks here they are here's the big three I was wrong there it is there it is right from my mouth because they have a far greater level of control over these people's minds than I ever would have imagined and I raged against that individual telling me that that one day when I said I'm going to expose this I'm going to explain to people how their their mocked and ridiculed and what you really think of them and and they said knock yourself out boy knock yourself out good luck good luck one person went so far as to say to me if we came there and tried to explain to people what we actually do what we actually think of them and the power we actually have over them through our institutions they would look at us to our face and not believe us what chance do you have good luck and that that was hell that I left dark occultism ladies and gentlemen along those lines no concern zero concern zero concern that I could ever affect the minds of other individuals to take them out of that level of control because they know that it's not Nations they know that ignorant that this person deliberately and willfully chooses to ignore reality why because they don't want individual responsibility of their own actions they would rather be used as a thug to do the bidding of someone that they know subconsciously even consciously to a certain extent is their owner is their owner and I'll say that to any cop to their face I don't care if they're a member of oathkeepers I don't care if they're a member of police and military against a New World Order or any other tenth picture group that exists out there that thinks to control and the initiation of violence is morally acceptable I'll tell them right to their face because I worked with the occultists who owned them owned them outright I know I get a little bit emotional when I talk about this topic I know I've a tendency to start you know getting a little bit uh loud and forceful with my voice but hey that's how I am that's my that's my personality I feel I'm given powerful and potent and important to understand information and sometimes I get a little bit passionate about it so let's go back to the concept of the checkerboard floor of the house this is the floor of the house because it represents the floor of the brain it's called the floor of the house in free Masonic parlance in their symbolic um description of what what this represents this black and white checkered floor symbology where do we see this well we see this in the game of chess because a chess master owns and controls the pieces they tell the pieces how to move and what to do on the board they're not on the board they're above the board they're sitting off the board they're off the square see in Freemasonry to be told that one is on the square some people think that that is some kind of a compliment you're being insulted if you're told you're on the square X you're being told you're in base consciousness you're in the chequered life of your living the chequered life of a person who doesn't truly understand natural law principles you want no light from dark if it smacked you in the face you're a wanderer on the floor of the house meaning in the reptile complex of the brain because that's ultimately what this checkerboard floor represents the base consciousness of survival only physical world identification cut modality consciousness that's what the checkerboard floor represents the object ladies and gentlemen is to get off the checkerboard floor and to climb the ladder to the gods unity consciousness and access to that is only granted when you go past the tracker board floor and you go up the middle pillar which is the unification between the left and the right brain hemispheres I'll talk about this extensively when I cover is the symbology of Freemasonry just a little bit of a taste tonight to understand how this black square is used in the ritual mockery that is called a graduation ceremony and it is ritual mockery it is not done by people is not invented by people who do not did not understand this symbology it was invented by people who clearly understood this symbology it is propagated by people who have no idea what they're even propagating have no idea that they're continuing a ritualized occult mockery of a non initiated but a gradually indoctrinated dupe a dupe okay this is another reason here it's more green language this is why they called the people who wear the double square a copy Co P a cop cop yeah you can get into the whole thing that yes it meant copper because copper you know is what the badges are made out of etc so forth and so on it doesn't make a difference the word works out in green language in synchronistic symbolic language to be cop which one could render as copy.c Oh P copy okay it is a dupe one who has been duplicated a clone and indeed that's what they are carbon copy cutouts who all have been conditioned to think the same thing namely that they have the natural law right to initiate undo force against people because their masters told them to do so and guess what even the people who think that their lawful police is they're going to uphold constitutional rights through force you don't understand how natural law works you never have and you don't want to admit that you're wrong about how natural law works you think you're ever going to create adherence an understanding of natural law and force and you're wrong the end you don't understand how natural law works and you don't understand that you're only pumping more chaos into the system by thinking that you're going to do that brute force you're not and you're wrong the end and the sooner you admit that the sooner you stop being controllers and thinking that control is any kind of a solution no matter how violent humanity would ever get with each other and you start to understand natural laws the answer and you start to understand that only the proper propagation of the understanding of natural law through voluntary understanding through putting this information out there in a coherent way is the only way that we can ever solve the problem of the low level of consciousness that this species exists in are you ever going to make any progress you're never going to do it through control sorry to break that to you cops started right that to you military okay but you're you exist in a total state of ignorance and the symbols you wear are demonstrating that to you and telling it to you at every turn and your owners are telling you that at every turn okay you don't want to hear it but you're going to hear at least from me you're going to hear it okay so that's the symbology of the checkerboard floor of the house and Freemasonry for anyone that has a true understanding of what those symbols really mean and indeed this is the exact consciousness that people are bred to be in upon coming out of the indoctrination system that we call quote/unquote the public school education system in the United States so that is the symbol of the black square that is placed upon the head in a black robe right upon the crown chakra the squares place and it's a mockery the person is being told you know exactly zero you're in darkness you're our dweller in darkness and we're putting that right on your head to confirm it and you have no idea what it even means and again they do this doubly so for cops not only don't you understand what you're a part of you're willing to take action action in your ignorance so we'll double the square we'll put two of them in the form of the octagonal hat and indeed look at police regalia in England they wrap the checkerboard floor of the house the symbol of the floor of Solomon's Temple and Freemasonry which represents the brain and the the checkerboard floor represents the base brain or the arc complex they wrap it around the neocortex in the band around the Hat of the cops in England is wrapped the checkerboard floor of the house and indeed they go even further to insult them it's lay it's laughable it's it's actually if it weren't so sad I would just I would sit there and belly laugh like they do because I heard them right from their lips to my ears as I've said hysterically laughs about this it's a joke to them folks it's a laughingstock it's a big belly laugh joke they're mocking people in the open and they're too dumb to even understand they're being mocked and you know what in a lot of ways men and a lot of ways folks I really think that even if they did understand it they would just continue to go along with it they love their servitude they love the fact that they have masters they love being owned because it absolves them of their personal responsibility to learn anything they want to be dumb they want to be ignorant they want to just be used and abused and pushed around and told what to do so that they can say I don't have to think I just do in rote like a robot I just do I don't think and we'll talk about how their mock through through numerology as well they're told that all you do is do you don't think and you don't feel it's a joke to the occultists that own these people and you know what I don't even try to say they don't own them anymore they do loan them they own you log stock and barrel owned owned you don't understand your own sovereignty you don't respect sovereignty and others therefore you're owned totally owned wholly owned rapping symbolic symbol the symbol of vase consciousness mind control and pure ignorance around the the neocortex of the brain and in it look at look at um police hats in England they wrap this this checkerboard floor right around the brain of the Duke of the copy okay wrap it right around the brain and then on the third eye they put a double square yeah exactly right on the third eye chakra right on the forehead the badge of the police in England is a double square but good luck with with not wanting to admit that you're duped about it good luck enjoy enjoy what you got enjoy the state of mind control you have that's the symbology that is employed in indoctrination when it comes to the education system and that's simple symbolism symbolism builds from there folks this is building blocks this is this is ABCs if you can't conceptualize what I just laid out and you can't understand that the symbolic concepts that that's conveying to the subconscious mind once it is decoded at the conscious level you're going to be very very hard pressed to understand more complex symbology because symbology gets very much more complex than that yet it always conveys simple ideas and in this case namely the person doesn't understand light from dark they dwell in ignorance on the floor of the house in the base brain the symbology of the black square placed on the crown chakra a ritual mockery of the non-initiated so it's the top of the second hour let me give the call-in number again and the call ID number for the show anyone that wants to talk about these topics anyone that wants to go deeper into occult symbolism anyone that wants to bring up any further information about the indoctrination system in this country feel free to call in - what on earth is happening at seven two four four four four seven four four four once again that's seven two four triple four seven triple for the calling ID number that you have to put in when you call is eight three five one five once again the call ID number eight three five one five we're going into the second hour of tonight's broadcast and I want to read a little bit more continuing with the discussion of the indoctrination system and indoctrination in general as a vehicle for mind control I want to read a few quotes from some good documents that can enlighten people to what's really going on when it comes to education the first is from Charlotte is Ruby who I mentioned last week and posted a video to my podcast page she wrote a book called the deliberate dumbing down of America I would highly recommend this book I would suggest that anyone wants to learn more about the outcome-based education system and how it functions and how it was put into place read her book the deliberate dumbing down of America her name is Charlotte is or beat Charlotte is CH ARL OTT II and is ur beat is I ser be whitey Charlotte is ur beat is a couple of quotes from the deliberate dumbing down of America the tradition the traditional definition of education like the one given in the new century dictionary of the English language is the drawing out of a person's innate talents and abilities by imparting the knowledge of languages scientific reasoning history literature rhetoric etc these are the channels through which those abilities would flourish and serve I want to read that whole thing again because I think it is critically important to understand a good definition of what education really is and this I feel is a good one this is from the new century Dictionary of the English language and Charlotte is or B is quoting this in her book education is the drawing out of a person's innate talents and abilities by imparting the knowledge of languages scientific reasoning history literature rhetoric etc the channels through which those abilities will flourish and serve channels through which they would serve the individual this is known as a liberal education meaning it is the methodology of learning through which one is freed liberal arts education I spoke earlier today via phone with John Irvin of Gnostic media podcast he's going to be on the show probably in a few weeks he has been getting into the Trivium system of education which is based upon the liberal arts is based upon grammar rhetoric and logic John is moving forward in with his work in a great direction to help people understand what it truly means to think what is being critical how can we develop those tendencies in ourselves in a way that literally is like lifting weights you want to build muscle you lift weights to do that you exercise to do that you eat the right foods to do that well there are methodologies to which one which one can employ that will result in a true education and that is what the liberal arts are I would encourage people to check out Trivium education comm it's one of John's sites going back to Charlotte is urbeats book the deliberate dumbing down of America after she gives this definition of what true education is she says a quantum leap was taken from the above definition to the new dehumanizing definition used by the experimental psychologists found in an outline of educational psychology this is a book by Rudolf hint-hint nur ein Tian er which claims that quote learning is the result of modify ability in the paths of neural conduction let's just think about that just that first sentence before we go further he's saying learning is the result of modify ability in the paths of normal conduction period period but never saying to what aim that is to what purpose to what goal that may serve continuing with Rudolf Pinter's definition of learning explanations of even such forms of learning as abstraction and generalization demand of the neurons only growth excitability conductivity and modify ability the mind is the connection system of man and learning is the process of connecting the situation response formula the situation response formula is adequate to cover learning of any sort the situation response formula is adequate to cover learning of any sort and the really influential factors in learning readiness of the neurons sequencing time belongingness and satisfying consequences ladies and gentlemen meaning outcome-based the ends justifies the means and the ends is all the goal is about all the whole process is about that's all it's about the ends that's it we have in mind where we want to take you from the beginning and this system is just a process to complete those ends continuing with Charlotte is urbeats analysis and um the deliberate dumbing down of America she says an in-depth understanding of the deplorable situation found in our nation's schools today is impossible without an understanding of the redefinition in the above statements education in the 21st century will for the majority of youth the workforce training thus the need for Pavlo Nyan / skinner skin' aryan methodology based on operant conditioning which in essence is at the heart of the above dehumanizing definition of education this sowing of the seeds quote-unquote through redefinition will react the death of traditional liberal arts education through the advent of mastery learning which we talked about last week when we discussed the nazi's system of outcome based education which they called master learning which they borrowed from the soviets from the the film enters of the Bolshevik Revolution which used outcome based educational to implement their system of socialism and communism so it's ultimately this is Soviet derived and of course that system goes back further into antiquity but in the modern age it is concretize by the Soviet system she says that this will react the death of traditional liberal arts education through the advent of mastery learning outcome-based education and direct instruction all of which will be performance-based and behaviorist meaning it will simply be based on a grading system not true learning it will simply be outcome oriented to to create in the person being indoctrinated the behavioral patterns that are wish to see by the engineers who invented the system the social engineers who invented the system that's all it is it is to create a specific set of behaviors and by any definition you want to call it folks that's called mind control when you gradually give people only the information that you feel that they need to inspire a set of behaviors that you have in mind for them that is called mind control continuing with is repeats of book from the deliberate dumbing down of America this is from another chapter that a quote new age of collectivism has emerged and is being implemented right now under our very noses in the noxious 90s which is when she wrote this book with little or no outrage from the public or our elected officials can only be attributed to the deliberate dumbing down of Americans who haven't been taught the difference between free enterprise and planned economies which is socialism between group thinking and individual freedom and here's the big word folks responsibility the reason they can get away with this the reason that it goes on practically uninhibit because people in general want to run away as fast as possible from the responsibility of solving their own problems in an equitable and peaceful way the end that's it folks and you know what at the risk of even insulting my small listening audience most people who even listen to this show probably don't want to accept that we don't want to accept that this is what our species has become and again I talked about the word becoming and how it is an occult concept in and of itself the concept of becoming because an occultist knows that there is very little human nature just as Erica Goldson said she is shaped she was shaped by her experiences and her peers we learn in a shared fashion by what we are exposed to but you know what people have exposed the truth about what is going on in the world cookbooks and podcasts through videos the lectures the conference's on and on and on ad infinitum there's so much information about what's really going on in the world there's no excuse for not understanding this there's no excuse for continuing to go along with an immoral system that is based upon violence there's no excuse anybody's still doing that anybody still in that state of consciousness is a willfully ignorant dupe so there I said it equally in in deep ego are people that don't even want to admit that is the case they want to make excuses for the human popular they want to say oh no they're they're ready to accept responsibility they really want to know what's real they want to know the difference between truth and fantasy they want to learn natural law they really don't folks people largely want to remain ignorant and they want to continue to shirk personal responsibility and that's why the way that they're going to be forced to learn by nature itself is by fire by fire they're going to be forced to learn don't say I didn't warn you and don't say I didn't try to tell you so anybody who's listen or who could propagate this information anybody else this is the hour that we are at and that time is coming upon the human species because once again instead of accepting responsibility excited looking at truth openly without fear we're realizing where we have come realizing where the refusal to understand the self the corner that it has backed us that this refusal has backed us into we are going to send ourselves down a path that none of us are going like one bit and you know what it will have been richly deserved because the laws of nature are never failing they work 100% of the time unceasingly and flawlessly it is we who refuse to accept this and to that end to the understanding of that I want to read a couple more quotes which take us down a little bit more of a deep and occult understanding of this which has traditionally been hidden from us until modern times in this vast information explosion and the advent of many enlightened people who are walking the earth right now desperately trying for the betterment of humanity to try to get this information to be more readily accepted by the individuals who the dark occultus of this world referred to as the dead this is a quote by R Buckminster Fuller I would highly suggest people look at this man's work R Buckminster Fuller fu ll er Fuller said the dark ages still reign over all humanity and the depth and percepts persistence of this domination are only now becoming clear this Dark Age / this Dark Age prison has no steel bars chains or locks instead it is locked by misorientation and built on misinformation caught up in a plethora of conditioned reflexes and driven by the human ego both warden and prisoner attempt meagerly to compete with God all our intractably skeptical of what they do not understand we are powerfully imprison in these dark ages simply by the terms in which we have been conditioned to think I would say we have been conditioned to not think I would also say his use of the word God where he says we are caught up in a plethora of conditioned reflexes and driven by the human ego both warden and prisoner attempt to meagerly compete with God I would say that his use of the word God and his explanation is totally interchangeable with natural law principles it's one in the same they're the same thing folks people ask me sometimes what is enlightenment and I say enlightenment is the full and complete understanding of every beings sovereignty and the total willingness to accept the responsibility to honor that complete sovereignty in all others that's enlightenment that is what enlightenment is and there are so so tragically few individuals alive on this planet that are at that level of consciousness that it's beautiful it is pitifully sad I'm not saying this to in any way discourage people I'm trying to lay out the road we need to go down to get to the light this isn't my road this isn't my way this isn't a my ideology this isn't my beliefs this is actual point of fact reality about how natural law works it can be known it's a law of nature it can be discovered and it can be lived according to it can be lived by and if we don't do that soon the universe is going to wipe this slate clean folks it's not you think nature's going to allow this what we're creating here to continue forever unchecked unabated and we're going to get out of this situation unscathed good luck with that attitude if that's what you think enjoy enjoy what's coming if that's how you think because in her destroyer quality the goddess is going to arrive here in full sway and the lesson is going to be learned then folks it's gonna be learn then and it's going to be learned in the most uncomfortable way that we can possibly imagine when in fact we had the opportunity to learn it in a way that could have benefited and served that which we are and furthered our evolutionary progress in consciousness continuing with another Buckminster Fuller quote here's where we start to get into natural law a little bit and I'm going to complete this and hopefully we can get some calls um to discuss some of this if not that's fine I'll continue to go on and we could either wrap up some more things about outcome based education or we can start to explore new topic and the methodology of mind control so I'm going to read a couple more quotes the first is by again by Buckminster Fuller fuller says that fact that 99% of humanity does not understand Nate is the prime reason for humanity's failure to exercise its option to attain universally sustainable physical success on this planet and I won't just stop there at that first sentence because that is demonstrable of enlightenment this person is enlightened that's what enlightenment is that he gets that that he fully understands that is the state known as enlightenment and it's not something else folks ok the New Age movement wants to propagate a lot of total crap about what enlightenment is ok it's not this attainment of some kind of unreasonable perfection that the New Age teachers these New Age goons want to want you to believe that enlightenment is that's not what it is this is what enlightenment is right here what our Buckminster Fuller is describing now I'm going to read it again the fact that 99% of humanity does not understand nature is the prime reason for humanity's failure to exercise its option to attain universally sustainable physical success on this planet and I think that's one of the greatest quotes that has ever been spoken out of the human mouth or written down by a human hand there's the whole story summed up in one sentence folks if you that's all you need to know essentially goodnight that's it in continuing with this quote instead I'm sorry uh where was I here okay success on this planet the prime barrier to humanity's discovery and comprehension of nature is the obscurity of the mathematical language of science true science fortunately however nature is not using the strictly imaginary awkward and unrealistic coordinated system adopted and taught by present-day academic quote science you see the distinction that is being made here Nature doesn't use the arbitrary language that we do in academic science it uses unswerving law the prime barrier to humanity's discovery and comprehension of nature he's not using the word belief in there nothing mavey believed he's saying that this is a discovery and a comprehension it's an understanding it's not a belief the prime barrier to humanity's discovery and comprehension of nature is the obscurity of the mathematical language of science fortunately however nature is not using the strictly imaginary awkward and unrealistic coordinate coordinate system adopted and taught by present-day academic science true science doesn't use obscure language it uses very simplistic elegant to the point matter of fact language truth is always simple and elegant and can be understood by anyone so long as the ego is not so calcified and hardened within the individuals consciousness that it will not allow them to admit when they make mistakes our buckminster forward ladies and gentlemen illuminatus enlightened one and in keeping with that the next quote I would like to read you comes out of the Rosicrucian tradition for the greatest Rosicrucian offers and again I don't have to believe and accept every single thing than anyone says to really quote I don't accept and believe every single thing Charlotte Ezra Beach says I wouldn't say I accept every single thing that our Buckminster Fuller says I wouldn't I don't believe or accept everything that Matt's Heimdall has ever wrote but he has much wisdom and has communicated in voluminous books he is a prolific author in the Rosicrucian tradition and this quote will help you to understand this person's wisdom he says quote it should not be too difficult for any person of average intelligence to acquire a knowledge of at least the outlines of the scheme of evolution now let me stop there okay and and just clarify a little bit about what he really means and I do know what he means because I have further read this work and I understand what he means by these terms these using because in some people these terms may cloud the issue of what he's actually saying so I want to explain what the terms he's using do in fact mean in the way he's using them so when he's saying a person of average intelligence he doesn't mean left brain only intelligence he is talking about holistic intelligence a person of average consciousness that has learned a bit that has been initiated to a certain level it should not be too difficult for those people who have started to break down those barriers of ego and indoctrination okay and started to admit to themselves in some ways that they were wrong about what they previously believed and the opinions that they previously held too he's saying shouldn't be too difficult for a person of average intelligence to acquire a knowledge not a belief again hear the word knowledge is being used to acquire a knowledge a knowing of at least the outlines of the scheme of evolution and here he is not referring to Darwinian macro biological physical evolution he is referring to the evolution of the human spirit and the human consciousness that is the term of what he means when he is using the word evolution in this context so continuing with the quote by Max hind out and if anybody wants to take a look at some of Max Hein Dells work this is freely available on scribe com see our IBD on just an immense incredible resource for anyone seeking knowledge an eclectic variety of books and a treasure trove for anyone that wants to explore the occult world because there's a lot of material up there folks and there's other sources but scribes is a good one I like to give that to beginners sign up it's free download any book you want for the most part okay Hine Dalls work almost in totality I believe is up there Google Books has some of his works as well his name is Max hind ow hei n ve el hind L this quote comes from his book known as the Rosicrucian Cosmo conception so I'll start it again it should not be too difficult for any person of average intelligence to acquiring knowledge of at least the outlines of the scheme of evolution that such a knowledge is of the utmost importance will we think be conceded by every intelligent individual we live in this world governed by the laws of nature under these laws we must live and work and we are powerless to change them it means we are powerless to change these laws of nature that's why they're not tendencies of nature they're not opinions of nature they're not beliefs of nature the laws of nature they're not theories they're laws they're the only real laws that exist in reality that continuing with Heindel quote if we know them and intelligently cooperate with them meaning the laws of nature these nature forces become most valuable servants if on the other hand we do not understand them and in our ignorance work contrary to them they become most dangerous enemies capable of terrible destruction therefore the more we know of the working methods of nature which latter is but the visible symbol of the invisible God the better able we shall be to take advantage of the opportunities it offers for growth and power for emancipation from bondage and for elevation to mastery Moomin artists there it is folks that's it that's what real education is that's the goal folks if you're not there you're not enlightened the end that's it understand how natural law works you think this is taught anywhere in the education system in the United States or anywhere in the world for that matter good luck finding it until we properly morally educate our youth upon the tenets of natural law principles this planet will eternally be a prison and no evolutionary progress in consciousness is going to be ultimately made and hind though fully understands that if we know and intelligently cooperate with these forces meaning natural law they become most valuable servants if on the other hand we do not understand them and in our ignore rent notice he didn't use the word nations in our ignorant of them we were contrary to them then they become most dangerous enemies capable of terrible destruction and you know what ladies and gentlemen that's the path were on sadly that's the path were on but let it be known let it be known there were individuals doing the great work on this planet they were trying to explain that to the ignorant let it be known let it be noted and note it well that's all the quotes I have and I think that wraps up an analysis of what the education system is ultimately trying to prevent us from an accurate understanding of that is why we have the education system that we do erected that's why it has been erected to prevent that understanding that I just spoke and for no other reason are pumping out creatures out of this system that have absolutely no understanding of the laws of nature what so ever zero less than zero

I mean they're in Reverse they have less than zero knowledge and yes there is such a thing it means not only don't you know you think you know something that is completely and utterly wrong and you believe that to be true it's called negative knowledge you're attached to believing in a lie in a deception and you think that that's wonderful and that it's true and that you need to propagate that understanding to other people reverse knowledge there is something called knowing less than nothing and sadly that's the kind of people that are being pumped out of public schools in the United States and I have no qualms in speaking that to people that listen to this show because it's the truth it's not an insult no one's being insulted here if you recognize your ignorance there's a myriad opportunities for learning for true learning but you have to be eclectic about it you have to take information from a wide variety of sources and then you have to weigh that information critically and you have to start looking at who am I going to believe what sources and my going take as as knowledgeable it r-tard what is what I wrote here knowledgeable to people do you consider these individuals with what they spoke do you consider them wise do you think that what they're explaining has wisdom continued in it that can help us that can benefit us in our evolutionary journey well if you do then act upon it I certainly hear wisdom in their words we have a caller on the line from New York caller from New York City you're on what on earth is happening go I want him on a great show thank you I wanted to say that I came out very right-brained oriented yes but one thing I notice is people I control system and you move around a they understand that their negative intentions and they understand the natural law I think perfectly that they know how to just reverse it for for the service itself and negative side of it therefore it manifests itself in our lives physically was you know they're just a little minor you know for control and manipulation and sorcery you know like as you would say and onion movie you're gonna be right about that they do know these principles very well they know them they're masters at them and they're masters at manipulating those principles to get what they want through the ignorance of other people who do not understand those principles the only way out of that are you learning I was a principles yes continue the one more thing I was going to say is one thing we have to start using a lot more we were one thing the system is over here so yeah I'm not for boys anyways it's missing the very sacred sentiment off feminine side to it you know it's very masculine oriented you know you know survive flight fight or flight mode that sits throughout you know eight years 12 years whatever you're doing because all this is a bowl and it's whoever gets to the top of the greasiest pole you know I'm pretty much absent that's all like so bait if you have a system like that for 50 80 years you know plus it's just repetition of that it you know it's just manipulated repetition it gets better it gets more concise and hidden and that's why I think the people of people bones in it a lot of its hidden and for us if you're not even aware to it or even a weight to it so it's going to manipulate its gonna affect you in ways that you're not even understanding why that your life is filling us in a certain direction to be a good person but you're not unified in your mind body and spirit so it's not going to Adeem universe doesn't respected as much absolutely and that's a profound understanding sir absolutely from universe is going to respect unity over duality any day and I you know people will rage against that I raged against it for a long time to when I had to admit to myself that the universe is granting the the dark occultists what they really want because they're unified with themselves it doesn't even matter if they're doing good with it or wrong with it I mean at a higher level of course it does but the way the physical laws work upon this plane through through the mind they're going to continue to get the outcome they are seeking simply because they are unified and on the same page and the people they are manipulating are not that's it that's how it works and read about it all you want but that's how natural law works yeah we don't don't even know to be unified you know they're not even sure what they should be unified against because they're all they're all against each other you know Republican Democrat female and on gay straight whatever the cases were you know I had a teacher that told me that you know by the time were in a world or three-quarters of that quest die of AIDS and you know the blood on the flag will represent you and stuff like that you know that was like sixth grade you know and he was a great teacher you know we needed a very successful career but you know he said things like that and there's a Sheree Club you know I'm gone I just wanted to make that you know that's they even want to go out there because I know that all the people were definitely were in that class with me you know so I'm sure it affected them you know you don't even think he heard it at one point you thinking we need to say that you know you try it you're spending spending like rico's of is rest of your day thinking did he really just say that you know you don't even realistic we later on you don't even realize how that could affect you you know how did it you know until you go back analyze and you know you realize that where he was coming from the system that he was in and you know what his goals and purposes were marina so uh I just want to say that you know no way to change it is through love I agree I agree and that that is expanding our own consciousness and helping others to do that very same thing and I think you got have a profound understanding of this and I hope you continue along that path and thanks for calling tonight thank you much a great name you too take care never ceases to amaze me the great calls we get here on this show uh makes me feel like there is a hope caliber of callers that I have never ever seen in any other radio show anywhere that's all I have to say about the folks who call the calling to hear and thus far it has been a pleasure to talk with people over the air on this show so you don't have any other callers so I want to briefly touch upon something that was just said by that last caller he said that it's this indoctrination is based very much on repetition and this is a mind-control technique that is one of the most profound and effective techniques when you keep repeating something over and over and over and over and over and over it doesn't even make a difference how true it is in people's minds who are not very conscious you can repeat nonsense over and over and over and they will accept it as something that is true simply because they have heard it over and over and over so many times repetition fuels the reptile complex it also fuels an imbalance toward the right brain hemisphere because the right brain is the acceptance part of the brain it is the brain that wants to take in information like a sponge it wants to absorb it the color that is associated with the right brain that is that is the most apt color to use when you want to garner someone's acceptance is blue bloom frequencies in general appeal to the left brain hemisphere and they the blue frequencies place people in a somewhat more suggestible state than they would be in ordinary waking consciousness without an abundance of that frequency in their visual field anyone can confirm this is true and that best way to confirm it is simply turn on your nightly news broadcast in your local area and just look at the abundance of the blue frequency that is used in the news cast this is where you get the repetition over and over and over and over saying the same things week after week night after night month after month year after year and when we look at words we understand we will begin to understand if we pick apart language see the word language has been used several times in this broadcast and we will continue to talk about language and how critical languages to shaping and molding opinions and and mental processes and behavior the word dictator and this can be confirmed in any Latin dictionary okay the word dictator means to repeat over and over means to speak over and over and over again that is what the word dictator mean Akaka comes from dick ter a in Latin which means to speak so to be a dictator is to say the same thing over and over and over that's how dictatorships happened things are repeated incessantly until they take root and once the idea the bad idea is rooted an evil tree sprouts up from those bad ideas Hitler understood this he said to bring the will of the people along is easy you just keep saying the same thing over and over and over again and eventually they will believe it right from Hitler's mouth himself because he understood how this principle of repetition and indoctrination works so that is a valid and really enlightening point to bring up in connection with the school system repetition and again we see that the word itself is very closely connected with the word reptile so I just popped open a Latin dictionary program here on my computer and I looked up the word dictator it is the future passive imperative of the verb dicto dattari and it means to say repeatedly often or frequently right there dictator the words we speak carry meanings that are often hidden we have to get to the root meanings of words and then so much is revealed so another thing that the last caller brought up which is profound and reflects a deep understanding of how mind control essentially works is he brought up dialectics he brought up controlled opposition he brought up pitting people against each other in Servet of liberal democrat republican christian-muslim we talked about this a bit when we brought up the divide and conquer strategy what I want to begin to transition into and we'll start to discuss this more next week we can ride out the night with a very brief explanation of this and this will be the mind control methodology that we discuss over the next show will be controlled opposition and again that the topic of opposition was brought up duality so that this is a very not only a profound call but a synchronistic call that happened because many of the concepts that this gentleman brought up in the last call is critical to understand about how indoctrination mind control and controlled opposition work and that happens to be the next topic that I'm going to be discussing on the next show when it comes to the methods of mind control controlled opposition is essentially a means of playing to polar forces polarized forces off against each other such that the required outcome is assured you know that when you mix two different chemicals together you get a certain compound well if you understand how one particular polarized ideology works and you also understand how the antithesis of that polarized ideology also works when you pick these two polarized forces against each other you are assured that the outcome is going to be geared in a certain direction this is known as a dialectic d I a l ec TI c dialectic elect elect array in Latin is to create to make via in Greek means through so this is a vehicle of creation the path that you would go through to create your desired outcome that's what a dialectic is it is a synthesis it is taking two polarized forces which last caller referred to as thesis and antithesis one thing and it's opposite playing them off against each other and in doing so you have achieved a desired outcome that was pre-planned no surprises because you know how the chemistry of both of these polarized forces works to begin with you know this because you created the dichotomy you created that schism in the first place so you know how they work and in knowing how those polarized forces work you are assured of the outcome with no surprises and people who are rooted in a Dominator mindset don't like surprises or deviations from their plans they want things to work as smoothly as possible in ways that don't upset the applecart and don't create anything that was unforeseen for them that's how they work so going to I'll type into my Latin dictionary here you look Terry you [Music] okay it comes from lettuce it means chosen or picked selected so a bit off from created which is what I brought up but it is picking something out of a limited amount of choices so via lecto dialectic would mean to steer in a certain direction through certain choices and that perfectly describes what a dialectic is you're looking to get from A to Z and you want to steer the decisions by influencing the mind and the behavior patterns of individuals based on a dichotomy two polar forces pitted against each other so the most widely recognized of these dialectics is politics politics is one that can clearly be seen to be a dialectic in this controlled oppositional paradigm see to get people to conform with your will and to think that it is the vert will you need them to believe that they are doing something that they strongly believe in that is in opposition to something that is attacking their position so you create two parties you create conservative and liberal you create Democrat and Republican and then you influence someone to strongly identify based on some of the tenets of these ideologies you get them to strongly identify with these positions and then you create the opposite so a Republican once fiscal conservation they want to be conservative with their with the money that is spent then you create the opposite you create the Democratic Party that will largely endorse tons of spending and government projects and nanny state incentives and you get these two opposing viewpoints to constantly conflict with each other you know the Democrats will advocate Imperia Republicans lovicott imperialism and spending money on foreign policies that are interventionist most times Democrats will advocate social reform programs and spending money on uh you know giving people things that they aren't creating in and of themselves so the nanny state programs the arm being taken care of from cradle to grave government as protector and caretaker and this dialectic is constantly put forward in the media then you see the further controlled opposition you have people in the liberal media like on MSNBC you have people in the Republic in the conservative media like on Fox News and they're constantly hammering on each other's position and waging ad hominem attacks etc etc and it's all simply for the show it's all simply for the puppet show to get people to think that there are real power invested in these institutions known as the Republican Party and the Democrat Party and that the real leaders are voted for they're elected from these parties and that they have power and influence and that voting is a solution for human freedom and electing people to be your representatives as a solution for human freedom see this whole politics show this whole dialectic this whole pitting one side against the other it was brilliantly described on his program by Alex Jones it is indeed the Royal Arch stronger structure in architecture in creating a structure the arch there's just about no stronger structure than the arch because the two forces coming in from each side are creating an enormous amount of strength for that structure in their opposition and leaning against each other dialectical mechanics it's a critical thing to understand about how mind control works and this is going to be fully expanded and explored in the next show I guess I'll leave that at about right there for now next week on the show we will be talking about the whole concept of controlled opposition and other people have referred to this as the Hegelian dialectic and indeed that is what it is and we will talk about how that manifests as a methodology for control over the human mind for now that's all for this week I thank everyone for listening as always great callers to the show let's hope that that continues in coming weeks I'm out of here for tonight folks listen in next Tuesday night at 7:00 Eastern you've been listening to what on earth is happening hit hit my website at which you have to punch in after you call the call-in number so today we are going to continue our discussion on the methodologies of mind control with the sixth general methodology being controlled opposition which what I will explain what that is I began the explanation of that late in the program last week but I want to very quickly review the techniques that we have covered thus far so far in our discussion on mind control we have talked about abuse occation which is basically making an idea or a concept obscure or unclear or confusing to someone completely bewildering this keeps the person's mind in a state of manipular bility able to be manipulated able to be controlled from a distance if someone is not clear about concepts and ideas and understand indeed how things actually work in nature according to natural law they can be easily manipulated and controlled we looked at the types of obfuscation that occur we that the obfuscation of simplicity because truth is always simple with complexity the notion that it is impossible to know the truth because it's too complex much too complex why bother even beginning a search for truth it's too complex for you to comprehend to begin with so why bother when in fact the truth is always simple and it is simply based upon general building blocks the one has to grasp in order to go forward into a further explanation and a further exploration of that which is we looked at the obfuscation of principles which are truths based in natural law with man's law lowercase L man's law we saw that another technique of obfuscation is the the replacing of Dominion which is the control of oneself of one's own thoughts emotions and actions the rulership of the kingdom of self as we called it and replacing that with fear of punishment which is based in man's law and it is the lowest possible consciousness which anyone can take any action in the fear of punishment we looked at the obfuscation of gnosis knowledge true knowledge taken from direct experience with belief systems institutionalized belief systems of all kinds being raised to obfuscate truth and knowledge or gnosis and finally we saw that obfuscation works upon true individuality the true worth of the self and it obscures that with culture which is a local operating system that essentially Rob's the individual of the most unique expression of their individuality which is the ability to think for oneself the second technique of mind control that we looked at over the last week's and again these are all podcasted and available on my site on the podcast section at what on earth is happening comm we looked at world view poisoning and this is exactly what it states in the words to be it is poisoning someone's way of seeing themselves in relationship to everything else we saw that this works upon three basic modalities the poisoning of how one sees basic human nature and we saw that in effect there is much more nurture taking place than nature at all one is essentially programmed from very young a very young age and that is what one's world view becomes based upon because it is being put into a certain world view through what one hears what one reads what one takes in from one's environment I likened it to the allegory of the movie Trading Places which again I can't recommend highly enough and it is a veiled Masonic allegory in what it is putting forward as well because there are two older rich gentlemen who have a bet going that they can change the nature of one of them bets the other that you can change the nature of two other people one who is a very low consciousness individual of a street oriented and essentially has little respect for others and others value and property etc and the other person is a very rich socialite works on the stock exchange floor and has the best of everything born with a silver spoon in his mouth as they say and there's a bet between these super-rich elitists as to whether they can actually make these two individuals switch places in effect and the the person who really doesn't understand how it works and thinks he knows who eventually does lose the bet thinks that human nature is set in stone and is a product of simply genetics and it's just like that from birth and the other person thinks that it can be changed depending on the environment that the person is put in so an interesting story ensues in the movie and I highly recommend people watch it because I think it is a very accurate reflection of what human nature is and is not we saw that that has everything to do with worldview poisoning this second technique of manipulation that we looked into the second component of worldview poisoning is to poison one's view of the value of themselves what is the value of an individual is it a number is it how much money one has in their bank account is it what kind of car they drive how how their lifestyle is how they live or is it an ineffable quality is it something that is essentially limitless is it infinite because it is based on the true inner being or the spirit of an individual that animates everything well a worldview poisoner wants you to accept that you have you have value based on a number that can be assigned or taken away based upon what you have physically in the world and this is a total obfuscation and a total technique of mind control called world view poisoning the third component of this world view poisoning is the elimination in someone's mind of the possibility for change because once you have uprooted the human imagination and eliminated one's thought processes from envisioning change is possible of taking place you have the person exactly where you want them and they are very likely ever to revolt against your view of the world the third technique of mind control that we looked at in past weeks was the exploitation of primal subconscious fears rooted deep in the human psyche we saw that these fears were the fear of darkness the fear of being preyed upon of predation predators the fear of abandonment by a strong father figure and the fear of ensuing chaos as a result of these other eventualities coming to a head namely darkness prep predation and abandonment these are ancient psychological embedded fears that are embedded deep in the subconscious mind that we all carry some of us carry these consciously and understand them and work with them but most of us carry these unconsciously and that is why they can be exploited by the controlling type the person who wants to get into the subconscious understand how it works and exploit that to their benefit at the expense of others the fourth overall mind control technique that we explored in past weeks was the divide and conquer strategy divide and conquer this is the methodology of exploiting our perceived differences from each other and we saw there were there was multifaceted ways that this divide and conquer strategy takes place through sex through age in class through religion through politics etc etc we're going to talk about this again tonight in relation with controlled opposition because for opposition to take place there must be division and this is one of the ways the controlled opposition works to conquer people so technique number four is intricately interwoven with technique number six which we'll be discussing this evening number five was indoctrination and we just wrapped up over the last two weeks a two-part series on outcome based education which is the system of so-called education that we have in the United States today and indeed throughout the Western world throughout Western civilization we saw that this is sin the technique of mind control known as indoctrination that is what our children are receiving in public schools in the modern world a good indoctrination but not a very good education or the ability or education being defined truly as the ability to think in a critical manner and that's not what is being received in the public school system that we have in the United States today it is an indoctrination system and I encourage people to go back and listen to these past two shows over the past two weeks because I think they revealed a lot about why people fight often for years to come out of the mind-controlled state that they are put into through the education system in this country and oftentimes it takes more years than the indoctrination took for them to really wake up as the term goes to actually arise from that unconscious slumbering state that the indoctrination system has placed them into since they were very very young that is why the state wants to get hold of children at the youngest age possible and keep them in that controlled paradigm that the public school system is so good at reinforcing so today we are going to talk about the top the concept of controlled opposition or what I began explaining last week is known as a dialectic a system of dialectics so we'll be talking about what opposition is we'll be talking about what a dialectic is and will specifically be getting into something known as the Hegelian dialectic and this will be a good introduction to that topic which we will be covering much later in in shows in coming weeks when we talk about the concept called chaos sorcery often previous weeks about magic versus sorcery and how these are very real psychological techniques magic being the art and science of influencing change to occur in accordance with higher will with the will of nature the will of the universe and sorcery being manipulation to create change in accordance with the lower will which is the ego driven will of the sorcerer himself or herself of course controlled opposition is a technique of this overarching concept sorcery and it is a technique of mind control which is the vehicle for sorcery controlled opposition is setting two seemingly antithetical sides against each other in a play in an act in a fiction in order to gain I higher ground from which one can witness and control the conflict that ensues that is what controlled opposition is it is getting to opposite sides to essentially sit across from a game board like a chess board and play game yet the third component the third side the ultimate master that is setting these two sides against each other always wins out in the end because they manage the conflict and they manage the spoils of the conflict war is the ultimate example of a controlled opposition of a dialectical mechanic operation in work opposition in general is the resistance it gives resistance that's what opposition is it is tension it is conflict that's what opposition means opposition is resistance that is expressed in either action or argument that is what the definition of opposition is so it can be expressed as competition between rivals it can be expressed as a political rivalry between parties and we will talk about the political parties as an aspect of controlled opposition we see this in sports teams this is also a dialectic getting people to root for their favorite team in in different cities setting cities against each other getting them to identify with the local the local baseball team or football team when in fact all they're really doing is giving over money to be entertained for a little while get emotionally involved in something because they may lack this in other areas of their lives namely emotional involvement and good times and good feelings and then to essentially clean up on everything that you could possibly sell them the ticket price the price of food the price of merchandise and on and on it goes one of the best examples of controlled opposition or dialectical mechanics is professional wrestling and indeed pro wrestling is essentially what politics is they work exactly the same way it's all a staged event it's all a passion play the wrestlers are friends behind the scenes they'll go out for dinner after an event they go down to the arena they beat each up beat up on each other for a while and yes of course their bodies take physical tools because the bumps that they take a real but the outcomes are all stage and predetermined and they're cleaning up on ticket sales on food sales on merchandise sales more than anything else and then the wrestlers like each other in the background and they'll go out for a meal or go out to a bar afterward and hang out and it is all simply to satisfy something that is lacking in the psyche of the individuals taking part in and accepting the play the fiction as truth that they can invest themselves in in politics this is done because people are lacking a vehicle for really creating change in their own lives because they don't know themselves well enough to do that on their own so they always want an external figure to create change and to better their lives for them therefore they're encouraged to go out and vote for one of the two political parties one of their two representatives their elected officials of these two political parties and in doing that they believe that they are going to receive change that they are going to get something in return that they really truly need and that they seek and that is critical for them to have in their lives that will bring something that they formerly lat which is knowledge of self and at the end of the game at the end of the day they're still going to lack that knowledge of self we're still going to be looking on the outside for something that they lack on the inside because you can never get it from an external dialectic you can never get it from controlled opposition you could never get it by being by agreeing to be represented you can never get it by taking emotional involvement and taking part in a controlled play in a controlled puppet show it's that was never real to begin with although many people will go to their graves thinking thinking to themselves that this is real that there is something to politics that there really is differences between left and right but there really is differences between conservative and Republican the conservative and liberal between Republican and Democrat between conservative and labor if you're talking about British politics it's all controlled by the same dynamic forces and those are the forces which essentially rule the financial world and the banking institutions and ultimately these are the occult forces that ultimately rule the mind and thinking of the people of Earth and ultimately determine through their manipulation what to other people is reality and again I am saying this from the perspective of what reality is only in their own minds not what it actually is see that's why the controlled oppositional paradigm is in place it's to get people to look at the puppet show you can open up the curtain and you can look at the puppet show just don't try to walk up on the stage close enough that you can see the strings and certainly do try to follow those strings up to where they're actually being pulled by the puppet masters and look at get a good glimpse and look at who they are and how they actually work this manipulation of puppets that is what the political game is so opposition resistance expressed in action or arguments will see controlled opposition in media you have the liberal media you have the conservative media and people really believe that there's a difference between these they get involved in Noam Chomsky's politics okay the leftist liberal he'll they'll really really here go to here what he'll have to say when he won't touch anything about real mind control and manipulation that's taking place from the highest levels he won't touch the occult but he'll talk about you know war as a conflict resolution you look at the right side you look at Sean Hannity or Bill O'Reilly or Glenn Beck well are these guys talking about the high level financial manipulators at the Federal Reserve no because they'll lose their jobs if they did because the Fed and the people who own the Fed also own basically all the media outlets in this country and they'll shut down their shows and put them on the street real fast if they started talking about that so these guys have boxes set limits that they have to stay within controlled paradigms there's a limit to what they can say and express or who they can go after or shine light upon if they're doing harm if they're manipulating people that you won't hear them talking about the Federal Reserve I talk to people who watch Fox News and they actually think that they're well informed as a result just because some of the talking heads on fox speak out against the current socialist administration there's left-leaning administration it's only in there for a reason because if there's only one political party eventually people will realize that it's all about total control and they'll be opposition built up against that there will be change resistance there will be a desire for change and there will be resistance for that one force because it will be able to be clearly seen as a mechanism for total control in order to allay that force in order to combat that resistance that would come in you need an opposing force the opposing force leans upon that initial party to create a very strong architectural structure a very strong foundational structure of the entire architecture and that is an arch an arch is where two opposing forces are leaning against each other in architecture and that is one of the strongest shapes that exists in architecture this is because opposing force forces create a greater strength that than either one of the two forces that they could exert on their own in combining them the forces much greater than they could ever exert on their own so you lean two pillars together or you put two political parties together and you get people swaying back and forth between them one attacking the other one getting emotionally involved and then basically playing off against the others ill deeds bush just got out of office a couple of year years ago all the harm that he did to this country and everybody was thinking Obama would come in and be the savior because they're they're ready for change and he sold it to them he sold it to them like a bag of popcorn at a movie okay came in there promising them the world and is leading the country further into the world socialist regime the world fascist regime known as the new world order or the one-world government or just one hundred percent total control in the elimination of all human freedom that's all it really is that's all both parties at the highest levels that's all their agenda is because they're working for the same masters and their masters want that goal their international banking overlords want that goal the owners of the Fed want that goal so it doesn't matter what political party is in you can vote all you want unless change is created at a grassroots level and it is and is created through the changing of one's consciousness the internal qualities of the self one's own thoughts one's own emotions and one one's own actions in the world and these being in keeping with moral principles you're never going to see change reflected on the outside by any other means don't wait for it don't expect it it will never happen that way it will no Savior is coming to save us no political party member no matter how well-intentioned he is working through the political the corrupt political system is going to right these wrongs is going to correct these problems it isn't going to happen through an external mechanism it's all a dialectic it's all to get you not to look in the mirror and look at yourself and to work upon the self it's all a distraction it's the cul-de-sac before the goldmine as they say as the expression goes you're looking to get to the gold mining and in the maze there are many cul-de-sacs but just before you get there there's a long Carter and there's a few cul-de-sacs off to the left and right to get you spinning around in circles so you never actually reach the goal which is the true elevation of consciousness and the true opening of the real eye that sees how it all works so for any party believers shall we say that actually believe in the political paradigm the left-right paradigm they may be listening I would doubt that we have many people listening to this show this far into it that actually accept that that false dichotomy that left-right paradigm of controlled opposition it is all an illusion no better case of the illusion of the political left-right paradigm in the political aspect of controlled opposition than the 2004 presidential election the 2004 presidential election was between George Bush jr. and John Kerry now at first glance one might say well one is a neoconservative George Bush and the other is a liberal Democrat John Kerry in Word yes that may be true but if you look at the background of both of these individuals they're both members of one of the darkest occult organizations on the face of the earth known as the order of Skull and Bones the order of Skull and Bones out of Yale University a very very restrictive and elite club that recruits individuals from Yale that they groom to the future world leaders and in this case out of the 15 people that made the members of the Skull and Bones recruited for the skull bones any given year to are running for president both of them members of a highly elite occult organization known as the order of Skull and Bones both Bush and Kerry member years of this lodge which is known as the order of death and the symbolism is very clear the symbolism of the Skull and Bones thought and action combined the skull was the symbol for thought where the brain is where thought takes place and the bones the symbol for action or will but what is missing from the equation is emotion or empathy or spirits that is devoid in those their groom in this organization because they are simply groomed to do whatever is necessary to put forward the agenda of their owners of their family elite bloodline masters because even people at this level have owners and we talked about how police have owners Heather just following orders the military have owners and their owners mocked them at every turn going so far as to put dog tags around their neck telling them in the open that there are their dogs and I've said over past weeks this is the word that is used in the dark occult from firsthand experience I've been involved with some of these organizations myself from firsthand experience they only have two words for people that they call people in general in the world they call people the dead the dead yeah and they call people and they call their controller class our dogs the dead and the dogs wonderful human beings we're talking about at these levels of manipulation and that is basically how they view even people who do their bidding at lower levels like politicians it's simply their dogs they're on a leash they're at the end of the end of their strings and I'm talking about the strings of the real manipulators high level of cultists that really formulate these methodologies know how they work and understand how to implement them at a deep subconscious level only by knowing these techniques can we really steel ourselves against them only by really a deep understanding and appreciation of how these techniques really work can we really put on any kind of armor any kind of protection against these methodologies and there are so few that understand truly how they work I had a discussion with someone that you know thinks that what she's seeing on Fox News is wonderful cannot see through the controlled oppositional paradigm as yet we need to break down that paradigm and understand that there's something that is controlling both seemingly polar forces but these polar forces are really working together hand-in-hand to accomplish the same goals so opposition this can be expressed through adversaries or competitors in political rivalries sports rivalries philosophical rivalries it's a basic contrast between two seemingly polar forces what is known as an antithesis things that are are in antithesis with each other direct conflict and what controlled opposition is ultimately is managing that conflict such that the outcome of the conflict will be in the favor of the one manipulating and controlling the conflict war as I said is one of the biggest examples this is two countries battling for instance who once wore who do you know what common person do you know once war who would you go up to on the street and say do you want war and they say oh yeah I love it love it it can't wait for another I hope it goes on forever how many people you know that that's their attitude about war hardly anyone yet war is continuous and ongoing constantly well if no one wants it how could it be going on constantly well there are people who want war very few people ever see or meet them these are these high-level occultists that I am speaking of they're really in control of this entire game they're the people who manufacture the weapons they're the people who manage the debt of the conflict as a result of having to purchase the weapons and the fuel they're the people who own the fuel and need it out in the limited quantities that they that they need it out to create this this consciousness of scarcity and limitation they're the people who who suppress alternative energy technologies so that we're stuck on these quote-unquote fossil fuel based fuels so they are managing the mechanism through the mechanisms through which words are fought which is weaponry energy and the money that is needed for both of those things which results in enormous immeasurable debt debt which is borrowed against these high-level controllers financial institutions is barred from their high level financial institutions central banks that lend money to governments and then they end up as the controller's of the outcome which is the debt that arises from fighting the wars to begin with so often they'll fund both sides they'll fund both sides they laugh at all the death taking place at people killing each other for no reason except their own amusement that's what the real controllers of the world are kicking back doing while you think soldier out there well while you think you're so glorious in war and you're doing such a deed for your country and you're eliminating the evils out there overseas your owners are given a huge belly laugh laughing at you hysterically they can't laugh hard enough they're crying tears are dribbling down their cheeks they're laughing so hysterically it's a big knee-slapper to them and it's a gigantic valley laugh and I'm telling you from firsthand experience this is how these people think I know this this isn't my opinion I know this but believe what you want believe what you want there are those who try to tell you that you're owned and that they own you because they own your mind so while you're out with all of these grandiose visions of honor and glory and serving one's country your owners who consider you their dogs like Henry Kissinger who said that military men are dumb animals to be used as pawns and foreign policy not my words one of the manipulators of the world who controls and strategizes over troop movements Henry Kissinger who advises military leaders and presidents about how to how to essentially use the bodies of their dogs and you can think my words your harsh all you want okay I'm the one trying to tell you how it works do you want to get angry at the messenger you go right ahead get his angry as you want freak out all you want bite by someone saying this to you soul dire right in the word right in the word of somebody that they manipulate to believe in these controlled oppositional paradigms like war like politics okay right in the word you're being mocked openly you're being called the soul dire soul meaning one the death of the one the death of the individual the death of the sole meaning the spirit think about it it's right in the word I mean you're not even looking at the word about what of that which you call yourself and they call you a soul Dyer and you think that's an accident that's hilarious to your owners hilarious but get it offended as you like because you're still doing their bidding and still not seeing what it's really about did there go into the bank while you're going to the grave and sending other people who had nothing to do with what you think they had something to do with to their grave which you have no natural all right to do but because you don't know enough and because you just listened to what other people tell you and you don't follow order and you just follow orders just because you want to be absolved of personal responsibility and thinking for oneself that's all it's about and no one would convince me that that's not what it's about that's all it's about that's all people by controlled opposition for they by controlled opposition because they do not want to think period full stop that's why people buy in the controlled opposition they don't want to think for themselves they want somebody else to do their thinking for them represent them and their interests and they think they're going to come out on top they're going to come out ahead by by letting other people do that they think their lives are going to work out wonderfully it's just all magically and majestically going to work out for their eternal self betterment by letting other people think for them and represent their own interests good luck with that let me know how that works out for you okay what these controllers what these sorcerers these occultists are looking for is exactly that mentality they want people to willingly of their own accord of their own free will hand over to them their ability to manage their own lives make their own decisions and essentially think for themselves and their all don't be all too happy to do that for you at the expense of your own freedom your own sovereignty your own ability to make the decisions about what is best for you in your life and eventually at the very cost of your life itself because in giving over all of these powers to these individuals you're basically saying yeah I admit that I'm owned by you you could essentially do whatever you want with me my consciousness my body and that's what war is and that's what all military is someone else claiming ownership of your body like a piece of property and you don't have enough self-respect and I'm saying those two words in the true definitions not what you may think of as self-respect but what that term really means I'm talking about higher case as self not the ego self not the body the true self which we talked about the qualities of in past shows the true dynamics and aspects of self you don't have respect for that you don't know what that is because you don't know yourself if you knew yourself you wouldn't even join an institution that asks you not to think you not want to be any part of that because you would know who you are you would understand yourself you would know the psyche you would know the mind you would know the soul and you certainly wouldn't join to become a soul Dyer and again think all you want that that magical language or what's known as green language isn't real and it isn't really saying something to you and your subconscious go and think that all you want you're totally fooling yourself and you're the one who's being played played like a fiddle and like I've said before in past shows bowing down to this oppositional paradigm and giving one's own ability to make one's own critical thinking decisions over to a third party you're not really being played you're playing yourself they don't have to play you you're doing it to yourself ultimately see that's how it was the dynamic that's really going on what's really happening is you are playing yourself like a fiddle you're not even really being played at some level okay they're all too happy to tell you what they think of you to that you're dumb stupid animals to be used as pawns imagine saying that to another living thing you are my dumb animal to be used as my pawns in my game of chess and

I'll give you dog tags to prove it to you animal imagine this and you fall for it and think that this is something to look at as honorable honorable and let's put it this way folks here's where I'm different than other people and what I'm doing is I'm not playing the finger outward you may think that initially I'll turn it around and point it right in word hey I formerly worked with some of these people and I held their worldview I was mind-controlled I was under their influence I actually bought all the Miss Anthropy the hatred for humanity that they were putting out that they based their ideology upon okay what the difference between me and someone who holds with a stranglehold grip on their belief systems is I was able to say to myself upon realizing what it was about I was wrong I was able to say the three most powerful words that can ever be spoken through human lips I was wrong my ego was not that calcified that I couldn't see the error of my own ways and also what makes what I'm saying different than what how some other people will simply point fingers outward and never take a look at themselves or those around them see people will get offended by this because they'll have a husband in the service they'll they'll get offended because oh my father was a soldier they'll get offended because my brothers in Iraq right now man don't talk about him like that see it's all an emotional attachment all emotionally tied up in the controlled opposition so they'll say oh I support the person but not the war okay so you support the person this is another mind control technique you know supporting the person who is a cop taking people's natural law rights away from them telling them that they can't assemble and speak and protest supporting the soldier who's killing innocent people in foreign lands that had nothing to do with things that are claimed that they had something to do with oh you support the person but you don't support the thing that the person is doing well you can't separate those two things you can't say I love this person but I hate what they're doing you can but you're in denial you're totally fooling yourself this those two things are one in the same the person's actions are an aspect of their own consciousness and therefore it is with the dynamic that they are choosing whether their mind controlled or not to put out into the world and therefore make this world what it is and you have to come to an acceptance of that and the object is not to support these control paradigms like war like politics voting for a leader believing in the two opposing sides of the media or newspapers or religion there's another big controlled oppositional paradigm we'll religion in my believe in all an illusion all another form of mind control government the form that works upon the left brain that calcifies and the left brain and religion the form that calcifies in the right brain just two oppositional tactics to split the mind because that's all they're ultimately trying to create opposition in is the mind that's this battleground that's where they have to create division that's where they have to embed divisive ideologies us versus them we got to go get them before they get us the police seeing things in total us versus them mentality a friend of mine who I won't name told me a couple of days ago that he he's in a position where he works with police in this city and he overheard conversations of them and this is how disease this is how mentally ill some of these police are and I believe I've talked about this police have mental illness the reason people don't understand why police act in the deranged ways that they act because they don't understand that they have literal brain damage through living in the left brain and the arc complex of the brain all the time their entire lifestyle is set up about

Total Immersion in the physical and Total Immersion in total survival always looking at the next person that comes up to them is somebody that may potentially be a danger to them or a threat against their physical well-being that they have to be on guard against this is our complex consciousness the our complex being the very base level of the brain I started talking about the symbology of this last week in relation to the first degree tracing board of Freemasonry which I posted as a picture on the podcast section for last week's show and how police are mopped and and ritually and symbolically mocked through the emblems that they wear like a checkerboard floor being wrapped around their head on their hat this telling them symbolically through Masonic symbolism that you are totally in base consciousness you are essentially an animal in consciousness one who is incapable of reasoning incapable comprehending or even conceptualizing natural law doesn't understand truth from falsehood light from dark natural law from total deception and they're being told this not in words or through symbols through a symbolic language that their owners know they're too stupid to even understand or comprehend so my friend was telling me about cops that he works with he is not one but he works in a supportive capacity that's all I'll say about you know the actual profession he's in said that he over here overheard two cops saying how much they enjoy shooting dogs dead when they enter in a break-in in a situation where they have to break in to someone's home to let's say confiscate drugs or make arrests or or uh you know take people into custody they enjoy the first thing they do regardless of what the dog the situation of the dog is whether it's under control attacking them or not they put a bullet in the dog and they said they love doing this because what they really want to do is just have the total right to go and shoot anybody they want and put a bullet in people without any any excuse so they know people won't make a big uproar or a big stink about a dog being shot because oh if it was attacking the officer of course they had to defend themselves it was an animal was an out-of-control animal see if they just broke in and put a bullet in somebody they'd have to justify their action you know they'd have to justify that action say why did you kill the person maybe they weren't armed maybe they weren't really threatening you you can you know do analysis through forensics about what the situation that was actually occurring in the room when they shot that person but a dog no one's going to stand up for the animals rights not be shot and killed so they can easily get away with that and they were talking about how much they loved doing this imagine this the animalistic consciousness do you have to be in through this controlled oppositional paradigm of us versus them and how this locks in with divide-and-conquer so real quick I want to read a general definition of what a dialectic is so we'll start looking at what dialectics are are and how they work in different aspects of society we'll take a look at the Hegelian dialect based on the philosophy of Georg Wilhelm Friedrich Hegel German philosopher we will take a look at another controlled oppositional paradigm called the New Age movement if we have time today okay right now it's the top of the hour okay a little after the top of the hour we have a little technical difficulties in the first hour so I'm running a little behind schedule but no problem I want to give the Colin number again I see we have a caller on the line caller that's holding please hold on I see you on the switchboard I'll get to you in a moment the call-in number seven two four four four four seven four four four once again the call-in number seven two four triple four seven triple for the call ID number that you have to punch in when you call in is eight three five one five once again the call ID number eight three five one five you're listening to what on earth is happening I'm your host mark passio my website is what on earth is happening calm and let's uh let's pick up where we left off with a definition of what a dialectic is a dialectic is a dispute or debate that is especially intended to resolve differences between two views rather than to establish one of them as true I'll read that one more time the dialectic is a dispute ation or debate especially intended to resolve differences between two views rather than to establish one of them as true that's the actual definition of a dialectic now in terms of philosophy this term originally applied to a method of philosophizing by means of Question and Answer employed by certain ancient philosophers notably Socrates this is who a dialectic is traditionally a um get given to as the the inventor of so it is it traditionally attributed to Socrates as the person who essentially came up with the philosophy of dial dialectic mechanics so it applies to philosophize by means of question and answer this is called the Socratic method and it is essentially the art of conversation if you really want to get down to it it is learning and changing through conversing that is ultimately what of the real definition of a dialectic is so this is not sinister the idea in and of itself does not carry sinister connotations okay if we look at the word dialectic which I started breaking down last week diya in Greek means way or through by way of brew and lacto lack Terry or Lexus means a choice Lexus is choice dia is through so it means through a choice by discussing something by conversing by questioning and answering we are discovering the truth through comparing things and choosing the better between them that which elevates us to a higher level and that which serves who we really are that's what a dialectic really is so in and of itself it is nothing that is inherently bad or evil it is how it is used it always determines whether it serves us or whether it serves toward our detriment so we have to keep that in mind so let's look at the word conversation a conversation is often a form of a dialectic it is two people who never share the exact same view they converse and in the outcome each one of them comes away with something new and somewhat different it shapes their view a little but the word conversation in itself in its in its etymology reflects this the prefix con Co n in the Latin language means together or with and the second part of conversation or converse is verse or a verse over sorry which means to change or to turn in the context of to turn it mean it doesn't mean to turn physically it means to change like leaves turn a different color the seasons turning okay they changed so verse re means to change to transform so what does conversation really mean is to change together in a true conversation not a debate but a true conversation a debate is where someone is holding firm to what they believe and is trying to win an argument they're not trying to change they're trying to have that argument rule in a conversation people bring forward different ideas and they each take something from what has been discussed and questioned and um sent back and forth as an exchange between the two of them and in the end a synthesis emerges they each come away with something new and different so that's what a true conversation is it means to change together and it is a positive form of a dialectic there are negative forms of the dialectic which is controlling and managing the outcome of some sort of adversary adversarial behavior or competition we've already talked about war we have talked about setting people off against each other at police and the general public that's a dialectic politics is a dialectic religion is a dialect all of these are negative dialectics meaning they don't really serve who we are and all they do is they create more opposition they create more conflict in society they never resolve disputes and really help people to grow and learn they only ever create more tension and more opposition more being the biggest of them all so Hegel's dialectic known as the Hegelian dialectic is an example again and this has positive connotations as well as negative but in the modern day most controllers refer to and exploit haggles dialectic in the negative sense to play these two polar forces against each other and they manage the conflict the outcome of the conflict the Hegelian dialectic is known as artificial conflict resolution artificial conflict resolution meaning it's manufactured it's based in conflict between two opposing forces and there's a resolution involved that always works out to the way that the people who are manipulating the conflict one it works out to their advantage so I'm going to go to the caller in one moment I just want to read what the Hegelian dialectic is all about the Hegelian dialectic formulated by Hegel is the framework for guiding our thoughts and actions into conflicts that lead to a predetermined solution guiding our thoughts and actions into conflicts that lead to predetermined solutions this is accomplished by manipulating consciousness into circular or patterns of thought and action the cul-de-sac before the goldmine folks manipulating consciousness into circular patterns of thought and action spinning your wheels on the big hamster wheel they runnin and going nowhere you watch I'll get out of this we all just run faster good luck with that that's how most cops think that's how much most soldiers think that's how much most people who are committed to all institutionalized institutions in general whether it be education which we talked about in the last couple weeks whether it be banking institutions whether it be political institutions whether it be control based institutions police and military religions and on and on and on it goes committed spinning their wheels they've been manipulated into circular patterns of thought and action in their consciousness that's why they never do anything different because they never think different when they change their thoughts they'll get off of that hamster wheel and they'll be able to take new action that is of true benefit to themselves but until they change those thoughts and realize the controlled opposition the dialectic that is being played upon them they'll never get out of that hamster wheel and that's exactly where the controllers want them continuing with an analysis of the Hegelian dialectic this is about opposition's being managed meaning you have a set a thesis that you play off against an antithesis its opposite it's polar opposite to create a synthesis that you manage artificial outcome resolution artificial conflict resolution in which the outcome is is managed the education system that we talked about is a perfect example of this you can't have ignorant kids well what's going to be done about that let them come into our educational system and we'll give them a proper education as we see it we'll set the curriculum for that therefore their outcome is kids that can't critically think and therefore question what they're being told by their owners the synthetic solution to these conflicts can only be introduced once those who are being manipulated take a side that will advance the predetermined agenda so the synthetic solution can't be introduced unless those who are being manipulated take a side that advances the agenda that has already been chosen in other words they want the mice to go through the maze and go through into the other room but they give them a choice there's there's there's two mazes and ultimately they go into the same box the mouse can choose one or the other at the beginning but they ultimately lead to the same place you know the game we're here pick a hand if you pick the left hand I'm going to smack you in the face if you pick the right hand I'm going to smack you in the face it's just your choice the mother who can't get her her child to eat their vegetables and always is in a fight with them at the dinner table so now they say hey Johnny do you want your do you want to have corn or if you want to have peas do you want to have potatoes or do you want to have um a cauliflower whatever doesn't make a difference they're giving them a false choice you just want them to eat some kind of vegetable without an argument so you give them the option to pick one and they think they've made the choice when in fact there was never any choice to begin with they were going to eat some form of vegetable with their meal you just made it look appealing by giving them a choice and you're playing to their ego oh I have a choice in what I'm going to eat see all about the ego I have a choice about who I'm going to what what puppetmaster I'm going to vote for it's ultimately controlled by a international banking cartels and the occultists that on them oh well thanks for giving me the choice because it just makes people believe that they have a modicum of freedom when they don't the outcome is already predetermined they know where they're going from the beginning they're just giving you the choice to take yourself there willingly a fake choice a fake paradigm a fake way of seeing reality all based on their worldview all based on their ideologies you don't really have a choice when you're voting you get the choice between two puppet masters that's what politics is it's an example of dialectic mechanics and it is a specific example of Hegel's dialectic this is controlled opposition artificial conflict resolution manage the conflict so you can manage the outcome of the conflict let's go to the calls caller you are on what on earth is happening what do you have for us this evening caller are you there all right I'm talking to guest number four on the switchboard going once going twice gone all right anybody wants to call in and discuss controlled opposition the call-in number is seven two four four four four seven four four four the call ID number eight three five one five either that last caller had technical problems or just got a little bit nervous no problem so the Galleon dialectic in particular is one that philosophically comes out of socialism from the last century and I can read a little bit of something from a Soviet encyclopedia that explains its idea of what dialectics really are so this is from an encyclopedia called the great Soviet encyclopedia and this is how they define dialectics this is interesting particularly in light of the fact that this country is moving ever increasingly faster and faster toward a socialist regime that is essentially also fascist in its underlyings through the corporatism that takes place in this country so this is a marriage of corporate fascism and Marxist socialism and that is what is really being propagated by the people in positions seeming positions of power in politics but it is simply because their financial overlords want that system to bring in total financial control and ultimately total physical control once they have advanced this dialectic a little bit further along the line by creating enough chaos so this is the definition of a dialectic according to a Soviet encyclopedia it is the doctrine of the most general principles of emergence and development whose internal source is viewed as the unity of conflict between opposites there it is right there from a Soviet Socialist encyclopedia a doctrine of general principles who sources viewed as the unity of conflict between opposites thesis meets antithesis to create synthesis synthetic union an organic Union a synthetic one meaning predetermined artificial conflict resolution that's what this is ultimately about that we have to understand the general concept of what controlled opposition is much more so than we need to illustrate the examples we could talk about the examples all we want but unless we understand what the underlying psychological motivating factor of dialectical mechanics is don't really understand why they set it up like this why is this much more efficient of a system than it than a dictatorship a dictatorship is the prison you can see out in the open the bars are right in front of your face you know you're under control but a dialectical system that gives you the illusion of choice that you're a participant in the political process you never understand that it's ultimately a dictatorship that is managed by the financial elitists quote-unquote you'll never really get that you can keep the mind going in the circle that is talked about in that definition of the Hegelian dialectic pretty much indefinitely and that's why so many people in this country are spinning their wheels and still have no idea what's going on because they've fallen psychologically for this technique of manipulation this is a mind-control technique I have another caller on the line here if I see your call immediately go to it at this point sorry for not getting to a couple of other callers earlier I was on a roll there and I apologize so caller from southeastern Pennsylvania you are on what on earth is happening go hey Mark it's Chris from New Jersey how are you Chris how are you good to hear from you I'm always listening to marketing colonics last couple weeks but I've always listened great we have foods Clady you're going over this ago in dialect I first learned about it in reading David Ickes books and he calls it problem reaction solution that's and I know you just mentioned that you know it's not so I'm so important that you really did examples of it as you understand this why they're utilizing it the big it but the biggest example I could think of it I could come to my mind I think people can identify with is 9/11 and the Patriot Act right because 9/11 was designed for the Patriot Act to be implemented that's that's my that's what I boy that is the case sure and I'm going to extensively talk about 9/11 as a ritual an occult ritual that is an embodiment of this principle taken up to a high occultic level what is called a grand public ritual and it's it's rare when you actually see one of these implemented in the light of day but 9/11 is what I call in my research an example of chaos sorcery now some people call this chaos magic but I don't like the word chaos magic because I think they imply two different things that are antithetical to each other chaos in and of itself is something that we don't want to see we don't want to see further conflict and chaos we want to see order in our lives among amongst ourselves but also within ourselves not chaos so chaos it doesn't go hand-in-hand with the word magic in the sense that I use it through my research and presentation so I call it chaos sorcery to delineate it from what I call magic which is change affecting change in accordance with higher will sorcery is affecting change in accordance with egoic will don't go drivel so 9/11 an absolute example of the Hegelian dialectic in practice and a great example of what yes the researcher David Icke calls problem reaction solution in my work I call it chaos confusion opportunity because you need a chaotic problem you need the problem to he's perceived as if we don't do something about this there will be chaos it has to be chaotic enough not just a regular problem will do it has to be a chaotic one the reaction that is sought is a reaction that will be a confused reaction not just any reaction will do it has to be one of internal confusion meaning that the person is in a deep deep subconscious state of fear there in the state of fear that is so deeply rooted into this subconscious mind that it parallels hypnosis you know it is an analog to hypnosis they're almost in a trance-like state because you have traumatized them so effectively the chaos has traumatized into the point where their state of consciousness is internal confusion which we talked about as being the internal expression of the fear-based consciousness in previous shows when we did the shows on the aspects of consciousness and then the third component is the opportunity in the state of complete psychological breakdown and terror that is induced by your chaos this internal confusion that you have manipulated someone into that is the prime opportunity for you to advance your predetermined agenda because the person's guard is down and they're in a confused state they don't understand what's happening and they're looking for safety from an outside source which is you and which is which you are all too happy to provide if you're the manipulator if you're the sorcerer I'll save you from this here's the Patriot Act ladies and gentlemen there it is I think I can I hit like two later when they burned down the Reichstag at the same thing exactly it was called the enabling act to suspend the German constitution that's right Thanks the other thing um you know I understand you know we had this illusion of choice that we think we think we're free or we could we have a choice but the reason I think that it's so important that you point out that this dialect is that I think as van Gogh Van Gogh said that van Gogh said that there are no more hopelessly enslaved than those who falsely believe they are free that was not I that was a Goethe go to say that but I'm sorry yeah yes yes and that plays into this too because it's a very sneaky way of keeping you enslaved that's right yeah you'll never see the bars you'll never see that you're being controlled if you believe you have choice the choice is only there to provide the illusion that one is free right that's it and all political involvement is this because they are they're both controlled by higher forces that have their own agendas at work all voting is this you are giving up your sovereignty to be represented no one represents me I maintain all rights I reserve all rights I am sovereign I am not represented I present me in this physical vehicle I present my consciousness in my physical vehicle known as the body okay no one else reprehensible representative I'm sorry Robin that's the problem with representative government at all is that you are essentially giving over your consent to be represented represented by your representative and I don't give my consent for that one of the things I find very fascinating by are showing and talking you in general is you know the words they use like like you brought tonight the so dire bring it's obvious they drop to you and the I've and it's so or they jump to you rather it's soldier it sounds different to them they know that means they're soldiers they're sold are right they call they can't call them survivors because that's too obvious I think or very cold and it's the same thing with miry present week was that representative its representative you don't think of what it really means and so we can sit down and break down the words and where the words come from or what they mean that you know the analogy of it and that has a time this thing you're doing for us people's minds are controlled through words there's no doubt about it that's why they call these spells the work the concept of a spell in the occult comes from the use of words and what is a spell it's a series of words strung together to to elucidate some kind of a reaction that's what a spell is were the words that we use are what is ultimately imprisoning us in our unconscious use of them because our subconscious mind or unconscious mind recognize what soldier really means yes it does but until that is brought up to the conscious level we cannot work with that knowing in the physical world the physical world we're dealing with the conscious level of awareness you you do know and you didn't know even before you heard that concept that that soldier means soul buyer and even though yes they do drop the you in the word soul s o UL the words Sol Sol what does that mean it means on our son this the soul the star so Aleister Crowley said every man woman is a star well you replace the word Sol Sol in that sentence every man and woman is a soul this is wordplay this is more fun and word heaven operatory maybe Sol sou al came from Sol yes they did of course that is okay so invented Sol means the the light that's the source from which we all come and they're telling you that's dead your light is dead right look look here's another example of the crisp it's great that you bring this up because I love I love I love this more than anything getting into the words is one of my favorite things because if you can really comprehend green language and this is called green language for a reason okay this is alchemical language it's the language of true magic the true magician can perceive this magic can perceive this these words and their meanings because it is the language of alchemy and that alchemy we talked about is the vehicle for true magic for the influence of the soul for the influence of two toward higher elevations toward higher levels of consciousness okay so green language is called green language for a reason again we started talking about colors last week a little bit the left brain responds more to the red vibration this is the low frequency of light the right brain responds to the higher frequency of light which is the blues and the violets so if you go below the visible spectrum to the left of the spectrum or to the low range right this is called the infrared we don't see in the infrared we start seeing around the Reds up through the oranges yellows greens which are right in the middle then the blues Indigo's violets and ultraviolet so in general these are called the blues on the left-hand side of the spectrum so toward the I'm sorry the right-hand side of the spectrum so these are the frequencies that the right brain responds to the blue frequencies in general the higher frequencies we call them when we get past the visible spectrum the ultraviolet because you are going out past the violet toward a higher frequency range now of course this is just what are sense organs we call the eyes can detect in the physical world there is an infinite array of frequencies in both directions but this narrow limited bandwidth we see and we call that the visible spectrum well right in the middle between these two opposing wavelengths red and blue right is green green is the fulcrum for the visible spectrum of light that we perceive with the eye that's why it is the color of balance it is the color of love because the heart represents the middle or the fulcrum of the body it is right in the middle of the body okay and it also represents nature's color Nature has an outpouring and an abundance of love for all of its creatures that's why there is so much green in the world we essentially live on the land surrounded by green or we should be surrounded by green and we should be surrounded by that green energy this is what where this word green energy comes from as well this is why they color money green they want to express to the subconscious at least in the United States they do they want us Express to the subconscious mind here take this this is balance this is nature this is love and it's all manner of those things it's none of those things it's all a manipulation greatest range element as harmony as well harmony harmonious interaction is green in occultism yes the green language can only really be seen and perceived when one has balanced the opposites see this is the positive aspect of the union of opposites or the chemical wedding the coming together of seeming opposites see there's always a positive side we can't get into the habit of looking at all of this is purely negative a dialectic when you bring together the two polar opposites of the left brain and the right brain and use them both in conjunction right and use them both toward elevation of consciousness they they unite and then the the neocortex operates on what is known as global eg coherence which is basically the proper functioning of the higher brain and this serves to awaken the prefrontal neo cortex of the brain which is where truly rational and critical thinking happen okay and also higher level conceptual thinking like about rights and goodness and morals and ethics right and and higher states of awareness and that's called the opening of the third eye because it happens at the level of the pineal gland and it actually joins with the activation of the pineal gland which is a mystical glen referred to in ancient traditions as the third eye so this is opening of the one eye that's in the middle of the head the pineal gland is right in the geometric center of the head this is why they put the one eye on mommy as well because you're connecting with this idea of balance of love the heart chakra in the Vedic system of the whirling vortex vortices of energy known as the chakras that energy around the heart is called the heart chakra and that's green it's a it's a twelve petal green flower okay it's it's true care that's where true care is born the ancient Egyptians saw the heart is the seat of the soul okay so all of these concepts come together in this color this frequency called green that's why this is called green language so you brought up soul Dyer and talked about how it's the same as the soul sou el and Sol means the light right and this is has died in the soldier they're telling them that their light is dyed now let's look at green language now that's just what I just laid out there is a setup for going into another piece of green language but you need to understand that little bit to understand what they're saying with the word military military people don't break this word down into its constituent phonetic elements now this works by phonetic breakdown okay and it doesn't matter how the word is pronounced in the English language in the native language of the person who's speaking it it's also about how it is written look at the word military write it down on a piece of paper so you can actually look at the word in front of your face M I L I ta ry military okay now let's look at the first syllable in the word military right M I now that's not where you would actually syllabic ly break it but that's the first two letters mi is my yes it's pronounced with a short I in the actual word but when you're writing it out you're writing the word my mi I know MA I understand in English my is written my I get it if you try to pick this apart logically and with the left brain it will make no sense it's not you're not going to understand how this is something that is it this is a conjuration this is a spell by occultist they made the word military the way that they did for a reason okay in the English language M I my L I T say lips but if you pronounce it with a long I that's light Li t lights a ry re right that's a word that means light Ari's over a word that means light right but also it means if we actually just pronounce it awry a ry RI well what word is that what does our I mean there is an English word that is phonetically pronounced like a wry a W R Y awry it means it has gone astray it has wavered off path so in the word military you're actually saying the fruit the silt in the syllables the phonetic words that you are pronouncing if you look at how it is written in the English language you are saying my light awry my light awry think about this you're saying your light has gone awry your spirit has gone awry your soul has gone awry it has gone off the path because you've been able to be manipulated to be a killer let's have my light of I that's one Greek language everybody subconscious knows this yes well well you only enjoy a nautical subconscious we can we can we could get ourselves out of this mess real fast if we could tap into it absolutely it would it would happen very quickly sadly the process usually is a linear one that involves knowledge and I'm not whole I don't hold out hope for that sudden awakening of the subconscious mind now in certain traditions in Eastern traditions I've spoken about this briefly on the show before they call that a set Tory moment the Satori is the sudden awakening where one suddenly becomes conscious of what is actually going on and they can see things suddenly I don't hold out hope that we're going to tap into the subconscious that quickly and it's going to happen just overnight I do believe that it needs to happen in a stepwise progression from this level of consciousness where people have worked themselves into at the present moment knowledge is a critical factor and we have to understand how this language of symbols and words works because this is these are the techniques of the occult and again there are people who will say that's crazy oh you're reading into things that makes no sense that's too simple and and it's too juvenile to work like that no that is how simple it is it does work at that level your mind hears the word military and immediately knows it means my light awry you hear the word soldier and this subconscious already knows what's being said that's what that's why these words are even crafted in these ways because they're saying something to you without saying it in the language you understand they're gradually different when you listen to a song backwards there's hidden messages and songs backwards when you listen to it in your conscious mind you don't hear them you know but your subconscious mind has the ability I guess to play things in Reverse so if it can be diagnosed it could certainly take long vowels and short thousand switch them that's right your subconscious mind is all-knowing when you look at an advertisement with a sublime the limit you may not consciously perceive the word sex or power or money embedded into the ad okay but your subconscious does and then you're resonating with that ad and you want the product or service but you don't really consciously understand why because it's selling you something but it's not selling it to you at a conscious level it's selling it at a subconscious level and your subconscious mind is all-knowing you already know everything at that level of being the trick is to bring up the awareness from the unconscious and subconscious levels to bring it up to the conscious level and that can take a lifetime to do depending on how calcified the ego layer which sits above that is it won't let that break by kind of doing my personal life I'm trying to understand that the process is I don't know I mean it's it's fun to me in the sense of no one ever taught it to me but it makes a lot of sense and I also come to the realization that we don't understand where our brains are how our minds work and it's what these people have understand they know how to manipulate us and and make us think that we're making decisions and that we know everything and we don't know anything because we don't know how our own minds work and I remind you in that movie they live if people watch that movie they might get understanding about our standing or what you're talking about one of the greatest movies ever made as far as I'm concerned John Carpenter completely outfit himself this is a must see this is the movie of our times as far as I'm concerned a total B movie with a low budget but the allegory that that he is putting out there in this movie is such a high level spiritual allegory that I recommend everybody must see that movie if they have not seen it if you don't know what they live is or if you haven't seen it run it immediately from whatever you can get on Google video and if they don't a and C as well I've seen it a couple times on there and I one thing I find interesting what you're saying is you reading the Bible um they have eyes but they cannot see and that's kind of what they live is talking these people have eyes but they can't see what's right in front and when they that's right you see with your subconscious or you see with your third eye and and that's not easy to open up and it's not going to be done like you say in a left brain process you have to kind of you have to kind of unlearn things and just trust your your own being to the end you have to open your mind and critically take things in with an open mind so that you're employing the informational analytical side and logical side of the left brain but in conjunction with the side of the brain that is in a deeper connection with the subconscious and with creative energies and with nurturing energies which is the right brain the eclectic thinking right you can call it green thinking as well here is that with technology thinking so because you're you're in between the frequency spectrum right at the fulcrum of balance that's where green is this is why they use the red and blue colors on the police car lights they're hitting you with the opposite extremes of light this is this is another occult tactic it's also basically mocking the police again in saying this is where your brain is at these extremities you're in the total left brain and total right brain you're in the total left brain when it comes to those you're dealing with and you're in the total right brain when it comes to dealing with your owners you're going to Monica I know they're at listening to you just know at ten twenty minutes um I'm gonna eat go because your plans ever show that maybe so I also have to call in as well but it may be the pleasure listening to it thank you so much Chris thanks so much for calling in take care man take care all right Chris from New Jersey always great to hear from you another caller on the line here we go caller from New York you are on what on earth is happening what do you have for us a boy like how I eat monkeys out like from New York hey how are you hey I'm just going to kind of make this quick I bless through it uh the in terms of what the controllers are trying to do is basically is they're trying to create a world of control and manipulation through the mind body and and that within itself the energy from that the reflection of the soul through the controllers eyes that basically they're trying to create a world that through manipulation that they have total control and enslavement over and they can visually see it in one in one sitting so to speak and that's sort of like a a slap in the face of God you know because God is sort of like a reflection of you know we're reflecting back to God and God is questioning you know his creation at the same time and growing along with us being co-creators but the illusion of choice I wanted to go into that just like we got Mac PC and Linux and a few small others the illusion of choice there's really no difference in any of them and the the ideologies of these people are really really insane but you were talking about the arch is it the ritual that Jordan Maxwell talks about when you walk under it the two two columns the energy overhead of you pushing down on you it's also it's a ritual that goes back either to the Saturn or I believe Mars that the Pope does where he walks under the archway ring ah and also uh the to prepare for the spiritual war to come home to everyone because it's been going on but you know some people are not awake to it yet and the best way to do that is through personal reflection I'm not not really big on people that we're really big on personally doing like meditation or any other type of stuff I wanna you know sometimes you can get some bad information it can take you in the wrong direction but you know through I found through personal reflection and knowing knowing thyself is the strongest strongest thing you can have but sometimes we feel that we need to reflect and have heroes and saviors or even through music or inspirations and things like that sometimes we find our own biggest inspiration life and doing what we love is really the reflection back that we need in this planet whether you think it's you know we're all just one part of it and we're all connect in some way and by doing this it's already changed the future it's already changed the past and you know we're only living in the now I just want to say that thank you have a good night like you bring up some great points man thanks for calling in thank you have a great night Locke thank you you got it yeah I think it's uh definitely a great point that Mike just mentioned about meditation now I will talk a little bit about that when we talk about solutions but I do also agree with him that reflection and contemplation can be even much more powerful tools than meditation because meditation is a more of a right brain modality of thought in in contrast with with logic and concentration a contemplation brings both of these aspects together when we reflect and it's saying so much right there in the word the universe reflecting something back to us and us reflecting something to it contemplation is the lost modality of human thought and this is embodied in higher-level occultic traditions this modality of thought which is has been traditionally referred to as daydreaming just reflecting upon your life of about your relationships of what is taking place not really concentrating on something not really meditating and clearing the mind of thoughts but simple reflection and contemplation it can be the most powerful modality of thought that we are capable of experiencing and it could bring out some of the most powerful ideas to the conscious level so I thank Mike for bringing that up and uh you're very OnPoint with your understanding of that I just want to say a couple of things before we wrap up the first is I think we made a lot of great points tonight about how the controlled oppositional peridot in works some of the vehicles it works through and why this is such a powerful manipulation tool of the mind that's the critical thing to understand here the second thing I want to say is the caliber of callers that we get on this show I can't say enough about I've said this before but I feel honored and blessed to have the high level thinkers and really high consciousness people to call into the show it makes the show what it is and I really encourage you guys and keep calling in with great ideas and great conversation because that's how we're going to change this place and I don't think and I've never heard any other radio show that has callers like this so I'm always amazed and and pleasantly surprised by that but you know in a way I'm not because I know there's a lot of other people out there that really really are working to be very effective change agents in the world true positive change agents and I just want to thank everybody for that and let it be known that I appreciate that those who call in to the show so with that having been said I want to quickly mention something that I neglected earlier on in the show when I usually make my announcements revolution broadcasting is having an all-day marathon for 9/11 truth on Saturday September 11th I have been generously asked by Bob Tuscan the host the truth be told radio to come on and host an hour segment of the marathon so I'll be doing that and hopefully I'll have a special guest that will come on the air during that time I don't know when my time slot is yet I'll be finding that out shortly but everybody be sure to tune in to revolution broadcasting at revolution broadcasting com on Saturday September 11th an all-day marathon for 9/11 truth we're going to look at where the 9/11 truth movement has been and where it is now and where it is going what are some more effective techniques that we can applaud employee to get this critical information about what really happened and didn't happen on 9/11 out to the general population and I will be discussing 9/11 as an example of this controlled oppositional paradigm specifically as the use of the Hegelian dialectic in action and again what I briefly started going into with Chris as a mechanism for what I term chaos sorcery which is one of the highest ritualized manipulation tactics and it is one of the big three guns that I like to refer to it as but there's three really big guns of manipulation that are brought out when essentially all other all other methods of mind control and manipulation fail chaos sorcery is the very last that is that is brought out okay um and this is one again that can have the most powerful and rigid impact upon the human psyche because it is a technique of trauma-based mind control but it is a technique of trauma-based mind control at a mass level trauma-based mind control which we talked about when neo was on the show and it's briefly mentioned that I'm going to have him on probably in two weeks maybe three weeks but it will be one week in September to discuss healing modalities for trauma-based mind control methods that he himself has employed to deal with the horrid nature of the abuse that he suffered earlier in his life so that will be one that will be of a lot of interest to listeners that may have experienced this themselves or may know others who have been put through this horrific psychological and physical abuse as children so um on the 911 of Marathon I will be getting into 911 as an occult ritual for a bit and I will be hopefully interviewing a special guest to be determined yet that is active in the 9/11 truth community so that will be Saturday September 11 2010 on the revolution Broadcasting Network all day an all-day marathon for 9/11 truth revolution broadcasting calm be sure to tune in you're going to hear some great information on that day so um I think that is about it for the show today in the in future shows topics that I'm going to soon be getting into is the financial system of enslavement through debt we're going to be talking about central bank's we'll be talking about the Federal Reserve System and I'm going to also try to have a very special guest which I'm not going to announce yet in in the next couple of weeks to bring on as an expert to talk about the financial system that has been erected in the United States and throughout the world as a vehicle and a mechanism for control of our minds bodies and souls so stay tuned for that in the next few weeks for now I'm going to wrap things up for tonight ladies and gentlemen you have been listening to what on earth is happening I'm your host mark passio be sure to check out my website what on earth is happening calm tune in here live every Tuesday evening from 7 to 9 p.m. on revolution broadcasting and check out the conference website for free your mind the methods of mind-control controlled opposition we're going to continue into that topic a little bit by discussing something that very few people really get into in any depth and that is the New Age movement this is definitely an example of controlled opposition in many cases not all but in many it is and we are going to discuss the New Age movement as an example of controlled opposition right never implemented how was his name erased from the place it truly deserves in world history are the world's changing technologies that Tesla wished to bring forward actively being suppressed by institutionalized power structures how different would the world we live in today be had Tesla been able to implement his plan for a new energy paradigm how can we make Tesla's dreams in the early 20th century come true in the early 21st please note that this will not be a technical presentation I am NOT a scientist or electrical engineer if you're expecting a highly technical lecture you will be disappointed my lecture will largely be about ethical considerations and questions like what path is Humanity on as a result of our current worldwide energy paradigm why why do we so crucially need the technology that Tesla pioneered now at this time in human history and what kind of consciousness change will it take to make Tesla's vision come to fruition that's what this lecture is largely announcements I have for this evening I'd like to give the call-in number for this show next feel free to call in at any time during this broadcast there are no taboo topics here the calling number seven two four four four four seven four four four once again the calling number seven twenty four triple four seven triple four when you call in you have to give the call ID number for this show the call ID number for what on earth is happening is eight three five one five once again the call ID number for this show when you call in is eight three five one five all right what we have been talking about in previous weeks and we'll continue to talk about for the next several weeks and as a matter of fact I like to quickly make a couple of announcements about some guests that I will be having on the show in the next few weeks I have two guests lined up within this month on September 21st I will be bringing neo back on the show as you'll recall in show number 17 neo talked about being a victim of trauma-based mind control this is a technique we have not discussed in depth yet on this show except for neo show back on podcast number 17 but we will be getting into trauma-based mind control later on in this show particularly when we get into deep levels of the occult now neo is going to be coming on on the 21st of this month two weeks from tonight to discuss the healing methods that he himself used and healing methods that are available to anyone to essentially repro I'm one self after one has been conditioned and programmed according to these very powerful and in-depth mind-control techniques that are employed by occult organizations secret society networks our intelligence agencies etc if you are a victim of these techniques which we all are at some level not this hard form of trauma-based mind control but as we've been discussing over the last many weeks and will continue to discuss mass mind control techniques are everywhere there are multi faceted methodologies of this form of mind control we've been discussing them over the last many weeks we got have gotten into six so far we will get into at least eight more and this is not to say that these are the only techniques that are available when it comes to mass mind control but they are are among the most widely used therefore that is why I am covering them in such detail and it is critically important to understand how these methodologies work if we are ignorant as to how they work we really don't have any power over them we will continue to be a victim of these methodologies if we don't fully understand how they work and how they are present in our environments so neo will be coming on in two weeks time to discuss healing techniques remember this show is about shining the light on the darkness and proposing solutions understanding that there is something that we can do about it understanding that we are ultimately the ones who are in control it is us who is creating this mess that we're in and therefore that's good news because it's up to us we need to turn the finger and point right back at ourselves and understand that it's ultimately ultimately about changing our own mind and changing our own lives and then the external reality that we are living in will change and it's also about reaching out other people and bringing this information to them understanding it yourself and just changing your life is the first step that's the first and most important step but then you have to reach out with information to others you have to understand it so well that you can put it in the right words help others to understand it now the whole saying if the truth can be told as to be understood it will be recognized it will be believed that is absolutely true communication is the biggest part of this it is ultimately the great work that we seek to accomplish reaching out to others so neo is on to becoming on in two weeks to discuss healing techniques specifically for trauma-based mind control in three weeks time September 28th I will be having on this show James Yeager this is the documentary filmmaker that made the great documentaries Fiat Empire and original intent and if you have not seen either one of these incredible documentaries I cannot recommend either one of them highly enough Fiat Empire this is a documentary about the Federal Reserve System we will be getting into this in depth we will be talking about the Federal Reserve this will be part of the discussion of the mind control technique of money and the financial system the immoral fiat currency system that has been erected in this country and just about every other and James Yeager is one of the foremost experts and and highly highly knowledgeable about how the Federal Reserve is run how it was created so we will be talking about this on the show I'll actually be introducing this topic in two weeks time and then I'll be bringing I'm sorry I'll actually be introducing this topic next week I should say next week we'll we will be beginning our discussion about the financial system the monetary system that keeps so many people under its thumb and bowing to its wishes and demands it is probably one of the strongest I would say it is up there among the strongest techniques right up there with religion and worldview poisoning as methods of mind control so the financial system we will discuss next week neo on the show on September 21st and then James Yeager coming on September 28th to discuss the Federal Reserve System so that's some good announcements about what's coming on this show tonight again we will be continuing our discussion of controlled opposition when it comes to the New Age movement and the refusal to look at the negative aspect of what is going on in the world that's what we're going to start getting into right now so the techniques of mind control as we mentioned are multifaceted there are many of them they work on many different levels this isn't to say that the 14 that I have listed in this show are not the only ones that exist but they are the most widely used they are the favorites of the dominators they are the favorites of the controller's of the manipulators of the sorcerers of this world we started talking about six of them so far I all review each one of them tonight you can go back into the podcast section on my page at 1:00 on earth is happening dot-com go to that site and click the podcast tab and all of these podcasts that have discussed these shows are listed there with you with the topics listed right there on the page with appropriate images with related images to each one of these concepts as it is discussed on this show some of these are from my slide presentation that I have embedded on my site on the video tab so we have already discussed abuse nation which is essentially the injecting of confusion into the world through ideas that cloud concepts the cloud issues that help make people very bewildered and confused about what the truth is and also about how simple the truth actually is we talked about how one of the best ways of creating obfuscation is through obscuring the simplicity of the truth with the complexity of the lie you always have to make things seem more complex than they actually are this way people don't want to pursue the matter don't want to look into it because they think it is beyond their comprehension and ability to understand so obfuscation was the first technique the second and one of the most powerful is worldview poisoning poisoning someone's belief of what human nature actually is poisoning their understanding of what the value of the individual is and poisoning their view of what is possible the potential of what is possible particularly when it comes to being able to inspire change and once these aspects of how we think and interact are poison to a certain degree dominators have people very much under their control and their action their ability to take action is very much diminished so worldview poisoning the second of these techniques the third technique was the exploitation of our subconscious primal fears these we explored in depth they were the fear of darkness the fear of predators being preyed upon the fear of abandonment particularly by the father figure the strong father figure and the fear of the breaking out of chaos and how these are all entwined into our subconscious makeup at a very fundamentally deep level and how these fears essentially often control us without us even being consciously aware of them a few weeks ago we looked into the fourth technique this was the divide and conquer strategy the exploitation of our perceived differences and all the ways that people see themselves in an us-versus-them dualistic fashion sex age social class race religion politics ethnicity and nationality etc all illusions we also saw the indoctrination system and we explored over two weeks the outcome-based Soviet inspired and also Nazi inspired public school education system based upon outcome based education that we have operating in this country and in many other countries throughout the world that is geared toward locking people into a left brain only modality of consciousness and therefore and thereby shutting down their intuitive creative nurturing and expansive side of their consciousness which can see the big picture and one's relationship to it last week we started looking into controlled opposition or a dialectic approach to control dialectics we saw were debates that are intended to resolve differences between two views rather than to establish one of them is true this is creating opposition between two seemingly polar forces when in fact they are both being used to create strength through this oppositional paradigm for a third controlling party that sits above both of these seemingly opposing forces we saw how politics is one of the best examples of the told oppositional paradigm also media also religion you can get into many different dialectical approaches and explore them all we basically looked at politics last week and how these are two sides of the same coin there are two wings of the same bird if you will doesn't matter what side of politics you get involved in Republican Democrat conservative Republican a conservative liberal etc all irrelevant all controlled by the same forces at the highest levels that are the mind manipulators that want you to keep thinking that this road that you can go down is eventually going to lead someplace different when in fact it always leads to the same place because the people involved at the level of politics are just puppets puppets on strings of their masters largely in the financial system but they're also in the occult system as we will see in in a few weeks in several weeks but what we will see how this system plays into the financial and banking systems and we'll start looking into that next week and again James Jaeger a Fiat Empire fame will be on the show on September 28th just like to mention James also made the documentary original intent and for those who have not seen this this is relatively new I think he came out with this last year you have to see this documentary folks it is brilliant it is one of the best documentaries that I have ever seen period of any kind it is a gem it is a beacon of light I can't recommend it enough original intent by James Yaeger it is about how drastically off-base this country is headed from the vision of the founding fathers that laid the groundwork the framework for this country and the two main forces and they are also controlled oppositional forces that play off against each other and are essentially working for the same purpose which is 100% total centralization of power and control and these forces are cultural marxism and corporate fascism people think that fascism and socialism or Marxism are completely two opposite ends of the political spectrum well you know what they may be but the wings of the bird join when the verb rings his wings together on the other side okay it is the same force it is the same general consciousness of control that controls both of these two seemingly polar forces in our society left this often think it's only about corporatism and corporate control gone haywire people on the right think it's only about social cultural values that are taking over it's both of these things they're directed by the same force you bring two forces together they form the Royal Arch and that's the strongest architectural structure you will find that's why controlled opposition is such a strong form of mind control people only often see one side of the issue they don't see how there is a secondary polar force that this is being played off against by the puppet masters of the world all for the same agenda all for the same outcome it's all about thesis meeting antithesis to create the third position the synthesis this synthetic solution that they are looking to implement problem reaction solution as the researcher David Icke refers to it I call it chaos confusion opportunity with chaos sorcery playing on someone's primal fears implementing something that is creating a chaotic result and therefore a confused reaction and that is your opportunity to step in with your predetermined solution that you have lying in the way the whole time controlled opposition makes this possible tonight we're going to be talking about the New Age movement in relation to the controlled opposition paradigm and before I get into this I just like to say one more thing callers who call in I forgot to mention this please do hold on I definitely want to hear what you have to say I do like it when callers calling even in the first hour I don't just take calls in the second hour if you call in please be patient if I'm in mid-stride in a thought or a concept I may not see you on the switchboard right away I had noticed that there was someone on there I didn't get to them right away and they hung up so I asked callers please be patient with me I will get to your calls so when you call in I know you have something that you'd like to get out there on the air or something important that you'd have to say please be patient and hold on the line and I will get to your call okay great so the controlled opposition paradigm cling to seemingly opposing forces off against each other so that you control the outcome how does the New Age movement fit into this and what is the New Age movement well this movement was popularized out of the 60s and 70s there are hundreds of different topics hundreds of different teachers hundreds of thousands and thousands of different books that espouse these ideologies and you know what the first thing I'll say is in the New Age movement and New Age teachings there are a lot of powerful truths I cannot deny that and I would not suggest that no one look into anything about this because there are some really there's some really great material within this movement the thing that you have to be aware of is that you have to be discerning you have to know what to take from it and what to leave because a technique of manipulation is to infuse truth with the lie with the deception a deceiver often knows that one who they are attempting to deceive or to throw off the path shall we say will not take the poison if it's just poison they have to put a little bit of something that is good something that is true something that is recognized as being needed in with the poison okay this is a technique that is used for pest control pests won't take just the poison most times it has to be made palatable you have to give the pests that you're trying to get rid of or exterminate a little bit of something that they perceive as good for them or palatable and in doing so they take the poison with it this is how this technique works and this is what applies to the New Age movement there is a there's a lot of good things in it you know a lot of good techniques things that we should be practicing things that we should be heating in our lives and under but there is this deep underlying current that is nested underneath not all but a lot of these teachings and a lot of these so-called spiritual teachers and goons agendas and the main thing that the biggest aspect of this controlled opposition technique is infusing the idea interjecting the notion that one should not look upon the negative that the very act of looking upon the negative empowers the negative and gives it energy over you and I'm here to tell you tonight that if you have bought this idea you're under mind control if you have bought this idea you have taken the poison pill because it sounds like something that's good or reasonable and it sounds to you like oh I can become fully enlightened I can really be a force of good in the world and not have to look at all the negative uncomfortable stuff that's out there in the world that is happening I don't have to understand it I don't have to understand how evil certain people are in the world I don't have to understand how these evil people's methodologies work I don't have to look at any of that negativity I can always stay in my comfort zone of thinking that the world is basically a good place where these things aren't really happening and people want that they want to think that that's the reality and that they are going to be having an incredible impact without looking at the dark side without understanding the workings of the dark side this is a very appealing notion that's how that's why this is so insidious I've often said that the New Age movement is more dangerous than religion in many cases and it is because so many individuals within this movement have bought this nonsense that looking at the negative empowers the negative nothing could be further from the truth now dwelling upon the negative constantly never offering a solutions based approach getting trapped in painful energies because you are continuously dwelling in the negative side that's dangerous and shouldn't be practiced but understanding the negative by looking into it deeply enough that you have a firm foundation from which to work from about the technology that is being employed here the psychological technologies the methods that these manipulators are using against the general populace there's nothing negative about doing that that is empowering looking into yourself because all of us at one time or another and indeed many of us still are affected by these techniques all of us have been affected at some point in our life and many of us are still under these negative influences and we can only really be placed under and held under these negative influences if we are exhibiting the kind of negativity within our own consciousness if we are employing living by these negative kinds of of modes of consciousness ok this is the way that these techniques have an effect upon us if we change our consciousness we can actually rise above these techniques but I think in order to change our consciousness we have to understand how these methods work we have to look at them with an objective mind with an open mind understand that these are forces that are out there working in the world and we have to come to a level of comfort within ourselves to be able to look at them fearlessly this is about working upon the self to look at the negative dwelling on it no I don't recommend that knowing that it is there and a lot knowing a lot about how it is there not just a little bit understanding it in fullness really knowing how the techniques of mind manipulation work that involves a lot of looking at the negative and there's a lot of it out there again we're going on four weeks into this exploration we looked at how consciousness works four weeks before we started getting into the topic of mind control and this is going to take up a very big portion of this radio show looking into these techniques this will be an ongoing exploration here on what owner is happening because the understanding of how these control methods work is one of the keys to liberating oneself from them the New Age movement in general wants to teach people or large that not all of it again and this is a case where I'm not making a blanket statement okay there are those within this movement that are powerful teachers and will look at things as they really are okay so I am NOT saying 100% in this instance there are some extremely powerful tools out there in New Age books lecturers teachers healers this should be explored discernment is what I'm calling for I am saying we have to watch for the injection of the idea do not look at the negative this is not how the law of attraction works folks that is a complete fallacy you want to understand how the law of attraction works if there is a fire you take heed of someone explaining to you that there is a fire in your vicinity and you better be careful otherwise you ignore that information you're probably going to receive be on the receiving end of damage or worse okay you have to be discerning about who may be screaming fire but at the same time you can't just say there's no such thing as fire or oh if I take someone's word that there's a fire I'm going to be negatively affected by it no it doesn't work that way okay if you take someone at their word you check into it maybe verify yes okay we have a problem here and understand the steps that may be necessary to reverse the problem you may need to put the fire out with an extinguisher if it's small enough you may need to call the fire calm you may need to get out of the building because it's out of control and too big to do anything about it at that point but knowing is part of the necessary action knowing about the negative situation is the biggest first step toward understanding the necessary action action that is necessary to take to solve the problem this show is all about action that's why I begin the show with announcements about upcoming events that are going on in this area and in other locations because knowing is only the first step I have said before the the old adage to know and not to do is not to know and that's true that is a true statement ultimately what we know has to be converted and put into right action and this is one of the big sticking points for me in the New Age movement and in the new-age community often this critically important aspect of consciousness is left out of the equation and that's what this poison pill of don't look at the negative is there to do that is what it is there to do get someone not to look at the negative so that they will not be activated so that they will not become active in the freedom community they will not become active in doing something about what is going on in the world regarding the usurpation of our natural law rights I read these event announcements because these are events hosted by people that are active and that are doing something that can truly transform this place action that is capable of truly transforming this place and that's ultimately what this show is about as I said this show is all about the causal underlying factors of why people suffer why they are inflicted with self-inflicted suffering with suffering that they created themselves and they have within their power to change if they look at the causal factors the root causes that are indwelling in dwelling this doesn't mean that you here's another New Age fallacy it doesn't mean because you yourself as one single individual as one monad or unit of consciousness within the all because you have small flaws within you that you may be working on or they may be ignoring okay whatever happens to be the case it does not mean that because you may have individual flaws that that is why the world is in such an extreme state of imbalance okay everybody is internal flaws add it up in a quantum level quantum meaning amount is what has made it that way yes working on yourself will remove that but it doesn't mean that you have to become some perfected being and then suck just because you the one individual will become some perfected being that the world will radically transform overnight there will still be people in the world acting in negative ways believing in in things that don't exist under total mind control even if there are perfected beings so if you happen to believe that the story of the physical Jesus you know you can use that as a metaphor whether it is a an actual historical fact or not is irrelevant a person of that level of consciousness would still be treated in a world that was under the kind of mind control that was going on back then and is now in the same fashion that person could be perfected and they can show somebody how to act in a particular situation and how to treat others and how to forgive others but it doesn't mean that other people are going to magically stop acting the way that they're going to act based upon their conditioning and their upbringing in their experience in their environment and their mind control that's not what it means this is another New Age fallacy that it's all about attaining perfection well I don't believe in the notion of perfection I think the creator of the universe is what perfection is and we attain to that we aspire to that but that doesn't mean I shouldn't say attain we aspire to that level of perfection but it doesn't mean we're going to reach that level of perfection in a physical body if you're in a physical body you're going to have some flaws you're never going to deal with every single situation that comes your way in a hundred percent perfect and 100 percent elevated level of consciousness this is some kind of impossible notion that the New Age movement also wants to perpetuate and put out there in certain circles and I would I would suggest that this is to discourage people from truly working upon themselves because once the idea that goes goes in the oh the end result is this kind of a level of next to unreachable perfection I'm not going to bother with this I'm not going to bother really trying to work on and improve myself and understand what's really going on in the world it's way too hard when in fact the truth is that it's actually simple I didn't say easy I said simple to understand what's taking place both within and around us if we view it with an open mind and an open heart the truth is always simple there's a lot to it yes I didn't say it was a little bit either I said it was simple it is based upon fundamental building blocks that we can receive and we can open our minds to and progress through in a stepwise progression I'm also not of this new-age notion that enlightenment happens all at once and that there are all these shortcuts to enlightenment I think this is nonsense and I'm very vocal about that I think that attaining enlightenment is about working on oneself in a stepwise progression doing what you can now and then moving forward and doing what you can do in the future after doing a little bit in the now and continuing that process knowing where you're at knowing where you want to go and knowing how to get there and it's a journey this idea of the Satori awakening the sudden awakening when somebody is a complete completely embarkment in one minute and then they have some kind of a spiritual flash and they're woken up and they're a teacher or guru in the next minute wonderful if it happens to you folks but for the one in billions that it does I don't think that's really what we should try be trying to uh hope happens I think this is something that is a pipe dream if you want to believe okay yeah that happens for a few people but you're if you're holding out your hopes that that's only going to happen to you and it's not going to require any work and you're going to get there from a shortcut I think you're very delusional it's about work work that's what it's about that's why it's called the great work it's not called the great play or the great accident okay it's not called uh you know the the great a beneficial moment that happened then what a one-in-a-million chance that's not what it's called it's called the great work implying that there is effort that needs to be infused into yourself to make it happen effort is required there is a requirement for spiritual transformation for true spiritual transformation and knowledge is the biggest part of that CAIR is the biggest part of that as well these two things go hand in hand the left brain in conjunction with the right brain the male in conjunction with the female the chemical wedding the true synthesis that is required well some systems place all the emphasis on knowledge and not enough on care and some systems place it all on care and feeling based techniques and not enough on learning and knowledge and there is such a thing as knowledge and it does exist in the world we could obtain knowledge through experience and we could obtain knowledge of those who have gone before us that care enough to preserve their knowledge in through teachings through many different media we talked about previously on the show how dangerous the ideology of salep sysm is the idea that there is no such thing as knowledge or truth listen to early shows in the podcast solids ISM is discussed in depth Sol I psi SM solipsism most dangerous ideology there is and this is also infused in the New Age movement that there is no such thing as objective truth that you can never really know anything nonsense utter nonsense there is such a thing as knowledge truth does exist it is our task to align ourselves with it and as our test to become that become knowledgeable become truthful and then you will obtain knowledge and truth and you will be like those spiritual goals to which you attain so the New Age movement wants to put us in a position of non action not the whole thing again elements within it let me be clear about that again I don't think it is the entire New Age movement this is about elements within the New Age movement that are part of a controlled opposition paradigm they know people see part of the problem but then they want to put their force against this to act as controlled opposition and in doing so that will lead a significant number of people off the real path the real path to become non activated see there it's the this is called the last cul-de-sac before the goldmine there's a term I brought up last week but the New Age movement is one of the last ones it's one of the last cul-de-sacs before the goldmine get people meditating endlessly and you'll find people going into extreme right brained imbalance and never wanting to take any real physical action in the world no matter what happens this is the idea of pushing someone into if left rein imbalance didn't work well we have this other option let's let's push them in the right brain imbalance and excessive meditation will do that to you so will excessively using psychedelics or any other drug for that matter you know I'll be advocating the positive use of shamanic compounds ok entheogenic compounds in later shows on this show but again in the proper context not simply as escapism joyrides wanting to try to go into uh excessive explorations of consciousness and never bring it back down to the ground the goal is to do the work right here the phrase be here now is about this it isn't about excessively meditating it isn't about not actually taking right action in the world it's about becoming activated spiritually activated in the sense to use proper moral action in the world to make change happen we are the agents for change if we are properly activated and if we constantly excessively meditate if we constantly refuse to engage the negative that is in this world the injustice is that are taking place in this world to acknowledge that yes there are extremely evil people at high positions of power and yes that power is illusory because it is based on mind control but in the physical domain that we live in it is operating and it is stagnating people's evolutionary development it is creating enormous suffering that need not be being experienced by people of this world and it was it's only going to be changed changed if we know enough about how it works care enough to change it and then actually manifest that by acting in the proper ways to change it these three things have to go hand in hand again this is all about unity consciousness unifying the three aspects of our consciousness thought emotion and action and that is unified knowledge and most of all knowledge of self knowledge of self brings about the second aspect our emotional qualities have to be raised to true care and only then are we really emitting the consciousness of love but it doesn't end there then the person has to act in the world it isn't just about what we know and how much we care those are two critically important things upon which proper action is based upon but then it has to be put into manifestation and the biggest part of that is teaching others this knowledge about how these techniques work these negative techniques and it's also about teaching them positive techniques positive vehicles for change for creating higher levels of consciousness in the physical world you want to talk about other dimensions great that's a great conceptual discussion that you can have and explore button unless you're talking about actual things that can be implemented and manifested in the physical world you're not really helping positive change to be implemented right here and right now all of those things are wonderful areas of exploration but in case people haven't noticed we have some problems here on the ground we have some problems here on here and there's so many people who are in these escapist modes of thought and the New Age movement to a very significant extent encourages this escapism so you got to be careful who you're listening to you got to be careful whose advice you're taking and that includes mine don't listen just blindly to anything I have to tell you explore it all look into it see if you think these are words of wisdom and if they are act upon them if they're not don't listen to someone else your own judgment and discernment has to be employed your own judgment and discernment has to be employed you have to keep that in mind so the New Age movement the last cul-de-sac before the goldmine refusing to look at the negative this is a subtle technique not everyone sees how this technique works they are very misled by their emotional desires a lot of people don't want the world to be as negative as it is and they think they can ignore that they think they can attain to a high level of understanding and enlightenment without knowing about the negative side and I'm sorry to tell you this is not true it is not true it is not true we have to look at the negative we have to explore our shadow selves and understand the workings that are out there by the dark controllers that are currently in charge that's the reality of the situation they are in charge because we have given our power of thought and creation over to these people by taking their illusions in return for our compliance taking their illusions money power Fame wealth etc in return for our compliance with their system and that's the truth that's not negative looking at the truth empowers someone to change it you don't say oh that happens to be negative so I don't want I want to ignore it that's the best way to ensure that you're going to get burned up in the fire folks best way to ensure you're getting burned up in that fire is ignore it and good luck if that's if that's your path best of luck to you you're the person on the beach that when the tide starts to recede by hundreds of yards and you're standing out on the beach going wow would you look at that hmm I better not think that that is the indicator or something that may be negative because I'll be empowering it good luck with that folks if that's your attitude enjoy what's coming we have a caller from California I think you may be one of the first callers from the West Coast so here we go callers will take precedence sorry if you've been holding for a while I just glanced at the switchboard I was on a roll there caller from California you are on what on earth is happening you have for this evening hi mark its kevin cozner actually Kevin I don't know why I saying I'm routed to I'm uh I'm routed through California I can only assume because of the Gmail I'm using in order to call my problem not a problem um I wanted to remind people about the allegories that you have spoken of before and I specifically came up with one recently that I would like to share if you don't mind absolutely go right ahead Kevin um this whole NWO thing I new world order stuff I have recently called it um like I made in that and an allegory of it of like the NWO oedipal complex okay we're actually humanity is Oedipus and is told inevitably that we must kill our Father hence the government religion anything that's controlling of that patriarchal dominator nonsense and eventually finally then live in harmony with nature or quote unquote marry our mother as to continue the annette at the allegory right and this is the the general direction CS is inevitably going just because of we don't much have any choice in the world at this point that we kind of polluted things so bad that we kind of have to take a new direction absolutely I think that's a very interesting and appropriate allegory and I think that uh that is all the tale it does tell the tale of what's going on in the world of them I just saw a movie today called NASA it was released in 2009 I'm trying to be very normal like have you broke up there's a movie can you still hear me now yeah that's better great there was a movie called chyme Attica high 9,000 familiar yeah we're familiar with it I am fated we pretty much says a lot of this breaking up again here no I'm go right ahead hello okay um I pretty much seemed to me very much they blended Michael caesareans work with those of the solitude Celestine Prophecy books that was my general impression I mean when it knows what both of those people's works are both dis Aryans as well as the the other novels I mentioned well I think a lot of what's going on movie come Attica that's just my opinion I have seen crime Attica I think it is a phenomenal documentary film I encourage people to check it out I think the creator of this one did a great job in what he put together and I've actually sent this out through I do like get like my own mailing I do like file mailings up yet all my mailing list and I it's one of the films I've sent out because I thought it was so good I encourage people to check out crime Attica it's spelled ky m80 I see a chi medica and in the movie they actually also do speak about a lot of the discernment issues that you're speaking of I in the whole New Age movement and so on and so forth and people's desire to find this ecstasy that exists in the universe through some sort of primal energy and I'm not saying that that sort of thing may not exist through some sort of Kundalini type thing I don't know enough about it to say but to be honest with you it does seem like the law of attraction while it's not really a good idea to go and just extend yourself and dwell too much on something negative to completely ignore it clearly it's something that like you had just faded it's like sitting in a living room with a fire in your kitchen and not bothering to put it out exactly exactly and that is why this technique is so subtle and why it is so effective because they are playing upon someone's desire for that kind of bliss that spiritual bliss in their lot in their lives and and I am NOT saying you should not carry that feeling within you that that should be carried within the individual if at all possible a powerful positive good feeling and positive intention because that is a wonderful component yes that is a critical component of actually manifesting something in the physical domain that's one of the biggest parts of the law of attraction is the positive emotional quality which your intention must be infused with however when it is used as a vehicle of escapism and when the person doesn't say okay I may be aware that these levels of ecstasy and bliss may exist but there is suffering happening around me see this is like the the the even higher manifestation of what is called the Bodhi mind in Buddhism okay yes there's the Bodhisattva the story where this guy is like it's he gets to the key yet has the key to heaven in the door locking and and then all the sudden is just like oh crap it's not going to be the same the whole party of Nirvana is just not going to be the same without everybody else and so he wondering harness and then does and and - goes to speak with others and helps them japonais in fashion others are still in suffering others are still in illusion yeah do the work here on the ground understand that these levels of bliss may exist carry that with you in your work but do the work here on the ground don't float off in some kind of a right brain and balance spiritual haze and fog because you're not the reality smacks you you're gonna feel it hard right right I really like um dick sucked and I've mentioned his work on the show previously and for those who aren't familiar with dick sucked and he has a podcast called dick dicks ovens metaphysical world and it's a good podcast but I like him as a teacher and I don't consider him to new-agey because he talks about this aspect he talks about we cannot ignore the negative we can't floater off and drift off in some kind the spiritual days he tells a little anecdote about his friend who is excessively meditating couldn't concentrate on his work went to see a doctor the doctor told him you're high your brainwave scans like you're high like you've been smoking marijuana all day long and this guy was doing no substances he was simply meditating excessively and it was like he was so out there on meditation it acted like a drug and he couldn't actually operate in the physical world that's how excessively he was meditating and how out of it this made him I will talk about meditation techniques when we get to more specific solutions on this show and I practice Transcendental Meditation and I'm I feel that I'm quite good at being able to slow thoughts to to quell thoughts and just bathe in an ocean of pure consciousness for a time but I don't do it excessively a 5-10 minutes a day is that and it and it it focuses me enough to get things done that I need to get done in a very centering or a reorientation of yourself yes I totally understand yes and that can be powerful for the brain powerful but once you get off on into this tangent of doing it excessively it can become just as damaging to the brain as any drug so again discernment is required understanding of this tool this isn't the end this is a tool to get toward the end okay the tool cannot be a be used because it's just a tool just like psychedelics may be a tool for some they if they're AB used meaning used in the incorrect way in the wrong way they're not going to get you to where you want to go there though it's going to be another trap and then most of all those is a recently even discovered that psilocybin said actually didn't help you people get off of both drugs of like heroin Asia as well alcohol them absolutely if they're used in the proper context for 1% I 100% agree with that I think more study of psychedelics I think we should be learning more about them constantly I think that you know research couple research community should be doing work with these powerful tools is what they are like a hammer school can be used for the wrong purpose somebody can use it to build a home or a shelter for the homeless and somebody can use it to murder it's the same thing it's just a tool the consciousness that wields the tool determines the result of what the tool produces have I want to thank you so much for calling in as an honor to be able is always great to hear from you and feel free to call in at any other time thanks so much man have it on you till you take care good night all right Kevin from Philadelphia always are good to hear from keV and we're into the second hour now that call took us past the second hour turn over so let me give the call in number again for anyone else that wants to call in and discuss mind control anyone that wants to discuss the controlled opposition paradigm the New Age movement this idea of the cul-de-sac before the goldmine as we've been talking about how this is a subtle technique to take people off of the path if discernment is not used so the calling number for this show is seven two four four four four seven four four four once again the calling number seven to four triple four seven triple four when you call in first and foremost please be patient I will get to your call secondly you have to punch in the call ID number for this show the call ID number is eight three five one five the call ID eight three five one five all right so we looked at how the New Age movement in some instances will take people off the path by asking them to ignore the negative so as we have talked about before on this show the philosopher Vernon Howard he said that um we we must look at the negative know the human species is so sick is it's in such a severe state of sickness if you can bear to look at it but those who do look at it will become well Vernon Howard the philosopher made that statement if we look at the ailment we can come to a proper understanding of what has made it this way and we can understand the way out of that condition and this is all about knowing the self it's all about not running from the shadow working through the shadow work with and through it the way out is through that's another phrase I strongly believe in there is no escape from this condition the way out is not under it's not around it's not over it's through and ultimately that means through the self talked about in the mystery tradition teachings like the inscription upon the Oracle of Delphi in Greece know thyself and you will know the universe that's ultimately what it is all about for those who wish to probe the depths of nature for those who truly wish to understand what it is to be alive what it is to be human to understand natural law if you do not find within that which you seek you will not find it without if you ignore your own wonders the wonders of your own house meaning of your own mind of your own psyche of your own soul how do you expect to find other wonders within creation inside yourself is hidden the treasure of all treasures and know the self to know the universe and the gods that's that's essentially what is inscribed upon the Delphic Oracle and I couldn't agree more this is the heart of the mystery this is about knowledge of self the reason we're in this mess is because so many of us have lost track with that knowledge of self so many of us don't believe any such knowledge exists and there is nothing to find because there is no no knowledge of self there is no knowledge of anything there is no knowledge of truth this is another new-age tactic injecting solipsism into the equation please look up what soloff's ism is all about folks I mean this is the biggest lie of all and there's a lot of Sol obsess believe me this is a poison ideology poisonous ideology that has taken root in so many places solecism Sol IPS is M study it understanding know why it is so dangerous know why it is such nonsense above all else it's pure sewage it is not a philosophy it's an ideology and a bad one at that and it's a path toward destruction and ruin it's ultimately the ideology that underlines all voluntary in regimes salep season it's not the the ideology that the leaders of those regimes really believe in it's the one they sell to the people they eventually oppress and kill they get them to believe in it they don't believe that nonsense leaders of the world psychopathic leaders seeking centralized power they know there's such a thing as truth they know there's such a thing as knowledge and they're trying to keep it from people if they're trying to keep people's minds in the rat maze in the hamster wheel of looking at anything else except exploring the psyche and particularly the negative aspects of the psyche understand why we're creating the mess were creating they don't want people looking into deep levels of psychology particularly when it comes to mystery tradition knowledge this is the most ancient and deepest psychology that exists of course they have occulted this if it weren't occulted the world won't be in the situation it is they have to hide it the word occult meaning hidden it has been hidden it has been halted this knowledge has been removed from circulation from general the general circulation of knowledge that's why you won't find it in the mainstream media that's why you won't find it in on the news on the newsstand you won't find it on the TV you'll have to go to books and often old books of people who painstakingly took the care to put this into safekeeping for the posterity at the risk of their own lives in many cases in some places it was an offense punishable by the most grim torture to try to put this knowledge into circulation we've come a long way since then but we got a long way to go still because the techniques of mind control have been refined and now they have technical technology at their disposal to use to embed these mind-control techniques deeper into the subconscious the television being the greatest of them all so we have to understand that looking at the negative is something that we have to face and we have to face it fearlessly we can't let this turn us into little children groveling and hiding in the corner because we don't like what we find we're going to find horrible things about what it is and has been taking place because we've been asleep at the switch folks we've been asleep at the wheel and we're real close to the cliff and opening up our eyes requires us to understand wow look at how close to that prosopis we are andin totally understand that that's the only thing that's going to give us the impetus to turn the bus around you know turn the wheel it's going to require effort it's got a lot of momentum heading us in one direction mainly the direction of ruin and destruction but if we wake up and look at it for what it really is we can reverse our course still I believe this can be done I think if we ignore information like this and if we ignore the dark aspects of ourselves they're eventually going to devour us the way out is through it's through the confrontation of the shadow self again a Kevin brought up a great allegory the Oedipus complex allegory and I do feel that is very appropriate and it is what is occurring we do need to devour this dark negative father figure so that we can come back into the womb of creation the divine Sacred Feminine mother that will care for us if we live in harmony with natural law principles we keep ignoring this stuff when we keep ignoring aspects of ourselves which have created this we're going to create something very very unpleasant and very uncomfortable we're long into that process but again that's why I do this show and that's why people who expose the darkness of this world are doing what they do that is the true work and it is also employing exploring and proposing powerful solutions a solutions based approach and part of the solution is understanding what's really going on knowledge of what is taking place is part of the solution it's not 100% totality of the solution but it is a critical part of it so Kevin was bringing up allegories I have another allegory bring up or gardening this look at the movie Lord of the Rings now I highly suggest this trilogy I'd say check out the director's cut as well because there's even more in that the extended edition director's cut Lord of the Rings is one of the most powerful spiritual allegories out there the specific component of this story that I want to explain in relation to understanding and working through the negative is the wizard known as Gandalf he begins in this allegorical work of fiction as Gandalf the Grey he's a grey wizard he has components of the light and the dark within him white and black mixed together create grey so he is the grey wizard that's what this is allegorically suggesting in this movie and book of course read the books the movies no cinematically just absolutely incredible visions brought to life on the screen I think a wonderful job was done with this allegorical trilogy and most that listen of the show will probably be from familiar with it but if you're not please do check out Lord of the Rings um Gandalf the gray wizard is asked by the ringbearer this is an allegory for one who is working on transforming the world he is a true world teacher he is the the bearer of the great work who has to destroy the negative who has to ultimately destroy the darkest aspect of the world the Ring of Power by taking it to where it was originally created this is an allegory about getting down to the very deepest causal factors of evil the causal factors are the root causes of suffering in the world and the ring bearer must bring that ring to be destroyed in the fires which ultimately created it and that's an allegory for the human psyche it's an allegory for the mind this is where our illusion this is where our dark fantasy that is leading us over a precipice to an abyss was created it is created in the mind through manipulation techniques so in the quest in their quest to bring this ring to where it was created so that they can destroy it the ring bearer his name is Frodo asks that they come to an impasse someplace where they physically can't go any further there's a physical barrier it's a mountain and there's an incredible storm that is basically burying them so they cannot continue along the road that they were originally planning to go down so they've hit this impasse and they're having a debate about where to go next and there are suggestions brought up well we can take this road we go through this land or we can go through this one and when a suggestion to go through the dwarf Kingdom known as Moria is made watch the reaction of the grey wizard the reaction of the grey wizard is one of horror he wants to be anywhere but there he doesn't want to go into that place he fears Moria which I think I believe they spell mor ia or mor iah why why does he have this reaction well what we find later in the movie is he knows that there's something lurking in Moria in these ancient minds of the dwarf kingdom in this allegorical fiction he doesn't want to face this there's an evil there and what this evil is is the darkest aspects of himself these are the darkest aspects of his own subconscious mind these are all the ways he is a negative influence in the world these are all the ways he is still under mind control hence he has both the light and the dark within him well they do take the path he says allow the ringbearer to decide so the the ringbearer in the story named Frodo makes the decision we will go through Moria and Gandalf is not happy about that this wizard in this story but he abides by the decision of the ring bearer and in Moria he faces this demon they confront this beast this demon called the ball rock and it's interesting that it's named after bell bell the god of the dark occult world named after so many things phonetically the name bail can be rendered ball or ball bail bail bill or bull and when we talk about more about the occult and more about green language I'll get into each of these representations these phonetic representations of this God who ultimately represents the Sun and in the instances that the Darko cultists use this figure it represents the dark sun the black sun the dark side of knowledge the dark side of illumination in other words knowing and acting without care being involved without true care being involved oh they have care their care is of a dark quality but I'm talking about true care with the capital C that they don't possess true human spirit to work toward the true great work to work toward the true will of creation capital W which is freedom and attainment to truth so going back to the allegory in this story Gandalf battles with this demon the bow rock this because he knows he has to he doesn't want to he doesn't relish it he wanted to avoid it if he could but ultimately when he's finally in Moria he knows he must do battle with this demon so you will see in that scene if you watch the movie and yeah ok this is a little bit of a spoiler for those who maybe haven't seen it but making a point here he willingly lets go of the cliff that he's holding on to he could take one of the other characters hands and try to be pulled up from the cliff he could try to could use magic to try to raise himself up when he's hanging on to the edge of this precipice that's dangling over this great abyss demon holding on to his ankle but he doesn't he willingly lets go he willingly allows himself to plunge into the depths of that dark abyss willingly and he willingly does battle with that demon consciousness and only after doing that battle with that dark force that represents the darkest aspects of his subconscious mind and the darkest aspects of his behavior does he emerge in the next movie as Gandalf the white the white wizard the one who has been purified and enlightened he has obtained true enlightenment true illumination through his willingness to do battle with the dark forces that are around him but most of all within him because the word Moria folks comes from an ancient Eastern tradition if you look this up online you will find the word Moria mor ia is I believe it's an ancient um it's either Chinese or Tibetan word that means the deepest aspects of the subconscious mind amazing now did tolki know that that that's what the word Moria means in one of these ancient Eastern traditions I don't know possibly and he named it that consciously or maybe this is an example of synchro mysticism know where there's a deep spiritual concept embedded into a work of art through the creative process without conscious awareness this is a concept called synchro mysticism please also look that up there's brilliant videos and expose on this topic and there's some very very highly conscious people exploring the concepts of synchro mysticism I see we have a caller on the line so let's go to New York City caller from New York City you are on what on earth is happening what do you have for us oh I'd love to hear it sound like from Neal hey Mike how are you oh yeah I had something I had written um it's about a page I was wondering if I if I can read it really quick absolutely go over to him okay thank you what is the unique factor that binds us all what is the driving force that we all have on some primary level every day I wake up and I want to curse myself I have become the very person I tried to avoid my own self induced madness for 15 years plus the external and internal occult influences for me Nicole is pure and true to its form fully hidden in my life I had no clue it existed and it was a part of me only deep within my subconscious mind was I only aware I had let my make myself become what Who I am because of my lack of conscious and holistic decision-making only now can I start to look at the person I ran from long ago and want to who is he what does he want to do now that I fully turns into some somewhat of his existence naturally pissed off at me because I avoided saw a shame beaten lied abused abandoned and you know rape only he's me but I know he comes from a place of love after that love is realized by the consciously true self capital letters there can be so forgiving forgiving it within self love or capital no matter what the rules of the ego tell me to feel in that I am more than I get more than it can ever perceive the ego emotions and all that is me or anyone else self forgiveness is a important beginning part usually there's anger anger is a byproduct of fear fear is the main reason we stay in a negative system spiral karma whatever you want to live a good example of the model we use is the inning it represents the dual system of the Sacred Feminine finally the masculine oldfield shall being add this to a degree on some level the holistic balance of the tooth is a mind body and spirit which is studies in practice in one's own life is the one of the main goals to it to a higher contrast level some people find a way to reach this place through personal experiences when people like the drill account right play act the mold cracked cook design politics religion some people you know and 98 percent of all these systems are that they are closed system at least these types of systems can only survival if the energy produces in a cannibalistic way there's nothing else helping it to feed and grow from it from an outside influence a system that is constantly in fight-or-flight mode a balanced system can grow feed learn and adapt with a frequency or energy needed to produce love and infinite life only this task and how can one hope to achieve a true Nirvana like state to help to help bring the soul consciousness to operate at a higher level and constraining by doing this it is possible for one to produce meaningful change and others and in bringing a total frequency of the planet to a higher level yeah we like that would almost be like a christ-like figure there's multiple occurrences of beings that may or may not exist existed on this planet due to a lack of good information and whole truth once they desire erupts inside that will eat you alive so you could satisfy then with a true desire the hero's journey has already begun along the way if you do if you don't stop the basic needs gain knowledge learn to trust defend and protect with love for all the what is true and more we just you will never find true meaning through completing any other parts of your life or this journey whether you whether they are difficult or not you will never be able to move on you'll be trapped in your own loop in the fear and anger for fear and anger forgiveness is an understanding through power and love and unity from within one is essential for a planetary system of being to have a positive experience and able to grow and thrive okay that was really awesome like I want to thank you for that I think that you really wrote that from a place of being inspired by the divine consciousness and I think that was just brilliant I mean that's what it's really ultimately about right there you know that's about what we need to understand to become activated and activated means taking right knowledge right right action in the world through what we have come to understand so I want to thank you for that and not if you if you'd like to email that to me um you know you can shoot that over to me in an email and I'll post it in the podcast section with this show thank you so much have a great day really really enough so let me do that you know that was really yeah but uh nice let me do that have a great night thanks I'm Brett thanks I must thank you right anytime Mike feel free to call back at any time again I have said it before uh this show gets the best callers uh and people who really I think hip nail on the head and who understand what's really taking place and we need more people like that we'll need more people that are seeing the whole picture are seeing what's going on they're seeing it from both sides negative they don't have a firm grasp on that and they know what they need to do to really become an agent for change in the world and that is having a grip on this to an extent that you can explain it to others you could be an influence upon others um you know there's this old adage that knowledge is power and I have said before on this show that is not true either wisdom is power knowledge is only a means the true power comes in what you do with it true power comes what you do with knowledge how can you affect change in the world through that which you know this is why on the tree of life in the tradition known as Kabbalah which means to receive at the top of the two paths where our goal we are aspiring to ascend from the bottom of these emanations as they are symbolically represented in the tradition of Kabbalah this is known as mal coupe market represents the physical world and and more than that identification with it a material to aspire toward the very top of that tree the Ancient of Days cat tare ke ter this is higher-level

Cosmic Consciousness unity consciousness the synthesis a positive synthesis not one used as a vehicle for control between the two paths and the reason it is the highest level of this Tree of Life the tree of the emanations called the cephalo because it is unifying the top of the left-hand path of severity which is understanding the NA Ebru the knot is understanding this is the internal quality but why it's on the Left path or the feminine path this would be represented by the tiller of Balazs in Freemasonry they are identical in what they represent knowledge is internal it's what we carry within the idea is to take that and move over to the path of Mercy or the pillar of jackeen and Freemasonry again exactly identical in their symbology in what they are conveying if one truly understands how to read this symbolism and convert what we know or what we carry within into practical positive action in the world and that is the set they wrote known as hokhmah wisdom wisdom is properly applying and acting upon that which you know knowledge is not power in and of itself but wisdom is power what we do with what we know and that is the part that needs to be really motivated because the New Age movement leaves this largely out not totally again I'm no blanket statement here when it comes to this topic but largely this is left out in New Age movement circles positive action in the world cannot be ignored we do need to do something the Duke not be left out of the equation it is the middle where the uniting force of B do have do is a required component of that equation B comes first but do is the unifying or the synthesis that must be it obtained we have to unite our consciousness in thoughts emotions and actions to become truly non-dual to become truly one with ourselves and only through Hoke MA the second several on the Tree of Life putting this in a Kabbalistic bent okay do we reach the highest level of illumination Qatar that is the way toward the divine through our actions the whole adage you will know someone by their actions you will know them by what they do that is ultimately what defines who we are within what we display to others in the world of manifestation through our actions I'd like to just read a very short section from the Emerald tablets of thoth this is a hermetic text that talks about what true wisdom is about it talks about the emphasis of action in wisdom the emphasis of not ignoring the negative it also emphasizes that we can't be silent when truths are being substituted for deceptions and an evil is being spoken in place of truth deception and confusion is being put it out there in place of truth the worst thing that can be done is to remain silent this is a alleged twenty thousand year old text that is from the antediluvian age meaning pre-flood pre deluge or cataclysm and this keeper of the mystery traditions in CHEM the land of the black which is what we call egypt today this is a work of Kemet ology the study of the mystery traditions of the land known as chem this is a revered work in hermetic teachings attributed to fall both keeper of wisdom scribe of the gods both says that wisdom is power and power is wisdom one with each other perfecting the whole be not proud o man in thy wisdom discourse with the ignorant as well as with the wise I'll read that again because some people don't practice this in a cult circles and think that wisdom is for them and it's reserved only for them and never try to teach higher-level concepts to anybody because they say you're casting pearls before swine and this is the downfall of people who have attained some knowledge but haven't really converted it into wisdom and I would suggest that's a big portion of people in the New Age movement not all again don't do not let it be said that I make blanket statements on this particular podcast I have made them before and I think that in some places they are justified this is one where I am NOT making a blanket statement I want to re-emphasize that I'll use the word most in this case but not all ok there are some people within this movement that have their act together and understand what's really going on in the world it's a it's a relative few in comparison to how big this movement is as a whole okay but I want to read this again that emphasize what's being said here be not proud o man in thy wisdom discourse with the ignorant as well as with the wise if one comes to you full of knowledge listen and heed for wisdom is all keep not silent when evil is spoken for truth or like the sunlight truth shines above all p who oversteps law capital l not man's law natural law shall be held accountable for only through law comes true freedom cause not fear in others for fear is bondage a fetter that binds darkness to man and that that's all I will read from from there because quite frankly that's all that's necessary that is enormous ly powerful enormously power and I think it makes the points very clearly and very concisely of what I've been trying to explain today about this secondary aspect of controlled opposition never ever stay silent when evil when deception is being spoken in your midst tell what you understand put it out there as a seed of truth if someone else out there has eyes to see and ears to hear and will sprout keep not silent when evil is spoken for truth for like the sunlight truth shines above all if those aren't words of wisdom then I don't know what are and then he briefly goes into what natural law is about and how this is breaking natural law is the fundamental causal factor of our bondage these are works of true wisdom for those with the eyes to see in the ears to hear they won't be for everyone but again I would not discourage people from continuing to speak that truth into the universe the universe is spoken into existence another powerful you know truth in a simple phrase that is easy to understand we speak the universe into creation the vibration that we put out is what we receive in in return and that is done through our thoughts our emotions and our actions and our words are a big part of that as the expression of our thoughts and emotions and speaking is action it is taking action in the world you are actually doing something when you speak and ultimately I think the highest action you can attain to is helping people to understand these truths helping people to understand how we are creating our reality and why it is currently essentially negative it's negative because we don't understand how we are creating it once we do and we understand the forces that are at work in the world and we confront those and we confront the forces that are at work within ourselves no matter how dark they are then we're going to see a powerful transformation and consciousness take place but not a moment before not a moment before just as absolutely amazing how much knowledge how much wisdom can be put into so little words in the ancients didn't mince words they talked about you know be conservative with your words you know extravagance and speaking is a sign that you know you're trying to make it into something other than what it is making it more than it is truth is always simple if we can put it in the language that is easy to understand it will be readily received and that's what this is all about helping people to receive the light of wisdom becoming activated in a world of darkness and being a light that helps to illuminate the path other people did it before us and we're way showers now if we truly understand this but we have to practice discernment discernment is about what sources are you going to listen to is there true wisdom and what is being put out there by this particular source that you happen to be listening to all if so take it and move forward with it if not let it go we have to understand that the negative is part of us it were not separate from it we have to embrace it and work through it only then can we become purified and let go of all the things that are creating all the negative influences in our lives in our state of unconsciousness and ultimately it's about taking action these are things that I feel are sadly missing from the New Age movement and I'd like to see more teachers pick up upon them in these movements and put them out there for the consideration of others because it is not true that simply understanding the negative empowers it that is not true it is not true that action is not required to change what we are experiencing in the world it is it is action is required and that the field of the best way we can be active in the world is understanding that which we are knowing the self not being afraid to confront the negative and then taking that information others that need to see and hear it and in doing that we are bringing the causal factors of what's creating our negative experience but it's also bringing the key to unlocking those and turning them into powerful and turning this into a powerful positive reality that which we would like to see manifest that which we would like to exist within and live in and grow and learn in so I think that again I want to say again thanks for the callers are always brilliant I have the best callers of any show on the air period that that's just that's it I mean that's just totally true the people that call in to this show our best callers anywhere on any radio show I've ever listened to and that's saying a lot because I listen to a lot of online radio so um thank you and keep it up check out the revolution broadcasting marathon on 9/11 truth which we'll be looking at the negative for sure and exposing what went on on that day and trying to get further to the truth of that horrid series of events that'll be right here on revolution broadcasting this Saturday all day and I would say keep exploring inner space there are treasures to be found there that are beyond anything that we could possibly feel or see or find in the physical that's what it is ultimately about know thyself and you'll know the universe and the gods and only in understanding that truth of that which is within us will we transform the world for the better I'm going to wrap it up there I'll be putting some imagery to go along with this podcast up on the show you can check that out in the podcast section of my website check out my site at WWF is happening calm the network is revolution broadcasting calm also check out the conference website for the conference I'm co-hosting next year at WWF re your mind [Music] welcome one and all you are listening - what on earth is happening right here on the revolution Broadcasting Network I'm your host mark passio today is Tuesday September 14 2010 and we are going to talk about the financial system of control the monetary system one of the Keystone's of mind control the cornerstones this is one of the most powerful methods we're going to start to get into it tonight and we will continue to discuss the monetary system in the coming weeks before we get into our main topic of discussion tonight I have a few event announcements for events that are coming up in the Philadelphia area that's where I'm from folks and I like to always announce activist events that take place in this area to hope hopefully bring more people out and get more people active in this community so with that I have three event announcements for events that are coming up in the Philadelphia region the first is next Monday night September 20th from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. the great activist group in this area called truth freedom prosperity is going to be hosting their monthly documentary screening and discussion night at the ethical Society building the ethical Society is at be a member of and to work with it just came off of our yearly conference back in July the Tesla energy independence celebrations which are heard a lot about on this show they're going to be hosting a Tesla night 2010 educational fundraiser to raise some money for the Tesla Foundation of Philadelphia so this is going to be happening on Saturday evening September 25th Saturday September 25th at 7 o'clock p.m. this is all ages a $5 donation is requested at the door taking place at the rotunda the rotunda is at 4:01 for Walnut Street 40:14 Walnut Street in Philadelphia this will feature my presentation and lecture I'll be speaking at this event I have a presentation called nikola tesla free energy and the future of humanity there will also be a live Tesla coil demonstration and a musical act that is yet to be announced the topics that will be covered in my presentation include who was Nikola Tesla and why should you care what were his greatest accomplishments what did he attempt to do in the service of humanity and why were his most visionary innovations never implemented how was his name erased from the place it truly deserves in world history are the world changing technologies the Tesla wish to bring forward actively being suppressed by institutionalized power structures how different would the world we live in today be had Tesla have been able to implement his plan for a new energy paradigm how can we make Tesla's dreams in the early 20th century come true in the early 21st please note that this will not be a technical presentation I'm not a scientist or an electrical engineer if you're expecting a highly technical lecture you will be disappointed because my lecture is largely about ethical considerations and the questions that we should really be asking ourselves like what path is Humanity on as a result of our worldwide energy paradigm right now why do we so crucially need the technology that Tesla pioneered now at this time in human history and what kind of consciousness change will it take to make Tesla's vision come to fruition well on that um on that note I'd like to be the first to tell you that there becoming to revolution broadcasting I don't want to definitively say this this is in the works but I think I can preliminary announce to you tonight the revolution broadcasting may be taking on a new show that deals with energy and specifically deals with Tesla's world vision of what he envisioned bringing to the world as far as a free energy system goes and more details will be forthcoming in a few weeks here but in the works is a show right here on revolution broadcasting the Tesla Science Foundation is going to be a big part of that a whole show about energy in general specifically the kind of energy paradigm we have right now what it is doing to the earth what we are doing to each other as a result of it and how drastically different the world would be had we listened to a great visionary and pioneer like Nikola Tesla so that's the second event announcement and finally free your mind take on a conference on consciousness mind control and the occult free your mind a unique two-day conference set for April 9th patient when you call in I may be in the middle of a idea or a concept I glanced at the switchboard frequently while I'm talking so if I don't see you right away please be patient I will get to your call I love taking calls on the show the call-in number 7 to 4 four four four four seven four four four once again the call I the call in number 724 triple four seven triple four when you call in you have to put in the call ID number for this show the call ID number for what on earth is happening is eight three five one five once again the call ID number enter it after you call the call in number the call ID number is eight three five one five so today we're going to begin an ongoing josè of mind-control methodologies we're going to continue this we're going to begin the seventh and perhaps the strongest of all the mind-control techniques that are used by the hidden controllers of this world the sorcerers if you will those who are wielding incredible influence over the thoughts of the people of this planet the monetary system the monetary system is probably the most monumental and the deepest entrenched of all of the methods of manipulation employed by the occultists of the world and we're going to see tonight a little bit about how the monetary system is a technique of the occult again that word conjures different connotations in people's minds when you say the word occult and the first word that it most commonly brings up is evil well this is there's a reason for that that's a technique of mind control in and of itself it's a technique of obfuscation to try to get people to think of a concept or an idea in a very specific way that you want them to think about it yet not really understanding what that thing is the word occult we've talked about on this show many times doesn't actually equate with evil the occult could be used for evil however the word itself comes from the Latin it comes from the verb occult RA in Latin which simply means to hide or to conceal all the word occult means in and of itself is hidden and indeed it is hidden knowledge and hidden knowledge is the path to manipulation if certain knowledge is concealed from a group of people the group of people that is concealing that knowledge that is secreting it that is occulting it has a tactical advantage because in their ignorance other people become extremely susceptible to manipulation when certain knowledge is taken out of general circulation this is something that I talked a lot with the main arm post on here on a revolution broadcasting he basically runs the network Bob Tuscan Bob hosted a 9/11 truth marathon this past Saturday and he had me on as a guest I was originally going to host another guest plans really didn't work out for that so Bob instead brought me on and hosted a about a half an hour thirty five forty minute segment something like that in which I really went into the occult aspects of what took place on 9/11/2001 this massive event that was an example of the Hegelian dialectic which we talked about a couple of weeks back on this show and I really hit people with a lot of occult information a lot of occult knowledge in explaining the deeper elements to 9/11 that are often unseen and they are unseen because most people are unstudied in the occult and do not recognize its symbols even if they are displayed openly to them in the light of day which was done in a huge huge way on September 11th 2001 so I'll be hoping to get that up on my site the the mp3 archive front from that show because it really really hit people with a lot in quick in rapid succession and I know it was a lot to take in so I want to get it up there for people may have heard it and not been able to grasp all of that with the audio you'll be able to look at the pictures if you look at my site now there's a news article announcing that I was going to be on the show this past weekend and I have some of the images that I talked about while I was on the air so within the next few days hopefully I will have the audio from that broadcast up on the site I'll put I'll attach it right on to that article that announced that I was going to be on and it will be accessible right there with the images so I just want to let people know that before I continue in with the topic for tonight definitely check that out it's very valuable information this is also discussed in depth in my video presentation on my site at what on earth is happening I believe it is in part three of the video section but I also recommend the people watch those in order because those videos are a tapestry of information as is this radio show so preceding an order is recommended but if you want to go forward and check out the 9/11 symbolism feel free to do so so we've talked about six mind control techniques so far I am going to talk about 14 before we're through discussing what you could in effect call the negative side of the story um as I've told people many times on this show this isn't a New Age broadcast it's not affiliated with the New Age movement this is something we talked about last week when I talked about controlled opposition this show exposes the hard core truths about what's taking place in the world I feel that only in doing so and exposing this and looking at the shadow not only of what's taking place in the world but our shadow selves what was taking place within us that is dark that is hidden that can be improved upon by us only through delving into this material can we really become truly aware and enlightened as to what is taking place and what our role in changing that darkness into something more powerful positive and empowering maybe therefore to that end we do look into the negative we look into manipulation techniques we look into mind control these are things not many people want to face but they are very real they are very active they are taking place in our world all the time and only in becoming knowledgeable about how these methodologies work and how they are put into practice in our world do we really empower ourselves to protect ourselves against them and to help others then to come out of the consensus trance that the majority of the human species is walking around in on a 24-hour basis so we've already looked at six of these 14 major tactics 14 major methods of manipulation please do not think these are the only techniques of mind control that are employed there are many others these are 14 which I have identified and that I feel are the most widely used and are the most powerfully used methods I think they're the most critical to understand and know about if we're really going to wake ourselves up and be a force for truth and positive change in the world therefore I have decided in my presentation on this show to specifically expose these 14 particular methodologies so far we have already discussed abuse ocation we have talked about world view poisoning we've also exposed the exploitation of subconsciously held primal fears we talked about the divide and conquer strategy we looked into the outcome based indoctrination system that we laughingly call public education in this country and in the Western world and over the last couple of weeks we talked about the controlled oppositional paradigm or what is simply known as dialectics I highly encourage people to go back into the podcast section on my website at what on earth is happening calm and listen to these older shows go back to the beginning and listen from the beginning you often will pick up many things that you then perhaps we didn't hear quite accurately the first time or things that just spur you on the further study that's why this radio show is archived every week as a podcast and is made available on my site as well as on the talk show network which is the the podcast carrier for this show so these six techniques have been discussed in detail in depth on previous shows topics for all the shows are labeled on my site so you can look at the topics and and that will tell you what that particular show focused on tonight we are going into the seventh method of manipulation and as I said this is one of the biggest it is one of the strongest if not the strongest now I talked about three heavy hitters or heavy guns of manipulation I talked about them being religion the use of subversive symbolism or occult symbolism and then chaos sorcery is the final the fourteenth of the mind manipulation techniques that I discuss in my presentation and while those three are indeed the most subversive when it comes to human psychology I think there is one that is even perhaps more entrenched more controlling in our lives than any of the others and that is the monetary system all this in my work the one and only religion now immediately that may be deemed or heard as offensive to many individuals but I maintain that statement as being completely true there is only really ultimately one religion on this planet and that religion is the belief in money so few people in the world are out of this mind control technique so few people are free of this mind manipulation technique that it is almost unimaginably small the percentage of people in the world that actually fully know and are fully aware that money never has actually existed in nature it does not now actually exist in nature and it never will actually exist in point of fact reality now this is going to the very end first I'm giving you the very end of the analysis of this entire fraud of this entire tactic of this this entire mind manipulation technique first before we even go into how how this system of fraud works I'm explaining the people first and foremost then the number one tenant to understand to take in and to know that this is true and I am NOT stating this as my belief now here's examples like last week on the show I made it very clear that I was not making blanket statements when it came to talking about the New Age movement and some of the concepts that are contained in it and some of the teachers within it I made it abundantly clear that I was not making a blanket statement I said that discernment was needed when it came to understanding the New Age movement as a controlled opposition as a form of controlled opposition today I am making a blanket statement there is no such thing as money folks it does not exist in reality it is a contract that contract only exists in one place and that is the mind controlled mind that's it I don't care what you think of that statement I'm not interested I'm telling you that that is the actual truth of what money is all about it does not exist in nature it only exists in the mind and it only exists in the mind of the mind controlled if you actually believe in this notion you are under mind control and I understand fully what I'm saying 100 percent don't think that I am naive when it comes to what I'm talking about here I know that will be taken as that's that's absurd that's ridiculous of course money exists I know that the influence that money wields in the world over people and over their minds and over their hearts and over their actions and behavior I'm well aware that that exists but what I'm trying to explain is that in actual reality there is no such thing as money it is an accepted construct just know this understand that first and foremost it is an accepted construct that requires your belief in it in order for it to work the way that it does I am not naive about how money works nor about the control that it wields over people's minds please do not think that because I'm making the statement that it does not actually exist in nature hey I'm well aware of the total control that has over people's minds and souls I'm so aware of this that I term this the one and only religion it is the only unquestioned I should say largely unquestioning I mean largely hugely unquestioned belief system on the earth more people subscribe to this religion than any other Christianity can only dream in its wildest imaginings to have this kind of a conversion rate Islam would kill to have this many people believe in this as strongly in Islam as strongly as they as people believe in money it would kill okay you can forget about the religions they are small potatoes next to the all-encompassing belief in money almost the entire world's population almost the whole human population our adherence to this religion our adherence to this faith they are proselytizers of this faith and they worship at its altar every day bring this notion up to somebody that you know isn't very aware which is easy to do and they're easy to find they're everywhere okay just bring up the notion money isn't real it doesn't actually exist in nature only the belief in it empowers it and gives it any power over anyone's life and you will hear the most absurd ridiculous statements juvenile statements in defense of a system that never did anything good for that individual all it ever did during the course of their entire lives was enslave that individual because ultimately that's what this religion is it is a religion of slavery for slaves get is offended about that statement as you like that is what the monetary system is that is its end goal slavery is what the monetary system is seeking to accomplish it is what those who wield the power of this system are seeking to accomplish the international banking dynasty families of the world the International Finance ears the owners and director directors of all of the central banks of the world particularly the Federal Reserve System of this country and all of the puppets that play their game which is essentially every politician on this planet they are finger puppets at best buy the real Wizards the real occult sorcerers of the world that actually are behind the machination of the world monetary system these are truly the dark occultists that owned this place folks they own this place and they don't own it because they have any real power they own it because of the power we as human beings have given to them through our unwavering and unchallenged belief in their illusion called money we empower this illusion and in doing so we enslave ourselves the human race will never ever ever be free it will perpetually for all eternity as long as this planet is here exist as a slave race for as long as the belief in money persists now I don't really care who is talking about gold as money silver as money you can talk about anything as money I understand that people have to use money because right now the way the world is that belief in it is so unchallenged that if you didn't you essentially could not get anybody to basically take any actions and that's the part of the mind control I do think it is true if money ground to a halt all in one time we already saw the effects of this happening in the Great Depression we already saw this look at what people were doing killing each other killing themselves because of an imaginary construct cease to to be able to have any effect in their lives and so they stopped actually doing any of the actions that they needed to do to stay alive even jumping off of buildings killing each other for a dime and if that happened again today you'd see the same and worse because the world is even more under mind control than perhaps it was back then and people are even more dependent on is illusory imaginative system that only exists in the mind as a construct money is backed by nothing in the modern world even if you believe that gold could be actual money or that silver could be actual money I say there's actually no real vacuum even if you did back it with with gold or silver that's all a contract and illusion to people who think that oh we just need to get to a gold-backed currency in this country again it's the same thing folks it's your imagining that this is actual value gold is an actual value are you going to eat gold okay is gold going to help you build a house to shelter yourself is gold going to bring water from one place to another so you have water to drink no it's all a contract doesn't matter what you use you could use clam shells you can use rocks you could use diamonds gold you could use broken shards of glass you know you can use straws it doesn't make a difference it's all just the contract this is what I'm trying to get people to ultimately see we don't even need these constructs for exchange if we get to a certain level of consciousness the consciousness of scarcity and lack and having to get something in return for something else is the consciousness that powers this system any monetary system no matter what you're using as the currency it means that flow of energy stops or starts based on your belief in this construct that's why it's called a current you know like electricity or water the flow of currents it's called currency this isn't accidental either this is symbolic language and that's how the occult works again Jordan Maxwell has made this basic green language popular he explains money is like current or energy like electricity it flows it's that which is a flowing source of energy and when a river flows it flows through its banks this is called green language or alchemical language this is how occult concepts work it's not accidental that that language works out that way there is a significance to it money is current it is energy that is how it is set up meaning that if it stops flowing there is no motion or there is no life I said to someone this week money is just an imaginary contract it doesn't actually exist in nature and their response was well you couldn't live without money think about that just think about that notion right there you couldn't live without money this person is under such deep mind-control that they are equating life force energy itself with money it's like saying you couldn't live without the unified life force energy of the cosmos that isn't what they said though they said you couldn't live without money this is placing money in the position of God it is giving the attributes of God to a common imaginary contract that has been made up by man and I understand what they meant by you can't live without money believe me I get that people won't do anything for other people because they're under such hypnotic trance I get that okay I understand what they meant that if you try to completely do away with this concept and don't engage it at all that you'll probably be living homeless on the street because that is what people that is the level of care people truly have for their brother and sister in the modern world that's the fact of the matter that is currently true now as we speak it doesn't have to be that way it can change anytime we want to change our level of consciousness it all exists in a choice and that choice is in the present moment the now and it can be changed immediately if we so choose it now I am currently making that choice I understand that this is an illusion it's a construct it has absolutely nothing to do with reality yet other people believe in it so strongly that this is their religion they it has usurped the place of God in most people's minds that is what money has done that's why I call it the one and only religion and it doesn't make a difference what religion people say that they're a member of this is their God watch the movie they live the science fiction movie the science fiction allegory called they live I highly recommend it a caller brought it up last week or a couple weeks ago and I highly recommend taking a look at this movie called they live and in it the hero looks at money through these glasses that can show him the truth okay in this science fiction allegory and right on the bill right on the bill that the other character is holding in his hands it says this is your God on the money that's what's actually printed there and everybody else using it doesn't see that but when when the main character puts on these glasses he sees the world of reality as it truly is to his eyes he then is able to see it a great allegorical film and that is exactly exactly the thrall that people are held in by this system I'm just setting up this to talk about the occult aspects of money we can get into how the banks work we can get into all the different frauds that they pull we could talk about the Federal Reserve System and who owns it and that's all very important we have to understand how the financial system does indeed work but I'm trying to get people to it deeper level of comprehension about the construct itself of money when you look into the occult side of this it becomes extremely interesting and things that you would not have ordinarily understood become manifest to the light of day understand that ultimately what the ocultist what the dark Oh cultists want to do is to have you equate certain concepts with money and the first is that it is the determining flow of energy in the world meaning that it is the life force itself it is the generator of life force now I want to be very clear about what I'm saying here okay I don't go this into depth in this in my presentation I'm going to expand on this greatly on the air okay via cultists who ultimately own the financial systems of the world who are wielding an illusion over people's minds that's what this is it's a mind-control illusion to get people to act the way they want them to act this is 100 percent behavioral control through a construct that only exists in the mind these occultists and they are Oh cultists I'm not telling you that that is my belief I don't really care if you accept that accept it or do not accept it I know that they are a cult I know that there are cultists because I worked with some of them directly myself I talked briefly about how I was involved in systems of dark occultism and I will get more into that in the future on this show however I'm laying that down as a truth that I know to exist not a belief okay vo cultists that own and control the financial systems of this world okay the very first thing that they need you to the lien is that money is life force energy now they do this through many means largely through symbolism which I'm going to get into tonight and to tell you the truth I think what I may do we'll see how this goes over the next 15 20 minutes or so I don't know how much about me fed I'm going to get into tonight I don't know how much about how interest works and about how the Fed was created and about the families that own it and about you know how the fractional reserve currency system fiat currency system works we'll see I would probably rather leave that for the show that's coming up in two weeks which I guess this is a good opportunity to tell you about I'm going to be interviewing James Yaeger in two weeks time September 28th right here on this show James Yaeger is the documentary filmmaker that made the great documentary Fiat Empire Fiat Empire Fiat is spelled FIA T Fiat it's a Latin word it means so be it or let it be and this is this also go ties right into the concept I'm talking about right now because the word Fiat is the first word that is attributed to the god of creation in the Bible God in the story of Genesis the creator speaks the universe into existence with the words in Latin Fiat looks let there be light Fiat looks the word Fiat means let there be that is the kind of monetary system we have one that is simply spoken into existence by those who have taken the place of God in this world and they are the gods of this world with a small G they think they're God big G they can think that all they wanted we'll never make it true but essentially by giving them our consent and our belief and therefore our power to imbue something with consciousness and power and control over other people we have essentially agreed and made them into God's the money masters and they call their system Fiats currency let there be energy currency currents this is the energy that we say exists and this is what runs the world this is what the world runs on our creation that was spoken from our lips and because we say it's real it's it exists and he was real well folks only your belief is holding that up say whatever you want it is mad about that as you want you want to know who keeps the world in slavery it is not these occultists it is not it is not the occultists who own the monetary systems get over it get over it it is not them it is us the end the end our belief is what creates the slavery that's in the world period period get out of the belief that this nonsensical construction that does not exist in nature is real and the world will change the external manifestation that we have collectively created will change and not a moment before those barriers in the mind are broken down not one moment before so my guest in two weeks James Yeager will talk about the creation of the Federal Reserve we will get into energy itself as a construct you know how they're there and other energy is is oil that they've created and that they claim to own the resources of this planet and ultimately that is really the ultimate currency because it's key it keeps the world in motion see it's all about motion the dynamic energy of motion the flow of things these are all critically important terms and words understand how they're used oil it's something that lubricates it keeps things flowing we burn it for light we burn it for fuel this is the currency of the elite class so called the lead class the controllers the sorcerers the occultists of the world the mind-control masters the manipulators that essentially own the minds of the human populace because people don't want to think and don't want to have any discernment over what is actually real or not real and they want to make excuses and they want to absolve themselves of personal responsibility always always that's what the the cry is oh oh you couldn't live without money no you don't want to have to live in a way that you have 100% responsibility over your own actions therefore you want to accept the creation of this utter garbage nonsensical notion called money that somehow has any power or sway over your lives your actions your decisions your behaviors it's all about not wanting to think folks let's be real honest about it let's be real honest about it and stop blaming other people over oh they're the manipulators and woe is us bull okay bull it takes compliance for this system to be perpetuated and yeah because so many people believe in it unquestioningly it's their religion and again the word religion is to hold back to tie back to thort it comes from the latin red league or a red league go red Liguori and I'm tired of people who insist that this word comes from the Latin verb red leg or a well I don't know about you but I don't say religion do you know I didn't think you did it's the word is religion and the etymology is not real egg oh okay this is what people want people to think and secondly is that that etymology doesn't even make as much sense people want to think that it means it comes from the verb Lego llegará read and where we get the word law from the legal system it is not that is not where it comes from it comes from the Latin verb to tie Lydia McGary to bind because it is occult binding it is magical binding that is what religion means it comes from the verb really go relig RA which means to tie by binding it can also mean to hold back meaning like a leash around ones neck to hold back like a yoke like the reins of a horse ties the horseback or binds that animal or the yoke of an ox that is where the word religion comes from and it means to bind to hold back the word redly go read lagari in Latin can also mean 2fort when you're holding somebody back you are trying to thwart what they are ultimately trying to accomplish where a goal that they are ultimately trying to reach and that is what religion is it is thwarting it is binding okay and the monetary system is the global religion folks people talk about the global religion coming in as part of the New World Order well I have news for you it's already in place and it's been in place for thousands of years the one-world religion is the belief in money and it's already here and it's been here with us for a long long time money is the religion that controls the world through mind control and it has usurped the place of God because it is considered the energy through which the world is given the ability the actual ability to exist people think that without it the world couldn't exist people couldn't exist I answered this person who said you can't live without money I said could you explain to me how all of our ancient ancestors lived without the concept of money thousands of years before money was actually invented would you tell me how you got here if you can't live without money people lived on this planet without money for tens of thousands of years and got by just fine money is not as ancient of a concept as you would think it is thousands of years old but it is nowhere near as long as human beings have existed on this planet it is however the most unchallenged belief on the earth and therefore I call it the one and only religion people believe in this a million times more strongly than they believe in their God ask any Muslim ask any Krishna ask any Jew ask any Buddhist for that matter they all believe in money folks I wonder where where all the priests are who say that they give their lives over to God when we're having a rally outside the Federal Reserve Building where are you at you're certainly not listening to this show or paying attention anything that's real if you are really trying to make some change happen in the world you'd be out there helping us try to end evil and corrupt institution like the Fed that's doing the work of the demon what it is basically doing the work of the entire demon consciousness that infects this place you won't see any religionists get involved in that because they're 501c3 status might be in jeopardy then folks and then then out alko's you know all the money coming into that donation plate tax-free you know what I'm saying yeah you know what I'm talking about floo energy currents this is what they have set up money to be equated with in the human mind and this is all ultimately the powers of the Creator it is the Creator whatever you happen to think of that force as is the source of life it is the one source from which we all have emerged it is that which gives motion and flow and energy and life to the world the makers the Masters of money who have invented this concept and injected it as the poison into the human consciousness of them as they have have equated this notion with the very notion of the creator of the universe and with lifeforce energy itself that's number one what we will also start to look at some of the symbols the occult symbols that are used on money and this is jumping the gun a little because I'll be talking about symbolism later on on future broadcasts but it's important to look at some of the symbols that are on money and understand what they really mean because not only is money a religion it is binding that's what religion means and money certainly binds the mind this construct is essentially a use of talismanic magic a talisman tal is M a.m. talisman is a magical construct it is a symbol often a series of symbols that is imbued with power by carrying it and referring to it frequently while it is being carried now that is exactly what you do with money this is exactly what you do with the bills that you have in your wallet or your purse in your pocket you carry them in carrying them see there's motion involved you take them from place to place with you there is tons of a Koch symbolism on that talisman that carried totem it is a carried totem that's what a talisman is it becomes imbued with energy the more it is moved around or shuffled back and forth and that's indeed what we do with money all day every day this is what get this very notion of flow of motion gives money its power over people's minds I know you may have a hard time accepting that notion but that is how talismanic magic works you don't need to believe that it works for it to work the flow of it is as equally as important as what is printed on it and is as equally as important as getting people to accept it as a construct that is real it actually exists in nature we're past to the top of the second hour I want to give the call-in number again I see we have a caller on the line I'll get to you right right now caller hold on I'll be there in a moment the call-in number for this show seven two four four four four seven four four four once again the call-in number seven two four triple four seven triple for the call ID number eight three five one five punch that in after you call in the call ID number four what on earth is happening eight three five one five all right I'm gonna break their briefly we can get into more occult aspects of money in a moment I see we have a caller on the line here we go Paula you are on what on earth is happening hi Mark it's Kevin once again actually hey keV how are you very good I I don't mean to be a pest and call so many times I'm just really enjoying the show and again you're kind of right where I am in my head once again you were speaking on the talismans and I remember perusing through caesareans work and seeing something about the Dalek you centuries of this scourge yeah but I'm sorry you you broke up there for one minute just that you were talking about Michael - sorry I'm talking about talismanic emblems and and you cut out their brief let's just take off man the dollar sign it was it is considered a scourge it was East in his works he had mentioned one time that the dollar sign which was basically the symbol for the scourge and the scourge has always been a whip that you eat slaves with essentially or like even gas their skin open with to make them do your bidding and that's very much lower than Lavery as far as I'm concerned yes you are referring to the obverse sign the obverse side of the Great Seal of the United States which means the front side the back side of the seal is the pyramid an all-seeing eye but the obverse side or the front side is the eagle with the with the shield over its chest holding the swords I'm sorry the arrows in one Talon and the olive branch in the other tower is it the Holly branch in the other Talent I believe it's the olive branch and this is a a symbol of essentially total power it's a symbol that wielder controls the power of war and peace it controls the left and the right it is the unifying force between the flow of positive energy and negative energy so this is also a if we take back the symbol of the eagle we go into bloodlines of ruling families throughout the Holy Roman Empire and then even beyond into dynasties that were fair onic ancient Roman Empire and ancient of Babylonian Empire this is a symbol of the Phoenix as well Phoenix is something that perpetuates its own life whether it is destroyed it always rises from the ashes of its own destruction so this is a symbol of perpetuity or eternity concepts that are also associated with God I have not heard this referred to as the scourge but if that is what he's referring to it as if he explains the symbolism in the same way you know I think it would be valuable to look into Michael - sorry ons interpretation of the the obverse side of the Great Seal actually I believe it was just simply the initial dollar sign itself like the actual like it's a stick then a the kind of rope coming off of it and that's the whip essentially so it's this - you actual dollar sign oh oh I see what you're saying it's it only mentioned it once but I remember catching it and I remember - sticking in my head and because of partially because of that I've been very much twisted against money since hearing those words since finding out what the dollar sign is essentially a whip well I've been very I've become very against money and have looked into ways of getting out of the system altogether so it did not have to deal with money in any way shape or form ever again and the most direct route I have found personally has been earthships okay and they are basically a sustainable homes made out of recycled materials with water catch systems solar paneling all the basic necessities you could ever possibly need and once you have something like that of your own you no longer need money you could just tend your home for like four or five hours a day trade some fruit with some friends maybe if a currency of some sort does then climb out of that level it were say assuming we found some sort of balance where every human being on the planet could actually have one of these things we would then have a much more communal aspect going on of then real free fair trade amongst people barter we wouldn't need money anymore because we wouldn't need all your little you we wouldn't need to pay a bill to someone to get water you you wouldn't any longer need to pay a bill to get electric so and so forth your home is your own power plant and so on right this is just something that I found they had it in the movie garbage warrior if anyone has seen it then I'll check it out that was pretty much a really sweet way of going about things and there's a place rapes out out of right outside of Philadelphia called Silver Lake Nature Center if you don't mind me giving a little plug sure is this this wednesday at 6:30 is going to be having a free informative seminar you can just look it up at Silver Lake Nature Center dot org and they are going to be actually building there at this Center that this Ike Park Center a Earthship on the land that they have there I don't know exactly who's going to be living in it afterwards so on and so forth but you can pretty much go free to try and help learn how to build this thing along the way it's being built and I'm going to I personally find it that's going to be invaluable to take something in order to get my son since I have a six-year-old son since I so desperately want to get out of the system myself what I want also most of all is to make sure he never becomes dead tax slave debt slave so and so is to have one of these things before I go so that I can leave this to him so he then no longer has to be a part of it he can just literally be not a part of the system anymore as long as he can find a way to even if possible sell the energy back to the grid in such a fashion that he makes enough money to pay his taxes hopefully I've heard of people doing that in Jersey with buying solar panels on their homes sounds really interesting I definitely think people should look into this concept of a sustainable way of living off-grid on Earth ships definitely check it out um I've seen some of the post posts that you have done on Facebook on this concept and it looks pretty interesting it's just the idea of being able to get completely out of the system and no longer need money is just it just seems like an invaluable thing considering the crash that looks like we just barely prevented recently and still could very easily come with just one horrible Christmas season could literally tear half the planet apart because we're not buying enough stuff from China and that flow of energy and flow of money like they even mentioned in the movie Network if that ebb and flow has to be there or society won't exist heaven forbid we don't have money well III think I figured out a way to like get out of needing money just about all together and look it up yourself don't take my word on foot on it earth ship biotech sure it but it's Earthship calm or chip board I believe either one you can get to to get information there brain lab I want to I want to briefly go back to your um bringing up the dollar symbol itself the ad this is why really yes yeah now yes that's like a whip think about this two other concepts it is also no yeah there's almost oh yes there's also like a flowing like like a like what you'd imagine like an oscillation of some sorts if you look at the s turn it sideways thing and exactly and then there's like this bar right in the middle of it and I'm wondering maybe is is even sometimes the double bars inside of that some sort of prevention of the actual flow of energy is that part of the symbolism that's okay I've won my life it's simply a stylized way to do it the archetypal symbol is simply the single bar within the S curve through it but think about all the things that that conjures like you said it's like a whip okay moreover it's simply a wave okay is what the whole construct of reality is made up of we are waves of potential energy that are emitted from the void of pure potentiality we are there's a wave particle duality you know the action merrily is made on light energy I've heard the energy is literally braided together even enter even light if it were to be able to actually be like properly seeing you you notice that it was actually like a rope it's not actually like it's not these beams of light it would be actually be some sort of rope is the way it was described one time let's also look at the symbol in terms of genetics it is like the DNA spiral yes the way our DNA is wound in that S shaped pattern okay so this is this goes to the idea of the caduceus the snake around the pole okay serpentine energy and again the life force energy within the body is known as Kundalini so this is the serpentine energy that rises from the the base of the spine up to the top of the head from the base chakra to the crown chakra this energy has to do with life force and enlightenment etc and that's what there it also moves in this s-curve a serpent curve they call it the serpent energy it is called Devi Kundalini the the Kundalini serpentine energy so again they're using this construct of the actual energy that flows through the body itself the lifeforce energy in the symbol of money you can also look at it as being English letters English letters it says the word is the very concept of existence that something is right well that's one three months I never saw that before but you're absolutely right that's exactly what it looks like it's like one letters piled on top of the other right right right there in this in the pattern is the word is and then if you take that to a you know another level what you're really seeing as a name is is the word Isis has just formed of those two letters and this is the goddess of sacred feminine energy that basically gives rise to everything that happens in the world this is called in certain aspects of the apartment most notably Freemasonry which is a subversive favored symbolism right is that this is the ride from ancient Egyptian symbology which Freemasonry widely employees and again I am in no way saying that Freemasonry as a a system of study and a system of allegory and symbolism in and of itself what it is attempting to convey is in any way negative or bad I made that very clear when I was talking about free Masonic symbolism and association with the 9/11 event when I was on the air with Bob Tuscan this past Saturday and I want to continuously reiterate that traditions that I talked about that I mentioned having to do with certain forms of symbolism in no way am i condemning them or saying that these are inherently bad systems of study okay they may be co-opted in certain ways in the modern world and that has been true essentially since they have been in existence and sometimes in really disturbing ways too because like you I remember you and I had a long time ago a conversation about how and I believe you've mentioned it actually on your your show before about how the two squares when laying on top of each other is it stops time in the center of it yes and I saw just in wandering around I noticed other signs the same way the Sacred Feminine is this symbol of the downward facing triangle so yeah so that being on the yield side that's right no sign leg that actually messes with me what I notice that I was just like wow as our society becomes so subverted that we don't even notice these types of things and I'm wondering is that yield sign specifically on the secret feminine to see us then that women yield I've ever and and become more slave like and so on that really disturbed me when I noticed that the yield sign is the way that it is because they understand that that symbol is associated with the submissive side and they're trying to elicit that reaction in the person who is driving and seeing it therefore they're using the inverted triangle they won't use a upward pointing triangle to depict the concept of yield because that is an active sign and says you know basically go or thrust as the male side of the male/female duality so of course they would use the inverted triangle for that that's just a in a sense of that they understand what this symbology subconsciously invokes in the viewer whether the viewer is aware of that or not is irrelevant this exact say doesn't a little persuasion on that understand this right it's actually subliminal for persuasion in a fashion I don't know exactly how off to call it but see in the free Masonic tradition Isis okay the sacred fact and this isn't just free Masonic this is Egyptian tradition again some of the symbolism a cup makes its way into Freemasonry okay but Isis again the flow of money the name is is okay cut in in in conjunction with the whole concept of that the verb is to be it's a form of the verb to V which connotes existence in and of itself okay all that is is a form of energy okay which gives rise to everything you know put the potential potentiality from the void gives rise to matter so that this concept is all there in the symbol and it has to do with the Sacred Feminine energy so this is see it's it's about money being that Sacred Feminine force ultimately that everybody really wants and and and has lacking to a certain extent within their psyche and within their consciousness so when you come from the womb you come from your mother's water so again this is the concept of lifeforce the water ok the water but why a birth certificate I'm Jordan Maxwell we got it well it's all about money being the highest law of the earth this is maritime law maritime meaning marine okay marry associated I saw something with that and I just watched something with with Jordan Maxwell speaking about this in it like the other day on a documentary of some sort yeah and and it you know this is about the flow of energy and it's all tied in with the Sacred Feminine that that roots it deeper into the desires because ultimately we all have the desire for that Sacred Feminine force we understand that that is the realm of true care ok it is the heart energy and again this goes back I want to link this to Freemasonry in this way this Sacred Feminine force where the heart energy is called the generative principle in Freemasonry and you have one of the big secrets of Freemasonry right there folks that G in the middle of the compasses and square in the symbol of Freemasonry there are many people who will tell you many many different things about what it means and indeed it does represent those things it can represent God goddess gnosis it can represent goodness the kinetic and the gene right ok Genesis ok which is the act of creation and think about it gene and I I see in the word Genesis right right gene is also gene and Isis yeah those two words right there what we're talking about genetics DNA the money symbol itself I know we're getting really esoteric here and talking about symbolism but this is these are all concepts that go into the subconscious mind when it comes to money ok and I like doing this better than talking about how the Fed creates money they will let James do that in a couple of weeks and he'll do a better job then even I I would okay but I want to get into the occult aspects the really deep aspects of this see that that G in the middle of the compasses and score in Freemasonry ultimately represents the generative principle that's that's something that that that name for that concept G in the middle of the compasses and square is something that you're you're only going to that will only be revealed to a high level Masonic initiate and this is what the concept ultimately represents that's what that gene ultimately represents the generative principle and what that means is the creative force but what the true creative forces has to be understood even when talking about the generative principle well what is the generator what is the generator the chip that is in dwelling within us the Sacred Feminine force that is the generator of our experience what it really ultimately is is our care what we care about what we care enough about to put our energy into to do work to create okay is what we will manifest in our three-dimensional experience of the physical world that we live in and that's why care or the heart okay is that the heart is the generator of the body it's the pump that fuels the body with the lifeforce energy that is contained in the blood so it is the generator pump a generator as a pump of energy okay the generative principle of care of true care what we ultimately care about and what we ultimately care enough about to put energy into to create is what we are ultimately going to end up with in our three dimensional experience in the physical continuum in which we live therefore that's the real secret of

Freemasonry is the generative principle and it is care and this is why I say the world is the way it is for us because ultimately not enough people care about how this stuff really works they don't care about what's going on in the world oh and most of all they don't care about what's going on within themselves to learn enough about the self however the dark occultus of this world they have a form of care twisted though it may be psychopathic though it may be they care about what they are doing to such an extent that they are on the same page about it and that's why the universe will give them a modicum of power and control over their reality because everybody else is essentially said I don't care I've given up that power and I'm handing that power over to you and the universe is always going to acknowledge that and say okay well that's how that's how the energy is flowing you're giving up your real generator which is your care and you're handing it over to people who care in a very dark way about what they're doing but they care and Donna three out on top of that equation in the movie Godfather three I believe that one main character was speaking about how all the ships all their ships must flow in the same direction right and I think that was essentially like a speech of his being a dialogue that had was had between like some really large power brokers and some sort of real estate venture that was going on between the church as well as the money he was bringing from the mob yes and they're talking about this concept right there in there were a choice of words flow you know I mean if people are using the lottery as well they may not understand they may not even understand fully how it works the makers of a movie like that but they're getting the concept in whether it be deliberately or whether it be synchro mystically through the creative process they're telling truths about how the world actually is in the creative process and that happens in a lot of movies allegorically so yeah I mean look at how many concepts just got Drudge up just by talking about the symbol of the dollar bill the actual symbol of the dollar the s with the line through it and it's it's absolutely amazing when you think about it so keV I want it thank you for calling and don't don't feel like you can call in too much you can never call in too much I like hearing from people who call in on a regular basis and I like hearing from new callers as well so feel free to call in at any time man you always bring up great points and stimulate a lot of food for thoughts so I want to thank you for calling in then thank you for having me I appreciate it have a good one Morrow no problem and you take care you take care truly I mean that that's ultimately what this whole thing and what will flush this out a little bit more through the symbolism of money because that's what this whole thing is about it's about getting you to care about their creation and in doing so your imbuing it with energy you're giving it life you're giving it the life force energy that's why the monetary system has so much power because it is all energy that we have given it through our belief in it and through our care what do people care about more than anything else in the world most people in the world the thing that they get up and they live and breathe for every day of their lives is to get out and make that dollar get out and make that buck gotta make money how to make money can't live without it talk about a couple of things let's talk about continue to talk about money in relationship to care itself to the energy that is associated with care I want to talk about the talisman that is money that is the dollar bill I want to talk about the name of money just the word money itself I want to talk about the name of the dollar bill all of these things are connected with the occult and few people have looked into this for one second of their lives and many people will hear this and dismiss it they'll say oh it can't be that's too simple too simple I could it's impossible that I could not have seen that my entire life well that's what the occult is folks it's things that you didn't see that we're all there the whole time right in broad daylight right out in the open hidden in plain sight because the consciousness wasn't high enough to see it while we're sitting right there it's like a subliminal like heaven talked about subliminal advertisements if you see subliminal messages in an app in an ad in a print ad you may not have seen it initially somebody can show you an ad oh it's just a few people standing around but then you look at it together somebody points out some sexual innuendo in the end you're like wow yeah I see that they're trying to sell me this product through sexual innuendo then the next time you look at the ad that's all you can see you can't even see what they were trying to sell you're not even focused on that you're looking at it you're going look at what they tried to sell me on sell me a product and say get buying this product can you know make your sex life better or whatever other nonsense they want to sell you in subliminal advertising this will give you a youth and energy and virility and peace of mind and ultimate happiness to subliminals once they're exposed they become the major thing that you can see you know the the the thing that was preventing you from saying it is lifted and then that is all you can see after after that mind barricade so to speak after that veil is removed so that's how symbolism works the dollar sign itself the I s the word is right there in the dollar sign it is a wave function okay it's a symbol of a wave a sine wave which has to do with light and energy and movement it is the symbol of DNA which has to do with life and what our actual makeup is all of these concepts they want to equate with money because this is a talisman it is a magical construct that is imbued with power through your belief and through carrying it and through moving it exchanging it and moving it see the whole concept like we were talking about some of the things that Jordan Maxwell talks about in his presentation on money and finance this has to do with the water the goddess of the waters was Isis not in the upper Egyptian tradition the goddess of the night sky Newt she was also referred to as had many different names it's the symbol of the pure potential energy the void the blackness of the night sky from which the stars and the suns emerge and shine she's the goddess of water the goddess of the moon the goddess of night the water is what is creating the energy or the flow it is in constant motion the land can be looked at as steadfast and unmoving but the water is constantly flowing and that's why this is the goddess of money and that's why it's the goddess of the laws of money lowercase L they're made by man because they think that in making this system of money they're the gods of this world and that's their law maritime law named after Mary another association with the goddess and marine meaning of the water so this sacred feminine energy is also also has to do with the deep psychological embed of the concept of money it's why it has such a powerful appeal it is connected with birth it is connected with the mother like like have said when you are born you are given birth meaning that's like what a dock a ship is docked it is called a it is at birth it is in its birth you have a birth certificate the whole concept of money being tied to the Sacred Feminine or the divining mother one of the most powerful connections between human beings ISM is that connection to the mother of course everybody knows that intuitively and this is what they are equated money to you're saying this is the force which gave birth to you this is your mother you cannot live without it this is what imbues you with all of your energy and gives you form and gives you allows you to flow and move at all and without this there would be total stopping of all energy of all flow of all life they want to associate it with the life force and with the generative principle the principle of care they want to sell money to you as love again that which people really hunger for more than anything else and that is lacking in their lives more than anything else so they want you to think that this can bring love you know the whole saying in the Sun money can't buy me love it's true what they want you to think that it can dark occultists the money manipulators sorcerers of the world this is their scheme the color of money is associated with the concept of love now people will say how is the money's different color in different areas of the world I'm talking about the color of money right here in the United States because this is the place that money has the most powerful sway on people's minds out of anywhere else in the world yes is a powerful force of mind control everywhere in the world but nowhere is it at the level of control over the minds and hearts of people as it is in right here in this country and I would say bar none bar none green people will say how does green associate with love you think of a heart you think of red or pink or something like that but that's that's just the color of symbols as they're drawn you know by people drawing them in in the modern world for you know cartoons and cards and things like that and of course you know that's the color of it actually within the body and red is a color associated with you know Valentine's Day and you know flowers etc the true color that is associated with the love force when we are talking about esoteric traditions and the occult is green so people will say why is this the color associate with love and the love force love energy let's look at this for a moment and we'll understand why they make money green the whole visible spectrum of light which we're talking about money as being a form of energy okay so light is basically everything that exists everything is light condensed to a slower vibration but the universe is essentially comprised of light energy it's a wave particle duality it exists as a wave in its potential form and then it becomes a point particle in its kinetic form light has pretty much an infinite spectrum but to the human eye we are capable of perceiving with our antennae called the eye the eye isn't is a seething device like an antenna on a radio that can perceive certain wavelengths of light outside of the bandwidth that the eye is capable of perceiving there's millions upon millions an infinite amount of other bandwidths of light wavelengths of light but the eye can only perceive a limited fraction of those bandwidths of light we call them we call that fraction of the weight of the totality of light which the eye can perceive the visible spectrum of light so the visible spectrum of light we know the colors of the spectrum are red orange yellow green blue indigo and violet okay these this color of the spectrum proceeds from the low wavelengths below which the eye cannot see and we call that infrared infrared is everything below the lowest frequencies which the eye can pick up then when we start to be able to perceive that wavelength that's red that proceeds up all the way until you get to violet and then beyond that the eye cannot pick up and that's called the ultraviolet so if we look at these frequencies we see that there are two basic hues on either side we get the red frequency on the left side and the blue frequency on the right side if we lay out this frequency from low to high and as I started briefly talking about on former shows the red frequencies are largely associated with the left brain the blue frequencies are perceived and taken in and have more of an effect upon the right brain so whenever you want to have an effect on someone in a active sense meaning you want them to do something you want them to obey something you want them to listen up you want them to pay attention the red frequencies will always work better that's just how it works when it comes to the human brain okay this is why they paint stop signs red that's why there's a red light that's why you know the danger or disaster phone is red you know okay the the hotline it's red you know I need I mean this is really super important it's a you know the whole symbolism of red is used we look at um poison labels they'll often be red danger signs red do not enter signs red anything that is demanding attention immediately pay attention listen up this could hurt you you're going to see the red frequency and everywhere on every corner in every major city stop signs large octagonal red signs this is because left brain more closely associates with the concept of the physical world and the body and you're going to use red when you want to invoke paying attention in the body now the blue frequencies will always be used when you want to get an idea it routed into someone else's psyche or consciousness when you want someone to listen to what you are talking about when you want somebody to listen passively to accept in other words it doesn't require action it requires taking the concept or notion into themselves and making it a part of themselves the blue frequencies will always be better suited to that so this is associated with the right brain or the accepting or feminine passive nurturing intuitive side of the brain which we talked about when we talked about brain physiology and the components of the brain or in previous shows so the blue frequencies are always going to be better to get people hooked or reeled in okay so you'll see the blue light special okay you will see blue frequencies used on news broadcasts all over the place just watch the nightly news 11:00 o'clock nightly news in your town and you'll see blue frequencies all over okay blue says except take this trust this it's true okay red says pay attention listen up danger now these are two polarized concepts one speaks to the left reigning one speaks to the right brain well the balance and these are these are on the edges of the spectrum the Reds and the blues they cops use these colors okay because not only are they in this in a state of imbalance but they're responding to a state of imbalance okay so this these colors are used for the police the boy is in blue Blue Lodge in Freemasonry right those you just want to listen and take into the system their low-level initiative they have to do more listening than talking okay Blue Lodge then you get to the Red Lodge and that people think that's the end of it that's the top of it because it goes to the 32nd degree and it's not there's a white Lodge beyond that but not to get into that now going back to the colors this red and blue is play off against each other they're the color of the political parties okay so red is for Republicans and blue is for Democrats right there are the colours of the flag along with white right you have the red stripes in the blue field flag of England the flag of France tons of other countries flags these colors are juxtaposed this is because these are two of the three primary frequencies of lights the third primary frequency of light is green this is right in the middle the dead center of the visible spectrum of light this color represents the synthesis or coming together of these two opposing frequencies and it represents the valence point the balance point or the center or the midpoint is associated in different traditions particularly Eastern traditions with the heart it is the center of the body it is the fulcrum of the body it is the midpoint of energy from the spine to the top of the head the heart again is the generator of the body it is the pump that pumps the lifeforce energy through the body the color of the heart chakra in Eastern traditions the the the heart chakra is um is known as the on a hot - chakra in via I believe the Vedic tradition names at that so this this middle point is fulcrum or balance point of the body represents the generative principle that's where care ultimately is derived where it comes from we feel the result of our actions within the center of the body the heart beyond hot to chakra is green it is a green flower it pumps for this green energy the swirling green energy in this Eastern tradition as it is described and that energy connects us with the universe around us and with nature nature provides the color green in the greatest abundance out of any other color green is the color of nature because nature is putting love energy into the cosmos and is providing us that which we need and what are we doing with it destroying it digging it up paving over it burning it etc this all has to do with energy again Tesla was trying to tell us hook into the wheel work of nature don't use these barbaric methods for energy production and distribution it's unnecessary nature is providing exactly what we need we just need to listen to her we need to get in touch with our Center the heart chakra the generator within our vehicle and get in touch with true care all of these concepts are being exploited when it comes to money he caused the occultists that design the money that we use are trying to get us in our minds to equate the notion of money to equate their fantasy their illusion of money with the concepts of balance with the concepts of care and with the concept of love they want us to think that this is the life force energy that flows within us and gives us life they want us to think that this is love energy that this is that this is nature's life force and that this is all that we should care about that's ultimately why they color the money green in the United States as for other countries they have other colors for money but here they're trying to hit the consciousness of the people harder than anywhere else and therefore they made it the color of balance and love green the color of the heart chakra the color that nature provides in greatest abundance out of love let's just look at the word money itself I have to get into and talking about any of the occult concepts of money if you think that coloring the money Green is done for a simple concept once you understand what green really represents this one really should um you know basically uh put you in an uproar because it's so simple most people can't believe this when they hear I've heard all kinds of the gamut of reactions when you bring this notion up to people what I'm about to tell you some people go wow I can't believe that I never saw that my whole life and I've said this word of a billion times and had it fed to me a billion times and I never noticed that you get the amazed reaction you get whoa wow I never realized that - all the way down - no way impossible that's impossible because people see how simple this is and how simple the occult works on the human consciousness and they have to think to themselves that's so simple I I would have been able to see it if that's how simple it was you couldn't have fooled me for all these years you cut them couldn't have done that but yes it is that simple it is this simple that's how the occult works the words and symbols and they're associating those words and symbols with other things associations that's how mind control works the word money is in and of itself one of the greatest forms of mind control ever perpetuated on the planet because the word money means one eye M o n is the prefix meaning one mono one and again that's also a feminine word because it comes from the moon M om Monday the first day of the week named after the moon goddess in this Venetian tradition she was men the moon goddess the minute hand is named after men our hand is named after Horace given to the son the minute hand is the next most important hand on the clock of time given to the moon men money named after the moon goddess because it's a feminine concept money you want to take it in like the energy that it is and it flows like the goddess of the waters maaan one one and the second part is simply II why yes it is pronounced phonetically II in the name money but essentially those are the letters that make the word i.e ye mon i1i and right on the $1 bill they place the symbol of the one eye now we don't have time to go into this tonight that'll be a show unto itself the breakdown of the reverse of the Great Seal of the United States the pyramid and all-seeing eye on earth kept this Novus Ordo seclorum and those Latin phrases when we get into symbolism we'll do an extensive breakdown of that but that symbol of the one I represents the balance point within the brain bringing together the sacred masculine part of the brain the left brain logical scientific linear verbal etc with the Sacred Feminine right brain hemisphere of nurturing intuition creativity etc bringing them together to open up the all-seeing eye within us which is the pineal gland at the level of the prefrontal neocortex the frontal lobe of the brain and of course this is where the third eye is traditionally referred to in Eastern mystical traditions in between the other two eyes well that is what that one eye ultimately represents on the back of the dollar bill and it represents getting in touch with the light of the creator only in becoming enlightened do we do that and only through the balance of the left and right brain hemispheres do we reach that point of enlightenment and the awakening of the one eye they know that this is what people desire above all else we can only do that through care and through love get to that place of balance is a labor of love and you did it because you cared enough to do it you are motivated you were driven and the force that really drove you to do that was the truth and there are many people in the world who are at that state of consciousness for what the dominators and the control freaks of the world who own the monetary system are ultimately trying to get you to do is to identify their illusion of money with the all-seeing eye and again this is a concept of God and is the concept of awakening the God consciousness within through the opening of the one eye that exists within us the pineal gland so they are putting this symbol on the money the one dollar bill which we'll talk about the name bill I briefly mentioned it but we'll get into that as well that's the name of their God sounds funny but they worship bill to name of the dark God of the dark occultists of the world of dark sun god bill bell bell bull the book Satan is depicted as a bowl the god of this world the only religion is the one dollar bill the biggest the most powerful secret society in the world of darker cultists is the Bilderberg Group we want this amou Surrey form of energy to pay our bills we're giving it right back to their God not only is it does it come from their God occurrence we want bills energy to pay bills so it really goes nowhere it just goes right back to them but they're calling it the one I deliberately moan i money well folks money is not the one I you're being given a proxy in place of the real thing open your real one eye which is within hey they're trying to give you this as a proxy selling it to you and most people are buying it wholesale okay and they want you to believe that this is enlightenment if this is love energy that this is nature's energy and that this is care and it's and that it's balance the green fulcrum focal point of balance which comes out of love its money is none of those things ultimately it is all an illusion it never has existed it does not exist now and it never will exist ladies and gentlemen that's all for tonight thank you for listening next week neo returns listen to show number 17 in the podcast section to hear his incredible story of trauma-based mind control next week right here on what on earth is happening neo is back to talk about healing methods for this destructive form of mind-control trauma-based mind control and then we'll pick up with the topic of money in two weeks time when I have James Yeager on to talk about the Federal Reserve System you've been listening to what on earth is happening folks I'm mark passio I'll see you here next week thanks for listening and good night you

Topics: Mind Control Methodologies, The Monetary System, The Federal Reserve System, Fiat Currency, Money As Debt

[Music] welcome ladies and gentlemen welcome one and all you are listening to what on earth is happening right here on the revolution Broadcasting Network I'm your host mark passio my website is what on earth is happening calm the networks website is revolution broadcasting calm this show is live every Tuesday evening from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. Eastern Time today is Tuesday September 21st 2010 and we have a great show lined up for you here this evening I want to start out by apologizing that we are not going to have our originally scheduled guest neo on the program this evening neo was set to come on the show this evening to discuss the healing methodologies for trauma-based mind control unfortunately circumstances beyond my control made it impossible for neo to appear on the show this evening so I will be rescheduling with neo in the very near future to talk about the healing methodologies for trauma-based mind control within the next few weeks it's difficult to say exactly when but he promises that he will be on in the next few weeks and everything is well with him it isn't you know any uh kind of a dangerous situation or anything like that but unfortunately he just could not could not be on the show this evening so we'll reschedule with neo to talk about healing methods for trauma-based mind control in the very near future in the meantime what we'll do tonight is continue with our analysis and with our expose of the financial system of the monetary system of the immoral fiat currency and fractional reserve banking monetary system that we have in this country and indeed throughout the world and this is information you won't hear on the mainstream media they are loath talk about in any of this because that's who their owners are folks and they don't dare to say anything against their owners and believe them believe me when I tell you that these financial sorcerers are the owners of the media both literally and in a sense of total control over the mind of the people who work for them but they own the companies as well that pump out the corporate mainstream media and that's why you'll never get the truth on those networks you'll never get the truth on those shows that they will stop short of telling you what's really going on they will stop short of telling you how the financial fraud really operates last week on this show we went even deeper than this this is kind of a step back from what we were talking about last week on this show last week we talked about the occult side of money and that money itself is actually a complete illusion so if you go back to show number 25 we'll talk you can hear on that podcast which is archived on my website at what on earth is happening dot-com just go to the podcast tab and you can hear on show number 25 the discussion about how money is actually does not exist never has existed never will exist it does not exist in nature it is a pure mental construct that requires the belief that it actually carries any value even in an exchange capacity and it requires that belief of the people who use it to give it its power and you can call that by any other name you want but when you believe in something that does not actually exist in nature and you imbue it with power through your belief that is called mind control it doesn't matter what you like to call it are comfortable calling it that's what it is and that's what we do on this show we expose the methodologies of mind-control we talk about how our external experience the manifested experience that we actually live in and undergo how that is created and ultimately that is created by our mind it is all a mental construct therefore if we believe in things that are completely erroneous if we believe in things that are fake if we believe in things that are made up then we're going to experience discomfort we're going to experience suffering if instead we understand that which does actually exist in nature then what we are going to create for our self is going to be something that is flowing it is going to be in keeping and in harmony with natural law principles which are inherent to creation they are self existing so we talked a lot about natural law on the show and we talked a lot about mind control which is essentially getting people to believe in things that are outside of the boundaries of natural law which are completely fictitious which are nonsensical and which ultimately bring nothing but suffering this show ultimately quests to help the listener to understand the factors that create human suffering self imposed self inflicted human suffering that is ultimately what the show is about and ultimately that factor is based upon an individual's ability to determine truth from falsehood that is the ultimate thing that we seek to attain to develop that ability because it is largely lost in humanity not entirely but being honest about it that ability is largely lost in our species so we try to shed light on these things on this show that's what this show is all about and again all of these shows are podcasted back to the beginning approximately 25 weeks ago and you could download them play them on your mp3 device on your computer burn them disk share them they're yours to do it you will uh they're there up there to be shared freely I don't charge for anything there is nothing for sale on my website I give information freely to humanity in the service of truth so before we get started with the topic for tonight which is a continuation of the financial the fraudulent financial system in this country and in the world I'd like to read a few event announcements that are coming up event for events that are coming up in the Philadelphia area which is where I'm from and I read these because I support the groups that I'm going to read the announcements about and I work with them and I think that is important to encourage activism because being an activist means that you're engaged in doing something about the negative situation in which we are currently embroiled ok it's about it's not just about knowing what's going on that's only the first step ultimately that knowledge has to be converted into wisdom and wisdom is taking the proper action with the knowledge that you currently possess that's what wisdom is and wisdom is power knowledge is not power it isn't a means to power but ultimately true power is derived from wisdom wisdom is what you do with what you know and ultimately that's what this show hopes to inspire in people so the first event announcement I have three in total is an event that I will actually be speaking at the Tesla Science Foundation of Philadelphia and the nikola tesla inventor club present Tesla Nights 2010 educational fundraiser this will be happening this Saturday September 25th 2010 the doors open at 7 o'clock p.m. the event is all ages and a $5 donation is requested at the door this will be taking place at the rotunda on the campus of the University of Pennsylvania the rotunda building is at forty 14 Walnut Street one nine one zero four in Philadelphia this will feature my presentation and lecture entitled Nikola Tesla free energy and the future of humanity there will also be a live Tesla coil demonstration and a musical act still to be announced the topics that will be covered in my presentation who was Nikola Tesla and why should you care what were his greatest accomplishments what did he attempt to do in the service of humanity and why were his most visionary innovations never implemented how was his name erased from the place it truly deserves in world history are the world changing technologies the Tesla wished to bring forward actively being suppressed by institutionalized power structures how different with the world we live in today be had Tesla been able to implement his plan for a new energy paradigm and I would add a free energy paradigm because the control of energy is the control of human beings any way you want to look at it controlled energy means an enslaved populace in one form or another and Tesla wanted to give the harnessing of the wheel work of nature's energy freely to the people of Earth as it should be because it is a birthright the energy of the earth belongs to all of us not to any of us in particular or any groups of people it is the world's how can we make Tesla's dreams in the early 20th century come true in the early 21st well that's what it's all about and this is one of the groups taking action to that end please check out Tesla Science Foundation dot org and the associated Nikola Tesla inventors club you can check out their meetups on meetup.com their website there is n Tesla dot meetup.com slash 38 that's n te SL a dot meetup.com slash the number 38 3/8 so that's the first event announcement the second one we just came off one of these are free documentary showings and discussion nights at the ethical society building hosted by truth freedom prosperity last evening and it went great there was a good turnout we showed the documentary ten rules for dealing with the police which I thought was good but stopped quite short of really getting to the understanding of any kind of natural law principles I think it's a beginner's a movie for beginners and those who are at the very beginning process of understanding their natural law rights as a sovereign being within creation but nonetheless it's a good stepping stone it's a good building block so we showed that one last night it went great thanks to all the people who attended and uh thanks to all the organizers of truth freedom prosperity particularly Mike Salvi for hosting that event next month Monday October 18th at 7 o'clock p.m. sharp will be another free documentary night and discussion at the ethical Society building the ethical Society is at 1906 South Rittenhouse Square one nine one zero three in Philadelphia next month truth freedom prosperity will be screening the documentary called for Liberty for liberty here's the description of this documentary advocating a philosophy of sound money a non-interventionist foreign policy strict constitutionalism and individual liberty dr. ron paul inspired a unique grassroots movement unmatched in American history the repercussions of which continue to reverberate today and into the future of the American psyche for liberty how the Ron Paul revolution watered the withered tree of Liberty follows this historic campaign from the perspective of grassroots activists and showcases the unique often bizarre yet ground groundbreaking projects they undertook as they brushed aside traditional campaign methodology so that's what the next documentary at the ethical Society here in Philadelphia is going to be it's going to be or Liberty about Ron Paul's campaign and he's probably about to announce that he'll be running again for president in 2012 so come on out to the ethical Society to hear about that campaign that happened back in eighth and in participate in a discussion afterward for more information on these free documentary and discussion evenings go to ww2 freedom prosperity org that's truth freedom prosperity dot o-r-g and finally what I think is going to be one of the biggest and best conferences on the East Coast free your mind a conference on consciousness mind control and the occult a unique two-day conference set for April 9th and 10th 2011 in Philadelphia featuring multiple speakers and diverse educational materials for the purpose of raising public awareness of mass mind control techniques covert and subversive influences upon consciousness and behavior trauma-based mind control and ritualized abuse and the practical mental and emotional healing methodologies available for those affected and afflicted by these devices which is pretty much everyone if you really step back and look at the big picture mind control is everywhere it's a matter it's not a matter of who is under it sadly it's a matter of who isn't under it because so many people are actually under mind control and its methods and don't even know it they're unaware the mind controlled are unaware that they are mind controlled until you really come out of a state of having your thoughts your emotions and your actions externally influence to the point of really being controlled by another you don't really understand what mind control is or how it operates or how it works that's the OP that's the whole paradox of it you know while you're in it you don't really understand how it works and you don't really understand how it works until you've at least partially come out of it and have emerged from being in that controlled state of mind and your entire psyche really being under that form of external influence so these are some of the topics we're going to discuss at this conference Saturday April 9th and Sunday April 10th they will be long days there will be many speakers the day's will go from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. both days so that's a 10 hour day the doors will open at 9:00 and the price of admission is only 20 dollars a day and we do that simply to cover travel expense cost that needs to be paid to the speakers this this conference will be taking place at Roopa Hall Ruby Hall is at 414 Green Street in Philadelphia 1 9 1 2 3 and the list of speakers we have is already impressive and we will be adding more names shortly we are in negotiations with at least 5 other speakers so confirmed speakers to date Aaron McCallum alfred weber Andrew basiago Farrell your dozous J Parker Larkin Rose Laura Magdalene aza Eisenhower myself Marc passio Michael Kelly and Suzanne Taylor and again we are in negotiation with at least five more people so when it's all said and done we will probably have about fifteen or sixteen speakers and this is going to be one of the biggest conferences we're looking to sell this place out tickets will be going on sale on the 5th of November we'll be doing a fundraiser you'll be hearing more about this on the show we'll be doing a fundraiser right in the Northern Liberties section of Philadelphia on November 5th symbolically that date chosen you know in conjunction with the the Gunpowder Plot of course by folk folks and if you look at the movie v you'll understand the symbolism behind that event a great movie about freedom a great movie about mobilizing people for a common cause in rooted in truth in principles in natural law I highly encourage people to check out the movie v it's what's really taking place in the world right now because it is an allegory it is a fictional allegory a fictional movie that tells a tale about events that are actually occurring in real life and it attempts to convey a moral lesson by telling a fictional story but in fact in essence that story is about events that are actually playing out in the real world that's what an allegory is that's what an allegory does so you know we're piggybacking on top of that symbolism we're piggybacking on top of that symbolic date of November 5th for the first free or mind fundraiser all proceeds generated by this fundraiser coming up again I'll be announcing the location all proceeds will go to assist in putting this conference together and generating the money necessary to bring these speakers in from out of town so those are the event announcements I have for this evening and I'd like to give the call-in number for this show I love taking calls feel free to call me at any time but please be patient I'm the only person here in the makeshift studio here out of my home and understand that I do glance over at the switchboard on the computer screen from time to time so I sometimes I'm in the middle of a concept or an idea when people call in please be patient hold on the line when you call in I will get to your call the call-in number for what on earth is happening is seven two four four four four seven four four four once again the calling number seven two four triple four seven triple for the call ID number that you will have to punch in after you call the call in number is eight three five one five that's how you get routed through two what on earth is happening after you call in the calling number so the call ID for what on earth is happening is eight three five one five so let's pick up basically where we left off last week we were looking at the occult side of money the symbolic side of money what these ideas what these symbols say to our subconscious mind and that's ultimately what the occult is occultism in its negative form again remember there are two sides to the occult the word occult as we have said many times before on the show and I'll continue to reiterate it means hit that is all the word means most people hear the word occult and they immediately think evil or negative and this is not true the word is derived from Latin it comes from the verb occult RA which you can confirm in any Latin dictionary occult RA OCC ul ta re means to hide or to conceal to veil from a site that is all the word occult RA means hidden from sight is what occult means therefore it is hidden knowledge hidden knowledge can be used to benefit people or to control those who do not understand it you can bring forth that which is hidden and enrich people by helping them to understand their own subconscious motivations their own desires their own shadowed self the things that are hidden and nested down deep within the personality the shadow side of the personality that which is occult 'add even to ourselves because we are uncomfortable with looking in those places of the psyche if we do pursue that hidden knowledge and go forth into those dark realms to transmute that shadow side these occult forces can be used for our benefit and that is called light occultism using these hidden forces to get down to the base understanding of who and what we are how we work knowing thyself that is what it is ultimately all about the less we know of self the more we are going to continue to suffer and go down a tragic path that will only lead to more intense suffering the more we know ourselves the more out of suffering we can emerge because we will come into harmony with truth and natural law principles and ultimately that will come from self-knowledge now the our side of the occult is when people understand how powerful this information can be because of what it contains and what it is capable of manifesting once it is known if they are still in deep calcified states of ego identification they can decide to hide this information from all other people and wield it as a weapon against people who do not have this knowledge and sadly that has is what has occurred all across this planet that's what's really taking place here folks if you haven't gotten that yet listen very carefully to what I just said that's what's happening on this planet occult knowledge hidden knowledge that is ultimately knowledge of self and how the human psyche works has been sequestered from the general populace for thousands of years and used against people as a weapon to psychologically manipulate and ultimately control them and I could care less whether that is something you are uncomfortable in believing I could care less believe it or don't believe it the truth is being spoken here that is what's taking place on our world the end it doesn't make a difference whether you're comfortable in believing it you could be as uncomfortable and believing in gravity as you want it's the truth it's a natural law it operates so that's what's happening I know this from firsthand experience not by reading about it in books I worked with the cultists for 10 years of my life so to tell me that isn't happening is telling me ten years of my life were a delusion and I don't know what I'm talking about it's like going up to a soldier that fought in a war and saying you were never in that place you were never in that war and do that and see what happens to you see what kind of a reaction you'll get go into a bar where some uh veterans drink okay and go and tell some of them they weren't in the wars they fought in try it see what happens go tell them they didn't see their buddies brain splattered out the backs of their heads go tell them they didn't see their buddies entrails laying it lame in a pool of mud someplace in a faraway country and see what what their reaction is see see if they want to be kind to you and can you know uh except that you're telling them that something that they actually participated in was a fantasy there are people who know what's going on in the world folks and they're trying desperately some of them some of them are desperately trying to explain this to people and you can tell who they are very quickly you can tell whether someone knows by what they say if you're one who also understands what's really going on so this isn't a cult principle money isn't a cult principle which is what we were talking about last week money is an occult principle it is something that is used to convey ideas it is something that is used to convey value energy and these are things you know most of them are abstract value is something that is abstract it's in the eye of the beholder money itself is something that tries to convey an idea to the user of it through the things that comprise its makeup and what I mean by that is what we talked about last week we talked about the symbols that are put on money we talked about the name money itself we talked about the coloration of money and what that what kind of impact that has on the psyche that money in the United States is green green we talked about in the occult sense as being the color the frequency that reverberates the concept it resonates the concept of balance because it is a frequency of light and the light frequency that is right in the dead center the very middle of the visible spectrum of light to the human eye is green so this is the color that has chosen to be used for money because it represents balance it represents green energy which is something we don't have green energy is represented in the occult system that we call the chakra system the whirling vortices of energy that our life connection life energy connection points within the body within the physical body and there are seven of them a base chakra the sacrum chakra the solar plexus chakra these are all points on the body associated with glandular activity and there are these are energy vortices upwellings of energy occur in these places in the body and these can this can actually be confirmed through modern science the heart chakra the heart generates the biggest magnetic field bigger than the brain out of any organ in the body the throat chakra where the thyroid gland is located you have the third eye chakra the pineal gland located there between the two eyes above the brow and of course the crown chakra the upwelling of energy that takes place at the very top of the head the knee the highest part of the neocortex the most memory containing and advanced structure known to humanity the gift that is the human brain and this is the part of the brain that we have to unify and bring together in balance because it is bilaterally symmetrical as we have talked about on previous shows when we look into the structure of the human brain in earlier shows the neocortex is split into two hemispheres the left and the right hemisphere the left being the male side of the brain responsible for the functions of logic science mathematics that these types of linear modes of thinking and physical thinking the right side of the brain being the the part of the brain that controls the functions of creativity intuition nurturing care etc art music these things all together left and right brain functions make us truly human it's what sets us apart from the rest of the animal kingdom these are basically modes of thought that are specific to human beings and if they go out of balance we see behavior go out of balance if someone is imbalanced to the left brain they become dominator types if someone is imbalanced to the right brain they become slave types order followers we see these two forms of brain imbalance is manifested in many groups of people who have both of these types of brain and bounts the military is a perfect example dominators to those who they have been conditioned to think or below them and slaves to those who are above them in their little hierarchy that they so firmly believe in so they become order followers same thing in the police institutions imbalanced brains and get is offended about it as you want whoever's listening who happens to be from one of these institutions get is offended about it as you want folks I'm not here to make friends I'm not here to pull any punches or to sugarcoat things I speak hard unwavering truth because I know how this works I've studied it in depth and you can understand it too there's nothing inherently about you about me that makes me any more special than anybody else anybody that wants to study a little bit of neuroscience a little bit of psychology to understand how all of this fits together and how it all works and how we're all being played for suckers okay you can study it you can learn it yourself it's all discoverable it's all out there in the open hidden in plain sight they're just counting on that you're too lazy to bother doing that and the sad fact of the matter is most people are you know I'm not going to also tell you that humanity is a bunch angels on this show because that's not the case most people are ignorant lazy cowards but I've said the word most I didn't say that's what people's nature are that happens to be their condition right now that doesn't have to be like that and I will reiterate this over and over again that is a choice that is a choice you are not confined to be like that I was once like that if I wasn't in that condition earlier in my life I would have never joined the occult institutions that I did I would have never sought power over my other human beings through hidden knowledge I had to be in a deep state of brain imbalance in form early in my life to do these things yet I came out of it because I had the will to and because I wasn't so egoic I wasn't so in a calcified ego prison to think that I had all the answers in the world and I'm still not there are still people that can teach me things but however when people speak ignorant in my presence I don't let it go unchallenged if it's something I know they are completely wrong about and so people a lot of people get offended that I tell them they're simply incorrect about something that they think and they're holding on to because there is such a thing as being able to come to the truth about certain concepts and ideas the truth is knowable again if you're somebody that doesn't think that the truth exists shut the show off right now turn it off this show is useless to you useless if you think there's no such thing as truth turn this show off and don't bother because there's no helping you as long as you're in that condition because that's mine control the ultimate thing that a mind-control master wants to get their puppets to believe is that there's no such thing as truth and it's all objective it's all subjective I'm sorry there's no objective truth it's all subjective opinions and this is the most other piece of nonsense ideology that has ever been bought or sold by anyone on the earth and that I that ideology is called salep season solipsism sol IP sis em look it up we talked about this extensively on former shows so if you don't believe in truth you gotyou descendant it barbarity because eventually you get to things like moral relativism because if there's no truth there's no right or wrong then you get into social Darwinism because if there's no right or wrong people can just basically make up truth from falsehood and the people who get other people to believe nonsense are basically better than everybody else because they've risen to the top of this social ladder the social Darwinist ik ladder that proves that they're more of evolutionarily developed and this is what the monetary sorcerers believe they think they're smart enough to invent a system that you're dumb enough to believe in therefore that means they're evolutionarily better than you and they have every right to do whatever they want to do to you and I'm telling you that's what they think I'm not asking you to believe it I worked with some of these people and they were very candid about what they think of the human population very open about it very honest about it they think since they are the inventors of fantasy and they have gotten you to accept fantasy as reality that means they are in a scale of evolution far more advanced than you are and therefore they have every right to do whatever they want to you they can enslave you they can kill you if they want because essentially you have not used your will you have not used your care you have not used your intelligence to determine fantasy from reality and therefore they look at you as a stake on their table that they can devour anytime they so choose and ladies and gentlemen for 10 years of my life I battled that idea in my own I talked about this last night with some of the people in truth freedom prosperity and I hated the fact that that's how they thought and I no longer hate them for that I've transcended my hatred for the dark occultists they do not have my hatred anymore folks and hear that in my voice I do not hate them I do not hate them in a strange way they're correct if people do not exercise their own will to determine what is real and what is not real have they not really given up all of their rights under natural law have they not really abdicated all of their personal responsibility to someone else and basically subjugated themselves through their own consent I would argue that they have done that whether they think they have done that or not whether they know it or not if they're not conscious enough to understand that there are predators out there preying upon them and their families by what they have gotten them to believe in themselves through their own thoughts they have gotten them to accept being preyed upon and that's what the monetary system is it's a system of predation it's a system of predators that have invented something that does not exist in nature and used it to prey upon other people and other people have allowed that through their own choice and consent and therefore I do not blame the Predators I blame the prey because they have willfully accepted something that is not existing in nature as reality and in doing so they have granted to the Predators the right to own them now call that harsh you can call that harsh but that's exactly how it is that's exactly as it is folks call that as harsh as you want okay I'm not an apologist for dumb people I'm not an apologist for dumb people I'm here to tell you the hardcore truth because the world is in a situation where it can't wait anymore to be baby spoon fed the truth in little dribs and drabs grow up grow up grow up understand yourself and know what the truth is and the this is the words that are in the Bible attributed to Jesus know the truth he didn't say believe in something he didn't say he didn't say worship me he said know the truth period and the truth will set you free that's it now live according to those words and you'll get somewhere instead of going around in the hamster wheel that you're currently going around in know the truth don't think you know it know it eliminate doubt because you've done the homework with no shortcuts because you've done the study if people saw the amount of knowledge in this house some of them would pass out if you really understood the amount of information that I have amassed over the years most people couldn't conceive of it I've said before on the show I look at it and I can barely conceive of it so let's go back to the monetary system look and I'll just briefly reiterate some things the word money mone I now that isn't how we pronounce it we say money look at what's in the word money itself the word contains the meaning of the word how they're the occult is trying to sell it to you and this is an occult methodology war over it in your own mind as much as you want that this isn't what a cult ism is this is what ocultism is and this is how it works and if you are so naive that you want to think it can't be this simple go on believing what you want to believe because ultimately really what it means is your ego is so calcified that you can't admit that you were duped that easily that's what it really is about in most people's minds most people would rather be dead than wrong most people would rather be dead than wrong and most people would rather continue in their path got heading toward an abyss a furnace rather than ever admit that they were duped by someone else well not me see I'd rather prosper I'd rather know the truth about how I was duped and then I'd rather admit you know what I got played I got completely played I was clowned somebody clowned me okay they pulled one over on me okay they pulled a fast one and I fell for it I'd rather admit that to myself rather than continue to hold on to a belief that is completely erroneous that I bought in the past and because I'm too stubborn thick-headed and egoic to actually say the words I was wrong I've said the words I was wrong tens of thousands of times in my life and I'll say them tens of thousands more times I don't have all the answer I'm not your leader I'm not your guru I don't want to be okay I'm explaining the truth as I have uncovered and discovered it you can do the same I don't know all the answers but I have a good bit of knowledge and I'm not afraid to tell people that it is knowledge there are things that can be known and people who do understand truths about certain things should not be afraid to say yes these are truths truth does exist it can be known I know it you can know it to and then to put that information into the world freely and as widely as possible and that's what the great work is folks that's what the true great work is regardless of who will tell you differently that's what the great work is the great the true great work of the ages not the false one that is trying to be completed by these psychopathic occultists in the world the money masters the people who invented money yeah yeah they're dark occultists yes and yes they are dark Oh cultists get over it if you think that that isn't something that exists and that you think that that's who ultimately invented and runs the banking system are you're a naive ignorant person if you don't think that the ultimate people who own the banking institutions of the world are dark Oh cultists I'm saying that as total fact total fact of the matter because I know that that's the case I don't think or believe that's the case I happen to have that knowledge and they invented this concept and they got people to believe in it and they call it money and money we looked at all the ways that this word conveys ideas M Oh N it's the prefix that means one so they're trying to sell you that it's the notion of oneness and then the second part of the word is ey which if pronounced just phonetically in that way not in conjunction with mo n in front of it is I so if we segment these it means the word money symbolically in the symbolic meaning of the word is the one I and for those who don't understand what I mean by that again understand the occult system known as the energy vortices or the chakras and how these chakras work understand what the third eye chakra is or the one eye chakra this is traditionally called the third eye in Eastern mystical traditions and it represents the chemical wedding the alchemical wedding it represents the balancing of the left and right brain hemispheres into unison with each other such that the person engages both brain hemispheres equally and therefore they have a balanced neocortex meaning that the neocortex operates as the executive command center of the brain brain functions holistically as it should there is an imbalance to either brain hemisphere either the left or the right or to both brain hemispheres which is essentially the destruction of the neocortex when you are imbalanced to both brain hemispheres when you are both a controller and a slave simultaneously you think you have the natural ball right to control other people when you have no such right if they have done no harm and you also are subordinate to other people that you think are superior to yourself you have a destroyed brain folks that's the truth yet again you can rage against this all you want pound on your desk pound on the walls it's irrelevant that's the case and you can verify that by studying neuroscience you can verify that by studying how energies move through the body you can study that by looking at brain scans of people who are imbalanced to one brain hemisphere or the other or both this is the pathway to the destruction of the neocortex which is the reason center of the human brain complex and the people who engage in this kind of brain imbalance being a bully being a controller being a total control freak and then also subordinating themselves to other control freaks that they think are superior to themselves and this is essentially any hierarchically structured institution in the world okay the I was watching videos today of soldiers saying I don't think I just follow orders openly admitting that openly saying I don't care if orders that come down are unconstitutional or not I'm going to follow them because my job is simply to follow and to do no thinking simply to follow orders I they say repeatedly I follow orders as they come down from the chain of command and that's it I don't question them I follow orders and they're comfortable with that they think that their moral human beings they think that they're not brain damaged these are brain damaged people physically this could be verified with a brain scan you could verify that scientifically so don't take my word for it to take one of these people go get a high contrast PET scan and you will see a devastated neocortex devastated it will look like craters on the moon folks it will look like rotted Swiss cheese okay and people can laugh about this but it you know it to a certain extent it does seem funny because of how surreal it is that there are people that are this destroyed that they have Gollum eyes people to this level and I know my words are harsh and I'm on basically dropping tact on this show folks because there's no more time for tact there's no more time for it the bit to put the baby spoons away folks stop trying to feed peeper people Gerber's baby food in small dribs and drabs it's over that's over grow up read learn and understand truth understand natural law and stop being apologist for evil people because this is how evil works evil needs to destroy the greatest gift that the Creator has ever given to us and that's the human heart and brain it needs to destroy your care and it needs to destroy your ability to think and once that's happened evil rules inside the psyche and it gets you to believe in nonsense like money but yet the other people exist in the world and this is sadly one person who is out of the mind control is still not out of the physical control because other morons who actually accept this illusion believe in it so we're bound by the freewill decisions of other people and all you can do is attempt to get people out of that mind control that's the great work and that's all I do I do nothing else any time I'm talking to someone in at any time in my life this is what I do and I think that's what we don't need balance in the sense of do a whole bunch of different kinds of actions I think we need extreme imbalance of action through extreme balance of mind because we need more balanced people constantly doing this work 24/7 every day all day and we don't have those kind of numbers sadly but you know what people who are doing the works of evil are doing them all day every day 24 hours a day 7 days a week without rest or respite evil never sleeps folks never never but we're sleeping we're asleep at the switch there there's still people that don't think mind control exists and is operating in the world that's how asleep they are data want to admit it to themselves if this is the mess that we're really in because it's colossal its monumental it's almost inconceivable to understand how strong the the effect of mind-control is on the human psyche it's everywhere and it's entrenched it is entrenched entrenched and the thing that keeps it entrenched is the human ego identification with the ego and identification with the physical worldly body so let's get into how the monetary system fits in with this let's go back to the name one-eye they're trying to convince you that money is the one eye that money is the balance of the brain hemispheres and that by having it you will have balance of your brain and your mind and your psyche and ultimately your spirit their coloring it green because green is the color of balance they're calling it the one eye because the one eye is the cut the spiritual concept the symbol of the balanced brain green is also the color of the anahata chakra which is the heart chakra because it's the middle of the body the balance point it's the fourth of the seven chakras there's three above and there's three below Green is default from the green heart on a hotter chakra is the fulcrum it is the true seat of life in the body in the ancient mystery traditions of the land of Khem which we call Egypt now they did not believe that the life force dwelt in in the brain that the consciousness dwelt in the brain they knew that it dwelt in the heart and that's something we've forgotten and ladies and gentlemen that's why the number one cause of death in the world is heart disease and this is not just physical this is because we are a spiritually diseased people the heart energy is the first thing that that winds down because we give up caring about making a difference in the world we give up caring about living a mortal existence and therefore that energy in the heart chakra winds down and then the heart becomes diseased and that's why heart disease is the number one killer in the world and it will continue to be like that as long as the imbalance exists within us because it's that the physical manifests through the spiritual imbalance the physical imbalances that we experience manifest through the spiritual imbalances we heal the spiritual imbalance and the physical imbalances will disappear but modern medicine will never tell you that because they want to sell you drugs and surgery folks there are two biggest products so that they can continue to ride around in their fancy BMWs and make the salaries that they do you think doctors care about you their automotives automatons okay doing actions by rote not treating you like a person they say it right in their own words all we do is exercise protocol it like a computer a computer runs protocols and that's what that's what the modern health system is about never treating the being holistically never understanding that spiritual imbalances and mental imbalances are tied with physical and bounces I've seen not none I'm not no blanket statement here there are some some very few doctors that do understand this but in general as a as an institution as a place where crazy people are put into an institution okay they don't basically get this a lot of nurses do get this and are trying to holistically work with people definitely but as a whole the medical community and institution does not get this back to money we looked at the symbol of the dollar bill last week the s with a line through it the the wavefunction representing energy a wave as energy the wave particle duality yet the S shaped dollar bill sign is essentially a sign wave function and that represents light light energy moves in waves it also represents DNA which is a vibratory energy that's how our DNA is shaped it's telling you this is life force this is the the force of life that is the heart energy why does the earth create so much green because that's it's giving of its life force energy I'm not I'm recapping more than I wanted to but this is important to understand folks it's conveying these ideas to you through the symbols just look at the Bauer bill sign it's the word is is being they're trying to communicate that this means being itself giving this up would mean giving up existence being that's the that's the idea that they're rooting into the subconscious through this archetype the S with a line to is an archetype when we look at that we see a light wave even though we can't see light waves we know subconsciously how they operate because they're a part of us that's what we're made of our DNA is what we're made of we know that this is how our DNA is structured in a serpentine curve the word is what we use to communicate being this is the world is that's what they're putting that as the symbol of money the word is and it is this is this is how simply the occult works folks this isn't it doesn't take a brain surgeon a rocket engineer to figure these things out it just takes people willing to lay down their ego and look at things simplistically and honestly the truth is always simple you want to make it more complicated than it is people want to make things more complicated than they are for some reason not me I look at things at face value and say this is what they are it's very easy to these are basic building blocks there's nothing complex about understanding occultism it's just a lot of information that our bit that is based upon very simple building blocks one of them is the concept of the archetype okay the archetype look this up AR CH e typ e arc type it means a basic rudimentary symbol that conveys a deep meaning whether that meaning is even known or not in the in the conscious level at the conscious level that this meaning is carried by the shape itself a circle is an archetype an equilateral triangle an archetype a serpent curve an archetype a dot a point a lightning bolt a you know a staggered thing a spiral these are archetypal symbols they convey meaning divorce of any cultural context they're universal symbols they use these on money they put the one I in the symbol of the pyramid an all-seeing eye which we won't go into and tonight we'll get into that when we start talking about some occult symbolism this is just a very brief primer to the symbols on money and the words what the words mean now let's start looking at the physical side of this how this works in the physical world well again bankers invented this concept of fiat currency and indeed the occultists who ultimately invented the banking systems they're the ones who came up with this they said this is what money shall be we'll use this as money and it could be anything it doesn't matter you could use coins you could use paper you can use up they used out broken sticks in some places in England hundreds of years ago as fiat currency just said this is currency we're going to split this thick like this and match up how it breaks and that's how we'll know it's not counterfeit and that that was money they were called tally sticks look it up tally sticks that's why they use the term tally you know tally this up meaning find out what the total is find out what people over etc tally sticks I mean this is called fiat currency and this is the word tied to creation because it comes from the latin verb to be again fiat means let it be because I said so may it be let it be let it exist this is the powers of a god God is a creator through speech through saying let it be well are we individual God as an individual are we a God that can say let it be and therefore it is I would say absolutely not I can't say let this thing exist in nature and then it exists nature is here for us to discover its principles and live in harmony with them it doesn't belong to us it is it is providing things for our life and our life force energy but we are a part of it we can't say let something be and it cut it suddenly comes into existence we can fashion different things from different elements of nature that already exists and therefore make something new that didn't exist in that form before but can we bring something into existence that didn't exist before no well that's what the power that is assumed by money makers is the power of a god that I can just say something exists not my fingers and it exists fiat currency the word fiat is the very first word attributed God the Creator itself that this all-powerful being spoke to create the universe the phrase attributed to the creation of the universe by God in the Bible is Fiat looks that's Latin because Bibles were traditionally written in Latin when they were first printed Fiat looks means let there be light Fiat means let there be looks means lights let there be light so they're naming their creation their money which now is paper and coin after the first words spoken by God folks because these people think their God and you can argue all you want that that is not their mindset you're wrong you're wrong I'll tell you openly you're wrong to your face the people who invented this system think that they are God they are psychopaths that believe that they are God here and that's the basic problem with the world there are people who think that they are God and there are other morons that accept their claim of being God I'll say that again the hammer it into people's heads there are psychopaths on the earth to think their God and then there are morons on the earth who accept their claim as true that that's the problem of the human condition in a nutshell folks cuz let's start using real plain easy-to-understand language and let's start dropping the facade of even having having any tact about it I'm done with sugarcoating anything I don't think I did much sugarcoating to begin with but I'm dropping the gloves the gloves are coming off now and this is going to be like this in the future on this show the gloves are off no more apologies for humanity okay this show is not called I love human beings the show is not called I want to make friends this show is called what on earth is happening and that's all this is about and I've said before I don't serve human beings I serve truth herself the end I don't serve the ignorant apathetic lazy animals that exist on this planet by their own choice I serve truth her self and it is her okay it is the Sacred Feminine force inherent in creation that is Who I am a servant of I do not serve human beings because I'm not their slave I'm not a slave to the truth either I assist truth in helping that force to reach the eyes and ears of the barbarian hordes that comprise this world get is offended about it as you like I apologize noth-nothing for what I have said that's the case that's not human nature that is the condition that humanity is existing in now by their own apathy laziness and cowardice and make as many excuses for people as you want anybody want to call it and defend the human race and think that they're so wonderful for the condition they've allowed to come into being through their own laziness go right ahead you're entitled to your opinion the money masters throughout the world are a cultists they put occult symbols all over their money in every country but they've really hammered this talismanic magic into the money on American Fiat paper currency and it's everywhere open your eyes do some research do some reading and you'll understand what this symbolism really means know the art types that it uses the rudimentary symbols cuz see they're not just using rudimentary symbols they're using talismans because to get to a talisman you have to find a rudimentary symbol or an archetype okay that's the building block then you make a symbol from archetypes then from a symbol you make a sigil so they say a picture's worth a thousand words okay so you could express hundreds of ideas through a symbol but then when you combine symbols you're making something that you can combine thousands of ideas and that's called a sigil sigi El Sol will continue as we break break down the monetary system to look at the occult side of things as well because it's important to understand how the occult works multiple symbols are teamed to and combined to come up with what's called sigils the all-seeing eye on pyramid is a sigil the eagle with the shield and the branch with the arrows on the other side of the back of the dollar bill that is a sigil the US Treasury seal is a sigil multiple symbols combined now when you combine multiple sin jewels think about how many words you're conveying symbolically think about how many concepts and ideas you're embedding into the subconscious now when you do that you're creating a talisman ana talisman must be carried because it is about flow it is about propagation of flow or propagation of energy which is a flow ten UUM and this is what the power of a god is said to be able to create something that didn't exist inherently in nature not pre-existing bring something into manifestation by speaking it into manifestation God spoke the universe into existence he said let there be light and so it was Fiat looks well the occultists that invented money are saying Fiat this is money let it be and they're using money as a talisman because they're creating a continuum of energy and that's ultimately what money is and the only thing that imbues it with its power is belief belief we talked about last week the concept of the God of the dark occult which is Bell Bell bill the vowel is irrelevant the bull God which Satan is attributed to being a bull a beast shaped like a bowl with horns and a tail and hooves Moloc of the Canaanites and the Phoenicians a bowl God Bell a Canaanite God the Phoenician God Bell bill bull God's Bell the son they call themselves the illuminated ones because they are under their God as Sun God but it's the dark Sun it's not the true Sun it is not the true light of the Creator the true creator of the universe it is their twisted sick interpretation of God and it ultimately represents their own ego because that is ultimately what their God is themselves and this is what Satanism is this is what Luce fahriye NASM is folks you think Satanism is the worship of these demonic entities and like medieval Christian ideas of Satanism it is not you're wrong if that's what you think you want to know what Satanism is I highly recommend you get locate a copy of the Satanic Bible by Anton Sandor LaVey and read it thoroughly and you'll understand what Satanism really is and that's that's a that is a in comparison to what's really out there that's me telling you to read a Girl Scout manual okay that's like me telling you read a Girl Scout manual and as dark and twisted and psychopathic as that the ideologies in that book are it's a Girl Scout manual the real Psychopaths asked lavae to put this out to the public so that they could identify other Psychopaths that would help them in their agenda LaVey did not even come up with the idea to write this book himself this is a sanitized version of their true ideology that that you will learn about when you are groomed to be taken higher up into the occult and people know about this - it being exposed and told by brave people they want their you Genesis they want to ultimately exterminate 95% of the human population this is true they are eugenicist s-- and ultimately the you Genesis in the world are operating through the financial system they are the money masters they are the people who actually set the value and interest rates of money and this is what fractional reserve banking is it's usury next week on the show I'm going to have James Yaeger who made the brilliant documentary Fiat Empire the Empire that is built upon this concept of just being allowed to say let the be money and it exists granting to themselves the power of a God let there be light associating money with enlightenment the all-seeing eye the balance of the brain hemispheres and the awakening of the pineal gland James Jaeger documentary filmmaker researcher videographer he will be on next week we will talk about the Federal Reserve System the current money masters of the United States the Fed came into being in 1913 after a meeting on Jekyll Island by the financial elite in 1910 off the coast of Georgia I had several things lined up that I wanted to read I saw we had a caller I guess he got impatient uh he wasn't on there for that long caller that was holding on I was just getting ready to go to and it looks like you hung up you want to call back in

I'll take your call so um I'll give the call-in number again the calling number for the show is seven two four four four four seven four four four once again the calling number is seven twenty four triple four seven triple four and the call ID number is eight three five one five the call ID eight three five one five Mayer Amschel Bauer is one of the first recognized international bankers of the modern age he changed his name to Rothschild he came from a German occult family the Bauer's from Bavaria Bauer made a statement saying permit me to issue and control the money of a nation and I care not who makes its laws just think about the hubris contained in that statement I don't care who the lawmakers are because if I can create money I'm God hey I can make people do whatever I want they're on my strings they're my puppets they're my slaves and you know what he's right he's right this person isn't stupid he may be a psychopath he may be of a complete reptilian consciousness way down in the base brain of I need to survive and hoard and get as much as I want and have have as much tactical advantage over my fellow man as possible in the physical sense because he has no connection to spirituality whatsoever and he said he's basically he's a golem himself of the force of fear okay he's a puppet you think this is really a master this person is a puppet on the strings of fear fear owns him something that's discarnated it's not in the physical world another person doesn't because he's the person who's inventing and making making money he's he's saying let this amount of money exist issuing that the the currency and the credit of a nation permit me to issue and control the money of a nation I care not who makes its laws head of the Rothschild banking dynasty but is he wrong no why because people believe in the nonsense he's selling them that money exists and to begin with and this is how fractional reserve banking works it's it's a central bank is chartered by a government they lend money to that government at interest which is called usury at high interest the amount of money they put into circulation is controlled by them and it also has debt attached to it and they can also create a certain percentage on top of that which they are allowed to lend out at high levels of interest more usury so the Ussery perpetuates more usury if this is called fractional reserve banking and I'm sure James could explain it better than I can I know the very fundamentals of it but that the the machination of how it itself works is unimportant it's fraudulent immoral fantasy behavior that doesn't exist in nature it requires the belief in a moral a morons belief in this system in order for it to actually work and hold sway over the minds of people and these morons throughout history have been killing each other destroying each other's homes and properties breaking all kinds of natural law principles incurring enormity of suffering upon each other just because they believe in something that isn't real that another puppet made up another slave made up the concept another golem made up the concept and the billions of other slaves golems and morons in the world believe in that concept and they're all enslaving each other perpetually well you know what I'm out of this mind control I don't exist in it I know this isn't real am I still physically bound to it unfortunately that's the case I'm physically bound to it I don't keep any money in a bank I I don't use credit cards anymore I don't keep any money in a bank a banker would not get a penny that I earned fiat currency or otherwise or any means of exchange I'm not giving anybody any control over anything that I happen to make as any form of means of exchange you're not keeping it you're not lending it you're not using it for usury usury is it a moral practice lending money predatory lending of money so you can make tons more money on the interest you get back and since there's never enough money in circulation because as soon as you're printing money you're attaching debt to it you're charging interest for the printing of it they're printing it and all this debt is attached to the printing of the money where are you ever going to get enough value in circulation to pay back that debt if this is simple mathematics if you're saying the first money I'm going to print I'm going to print five million dollars or let's say 1 million dollars and I'm going to attach let's just say 1% of debt to that money okay so that would be 1% of a million dollars which would be what take not two zeroes off that would be 1 million would be a 1 with 4 zeros so that would be $10,000 where is that $10,000 coming from if you're saying here's the money I'm printing you you own me now when you pay pay this back to me since I'm I'm being chartered to print and issue the money and I'm saying I'm doing this at interest that's what a central bank does ok I print a million and I attach ten thousand dollars of debt to that million where's that $10,000 come from it doesn't exist so all the people eventually that are required to pay back that money where are they going to pay back $1,010,000 they can't so what happens they go to the same institution and try to borrow that because they need to pay it back well what happens when they borrow it the cycle is repeated the cycle is repeated and more debt is attached to the money the new money that gets created this is called fractional reserve banking but you know what that's a euphemism what this is is usury plain and simple and this system is basically the brain child this has gone on throughout history long before the Rothschild dynasty existed but in the modern incarnation this is the brainchild of Mayer Amschel Rothschild now he had lots of agents working for him and he sent his sons in the different cities to perpetuate this this way of doing business eventually created central banks in all nations and they essentially control the issuance of currency and the regulation of the amount of money in circulation and the interest rates attached to that money in just about every country in the world another historical figure Thomas Jefferson tried to warn us about this danger of fractional reserve banking Ussery he said and this is one of the founding influences of this country who we aren't listening to it all most of us and just you know aren't paying attention to someone who is much wiser than 99% of people in the United States and hey I'm not a worshipper of the founding fathers believe me I think that a lot of what they said was in keeping with natural law and they did not go far enough because it's very evident look at them they kept slaves they thought that certain races of people were below them and that they had the right to keep slaves imagine this you you embodied an import and put principles of natural law forward in your writings and then you thought that those laws didn't extend to every human being on the earth it imagine what kind of hubris that took these people were in deep ego an attachment to belief systems which were fantasy but they did have some wisdom and they did try to explain to people if you left certain things happen you're going to end up as slaves they didn't they weren't I don't believe they were fully enlightened they were partially enlightened they had a long way to go though to get to full enlightenment Thomas Jefferson said banking institutions are more dangerous to our liberties than standing armies I'll just read that one sentence again bang institutions are more dangerous to our liberties than standing armies if the American people ever allow private banks to control the issue of their currency the banks and corporations that will grow up around the banks will deprive the people of all property until their children wake up homeless on the continent their fathers occupied I believe this quote is sanitized because I believe he originally said on the continent their fathers conquered and it was a conquering because there were people living here before European white men came over here and just decided this was their land but again this is this is steps that most people are ten pictures about they won't they won't talk about that you know there was very immoral things done by even the founders of this country now they wrote high-minded principles though in most of their writings I think there were some who were much better than others like Thomas Paine I think Paine was largely true to his principles although he wasn't perfect and no one is but they had some words that we should pay heed to and this is one of the famous quotes that I think people should really pay attention to he was trying to warn them about the influence of central banks if you give over the ability to play God to people they will abuse it because power corrupts tends to corrupt and absolute power corrupts absolutely and this is a fundamental truth most people are not enlightened enough in their current mind controlled condition to be able to effectively hold any type of position of high responsibility without giving way to corruption that's the sad fact of the human condition not human nature and conditions are two different things the current human condition propagated through mind control through the information that we take into ourselves and believe that other people tell us without going down to fundamental dynamic principles that are inherent in nature or in other words knowing the truth that we only have certain unalienable rights and there are things we do not have the right to do we have tons and tons of unalienable rights but we don't have a right to basically play God we don't have a right to control others who have harmed no one we don't have a right to defraud people through usury defraud people of their life property and ultimately happiness through usury and that's what's been done and they deserve part of the responsibility and part of the blame but other people have essentially let them do it do their ignorance let's look at how this system let's check out a couple other quotes okay look look at the front the head the former head of the Federal Reserve System the Fed is the central bank of the United States there was warned against we went through this is the third incarnation of the central bank of the United States they changed the name because the first bank of the United States people caught on to this scam they dissolved it and then they the bet international bankers kept pressing and eventually instituted the second bank of the United States which was eventually exposed Andrew Jackson very involved in that process and eventually through the Congress they abolished in however they met in secret in 1902 Jekyll Island off the coast of Georgia International Finance ears called Rothschilds Rothschild agents Warburg um Rockefellers high-level financial elites in secret came up with a scam to have this put through through senator Aldrich into the Congress on while the Congress was on vacation Christmas vacation that's when this vote came up to pass the Federal Reserve bill they met in secret on Jekyll Island and plotted their plotted and planned their to how they were going to institute a new Central Bank even they knew that people didn't want it it was unacceptable to them the government would be printing interest-free money and regulating the issuance of its own currency because they want to come out on top and manage the conflicts that they create there they are foe mentors of war they are manipulators of warfare they back both sides and Wars these international finance ears these users and that's what they are and don't take a soft core position on this usury is immoral it's immoral it is wrong fundamentally to be a user err and if you don't think so I claim you're immoral if you think usury is okay I think you're an immoral person I don't care who you are I think there it's a fundamental principle that usery is immoral if you're a predatory lender of money if you want to lend somebody something and you say you pay me that back but if you want to lend somebody and say you're going to pay me back plus more than what it's actually worth or what the value we've agreed upon that it's worth is that's usury and that's immoral and people just accept this like it's fine like it's this is common knowledge and fine no problem yeah you can lend money it's ridiculous interest rates well if you even think that's okay you're a moral a moral person because you don't know enough about natural law to understand that's wrong and it's unacceptable and it's unacceptable that people even continue to think that it's okay because it's not okay it's called wrong and we need to know the difference between right and wrong that's why we're in the mess we're in with our liberties being destroyed because most people don't know the difference between right and wrong anymore sadly and they don't care and they accept it tacitly they just accept tacitly than wrongdoing and corruption and usury are taking place in their midst and they just turn their back they turn their I look the other way and accept Jekyll Island 1910 the financed years of the world get together in secret they plot the Fed the Federal Reserve System they named it that because they're liars it had nothing to do with a federal institution even though it would have gotten it chartered through Congress okay it was a privately held conglomerate of banking institutions and that's what the Federal Reserve still is privately owned owned by families now you can research who owns the Fed I'll post the document about the families who owned the Federal Reserve and you can uh you can go into this extensively to look at uh who some of these people are um and it includes families like the Rothschilds the Harriman's um Morgans the Stanley's it's a host of people shifts Rockefellers I have a whole list Rothschild Schroder lis Grenfell Brown Harriman Norman Drexel Lazar Morgan Stanley Schroder Ryan chef Warburg Lehman Baker Kuhn Loeb Pine Edison Shearman sterling Julliard Stillman Rockefeller a congressional investigation was done in the 70s to try to find out who owns these banking institutions that essentially control this country ruthlessly because they're psychopaths and they're predators we talked about what a psychopath is we talked about what a true predator of other people are and why they act that way they act that way because they have destroyed neocortex's they have destroyed brains they have given themselves over to the force of fear so wholly so completely that they think that they can't live in social harmony with people without exploiting them and without preying on them so they are predators of their own kind and there's no lower form of life than that their social cannibals and that's the lowest form of life that there is when they finally got this past in an off session of Congress during Christmas vacation 19 I believe it was 12 when they put the act through and it went into effect in 13 the Fed came into being it took over the issuance of the currency of this country as the third central bank but they didn't call it the central bank they called the Federal Reserve implying that it was truly a government institution and implying that it would secure that the safety of the money through maintaining reserves this is all rhetoric it's neither a federal institution it is privately owned and I'll post a document about some of the owners as recent of an investigation that has been done and it has no reserves it is all based on fiat currency it is all based on numbers on a computer screen it is all based on faith it is all based on belief and this is what you'll never hear on the mainstream media you'll never hear people talk about this because the Federal Reserve are there at masters and they are little slaves dancing on their strings that their owners pull and that's all people on corporate media everyone bar none bar none and there are so few that have any gumption whatsoever to even bring up the Federal Reserve as an issue at all there are a couple who have a minimal amount of courage to even talk about the Fed as a predatory institution and I think Ron Paul is one of them I give him credit for that I think he needs to go a lot farther to get to the real truth of what's going on in the world but you know he wants to play that political game he wants to sanitize things well good luck with that enjoy that let me know when you're done with that that's that's what I'll say to that not saying I don't think that the man is a good man I think he does try and live by his principles so however when it comes to speaking the truth into the world you're not really going far enough if you're trying to sanitize your speech for political motivations and that I'll leave that at that so the Fed has basically ruled this country and put people into indentured servitude through booms and busts in the monetary supply which they call the business cycle it's no such thing it is deliberate expansions and contractions of the monetary supply where you have a big expansion that's called inflation because you're devaluing the currency through printing excessive amounts of it then you have a contraction that the printing of the money creates a boom because credit is easy to acquire and then you get a big bust when they contract the money supply and that's called a recession or a depression and again these are explaining this in the most rudimentary terms I'm not a financial analyst or expert and I would never want to be I understand the very rudimentary element about how the most rudimentary elements about how this fraud works and that's all you really need to understand you want to understand how this works I would suggest watching the movie Fiat Empire which was made by James Yaeger who I'll be having on the show next week I would suggest watching documentary money masters the money masters which is an excellent expose of the financial fraud that we have in this country I would suggest watching the the movie money as debt money as debt because ultimately that's what this is a system of Perpetual debt that can never be repaid and therefore physical assets will flow to the creditors leaving people basically bankrupt and homeless on their their own land which is what Thomas Jefferson was trying to warn us about so another one another great movie about this and I thank barb for coming down and pointing that out to my attention is zeitgeist addendum zeitgeist addendum goes a long way in explaining to people how the monetary system and the fractional reserve banking system work and um there's another new one uh thanks barb again I I want to remember that thanks uh a new one I believe this was made by trying to think of the guy's name he does the UH he he does on the radio show on I think Oracle broadcasting his name escapes me right now but he has a site called rogue government and he made a documentary called power of the purse and it's a long run it's four hours and 50 minutes is almost five hours long and he does an extensive job of thoroughly researching how this financial fraud is perpetuated and where it came from in the ancient world right up to the modern day I'll try to think of his name if anybody can refresh my memory call in and let me know but um the Fed today operates as a independent institution it is chartered by the government through the Federal Reserve Act and it operates on over 12 regional zones this is just a fraud essentially to get people to think that there are many different institutions working in conjunction with each other it all operates under one banner it is largely owned by overseas entities over 70% of the owners of the Federal Reserve are offshore and do not live in the United States over 70% and that number could be higher than that um so um the first thing to understand is it's not even a government institution it is privately held and over 70% of the owners of these financial institutions that comprise the Fed are foreign they are not even living or from the United States they're not United States citizens they don't live here they live offshore and they run this financial racket from offshore and that is true the second thing is it continuously perpetuates um the idea that this fiat currency is somehow backed by something that is actual vow of actual value some kind of physical thing and it is not our money system is backed by nothing it is not backed by silver not backed by gold even if you think those things are money hey it's not backed by anything it's not backed by food it's not backed by water it's backed by zero it is backed by faith alone and this is a contract of the mind this is getting people to believe in something that doesn't exist that doesn't actually have any intrinsic value and again you can think even gold has intrinsic value good luck when you're starving and you want to try to eat your gold enjoy you know melt it down it'll be more palatable okay so here's a quote about in the modern world hell out of control and how god like the Fed thinks they are and I'm gonna read this quote and I'm just gonna stay openly the person who made this quote is a dark ocultist period I know this personally okay he's a dark occultist believe what you want but that's the truth his name is Alan Greenspan and here's a quote he was on PBS news hour with Jim lar years ago when he was the chairman of the Federal Reserve Board Laura asked him in this interview what is the proper relationship between the chairman of the Fed and the President of the United States and Alan Greenspan replied first of all the Federal Reserve is an independent agency that means basically there is no other agency of government which can overrule actions that we take so long as that is in place and there is no evidence that the administration or the Congress or anybody else is requesting that we do things differently than what we think is the appropriate thing then what the relationships are don't frankly matter Greenspan in essence was admitting that the Federal Reserve is higher in the hierarchy of control than any agency of the government and that in essence it owns the government and he's correct he is correct the Federal Reserve and their owners own the government of the United States and the people in the positions of power who will say nothing about the immoral practices of this predatory agency our lackeys they are little lap dogs they are cowardly poppets on strings of these Oh cultists okay and I'll call these people out and indeed I have called these people out in front of their own building in Philadelphia as part of the end the Fed rally because all the unread morons out there okay all of the UH the unread practically illiterate people who have it rut read a book worth reading in their miserable lives little I mean they can barely read to begin with let alone reading books that they really need to be reading to understand what's going on in the world okay that they want to think that this institution is necessary and must exist for us to have social harmony ridiculous ridiculous and people who want to go and support them go and be security guards for them cops who want to defend what they do because they don't care about anything they're just as dumb as your average person that thinks the Fed is a federal institution that thinks that they actually back currency by something and that they're not predatory usurers okay they're just unread people that don't know the first thing about what's really going on in the world they couldn't tell you the first thing about the Fed how was made what it does they know nothing about fractional reserve banking let alone getting to the knowledge to the the very philosophy that there is no such thing as money it's only a claim made by people and you have to be stupid enough to believe in that claim there are only people and resources in the world and people need to come to a level of consciousness to make a willful decision through their own will their own care and their own intelligence to know that it is their responsibility to be their brother's caretaker by by will by choice and consent universally there is an only a Brotherhood of man and we are all each other's caretakers as one suffers all suffer the end and until you're at that level of consciousness you're in darkness you're in darkness now that doesn't mean one small group of people providing everything for everybody for everybody that means everybody doing what is necessary to provide what is needed for themselves because they recognize this is basic fundamental human rights in natural law yet you're going to provide and work with the earth with nature to get your daily keep your daily bread and that's what's embodied in that prayer give us this day our daily bread doesn't say allow us to get so much today that we can hoard for a year I'm not knocking the practice of putting some things away in the event of emergencies but ultimately these people want more than they can ever spend in their entire lives because they're rooted in the leoch in the r-complex the reptile complex of the human brain they're not engaged in higher-order conceptual thinking that takes place in the in the neocortex and I've just recalled the name of the gentleman who put out the movie um um who put put out the movie um power of the purse it was Josh Reeves Josh Reeves I highly recommend that one it is really really well done uh money masters power of the purse Fiat Empire is a Geist addendum money as that power of the purse phenomenal phenomenal works everybody should check these out I'll try to find them on Google video or YouTube and post them to the podcast section please check them out I'll also post a PDF document about the owners of the Federal Reserve System I was going to read some stuff about how the Fed came into being at Jekyll Island but I'll tell you what I will probably simply just post that document as well and let people read it instead of reading it over the air um what I want to ultimately get back to is if we continue to allow these predatory users to assert their influence and claim the powers of god that they can basically set the value of everything they can lend in a predatory sense that so that all assets eventually flow to them through defaults okay and we're going to continue to let them do that and we're going to dump all of this debt down through the ages to our future generations what we are in effect going to create is in a world of total slavery if we continue to believe in money as a physically existing intrinsic concept that exists in nature which it is not we are ultimately going to be slaves on this planet that this is the hardest swallow for anyone to ever take in money is the religion of the people of the earth you think that your religion is Christianity and I'll say nonsense you think that your religion is Islam and I'll tell you nonsense to your face you think that your religion is Judaism and I'll tell you nonsense and that's true for 99.9 people on this planet 99.9% of people on this planet you have no religion other than money you have no religion other than money that's your religion and that's your God and debt is offended about it as you want there's there's a catch phrase right there for you for this show enjoy being offended I'm not going to stop explaining that until it changes by a willful act people changing it because they stopped believing in nonsense BS that doesn't exist okay you can think I'm as crazy as you want you can stay in your calcified tumor of an ego all you want but guess what you are the slave you are the slave for believing in that nonsense that an occultist made for you to believe in and we're going to talk about religion there the actual religions of the world as also being forms of mind-control so get ready to be offended a lot more in future weeks because if you think that those religions are telling you anything accurate or close to the truth you you're more fool than I thought you are by the monetary system because dark occultists made those religions for you to accept and believe in they made your religions folks I worked with the people who made your religions and their their ancestors made your religions okay it's all nonsense everything you think is real everything you think you believe in that's real it's all an illusion it's all an illusion and coming to enlightenment a state of true light is knowing that all of those things are illusionary they don't exist in nature they don't exist in natural law what exists in natural laws beings on a personal evolutionary journey of growth and learning and development and the support systems that are in place to encourage that growth learning and development which is the resources of the earth which are organic which are inherent which are made by the earth herself and we're destroying that body of support called the earth and we're destroying each other in our ridiculous beliefs in money so I tried to go a little bit of a way toward explaining how the fiat currency and fractional reserve banking system works I apologize again for our original guest not being on but this gives me a chance to really hammer home some of these ideas in people's minds and get them to understand you're fooled you're duped you're duped it's all fake folks it's not about getting back to gold either okay this is this is another cul-de-sac it's another trying to get you really out of enlightenment not really reaching enlightenment you'll reach enlightenment when you understand the entire concept of money is a frog it never has existed in nature never will exist in nature the thing that creates the power of that fraud is your belief in it you want to disempower it stop believing in it start understanding there's only people and resources in the world to be distributed among those people in a moral way and not through force so you can't say well social that's because that's called socialism when you want to do that by force this has to be done through consciousness through understanding that you need to do this not because anybody is forcing you to do it because it's the right thing to do to be our brother and sisters caretakers as one suffers all suffer the end the end you want to take away one phrase from this show you could turn the show off and never listen to it again for all I care as one being suffers all suffer the end the end if you understand that principle you get it you get it fully and because that's the golden rule and that's when you'll have real gold alchemical gold enlightenment I'm going to wrap it up tonight folks I know I went off on to a lot of different tangents tonight that's what I do we had one caller I apologize for not seeing you on the switchboard until it was too late and he hung up hopefully we'll have some callers for James Yaeger next week right here on James Yeager James thank you for being here with us this evening I mark back for having me it's great to be here so you've been a documentary filmmaker for many years and you put out some of the most information-packed and critical political documentaries of our time as far as I'm concerned why don't you talk a little bit about how you got involved in filmmaking and some of the great documentary films that you've produced well my primary interest in film is narrative drama the source features I've moved out to California 77 to pursue features but I've always had an interest in documentaries it dawned on me when I was young I was fortunate to know I wanted to be in film from an early age that I started making films about 1963 and it dawned on me that gee if you're going to make movies maybe someone might watch them from day and golly if people are watching them maybe you should have something to say especially if you're going to make a documentary so this this thought could completely horrified me and made me realize that well I better stick an air of drama and then you know at least and 20-30 years studying life and figuring out what the what the hell is happening you know said Akana the title of your show there mark sure though I've moved on what I started working in the industry there I held a lot of different posts worked a lot of features in different capacities at the set carpenter grip editor and so on and meanwhile I kind of picked up an interest in banking somewhere along the line I guess you know the old side with bankers meet for dinner get together for dinner they talk about art right when artists get together they talk about banking or money so I guess I get this as a young artist I became interested in banking and kind of figure out why in an infinite universe you look out there at night and just just matter and energy everywhere how come there's or seems to be so much scarcity and starving and hopelessness on this planet and it just got me wondering you know what is money where does it come from you know and who are these people called bankers what do they do so triggered by a book called the creature from Jekyll Island from where in the early 90s which was written by G Edward Griffin I began to to see a light and mr. Griffin is probably the first author has come along that's really shed a light on banking and the Federal Reserve System and how we've wandered from constitutional values as far as our money and so I started studying it and somewhere along I guess was around 2006 2005 I was watching c-span and I noticed this little wire like wiry guy always arguing with Alan Greenspan and you know his name was Ron something Ron Paul I'm like he had two first names and I just I watched the sky for two or three years and no one ever heard of them but he would be hanging in there just shoot Alan Greenspan bragging on him about the money supply the fiat money and why aren't we backed by gold and finally I thought hey you know maybe I'll make a movie a documentary on on this whole thing see if mr. Griffin will give me the rights to his book and so I called him up and Ed was kind enough to do that and I called up dr. Paul and to my surprise he granted me an interview because this was 2007 from here and then so we we produced the film called Fiat Empire and shortly after the film was released I'm sure it has nothing to do with the film - dr. Paul ran for president and all hell broke out people who downloading the film at the rate of two or three thousand downloads a day and started hitting number one if you kept vying for number one position on the on Google video it kept going with fire fart you should remember that mark but that without fire fart you know first that would be number one for a few days and then Fiat Empire would knock it out it would be number one for a while they were going back that's a little bit of background how how I got up yeah the tool it just goes to show what the mentality the public is you know hassle when we're in the fire fart and the other want to know why the federal reserve is unconstitutional right so we put that out and it is the total surprise that so many people were concerned about the banking and fact that the Federal Reserve System is basically failing to follow the Constitution specifically article 1 section 8 and 10 stipulates this no spank the gold or silver coin shall be money and Bills of credit or not ok a bill of credit is nothing more than the Federal Reserve Note so today we have a money system where the federal government can print up as much if they want they can inflate the money supply as much as they want and this of course waters down all the money salute to our purchasing power of dollars will often 95 to 98 percent of purchasing power since the Federal Reserve glosso and axis instated in 1913 that is an effective arm hitting cattle that's an effective hidden tax isn't it that actually are completely Rob's people of their savings in effect it is people a lot of people don't realize that when you continue continually print up money with no restraint it's like a stock solution for those of you that are those stock in companies you know that if corporation is also our issue 20 million shares of stock and then in the next ensuing years it starts to issue more and more stock 30 million 35 million the existing stockholders shares are diluted they're watered down and the same thing is true with the money and really the money in a way is the stock of the nation and when you have this elite group of special interests have that special privilege of being able to print out money this is the elite bankers that are known as the Federal Reserve System and as we discussed and Fiat Empire Federal Reserve System is nothing more than a government sanctioned banking cartel quas a private bank government sanctioned banking cartel no different than an OPEC or banana cartel and basically they these people these elite New York backers have have used the federal government they've counted them over the head and gotten them to basically legalize their Ponzi scheme so we have here a special class of privileged entities and nobody knows really who exactly are the owners of these banks that are in the Federal Reserve System but these people are have since 1913 have a little by little weaned us off the gold standard and the founders wanted our money to be redeemable in gold and silver because they wanted citizens if they felt the money was being diluted to be able to return their paper and get their gold back out of the back it's another check and balance and now is check and balance has been totally be loaded away by this elite group of banks and their propaganda machine the the mainstream corporate media and so very few people realize they just know that they're on the treadmill they know that they're running faster and faster we now have to have two incomes noise just to keep up with the debt service on the house and the cars and the credit cards this is just it's just getting to a point work totally ridiculous and I think people happily are becoming aware of this and Ron Paul was probably one of the very few if not the only people in the government in the Congress that had the courage to tell it exactly like it is so we made a movie about it put it out there for a Fiat Empire how the Federal Reserve violates the US Constitution and I guess people are still watching it to this day on the net and you can see it by going to Fiat Empire org we're just go to Google YouTube and just type in the word Fiat Empire James I'd like to congratulate you on that film because I think it is one of the seminal films on the Fiat monetary system and the Federal Reserve and uh congratulations on making such a critical documentary I think it is really one of the best produced documentaries on that topic and it is one of the more popular documentaries within the freedom movement as far as people are attempting to give information to other people about this particular topic the immoral monetary system that we have in this country through the central bank the fraudulent central bank that we call the Federal Reserve System so congratulations on such a seminal film offering thank you mark I appreciate that um we did try to make Fiat Empire um one put it we tried to we tried to have a moderate voice in there because you know this subject and a lot of the subjects are alarming and you sometimes should scare away people for these important issues if you're too alarming uh there was a film that was just released about a year prior I actually had not seen it when I made Fiat Empire but was made by Aaron Russo was called America freedom to fascism and this film I was told was a little warming to some people and so when we made Fiat Empire I directed wrote it and it was produced by build an Allen who is recently deceased but he's an attorney and he is a conservative I would say I would say I'm more of a libertarian but because of his influence and suggestions that look who want to try to reach the grassroots and you want to try to reach the broader middle class public you gotta you gotta somehow introduce to the subject on a on a gradient you can't just go in there and and say throw around words like they're all crooks so um you know we we didn't say they were cooks in the narration but certain people that we interviewed on the street said they were crooks so we thought wool in all we're we're just reporting right it doesn't look the public out there some of the public out there thinks that these people run the Federal Reserve or crook so I guess it depends on how you define it and of course they have everything to find they have taken various words and bastardized electron's of the word inflation you ask anyone what the word inflation means they're going to Ella inflation means prices going up right but that's not what the word means the word means the money supply is being inflated and so the they've taken these words and they twist to them the word fiat money people wonder in a light when I said I just make a film called Fiat ever my old my friends a I didn't know you were into cars boy because I know one really heard the word Fiat the word Fiat means why doesn't government decree so that's where the word comes from the fact is that that fiat money is money that the government has to force the citizens to use because it's basically worthless they actually thought that only meant the car ho the court Fiat money yeah a lot of people just have no idea what they would see on men in that respect the government decree so the word elastic currency is what we've learned in our economics classes and when I was doing economics 101 at college Paul Samuelson is the main guy that puts out the textbook and this textbook calls its elastic currency and they make it they make it seem like it's a good thing oh the money supplies elastic that means we can expand it when the products that one that products go up uh productivity goes up and we can decrease it when what productivity goes down well I've got news for you there very rarely do anything but expand the money supply in fact the money supply since 1900 expanded 1850 percent and in the years prior to that it actually went down by a month 34 percent so we're in an era of lost ninety seven years were the Progressive Era of endless fiat money debt and expanded money and I I don't think there's any way we're going to get out of it as long as they keep inflating that money supply all the reason we're not going to be able to get out all of it is going to keep happening is the the dollar dollars value is going to become more and more worthless people's savings are going to be continued continuing to be robbed and there are work the amount of work that they do will purchase less and less goods and services that's right but the reason we will never get out of this is because it's mathematically impossible to get out of it we're undergoing what's called the impossible contract right now and the reason it's called as a possible contract is because every time money comes into existence debt had to come into existence in other words the way our money supply is created is the government when they need money they basically print up tea pills and they try to sell these people to American citizens and if they don't buy them they try to film the foreigners and often the foreigners will buy them like China and and England and so on but when the foreigners can't buy anymore debt from the United States government they sell the tea bills to the Federal Reserve System and what the Federal Reserve does is it buys these bills but where does he get the Federal Reserve notes to buy to build the tea bills well it goes in the back room and have crunch them up and then it takes the freshly printed Federal Reserve notes and hand them to the government the Congress and takes the tea bill and puts it on the shelf so in essence the Federal Reserve System is buying debt using paper money they turn it up and that's it of course I've oversimplified it this is done on a computer and then there's other ways of expanding money but every time a Federal Reserve Note comes into existence a unit of principle had to come into existence principle is what you pay debt service on it's alone and the problem is every time they actually create Federal Reserve notes they create a new unit of principle and this principle has got to be serviced with debt service interest to be paid on it so I ask you your your listeners where does the money for the interest payments come from well that money is never any organization turn it up right it is eventually there's not that money is not in circulation after a certain point and so they have to print up more money to pay the interest on the previously printed up principle and as you can see this is a Ponzi scheme this is basically it's a never-ending ponzi they're continuing to print money so that they can service the debt on previously printed money and that is known as the impossible contract because that means in legal terms that it's impossible for the contract of value and we're running around fiendish scheme while we're running around in a form like a hamster in a wheel that's right but the thing is we don't know it because this Ponzi scheme is a 100-year scheme it's a 100-year scheme it takes a hundred years before it is realized and by that time it's known as an intergenerational Ponzi scheme by the time the people get wise to it well they're dead and gone and then their heirs are said their offspring is there to take care of the debt service and they don't understand what's going on they've been propagandized by the media so this is been going on for a hundred years and basically one of the reasons for the sinkhole globalization is they have to expand the ponzi have you ever got that Schoen letter I mean anyone knows it is for a chain letter you got to keep the chain letter expanding otherwise you're not going to get paid off well the same thing with the money supply they started in the United States now they have to expand it to the world so basically globalization is nothing more than an expansion of the 100 year old Ponzi known as we Federal Reserve fiat money system and they have to find borrowers all over the world now they've got the whole world in oil in this debt depth service problem the whole thing's going to come crashing down it's only a matter of when and it's just a matter to see what kind of fallout will happen as a result of that like you want to talk about what your view on water you are working with on your document yeah I'm just going to say um Edwin Vieira homework who's producing our new film spoiler how the tea party excuse me spoiler how a third political party could win is a Harvard attorney he's got four degrees Harvard he's all his legal degree but most impressive is guys chemistry degree and a number of other degrees and he wrote pieces of a and he is exploring this and what are the solutions to the problem and the solutions to the problem are twofold one we have to get control power of the purse and we have to get control of power of the sword and what that means the power of the purse needs that James you dropped out there you still with us ladies and gentlemen we're having some technical difficulties bear with me and I will get changed back on the line hold on one moment wait I apologize for that your jigger hey James sorry looks like we dropped out there but we have you back now so just continue where you left off okay I'm sorry what was the last thing that you heard you were talking about some solutions that uh and we the error had come up with okay dr. Guerra feel and I agree with him that um we have to say two competing monetary system situation because when the paper system the Fiat paper system collapses we should have a competing system in place and this competing systems can be done at the state level just like the state of Nevada is basically um revolting against the federal government for their lack of responsibility connection with the border the states need to realize that the government Washington printing up all this money is going to cause the problem eventually and they need to likewise for issuing their own currency which is backed and redeemable by gold and silver and the Constitution fully gives them the authority to do this and when the whole system crashes we then have states of New Hampshire and and Texas and maybe a few other Montana that could lead the way into reestablishing a system of exchange so that's that's the first most vital thing that has to happen in citizens in their various states should start lobbying the legislature they're having people such as Barnard on the house we have tried to issue alternative silver and specie backed currencies paper currencies but they have been shut down because they are individuals and they cannot stand up to the might and force of differential government so it happens at a state level the states have to claim their right to issue currency and it doesn't have to be a bag of law or worms you know the currency could be uniform in shape and v and it could be issued and almost be seamlessly issued the only difference is instead of saying Federal Reserve Note on and it being issued by the bankers in New York City the Federal Reserve can be issued by the state government and you didn't like the way they were handling you could just take the paper and return it to the bags and get your gold and silver back exactly what the founders intended so I don't know I don't like to be skeptical and negative but it's kind of like sometimes you have to display to the house houses you know it's sometimes it's easier to build a new house and it is to try to repair the existing house I don't think the power that's running the Federal Reserve contry are going to allow it to just go away peacefully I saw the Ewell's private I saw that you described this process on your website as a pin to getting a virus on your computer that is so bad that it is just infected all your files and it's just time to wipe it all out and I'll put a new operating system in there yeah exactly I mean you know when we get viruses on our computers we can go into the RMI and moving the registry of the Reg registry what excuse me the Registrar of the register excuse me and go through a hairbrained you know trying to pull them off and that works sometimes but sometimes you just have to basically format the feed right and we load the operating system and that way then we have to do with the monetary system and I also see this a big problem I don't see why we have to have a big ward and have all kinds of things the federal government melts down the money system melts down we stand up and say okay great that operations operating system has been removed from the system and all we do is to reinstate the Constitution but we have it it's sitting there we don't have to reinvent the wheel all we have to do is apply it and you know and then we can go out and we can find round up all the people that were involved and try to rehabilitate or jail them well that sounds like that sounds like a start to me I think we could take it a step even farther than that and say that the new operating system that we need to really instill is one of a higher level of consciousness so that things like this don't happen anymore well you know industry and that's the main concern of talking to Ed Griffin the other day about interviewing for our film spoiler which is going to explore why the Democrats and Republicans keep getting reelected and if we had a new third party what will regret it from getting corrupt itself right and there are there are some smart minds that are looking at that very question mark and you know humanity does hobble along but I do believe we have improved on the planet the last 50,000 years and we have ups and downs but if you look at the graph of technology and it has been expanding at a double exponential curve for the last 100 years Moore's Law I fell true and I'm optimistic we're going to be able to solve these problems I do think that the nexus of consciousness is happening and we speak about that in Fiat Empire oh you're committed mentions that it is going to be a convergence of people's awareness and consciousness and all all the systems will start to basically just kind of fall into place we have to look at things from a more holistic point of view and cut it is insanity of reductionism and I don't know I think that there's some hope in that respect I mean we may have to have see a few crashes it crashes or prior to that but I don't think that the I don't think they're going to be insurmountable but I like the power of the purse like you said it's about having some new systems ready some new ways of doing things in general ready so that when these old outmoded systems collapse we have something to go forward into the future with instead of people you know are falling into fear mode and then just accept whatever possibly even worst system would come along that the dominators would want to put in there while people are in fear that's how they do it they pose as the savior after creating the crises that's exactly right and we're going to explore this in my new detail in our new film spoiler how a third political party to win we're going to take a look at the philosophical underpinnings of the zeitgeist we maintain I'm working with melfin Holberg on the film and as a nation builder Edmund beer is producing we maintain that it's the Philosopher's that opening we get everybody in trouble we maintain that the Philosopher's basically lay out the viewpoint of what existences and they fight over this and they argue elitism in the doing so since Aristotle Plato we come on up to present up towards present time we go to a client if we go to count and pulusu and marks and we see that there are certain philosophers and philosophical ideas that have somehow taken root of mean and they are basically leaving us in the wrong direction but it really comes down to is your viewpoint on whether you can up intelligence should be centralized or whether it should be distributed and the reason I think it should be distributed is because if you function as intelligence or centralized management or centralized government such as a one-world government or something like that or some kind of a board one board computers on the others and basically you're violating one of the primary tenets of the universe and that's the tenets of redundancy you look around the universe there's everything's to come everything's redundant if one system fails there's other systems in the fact that human brain is so variable Nature had produced six and a half a billion of them to be redundant to make sure it will continue to exist and that kind of distributed computing power is the way I believe the universe intends for things to run so therefore globalization is going to pack it kind of it's not going to work it's impossible for it to work because globalization is fails to follow the universal tenets of redundancy when you have a one-world government you don't have any backup systems you can have the whole climate tied together to a one-world government what happens when that one will govern meltdown the whole thing meltdown so obviously a one-world government is a stupid idea until we colonize Mars and colonize various other moons in the solar system and have multiple branches of humanity out there only then does it make any sense to have the planet earth offering under one management system so these are bigots and morons for there running the planet the elite the so-called a weak they basically don't have science on their side so I would say people should just kind of ignore them so um I'm sorry go ahead oh no no go ahead mark what I was going to say is you basically started talking about the the opposing forces that are really tearing the entire structural the fabric of this country apart in your next documentary film which was called original intent I was hoping that you might go into that a little bit up to talk about these two up seemingly oppositional forces that are really working toward that same globalist agenda well when I started with original intent the original intent comes from the idea what is the original intent of the founders we're trying to figure out what exactly the logline of the movie was so this song logline got written and rewritten about five times during the course of production which was two and a half years roughly and the end of the final title that movie ended up being original intent how the Democratic and Republican parties are destroying the American dream and we really care what this is because we originally started out by looking at just the right and as I mentioned earlier I basically could be described as a libertarian conservative although I do have a lot of liberal tendencies having worked in the movie industry in the arts you can't just love those people off and say they're all crazy if I believe in change I do believe in a certain amount of progressivism it just depends on how much you know do you tear up 90% of everything and go from there and then then then you're like a raving little you know maybe you tear up 10% and you maintain the other 90% and steady as she goes you know what civilization has built you only tear up a certain amount of it so whether you're a pervert or liberal really depends upon what is the ratio of what you can tear up fourth is key and so looking at these problems I was working with people on the film it was very very conservative far to the right of me so we started up a film yapping about just how horrible the left is oh people on the left so there the problem there the problem all countries going down the Train so we focused on cultural Marxism and we went into the Frankfurt School Ochs pointment naughty by cultural Marxism a little bit later but well we'll just focusing coding on the left and then it dawned on me you know it can't be the left it's got all the problems we've got to be far off on the right go so I then third research on basically the multinational corporation and the fact that our military bowlers of the planet and what what are conservatives doing and I came up with the idea that we've got corporate fascism on the right destroyed in the country destroying the constitutional law approach to running this country and we've got cultural Marxism on the Left destroying the country and they don't seem to come down to inform me was you have cultural Marxism destroying the our values so that corporate fascist activity can seek them to power what I mean by that is this if you are a cultural Marxist that basically means that you know workers of the world games alright looks like we may have lost games for a second time James can you hear me alright let me try to reconnect with James hold on dear J James it's mark again sorry I don't know why it keeps dropping but uh got you back on so pick up again you were talking about that core cultural Marxism is a you know degrading the values from the left progressive side of the equation and therefore paving the way for our corporate fascism to come in on the right wing so I want to take up from there yes that's it that's an actual summary the idea is that the baby boomers a work on the part so I criticize myself when I criticize the baby boomer I basically did that down this road of cultural Marxism where they have been the values that we had from the last generation have virtually been destroyed we have the destruction of the family unit at the primary goal we have all these Rosen's of morals and and we had we had all kinds of things removed from the public school system and the kids are indoctrinated into virtually having no values or leaper or relative values and so basically we've destroyed the ethical moral fiber that may be non-state strong if the founders had and this video the country was build upon because only could you have a group of people like this it would allow these corporate fascist to do what they did in other words yet NASA comes along and basically guts out the whole middle class these corporations take to this move out of the country because they want more profits it's like they claimed that they weren't making profits but if you actually look at the record this is one these very corporation or General Motors and GE and ATT moved out of the country for offshoring all their operations they were making some of the highest profits if not the hottest profits they ever had made so the claims that they were overtime acciden and oh the American worker was being paid to Mohawks and so on it's as bogus they want to move out for pure greed they wanted to make more and more money and so only could CEOs running these corporations only could they do this if they were indoctrinated this cultural Marxism you know a CEO that had traditional values would he do that Roger Smith Judy wasn't infiltrated by the cultural Marxist failures wouldn't ripped out General Motors and left that whole town of Flint just died just to make a little bit more profit so basically the theme is the idea we explore in the film is cultural Marxist eroded the values and made it possible for the corporate fascism that's taken over the right so you have culpability coming from the right and the left and I think that one has to recognize that in order to get back to constitutional principles because the extreme that the right has gone to an extreme that the left has gone true or not the golden mean of the Constitution which is a limited self-governing nation based on free enterprise capitalism and that's where we are now today folks we're moving drifting towards this totalitarian government it's way too large it's expanding itself using and with fiat money we're spending all this money on welfare and the warfare state we've got seven hundred military bases in over 130 countries out there so the right is spending money on military industrial complex you have the left pissing away money into the entitlements the new health care thing and with social programs all justified by a misinterpretation of the general welfare clause in the Constitution and he answered that Ron Paul says get back to the path we've walked away and so we explore this in in the movie which ended up being three hours and 30 minutes long and I submitted two movies of fun dance and what do you think they did said no go too long right well they said no go too long that was their excuse for rejecting it but it's not the reason they rejected it folks I'd like to hear what some of your call and feel about that because I felt that that that was the reason they rejected it because it basically dared to have any kind of criticism of the left and right now and not only that it's breaking down this false left-right paradigm the people still stubbornly believin in the political world and don't understand that these are simply two wings of the same bird that's flying to the same place and it's all about total control ultimately that is what these two seemingly polarized forces are all about it's playing one hand off against the other and this is a form of what we have talked about on this show over the past many weeks of something called controlled opposition or what has been traditionally referred to as a dialectic and we saw the example of toggles dialectic being playing to polar forces off against each other to create an artificial synthesis of the two so thesis meets antithesis to create synthesis and that is what this film does an excellent job of really bringing to the attention of people who have any level of discernment and understanding how these forces work and not you go even farther than that in your two other films which break down each one in turn correct yes you have an exactly right mark they'd basically have us in this dichotomy which is a false dichotomy the Democrats versus Republicans and they've limited the spectrum speech down to acceptable issues that each one of these two sides of the spectrum are allowed to discuss and they basically just have the public sitting there watching a meaningless cockfight and you know I was thinking about this this morning when I woke up I was thinking you know they're turning on this word independent Oh what are you oh I'm an independent from like 40% of Americans claim to be independence now where something like 30% or so to claim to be Democrats Republicans um okay that's great you're an independent all right so what does that mean that means you're independent about whether you're going to flip over the Democrat or back over to the Republicans well that doesn't seem to me to be very independent well I think that I think it regard to call these independence hypocrites because unless they're just as independent to go to a third party a brand new third party where one of the existing third parties as they are to go flipping over the Democrats and flopping back over the Republicans they're not independence at all they're nothing but controlled mind controlled hypocrites that's absolutely right you understand what I'm saying I mean if you're going to be an independent then you have to be independently just as willing to adopt a third party as a democrat a republican party and you know what mark the reason we call the movie spoiler if we want to hit these idiots right in the right in the face with a two-by-four oh it just spoiler oh everything everybody voted for Ross Perot and then Bill Clinton got it well so what did Bill Clinton do everything worthwhile it was George Bush got it and the rest of them did they do anything with well it so it's like to say that you're spoiling something so that one of the other ugly rings of the st. bird can get into power it's just insane what really needs to spoiled is their stubborn holding on to this this fake oppositional paradigm that never has work doesn't work now and isn't going to work for as long as they believe in it into the future that's what needs to be spoiled and that's why I like the title for this film and I want to check it out when it comes out that's right the Democrats and the Republicans are the spoiler if anybody wants to hear the narration of this film it is done it is up on the Internet can I give the URL absolutely it's the general URL for the website is spoiler usa.org spoiler usa.org WWWF they would and if you go to that URL you can find the links to all the to both the two minute trailer you have the complete narration script up there it's 32 pages long and we have the complete narration which has been completed and done and recorded by fan-xiu who is gonna make you recognize his voice from ane CBS NBC ABC and Warner Brothers shows so the narration is gone and Nelson Hauberg and I put it together it was inspired by his book the conservative revolution which you can get a copy of this is a must-read book for anyone is seriously looking into a third party called the conservative revolution you can get that at a FR dot org and so this has inspired this movie and here's a note for third parties we're trying to line a blonde pulp a pecan i'm trying to line up a loft row but he's hesitant about going one but i think i might be able to talk it into it but especially when we get rid of finished with pappy cannon ron paul interviews were also trying to get number of x presidential third-party candidates such as Chuck baldwin arm we're trying to get David Koch who ran as vice president in 1980 on the libertarian party and so people are people are hesitant and leery about being in a thin film about third parties because they basically have to get their head around the the idea that the Democrats and Republicans are going to continue to do the same thing the Republicans are basically having to have to operate on the survival strategy of the Democrats which is provide endless entitlements favors and special privileges in order to stay in power and so we basically have here a bastardization of Augusta Tom running our country and what I mean by that is cult is the guy that came up with the word altruism and Aquinas who was a good philosopher he came up with the idea of altruism as something which is good in other words helping people and there is nothing wrong with helping people but the way cult pasteurizes terms he took it and made altruism in to sacrifice in other words Americans have to sacrifice themselves to the board collective state and that's where we're at now and so the government plays on that by saying oh you know give us more power for more money for more this the more that so that we can do more entitlements more you know special privileges more more excuse me handouts for everybody so we could be altruistic so what's happened is we live in an era where the term altruism has been dr. dies and it's been used to justify the ever expanding state wealth right you can't coerce altruism um putting a gun to somebody's head to take away something that they have so that you can give it to another it doesn't make it right it's still violence by whatever word you want to call it that's exactly right basically what we have is the state is trying to supplant the family unit the church and the individual the place where altruism should originate is the family unit the individual and the church not the state and so you know I have real left-wing friend friends in California that are so screaming at me on the phone and I mean screaming at me and they're going on and on about my movies and how they and how could I possibly make a movie like that you traitor and don't ever come back to California we're going to we're going to you know put you and they're sitting there going you know this film what are you going to do about the poor what about the poor the poor the poor and you know what I really think that half of these people are screaming about the poor they want government to take care of the poor because they don't want to take care of the poor that's right hope it's the whole thing that's sitting there yelling about the poor they just want the government to take care of the poor James I'd like I'd like to chime in on that particular aspect that you just brought up when people are are putting out this cry yes the government forcibly take care of the poor by taking resources from other people in the country and redistributing uh you know those resources it's it's the same dynamic when I bring up two individuals about true education moral education and I ask people whose responsibility is the true moral education of the young and you'll be surprised that they will try to say anything except that it rests with the entire community and that they have that responsibility as well to properly morally educate the young they want to point the finger at the state they want to point the finger at just individual parents but they never want to turn the finger and pointed at themselves to say it's all of our collective moral responsibilities to be morally upright such to a such an extent within ourselves that we can collectively as individuals each in turn properly morally educate the young people think that other people's education proper moral education is not they're part of their responsibility and I would absolutely put forth the proposition that that is not correct that we do have the moral responsibility to not only morally educate ourselves but then take that information and the sure Trivette knowledge and morally educate the young in our communities as a whole right you know but you know um I'm all for free enterprise as far as the school I mean let's have a voucher system and let the best schools the ones that are providing the best education compete with each other I mean you know you have the government sitting there pat you know the government paying and funding all the schools right I don't see how you're going to get a really broadband understanding of history um it's going to be basically truncated history truncated knowledge so um you know we really need to have some freaks more competition in the school system and these these teachers and professors that have this tenure you know I guess tenure started out with it with the worthwhile purpose but it's evolved into this thing where you know you can't fire even bio teachers now and so I don't know it just comes down to the nanny state the state doing everything I believe the individual has to be made strong because the collective is made out of individuals if you try to strengthen the collective you will get nothing but child individuals that make up a board whole yes try to strengthen the individual you will then create by an emergent property a collective that is strong it's a fact oh absolutely I totally concur with that and that's what this is all about this is all about the the one true a war that is really going on is between individualism and collectivism and I'm I'm totally with you that this is all about knowing the self and strengthening the self such that you know we can become better as individuals and that's what makes the whole better or the collective better absolutely we're in total agreement as far as that is concerned now it is the top of the second hour of the show I want to relive the call-in number we don't have any call or is waiting on the line but if there's anybody out there who would like to talk to James Jaeger documentary filmmaker maker of Fiat Empire original intent corporate fascism cultural Marxism and the upcoming spoiler here's the call-in number for this show you can call in - what on earth is happy what on earth is happening at seven two four four four four seven four four four once again the call-in number let's get some questions going for James Yeager in the second hour seven two four triple four seven triple for the call ID number for this show is eight three five one five once again the call ID number eight three five one five you'll have to punch that in after you call the call in number our guest tonight documentary filmmaker James Yeager so James uh we were uh you know talking about your documentaries that you've made so far in the second hour I won that our shift over to a future a project that you're working on currently that's going to be coming out in the future and we could shift the topic of discussion also you have a full-length feature film in the works called Tesla about the life of the great inventor and genius Nikola Tesla he'd like to start to tell the audience a little bit about that sure I guess back in the 76 to 70 I came across a term called Tesla coil and of course I pronounced it telecoil I had no idea what itself a coil was but it was in a book by called psyche discoveries behind the Iron Curtain by sheila Ostrander and because the slowly part of my career I was a photographer I was very interested in this element of kirill kirill ian photography which is performed using a Tesla coil telecoil as I as well you could mount it back in those days and I haven't ly read this book and wondered you know what is a Tesla coil and years later when I had moved to California other than Santa Monica and my technical director comes up to me Paul Gibbons as hey there's going to be a Tesla movie showing at the Santa Monica theater called the secret of meth Nikola Tesla and it's featuring starring Orson Welles and this is one of this is probably the last or one of the last films Orson Welles made before he passed away so Paul and I went down to the Santa Monica theater and when we got there the popcorn concession stand was filled with Tesla books they must have had 30 or 40 Tesla books all over the place and we have idli went in there and we watched the movie and the movie basically chronicled Tesla's early life about two-thirds of the moving or Tesla's early life then he got to New York City in 1884 and JP Morgan was played by Orson Welles and he just did a spectacular job really in his moment but the problem is the movie ended just when I was starting to really get good and so I was I was very pleased with the movie but also disappointed that it ended so soon and when Paul and I were leaving the theater we were both so enthused by this man Tesla that we each bought 10 or 15 books with the idea that we would swap them and so for the next 10 years or so Paul and I would be reading these Tesla books and swapping them back and forth and then by that time internet came online so I was able to go on the internet and get the additional data and I just thought well you know nobody's ever made a feature film of Tesla and the only feature film a really good get made I live in Craig no.1 in the United States has ever made it a feature film on Tesla this normal to foreign film um so it didn't play in the United States except for this one showing at the Santa Monica theater and I thought well a film on Tesla should be made but under write a script and start the story in 1884 when he gets to New York City so somewhere around I guess around 2000 somewhere around 2000 I think I finished with the story and the story of peso after going through all these various material and source materials and materials on the internet I realized that there were a lot of different versions of the contract and tussles life and so I had to spend a lot of time putting new things onto a contract and mapping them and then trying to create a story which would travel through 59 years of this man's life um I ended up with a extended treatment around 2001 or 2002 excited about this because I put so much work into it but I thought oh my god everyone in California is going to be standing there in line waiting to give me a development deal so I lightly left on a plane and flew out to California and I met with everybody I could think of out there and they all know we won't give you a lousy 50,000 or 100,000 or whatever to develop this screenplay and so I had talked to people out there that really should have taken an interest in this and I was disappointed so I calm and in fact I think I got home just before the Twin Towers were their home they lock David Howell we say go actually limit I went out in 2000 yeah and then 9/11 came the next year floating-rate um I wrote the script in about 18 to 20 days after being a little bit so it was conferred about the the reception I've gotten in California and the script is kind of output in 18 days I don't know why all of a sudden came out is also my brain was processing it for 15 years but then I got a you totally blew out my nervous system and I ended up on my back for three and a half weeks with a static nerve condition and I couldn't move so my science my science friends tell me that it was because I was sitting for a long period of time intensively writing but my mystical friend Tommy Tesla might have saddled him to you let's get this script on Jane and then after Tesla weather just blew out my whole nervous system so we're sitting with 157 page screenplay right now and the Tesla society to testified Foundation of Philadelphia has been kind enough to help me cross the t's and dot the i's and under the offices of Nick launch our and various other people at the testified I believe Markie or a member of the Tesla Society yes that's very on and I thank you for your input at the Tesla story conference the other day as well so we actually I've actually incorporated all the materials we discussed the other day we had met with about 12 people number people online and we went through the script and we as I said cost appeased other mods out of a few things it's really neat seems and the script is gone it's been updated and Mark I got to send you a copy of it if you'd like if you have a PDF file available absolutely so we're at the point right now where we think we have our script which tells the life of Tesla and tells it in an amusing way and now we're on the long trail of financing it because a lot of fun do you want to know about that I tell everybody about this because this is extremely important if this film is going to be made and reach a whole lot of people which it needs to well usually when I send scripts to Hollywood studios and I've been in the business for about 35 years so I know Hollywood studio heads but if I know they're the reason that they were assistants and pas my first met them and now they've risen up the rack so I go on to these various people and I won't mention their names but they're their heads of some of the major studios great DreamWorks and various other places Sony and usually they just say you know we hate the script James get out of here don't ever come back again positive not one more kidding right they did say that about a few scripts but they all they all said we like the script and in fact a couple of them said here's a list of directors that we think could carry the ball because a biopic store such as the one we're completing would be extent and a biopics needs to have a really solid director expedia is going to risk that much money on the production so I was given a list of directors and we went after the list of directors and to my surprise almost all the directors on the list also liked the script and we took it to one or two that are very nature directors again I don't want to mention their name because if they ever heard this broadcast they probably wouldn't like the name bandied around but I'll just give you a clue one of them took one of the drugs we took it to directed the gladiator is that's their work say that I think that time and said you know um if you get the studio to set up the script come back to us and we will officially patch which means the director will give me a piece of paper that says he'll direct the project but when I go to the latter the director accusin when I go to the studio the studio says to me well we love the script chains but we can't we can't fasten it up unless you get a director to officially attached so I'm stuck in the classic catch-22 director won't attach until the studio sets it up speed set it up until the director official attaches so I was really irritated about this for a long time and I'll tell you I have a contact sheet where I keep track of every cold with me and this contact sheet goes on for pages and pages and pages and when I got caught in this catch-22 I became kind of here in David Alaba began to realize that while these directors that basically have two three four or five projects in their queue and they're already financed and they're ready to go and it's nothing personal they just can't stop the whole production mill for some script that they happen to like it isn't funded so the last time I talked to this particular director and so as they said we wouldn't call back and have money or had it set up and what that basically means according to my attorney is you have to have a player pay deal in Hollywood ploy or pay simply means that just like when you're buying a house you have to put a down payment on the house earnest money or something like that which tells the seller that you're going to just serious you're going to buy it same thing with the director you put down the fruit and percentage on their feet the budgeted see the five to ten percent and I will basically get them to commit to the project for a limited period on maybe a month two months four months it's all negotiable so when you consider that the director that we want is going to call us ten million dollars to do the project ten percent of us a million dollars that means you have to put five million dollars now on the table to get them to give you an official etosha which you can then take to the studio and the studios that we like to put up they have the directors on their list will theoretically then give you the budget for the whole movie upon which you will then we coop your development money investors people to gave you the money to put up or deploy or pay so the people that put up the seed money to form the payer play feel forget we took out of the production and finance production budget and so this is theoretically the way it works and thousands of movies have been made this method and so this is the journey that were on right now and um what people might ask the question how does Tesla and the life of Nikola Tesla how does this play into what we're talking about when we're talking about money in general or we're talking about control of people through finance or energy we've been talking about money as energy and it's vice versa it's interchangeable energy is money energy can be used as control and indeed that I've said it a million times on this show and we'll say them a million more the control of energy ultimately equates with the control of human beings that's why Tesla would have put such a wrench in the plans of the elitists the globalist the banksters of the world had he been successful in coming out with his free wireless transmission system for electricity because it would it would essentially free people from all of the constraints that they're under due to how they have to acquire their energy how their energy needs are met through the production and distribution of energy as it is done in the modern world if Tesla had succeeded the world would have been radically transformed from the paradigm of energy that it is basically held under the yoke through now and how ironic would it be James if through putting out a major of Hollywood you know backed movie about the life of Tesla uh if this comes back to bite these globalists uh who basically shut down Tesla's work if how getting this movie made through the raising of their Federal Reserve notes ultimately brings their entire control system to a you know an end and crashing to an end because this movie will go a long way toward waking the public up to understanding how important the life of this one man was what he tried to do in the service of humanity and how important energy is when it comes to how we live and what basically the factors that basically control our lives that's right I'm skeptical as to whether this video will finance this or whether they will allow the script to go out in the form it's in because in the script I do try to treat JP Morgan lifting out medicine fairly I treat them as business fan that acted like you know any other businessman of the time attacked and but the thing is you know the studios or multi or corporation conglomerates they probably borrow a lot of money from JP Morgan banks to this day and if you get a avis director we really have to have a director that's a Tesla freak and the directors got to be adamant about keeping these values that you just mentioned second a minute ago in the film the money is energy energy is money and if they can't take any of this out because you know theoretically I could sign on a most directors he was wobbly the studio that acquires the literary property and they could just rewrite the script so I only have one chance to do it right because if I see like the minute I saw in the literary property over to some other entity then the only input I can have on that is whatever might be in the contract if I have a bad entity so giving the train it's over to a major studio is kind of risky and we're hoping that we'll be able to find an a-list director that really joins our team the Tesla Science Foundation and all the millions of Tesla fans out there and is willing to stand up to the studios and say listen this is the story we're going to tell the real story of Tesla and we're not going to water it down from the Scottish point of view and if we can't find that situation with a major studio then what we're going to have to do is we're going to have to back down to a lower budget or medium budget feature film which could be made for between 10 and 20 million dollars we're estimating a studio picture would cost about 60 to 80 million dollars so that would definitely need a major director and a major studio Cruise Line producer as well as a completion bond but the studio put up the money in a production distribution room David David underweight completion blonde but if we cut a negative pickup we'd have to have a completion bond and so you're the whole chain of consideration and if you can't get that done and get the movie made you want made then your only recourse is to do a lower budget independently financed so maybe bring in five or ten investors that you're Tesla 60 and autos and have them each and death part about and under that circumstance I'd be happy to direct the film because I know the script probably better than anyone having written it and we're into a film which would be lower budget we perhaps wouldn't have the big Hollywood production values and the big-name director but we could end up with a story that's more we look like we would end up with a story that was more accurate to Teslas light and we would mitigate the risk that the studio will either just shell the project you know they could buy the script they could take us through the whole thing to shelve the project there's been a lot of Tesla scripts written and I think it's kind of strange number of get made into a movie so and I you know I also hear that one of the studios is planning on making a Tesla movie and that's Warner Brothers and I talked to the head of ego the president production a number of times excuse me and she says the ass gains we're going to make the movie yes we're going to make the movie so maybe they will make the movie and that's great I like Warner Brothers better than most of the other studios but you know it's probably going to be an establishment movie and even if it major studio does make it tested movie there's still plenty of room to make another Tesla movie an independent one you know you heard what the powers to be said about Tesla now here's the real story you know that might be the logline or something right so Oh James I wish you the best of luck in getting this project moving forward I really hope that it works out because this is something that really needs to get into the mainstream consciousness of people and I think that sadly you know people don't read much anymore I think making films is one of the better ways to infiltrate the consciousness of the masses and I think that um this is something that could definitely that now I see we have a caller on the line would you like to go to take some calls and maybe hear what callers have to say or pick up some questions from them yeah that sounds great great all right so here we go first caller tonight caller from Southwest Ohio you are on what on earth is happening our guest tonight is James Yeager what do you have for us this evening mark it is Bob from Cincinnati hello from Cincinnati Ohio to you and James Yeager they don't buy it all you hear from you as always it's a it's a pleasure to call in mr. Yeager thank you for coming on the program and putting out your work Fiat Empire about the the globalist occultist fascist state which is taken over this nation through the foe money system which is nothing but as Marcus pointed out a yoke around our oxes neck we have to shake off this phony system mark very eloquently pointed out last week that even a man like Alan Greenspan who is who who if you look into his biography was the lover of iron Rand who another occultist who wrote the the mammoth work Atlas Shrugged which is a veiled or an unveiled work to fellow occultists of how the New World Order will unfurl and I myself a be honest I've only lived through it I for those who have read it I congratulate them but I advise and encourage others who want to know how this New World Order is unfolding around us read Atlas Shrugged mark thank you for pointing out that Greenspan was and is an occultist and and as we dig deeper in this as you already know gentlemen it goes way beyond Republican Democrat left-right conservative demel these are phony terms to get us to look to the circus the gameplay the duality Plata the checkerboard floor so to speak plays out in front of our eyes while the real puppet masters continue to manipulate us but I won't belabor it but mr. Yeager James if I may call you sir you are going to make a film of Nikola Tesla I'm going to stand by mark again mark is the proponent of the 21st century for Nikola Tesla and his work and I thank you again Mark for speaking about Tesla he was just in Pittsburgh last weekend speaking about Tesla and if I was just a little bit closer mark I get out there and see these great works I plan on being at your conference about mind control in April I think it's going to be an excellent resource for people to get a grip on mind control but but to go back for just a moment Nikola Tesla and consciousness once again these are v2 pillars I don't think that that we're going to understand it as much as we should but these are the two pillars like the two pillars of masonry that the foundation of the awakening is going to be based on consciousness awareness becoming aware of the monstrosity of the crime around us and understanding who Tesla was what his work was based on free energy that energy is all around us all we have to do is latch our machinery on to the natural resource that God has created it does not come through the wires ladies and gentlemen it is all around us the wires act as the mechanism by which it flows through but the energy is all around us we can just tap into it but mark you're more skilled at this but mr. Yeager thanks for speaking about this I wish you the best of luck on your film and I think your last point of what you just said who cares if the big studios don't you know they'll table it you know they'll gobble it up and table it as they have done two other excellent filmmakers over the years I say go ahead with the independent film and we're all puppet by word of mouth this will be the seminal work of Nikola Tesla thank you guys for keeping our consciousness awake on these great topics good night gentlemen Bob thanks so much a pleasure to hear from you as always James what do you have to say about what Bob just brought up well thank you Bob for those of you that want to stay in touch with the Tesla project we have put up a website it's uh it's www of electricity calm and the official name of the movie is Tesla the poet of electricity so you can get on the first hundred pages of the screenplay at that website see some of the history and get some of the reasons why we feel a Tesla project must be made change give that website give that website one more time to listeners the website is www.pevs.com every script is up there and if you read the first hundred pages and you want to read the rest of the script to contact me through the site and I'd be happy to send the full script out for you so James let's uh like segue from what Bob just brought up that um this whole basic fake reality you know that is perpetrated through this Ponzi scheme of the Federal Reserve the fake fiat currency that people are attached to uh and also the controlling of the the limitation and can control of the energy that is basically all around us and is the the gift of a nature to humanity let's segue into talking about the kinds of consciousness that these two opposing world views are really generate like if there's a controlled limited a paradigm of scarcity you know controlled energy energy that can run out money that can run out you know not having enough this whole paradigm of lack lack and scarcity let's talk about the kind of consciousness that that foments in in the the minds and the psyches of the people of the world versus what could be created if we only get out of that consciousness of scarcity and lack and realize there is enough you know we can all have what we need and then some and nature can provide in her abundance if only we live in harmony with you know natural all principles and in harmony with the the real work of nature itself and as Bob put it hook into that that energy matrix and understand that it is something that comprises us and that we are a part of can you speak to the kinds of consciousness that these two diametrically opposed systems really create in people well Bob is right on the money and he talks about the energy and everything you said and the paradigm of lack the paradigm of scarcity basically sets up zero-sum game and when you set up a zero-sum game you almost guarantee conflicts and war conflict and war is something which generates money for the power elite that basically dominates this planet here we live in what could be a virtually an infinite universe there's this question of whether it's into what kind of what is and it means but for practical purposes here on this planet we have a universe of energy the energy is all around us and already can be only by but forcing through this paradigm of scarcity and lack can the power elite maintain the stratification of society the stratification of civilization and what that means is they're the top dogs and everybody else implying starve or we got the top ones the middle class and lower class the idea is that only blog promulgated scarcity and lack of energy of money excuse me of resources can they maintain their popular power base the fact that energy is flowing all over the universe and yet we have these stupid wires that they put out but they can meter us over it's totally absurd of course Tesla represents this for many believed that Tesla discovered a way of extracting infinite amounts of energy out of the core of the earth or from the ionosphere and there's various other technologies such as cold fusion which I have OpenMind vestigation into after ten year hiatus and believe that cold fusion is for real and Tesla for real sigh about a way of extracting infant amounts of energy from possibly zero-point energy or other sources that we haven't defined yet so basically when it comes down to is money is energy energy is money the whole game on this planet is being played around this right now good morning is basically instead of being backed by gold and silver is backed by oil so we've got the whole planet basically sitting there half the planet sitting there saying oh we've hit peak oil near Haslam we're saying no we haven't but the idea is that I just don't know whether we picked equal or not we probably have but we may have not if oil is a biotic but it all comes down to oil is the current energy and the power elite is using this basically to keep themselves on top the whole military-industrial complex ones on it and anyone comes along like Tesla with any alternative energy schemes or cold fusion they're basically later they're marginalized will work so I think a consciousness is awakening in people about this and I think that be there many roads to this consciousness and eventually it's just consciousness I believe creates reality I don't believe reality creates consciousness and I think that everybody's walking to the level where we will hit a critical mass and eventually people will just ignore the power elite and what you put your attention on you get more of so if everybody takes their attention off of them they'll probably kill dissolved into into the ether what the kind of people that really need to stop paying attention to them is the people that live in such fear that if they stop doing with these people are telling them to do that they won't be able to live that they won't have enough that they won't be able to survive their whole control rests in key people in survival mode only in if I don't do this I will not be able to continue to survive and that's one of the lowest forms of consciousness that you can be in is fear that's all fear-based consciousness because it's thinking with the lowest part of the brain which is the r-complex we've talked about this many weeks on the show about the physiology of the brain and how basically that if you stay rooted in a type of thinking that the brain will actually degenerate into ways of thinking and behaving that is are completely base and are not really conducive to a true veteran of anyone let alone the self so that is the consciousness that they absolutely a controller absolutely needs the key people in that fear mode and in that survival only instinctual mode of the base brain the r-complex of the brain and see a world of abundance a world of knowing that we have enough of knowing that the resources that nature provides will not run out on us because we're not basically a pillaging nature we are working in harmony with nature for what she already provides in great abundance that that is the kind of consciousness that we need to get to and understand that that there is nothing to fear out of fear consciousness and into abundance based consciousness there is enough and there isn't anything to fear but if we continue on this track of accepting limitation and lack and thinking that there's not enough and thinking that we have to do these things that these so-called elitists tell us that we have to do or we're not going to survive then you know we're going to we're going to reach a state where we're going to see a catastrophe and a collapse and we're going to see things break down and degenerate but again it all hinges upon what we see as possible the limits of the human imagination are basically boundless and we have to see things in a different way it's about a shift a fundamental shift in the way we perceive reality as you just brought up where the consciousness goes the external reality will actually follow that is actually how it works that's right so we have to strut pot postulating more positive futures we so partially that we can do it we have to postulate that we can disconnect from the power elites money empires or chains that they use the fiat money chain um this is where they this be in it where they steal energy from us through the hip acts of inflation and by robbing us of our technology by continually inflating the money supply and taking the productivity of the world's citizens and basically doing nothing more but creating more and more fiat money to absorb that productivity for themselves we need to disconnect as we say at the end of original intent we need to disconnect from the corporate fascists we need to disconnect from multinationals that are basically outsourcing our manufacturing base or nothing with the profit modal we need to disconnect from the cultural Marxist that are marching through the institution and telling us that we can't be individuals we have to be a board collective we need to disconnect in the media the control owned dominated mainstream media it basically puts out yet the line of the power elite and this hypnotic trance that it's got everybody in to turn off the television start to get news from the internet alternate sources you can go to we have put up a website called yeah your research org where we have broadband news which means we list all the news services in the world and yeah I say read the establishment news because you need to know what they're up to get a subscription to foreign affairs magazine watch CNN and Fox News but also get out there on the internet listen to radio shows like this read books like nelson hope works book in Edwin Vieira pieces of eight and and stay in touch with the whole spectrum of knowledge that the Internet has given us and I think people are doing that and consciousness is rising and we're moving from my world which is based on zero-sum tool which is based on non theory phones where everybody can win by simply increasing the size of the pie rather than fighting over this more apply pieces definitely ultimately ultimately when it comes down to we have to understand that we're all in the same situation together and stop seeing things as us versus them dichotomy and that this goes back to the fundamental idea of the people who are holding this system up there holding it up by simply believing that this has to be the way that we do things if there isn't any other alternative to it and that simply isn't true again we have to get out of this fear-based thinking and into the knowing that the human imagination contains all the keys to all of these problems we can solve all these problems together for our future veteran if we develop the imagination and willpower to go forward and solve them because we know that basically we're all in this situation together we are all one and as happens to one of us is essentially happening to all of us so again the people who are holding the system up have to see that and understand there is a way out of this and there is a different way and they don't have to listen to the old tired line of there's no other way to do things we have to continue the course we have to continue doing things this way otherwise they'll be an even bigger catastrophe and you won't survive there they're keeping people's minds in that way of thinking through that level of fear fear of not surviving so James I want to bring up some one other thing and connect this with energy because there's a section in this document that I'm about to mention to my listeners I don't believe I've ever mentioned it before on this show but this is a document that was written in 1979 it's called silent weapons for quiet Wars silent weapons for quiet wars I don't know if you've ever heard of this document are you familiar with it at all so this is having to do with the ARPANET in the electromagnetic no this is Agnes this is actually an internal memorandum that was sent from one quote elitist or occultist to another and it is believed that this was done during a Bilderberg Group meeting and that this is sort of a primer for an individual that was new to the group so now whether this is actually an authentic document or not remains to be seen I happen to think it is because of the the psychology within it the mentality of the individual or group of individuals that is writing the document now people whenever a document comes out like this claim hoax or claim quote forgery etc but I think that's because the establishment and the mainstream want people to believe that there are no psychopathic people like this of high levels and positions of power the critical thing whether whether you accept the fact that this is an actual internal elite memorandum or not the critical thing in it is that there is a section in this document called the energy that's simply what the the section is called and I would just like to read um two short paragraphs from this to and get your take on this because this really goes down to the core and the heart of how energy is the main controlling factor that these quote elitist and I you know I I globally used that term because they're not the elite these are actually the lowest of humanity these are actually people who are in the most degraded form of consciousness of all the toil on the earth yes so that people call them the elite I say the quote elite the people who think of themselves as the elite those are overly yeah right so um in this memorandum there is a section called energy and here's how it starts I won't read whole section just a couple paragraphs this is from the document silent weapons for quiet Wars the section called energy quote energy is recognized as the key to all activity on earth natural science is the study of the sources and control of natural energy and social science theoretically expressed as economics is the study of the sources and control of social energy both our bookkeeping systems mathematics therefore mathematics is the primary energy science and the book keeper can be king if the public can be kept ignorant of the methodology of the book keeping all science is merely a means to an end that means is knowledge the end is control beyond this remains only one issue who will be the beneficiary so that's it that's from the document silent weapons for quiet Wars that's the subsection called energy and James I'd like to get your take on that well that makes a very good point um when you have money in a limited system basically the money is nothing more than a than a scorekeeping system you know I have this like this many beans go there this many beans go there it's just it's just basically as a control mechanism using arithmetic to keep score of everything I mean if you're in a world where you had unlimited money unlimited energy there by dropping that out of the equation and could basically create products you would have an exponential expansion of civilization they talked about some of this insight keys the trilogy's IQ and did the obvious de trop that the profit motive basically resolves down to nothing more than the control motive and it isn't universe we should to break out of these chains and basically that's what dollar bills that's what the whole idea of keeping this control mechanism of money for the purpose of profits enter into the psyche and it's basically you've got the whole world in Shan Shan down so we have to open our minds through various other views of reality even the power elite I don't believe we're all evil there there's a lot of them are in fear themselves and they are misguided by their very own propaganda so your point about the elite that they're not being that they're degraded beings is very is very appropriate they're referred to graded that they can't see anything above the materialistic level of their other monetary existence by the way mark I come across a number of movies that some of my friends around the country have sent me I've got a list here about five five eight movies can I recite them for you sure absolutely highly recommend people look at sugar and I was like well the I've come across a couple movies up there as follows because the movie out there called collapse which would force the oil situation and the motive for 9/11 there's a movie called endgame which was recently put up by Alex Jones which explores the new world war World Order there's a movie called fabled enemies which talks about who who might have been motivated to perform false flag operations of 9/11 if indeed they were false like operation there's another one substantiates the evidence for the possible false flag operations Mullen called blueprint for truth which is put out by a bunch of architectural firms looking at the basically the dirt the debris then there's another one called fall the Republic put that out by Alex Jones goes into the New World Order and base control mechanisms then there's a couple that I've come across that are very interesting here one called global warming and one called great global warming swindle um these are basically everybody seems to agree there warming but there seems to be a big massive fight on whether it's caused by man or whether it's not yes and I have I have basically taken one side of the issue and then another I now unusual on the issue I have I'm not taking an opinion on whether we are causing or not because I have to I'm still doing research on it so um then the last two movies there is one called invisible Empire I recommend and one called the future of food so there's a couple of movies that I've come across that are real good ones I'm not saying I endorse your agree with everything in these movies but remember as I said earlier I think you need to pay enter to the main screen and pay attention to the material it's on the Internet what might be called the Fringe which I oughta clear the fringe all that ends up being more correct than the mainstream absolutely and I think all of those movies are excellent documentaries I've actually seen all of those movies that you mention and I think those are all great choices to bring to the attention of our listeners here on the show it's about being eclectic about the sources of information that we take in we have to endeavor to see the big picture to pull back and take in so much information that that we have a wide variety of sources and and that's how we can become discerning about the information that we take in we have to weigh it in the balance so to speak you know we can't just believe the first thing that comes out of someone's mouth we need to take that as a stepping point and then do research on our own and I think that's a great point that you bring up about you know you're still undecided on some issues because you're doing more research on your own that is how one becomes discerning and and that's the process by which we go through to help us to acquire the ability to tell truth from falsehood and ultimately that's what this show is all about and to do that we have to be eclectic about our sources of information so it's critical to take in as much of a wide variety of information as possible from a wide variety of sources I could I have this mark that's very important in the affordance so we're gonna be exploring this but we have we have undergone an age of positivism on a positivism was basically put forth by a ghost a cult yes and positivism basically is the idea that the scientific method and science is God and everything else has no value to it now I would like to disabuse people that idea because classically we've got three methods by which we can obtain knowledge through intuition through reason and to experience and basically we live in society right now that basically says oh the only knowledge that you can have is the knowledge that comes through experience knowledge that is gained through the scientific method and so on now I have no diesel decide to dig method and I do think that men of reason see the merit in the scientific method and and falsifying statements and so on so forth but not to the exclusion of that of not failing to balance out your knowledge with intuition and with reason and actually live in a society right now that is too prone to positivism we've been affected by this and we're not using intuition our native knowingness and in underlying consciousness that the part of our being and we can't put our finger on it sometimes is where it comes from but we have to balance out our acquisition of knowledge through experience with the acquisition of knowledge through reason and through intuition and I think this has been lost in the last 90 seconds in the in the last hundred years or so James I'm so glad you brought that up this is something that I've actually talked about on the show about how we are we have moved into a world of left brain only imbalance and we need to bridge that gap back over to the right brain and this is why so many people can't see the solutions and can't see a way out of this because the imagination lies in that intuitive right Sacred Feminine part of the brain of the right hand brain hemisphere and until we open up all the possibilities that are contained within that hemisphere of the brain through balancing our brain and balancing our masculine and feminine nature's with each other what has been called in the mystical traditions the chemical wedding okay or the opening of the third eye or the all-seeing eye that comes by balancing these two seemingly opposing principles or seemingly opposing functions of the left and right brain hemispheres and you cannot learn all there is to know about what's really going on both either within you or around you in your environment through positivism alone people should look up this this notion it's very critical to understand ideologically what positivism is and what it means I really thank you for bringing this up and and understanding that it is not the only methodology by which we can acquire knowledge it absolutely is not so James that is a brilliant point and I think that listeners should follow through with that and research that on their own and understand how important and critical to moving forward in human evolutionary development the growing of our intuitive capacities really is and how important that is for the future of this species that's right and I would I would go so far as to say that we basically um we basically have two two methods what we call inductive and deductive logic um I would say that intuition is very valuable because intuition is really inductive logic and reason is deductive logic and what I mean by that is our brains take in all this data all day long or whole lives and maybe even prior to this lifetime and each data point each data point of experience is a is a data point it basically our brains then synthesize into a general awareness about reality and we call that intuition we know something by intuition we have taken the specifics of the and generation and put applies them into a generalization of reality and that is one very valid form of knowledge in we're in essence actively simultaneously process in the environment and then coming up with a understanding of what happened through into wit and that right now is being invalidated by the positivistic civilization that we have been indoctrinated into I believe that this is not by chance I believe that August 8 comp and resale and marks have been forced upon us and this positivism is a result of this indoctrination with these certain collectivist philosophies and they are trying to get us to only use experience the IEP experience that they give us through their network they give us through their massive ganda machine they give us through their public school systems and use that as their only means of knowing we cannot forget about intuition and reason and reason is a ducted form of logic because basically even you take a look at you take a the general the overall general of view of something you come up with a theory or huh so it looks for the specific points of data to substantiate that so I'm saying is we have to have intuition experience and we just like the classical philosophers used to advise that's right and that they call that the Trivium method of a critical of thinking and learning and that that is a balanced holistic approach not using either the the left brain only or the right brain only but combining those two into a synthesis and again as I said that is the true chemical wedding that will open up our true vision you know the the ability to truly real eyes to make real that which is really taking place around us and to know how to move forward in it to develop the knowing of how to move forward to make this a better place for one and all and that happens through that that level of balancing the left and right brain hemispheres together and this is further corroboration with some of the concept some ideas that I've talked about on the show for the past many weeks so James that's an absolutely critical point to bring up and I would encourage again our listeners to look more into these methodologies of thought and learning and understanding that that's something like positivism is something that we really need that understand is completely limited it cannot encompass the whole spectrum of learning and knowledge and again James I thank you for bringing that up so we have about maybe three or four minutes left in the program I want to open the floor to you to wrap things up and to talk about anything else that you may want to bring up on the show and then we can take it out from there so you have anything else that you'd like to bring up about what you're working on in the future future projects or anything else that you want to say before we close out well mark I'm focusing on spoiler at this con is it in production that's my documentary project at this time we're going to be releasing corporate fascism in Indy summer as soon as the Sundance Film Festival finish rejecting it I can't release it until they make their decision and then we're also we're focused on the Tesla project so the Tesla project is a feature project which is a long-term thing and we're just kind of continuing to push it to the next step but we're continuing to the documentaries in the meantime and that's about it those two projects called corporate fascism as I said will be out sometime in January it is just possible that Sundance might like this better than the other one and because it is basically taking a look at more or less the left side of the equation so thank you for having me on the show and it was very interesting and I look like somebody out there that it is interested in positivism that's not only rare but we do go into that in great detail in spoiler and spoiler is important while based on a new book that Nelson Holbrook is preparing to be released Cole the golden bean and I think this is going to be even more of the most important political philosophies books that have been written and even prosper to getting that published now James I think it's critical to be aware of different ideologies that are out there and uh you know I read up on things like this all the time and it's it's basically what I do and it's what we discuss on this show so James I want to thank you for being a phenomenal guest here on what on earth is happening I look forward to working with you and collaborating with you in the future as part of the Tesla Science Foundation here in Philadelphia and again I just can't thank you enough this has been a great show and uh you're welcome to come back on and time to talk about future projects you may have in the works thank you very much for having me mark I had a wonderful time you got it James James you take care your cream our Bud Light good night James Yeager ladies and gentlemen a great guest here on what on earth is happening next week on the show we will be wrapping up our analysis of the financial system as a methodology of mind control and control in general when we talk about taxation and how that fraud works in this country and we'll be getting deeper than that we'll be going into what taxation really is at a core fundamental level so that will be right here next week on what on earth is happening I want to thank everyone for listening I want to encourage you to check out my website at what on earth is happening calm I'm your host mark passio you've been listening to what on earth is happening right here on the revolution broadcasting radio network I'll see you here same time next week folks good night you
